...ot say for sure," ... Evans, "but I'm of ... the flow of students ...tal science curriculum ...se of it."

... numbers of men and ... up in your classes," ...er.

... Professor Evans re...se, it's fairly hard for ...ccustomed to having ...classes again. My eight ... were all spent teaching ... Syracuse where I taught ...only had a few women. ...when I was at Cornell do...ing undergraduate and graduate work that the western hostess tariff was reconciled to me. I hope they will here."

A Glorious Campus

"How do you like our campus?" inquired the curious reporter.

"Glorious. I never saw a place where one received such a true picture of the brilliant colors of nature. Nowhere in New England or in the world can there be found such a picture of nature as you have it here." Professor Evans responded enthusiastically.

"How do we campare with Yale?" asked the inquisitive reporter.

"The campus at Yale is a distinct contrast to Vermont's," commented Professor Evans. "That is the great reason why I appreciate the situation here. The U. V. M campus is outside the city while at Yale I was cooped up inside the city."

Appreciates Critical Attitude

"Do the alumni impress you favorably at Vermont?"

"They are the typical critical Vermonters," he answered. "They are people who let a man know just how he stands and what he can or cannot expect. I appreciate their attitude immensely."

The professor was attired in his shirt sleeves rolled to the elbow and gave an attractive picture of a hard-working instructor. So the reporter decided to take leave after an extremely interesting interview.

FALL TENNIS TOURNEY REACHES SEMI-FINALS

... remain in the annual ...tournament in competition ... Cup which is awarded ... outstanding individual each year. ... Palmer, seeded number ...umber two players, have ad... the semi-finals. The winner ...-Butman match will ap... Tupper, and the victor ...-Myers contest will meet ... the rivalry for the college ...ship. Already the tourna... been furnished with many ... matches and several sensa... Hard tennis duels and ... will feature the semi-final ... matches, which are yet to be ... The tournament has been in ... two weeks because of the ... and difficulty in arranging ...

... captain of the U. V. M. ten... won from Bennett, 6-3, 6-0, ... from Holbrook, 6-1, 1-6, 6-1. ... both his matches in ... Wilson upset Woodward, ... seeded players, in a hard... 6-4, 8-6, and then won in ... round from H. Macomber. ...ers, fought his way up by ... Wilson, 6-4, 9-7, and ... the scores of 8-6, 6-1.

... to date:

...ound — Goddard downed ...-4; Wheeler triumphed ... 6-2, 6-2; Butman over... ..., 6-2, 6-0; H. Wilson ...ond, 6-4, 8-6; Macomber ... Wright, 6-3, 6-4; Mulcahy ..., 6-2, 6-1; Myers won ... 6-4, 9-7; and Charland ... Williams, 6-4, 6-3.

...ond—Tupper upset Ben... Holbrook turned back ..., Wheeler defeated God... 8-6; Butman drew a bye; ... beat Macomber, 6-3, 6-4; ...ed Mulcahy, 8-6, 6-1; Char... victorious over Libbey, 6-4, ... defeated Lowell, 6-2, 6-1.

...nd—Tupper won over Hol... 1-6, 6-1; Palmer defeated ... 6-4, 6-2.

Co-ed Notes

... doubles in co-ed tennis ... played. Teams will be ... among the winners. ...d sophomore tryouts were ... and Tuesday at Grass... are being continued ... this week. Results are to ... later.

... contestants are: Eliza... Janice Stannard, Esther ... Perry and Eleanor ... from the freshman class: ..., Katharine Donahue, ... Woodward, Ruth Dawson, ... Myrtle Jaquith, Ruth ... Lawrence, Laura Tracy, ... Burdett.

... has accepted Middlebury's ... Vermont co-eds to meet ...bury campus for a "Play ... A. Council. Saturday, ... will be the day. Hockey, ... and archery will be ... there will be plenty of ... and races in which to ... All sports will be non... There will be busses to ...ermont women down at a ... expense, and all who go ...ed from last hour classes.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Margaret Crane, '33, of Stamford, Conn., was pledged at dawn on Saturday, October 11, at the Kappa Alpha Theta House. A luncheon was given in her honor at the Golden Pheasant Tea Room at one of that day.

Rachel Skinner, '28, is visiting in Burlington.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Frances Laythe and Iva Harris, '30, were in town over the week-end.

Delta Delta Delta announces the pledging of Eleanor Gates, '33, of Richford, Vt.

The active chapter is planning a public bridge party on October 18, from two to five in the afternoon at the Athena Club rooms.

PI BETA PHI

On Friday evening, October 10, Pi Beta Phi pledged Ruth Templeton, '33, of Irasburg, at the Pi Phi rooms. After the meeting, refreshments were served.

Anne McLaughlin, Alma Farr, Dorothy Gurney, Dorothy Colton, Narcissa Goodsell, of the class of 1930, and Charlotte Cleveland and Lucy Bracken of the class of 1929 were in town over the week-end.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Cornelia Mould, Natalie Owsley, Alberta Fiske and Elizabeth Butler, '30; Alma Batten, '29, were in town over the week-end.

Elizabeth Baker, '33, and Mary Pratt, '33, were pledged at the home of Esther Leary, '33, at three o'clock on Sunday, October 12.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Alpha Chi Omega gave a tea for the actives and alumnae from four to six Sunday afternoon, October 12, at the Alpha Chi Omega House. Miss Martha Leighton, '23, poured. Other alumnae present were Florence Smith '27; Lucy Morgan, '29; and Florence McKenzie, '30.

Ethel Blake, ex-'31, was a week-end visitor in the city.

The active chapter will hold a public bridge party Friday night, October 17, at the Athena Club rooms.

SIGMA GAMMA

Sigma Gamma has moved from its former rooms at the Bittersweet Tea House to the club rooms of the Catholic Daughters of America at 194 College Street.

The active chapter will hold a waffle supper on Tuesday, October 28, at their rooms.

Betty Brown, '29, who teaches in Hyde Park, and Harriet Howard, '30, who teaches in Northfield Seminary, were here for the week-end.

KAPPA DELTA

The second degree was conferred upon Dorine Lee, '33, Sunday, October 12, at the Athena Club rooms. Following the ceremonies, breakfast was served to those present.

EPSILON SIGMA

There will be a tea at the home of Miss Mary Maud Patrick, 11 Hungerford Street, on Friday afternoon, October 17, at four o'clock, for the sophomore girls of the Education Department.

Edith Higgs, '30, of Montpelier, visited in the city Saturday.

Catherine Wilcox, '29, spent the week-end in Burlington.

AVIATION CLUB RESULTS FROM EFFORTS OF TEN ENGINEERING STUDENTS

... forces through the avowed interest of ten students and at their ... in the University Flying Club ... at a meeting in Room ... Engineering Building, Wednesday night.

Professor Butterfield of the Engineering Mathematics Department, Professor Sussdorf, of the Mechanical Drawing Department, and David L. Dunn, University football coach, spoke briefly on the formation of a flying club by which members would be able to acquire their flying training at a very reasonable cost.

It was decided that the club should affiliate with a similar club being formed in the city under the direction of Mr. Stewart Austin, president of the local airport. Members who are not able to settle their full share may pay a third down, the rest to be covered by a note signed through a financing company and payable in six months or a year. This financing plan is very similar to that in use by automobile companies in selling cars on the installment plan.

Professors' Support

Professor Butterfield stated that he was present for the purpose of lending his support to the club. He quoted a Cornell man, with whom he had been in correspondence, to the effect that while it was highly desirable it was not entirely necessary to have a plane at first. Students interested in flying could form their club, he said, get things on a sound basis, and the plane might come later. He suggested joining the National Aeronautic Association, division of private flying clubs, for which the entrance fee is very small. This would secure the Association pulications for the club, and would also keep them being in touch with all the latest developments in flying.

Professor Sussdorf made a few remarks, declaring that he was very much in favor of the formation of a flying club at the University. "All transportation is here to stay," he said. To quiet the fears of those who believe that flying is still dangerous, he said: "In the beginning automobiles too were looked upon in the same way and fatal accidents were numerous."

Officers for the club were elected. George Collins, '32, president. Richard Murray, '34, vice-president. Edmund Sylvester, '34, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided that the club should hold meetings regularly on Wednesday evenings at 7.30 P.M., in the Engineering Building, until further notice. Students interested are invited to attend the next meeting. Those present were as follows: Professor Butterfield, Professor Sussdorf, Coach Dunn, George Collins, '32, Charles Blair, '31, Robert Stewart, '34, Philipse Iselin, '34, Edmund Sylvester, '34, Richard Murray, '34, Donald German '34, Horace Farr, '34, Walter Adams '34 and Harold Spear, '34.

ENCOURAGING TURNOUT FOR PRESS CLUB WORK

Thirty-seven co-eds reported for Press Club tryouts on Monday at one-thirty. Tryouts will extend for an indefinite length of time, according to the president, Betty Clark, and faithfulness to assignments will be an important factor in choosing the new members. Assignments will be posted each week and the scrubs will report for work at the Press Club office in the Medical Building.

Press Club sends out notices to home newspapers and high school magazines concerning the activities of its sons and daughters at Vermont.

NEW BOOKS AT BILLINGS

Chadwick—"Social Life in the Days of Pier's Plowman."

Scott—"Increasing Human Efficiency in Business."

"Russia—The Soviet Union and Peace."

Tilney—"Principles of Photographic Pictorialism."

Lucknikch—"Light and Color in Advertising and Merchandising."

Frankfurter—"The Labor Injunction."

Boinet—"La Cathedral d'Armens."

DeMaison—"La Cathédral de Reir.

Eaton — "Handbook of Modern French Painting."

Jeans—"The Universe Around Us."

Madden—"Foreign Securities."

Ye Scrawling Scribe has it that some members of the freshman class are contemplating a private paddling party with certain members of an upperclass organization as its objective.

We are informed by an observing freshman that at a recent playing of the classic "Champlain," one of the very few hats that remained on its owner's head bore the Gold Key symbol.

Canadian Editor Roundly Denounces Military Training in Universities

(From the Chaser)

Having completed its first full year of existence at this University, the Officers' Training Corps seems to be well established. It carried on efficiently and fairly studiously, appearing itself with credit at bi-annual camp established even in a night spent with the University of British Columbia. Superficially speaking, the O. T. C. appears to have the right and is a desirable institution. By most it receives training in discipline, obedience and respect that perhaps they are headed supposed to acquire. They are headed supposed to acquire that very military stand-by that will be useful to some of them later on. All this, however, must not be allowed to hide the fact that there is militarism in our midst and the Chaser firmly believes that there should be no place in a university for such a thing.

Supporters of the C. O. T. C. stress the fact that the attainment of a commission at the university will be convenient for those who will want to after graduation. This is true, of course, but if a policy of militarism—the convenience of small groups is to be followed there are plenty of things more within the province of a university that might be done. There are some, for instance, who would find a knowledge of other subjects very useful and surely it is the business of an institution like this to try to meet such needs, rather than to start instruction on the proper way to bayonet fellow human beings. Military training may be of help to a few, but that is not enough to justify its existence on this campus, and it is a convenience that should be sacrificed.

Supporters of the C. O. T. C. urge further that it is necessary to keep a body of trained officers for national defence. Considering conditions in the world today, this need must be admitted. The defence force should be maintained at a minimum strength, however—as it is in Canada and it is not necessary to train university students for this purpose. There is plenty of other intelligent material for the army, and students can get such training, if they want it, in the regular militia units while attending university or after graduation.

Potential Dangers

Comparatively inoffensive as it now is, the C. O. T. C. has great possibilities of future development. If it is tolerated, it may soon become a very powerful influence here, and even be made a regular credit course—as is the case in some universities. That the C. O. T. C. will prosper is certain, indeed, unless the student body has the vision and the will to oppose it steadily. If this is to be done, the tendency to accept calmly what has been constituted by higher authorities must be resisted. In this matter of military training, those who are opposed to it must have the courage of their convictions, regardless of what many of the older generations, brought up in different traditions, believe. If there is ever going to be a sincere change in the attitude of enlightened people towards war, a firm determined effort must be made to effect it, and as far as this generation in the universities is concerned a definite beginning can be made by refusing to allow military training to become a part of our academic life.

In considering the official attitude of the C. O. T. C. it is well to remember that this was not given by the student body, but, on the contrary was bestowed by the authorities in spite of the wishes of the students. Dormant since 1919, the C. O. T. C. became a live issue again in 1927, when the Students' Council approved its formation. A special meeting of the Army Minded Society was called to consider the favorable results and board of governors appointed for organization. One point, about which it got in touch with the efforts of university authorities and discussing the C. O. T. C. was the question of the education value [illegible]. Finally the committee on Military Education was appointed and the C. O. T. C. [illegible] came into [illegible]. At a special meeting on November 28, 1927, the Army Minded Society petitioned the senate to disestablish the training corps, but no action was taken.

At what point the committee of the student council approved the formation of a training corps must be assisted if the [illegible] of the C. O. T. C. is to be [illegible]. Intensive and martial bands [illegible] of marching men in khaki and forms with shining buttons, have an [illegible] that conflicts with [illegible] appear here and there. It is [illegible] to consider what it all means and stands for that one can muster sufficient strength of mind to denounce these things. That they should be allowed in a university of all places is revolting to anyone who has the advancement of mankind honestly at heart.

The military spirit and the war psychology that prepared Germany for the Great War were harbored and fostered to a large extent in the universities. The military caste reared in such traditions and such an atmosphere led the German people into the carnage of the most appalling conflict in history. It is not suggested that Officers' Training Corps in Canadian universities will bring this country to a similar fate, but the observation to make is how greatly the masses can be influenced by their leaders and by the most enlightened strata among them. From the universities of the world come leaders for all walks of life, and if students would have nothing to do with militarism, and would denounce it in all its manifestations, a strong pacific sentiment could be developed among the nations. As long as militarism is tolerated by the most intelligent elements, it will continue to flourish.

No Compromise

In the matter of militarism in a university, then, there can be no compromise. Either it is allowed to exist, and the institution as a whole is branded as one that allows it to exist, or it is wholly repudiated, band, bayonet and button, and the institution stands untainted before the world. The Chaser believes that the C. O. T. C. should be disestablished at the University of British Columbia. Apparently, however, the student body is powerless to remove the stigma of militarism that must attach to it. This being so, all we can do is to present our case as we have presented it, to sum up by repeating that in our opinion a university is no place for military training, and to ask that students consider very carefully before affiliating themselves with the Officers' Training Corps.

Bluestockings will hold a meeting today, Friday, at four o'clock, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

A meeting of the officers of Student Union was held Tuesday, October 14, in the Old Mill Chapel. Business problems which included fire-drill rules and the freshman examination were discussed.

A student Union examination for all freshman women will be given Thursday, October 23, at seven o'clock in the large lecture room of the Williams Science Hall; attendance is required. The examination will include the rules of the constitution which are found in the handbook.

The class in public speaking was to give pantomimes that afternoon. One frosh got up when called on, went to the platform and stood perfectly still.

"Well," said the prof after a minute's wait for something to happen, "what do you represent?"

"I'm imitating a man going up in an elevator," was the quick response.—Colgate Banter.

Good behavior is demanded by one of the theatres near the Cornell campus for all performances other than the second show on Saturday night when all the students in attendance may misbehave and act "Collegiate."

HARPER'S TO PUBLISH ANTHOLOGY OF VERSE OF UNIVERSITY POETS

Miss Jessie C. Rehder, editor of "The New Anthology of College Verse" to be published next May, will visit the University in the interest of her volume [illegible] the next few weeks the English department was informed recently.

"The New Anthology of College Verse" to be published by Harper and Brothers of New York will consist entirely of contributions made by undergraduate college students who are attending college during the college year 1930-31. All students interested are urged to contribute.

Selections will be judged solely by their literary value and published accordingly. Selections must not be more than fifty words in length and must be received at Harper and Brothers' office prior to December 10, 1930. Manuscipts should be mailed to "The New Anthology of College Verse" c/o C. F. Saxton, Harper and Bros., New York City.

The English department sincerely hopes that a number of selections by Vermont students will be found in Miss Rehder's volume. For the past few years Vermont students have participated in poetry contests of the Tri-State Literary Competition and last year won much praise when E. J. Fitzgerald, '32, won first prize in that contest with his poem "Fog." Janice Goodrich, '30, won second prize with a poem entitled "On a River Bank."

It is expected that this record and the combined efforts of the men's and woman's literary societies will arouse interest enough to enable Miss Rehder to publish several poems written by Vermont students.

PROF. THOMAS DISCUSSES THREE TYPES OF MIND

PROFESSOR THOMAS NOT TO TEACH AT CARNEGIE

GREEK SOCIETY INITIATES THREE; HONORS VERGIL

THE FORUM

THE CAMPUS ELECTORATE

About the time when the candidates for class offices and managerial positions begin to appear on the campus, there usually appears in the editorial columns of various college newspapers an editorial entitled "Class Elections" (Insert [typical] Name of College).

In this editorial columnists of various college newspapers set forth good arguments to the effect that a select number of students are fitted by the training of years gone by to be the leaders of their classes. At frequent intervals these writers point out that a small proportion of the members of any class only trade ballots in the campus elections. Then when the results are announced the cry of dirty politics arises. But no amendments are made.

As the time for nominations draws near there are usually one or two prominent men in the class who are being groomed for a particular office. These men are nominated without any previous talent. Some solicitous friend or other group will see to it that he is put into nomination. The organization or friends of the able men usually do little or no electioneering. They take it for granted that their candidate will be elected because of his qualifications for the office. On the other hand the supporters of the man not so well qualified realizing that action must be secured proceed to electioneer. Their methods need not be discussed as they are well known to every student. The votes are counted and a so-called dark horse is elected. Thus cry of dirty politics arises.

This situation may easily be remedied. At present it is comparatively easy to elect a man to an office which he has not deserve because such a small number of votes are necessary to carry the election. The very ones who complain the most are generally to blame. Some of them say that the situation is hopeless and do not vote at all; others cast their own ballot but never urge others to show their preference on the ticket. If every student who is interested in any activity of his class should vote and see to it that others did the same, more able class officers would undoubtedly be elected. At the same time we would like to suggest that the able candidates be more actively supported by their friends.

Those Class Elections

(Southern California Daily Trojan)

It was the same old story yesterday. A few of the boys went out and voted and today we have about a hundred new officers around school. If you're not a class treasurer, or at least a member of the executive committee of a class in some school or college, you just don't rate—that's all. If your fraternity or sorority didn't get at least half a dozen officers out of the mess, you're really in a bad slump.

Editors of the Daily Trojan have advocated the abolition of individual class officers in the schools and colleges for the past two years. In the place of the separate sets of officers they have suggested that all students at the university elect but four sets of executives: there would be an all-university freshman, sophomore, junior and senior class, each with its own officers elected by students throughout the university. Every body [illegible] class officers only in those schools and colleges which actually need them. The important point to keep in mind is that there would be four major sets of officers elected by the members of each class throughout the university.

• • • •

Lewis Gough believes that the separate elections in every college and school should be continued because of the student interest aroused. His argument is convincing. He explains that, under the present provisions, all-university class presidents are elected by the presidents of each school and college. These presidents pick one of their number to act as all-university class president.

Many students who work in student activities for three or four years receive their own titular reward in a class office, Gough declares. Many of these have done excellent work in the past, but for some reason or other have never received a committee chairmanship, an organization presidency, nor office giving them any publicity whatsoever. When they leave the university they have nothing to which they can point to as "theirs." Those who see these students work know that they are the backbone of the publications, of debating, of dramatics, and every other student activity. But to others, these students are just students, nothing more.

• • • •

Such an argument is intriguing, but it falters under the onslaught of election statistics. Undoubtedly, yesterday's class elections were as exciting ones as ever are held on the Trojan campus. And yet, everyone knows they were a farce. Here are the number of votes which the winning class presidents received, for example:

Letters, Arts, and Sciences

Freshman	35
Sophomore	62	(unopposed)
Junior	68	(unopposed)
Senior	28
[illegible]	14
[illegible]	19
[illegible]	23
Junior	23
Senior	31
Music
Sophomore	5	(unopposed)
Junior	13	(unopposed)
Senior	8
Pharmacy
Freshman	25
Sophomore	21
Junior	24
Senior	4	(unopposed)
Architecture
Freshman	6
Sophomore	8
Junior	9
Fourth year senior	7	(tie)
Fifth year senior	2

• • • •

Such figures are silly on their face. If this year were an exception, we would keep quiet. Every year, however, the same number of votes elect the same number of class officers.

We don't say that the best officers weren't elected yesterday. Probably they were. But we do say that there were between 6,500 and 7,000 students attending classes yesterday who could have voted if they had wanted to do so.

Why didn't these students vote? Because their vote, when counted, means little or nothing. Class offices on the Trojan campus, as a rule, mean absolutely nothing. The great majority of students take class elections as just another event in college life, along with frosh hazing and other [illegible]. Once a student gets a job [illegible] it. About 75 percent of the [illegible] dents do nothing except pr[illegible] at the meeting during the following semester when their successor is [illegible]. Vice-presidents and secre[illegible] are mentioned by sororities to [illegible], but otherwise are forgotten. [illegible] never handle a cent of [illegible]. If a class executive committee has [illegible] during the past three years, I [illegible] yet to hear about it.

Then why kid ourselves? Why make a big fuss about noth[illegible]. Why spend $50 in printing ba[illegible] every semester for no good reason? It's the sort of "collegiatism" that [illegible] universities are trying to eliminate.

Thirty-nine thousand [illegible] and twenty-one grad[illegible] schools now refer to [illegible] tor.—Minn. Ski-U-Mah.

Then there's [illegible] Scotchman who wouldn't [illegible] digger because he had a [illegible] his mouth.—Arizona Kitty-Kat.

Little Boy: Gee, I [illegible] auto.

Old Man: My goodne[illegible] calamity.

Little Boy: No, it's a flivver.—Arizona Kitty-Kat.

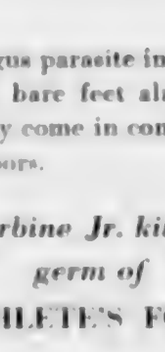
Half of you men in college have "ATHLETE'S FOOT" ....says U. S. report

YOU may call it toe itch, golf itch—the "doc" may call it ringworm—millions of people who catch it, call it "Athlete's Foot"—but all of them are the same. A ringworm parasite, tinea trichophyton by name, causes that redness between the toes with i-t-c-h-i-n-g. Tiny blisters or a thick, moist skin condition may be another symptom. Again dryness, with little scales, is a signal.



"At least half of all adults suffer from it at some time," says the U. S. Public Health Service. In universities as far apart as Pennsylvania and California 50% of the men have it. And the co-eds are not immune either.

It lurks in the very places where we all go for cleanliness and health—on the edges of swimming pools and showers—in gymnasiums—on locker- and dressing-room floors. It spite of modern sanitation (you have to boil socks 15 minutes to kill it) this fungus parasite infects and reinfects bare feet almost any time they come in contact with damp floors.

Absorbine Jr. kills the germ of
"ATHLETE'S FOOT"

Tests in a famous New York "lab" have revealed that Absorbine Jr. penetrates flesh-like tissues deeply and that wherever it penetrates, it KILLS the ringworm germ.

It might not be a bad idea to examine your feet tonight. At the first sign of the symptoms mentioned here, douse on Absorbine Jr. And keep a bottle handy in your locker as a preventive. Use it after every exposure of bare feet on damp floors. At all druggists—$1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Massachusetts.

Absorbine Jr.

FOR YEARS HAS RELIEVED SORE MUSCLES, MUSCULAR ACHES, BRUISES, BURNS, CUTS, SPRAINS, ABRASIONS

"I STILL GET A THRILL"

AND you'll get one too . . . whether the cause be blond or brunette, extra or intra-mural, when you swing to this ringing, singing "Come and kiss me" waltz . . . on a Victor Record played for you by Ted Weems and his well-known dance orchestra . . .

The world's "big shots" in music—every kind of music . . . record exclusively for Victor. They bring you the latest hits first! Here's a hand-picked, 5-starred list . . . both hot and sweet . . . unleash the old dogs on these!

VICTOR RECORDS

22515	I STILL GET A THRILL	Ted Weems Orch.
	Sing
22504	ON A LITTLE STREET IN HONOLULU	Hilo Hawaiian Orch.
	All Through the Night
22516	LEARNING A LOT FROM YOU	Johnny Johnson Orch.
	A Big Bouquet for You
22511	HULLABALOO	McKinney's Cotton Pickers
	Baby Won't You Please Come Home

THE MUSIC YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT on
Victor Records

SPORTING NEWS

Montpelier Seminary Here to Battle Frosh Grid Team

Backfield Seems to Be Strong Feature of Vermont Eleven—Yearlings Are Anxious for Victory After Suffering Defeat in First Game of Season—Close Battle Is Expected

WILL BE FIRST HOME CONTEST FOR KITTENS

...ering defeat at the hands ... Vermont Academy eleven ... of 20 to 7, the Kittens ... their fortunes when ... Montpelier Seminary in ... appearance on home ter ... afternoon at Centen ...

... first game under their ... Tully's eleven will present ... to the visitors. The ... possesses the versatil- ... small college quartet and ... Sabo has a triple ... will be worth while watch- ... Sowka and Braskie are ... the backfield and at this ... able to hold their own ... reserves from within their ...

Followers of the fresh- ... are unanimous in ... that this backfield group ... the varsity a good fight and ... supplant Coach Dunn's ... Possessing strength in every ... department of the game and ... ering up of the line, the ... mentor should turn out a ... ...thy of mention ...

... Seminary is practically ... quantity having won ... Adams High in their initial ... losing to the Troy Con ... eleven in their last game. ... visitors will need watch ... he gets loose beyond the ... rimmage he rolls up plenty ... Mori of the Seminary is ... upon which Montpelier's ... built, for he is able to get off ... plenty of height and dis- ... is a triple threat man in ... sense of the word, serving ... ...ewing end of forward passes ... crossing the line when called ... real game is in the offering ... Centennial Field should provide ... for another gridiron feast.

Probable line-ups:

		MONT. SEM.
	r.e.	Scanton
	r.t.	Barmettler
	r.g.	MacCleare
	c	Williams
	l.g.	Robertson
	l.t.	Amidon
	l.e.	Anderson
	q.b.	Caslan
	l.h.b.	Mori
Smith	r.h.b.	Rock
	f.b.	Ramon

INTERFRAT FOOTBALL TOURNEY IN PROGRESS

... football was officially inaugu- ... Monday afternoon by the open- ... of the interfrat touch football con- ... Alpha Phi defeated Tau Epsilon Phi 34 to 0 in a slow and uninterest- ... game. Tupper was the mainstay ... Alpha Phi and "Wee" Shuman for ... Epsilon Phi.

... afternoon Phi Sigma Delta ... Kappa Sigma Delta 36 to 12. This ... interesting game with Stroh ... for the Phi Sigs and Thomas ... Sigma Delta.

... between the Independents ... A. T. O., scheduled to be played ... day, was postponed on account ... rable weather. This after- ... Pi Mu Delta will tackle Phi ... Theta in the first round of the ... bout in League A. Mon- ... afternoon Kappa Sigma will take ... Zeta Chi in League B to complete ... round of play.

... loyal person Daniel has ... a long time is the amateur ... who refused to face the tele ... because it was a ringer.

MORE COURSES OFFERED IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION

New Elective System Allows Choice of Recreational Sport—Tournaments Held to Increase Interest—Improvements Made in Gym

U. V. M. may well pride itself on its physical education department. Prentice, Post and Levine, the exponents of the very latest methods of physical education, summered at Harvard this year and are putting their theories into a very practical use. One of the latest wrinkles is the posture registration of every frosh in the University. Prentice himself has taken charge of this work which requires a special and expensive camera apparatus. The object of these silhouette pictures is twofold; first, to get an idea where corrective exercise is necessary and second, to have a record of improvement.

A new elective system has also been started allowing anybody to choose their own recreational sport and there are plenty from which to choose. Tennis, touch football, hockey, basketball, track horseback riding, fencing, boxing, wrestling, handball, indoor baseball, and a host of others offer the student recreational diversity. This system has taken the course out of the required group of subjects and has placed it in the pleasure class.

A mere enumeration of electives is not enough, however. In each of the sports a tourney is held and college champions are forged out of the heat of competition. Tennis matches, touch football matches and matches, ad infinitum, are held, offering a variety of medals as well as a wealth of enjoyment. This may sound like the prospectus of an athletic club, but to make it the University Athletic club is Prentice's aim.

An innovation in the gymnasium proper is the new running track. This is of a cork composition material and makes an exceptional fast running surface. More new apparatus will probably be purchased shortly.

The department is under the direction of Prentice with Post and Levine as assistants. Prentice takes charge of corrective exercise, posture registration and general exercises. Post supervises intramural sports and track with Levine directing wrestling and assisting generally. In addition Prentice is freshman basketball coach, Post, track coach and Levine, assistant football coach.

WOMEN'S DRAMATIC CLUB INITIATES THREE WOMEN

Edith Thomas, '31, who took part in the last college play, "Holiday," by Philip Barry, was initiated into Masque and Sandal at a special meeting held Thursday, October 9, at the Theta House.

Helen Le Baron and Charlotte Kidder, '32, property managers, were also initiated. Roberta Powers, '32, who took the lead in "Holiday" was not able to be present because of illness.

He calls his girl "impromptu" because she makes up as she goes along.
—Texas Longhorn.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sporting Edition—

There should be a close and interesting game tomorrow at Schenectady between the U. V. M. and Union football teams. Comparative scores with Amherst would tend to give the edge to Union but we know that the Green mounts have improved their pace since the opening of the season and consequently we expect a second Vermont victory.

Sabine Field at Northfield will take on a decided military appearance at tomorrow's football game between Norwich and the United States Coast Georgia 18 to 14. Now we read that Plans have been made for the entire cadet corps of the Coast Guard Academy to attend the game, and during the afternoon the uniformed cadets of both institutions will parade. The result of this contest ought to give some indication of the relative strength of the Vermont and Norwich football teams.

Tomorrow will witness some very exciting battles on the gridiron as several of the strongest teams in the country start in to tackle one another. Perhaps one of the most interesting contests will be the Harvard Army game at Boston. Both teams are undefeated and both are about equal in strength and well above the average.

One of the upsets in last Saturday's football games was Yale's defeat by Georgia 18 to 14. Now we read that Yale would be willing to replay the game because it appears that the Blue never should have been credited with a touchdown because Barnes gathered in a fumbled kickoff and galloped across the goal line. We doubt that this suggestion of another game will be given serious consideration.

Again comes up the subject of allowing unlimited substitution in football games. The practice of today in having practically no restrictions on substitution gives the numerically large squad a decided advantage over a small team which perhaps has eleven players better than any eleven-man line-up picked from the larger squad.

Remember last year's game with Yale? In all, the Elis used forty-one men against the Catamounts, whose entire squad was about one-half that number.

Fate plays strange things on athletes. Recently we read that B. G. Waters, a former Harvard football star, died in the South Station at Boston after he had over-exerted himself running for a train.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

For Your HALLOWEEN Dance or Party
NOVELTIES
Decorations — Noisemakers
FAVORS
McAuliffe's
Church & College Sts., Phone 639

Union is Next Opponent on Catamounts' Schedule

Varsity Gridsters Play at Schenectady Tomorrow Afternoon—Union Has Strong Veteran Team But Vermont Hopes to Duplicate Last Year's Victory—Both Teams Lose to Amherst

YEARLING TRACK SQUAD TO MEET SARANAC HIGH

Cross-country Team to Compete Against High School at Saranac Lake Tomorrow—Will Be First Meet for Freshmen

Tomorrow the freshman harriers journey over to Saranac Lake to run against the cross-country club there. The High School boys have a fine outfit having beaten the freshmen last year and placing among the first ten at the interscholastics at R. P. I. As this is the only sport at Saranac all men compete for the honor of running whereas Vermont is limited in its number of candidates. However Archie Post, coach of track and cross country has some very promising material and by the end of the season will have turned his new men into a bunch of veteran and seasoned performers. Among the best at this date are Clipp Howard, Jim Murray, Jim Woodruff and Bernie Mulcahy, the latter two stars at Spaulding last year. Other freshmen who have reported for the Kitten club include Libbey, Stetson, Tunna, Morse, Dobson, Jardine, Morrison, Skipper, Hard, Martin, Gilbert, Baldwin, Hebb, Wells and Hutchinson.

The criticism is against the rules that permit coaches to whirl man after man into a game against a team which has fought a plucky battle but is lacking in reserve power.

Some football men advocate penalties for substitutions in games unless such substitutions are due to injuries. The abolition of re-substitution has also been mentioned as a possibility for a remedy to the situation. Speaking from a small college point of view, both of these are to be favored over present conditions.

Football is unquestionably the most popular college sport. This fact was demonstrated by the announcement from Dartmouth athletic office last week that the Dartmouth-Harvard game, to be played a week from next Saturday, had been oversubscribed to such an extent that no further ticket applications could be considered.

MUCH IMPROVEMENT IN VERMONT ELEVEN

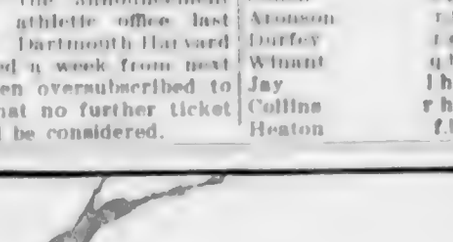
From all indications Union will start with a much stronger team at Schenectady tomorrow afternoon against Vermont than that of last year when the Green and Gold was victorious 14 to 0.

Presenting a practically veteran line-up the Red and Black opened their 1930 season by holding the strong Columbia team to a 25 to 0 score on Baker Field October 4. Inability to stop Ralph Hewitt and Joe Stanczyk, the Lions two fast-stepping backs, spelled defeat for Union. The only source of comparison of the relative strength of Vermont and Union lies in the scores which Amherst ran up on each.

In the opening game of the season the Green and Gold was swamped to the tune of 41 to 0 and was able to make but four first downs against the Substitutes.

Playing their third game of the season Union met defeat at the hands of the Jeffmen last Saturday by a 25 to 0 score. Captain Ham Toner and George Cadigan were again the big shots in the Amherst attack accounting for three of the four touchdowns. In the second half of this game Union opened up with a strong lateral pass combination featuring Lippitt and Fowler which accounted for eight first downs, only to have the Sabrina line tighten and hold for downs each time Union threatened to score.

However the Green and Gold team which faces Union tomorrow be a much stronger and confident one than that was defeated by Amherst three weeks ago.



The Vermont line will still be weakened by the absence of Captain Leo Segal at end and Buzz Collins at guard, but the regular eleven that faced the Coast Guard last Saturday will be in first class shape for the New Yorkers.

The propable starting lineup:

VERMONT		UNION
Allerton	l.e.	Savage, Anella
Park	l.t.	Johnson
Farmer	l.g.	Adams
Davis	c.	Foster
Cohen	r.g.	Sims
Aronson	r.t.	Hallyard
Durfey	r.e.	Savage
Winant	q.b.	Lippitt
Jay	l.h.b.	Lehman
Collins	r.h.b.	Norris
Heaton	f.b.	Lillywhite

"Promises fill no sack"— it is TASTE and not words you enjoy in a smoke

milder and better taste

ONE will always stand out!

© 1930, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Music Department Plans Concert

The Scribe

Four Organizations

Historic Music Building

Last year Miss Charlotte de Volt was added to the faculty as instructor in violin and solfeggio. Miss de Volt is a graduate of the Lasky School of Music in Boston and has studied under many famous teachers, including

NOTICE

All men who have signed up for fencing if they wish to receive credit in the Physical Education department should report every Wednesday and Friday at 4:00 p.m.

U. V. M. DEBATERS OPEN AGAINST BATES THERE

(Continued from page 1)

Chain Stores Now

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of Harmon J. Sheldon, '33, of Fair Haven.

TWENTY PERCENT AVAIL SELVES OF SCHOLARSHIPS

(Continued from page 1)

Debate and Oratorical

Those who earned ... debate scholarships are ... of Burlington High S... used an oratorical ... year, Irving Lisman ... High School, W. J. Ryan ... High School, Rebecca ... Academy, Laura A. J... ingford High School, J... Burlington High School

The oratorical scholarsh... B. J. Mulcahy of Sp... School, and Realtus Mc... gate

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.

Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.

Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies

Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
$1.25 Special $1.25
SHAMPOO and FINGER WAVE
3 Center St. Phone 538

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

Try a PHILCO RADIO in your room.
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits Cup Cakes Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
It here you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music

One title in the UNIVERSITY STORE'S LENDING LIBRARY that no college student should miss reading is

"I LIVED THIS STORY".

This novel won the prize offered jointly by Doubleday, Doran and College Humor for a story of college life written by an undergraduate or a graduate of not more than one year. A story of a typical college girl through her four years of college life in a co-educational institution this should be of unusual interest to every college student.

*Why do Most Students buy Sheaffer's?

It is a fact proven by sales figures that among America's hundred leading colleges, each with 1700 or more students registered, Sheaffer's outsell all others. Is such leadership ever an accident? You know the answer. These sophisticated pen users have found that they like Sheaffer's individualized pen points, that they like the comfortable Balance® designed into Sheaffer's, that they like the streamlined, modern contour of the Balance® pen and pencil, and that Sheaffer's Lifetime® guarantee of satisfactory service means something.

That explains Sheaffer's college sales leadership, and prompts the suggestion that if you'll give Sheaffer's Balance® Lifetime® a class-room test, you'll adopt that pen for your Lifetime®.

AT BETTER STORES EVERYWHERE

SHEAFFER'S
PENS·PENCILS·DESK SETS·SKRIP

W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY · FORT MADISON, IOWA, U. S. A.
® Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. © W. A. S. P. Co., 1930

The ONLY genuine Lifetime® pen is Sheaffer's; do not be deceived! All fountain pens are guaranteed against defects, but Sheaffer's Lifetime® is guaranteed unconditionally for your life, and other Sheaffer products are forever guaranteed against defect in materials and workmanship. Green or Black Lifetime® pens, $8.75; Ladies', $8.25. Black-and-Pearl De Luxe and Marine Green Lifetime® pens, $10; Ladies', $9.50. Petite Lifetime® Pens, $7 up; Golf or Handbag Pencil, $3. Others lower.

*A recent survey made by a disinterested organization showed Sheaffer's first in fountain pen sales among the 100 leading American colleges having registrations of 1,700 or more students. Documents covering this survey are available to anyone.

SAFETY SKRIP, SUCCESSOR TO INK, SKRIP-FILLED, 50c to $10. Carry Safety Skrip in your lug-gage and to classes. It's leak-proof, practically unbreakable. Saves furniture, clothing, rugs. Keeps the fluid fresh, makes all pens write better.

A Full Line of Sheaffer Pens and Pencils on display at

F. J. Preston & Son, Inc.
JEWELERS 17 Upper Church St.

Sheaffer's Skrip Also

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1930 — NUMBER 9

SECOND DEBATE TRYOUT COMPRISES FOUR WITH CHAIN STORE QUESTION

Butman and Howe, Jenks and Libby Argue Different Sides of Topic—Three Colleges on Schedule

PLAN TILT WITH MEN LINED AGAINST WOMEN

[illegible] haranguing Evangelist on [illegible] and the Military Band drum[illegible] other, the second freshman [illegible] events went off with a bang, [illegible] afternoon. The same sub[illegible] the previous debate was Resolved, that the chain store [illegible] to the best interests of [illegible] people." Harry Butman [illegible] Howe presented the af[illegible] David Jenks and Charles [illegible] the negative.

[illegible] no schedule has yet been [illegible] the freshmen, an attempt [illegible] to meet with Middlebury, [illegible] and St. Michael's.

[illegible] freshman-sophomore tilt [illegible] and a debate in which [illegible] will contend with the women [illegible] planned.

Marshall Howe, opening the debate for the affirmative, presented a differ[illegible] types of chain stores, the [illegible] chain, owned and oper[illegible] by one corporation, and the [illegible] chain, under individual [illegible]. The voluntary chains have [illegible] stores and do fully 20 [illegible] the business. They, as well [illegible] ordinary chains, have a quick [illegible] and lower prices. The chain [illegible] are detrimental to the people: [illegible] employment; price reduc[illegible] not worth the price we pay; they [illegible] independent merchant; pay [illegible] taxes, give no credit, and finally, [illegible] no advantage to any type of American citizen.

David Jenks, first of the chain store advocates, showed that chain stores, though old are not hurting the independent merchant. In fact, the voluntary chains are gaining in stores. Competition, he pointed out, is invaluable to business. The chains have a better appearance, eliminate costly overhead, and have better business efficiency. The chain stores, he concluded, are for the better interests of business.

10 Men or 1,000 Men?

Harry Butman, concluding speaker for the affirmative, gave six reasons why chain stores are harmful. Concentration of money leads to monopolies; chain store efficiency is more expensive than ordinary store overhead; highly centralized investments lead to socialism; pen-and-ink facts are not the only results; chains give no credit, and finally, he demanded, "Should we give ten men $100,000 or give 1,000 men $10,000 a year?"

Charles Libby, closing the constructive debate for the negative, explained that chains have great bargains in [illegible] and food. With stores clean, the community is aided to health. In answer to the complaint that the chains are forcing out the independent merchant, he said that only shows that the merchant is unable to keep [illegible] up.

[illegible] intermission was called in [illegible] George Nelson announced that [illegible] participants of the next debate [illegible] Lisman, R. McCuin, and [illegible] the affirmative; the nega[illegible] Stewart, R. Van Dyke, and [illegible]. [illegible] opening the rebuttal for the

(Continued on page 6)

BOOK ARIEL PICTURES TOMORROW AND THURS.

[illegible] for the individual photo[illegible] the 1932 Ariel will be made [illegible] and Thursday mornings in [illegible] Mill corridor. All individuals [illegible] to appear in the Ariel must [illegible] bookings at this time. As[illegible] will be made fifteen minutes [illegible] Monday, November 3, to [illegible] November 8, beginning at [illegible] the morning. Wednesday [illegible]day are the only two days [illegible] engagements will be made. [illegible]etine of Warren Kay Vantine [illegible] will take the photographs him[illegible]self under the contract the [illegible] made with the studio. At [illegible] of sitting a deposit of $1.50 [illegible] made with him, this sum to be [illegible]ted from the price of the pic[illegible] which are bought.

STUDENT DIRECTORY TO APPEAR NOVEMBER FIRST

Will Contain Addresses, Telephone Numbers, and Classification of Students, Faculty and Fraternities

Scheduled for distribution November 1, the new student directory went to press last week. It contains the names of all students, faculty members, and University employees. In addition to this it will give the class numerals, home addresses, city addresses, and telephone numbers of students listed. After each faculty member's name is listed his official capacity, the location of his office, and his official telephone number. In the back of the book students are listed by classes and curricula, as well as by states. All sororities, fraternities and dormitories are given with their addresses.

Directories are available one to each student, and their value as reference catalogue is such that no one should be without one. They will be distributed at the Book Store.

COMMITTEE DECREES WOMEN'S FROSH RULES EFFECTIVE THIS WEEK

Seven Sophomores Enact Extreme Edict To Be Enforced This Week—Judgment Day To Follow

Freshman rules for women of the class of 1934 will be enforced this week by a committee of seven sophomore women with the avowed purpose of impressing the incomers with their utter inferiority.

Freshman Week, the committee states, is to be observed with this in mind "according to University tradition."

"Judgment Day" is to be held this year and at this time recalcitrant freshman women will appear before upperclassmen sitting in council and will be properly and publicly punished.

The printed freshman rules, now on sale at the bookstore, are characterized by a much more varied program than was completed last year.

Commandments

The commandments are briefly as follows:

"1. Arm bands and cranial covering shall always be worn.

"2. The songs of our Alma Mater shall ever be in readiness for demonstration.

"3. Freshwomen shall be pure of all cosmetics.

"4. Never shall a freshwoman venture through the front doors of the Old Mill unless accompanied by a sophomore.

"5. Frosh attendance is required at Chapel and home football games. Freshwomen are expected to greet cheerily all upperclasswomen."

For the week beginning October 20 there are instructions for each day:

"Monday. A placard on which the individual's name is inscribed shall decorate both front and rear. One black and one white stocking shall be worn.

"Tuesday. Tresses shall be bound in ten braids.

"Wednesday. Freshwomen shall be garbed in rainy weather apparel. Smoked glasses shall adorn the ocular organs, except while attending Chapel.

"Thursday. A large handkerchief shall be pinned to the outermost garment, ready to catch suppliant tears.

"Friday. Neither stockings nor shoes shall match.

"Saturday. A large suitcase shall bear texts of learning, and a sofa pillow shall soften classroom seats."

Committee

The committee on freshman rules includes: Marion Kiel, Shirley Nichols, Margaret Crane, Norma Carder, Leah Gowen, Esther Beardsley, and Gene Petze. So far the committee says that it has found the attitude of the freshman women "fairly satisfactory." The committee adds:

"There has, however, been some laxity in general courtesy to upperclasswomen which the forthcoming week will do much to eradicate."

The shows have gone from bad to worse.—Carolina Buccaneer.

Pierre de Lanux, Carnegie Lecturer, Speaks Here on "International Ethics"

French Authority On International Statesmanship and World Peace Movements Addresses Students in Old Chapel

M. PIERRE de LANUX
Director, the Paris Information Office of the League of Nations

IS FIRST OF VISITING LECTURERS THIS YEAR

Addressing the students, faculty and friends of the University, Pierre de Lanux discussed "Our International Ethics" last night in the Old Chapel as the first visiting lecturer of the year.

He came under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and his talk is one of a series of talks delivered this week before college audiences.

In War—In Peace

Pierre de Lanux is one of the world's most brilliant young journalists. He served as a war correspondent in the Balkans in 1912, 1913, and 1914 and as special correspondent on many official missions for various important staffs.

His excellent efforts for international peace were rewarded in 1924 by his appointment to the position of director of the Paris Information Office of the League of Nations.

In spite of his many duties in this capacity M. de Lanux has found time for a literary career. He has published several volumes of biographies, essays, and lectures and has contributed to many leading magazines.

M. de Lanux has lectured in Paris, London, Brussels, Geneva, Berlin, Frankfort, Hamburg and many other European cities. In 1929, under the auspices of the League of Nations Association, he completed a tour of 100 lectures in 100 days in the United States. Since then, in addition to his League duties, which included visits to Madrid, Geneva, Rome, Barcelona, and Berlin, he has progressed in his writing of a book dealing with the history of the American southern states.

Brilliant and Versatile

M. de Lanux has been described as a "young man of his age—an editor, a writer of brilliant volumes, a practical organizer and executive, a linguist, a speaker, an internationalist." In view of these accomplishments he may be rightly called one of the most versatile and brilliant figures of his time.

GREY FRIARS SOCIETY ISSUES INVITATIONS TO MEMBERSHIP TO MEN

Members of Group, Now in Its Third Year, Read Manuscripts and Discuss Free-lancing at Social Meeting

Several invitations to membership were issued by Grey Friars last Thursday night, October 16, at a meeting in which manuscripts were read and criticized.

Joseph Carter read a descriptive narrative dealing with a freshman's experiences in hazing. Robert Hyde's short story, "The Waving Lady" was considered the best read that evening. A philosophical sketch by Edmour Germain was read followed by a satirical prose sketch by Paul LaCrosse.

Then refreshments were served of which the organization can truly say with Aeneas, Mooma jam fui.

Robert Hyde thereupon led a discussion of literary methods and free-lance writing in general, which provoked much interest in the group. Professor Dean pointed out also the value of photography in free-lance articles especially those dealing with trade publications.

Origin

Grey Friars was established in the spring of 1928, for the promotion of fellowship, and interest in literature and writing. The members of the group must present evidence of their desire and ability to write and to know and appreciate good literature, writing, and intellectual movements of this sort.

The requirements of membership are somewhat rigid because of the fact that the number of active men is limited to sixteen out of the whole student body. Any man who is interested in the activities of Grey Friars is requested to submit two manuscripts in different fields of literature, to be read at the first meeting following the presentation of the manuscript, and criticized by those present. The subjects may be anything in the field of poetry, essays, short stories, or sketches. A combination of two of these gives the most desirable basis for judging the literary ability of a man who is interested in Grey Friars. Because of the somewhat exclusive nature of the organization, only those men who show interest enough to be of some value to the rest of the group are accepted.

Sociality

Twice a year a banquet is held at one of the local hotels, at which men and women from the faculty, and authors and prominent speakers from this and other states, give addresses on literary and various intellectual movements of the present time. Once each month a supper is served at some one of the city restaurants at which the members are treated not only to an excellent meal, but also enjoy hearing a speaker from one of the various departments of the University.

The honorary members are: Prof. Frederick Tupper, head of the English department, and Mr. Leon Dean also of the English department.

The active members are: Edmour Germain, '31, guardian; Louis Lisman '31, vice-guardian; Sam Barker, '32 secretary; Joseph Carter, '32, treasurer; Paul LaCrosse, '32, Chairman of entertainment committees; Fred Householder, Jr., '32; Robert Hyde '31; William MacDonald, '33; and George Nelson, '31, and Solom Segal, '31.

PROF. HOUSEHOLDER TO STUDY AT CALIFORNIA

Prof. F. W. Householder of the mathematics department left Saturday for a tour of the United States. He is having his sabbatical leave and plans to study at Leland Stanford in California and at the University of Illinois. He will also visit the mathematics departments of other colleges. He came to Vermont as a teacher ten years ago.

UNIVERSITY WILL BACK H. S. EDITORIAL MEETING

Annually backed by the University of Vermont, an editorial conference for editors of Vermont high school papers and magazines will be held Saturday, October 25, in the College of Medicine Building.

At 10:15 the delegated editors and business managers will assemble in Hall B on the second floor of the Medical Building. There will be an address of welcome by a speaker yet unnamed, possibly President Bailey.

Walter H. Crockett, editor of University publications, will preside. The list of speakers for this meeting includes Prof. Leon W. Dean, who will talk on "The Short Story in the High School Newspaper"; Prof. Wellington E. Aiken, who will explain the "Relation of the Study of English to High School Papers"; and Roy W. Johnson, editor of the Randolph Herald-News, who will speak from the point of view of the editor and printer.

Four-Leaf Clover

At 12:30 the editors will adjourn to the Hotel Vermont where they will be entertained at luncheon on the roof garden. After lunch, Miss Marion Wells of Woodbury High School will speak on the Four-Leaf Clover, which is the first attempt to unite four rural high schools, including Cabot, Plainfield, Marshfield and Woodbury, in the issuing of one high school paper. Miss Wells will tell about the establishment and conduct of this paper.

Following the morning and afternoon addresses, discussions of editorial and business problems of high school papers will be held. Such subjects as how to raise money and how the English department may cooperate with the students in issuing the paper will be discussed.

According to Mr. Crockett, the high school paper has developed greatly in the last few years and affords a fine opportunity for executive ability and literary expression.

UPPERCLASS SOCIETIES IN HUDDLE OVER RULES

According to a rumor which is spreading around campus Boulder society and Key and Serpent will assist Gold Key to stage a grand and glorious paddling party within the next few days for those freshmen who in the opinion of the honorary societies are "not living up to the standard of the Vermont traditions."

The three societies feel that this is their main function at present and that their prestige is being ruined by the inability of Gold Key to hold a paddling party. They are especially peeved at the Cynic for its refusal to support their "reign of terror." In revenge to demonstrate their omnipotence they are bent upon "paddling hell" out of certain Cynic scrubs who have been resisting their attempts at widespread enforcement of the rules which Gold Key has laid down. In the event that these men ignore their invitation to the future party it is planned to use force to secure the desired patronage.

ZETA CHI FRATERNITY OBSERVES TENTH YEAR

Zeta Chi fraternity observed the tenth anniversary of its founding Sunday, October 19, at its home on Loomis Street.

Zeta Chi is the third youngest fraternity at Vermont. The society was originally composed of twelve members who have increased to a total of 150 alumni and active members in the ten years of its existence. The original members were: Royce W. Pitkin, '32, agriculture, now principal of Wallingford High School, and president of the Wallingford Rotary Club; H. Belmont Houghton, '27, Engineering, now a government civil engineer in the Canal zone; Joseph McGee, LS, '33, who later obtained his master's degree at Yale and is now teaching in Ansonia, Conn.; M. Dodge Bowles, GS, ex-'23, D.D.S. Harvard, who is now practicing dentistry in Boston; Guy I. McCuin, '32, Engineering, now a lumber magnate at Montgomery Center, Vt.; Erwin Lavery, '23, Engineering, at present assistant city engineer in Burlington; Reinhold Tappert, LS, '33, now operating a bookshop at Greenpoint, L. I.; Roy Phillips, GS, now a store manager, Florence, Vt.; Chas. McKinnon, C and E, '34, at present a salesman of reinforced steel in Virginia, Claude Tate, Agriculture, '28, now farming at Brattleboro, and Wilfred D. Lovey, C and E, '24.

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor — Associate Editor — Women's Editor

Sports Editor — Feature Editor

Associate Editors

Associate Editors

Intercollegiate Editor

Women's Editor

Business Manager

Business Managers

Single Copy, Five Cents

Published ... during the college year

... shall be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all ...

... Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House

... acceptance for mailing at postage outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in ... Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926

... Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 45 October 22, 1930 No. 9

Not a little startling is the news in today's columns of the direct decree of freshman week by a group of seven sophomore women "to make the women of the freshman class realize their inferiority in the University."

Since when has the impression of an inferiority complex been compatible with the trends of modern educational psychology? Since when has a class of college women unquestioningly stooped to the dictates of seven women who have decided to "uphold tradition" by any means and at any cost?

It is an illogical assumption that the freshman women will submit to such grotesque antiques, such undignified habits and a submissive and cowering mental attitude simply because a group of sophomores egoistically command it.

Can the seven comprising this committee follow the trend of enlightened intercollegiate thought and unblushingly force upon their lowerclass sisters such a hell week as they have begun yesterday? It is unthinkable.

The very tone of the admonitions is enough to precipitate the uncompromising resistance of every woman. That the classes before them have "gone through the mill" should be no deterrent from a turning of the tables by the class of 1934. Solidarity of class thought and deed in such a cause during the last few years has evoked respect and support from faculty and students alike. That a refusal to cooperate will bring such in this instance we shall not doubt.

Simultaneous with the determination of the sophomore women not to be outdone by their vigilant class brothers comes an authoritative statement that a triple entente of Boulder, Key and Serpent and Gold Key is in a huddle preparing to launch an offensive of not only rigid patrolling—but what will contribute not a whit less to their pleasure—a system of black-hand enforcement culminating in a sub rosa paddling party to which they have long looked forward.

That Gold Key itself has radically departed from the traditional mode of securing recognition to its unblushing assertion of dominance is apparently not enough. For both Boulder and Key and Serpent have seen fit to join forces to aid their protégé in saving itself from a possibe suicide through indiscrete action. Gold Key has degenerated into a maintainer of a system of freshman rules and hazing which other college societies have long since thrown overboard.

Because of this incongruous action it lives in constant dread of being ousted by a student opinion enlightened in line with the recent progressive and widespread abolition of nonsensical rules and barbaric hazing long since recognized as outworn and apart from the best principles of class orientation.

The new triumvirate of class societies openly acclaims itself "the upholder of traditions." Yet behind its devilish mask we discern naught but a menacing fear of the renewal of its right to wield the paddle.

The veritable flood of student sentiment during the last month against freshman hazing and mandatory rules is obviously being utterly ignored.

College faculties, student governing bodies, educational committees and student Christian associations in a host of eastern and mid-western institutions have abolished this form of oligarchic upperclass entertainment in favor of freshman orientation weeks, freshman camps, and personal councillor systems. These have demonstrated their potence in aiding the newcomers in forming congenial friendships and satisfactorily adjusting themselves to the social situation of the college campus. We fail to see how this superior system can long remain effective with the other simultaneously pulling against it.

The change in the old order has obtained with the death of Joe College and his troop of rah rah devils. In one sense "it has been a departure from a customary mode of introducing freshmen to college life. But in a larger and more conservative sense it has been a gradual shaking off of the shackles of an extraneous system which, through a rampant rowdyism, had unfortunately attached itself to freshman orientation and adjustment.

The sophomore vigilants comprise in themselves a group of men and women who, if they worked with a wholehearted and altruistic spirit, could be of inestimable service in demonstrating to strangers that Vermont is truly a democratic university, and that she is hospitable and appreciative of the problems of the freshmen.

Unless these oligarchic groups of men and women realign themselves with the progressive student movement they should not be surprised if they are confronted with a campaign of non-cooperation comprehending every man and woman in the class of 1934.

FORUM

Putting Away Childish Things

(New York Times, October 19, 1930)

That life, even college life, is suddenly real and earnest is apparent in a new undergraduate attitude on the campuses in various parts of the country at the start of this latest academic year. This fall the time-honored rite of freshman hazing has been definitely abandoned at several colleges, East, West and South In some cases sophomores have not only ceased persecution, but have constituted themselves guides, philosophers and friends to their younger collegiate brothers. At the Boston University College of Liberal Arts, instead of storming the freshman meetings the sophomores voted to help them organize a class unit, presented a gavel to the freshman president and offered any help of which they were capable in orienting the newcomers at college.

While no other sophomores have gone to quite such Chesterfieldian lengths, hazing has just been abolished at the University of West Virginia by the student council, and at Bucknell the college paper has denounced even the enforcement of green caps as "silly and childish."

Frosh "Introduction"?

That the student body is by no means satisfied with the present system of acquainting the freshmen with their new surroundings is quite evident from discussions, heard on the campus throughout last session, which culminated in the proposal made at the meeting of the Students' Society on Wednesday The reason for all the talk is obvious; there is no system whereby newcomers to the University are made familiar with college life in its many aspects.

Substitute for Hazing

Student opinion abolished hazing last year, but no provision was made for a new method of introduction. Here the advocates of laissez faire seem to have erred as was shown at the recent student gathering A substitute for hazing appears necessary and no doubt the followers of the old school favoring frosh initiation will rejoice in the setting in motion of machinery to manufacture new instruments which may be employed at some future date in freshman "introduction."

The committee which will be appointed by the Students' Executive Council should not find great difficulty in selecting suggestions from students, many have spoken for and against frosh initiation within the past twelve months Now an opportunity will be afforded them to present a practical method to instill into freshmen some sense of admiration for their Alma Mater and of responsibility for the maintenance of its many noble traditions McGill Daily, October 17, 1930.

Hazing Again!

The attitude toward freshman hazing seems to be changing gradually At the University of West Virginia the Student Council has officially abolished hazing and has provided instead for a Freshman Court to work with the Traditions Committee in enforcing freshman customs Which means that freshman rules are under the charge of a definite group, and not any upperclassman sophomores being traditionally the most ardent who cares to take a hand.

The Lord has gone still further, and a writer long not only hazing, but the freshman traditions themselves In a letter to the editor of the Buckmellian of September 18 a freshman declares: "I have just come here to revert to the ways of my pre-school days My purpose is and has got to be serious ... that this attitude is supported ... by editorial in the same issue which ... the time-honored green caps ... as 'silly and childish.'"

Help Freshmen

An interesting device for helping the bewildered newcomer is the Harvard "Crimson's" Confidential Guide to Courses, which is a really frank appraisal from the student's viewpoint, of the value and interest of various fields of study As a "Crimson" editorial puts it, "The faculty is amply represented in the catalogue and the various conferences with instructors. This is a defined undergraduate opinion It offers a means of ascertaining just how well the various instructors accomplish their aims as teachers" One has a mental picture of the Harvard faculty peering in trepidation at the "Crimson's" very outspoken comments on certain courses but in spite of its inevitable shortcomings, the Confidential must certainly be helpful to the harassed freshman facing, as he is so often told, "the whole field of knowledge."—N. S. F. A. News Service.

Thanks, Garnet Key

(Bates Student)

For the first time in four years the freshmen have not been herded out onto the football field between the halves of the first home game. Perhaps this was because the freshmen behaved in such a way that such a procedure did not seem necessary to the sophomores, but the sopha could have found an excuse to get them out there if they had wanted to, they always have. And for that reason we say, "Thanks, Garnet Key."

The Student, of course, thinks that the custom of making fools of the freshmen within our walls is bad enough, but there can be absolutely no excuse for holding them up to ridicule before students of other institutions If memory does not fail us, the practice started when certain members of the class of '30 considered that certain members of the class of '31 were a little too "wise" during the game. So the whole freshman class of '31 was ordered out onto the field, made to say the Litany, parade around and salaam before the grandstand where sat the followers of the Massachusetts Aggies. The next year the frosh bowed low before the Bowdoin rooters, and last year, before M. A. C once more. Each time murmurs of disapproval on the part of both upperclassmen and alumni were heard in the Bates stands, but until this year no notice was taken by the "powers-that-be" in the sophomore classes, and this act, which degraded not only the freshman class, but, in a sense, the whole college, was repeated for the benefit of the visitors each year.

But this year it has been different, and if the Garnet Key of 1933 improves this business of freshman initiation in no other way we appreciate their at least eliminating this perversion of interclass rivalry from the system.

Sneers for the Censors

A Boston bookshop, in a protest against the strict censorship observed there, displayed the following sign in its window:

"Important Notice:

"Any person or persons under seventy-five years of age and living in Boston, who wishes to purchase any of these books, pamphlets, prints, brochures, leaflets, pages or parts or portions of such which contain, include or mention such words as ankle, leg, arm, damn, Hades, whoopee, etc., etc., and so on, must first secure an affidavit from his, her or its mother, and countersigned at City Hall not later than the year 1601, stating that he, she, or it will not be corrupted, led astray, learn immorality, birth control, sex appeal, evolution, that the earth is flat, that angels do not have wings, that all nations, creeds, born or unborn, have a right to differ in opinion, or have opinions from Bostonians that the Cabots and the Lowells did not descend from a cod or cods or other fish." (Vassar Miscellany.)

Co-ed Twins

Two coeds, having recently graduated from Arkansas State College, are presenting a unique problem To begin with, they are twins and look exactly alike, but that isn't even the half of it A short while ago they both took a United States Civil Service examination and, after the time required for grading, back came the papers with the official statement that there was obvious evidence of copying The college authorities, being appealed to by the young ladies, immediately proceeded to file a protest with the Civil Service Department The professors stated emphatically that the girls had not cheated. Throughout their college careers they had handed in almost identical examination papers For the twins not only look alike but think alike, "their minds just naturally running in the same channels." Should the Government discriminate against two persons just because they think alike?—Johns Hopkins News.

Tests made by the students of the University of Minnesota have proved that students can do their best studying when listening to jazz music on the radio. Less distraction was found to prevail when loud speakers were vibrating than when absolute silence reigned in the student's room. Note this radio "crabbers."

Intercollegiate News

COLUMBIA TO TEACH PEACE

Curbing of Wars by Education is Aim of New Course

Universal peace by education is the aim of a new course to be offered by Teachers College, Columbia University, during the coming semester It is scheduled for the late afternoon in order to accommodate teachers and school administrators in the metropolitan area and replaces the course in military science which was abolished two years ago.

"The public schools of the United States and of other countries," Prof. Adelaide T. Case of the department of religious education, declared recently "have taught a narrow nationalism which has contributed to war and discord. It is time the schools approached the problem of reaching peace through an intelligent consideration of the sinister forces which make for war and positive factors creative of peace We hope this course of Doctor Harper's will help achieve this end. We believe it will be a significant thing in American education."

The course will be given by Dr Heber Harper, formerly professor at Boston University and chancellor of the University of Denver for five years. He recently returned from Europe where he made a thorough survery of international relations studies at the London School of Economics the Ecole des Sciences Politique at Paris, and the various institutions at Geneva.—New York Times

Are They Freshmen?

Where are the dear d... not so long ago when ... looked like one and not ... ticated senior? There ... when a first-year co-ed ... tinguished about a bloc... cap, goggles, schoolgirl f... brief case easily identif... comers to the big univ... now—

She is a finished produ... best dressmakers, millin... iers. She wears a fas... crepe dress, saucy hat ... snake skin shoes, and all ... to match the color scheme ... time costume. The only ... mark her as a co-ed is ... leather notebook. Brief ... for this youngster.

No More Hazing

It's just too bad for t... classmen who find pleasu... freshmen. Very few of th... wear the headgear of their ... as there is no mark of ... there is no fun. And wh... green, scared look, that be... dering about in search of ... shy glances at old un... tues—and the hundred and ... marks of a freshman? Th... and never will return

As for the boys, even t... do adopt the freshman ca... too bold and experienced t... cry, "Button frosh!" The... wearily on their way and ... notice the astonished app... that newly created sop... hear the grumbles of "it ain't it used to be. A freshman ... obey." And so on far into the ...

Abandon Case

The leather case has ... abandoned by the male ... Perhaps the advice of a ... helped him in this instance ... blue cloth-covered notebook ... thing he carries to class ... it is adorned with blue ... stickers or drawings of the ... friend who is still attend... school.

These freshmen are exam... best clothes connoisseurs ... was golf outfits with mat... sweaters and ties. Now ... suit and a bright tie ... day it was a collegiate ... from high school, now ... sedan.

It Hurts All

There may be shouts ... as to what this world is ... but this younger gener... senior once said, does hurt ... know too much, they ... much and cannot be fooled ... while yet in high school ... versity dances and get ... coming years And when ... year at the higher ... are groomed and ready ... The men—but why ...

Just look around and ... examples of freshmen ... innocents who know it all ... they came to college ... there was something ... There is nothing new ... if one cannot recognize ... and enjoy his ... Tribune.

Señorita Trinidad de V... of the University of M... new Spanish instructor ... campus. She has been ... try since 1923, likes it ... intends to become an A... zen She prefers ... cause of their sociable ...

A Student-at-Large

[illegible] the Winnowings, it is a [illegible] of the present pros- [illegible]ington when the business [illegible] cannot afford a few cents [illegible]ing as appreciation of the [illegible] they have, even if they [illegible] to acquire more. And [illegible] apparent to them that a [illegible]ation of not over a thou- [illegible] at least a few dollars and [illegible] their pockets.

[illegible]angely enough, it is not.

[illegible] the freshmen have been [illegible]aved at, and verbally at- [illegible] every way so often that one [illegible] or two will not affect their [illegible] balance. It is this, what- [illegible]ons to you, whatever anyone [illegible] anything to you, don't take [illegible]. Much more harm has [illegible] by the fault of over-seri- [illegible]an that of too little serious [illegible].

[illegible] unfortunate that an emi- [illegible]'s engagement should [illegible] an open house night, but [illegible]other will be affected. For [illegible] fraternity men and fresh- [illegible] wish to attend the lecture [illegible], not be missed and nobody [illegible] very much.

[illegible] attended wondered at the [illegible] required subjects. What [illegible] there can be for requir- [illegible] argument I do not see. [illegible] there may be a few cases [illegible] good results, but remark- [illegible] It might be said that this [illegible] for such speech-mak- [illegible] as the student might [illegible] to do after leaving col- [illegible] can be going by [illegible] any ordinary arguments. [illegible] going to follow the [illegible] debate in after-dinner [illegible] At least cases where anyone [illegible] will be extremely rare.

[illegible] so if any student,—not a [illegible] but just one student, [illegible] marked improvement in [illegible]re at the end of the year, [illegible] the course was justified. [illegible] however, justified as com- [illegible] I do not think anything com- [illegible] does a great deal of good. [illegible] it seems foolish that [illegible]eaters should have had to [illegible]entation, as has apparently [illegible]en the case.

[illegible] theory I should like to hold [illegible] is the stop-watch study [illegible] that I mean the system [illegible]ing that man best who gets [illegible] done by a specified time [illegible] The point of this I do [illegible]tand. If men are here to [illegible] should they be told by what [illegible] shall learn a thing. If I [illegible] unprepared, immediately [illegible]lank paper, and take a quiz, [illegible]viously and unfortunately [illegible] But if at the end of the hour [illegible]more about that day's assign- [illegible] any man in class, that little [illegible]parently has no meaning un- [illegible]resent system. As it stands [illegible]but how much you know, but [illegible]know that counts heavily. [illegible] I do not understand. If [illegible]prefers learning in class to [illegible]at home and being given the [illegible]in class. I think he has [illegible]tation.

Fred W. Householder, Jr.

DR. SWAN LECTURES TO WOMEN ON "MARRIAGE"

[illegible] Swan completed his series [illegible] on social hygiene here [illegible] "marriage" before [illegible] of freshman and [illegible]men Friday afternoon. [illegible] a metaphorical ship with [illegible] boy and a girl, two [illegible] is steering toward [illegible] of happiness." Doctor [illegible] particularly of the wide [illegible]spread exercise over men [illegible] war and peace. He read [illegible] by a woman who had [illegible] married for seven years [illegible] the elements of a successful [illegible]marriage.

[illegible] Doctor Swan quoted a [illegible] on Oliver Wendell Holmes' [illegible] Boyhood."

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Martha Brown, an alumna of the University of Wisconsin, was a guest at the Kappa Alpha Theta house over the week-end.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Esther Mandigo, '31, Crystal Lowes, '32, and Laura Johnson, '33, were initiated Wednesday, October 15, at the chapter rooms. The initiation was followed by a banquet at the Park Cafe, at which Miss Isabel Hallett, province deputy, and her mother, who are visiting Eta Chapter, were present.

Iva Harris and Frances Laythe, '30, were in town over the week-end.

PI BETA PHI

Lucy Bracken and Charlotte Cleveland, '29, and Narcissa Goodsell, Anne McLaughlin, Dorothy Colton, Dorothy Gurney, of the class of '30, were in Burlington over the week-end.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Elizabeth Baker and Mary Pratt, of the class of '33, were pledged to Upsilon Chapter Sunday, October 12.

Alma Batten, '28, and Florence Scott, '29, were in Burlington for the week-end.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Alpha Chi Omega house was the scene of the celebration of National Founder's Day, October 15. A buffet luncheon was served by the sophomores. This was followed by a program consisting of solos by Mrs. Carlotta Raine and Dorothy Nash, '31; a report of national convention by Pauline Willis, '31, and a talk by Marjorie Perrin, '21, on the founding of the first chapter at DePauw University. Alumnae present were Mrs. Adams from Theta Chapter at the University of Michigan, Mrs. Carlotta Raine from Zeta Chapter, Marjorie Perrin, '21, Martha Leighton, '23, Mabel Miles '23, Alusa Jones, '27, Ruth Jones, '27, Mrs. Marion Hinsdale, '25, Mrs. Jeannette Strong, '28, and Florence McKenzie, '30.

KAPPA DELTA

The second degree was conferred upon Dorinne Lee, '33, of Newport on Sunday morning. This was followed by a breakfast at the Athena Club rooms.

Mrs. Robert Gurganus, Helen Lynch, '28, Catherine Courtney, '27, Alice Crowe, '26, and Bettie Upton, '29, were guests at a supper served Thursday evening in the rooms.

Co-ed Notes

The Health Council of the Women's Athletic Association held its meeting Monday, in the gym office, to discuss the work for the coming year. It was decided to have a special health bulletin board in the "Y" Room where the members will place clippings and posters.

Each member of the Health Council has signed up to inquire of professors, instructors, and house directors about health conditions at the University. They hope in this way to tackle the major health problems and to improve present conditions.

Plans are under way for the women's interclass tennis tournament. Co-eds who wish to participate should sign up in the "Y" Room this week. Try-outs will be held next Monday and Tuesday. Both first and second teams and subs will be chosen from each class.

Women staying at Practice House this week are: Seniors, Natalie Hawley and Harriet Johnstone; Juniors, Gwendolyn Slater and Vivian Hubbard; sophomore, Ethel Bishop, freshman member, Katherine Donahue.

Swarthmore vs. Penn

Something novel in football circles was experienced at Swarthmore a few weeks ago. Three local merchants offered rewards to the football squad if they beat Penn in their annual football clash. The local barber offered a haircut, the local haberdasher offered a tie, and the local tailor offered a cleaning and pressing job to every member of the football squad provided they returned from Philadelphia victorious over Penn.

FACULTY COLUMN

Transition

[illegible] student on the [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTS SYMPOSIUM

Object Lesson

It was in 1926 that we had an object lesson in the business of getting the most out of football material. That year we sent Dartmouth, Tufts and the next week piled up a score of 60 to 0 on Tufts.

That Tufts game was a setting and put the wedge over Dartmouth and the big score against Tufts spotted the team for the balance of the year. Harvard never became the team for the rest of the season it might have been. And never since then have we played such a setup during the season. The danger of the setback is great. There is a demoralizing aftermath.

The tendency in favor of the equalization of squads of opposing schools as a general proposition. In intercollegiate hockey there is a twelve player limit. We adhere to that. We might put twenty-four players into uniform for our varsity hockey games and use all of them to advantage, yet we stick to the twelve men. It is a fair proposition."

SPORTSMAN

Sportsman, a word consistently used nevertheless presents its difficulties when a definition is asked. Prof Chas W Kennedy has coined a meaning which is thoroughly inclusive. "A sportsman is one who loves the game for its own sake, who has a scrupulous regard for the rules of fair play and strives under these rules to pit his best against the best of an opponent whom he respects, who admires excellence in the game for its own sake and who pays instinctive tribute of respect to excellence whether it be his own or that of an opponent who in the stress of competition strives to the uttermost without descent to breach of rule or vindictive spirit, who hates a quitter an abhors a loafer who in the center of the game preserves courage in the face of defeat and dignity self-respect and good will, on the possession of which who wishes an excellent game to be played by gentlemen and not by gentlemanly professionals rests. Defeating the good and generous spirit with a Pyrrhonic view of the world that regards all things as a game with victory the only thing worth while."

Princeton, Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Penn State, Columbia, Brown, Rutgers, Lehigh, Lafayette, Bucknell, Colgate, Syracuse, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, Western Reserve, Kenyon, Illinois, Laval, McGill, Marquette, M A C, M I T, Ottawa, Queens, Reed, Rochester, University of Saskatchewan, Toronto, Trinity, Tufts, Tulane, West Point, University of Virginia, Wesleyan, Williams, College of Wooster and Yale. How many think differently?

"If you were in the bath tub with a horse, what would you do?"

"Pull the plug out."

Oh! Oh! The Idaho Argonaut comes through with an interesting bit of information. The reason why co-eds take more time in dressing than college men is because they have to go slow around the dangerous curves.

Hot: Please don't start that ancestor racket. I guess your people were on Noah's Ark.

Stuff: No! They had a yacht of their own.—Pointer.

Fast: Let's stop here—this is a girls' school.

Fast: Oh, no, it can't be. Didn't you see the sign, "Slow School Ahead."—Boston Beanpot.

ALUMNUS, FOUNDER OF ROTARY INT'L. RETURNS

Mr. [illegible] of Chicago, founder of the Rotary International movement and a member of the Class of 1899 [illegible] Tuesday afternoon at the University.

Accompanied by Mrs. Harris and [illegible] Mr. Harris visited the buildings [illegible] and other University buildings. Mr. Harris also took the opportunity of revisiting Lambda Iota [illegible] fraternity while he was [illegible].

Tuesday evening Mr. Harris was the guest of the Burlington Rotary Club at an informal banquet at the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont. Four of his classmates of U. V. M. '89, H. M. McIntosh, J. L. Hall, M. L. Powell and E. S. Isham, are members of the Burlington Club. At the banquet Mr. Harris said that in starting the first Rotary Club in Chicago in 1905, his desire had been to catch again, in the business world, the spirit of good fellowship and the spontaneous exchange of ideas that are found in the college fraternity house.

How to Clean Up a Fortune

1. Feel for the nickel in the coin slot every time you pass a telephone booth.

2. Walk upstairs when you buy your suit. It is rumored that savings are sometimes as high as $10.—U. of S. Cal. Wampus.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

If You Want To Listen In—

Snowflakes are this season's newest development . . .

A fabric entirely original . . . totally different . . . still in keeping with the season's trend.

If the unusual appeals to you, Snowflakes will . . .

Of course they are by Braeburn

$35 $40 $45
all with two trousers

Hayes & Carney, Inc.
195-7 Bank St., Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Students Stage Lively Celebration Following Grid Game 30 Years Ago

[illegible] University [illegible] of [illegible] game by using Vermont [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTING NEWS

Freshmen Subdue Seminary Eleven in 30-0 Home Game

Wesoly Opens Quarter With End Run—Saba and Braskie Both Score in Second Half With Three Touchdowns—Vermont Makes Four Substitutions

CATAMOUNT KITS SHOW AN EFFICIENT BACKFIELD

...nd muddy field while ... dismally through the ... the spectators' frames, ... patients hammered the ... Seminites to a standstill ... tune of 30 to 0.

... the dismalness of the ... coming to see the Kittens ... the biggest scores in ... on the home gridiron.

... quarter Wesoly made ... on a beautiful end run. ... again in the second play ... quarter on an off tackle ... second half Braskie ... Saba two more.

Kick Off to Wesoly

... kicked off to Wesoly who ... to ten yards down the ... the field. On the next ... again took the ball for ... Some ball carrier this ... On the third down Saba ... twenty-five more. Then ... fumbled and this was all ... them from scoring in the ... ...ties of play. Then Mont... ... to Smith and he trotted ... for thirty yards to be ... ten-yard stripe. As a ... ripped through guard for ... Smith missed the point ... The score read Kittens 6, ...

... elected to receive but ... and soon punted. Smith ... thirty yards and the ... here.

... quarter opened with a ... yards by Wesoly and on ... Saba plunged eight ... touchdown. Again Smith ... point. Score, Kittens 12, ... 0. At this point Coach ... to give the subs a break. ... in for Faucher, Braskie ... Dentz for Rust, Cross for ... Thus the game stood at ... Vermont Frosh 12, Mont... ...inary 0.

... half was murder with ... arming the opposition ... consciousness. In this half the ... were a series of delayed ... the Kittens which carried ... to a touchdown. Braskie ... ball around left end for ... to score. Another thriller ... kick in the third quarter ... rolled fully fifty yards in the ... quarter Saba made two ... touchdowns, one on an off tackle ... yards and again through ... right. In the third quarter ... Montpelier's plucky halfback, ... out of the game because of ... in his right ankle. This ... only serious injury in the ...

A Strong Line

... of the game would show ... Kittens developed an un... ...ing line and a very efficient ... The starting backfield of ... Smith and Sowka are ... superior to the present ... backfield. These boys are ... and can easily diagnose ... plays, much to the ... disadvantage. Coach Tully ... be proud of this team ... saying fervently that we'll ... as the varsity next year. ... can well be proud of Mori, ... Rock who outdid them... backfield.

MONTPELIER

l.e., Anderson
l.t., Barmettler
l.g., Fountain
...c., Williams
r.g., Cummings
r.t., Amidon
r.e., Slativitch, Scalon q.b., Casiani
l.h.b., Mori
r.h.b., Rock
f.b., Ramon

WOMEN'S HISTRIONIC GROUP INITIATES TWO

... Sandal, women's hon... ...society, held an initia... ...day at the Kappa Alpha ... The initiates were ... Hubbard, '32, and Roberta ...

INTERFRAT TOUCH FOOTBALL TOURNEY

Delta Psi Brings Upset by Conquering Sigma Nu 30 to 24—Phi Mu Delta Defeats Phi Delta Theta 12 to 6—Second Round in Progress This Week

On a soggy field last Thursday afternoon, one of the biggest upsets of intramural touch football took place. The vaunted Sigma Nus, who placed two men on the so-called campus all-American last fall, were finally nosed out by the determined Delta Psi's. The Sigma Nu's due to the efforts of Bob Aiken, who incidentally played a beautiful game got off to a fine start, leading 18-0 at the quarter. The Delta's started to function at the beginning of the second period and with Marvin bearing the brunt of the attack, had pulled up to 18 to 12 at the half. After the rest period the game slowed down due to fumbling and a slippery footing for the combatants. T. Marvin and J. Marvin scored again and Phillips retaliated. Finally the Delts pushed across the winning count, emerging on top of a 30 to 24 score.

On Friday the Phi Mu Delts beat the Phi Delta Theta outfit, 12 to 6. The remarkable part of this score was the fact that the Phi Delts caught three passes over the goal line but Referee Prentice ruled them null and void as they were over the end zone. Grant for the Phi Delts and Stew Manning for the Phi Mu Delts were the respective stars of the contest. One peculiar point about the game that due to the strong defense of both aggregations the score was the lowest since this sport's innovation.

Yesterday afternoon the postponed contest between the A. T. O.'s and the Independents took place.

This afternoon the first second round game of the tournament comes off when the Sigs, runners-up last year, play the S. A. E.'s. This should be a close battle with the Sigma Phi's having a slight edge.

Tomorrow Delta Psi is scheduled to play Phi Sigma Delta, who eliminated Sigma Delta.

BOOKS AVAILABLE TO STUDENTS OF DEBATE

Books on argumentation and debate for the benefit of students in that class are available from Mr. M. D. Powers at the V. C. A. office. They may be borrowed over night by any interested in the subject. The list follows:

"Argumentation and Debate," by O'Neill, Laycock and Scales; "Argumentation and Debating," by Foster; "Argumentation and Debate," by Ketcham; "Principles of Argumentation," by Baker and Huntington; "Effective Debating," by Schurter; "Public Discussion and Debate," by Laird; "Argumentation," by Winans and Utterback; "The Speech Arts," by Craig; "Art of Argument," by Graves and Spotts; "A Manual of Debate and Oral Discussion," by James Milton O'Neill; "Debaters Manual," by Phelps; "Modern Debate Practice," by Willhoft; "Parliamentary Law," by Gregg; "Textbook on Parliamentary Law," by Holland Sturgis; "First Principles of Speech Training," "Modern Speaking," by Brees and Kelley; "A Complete Course in Public Speaking," by Mosher, "The Elements of Public Speaking," by Houghton; "Training for College Speakers," by Clford; "The Writers Index," by Manly and Rickert; "Report Writing," by Guam and Graves; "The Short Speech," by Baker; "A Handbook of Oral Reading," by Bassett; "College Readings on Current Problems," by Baird, "Wise Cracks," Putnam Company.

Teacher: If you saved a dollar a week for one month, what would you have?

Little Willie (product of the Installment Plan Age): I know, a radio, a new car and a frigidaire.

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTING EDITOR

Kittens 30 Montpelier Seminary 0. What a score and what a game!

Talk about straight arms, Saba's caused plenty of casualties.

Sowka's boots were traveling 50 yards with plenty of weight, his ends having sufficient time to get down.

Why bring this up? But how many yearlings will be out for varsity next year—not many from past experience.

Dartmouth 52 Columbia 0. Lou Little ought to schedule some smaller colleges in his own class.

Morgan and Powell of Burlington High looked good in the line. Good varsity prospects.

A backfield without a weakness. Put Smith, Saba, Braskie, Wesoly and Sowka behind the Catamount line. What a difference.

On the forward pass defense the yearlings looked weak. Montpelier completed five consecutive passes in the last period.

Not a point after touchdown was scored. In a close game they mean plenty.

"ORSIE" JAY, '32

Catamount left halfback who scored the touchdown for Vermont in the Union Game Saturday.

FENCING CANDIDATES PREPARE FOR SEASON

Prospects Look Bright For Coming Season—Hard Schedule Being Arranged—Practice Sessions Held Twice a Week

A most successful season is anticipated this year by the fencing team. There is a wealth of material on hand, including all of last year's varsity squad. The veterans are Captain Perelman, Bascilicato, last year's captain, Manager Shuman, Wadsworth, Aiken, Riani and Musgrove. Negotiations are now under way to secure the services of Major Edgerly as fencing coach. Major Edgerly is a prominent fencer, with an excellent intercollegiate record at Cornell.

Fencing may be elected as a substitute for the physical education requirement by anyone who wishes to do so. Practices are held Wednesday and Friday afternoons at four o'clock. Thus far about twenty-five men have reported, including several freshmen who have had previous experience in fencing.

A schedule is being drawn up and although it is not yet completed, matches are planned with Norwich, Dartmouth, Boston University, Montreal A. A. A., Boston College, Harvard and New York University.

TRI-COLLEGE SPORTS DAY, IS AT MIDDLEBURY

Students of the University of Vermont, Middlebury College and St. Lawrence University will participate in the co-ed sports day to be held at Middlebury College Saturday, October 25.

The participants will be divided into different teams for the various athletic events. Some of the major sports will be hockey, volleyball and tennis. In addition, there will be games and cheering for those who are not interested in the sports. Busses will bring the girls to and from Middlebury. All women are urged to attend.

Union Avenges Defeat of Last Year by 19-7 Score

Jay Runs 70 Yards for Cats' Only Score by Intercepting Garnet Forward Pass—Winant Kicks Additional Point—Lehman Outstanding Union Back

VERMONT TWICE REACHES GARNET FIVE-YARD LINE

Displaying a heavy, alert and veteran aggregation that parked a powerful attack in its two backfield stars, Norris and Lehman, Union avenged its defeat of last year and won from the fighting Catamounts 19 to 7 on Alexander Field. By far the most sensational play of the game came late in the fourth period when "Orsie" Jay, one of Dave Dunn's fleet halfbacks intercepted a pass from Lippitt to Cinella and raced seventy yards for the Green and Gold's only score. Ed Winant kicked the extra point from placement. Union's lone score came in the first half when long runs by Norris, Lippitt and Lehman carried the Garnet over the U. V. M. goal line for three touchdowns. Vermont's long-vaunted attack did not make an appearance until the second half when Coach Dunn's proteges twice came within five yards of the goal line only to be repulsed by the determined and much lighter Union line. Both teams used the air effectively with Union gaining more yardage but completing only six often attempted passes. In this phase of the game the Catamounts shone by outclassing their hosts by successfully completing all six of their passes. Union made twenty-four first downs to U. V. M.'s ten. Eight of them coming in the second half. Ed Winant was the only Catamount back who could pierce the Garnet line for appreciable gains. Halkyard kicked off for Union and Ed Winant brought the ball back to his own thirty-eight yard line. Union could not gain a first down by plunging and tried a pass which was grounded. Norris started the Garnet march to the Vermont goal with a nice thrust through tackle for seven yards. Lippitt made a yard through tackle and Norris made it first down by getting seven yards through tackle. A fumble by Savage forced Union to kick and an exchange of punts followed both Winant and Lippitt doing the kicking.

Starting at midfield late in the first quarter, Lehman ran Winant's punt back twenty four yards before he was downed on the twenty-eight yard line. Norris ran around Tilly, Vermont left end to score Union's first touchdown. Quite different when Leo Segal plays at his old position. Lippitt missed the kick.

In the second period Union took the ball on its own thirty-one yard line. Norris got three yards through guard and then Lippitt made twenty four yards on a trick play around end. Norris then added twenty-one yards and Lippitt plunged through center for the Garnet's second touchdown. Union scored its third touchdown on line thrusts by Savage. Lippitt added the point from placement.

Dave Dunn pulled a "Bill Kaper" and the Catamounts came out for the second half with plenty of pep. Forwards were tossed without abandon and twice approached within five yards of the Union goal line but then the attack fizzled.

It was while the Garnet was marching straight down the field with alternate lateral and forward passes that Orson Jay took the breath away from the spectators by snearing a pass from Lippitt to Cinella on his own thirty-yard line and raced seventy yards down the field for the Catamounts' only score. Ed Winant kicked the extra point from placement.

"EDDIE" M. WINANT, '32

155-pound quarterback who kicked the final point at Baker's Field Saturday.

Line-up and summary:

VERMONT		UNION
Tilly, l.e.		l.e., Cinella
Park, l.t.		l.t., Johnson
Cohen, l.g.		l.g., Adams
Davis, c.		c., Foster
Farmer, r.g.		r.g., Sims
Aronson, r.t.		r.t., Halkyard
Durfey, l.e.		l.e., Iverson
Winant, q.b.		q.b., Lippitt
Dorey, l.h.b.		l.h.b., Savage
Heaton, r.h.b.		r.h.b., Norris
Collins, f.b.		f.b., Lehman

Score by periods

Union	7	12	0	0	19
Vermont	0	0	0	7	7

DAIRY DEPT. OFFERS FOUR SHORT COURSES

Four short courses in different branches of dairying will be offered from November 5 to December 20 in the Department of Animal and Dairy Husbandry at the University of Vermont.

They are offered as a service and are for the benefit of those men and women who desire to become acquainted with modern dairy science and practice.

There are no tuition charges, but a small fee is charged to defray the cost of the materials used in each course. The courses follow:

Course I. November 5-19, testing and grading milk, dairy inspection. Course II. November 18-20, operators and managers' conferences. Course III. November 24-December 3, dairy herd test work. Course IV. December 4-20, feeding and dairy farm management.

Most people like a good MYSTERY STORY.

Here are a few of the several in the University Store's Lending Library

MAMMON

by

P. C. WREN

A prologue introduces the characters as English School boys and an epilogue makes the statement which clears up the mystery of the whole story.

THE DOOR

by

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

A masterpiece as a mystery which misleads the reader to the mystery end.

THE MURDER IN BEACON STREET

by

W. MARTYN

A murder story with the suspects an instructress at Radcliffe and a professor at Harvard.

With the Theatre

TODAY

[illegible] of Mr Hearst with [illegible] Marion Davies [illegible] of a country club [illegible] of a [illegible] Mr Hearst [illegible] Davies [illegible] with [illegible] Mr Hearst [illegible] Davies [illegible] with [illegible] Mr Hearst [illegible] Davies [illegible] with

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1930 NUMBER 10

VERMONT FORENSICISTS JOURNEY TO MAINE TO DEBATE BATES ORATORS

Meet Bates Team at Lewiston On Chain Store Question—Trip On Annual Affair

NO DECISION RECORDED BY MUTUAL AGREEMENT

debaters opened their sea- ston, Me., last Monday decision encounter with question in full, of which the affirmative, was "Re- the chain store is detri- best interests of the men were Frank Murray, Bugbee, '32, and Harrison '31. For Vermont spoke n, '31, R. P. Donaghy, '33, Lisman, '31. J. E. Bige- made the trip. The de- conducted in the Oregon opened the debate, giving affirmative case.

The Entire Case

ume," began the speaker, opponents this evening cate a uniform chain of as they do chains of stores, opportunity; and we can- agree with them."

a general definition of of the chain store, Mur- that the affirmative's on the value of cooperative organizations to the pub- challenged the negative to nomies obtained by chain- thods which were not also by the cooperative methods. peaker contended that the confuses the public into they sell at lower prices dependent merchants, that a prices well advertised make prices look lower than is "The chains sell undersize argued Murray, who is a at Bates.

The peaker maintained that the standardization restricts by limiting the number manufactured; that the store shirks its duty when it deliver goods; and finally one and one-half percent population share the profits billion dollars worth of chain- business.

presented the negative case At the outset Nelson pointed the negative's case rested on the economic soundness of form of organization of chain store is a representa-his argument by a few min- station, Nelson pointed out nableness of charging that corporation with a capi- millions would resort mentioned.

Vermont Opens

rporate form of organization ically sound," asserted Nel- a list of names of Lewis both chain and independent compared the prices of ar- sale in both types of stores afternoon before the debate store had the advantage in by saving eight to fifteen every dollar's worth of mer-

President Hoover and other on living conditions, Nel- ded that the chain store essary link in the system of ization. "Mass production mass distribution," was his argument.

next returned to the stand cross-examined by Donaghy

A Sample of the Cross-examination

ould you expect the same treatment from a country doc- a trained specialist?

would depend on the circum-

you admit the superiority specialist?

the independent merchant service, isn't patronizing store the best way to make his ways?

then arose to cross-question wouldn't the store manager do the power to benefit the con-

(Continued on page 4)

VT. STUDENT SENATE TO HOLD HOMECOMING DAY

Fathers and Alumni To Be Invited to Burlington On The Day of the Norwich Game

November 8 will this year be celebrated as a Homecoming day, and on that day, besides the football game, there are scheduled entertainment at the various fraternity houses for the alumni and for fathers of members, a smoker, and a dance.

Conscious that Vermont college spirit has not been quite up to par in the past few years, Student Senate, through the medium of the fraternities, is inviting Vermont alumni and the fathers of students back to Burlington to get in closer contact with the University and its activities. It is virtually assured now that this day will be an annual event in the future, especially if it is a success this year. In future years the entertainment will probably be taken care of by the University itself, but due to the lateness of the time this year it was considered advisable to approach those interested in Vermont through the fraternities who are in much closer contact with them.

The program for the week-end will, of course, center around the most important game of the state series, that with Norwich on Saturday afternoon. Preceding this on Friday night Key and Serpent, honorary junior society, will hold its annual pep rally for the entire student body in the form of a torchlight parade climaxing at City Hall Park with songs and cheers.

After the game Saturday the fraternities will provide entertainments and banquets for alumni and fathers of students. The week will close with the Key and Serpent dance.

The Student Senate committee on Homecoming Day will welcome any suggestions as to additions to the programme this year or for future years.

Wilbur Collection Comprises Most Valuable Gift of Old Vermontiana

James B. Wilbur Research Collection of Vermont History, Laws and Manuscripts to Occupy Special Room in Fleming Museum

"Undoubtedly the Wilbur collection of Vermontiana contains the most valuable source of old Vermont laws known to exist," declared Pres Guy W. Bailey when questioned recently about the collection of old Vermont manuscripts, prints, books and broadsides made by James Benjamin Wilbur during his lifetime and bequeathed along with certain monetary considerations to the University.

The late James B. Wilbur, a Chicago banker, had been an annual summer visitor at Manchester, Vt. He had liked the place so well that he purchased some property there which he enlarged and developed. Later, upon retiring from business, Mr. Wilbur established himself in his new estate at Manchester, and interested himself in various Vermont affairs. For example, he was interested in Vermont agriculture, and was largely instrumental in getting the first agricultural agent in Vermont. Mr. Wilbur was also interested in good roads, and in Vermont history. Gradually, over a period of years, he made a collection of old books and manuscripts concerned with early Vermont history, until finally it became the finest, and most valuable, collection of Vermontiana to be found.

Biographer of Ira Allen

Mr. Wilbur became especially interested in the life of Ira Allen, and began to gather material on Allen's life. He even journeyed to England and France in his search for information. In the British Museum, which is a most conservative enterprise, he obtained permission to make photostatic copies of old documents dealing with Ira Allen. Mr. Wilbur also made these photostatic copies of important documents in France, where Ira Allen spent part of his exile, and in America. This large and valuable collection was included in his gift to the University. Mr. Wilbur spent some eight years in preparing his book on the life of Ira Allen, and it was probably this admiration that Mr. Wilbur had for Allen that had something to do with his interest in the University that Ira Allen founded.

Further generosity is on the part of James B. Wilbur, Jr., son and residuary legatee of Mr. Wilbur; Judge E. Griffith and the Factory Point National Bank of Manchester, executors of the will; and the American Antiquarian Society of Worcester, Mass., which was to receive the collection if certain conditions of the will were not complied with within two years, all of whom put aside certain formalities and consented to have the collection given immediately (even before the final settlement of the estate) to the University. Because of this generosity, Judge Mary H. Adams, acting probate judge at Manchester, on September 26, 1930, decreed the collection "unto the University of Vermont, a corporation created by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont in 1791 and con-

(Continued on page 4)

Dean's Office Releases Comparative Statistics of Three Upper Classes

A surprising similarity in the scholastic standing of recent classes is evident in statistics released last week from the office of the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. These statistics warrant a favorable comparison of the record of the class of 1933 with that of the class of 1932 as freshmen, and that of preceding freshman classes. The size of the entering classes within the last six years varies by less than fifty each year if four-year teacher-training students included in the count. The percentage of students dropped from college has gradually decreased, although a slight increase was noted last year. As each class progresses through the four years the number dropped decreases greatly and the number of students with A or B averages remains nearly constant. The statistics follow:

Class of 1933 as Freshmen

Number in class (not including 4 yr. T. T.)	213	100 %
Students dropped	38	18 %
Students who left college	10	4.7%
Students under warning in June	37	17 %
Students with B averages	24	11 %
Number of students refused promotion	11	5 %

Class of 1932 as Freshmen

Number in class	248	100 %
Students dropped	34	14 %
Students who left college	27	11 %
Students under warning in June	60	24 %
Students with B averages	28	11 %

Class of 1932 as Sophomores

Number in class	171	100 %
Students dropped	13	7.6%
Students who left college	8	4.7%
Students under warning in June	17	10 %
Students with B averages	24	14 %

Class of 1931 as Sophomores

Number in class	214	100 %
Students dropped	20	9.3%
Students who left college	10	4.7%
Students under warning in June	21	10 %
Students with B averages	18	8.4%

Class of 1931 as Juniors

Number in class	155	100 %
Students dropped	5	3.2%
Students who left college	3	1.9%
Students under warning in June	10	6.5%
Students with B averages	22	14.2%

Freshman Classes

	No. in class	Dropped	Percentage
Class of 1928	267	46	17%
Class of 1929	257	50	19%
Class of 1930	289	48	16%
Class of 1931	296	46	15%
Class of 1932	248	34	14%
Class of 1933	213*	38	18%

*Does not include 4 yr. T. T. students.

Sophomore Classes

	Number Dropped	Percentage
Class of 1927	20	6%
Class of 1928	20	10%
Class of 1929	15	6%
Class of 1930	13	5%
Class of 1931	20	6%
Class of 1932	13	5%

COUNCIL WILL DISCUSS PROBLEMS OF HEALTH

At the next meeting of the Health Council the members will report the attitudes of several instructors and house-mothers, regarding the health problems of college girls.

The Health Council consists of a group of girls, representing the various dormitories and houses, who meet bi-weekly to discuss the health problems of the girls in college, and try to improve them. Miss Cummings is faculty advisor, and Mildred Akins, '32, President. Every two days, a poster, containing a health hint of some kind, is put up in the "Y" room by a member of the council.

WCAX WILL BROADCAST ONE ACT DRAMA SOON

Plans are under way for the broadcast of a one-act play over the University radio station WCAX at the opening of the winter broadcasting season. Wig and Buckskin together with Masque and Sandal will sponsor the program. Further announcements will be forthcoming from the presidents of these organizations in the near future.

MacIntosh: Did ye enjoy yersel' in your visit to America?

MacGrabb: Enjoy maesel? I should say I did! Every time I went into ane o' thae restaurants I found money under ma plate.

LECHNYR WINS HONOR IN NATIONAL CONTEST

Is Judged At Boston As One Of Three Best Trumpeters In United States

Band Leader Joe Lechnyr, who has guided the destinies of many musical organizations since the World War and especially Vermont's band, was judged one of the three best trumpeters in the United States in individual competition held at the New England Conservatory of Music at Boston, Mass.

Lechnyr's musical units have won many prizes. In 1917 as band leader of the 76th Field Artillery his band won a silver loving cup for the best band at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt. In 1918 the same band won a silver loving cup as the best band in the entire division at Camp Shelby, Miss.

As leader of the high school orchestra at Cathedral in 1928 his unit won a cup and third place in their class. In 1929, first place in the State, and in 1930 first place in the State.

Since taking over the leadership of "Burlington's Own" Bugle and Drum Corps the corps has won first prize at Ticonderoga, N. Y., first prize and state championship at Bennington, and second prize at Newport, N. H.

The Vermont band under Joe Lechnyr has improved every year and been judged by inspecting officers as the leading R. O. T. C. band in New England.

R. W. COBB SAYS ARIEL RAPIDLY TAKING FORM

Reports that the 1932 Ariel was rapidly taking form were given out yesterday by Raymond Cobb, editor of the junior year book.

"We are now concentrating on design and on the different departments of the book," he said. "However," he stated, all juniors who have not yet made their appointments with James Marvin at the Delta Psi house for the individual photographs, must do so immediately as the pictures will be taken only from Monday, November 3 to Saturday, November 8. The photographs will be taken at the Vermonters Club on Summit Street."

The senior honor lists and the junior questionnaires should be filled out and returned at once to Roberta Powers or to Raymond Cobb or dropped into the Ariel box which is opposite the bulletin box in the Old Mill.

FRESHMEN WILL GATHER IN OLD MILL CHAPEL TO RECEIVE RUSHING DATES

Professor Carroll and R. H. Cowles To Speak To Freshmen This Afternoon On Rushing COUNCIL AGAIN PRESIDES OVER RUSHING OF FROSH

This afternoon at four o'clock freshmen will assemble in the Old Mill Chapel to receive instructions relative to rushing from Prof. D. B. Carroll and Richard H. Cowles, president of the Inter-fraternity Council. It is at this time that rushing dates will be given out.

Now that the last open house night is past, the various fraternities report record attendances of freshmen who took advantage of this opportunity to compare fraternities and meet the upperclassmen.

The custom of keeping the houses open to the first year men and other non-fraternity men is one common to most colleges where rushing is regulated. Open house gives the new men an opportunity to see all the houses and to become acquainted with the men who are living in them.

Middlebury has already had its rushing and pledging; Norwich has its rushing period planned for the early part of December.

The majority of colleges pledge men sometime during their freshman year. A few colleges, such as Dartmouth, do not pledge until the sophomore year. Although there is a wide variation in the pledging policies of the different colleges, they are in general much changed from the old type of cut-throat rushing, when men wore pledge buttons even before they came to college.

The rushing dates for this year are next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, from 6.00 p.m. until 12.00 p.m. The rules made by the council concerning rushing are as follows, beginning with rule 4.

4. On the Friday following the last of the open house nights, freshmen shall assemble at 4.00 p.m. in the chapel in the Old Mill to receive date cards from representatives of different fraternities, filling out same as has been customary. A member of the faculty who is a disinterested party and yet competent shall be designated by the conference to meet the freshmen as a body and to make such explanations to them as are necessary before they go through the line.

5. During the same week, rushing dates four in number, will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Evening dates will last from 6.00 to 12.00 p.m. No fraternity shall make more than one date with any one freshman.

6. From 12.00 p.m. Thursday, after the last rushing date, until 7.00 p.m. Friday shall be a strictly neutral period, during which time no active or associate member of an organization belonging to the Conference shall hold any communication whatsoever with new students.

7. At 4.00 p.m. on Friday, October 31, following the last rushing date the members of the Conference shall meet and bring all their invitations in sealed and addressed envelopes, said meeting to be held in the room in the Old Mill designated by the president of the Conference. Within each envelope shall be only the printed form of the invitations properly filled out and an unsealed envelope with the address of the inviting fraternity upon it. The invitations shall then be delivered by the respective representatives of the different fraternities in conference assembled to the freshmen presenting themselves before said Conference. In a room adjoining the Conference

(Continued on page 4)

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

[illegible] Editor-in-chief
STUART S. CURRIN, '31

[illegible] Managing Editor
[illegible] Managing Editor

Editorial Boards

[illegible] Sports Editor
[illegible] Sports Editor

Assistant Editors
[illegible]

Assistant Sports Editors
[illegible]

Assistant Editors
[illegible]

Associate Editors
[illegible]

Advertising Manager
[illegible]

Assistant Business Managers
[illegible]

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Published semi-weekly during the college year
All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to him before 6 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Pi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-chief, The Ingham Dana House.

Entered at the mailing of [illegible] at Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 34 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1925, authorized October 14, 1926

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 October 24, 1930 No. 10

CHOOSE WISELY!

To many a freshman this afternoon will be one of the most momentous in his college career. Although only a few weeks ago he may have been entirely ignorant of the significance of the Greek letters whose combinations spell the names of campus fraternity groups, he will be called upon today to decide whether or not he will, for better or for worse, bind a combination of these letters to wear forever as a symbol of affiliation with one of these groups.

It is impossible to generalize successfully in advising a considerable group as to its choice of fraternity affiliations, but we offer these suggestions:

Do not believe everything you are told. What Alpha Alpha fraternity says about the finances or social functions of Beta Beta fraternity may be inspired less by the genius of truth than the desire to secure another pledge. Ask Beta Beta about the truth of what you have been told.

Do not believe everything you are promised. Frequently a fraternity will overestimate its own ability to earn campus honors for its members. Investigate that fraternity's standing on the campus before you trust its promises.

Do not join a fraternity solely because it has a better house than the next fraternity. In every college some of the finest homes on the campus house the least respected groups, while, on the other hand, some of the most prominent fraternities have the poorest house.

Remember that a fraternity is not an old home group. That you come from the same school, town or state as a number of men in a given fraternity is one of the poorest reasons for affiliating with that fraternity. You are in college to make new contacts, not to tie yourself down to old ones.

Do not join a fraternity because a large number of other freshmen are planning to accept that fraternity's bid. There is always a tendency on the part of the freshman to do as the majority do; "fifty thousand Frenchmen can't be wrong." But large numbers, especially when they have had the benefit of only a few weeks' acquaintance with the situation, may be and frequently are, wrong.

Finally, do not associate yourself with a fraternity because classmates whom you like are joining that fraternity. It is the upperclassmen of a fraternity group who determine the character of their house, not the newly acquired freshmen.

In choosing your fraternity seek the one which will harmonize with your ideals or desires. If your aspirations are entirely scholastic, it may be interested in campus activities. If you seek in college a constant round of social activities, regardless of what else you want, you are certain to find a group which is interesting to the encouragement of play must be found.

A last word of warning. If you affiliate yourself with a fraternity do not accept support for your decision when, for one reason or another, did not join a house. He may have had any number of good reasons and it is hardly fair to him to arrive at a conclusion which may be entirely unwarranted.

Were the incident not so amusing we should be tempted to regard that freshman man as a disgrace to his classmates and himself who told a freshman that he (the freshman) was "a disgrace to the University" because he did not wear his green and gold cap. We believe, however, that the utterer of this piece of asininity was possessed at the time by a violent fit of temper and was hardly responsible for his statements that night. We ask the freshman he insulted to forgive his outburst and not to regard him as typical of Vermont Boulder.

* * * * * *

Now that Gold Key has finally accepted the challenge of the CYNIC and has held a paddling party at last, our opposition to that organization and its affiliated societies will begin in earnest. We are happy to announce that the party was so long delayed and that, according to Gold Key men themselves, 60 percent of the freshmen invited failed to attend the event.

* * * * * *

Five freshmen were paddled at the Gold Key party out of thirty invited. Hardly a matter of rejoicing for Gold Key, which was given the house of the editor of the CYNIC to stage the gathering.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

The sessions of a comparative out [illegible] Wednesday night con[illegible] Hall might be [illegible] to the readers of the CYNIC.

After the paddling at the Phi Sigma Delta house, several of the Boulder men came up to Converse Hall. As they were standing in the court a frosh started to go into Middle. He was stopped and interrogated by a Boulder man. During the conversation the Boulder man made two comments of a somewhat questionable nature. The first was this, occasioned by the freshman's answer as to why he was not wearing his cap: "You're here to do as you're told."

One might peruse the catalogue with some care without being able to find a statement of this tenor in the information given incoming men. If the purpose of the University is to instill in men the virtue of doing as they are told they may acquire it at considerably less expense and with much more thoroughness by enlisting in the army. It has always been my impression that one of the chief benefits of higher education was to develop in men an ability to think independently. It is a well-known fact of anthropology that the lower the social standing of a race the more complete is their acceptance of custom. The Arunta of Central Australia are completely subservient to the demands of tradition and taboo, but one would hardly set up a typical bushman as the model for the college graduate.

The second statement was this, still referring to the freshman's failure to wear his cap: "You are a disgrace to the University." The tone of voice was very bitter.

Now, to say that because a man refuses to wear an ounce or so of green and gold felt he is a disgrace to his school is a misrepresentation of fact, to put it mildly. Anyone with the slightest knowledge of adolescent psychology knows that such verbal browbeating is worse than mere physical violence in its results upon the subject. It would be very easy to warp a boy's outlook on school life by such an unfair remark.

I think these remarks are the results of a system rather than personal malice. While I am not acquainted personally with the man who made them, I doubt seriously if he would have said them if he had not been indignant at what he considered a failure to respect certain values of college life. Good men often defend bad systems. Any system that leads to ill feeling among the men of the college certainly cannot be classed as good. It is regrettable that so much ability and determination of purpose should be enlisted in the defense of a part of college life that is marked for inevitable defeat.

—HARRY BUTMAN, '33.

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

Wednesday night a number of Boulder and Gold Key men came up to Converse Hall to take away freshmen to a paddling party. At least one Gold Key man entered the dormitory for this purpose. This action is in violation of University regulations. As a senior advisor at the dormitory I have the privilege of reporting this Gold Key man to the University Council. If in the future, any Gold Key men or any Boulder men create any disturbance at the dormitory he will be reported to President Bailey.

J. T. MUSGROVE,
Senior Advisor.

NOTICE

Tryouts will be held for the sextet and quartet Thursday evening, October 23, at the music building.

Women wishing to tryout for Bluestockings, women's honorary literary society, may submit essays, poems, or stories to members of the society or drop them in the box in the Y room. All material must be in by November 27.

There will be a tea at Redstone, Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Miss Sarah Cleghorn will be the guest.

A Correction

A typographical error in the Sports Symposium column of last Wednesday's issue of the CYNIC made the name of Bill Bingham, Harvard's czar of sports appear as Bill Grighah.

The report of last Saturday's game with Union at Schenectady was obtained through the Albany Knickerbocker Press which erroneously stated that E. M. Winant kicked the extra point from placement. T. F. Collins kicked the point, but the story had to be written before the team returned, and a check-up could not be made.

The CYNIC cannot afford to send a reporter to cover the out-of-town games and so it is unfortunately forced to rely upon outside sources which at times are inaccurate.

THE MUSE CONVERSES

Le Gentleman, who pushes the comcola button in Beebe's in his spare time, wants to stein the man that wrote the "Kill" song. We have a better idea . . . we are writing words and hiccup to a snappy little tune which is guaranteed to sell millions of copies after Alice S. Greenfield sings it over our portable soundless radio. The title is, "Drink a Chocolate Milk (10c.) to Dear Old Vermont," and the tune: "Henry's Made a Lady Out of Lizzie."

Some people have a warped conception of the true Vermont spirit, it seems to us. When Jackson Sorne Morgan, president of the frosh was called upon to make a speech at the Boulder smoker everyone did his best to make him look foolish. He was probably too confused at the moment to make a speech, but after he left the platform the Boulder chairman said, "That's the spirit we like to see around here," or words very similar. Will some gifted undergraduate tell us about this unusual spirit?

Boulder was very generous with smokes, and everyone got one that wanted one. That is, after he had clambered over the prostrate bodies of those groping for cigarettes on the floor. It is no credit to Boulder that they threw the smokes out as if they were feeding cattle, and also no credit to the men, who scrambled for them like cattle.

The true Vermont spirit was very much in evidence after the game last Saturday. Undergrads who had room in their cars picked up as many of the walking studes as their cars could comfortably hold. And imagine, not one of the Coast Guards had to make the long walk back to the showers after their strenuous game. Every one . . .

"How now, O Mystic Pen, I counted nine or more Coast Guards stumbling wearily up the hill to the gym."

And where did you come from, Diogenes? Don't you know that one must only show the public the bright side of life, the sunny side, the south side. That's what they like to read. (Exit Diogenes in Confusion.)

Famous last words: Amen.

"Morpheus" Hard always was one to look out for the finer things in life. In fact he made himself so comfortable in Professor Donahue's math section that he kept from snoring only by a supreme effort of will. We wish him equal success in the four years ahead of him.

Frank Pelligrino is circulating a petition requesting pink and moire cushions and leather-back rests for the Old Mill window seats. This bright and energetic young man spends his spare time working on an invention which he claims will instill organic chem into the bewildered stude intravenously. Maybe that's what makes his hair so surly.

A suggestion was put before the Nucleus, freshman honorary, to construct a miniature golf course in the corridors of the Old Mill. An important point stressed by member Anzalone was that there would be no expense involved in the construction of hazards, as the feat of those standing in the corridor are partically immovable.

There are more than ten Betty co-eds, and one Betsy co-ed in the class of '34. This may account in part for the sharp decline in U. S. Steel 6½'s preferred on last Tuesday. And then again it may not.

The University Store wants to help us show the Old Vermont Fight by selling us pillows at so much per. We heard of the traditional(?) City Hall Park Scrap, Fountain and Hose Fight, and the Cane Rush. But we didn't know the boys were going in for pillows.

Don't miss our sensational breath taking, asthmatic cereal, "The Campus Murder," or "The Missing Bunsen Burner." This is a soul-stirring novel of college life, young love, the life history of the newt, and the neoparisitic separatist movement in the Schweppes of Husha. Glamour, romance, intrigue, fatigue, and electrolytic dissociation. What more could one ask? Thrill after thrill packed into a small space, seven inches by one and a half. Sent second class mail in a plain wrapper.

O'er hill and dale with bag and gun
The autumn squirrel hunters come.
The total shot when day is done:
Hunters, eight; Squirrels, one.

Daily bull: "Featherweight" Tobin was overheard to say that the freshman rules should be strictly enforced until June 14. He claims that paddling has a salutary effect upon the osmosis.

FACULTY COLUMN

THE RIGHT TO BE DIFFERENT

I am fond of [illegible] stories, as most [illegible] students are [illegible] aware. Most dogs [illegible] most movies leave [illegible] yet, I cannot persuade [illegible] the opposite points of [illegible] the chill light of exposition I am made aware [illegible] friends to whom cats [illegible] and detective stories [illegible] tion of what otherwise [illegible] been an intellect. Research [illegible] suggest that some dogs [illegible] tal, others are useful, [illegible] pleasure to their owners [illegible] sufficiently taxed, might [illegible] gest quite as many [illegible] about raw carrots, gun[illegible] ence of physiology, [illegible] and the Democratic party [illegible] template the existence [illegible] value of these things [illegible] equanimity, provided [illegible] required to join in them [illegible] to suffer their being flaunted [illegible] before my face.

Consider a freshman [illegible] ability and the preparation [illegible] factory work in the course [illegible] Suppose, too, that his [illegible] most of them, are paid for [illegible] the first month or two [illegible] to do creditable work in [illegible] he may find most of his time [illegible] When he has learned the [illegible] gotten started, he will have [illegible] many free hours with which [illegible] something. Nearly every [illegible] uate of the type I have described [illegible] he happier in college and more [illegible] tive in the world outside [illegible] done something or other with [illegible] lows outside of class. It is here [illegible] he may best learn how to deal with the toughest facts in any environment, the human facts.

What among the many things [illegible] may do will our particular freshman choose? Often he is pushed into the activity in which his fraternity [illegible] weakest or strongest. Sometimes [illegible] is known to have been in high school a good debater, actor, athlete or musician. In that case he is too often pushed into the same line of endeavor in college before he is sure he cares to continue it. On the contrary—and here enter the cats and dogs and gum drops—a man should choose his activities solely with reference to his own tastes, abilities and possibilities of development. What best for him is in the end best for his fellows. The most significant part of the reputation of a college is what the thinking world thinks of its graduates.

If a man is sincerely interested in anything, and thinks the others are interested in that thing are worth knowing, and sees a prospect of real pleasure and growth and profit in doing it, then that is the thing for him to do. If the star debater of XYZ High School decides to play hockey and makes good at it, or the star quarterback of Lahdedah Academy decides to become a champion chess player and does it, it is absolutely no one's business but his own. Perhaps the student body may fairly ask the student with time on his hands to use some of it in ways that will help develop others as well as himself and thereby make the college a better place to which to go and from which to come. But the student body can fairly ask only that a man do some thing worth doing; it has no right to specify what that something shall be. High-pressure salesmanship, fraternalism and physical force do not produce a type of college spirit which gives much cause for pride or a desire of participation in activities which wins many victories.

If a man does not want to spend a couple of hours to watch a game or to be bored as many as a dozen times if the same man does not want to do something which is to him worth doing, that is his own affair. It makes no difference whether he wants to play a tennis match, do a physical try experiment, write a book, pick the leaves off the fraternity ivy, or just sit and think. That is his own affair. The one and only thing that the student body and faculty alike may demand of every student is that he be busy all the time just sit.

LESTER M. P[illegible]

"Were you one of the [illegible] with the stock market?

"Not me. I was serious[illegible] did the fooling."—Green [illegible]

For the Hall of Fame: Bingham, the only frosh who can get red around the ears when the co-class females give him the [illegible]

Just hear the howling mass [illegible]
Within his padded, walled[illegible]
"Now why in heck do people [illegible]
It only grows back on again.

As advertised in the CYNIC a stationery company offers a money-making proposition to a live student from each college. How do they expect the other type to earn their money? All of which, of course, means nothing.

SPORTING NEWS

MIDDLEBURY FRESHMAN GRIDSTERS HERE FOR FIRST STATE CONTEST

Kittens Very Anxious For Victory Tomorrow—Have Hopes of State Title—Injured Players to To Be Ready For Fray

REGULAR LINE-UP IS EXPECTED TO START

[illegible]-0 to 0 victory over Montpelier Seminary a thing of the past, Coach George Tully is pointing his charges for their first State conference tilt with Middlebury frosh this afternoon at 2:30 on Centennial Field. From all indications the locals should be able to avenge the 25-0 beating which was administered by the Panther cubs last year. Of course the Middlebury club is not as strong as compared with other [illegible] in the past few years, while Vermont is represented by the strongest frosh team which has appeared on Centennial Field in several years.

To date the Middlebury cubs have played two games, being defeated in a hard fought contest by Clarkson Tech two weeks ago, and again last Saturday at Middlebury by Clark School 12 to 6. Their chief weakness seems to be in a defense against an aerial attack, as both Clarkson and Clark School resorted to forward passes to defeat them.

Aside from a few sore spots and minor bruises the entire Kitten squad came through the Montpelier Seminary game in fine shap. The most serious injury seems to be that of Ed Saba's right arm, which is responding rather slowly to treatments. However, it is expected that he will be in shape for tomorrow's tilt. It is also hoped that Bartow, the speedy halfback, will again be ready to play tomorrow.

The probable starting line-ups for tomorrow's game:

VERMONT '34		MIDDLEBURY '34
Howard	l.e.	Reid
Morgan	l.t.	Simmons
Denhoff	l.g.	Ferrari
White, Faucher	c.	Blacker
Delfausse	r.g.	Jocelyn
Powell	r.t.	Watson, Hutton
[illegible]	r.e.	Hickcox
Saba	q.b.	Williams
Bartow, Braskie	l.h.	Anderson, Riccio
[illegible]	r.h.	Fallon
Sowka	f.b.	Ferdon

FOUR PLAYERS REMAIN IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Seeded players are having quite a time staying in the tennis tournament as the result of the matches played so far. Tupper and Palmer, seeded number one and number 2, respectively, have come through successfully against their opponents and have reached the semi-finals. However, Wilson and Woodward did not fare so well. Goddard was beaten by Palmer in the second round 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. Woodward was defeated by Wilson in the first round in straight sets 6-4, 7-6.

The matches have been played except the semi-finals and the finals. In the semi-finals Tupper is to play Wilson while Palmer meets Wilson. The winners in these two matches will play off the finals to determine the tennis champion. Meanwhile the tournament is being delayed in waiting for favorable weather.

Preliminary tryouts for the women's debating team were held Monday afternoon. The question debated was: Resolved that every automobile owner in Vermont be required to take public liability insurance upon registering.

Debating manager Roberta Powers announces that tryouts will be held again this afternoon with a different subject for debate which will be announced later on the bulletin boards.

This afternoon, the Vermont Y. W. C. A. will be hostesses at a tea given at Converse mount in honor of the State Y. W. C. A. Council. A short business meeting will be held at 3:15 p.m. Miss Elizabeth Maddock, newly-installed "State Y. W." secretary will speak. This will be the annual meeting of the Vermont District of Y. W. C. A. It will be informal and open to anyone who is interested in Y. W. C. A. work.

"Hey, Frosh, brush the hay seed out of your hair."

"Brother, that's not hay seed, that's wild oats."

BASKETBALL PLAYERS TO REPORT NEXT MONTH

According to latest reports, varsity basketball practice will start Monday, November 17. However this is only a tentative date and may be changed. With six lettermen back from last year's varsity and several from the frosh team, prospects are bright for a successful season.

SPORTS SYMPOSIUM

Vermont meets New Hampshire tomorrow. The athletic director and head coach of football at the Durham institution is W. H. Cowell, former president of the American Football Coaches Association. The recent question of limited manpower to be used by big college football teams against its smaller brothers has brought forth a statement which is most illuminating upon the question.

"I witnessed the Army-Boston University game at West Point and read in detail as well as talked with several Boston University officials and players since the Dartmouth game. At West Point, Boston University played the Army a wonderfully fine game up to the point where their men became physically fatigued. It was particularly noticeable in the West Point game the last period when the Army began throwing long passes and making wide end sweeps. On the passes, the Boston University men were so leg-weary they simply couldn't keep up with the fresh Army men and at this point the Army score rolled up pretty fast.

"Apparently, the same thing happened at Hanover in the recent Boston University-Dartmouth game.

"Our New Hampshire teams have been playing Brown a very creditable game the last several years in every instance, and New Hampshire has had to bow in the end to the fresh manpower. This is not so bad in the small colleges at the end of the season as it is in the beginning of the season when weather is hot and the large college squads are thrown in with the sole motive in view to wear out the smaller college squad.

"I have had three so-called large colleges approach me for an early season game with New Hampshire in 1931. In all three instances I put the proposition to them that New Hampshire would be glad to meet them if they would agree to use a maximum of 30 men. In each case they immediately threw up their hands and said this was out of the question. They wanted to see their material in an early season game and be able to play their entire squad.

"I have further noted that in a good many early-season games between two colleges, the large college insists upon full-time periods. I personally believe it is a good thing to play long periods and to play numerous substitutes throughout the game so that individuals will not have to play to the point of over-exertion, but not four or five teams against two.

"These early-season games should be to the small college as well as the large college preliminary workouts in fundamental football.

"Since seeing the Army-Boston University game on September 27, I have been collecting data on these so-called large-small college games and anticipate making some sort of proposal or recommendation at our American Football Coaches Association meeting which will be held in New York City, December 29, Astor Hotel, in hopes that some resolution or understanding may be reached where some equality and fairness to respective teams may be had.

"If not, the small squad college is going to have to drop these bigger games with the final consequence of the big teams playing entirely their own class teams. Of course, there will always be a few over-ambitious coaches and colleges who will as a chopping-block.

"I appreciate that we are treading on dangerous ground in the big college viewpoint and will probably receive only a laugh, but considerable amount of criticism on an undertaking of this sort, but nevertheless in my sixteen years of experience here at New Hampshire where we have met practically every college in New England and a good many large schools in the East I am firmly convinced that something on the order of fairness must eventually be worked out.

"The general policy of coaches over the entire country the last several years has outstandingly predominated in the policy that it is necessary to have two or three teams of shock troops, stress being laid on physical condition and power wearing down the opposing team to the point where fast, light men could be thrown in the game after the opponents became worn out.

"We, as individual coaches of the so-called college groups, get very little consideration from the large groups when we make a plea or ask for concessions in this matter. One or two exceptions.

"The game of football is still a game and we should strive to have as near as possible a fair amount of equality when various teams meet."

MORE ARE ELIMINATED IN INTERFRAT TOUCH FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT

Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega Sigma Phi are Winners in Games This Week—Second Round of Tourney to be Completed Today

SEMI-FINALS TO START WITH CONTEST MONDAY

Touch football again dominated college activities when Kappa Sigma defeated Zeta Chi 19 to 0 on Monday afternoon. This was a fast and furious game and not as lopsided as the score would indicate. The touchdowns were all made by lateral passes and long runs featured by Newcomb's accurate passing and receiving.

Tuesday the Independents forgot to get together and A. T. O. won the game by forfeiture.

On Wednesday the capable Sigma Phis defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon by the small score of 6 to 0. The touchdown was made by Tupper's long pass to Fisher. Sigs' dazzling cross-back play worried the S. A. E.'s a great deal but their great line defense was superb and the Sigs were lucky to win.

This afternoon Kappa Sigma is scheduled to tackle the Owls and this contest will complete the second round of the interfraternity tournament. Monday will see the start of the semi-finals when Sigma Phi meets the winner of the A. T. O.-Phi Mu Delta contest. One week from Monday the championship battle is to be staged, which will determine the winner of the tournament.

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
$1.00 Special $1.00
SHAMPOO and MARCEL
3 Center St. Phone 538

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.
Distributers for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.
Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies.
Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

Catamount Football Team To Battle New Hampshire

Vermont at Durham Tomorrow in Fifth Contest of Season—Game with Twin Staters is a Newcomer on Green and Gold Schedule—Aerial Attack is Catamounts' Most Effective Weapon

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM IN MEET AT AMHERST

Varsity Tracksters to be in First Competition of Year Tomorrow—Amherst has Good Team and Will be Strong Opponent

Tomorrow the U. V. M. varsity cross-country harriers will be at Amherst to engage in the first meet of the season for the Green and Gold. Coach Post has developed a good team and has several veterans and lettermen on his squad. Although the race will be over an unfamiliar course and against a strong team which has already been in several meets this year, the Green and Gold tracksters hope to make a creditable showing.

There will be only one meet this fall at Burlington and this will be against Norwich two weeks from tomorrow on the day of the Vermont-Norwich football game. Both varsity and frosh teams will run. The freshman cross-country team suffered an overwhelming defeat last Saturday at Saranac but with three weeks of training for the next meet the men should be in much better condition.

As a result of the time trials held last Wednesday the following men are expected to make the trip to Amherst: Captain Wilder, Hadley, Leach, Varney, Brooks, Barker and Colburn.

NEW HAMPSHIRE HAS AN UNDEFEATED TEAM

Vermont journeys down to Durham, N. H., tomorrow to engage the New Hampshire State University football team in the fifth battle of the season. This game is an innovation on the Catamount schedule and bids fair to rank in importance next to the Middlebury and Norwich games in a few years.

The Wildcats have more than a fair team this year, having beaten Maine 14 to 6, Lowell Textile 20 to 0, and closing furiously to tie Boston University 12 to 12 three weeks ago.

Seven years ago in the days of Vermont football preeminence, Carl Beck, Swede Johnson and Semansky snowed the Granite State eleven under a 33 to 0 count. Since that date, however, the Catamounts have slumped disastrously while the New Hampshire team has risen rapidly.

With a green team and a new coach Vermont has not a particularly large chance to win tomorrow, but improvement is noted after each game and a good close struggle is impending.

The Green and Gold offense functioned beautifully in the second half against Union, the aerial attack being more than effective as the Catamounts completed all six of the forwards and laterals thrown. Consequently prospects do not look too dark for the game tomorrow. The probable Vermont line-up will be:

Tilly	Left end
Oronson	Left tackle
Cohen	Left guard
Davis	Center
Farmer	Right guard
Park	Right tackle
Durfey	Right end
Winant	Quarterback
Bedell	Right halfback
Heaton	Left Halfback
Collins	Fullback

"All's fair in love and war." Our observations have led us to conclude that where there is love there is inevitably war.—Lafayette Lyre.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

You can bet your bottom dollar —

They Satisfy

ONE will always stand out!

© 1930, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

FRESHMAN WILL GATHER TO GET RUSHING DATES

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] pledge. The fraternity may ratify [illegible] by reporting [illegible] to the president of the Undergraduate Council.

5. All pledges shall wear buttons, unless pledging shall be declared in [illegible] they shall be strictly observed by all fraternities. It is herewith expressly [illegible] that the Faculty Council alone shall have power to declare a pledge period unlawful.

[illegible] for the infraction of the [illegible] will be [illegible] to a Faculty Council composed of five members of the faculty who are [illegible] of fraternities which do not have chapters here.

In dealing with a situation the Faculty Council shall act as a court with the offending fraternity as the defendant and the president of the Council [illegible] as a judge. All the evidence shall be presented to the court in duly authorized and prosecuting fraternity, and then a decision will be made by the court alone in secret session. A majority vote of the court will convict. The names of persons [illegible] charges will be withheld.

[illegible] for infraction of these [illegible] Rules shall be the duties of the dean to pledge men during the remainder of the school year and [illegible] from all interfraternity [illegible]. These shall include all interfraternity athletics and [illegible] walks. In cases of minor infraction the length of the sentence will be determined by the Faculty Council. Subsequent infractions of these rules and evasion of the penalty during the period in which the fraternity is being penalized for infraction of the rules shall be subject to punishment by the University Council. If a fraternity is found guilty by the Faculty Council of infraction of these rules the knowledge of such and the reasons shall be distributed to the freshmen of the next year through the Freshman Handbook and it shall be published in the Cynic. Any freshman or new student involved in an infraction of the rules may be suspended, i.e., prohibited from accepting a bid from any fraternity even in the conference for a period of not less than half a year or greater than one year from time [illegible] was committed.

12. Any fraternity found guilty of [illegible] freshmen, their profession of [illegible] dates before the cards are [illegible] given out will be counted a [illegible] infraction of these rules and the matter shall be dealt with as specified in rule 11.

VERMONT DEBATERS TO HARANGUE MILTONIANS

Next Sunday evening at Milton, a Vermont varsity debating team will participate in a debate with the Milton town team, the first intercollegiate debate of any Vermont variety. The question will be [illegible] That the chain store is detrimental to the best interests of the American people."

The Milton debaters, the Rev. Henry Bowman of the Congregational Church of Milton, the Honorable Louis Larkham, Jr., well known attorney and a third man as yet undecided, will uphold the affirmative. The negative for the University will probably be George Nelson, '31, Louis Lisman, '31, and J. E. Bigelow, '32. It is likely that the debate will be conducted in the American style, of set-length speeches and no [illegible].

Bo: I hear a guy sifted in on today.
Jo: Once would have been enough.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

PERCIVAL CALLS FOR MEN WHO WILL SING

We have made no definite schedule as yet [illegible] to Friday's [illegible] meeting of the Cynic Club [illegible] Tuesday last when the plan was announced to [illegible] which may look back to the [illegible] Vermont-Dartmouth Contest and which all New Hampshire followers anticipate. As soon as [illegible] is determined to [illegible] but as there is a very good opportunity for men to [illegible] the club.

The plan [illegible] the singing [illegible] of the college leaders [illegible] which all expenses, train fare, and [illegible] bills are paid.

The Scribe

By Pop Tarbe

The old bugaboo injuries, so prevalent in recent years, is attacking Coach Dunn and his warriors. Gus Kiggs, Tilly and several other second string men are not available. Leo Segal is progressing rapidly however and Russ Collins is back at his old position in the line ready for service.

Interest is at fever heat in the touch football battles now taking place on the back campus. The Kappa Sigs, headed by Pie Traynor and "Chief" Pires, are favored to repeat but several other clubs are working hard and show lots of promise. The only thing to be regretted at this point is the lack of feminine interest. The Delts seem to be the only drawing card in that line.

This column suggests that, in the future, the Faculty be represented in this intramural sport. We remember with pleasure the huge turnout which packed the gym last year when the Faculty played the Phi Sigma Delts and we look forward eagerly to seeing the professors in action again.

"Archie" Post will have to labor long and diligently with the cross-country team this year. The Midd harriers have romped home over Williams and St. Stephens the last two weeks with ease. Norwich looks very weak, however.

RELIGIOUS EMOTIONS IS CHAPEL SPEAKER'S THEME

Addressing the student faculty on the power of religious emotions, the Rev. W. S. Nichols, a graduate of Harvard Divinity School in '99, and a postgraduate of Oxford, conducted the exercises Wednesday morning in the Ira Allen Chapel.

Reverend Nichols has been very active in church work for the past thirty years having held pastorates in Massachusetts, Colorado and Vermont. He has been pastor of the Unitarian Church at Montpelier, Vt., for eleven years, from which pastorate he was recently granted leave of absence to take up a charge in Tampa, Fla., during the winter months. Reverend Nichols is very prominent in civic activities, Red Cross and other organizations. He is past president of the Rotary Club of Montpelier.

VERMONT FORENSICISTS DEBATE BATES ORATORS

(Continued from page 1)

A. Yes.

Here the procedure broke all precedent for the occasion and every time Bates attempted to [illegible] Nelson's answer by way of the [illegible] available for lessons at every opportunity would [illegible] the speaker as one hopping the [illegible] Further [illegible] the patient and the cross-examination [illegible] degenerated into a series of [illegible] to the chair.

Closing for Vermont

Lisman concluded the debate for Vermont by quoting numerous authorities. He pointed out that the affirmative in being sidetracked by the cooperative scheme had completely failed to prove its own case of whether or not the chain store was detrimental to the public interest. The speaker concluded with spicy remarks on the affirmative's use of figures applying to the early chain stores only and noted that the one authority they had quoted had arrived at a very unwise conclusion, inasmuch as even the Federal Trade Commission would not hazard a guess where their authority had presumed to reach a conclusion.

Harrison Greenleaf, Bates' refuter, now concluded the debate with a lengthy defense of the affirmative case. He stated that the independent stores are growing and the chain stores are decreasing in number; that the I. G. A. and similar organizations have a buying power of 500 million dollars, and finally that the cooperative concerns pay back to the consumer 13.8 percent of the total purchase price. The price is thus lower than that of the chain store.

Christmas Cards
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

For Your HALLOWEEN Dance or Party
NOVELTIES
Decorations — Noisemakers
FAVORS
McAuliffe's
Church & College Sts., Phone 629

Among the Books of Adventure and Travel in the UNIVERSITY STORE'S LENDING LIBRARY are the following:

BY CAMEL AND CAR TO THE PEACOCK THRONE
By ALEXANDER HOWELL
A dangerous trip through the [illegible] part of Further Asia and the Bible country.

FOUR MONTHS AFOOT IN SPAIN
By HARRY FRANCK

HEAD HUNTERS IN THE AMAZON
By F. W. UPDEGRAFF
Thrilling sights never before witnessed by white men.

SCOUTING ON TWO CONTINENTS
By MAJOR F. R. BURNHAM
The perilous adventure of a modest American from Arizona to Africa.

WILBUR COLLECTION HAS VALUABLE VERMONTIANA

(Continued from page 1)

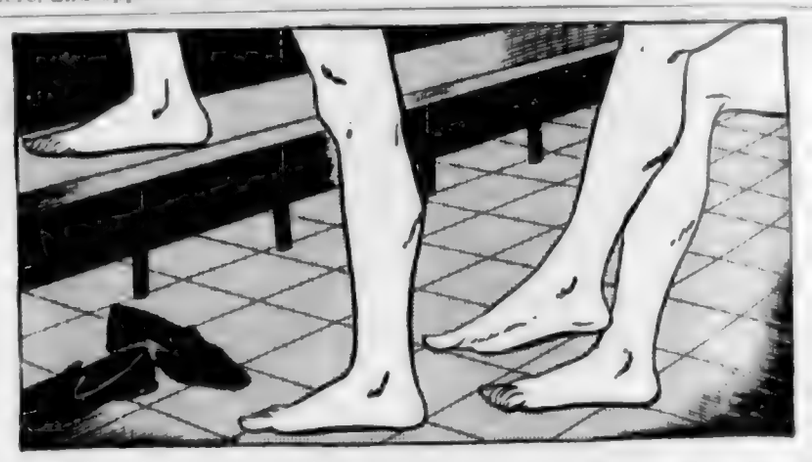
[illegible] in life by an act to incorporate the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College approved [illegible], 1865."

Wilbur Room in Museum

The collection is to be housed in the Wilbur Room now being built in the memorial Robert Hull Fleming dormitory and for which plans were made before Mr. Wilbur died.

Many years ago Mr. Wilbur had his portrait painted by the famous artist Hanamshek. This portrait which hung in the Wilbur dining room, and which is now adorning a wall in President Bailey's office, will hang in the Wilbur Room over the fireplace. It is considered an unusually good likeness of the University's benefactor.

There are in the collection a good many rare and valuable books on Vermont history, as well as old manuscripts and letters printed on one side which are known to collectors as broadsides. Making up part of the collection are maps of the state before it was entirely explored, and at various stages of exploration, along with various prints and pictures, some of which are framed and some not. Vermont town histories are also fully represented.



Second Best Vermontiana

The University itself has one of the best Vermontiana collections, second, in fact, to only the collection of the Vermont State Library; and to quote Walter H. Crockett, foremost Vermont historian: "With the addition of the Wilbur collection to that of the University, there will be made the best collection for the use of scholars of Vermont history to be found anywhere, and opportunities will be excellent for research work [illegible] tion which is a [illegible] convenient for use.

When asked to evaluate the gift, Mr. Crockett said: "[illegible] far more value historically than in terms of money. [illegible] its historical value is [illegible] by the fact that it [illegible] copy known to exist. [illegible] phlet printed in 1775 [illegible] of a convention held at [illegible] Vt., on January 31 and [illegible] 1775, to protest against [illegible] the New York Colony [illegible] which attempted to seize [illegible] by New Hampshire. No [illegible] mentioned this convention [illegible] parently was unknown [illegible] pamphlet was discovered [illegible] throws new light on [illegible] history.

Saturday, October 25. [illegible] members plan to climb Mt. [illegible] are going to start from [illegible] 2:00 p.m. and will be [illegible] the base of the mountain. [illegible] Lunch will be served at the [illegible] mountain and Miss Flore[illegible] will again speak and help [illegible] for the Vermont Y. W. [illegible] hoped that Miss Marion [illegible] Y. W. C. A. president can [illegible] at this time.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brown[illegible] Cup Cakes, Coffee and Do[illegible]
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

On the cleanest locker-room floor you'll catch the germ of "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

YOU don't have to make any one of the teams to have "Athlete's Foot." The glee club probably has some victims. The man who gets all his exercise out of differential calculus, not to mention the "crammer" and the "plugger," may be wondering about that redness between the toes, with i-t-c-h-i-n-g. Or it may show up with a thick, moist skin condition. Or again, with tiny blisters on toes, or a dryness with scales.

The fact is, all these symptoms point straight at the ringworm germ known to the boys in Science Hall as tinea trichophyton. This tiny parasite of the vegetable kingdom has infected about half the men in college, according to many authorities. The U. S. Health Service reports that "at least half of all adults suffer from it at some time." Universities as far apart as California and Pennsylvania have found 50% of the men infected. And the co-eds get it too. Little tinea trichophyton has made itself a campus pest.

It lurks in the very places where we all go for cleanliness and health—on the edges of swimming pools and showers—in gymnasiums—on locker- and dressing room floors. In spite of modern sanitation (you have to boil socks 15 minutes to kill it) this fungus parasite infects and re-infects bare feet almost any time they come in contact with damp floors.

Absorbine Jr. kills the germ of "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

Tests in a famous New York "lab" have revealed that Absorbine Jr. penetrates flesh-like tissues deeply and that wherever it penetrates, it KILLS the ringworm germ.

It might not be a bad idea to examine your feet tonight. At the first sign of the symptoms mentioned, douse on Absorbine Jr. And keep a bottle handy in your locker as a preventive. Use it after every exposure of bare feet on damp floors. At all druggists—$1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Absorbine Jr.

FOR YEARS HAS RELIEVED SORE MUSCLES, MUSCULAR ACHES, BRUISES, BURNS, CUTS, SPRAINS, ABRASIONS

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1930 | NUMBER 11

Women Vote to Abolish Rules for Freshman Class

Conference Decides to Abandon Judgment Day—Student Union Makes Rules Abolition Part of By-laws

GOLD KEY PADDLES TEN DURING MILITARY CLASS

[illegible] Student Union will refuse [illegible] to permit any sopho- [illegible] to conduct a freshman [illegible] coming women [illegible] poration of this rule into [illegible] was decided upon by the [illegible] n after a conference [illegible] the faculty had abolished [illegible] day for the class of 1934.

The committee met after the fresh [illegible] in various dormitories [illegible] to ignore the rules laid [illegible] the sophomore committee of [illegible]

Committee Calls Custom "Unworthy"

[illegible] conference, which was held [illegible] was attended by Miss Isabel [illegible] acting dean of women repre- [illegible] of the faculty, three mem- [illegible] of the senior and junior classes, [illegible] seven members of the sophomore [illegible] committee.

It was the sentiment of the confer- [illegible] that the custom of "showing freshman women their place" was a [illegible] out and unworthy one. The [illegible] was discussed informally and at length, and at the close of the meeting the conference voted to abolish Judgment Day.

The action of the freshman women was spontaneous and came in the very midst of their freshman week. Fully three fourths of the co-eds simultaneously abandoned the practices required of them. It is reported that certain customs, such as "the wearing of some insignia and the observance of a few courtesies, will be maintained in a friendly spirit.

Gold Key Holds Party

Meanwhile Gold Key whose paddling party at the Phi Sigma Delta house last week was attended by only five of the invited guests, staged a similar event at the military formation Friday morning.

It has been difficult to secure the facts in the case. The military department professes itself entirely ignorant of the circumstances. From information afforded by freshmen and upperclassmen, the following facts have been arrived at.

At 8.10 o'clock, before the close of the military hour, the faculty officers left the cage, in which the entire battalion was assembled, leaving the students standing at attention.

R. J. Maynes, ostensibly in his capacity as acting commander of the day, ordered certain freshmen to fall out of ranks. Gold Key men instantly assembled and administered corporal punishment to all the freshmen who had been called out of ranks for failure "to obey the University traditions."

Many of the freshmen were indifferent to the whole proceeding. Squads which contained student leaders talked of breaking up the party but were afraid to break ranks for fear of action by the military department.

DEWEY CLUB TO HOLD FIRST MEETING TONIGHT

Dykhuizen Will Address Opening Session of Philosophy Society

Prof. George B. Dykhuizen will be the principal speaker at the opening meeting of the John Dewey Club tonight in Room 33, North College. The program tonight will probably differ from that of future meetings, which will be student programs.

The practice of having faculty members as speakers at the meetings was started at the time of the founding of the club. Two years ago the practice was introduced of having student participation. That year questionnaires were distributed on mental hygiene and sex problems and discussed at meetings. Last year there was a moderate amount of student participation. At one meeting two students spoke on psychoanalysis. At another meeting three students presented their philosophy of life. More student participation is planned this year in combination with an interesting series of lectures by faculty members and visiting speakers.

Professor Dykhuizen, who speaks tonight, has spoken before the John Dewey Club several times before. Two years he was faculty advisor for the club.

Membership to the club is open to all students who are taking courses in philosophy and psychology. Any student, however, may attend the meetings.

[illegible] preliminaries are scheduled [illegible] at four if weather permits. [illegible] volley ball will be played [illegible] the gymnasium.

[illegible] A. held a tea Friday at [illegible] at which the University [illegible] was hostess. Before the [illegible] the State Y. W. C. A. Conference Miss Bertha Terrill gave a [illegible] Miss Marion Gary, president [illegible] State Y. W. C. A., presided. [illegible] Maddock, state secretary [illegible] W. C. A., also spoke. Florence [illegible] '32, gave a talk on Camp [illegible] freshman women's camp.

[illegible] A held a meeting Thurs- [illegible] at which Lilian Mount presided. [illegible] members discussed com- [illegible] a bazaar to be held on [illegible] and the trip to Mount [illegible]

WOMEN OPEN DEBATE SEASON AT COLCHESTER

Opening the women's debating season, a junior varsity team will meet the Colchester Community Church at Colchester Thursday to debate the question: "Resolved, that foreign missionary work is a success." Vermont will uphold the negative.

The cup for the winner of the sophomore-freshman class debate has arrived and is on display at Billings Library.

INT'L RELATIONS CLUB HEAD OUTLINES POLICY

"Yes, the International Relations Club this year has adopted a policy to guide them in their work," declared Edmour Germain, '31, president of the club, when asked if it had a definite policy.

"The policy will be to arouse an interest in international affairs among the students of the University and to develop a liberal attitude toward world problems," continued President Germain.

The faculty advisor has not yet been appointed.

The club will seek the cooperation of the political science, history and foreign language departments as it is felt these departments have an interest in international relations.

"Where and when are your meetings held?"

"The meetings are held every two weeks alternating with the John Dewey Club. Our first meeting this year was the lecture given by Pierre Lanux, and all members of the club were asked to attend. I guess there were about 140 people there. Our meetings are quite informal, sometimes we have speakers who discuss the political and social questions of the day and at other meetings we have informal discussions," he said.

"Last year the club sent delegates to the Model Assembly of the League of Nations at Yale, didn't it?" asked the reporter.

"Yes and this year in cooperation with the Y. C. A. we hope to send some more delegates. We shall have more information about this conference later," he told the reporter.

"Who are the officers of the club?"

"The executive committee is composed of the officers of the organization, Richard Cowles, '31, Louis Lisman, '31 and Joseph Carter, '31. The entertainment committee consists of Mollie Wilson, Sylvia Boyd and A. H. Roller," replied the president.

"What subjects will be discussed at the meetings this year?" the reporter asked.

"We will discuss the South American revolutions, China, the Indian uprisings, military training and the League of Nations. I hope we'll see you at some of the meetings," he concluded.

"You certainly will; I'm very much interested in the organization and its work."

HIGH SCHOOL EDITORS MEET FOR DISCUSSION OF MUTUAL PROBLEMS

150 From Preparatory Publications Boards Hear Prominent State Journalists Speak on Editorial Topics

REPRESENTATIVES OF 27 SCHOOLS PRESENT

One hundred and fifty students of high and preparatory schools in Vermont attended the annual high school editors' conference last Saturday morning at the Medical Building.

The students represented twenty-seven different schools. St. Johnsbury Academy led the list in attendance with nineteen representatives. Richford High School was second with fifteen and Wilmington High School third with twelve. Other schools represented were Spaulding High School of Barre, Bennington High School, Bradford Academy, Cambridge High School, Danby High School, Danville High School, Burlington High School, Essex Junction High School, Hardwick Academy, Middlebury High School, Orleans High School, Randolph High School, Montpelier Seminary, St. Albans High School, Vergennes High School, Williamstown High School, Woodbury High School, Rutland High School, Peacham Academy, Newbury High School, Stowe High School, Black River Academy, Montpelier High School, Enosburg Falls High School and Proctor High School.

Editors All

Walter H. Crockett, editor of the University publications, presided over the gathering. The speakers were Prof. Leon W. Dean, who spoke on "The Short Story in the High School Newspaper"; Prof. Wellington E. Aiken, who explained "The Relation of the Study of English"; and Roy W. Johnson, editor of Randolph Herald-News and new chairman of the Randolph School Board, who discussed high school publications from the point of view of the editor and printer.

Luncheon was served the assembled editors, business managers and their faculty advisors on the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont. Following the luncheon Miss Marion Wells, faculty advisor of "The Four Leaf Clover," spoke on the success of her paper. The Four Leaf Clover is the first school newspaper to be published through the combined efforts of four rural high schools. The towns represented by The Four Leaf Clover are Woodbury, Plainfield, Marshfield and Cabot.

Editorial Scholarships

The first conference of this sort was held in February, 1922, with an attendance of twenty-five. At that time President Bailey announced that a $100 editorial scholarship would be awarded to the editor of the paper adjudged the best in the State at the end of that year. Now three scholarships of $175, $150 and $125 are annually awarded to the editors or business managers of the three best school papers in the State. The classification of the school in the three groups is made according to the size of the enrollment.

BLUESTOCKINGS TRYOUTS LAST TO THANKSGIVING

Bluestockings, women's honorary literary society, announces that the tryout period for membership to the organization will continue from now until Thanksgiving. Essays, short stories and poetry will be received and may be handed to a member or placed in the Y room box. The contributions of the students chosen for membership will, if suitable, be handed over to Winnowings from the Mill to be considered for publication.

SCHEDULE DATES FOR ARIEL PHOTO SITTINGS

Individual sittings for 1931's [illegible] photographs will be held November 4 to November 8 at the Athenaeum Club House on Summit Street. The hours are 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Juniors not having made arrangements for sittings should notify Emma Marvin at the Delta Psi house at once. All individual photos must be turned in to the Ariel before Christmas. Group photographs will be taken some time in the near future. Class pictures were recently taken on the campus.

VARSITY TEAM DEBATES BEFORE 200 IN MILTON ON CHAIN STORE SYSTEM

Bigelow, Lisman and Nelson Meet Minister, Teacher and Lawyer in Off-campus Engagement

NO DECISION RENDERED IN WELL-ARGUED MEET

Before an audience of over 200 persons last Sunday night in Milton the University debating team, consisting of George Nelson, '31, Louis Lisman, '31, and James Bigelow, '33, argued against Leon Latham, '25, Jerome Bullis, '25, and Harry Butman '34, on the chain store problem. Mr. Latham, who is a well-known lawyer of Milton, along with Mr. Bullis, assistant superintendent of schools, and Mr. Butman, the Congregationalist minister, formed a debating triumvirate of no mean oratorical ability as the audience soon found out. Mr. George Roberts, prominent creamery manager of Milton, presided as chairman.

Mr. Latham presented the case for the affirmative in a clear and concise manner. At the outset he differentiated between a voluntary chain such as the I. G. A. and a monopolistic one such as the A. & P., Kresge or Woolworth. That the monopolistic tendency of capitalistic chains is the detrimental feature of the present day chain stores he started with as his major premise. To further bring the point home he cited, as an example, the single capitalist owner of the National Stores who controlled the price of the cans of milk last year, and lowered and raised them at will. In line with this appeal he referred to monopolistic tendency of the Standard Oil.

Attacking the Chain

"You buy your gas at their price," he told his audience. "The consumer must pay that price or go without."

Concluding he put to them this question: "Would you rather have ten men with $100,000 apiece or 500 men with $2,000 a year?"

Mr. Bigelow, first speaker for the negative, established as his main theses the economic soundness of the chain store. He pointed out the phenomenal 300 percent increase of chain stores since 1921 and showed how it had eliminated the middleman's profit. Furthermore he asserted that a retailer charges $1.00 for what one can buy for 8[illegible] cents in a chain store. As his powerful voice boomed out these facts the audience marveled for surely the head of the economics department could not have stated them more clearly.

The affirmative then put forth its second speaker, Mr. Bullis. With firsthand on the Economic Bible of Fairchild he swore as no man hath ever sworn there before that out-of-town goods were anathema. He warned his audience against the vileness of out-of-town goods and told them that they would be harboring a viper at their breast if a chain store should locate within the community. Happily he reminded his audience of the one who had located there but who fortunately or unfortunately had found that "cash and carry" meant to everyone "only me tonight."

Mr. Lisman first squeezed the life-blood out of Mr. Latham's concluding argument by pointing out the specious nature of the communistic argument of appealing to the greed of people who think the world owes them a living. He showed how the chain stores blotted the unsanitary cracker-barrel country store out of existence and forced the retailer to concentrate on giving better service to the consumer and eventually lower prices.

"There is something more than eco-

(Continued on page 2)

FRESHMEN IN SECOND PHASE OF FRATERNITY RUSHING SEASON HERE

First-year Men Receive Rushing Dates from Houses for Events Which Conclude Thursday

COWLES AND CARROLL SPEAK TO FRESHMEN

"There are four important steps in fraternity rushing at Vermont," said Richard H. Cowles, president of the Interfraternity Council last Friday afternoon (in the Old Chapel) just before rushing dates were given out. "First," he explained, "are the open house nights at the various fraternities, second, in receiving rushing dates, third, in deciding on the fraternity the freshman wants if he gets the chance, while the fourth and last is pledging to the fraternity of his choice."

Cowles further explained that the freshmen are now in their second step and not yet ready for the third and fourth.

Prof. D. B. Carroll, who also spoke at this time, is greatly interested in fraternities and yet has no affiliations with them, and is therefore competent to give advice that favors no one in particular. He greatly stressed the importance of belonging to a fraternity where one will find fellows with the same interests.

Many of the freshmen took advantage of open-house night, and it is expected that the rushing dates will be even more successful.

Professor Carroll also brought out during his talk the fact that quite a few of the fraternities have been breaking some of the rules. These fraternities were urged in the future to be fair while the freshmen were urged to follow the spirit as well as the letter of the rules.

Tonight will be the third rushing night, to be succeeded by two others. On Friday bids will be issued.

SIXTY-PIECE BAND TO BROADCAST OVER WCAX

This year's band, which numbers sixty pieces, has twenty-five freshmen in its personnel. Director Joe Lechnyr is working fast to develop the new men so as to be able to broadcast over WCAX in the near future.

Many letters were received last year after the concert by the band which was broadcast over WCAX.

Vermont bands have covered themselves and their college with glory since 1922. In 1925 the University of Vermont band was chosen as the official band of the State of Vermont and sent to Washington D. C., for President Coolidge's inauguration, where they marched with such organizations as the Washington Marine Band, U. S. Army Band and other famous organizations.

The band was highly honored by Capt. William Stannard of the Army Band from Washington D. C. when he conducted the band in one of his own compositions.

Members of the freshman class who have made the band are as follows:

H. C. Abbott, J. C. Arnold, R. H. Baldwin, D. E. Bennett, C. R. Congdon, M. M. Cross, G. L. Davis, E. Denzoff, E. B. Gammell, D. F. Green, M. J. Greenberg, T. F. Hard, J. H. Jardine, D. W. Jenks, Magone, A. H. Morriven, J. J. Murray, P. R. Powell, C. M. Terrien, R. J. Weissman, N. O. Wells, D. C. Whitney, M. R. Teal, F. M. Rees, R. H. Caisley.

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Vol. 49 October 29, 1930 No. 11

GO OUT, YOUNG MAN, GO OUT

The sage who once remarked that outside of classes one may learn as much from college as from the lecture or the textbook, had some of the wisest things in his career.

The importance of environment has long been recognized by our universities. Everywhere college administrations promote the pursuit of extra-curricular activities. The administration of our University has been among the leaders in this field. The variety of outside activities — clubs, societies, student publications, in debating, in dramatics and well-nigh every variety of literary and non-literary endeavor, is one of the largest and most elaborate of any college of its size.

There is no need to delve too deeply into the benefits of extra-curricular activities. The actual training they afford in some particular line, the sense of responsibility they foster, the impetus they afford to hard work in fields of interest to the student are sufficient to commend them, to anyone who is at all familiar with them. The alumnus who will tell you that he derived more from these activities than from much of his classroom work is not unusual.

A problem that constantly confronts the student is that of choosing his activities. We advise him to go out for that activity for which he regards himself best fitted or for that in which he is most interested. A student should not be too numerous, but at least one activity should be regarded as indispensable. The rest will take care of itself.

There is much to be derived from successful participation in campus activities, other than the most obvious of their benefits. The honors that crown success are always present. But, if less apparent still more important is the satisfaction to be derived from achievement, whether recognized or unnoticed.

Therefore we say to the student in paraphrase of Horace Greeley's "Go out, young man, go out."

Working quietly, never seeking praise, the physical education department has, in the course of less than two years, built up for itself a reputation not only for the physical condition of the student body, but other departments do for the higher intellect.

Believing that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, the department has not contented itself with catering to the needs of its classes only, but has branched out into the whole college.

It has promoted intramurals and interclass sports and has even enlisted the faculty in its program. Touch football, basketball, hockey, track, water sports, baseball, wrestling and golf owe their popularity to encouragement given to the free of Prentice, Post and Levine.

In addition the department has applied the benefits of training derived from leading authorities in the field to its freshman and sophomore classes. Setting up exercises have been subordinated to sports. The fad takes the place of work in the process of building a strong body. Students are excused from classes if they participate in any sport whatsoever. The rest are given practical work in sports and participate in games. The department is out to correct posture defects just as much as to have every class in the college play golf or lacrosse.

More power to the P. E. department!

VARSITY TEAM DEBATES BEFORE 200 IN MILTON

(Continued from page 1)

tunities in life began the Reverend Putnam. You can't spot life in water-tight compartments and judge each separately. Unless you take into consideration the social aspect of this problem you are not doing justice to the problem as a whole.

Why even in Burlington the chain stores do not pay a living wage to the girls who work in them. Surely that is an indictment against them.

In Behalf of Chains

Furthermore, the chain store is one more link in our already highly standardized existence. Shall we all be Babbitts on the American land waste?"

Mr. Wilson then took the floor. He melodramatically told a story of a decrepit old woman trudging home in the snow with a bag of flour because the retailer could not deliver it. Such was his pantomime that the spectators were at the verge of hysterics.

In the rebuttals Bigelow speaking first asserted that the oppositions were inconsistent. Inasmuch as they had declared monopolism in the chain store why did they advocate it for the retailer who in giving credit had control over his debtors.

It now had no cost. Mr. Latham in rebuttal sent facetiously remarked, "even would be carried to the poor house." He asserted that the chain store inasmuch as they had eliminated the cracker barrel and spittoon grocery store were to be commended but whereas they tended today to fix prices as a monopolistic privilege they were an obvious detriment to the American people.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is a pretty sad institution that is the newspaper. The best-laid schemes often go astray, and the most carefully planned issue of the most enthusiastic staff is sometimes the worst. It may be the result of a combination of circumstances, for which no one is to blame, but the result is the same. Somehow, the issue is not as good as it might be, and the newspaper is criticized.

Those who see the college paper in its completed form have little conception of the work that goes into it. Many times, after a day's work, the editor goes home with the impression that he has accomplished little or nothing. The following issue, however, he finds that he has done a full day's work, and more.

The editorship of the Cynic requires more time than any other student activity on the campus. The paper as it finally appears represents a tremendous amount of time, hard work and thought.

These are the steps in producing a Cynic:

1. Six days before the issue is scheduled to appear the editor or managing editor, the women's editor and the sports editor simultaneously post the assignment sheets of the forty-five reporters. Almost all of these assignments require interviews or first-hand observation.

2. While the editors are still completing the previous issue the reporters begin to send in their copy for the following issue. Features, contributing, sports and assistant editors exhaust every news possibility.

3. News editors, the women's editor and the sports editor edit, add, cut, rewrite and head all the copy. This is a task requiring two or three days of almost continuous work.

4. The copy now goes to the editor. Although he has supervised and even handled a great part of the copy, he must reread, redit and revise much of it. This part of the work requires fully as much effort as all the work that has gone before it. The editor also prepares the editorial page at this time.

5. The copy meanwhile is being sent to the Free Press publication offices where it is linotyped and prepared for publication. One day before the appearance of the CYNIC the editor "makes up." New assignments have already been posted, copy for the next issue is coming in, but the work on the issue about to appear is not yet completed.

At the make-up the editor decides which stories to use and which to omit, how much prominence to give to each, on what page to put them, and how to fit the paper together. The make-up is a five-hour job. When it is over the editor immediately begins work on the next issue.

What are the rewards? They are those of work well done. Of course, a good deal of campus honor attaches to any editorship, but the belief that the editor of the CYNIC is assured such honors as "Cynician" membership in Boulder is unfounded. No such "rewards" are to be derived on the strength of a Cynic editorship. Fraternity affiliations and personal relations between the outgoing members of the society and aspiring candidates play a far greater part in gaining membership to the class societies than any other factor.

* * * * *

The editorial policy of the Cynic is determined by the editor, but is subject to the approval of the board. The editor, moreover, is responsible to the Faculty Committee on Publications for the character of the paper.

The editorial policy of the Cynic has been directed in the interests of the University, regardless of the demands of any particular group.

Even when it seemed to conflict with the personal interests of the editor or his board, they did not deviate by one jot from their stand. The Cynic, when it opposed the use of fraternity influences to prevent an abler man from acquiring a campus office, numbered more fraternity men than non-fraternity men on its board. When, in this connection, the Cynic declared the honorary societies useless, the editor was himself a member of three honor societies, and the board which is supporting him today contains eight Gold Key or former Gold Key men.

* * * * *

The Cynic has arrived at its editorial policy by considering the representations of majority and minority alike. Naturally it has not favored the majority all of the time. Nevertheless, when the issue of fraternity politics was involved, no less than eight Greek-letter societies themselves rallied to its defense, while hardly a fraternity group failed to produce Cynic supporters.

* * * * *

The Cynic has continued the policy begun many years ago of exposing futile organizations, has opposed the use of fraternity affiliations to keep the best men out of office, and this year has opposed the freshman rules. To nothing else in the University has the Cynic taken exception.

* * * * *

The Cynic has heightened the prestige of the University on other campuses. By its editorial policy it has taken a leading position in intercollegiate thought. Editors of other college papers who formerly never failed to find in the Cynic something with which to bate Vermont in their columns, now have the greatest respect for the Cynic and the student body of the University of Vermont.

* * * * *

The CYNIC this year established a student and a faculty column. These columns must appear signed and the editors take no responsibility for their contents. The same rules apply to letters.

Other columnists are appointed by the board, to whom they are responsible. A change in their contents by the editor requires an explanation to the board, with possible apology and redress.

Editors of the CYNIC are appointed by the board on a merit basis. The editor-in-chief and the managing editors are elected by the faculty advisor, Prof. Leon Dean, the outgoing editor, and the board. A similar rule holds for the sports editor.

Intercollegiate News

Coeds at the Western University have been ordered by the dean of women to quit smoking cigarettes in public places and other places where the public may gaze on them.

A new requirement at Middlebury College is that each graduating class next spring with 45 must, one and all, pass an exam on the Bible. Harvard requires an exam based on two years of Germanic while at Columbia you must work for the sheepskin. How about being able to tell folks what's in the Epistles might be a lot of bad medicine, you know! And the way a politician's good Christian, Mohammedan, Hindu or League of Nations name is changed!

The Faculty Council of the University of Vermont recently proclaimed a Mountain Day, sponsored by the University Christian Association. The Vermont campus has a real mountain in its back yard, 4,393 feet high. Well, we have Mt. David—we can climb that in any time period. And holidays are so nice. Bates Student.

There's a real battle on in frat groups at Boston University now. One fraternity has withdrawn from the Council and started rushing out of season, and that has thrown a monkey wrench into the whole works. Yes—it is a help not to have such things to fret about.

A reward of one hundred dollars has been offered by Gov. Dan Moody of Texas for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of any bootlegger selling liquor to high school or college students in that state.

Dayton, Tenn., recently witnessed the formal opening of the William Jennings Bryan University. It is a strictly fundamentalist institution, being an outgrowth of the celebrated evolution case of several years ago.

And here is a hint to prospective professors. A co-ed at one of the northern institutions of learning tells of her ideal of a collage professor as he should be. He should be about sixty years of age, "must be familiar with the works of great writers and must know a little of everything and everything about some particular subject in which he is interested. He must look the part of a man of superior intelligence and, last but not least, a goatee or a mustache is preferable."

The Glee Club of Columbia University will make a six-day trip to Bermuda in the early part of February, taking a retinue of forty men. Concerts will be given on the boat while en route.

At the University of Virginia recently an operetta, "Trial by Jury," was presented by the combined glee clubs of the University and the Fredericksburg State Teachers' College. According to a recent letter to the News-Letter such a combination of Goucher and Hopkins would be much against the feelings of the students.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the C...

Are the so-called ... ties of this University ... College should be ... colleges? No, the ... vance in every way ... to freshman having ... posedly efficient ... have degenerated ... amusement in watching ... serious minded freshmen ... ing about their own ...

I asked a member of ... "honorary" societies what ... son he could give for ... frosh rules. When he ... ter was translated it ... he could speak but two ... —Tradition." After ... it was discovered that ... always been rules, ... rules forever. It is a ... to say the least, and ... of the "honorary" ... indication of their general ...

Conditions have ... when those persons ... thority will not allow ... see the examples given ... other colleges in the ... ing and of all rules ... irritate the person ... to go to college.

Let the societies ... childish habits. Let them ... own position on the ... should know that good ... portant in developing ... lege spirit and that ... tained there will be no ... tions between the classes.

GORDON L. ...

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

Not a little startling ... rial in last Tuesday's CYNIC ... to the effect that "seven ... women" were decreeing ... women of the freshman ... their inferiority at the ... Can the nine sophomore ... comprise the Frosh Rule ... have any connection at all ... "seven sophomore women" ... accused of inflicting inferiority complexes on the incoming class.

Moreover, it seems entirely absurd for one to say that these ... determined to uphold tradition ... means and at any cost. ... ously the committee had voted to ... ish Judgment Day this year. If ... sidered by this advance ... ment that possibly they ... slightly enlightened by ... thought. The sophomores ... to bring this pleasant ... Judgment Day's abolishment ... ingly" forth at the end of ... "hell week"; but now it ... the recent editorial has ... cated affairs and added ... injury it has wrought. As ... can see, a lack of coöperation ... sportsmanship has resulted ... and nothing but.

The change in the ... been obtained with the ... College—and we agree ... last few days only misery ... been given to us who ... the forward step here at V... place her on a level with ... leges. Down with Judgment ... away with editorials with ... reports and hideously ... NORMAN ...

ESTHER B...

HUNTINGTON MINISTER TO SPEAK IN CHAPEL

Rev. Arthur M. Clarke ... Baptist Church in Hun... will have charge of the ... in Ira Allen Chapel tom... ing.

Mr. Clarke has spent ... part of his life in Massa... the usual high school ... his A.B. degree at Amh... specializing in science. ... his work there the ... States entered the World ... various experiences in ... army, and teaching in ... emy and the Military Col... Carolina, he took further ... Massachusetts Institute ... where he was instructor. ... After five successful ... left to complete his theo... ing (already begun ... basis) at the Gordon Col... ogy and Missions in ... After serving some months ... ant to Dr. Robert Wat... the largest churches ... came to Huntington as ... Baptist Church nearly ... The work that has ... has prospered so much that ... feels that the time has ... it over to other hands ... become the pastor of ... Church in Manchester ... the sixteenth of Novem...

"Man, ain't this a ... tossing?" cried the ... kicked out the drunk. ... Purple Parrot.

Professor: What's the ... in this room?

Student: Probably ... guage.'—California Pel...

The Freshman Declaration

We, members of the class of 1934, hereby declare that from this time forth all "Frosh Rules" will be ignored. Certain traditions, however, such as wearing of the freshman caps and armbands should, we feel, be preserved. These traditions shall not be compulsory but shall be followed at the discretion of the individual. We recognize the accepted position of a freshman in a modern university but feel that his endeavors to acquire a proper degree of dignity should be encouraged, rather than hindered, by the upperclassmen.

[illegible] Morgan, President	W. N. Coburn
[illegible] Lanou	D. C. Whitney
[illegible] Congdon	C. Heath, Jr.
[illegible] Magune	J. J. Gilmore
[illegible] Murray	E. E. Miller
[illegible] Morrison	H. M. McGrath
[illegible] Millet	R. H. Russell
[illegible] Colburn	W. N. Pratt
[illegible] Cummings	R. L. Butterman
[illegible] Gilbert	I. Lisman
[illegible] Hardy, Jr.	D. C. Worcester
[illegible] Moriarty	J. E. Pierce
[illegible] Joslin	D. E. Bennett, Jr.
[illegible] Hebb	E. Anzalone
[illegible] Kelleher	J. H. Gannon
[illegible] Stewart	A. H. Mulliken
[illegible] Brown, Jr.	C. J. Libby
[illegible] Harwood	D. W. Jenks
[illegible] Busch	R. T. VanDyke
[illegible] Merrihew	P. R. Powell
[illegible] Ross	C. F. Dobson
[illegible] Farr	B. C. Rubino
[illegible] Parker	C. W. Hutchinson
[illegible] Paris	G. O. Ricker
[illegible] Myers	W. H. Galvin, Jr.
[illegible] Morrison, Jr.	E. B. Gammell
[illegible] Wells	M. D. Howe
[illegible] Brislin	S. Bartow
[illegible] Bannon	A. Cochrane
[illegible] Martin	K. E. Johnson
[illegible] Davis	W. M. Waterman
[illegible] Lutman	E. C. Morse, Jr.
W. A. Cohen	S. B. Pond
[illegible] Robinson	S. F. Morris
W. P. Stetson	C. A. Bowker
G. H. Burrows, II	R. R. Lowell
[illegible] Germann	P. Iselin
[illegible] Woodruff, Jr.	R. R. Murray
[illegible] Howard	H. C. Luma
[illegible] Pierce, Jr.	D. F. Green
D. J. Tobin	C. H. Drown
R. J. McKenzie	K. D. Spaulding
J. J. McGowan	K. H. Richmond
T. D. Sargent	D. F. Van Antwerp
W. L. Shippee	E. Q. Sylvester, II
R. J. Charland	W. F. Kearney
N. E. Daigle	E. E. Carlson

THE MUSE CONVERSES

This week, folks, we begin our breath-taking cereal of night life in Winooski.

No Cut

"WHINNY, THE MILKMAID'S DAUGHTER" or
"UP FROM THE SHEETS"

Portrait of Whinny at the tender age of sixty-five, sewing her wild rye.

CHAP ONE

Way out in the country, kiddies, was Whinny's farm. There she raised Holsteins, Bordens and Cain. She went to bed with the sun, and had many chores and chorines. She never heard of Amos 'n Andy. The only thing she knew about males was that if you didn't put enough postage on, they came back. Whinny was not a success in the dairy business. It seemed that she just couldn't get the half pint bottles to fit the cow. One day a burly individual berled up to the silo in his Stutz, dismounted and leered at our heroine. "I have foreclosed on the mortgage," he snickered, "and the old homestead is mine!" So Whinny came to the big city to make her fortune. One day she met a college boy who was continued next week.

Miss Ingalls: Where I come from it gets so cold in winter that they can't use thermometers!

Teacup Smith: Where I'm going they can't use them the whole year! Ils ne passeront pas!

"I lived this story," moaned "Morpheus" Hard, "and the Prof gave me an F!" There was a sickening thud, and stout-hearted men turned their heads in fear.

Around the town the freshmen jog
With brains impaired by heavy fog.
"I really ought to study math. . .
Evaporate the water bath.
Ich bin, je sui, ihr seit, du bist
She said I was the first she kissed.
The chloroplasts will seek the light
If she would just stay home tonight."

Weekly Bull: A meeting of the freshman class was held. The class was well organized. Committees were appointed to take care of various duties and functions that might come before the class. Plans were made for work and amusement for the future.

Reports seem to be going around that the frosh, who so far have obeyed Gold Key's mandates to the letter, have organized and determined to break one of the pet rules and all wear knickers on a certain day, which, of course, shouldn't be mentioned. Now, boys, you really wouldn't do anything like that, would you?

"I've got a grate bunch," said the lady from the coffee corner. We asked her how the number of cheese sandwiches compared with the nuts and she blushed prettily. We hastily changed the subject. We found out from her that no one eats on scholarships; that the counter could accommodate three girls with books, or seventeen men with overcoats; that a few people come into the corner to eat; that someone from Colorado insists on having her cream poured first, and coffee second. "I'm a pretty good cook," laughed the lady, cutting the cheese for next week's sandwiches, "and every sandwich is a tight squeeze."

Felta Delta claims that they are going through the touch football tournament undefeated. In fact they are sure of it. The reason? Every man has athlete's foot!

In The Good Old Days

25 YEARS AGO

"We wish to repeat what we said in our last issue [illegible] college affairs by means of open letters in the CYNIC. This would be as conducive to good as the discussion at a session" writes the CYNIC editorially.

The editors of the 1908 Ariel call for snapshot views about college, pen drawings, and jokes.

No student who has not paid all assessed taxes may vote at any class or college election or hold any office whatsoever.

College spirit at the smoker preceding the St Lawrence game kept rising until it culminated in 120 fellows marching down to the station to greet President Buckham with cheers and songs as he returned from Scotland.

Middlebury College lost to Vermont in football, 11-0. The outside punt proved successful.

10 YEARS AGO

In a game replete with penalties and loose playing Vermont dropped one last Saturday to the tune of 10-0 with Columbia as her football opponent.

At the sound of two hydroplane motors flying over Centennial field, spectators at the Vermont-New Hampshire game strained their necks to watch the maneuvers of the gigantic flying boats.

In spite of numbers scarce a yell was emitted from the students during the first half of the New Hampshire-Vermont game. They were playing the second half entirely alone. During this time three cheer leaders were out in front endeavoring, but with scarcely audible results, to put across a few rousing cheers.

W. D. Varney, writing to the CYNIC, states: "Is it any wonder, therefore, [illegible] spirit and loyalty is pushed most heavily day after day when we see these traditions which have become a part of us, so deplorably broken down?"

Grassmount was the scene of great hilarity when four freshman men from one of the fraternities lost themselves to the will of the captivating coeds. One gained repute through his ability to walk the tightrope.

Acting President Bailey desires to get students' views on campus activities so that the needs and wants of the administration may be made common. He believes that the work of the new student committee will result in much better relations between the students and their instructors.

That the college should pay a salary to the editors of the Ariel as well as the CYNIC was the view set forth in a communication.

ONE YEAR AGO

The dope is upset when Vermont loses to Norwich 20-0 on the gridiron.

University lecturer, Charles R. Knight, attracts large audience with illustrated address, "Life Through the Ages."

Administration announces five hundred free tickets to Harold Bauer concert available to students.

Professors Crockett and Lautsch appointed to prepare sections of international politico-historical work.

Gold Key again warns freshmen against breaking rules. Interfraternity touch football starts tomorrow.

A Student-at-Large

It can easily be seen that any freshman, new to Vermont and unacquainted with the true relative value of things on the campus, is going to have his opinions largely formed for him by the publications. He is going to assume that, because a paper is labeled "the official student publication of the University of Vermont," that paper represents a fair and unbiased cross-section of student opinion. If a small group gets control of the publication and sets out to fight another group, it holds an enormous advantage even though it represents but a small minority of the total student body.

The writer appreciates this opportunity to present the honor societies. He has read that the CYNIC is planning to war against them and he is glad that he has this chance to present their activities and histories before the verbal barrage drowns out his statements. He has a feeling that the opposition hopes to see him hang himself with the rope it has given him here, but he will do his best to present the true facts about the honorary class societies.

An honorary society, strictly speaking, exists for the purpose of bestowing an honor on those elected to membership. It follows, however, that a man so honored is not likely to be one who sits back and basks in the glory of his past achievements. An honorary society, especially one like the class societies, becomes an active force in campus life. The histories of Boulder, Key and Serpent, and Gold Key are all the stories of organizations founded primarily to do honor, and growing to become useful forces on the campus.

Boulder was organized by the class of 1906 to recognize the men who by their achievement and character were deserving of honor. This group of campus leaders soon became a power since it claimed the best men in each class and almost immediately to assumed the lead in campus activities. As Key and Serpent and Gold Key were founded, it was only natural that Boulder, the senior organization, should occupy an advisory position over the younger societies. As freshman hazing came under control, the administration naturally turned to Boulder to have general supervision over it. This activity at the first of the year now includes supervision of Gold Key in the enforcement of the rules and charge of the interclass scraps. Boulder's other activities are numerous. It sponsors a week each year, before the first home football game, to work up campus enthusiasm and college support for the team. It runs one dance each semester and it also cooperates with the administration in securing student cooperation for the teas and the monthly vesper services. It also keeps busy with many small tasks which are taken for granted but which would be missed if they should cease these occupations.

Key and Serpent was the second of the class societies, coming into exist-

(Continued on page 6)

"Stop! STOP! This can't go on," shrieked the woman as they tried to force a size three shoe on her size seven foot.

F. D. ABERNETHY, INC.
HEAD OF CHURCH ST

Wool Lace is one of the Exciting Fashion Successes for Fall

It's Smart to Be Youthful in Smart Co-Ed Frocks because their low cost and authentic styling endears them to the hearts of fashionables.

Wool lace, the fabric Paris decrees so smart for the youthful, makes the skirt of this outstandingly chic new CO-ED sports model with its bell buttons for extra smartness.

$16.75

...and fourteen other exclusive Co-Ed frocks

VERMONT CO-EDS JOIN MIDDLEBURY PLAY DAY

When a carefree bunch of co-eds from Vermont, Middlebury and St. Lawrence get together for a good time [illegible] college partisanship is forgotten and group spirit prevails. Such was the case on Saturday, October 18, when the annual W. A. A. play day was held at Middlebury during the afternoon and early evening.

[illegible] forty-five U. V. M. women motored to the neighboring campus in [illegible] automobile. After the preliminary greetings all present formed [illegible] groups red, green, blue and gold and then the friendly competition went under way.

[illegible] games of hockey, tennis [illegible] volleyball were played; feeling [illegible] and the cheering squads outdid themselves. Finally, due to the [illegible], everybody traipsed over [illegible] and joined in playing volleyball.

Next on the program was the [illegible]dable feature; each group [illegible] cheers and songs with much [illegible]. The Reds, after going [illegible] par path, presented their [illegible] original song and were [illegible] as a reward, the Blues, [illegible] of their clever cheer ending [illegible] the cat, the cat, the cat," [illegible] second.

The [illegible] event took place at the [illegible] House, familiarly called [illegible] where a satisfying supper of [illegible] salad, rolls, cake and punch [illegible] served.

[illegible]ation of the "cup," a useful [illegible] to the Reds, winners of [illegible] points, happened during the [illegible] exodus of Vermont co-eds to [illegible].

[illegible] note: Decorative gym uniforms red, green, brown and blue [illegible] prevailing mode.)

[illegible]ng is the program of events: [illegible]ganization on athletic field. [illegible] suitcase and circus.

[illegible]ennis, volleyball, archery, [illegible] cheers, supper, presentation [illegible]p."

[illegible] and Smith used to be the [illegible] names in the country. [illegible] advent of the automobile, [illegible] the most popular.

[illegible] your favorite summer [illegible]ng. It improves my swim. — Pitt Panther.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Agnes Town, '26, announces her marriage to Lester Joquith on October 11.

Lucille Robinson, '32, passed chocolates at the meeting on Wednesday to announce her engagement to Albert Hackett.

The active chapter held a tea at their house Sunday, October 26, in honor of their patronesses and mothers.

Alpha Chi Omega plans to hold a rummage sale at the Star Hose House Friday, November 7.

KAPPA DELTA

The senior members of Kappa Delta entertained the active chapter with a supper at the Athena Club rooms Thursday, October 23.

Kappa Delta will hold a bridge party Thursday, November 6.

Founders' Day Ceremony was observed Thursday, October 23.

Geraldine Kibbe, '30, spent the week-end in Burlington.

Dorine Lee, '33, was initiated, Saturday, October 25 at the Athena Club rooms.

UPSILON TAU ALPHA

Upsilon Tau Alpha, the education society, held a meeting Thursday evening, October 16, at the Vermonters' Club House. Freshman women of the education department were the guests. Freida Page, president, was in charge of the business and social meeting.

The following committees were elected for the year: Program, Helen Allen, chairman, Georgia Nichols, Betty Googel; refreshment, Rosamond Doty, Mrytle Isham, Mabel Farquahar, Dorothy Hemingway, Anne Green; funds, Dorothy Ellis, chairman, Helen Holmes, Ella Downs and Eleanor Campbell.

Co-ed Notes

Practice House girls this week are: Senior: Natalie Hawley and Harriet Johnstone; Junior: Gwendolyn Shafer and Vivian Hubbard; sophomore: Hazel Dundale; Freshmen: Janette Leland.

Miss Blanchard announces the line-ups of the following class teams in volleyball: Senior: "Vic" Chadburn, Helen Drugg, "Dot" Nash, Marjorie Bracken, Jane Corwin, Dorothy Fowler, Natalie Hawley, Charlotte Gilmore and Lillian Andrews; junior: "Milly" Akins, Winfred Graham, Dorothy Humphreys, Cora Humphrey, Jessie Minckler, Dorothy Brennan, Betty Smith, Helen Eiselionis and Lillian Mount, subs, Katrina Munn and Mary Morris; freshman first team: Helen Roberts, Ruth Martin, Edith Rogers, Jennie Scutakes, Helen Fogg, Alice Hoyt, Helen Rockwell, Alma Sausville and Ruby Jones, subs, Ruth Reynolds, Eleanor Walker and Virgina Yewell; freshman second team: Ruth Mullin, Jean Kemlock, Dorothy Harwood, Hilda Davis, Charlotte Brown, Janette Leland, Ella Downs, Dorothy Earle and Malvina Tregaskis, subs—Clara Hersom, Alice Backus, and Hattie Beers.

FORUM

"War can be prevented if the peoples of the world will make use of the League of Nations," declared Pierre de Lanux, Carnegie Endowment lecturer, in his talk on "Our International Ethics" last Tuesday evening in the Old Mill Chapel.

"International ethics do at present exist," said M. de Lanux in introducing his subject. "Ethics have been in existence for a very long." He further explained that if there are [illegible] that have been so revised that they do not conflict with the international task.

In the attempt to prevent war by serving their country the members of the league are moved by a spirit of emulation that makes them wish to have their country participate in anything constructive that is done.

The members of the league also have [illegible] preoccupation [illegible] of war.

The League of Nations was likened by M. de Lanux to a modern automobile which was manufactured as it was perfected. "I say the people will never [illegible] of."

"The most kind of service for statesmen of today," said M. de Lanux in summing up the duties offered by international ethics."

"HOBBIES" IS SUBJECT OF FACULTY CLUB TALK

[illegible] of those who subscribe to the statement that everyone should have a hobby declared President Plumley in [illegible] to a talk on [illegible] given before the members of the Faculty Club at a meeting held last Saturday evening in the rooms of the Klifa Club.

He further asserted, "Absence of occupation is absence of rest. Instead of being open to criticism as cranks, men who develop in hobbies should be congratulated."

The speaker then proceeded to quote from various letters to the effect that hobbies are highly worth while and that most of the men who have hobbies live far beyond their allotted span. William E. Gladstone, one of England's greatest prime ministers, spent his spare time in the study of Greek. Cardinal Newman with his varied interests, and Pope Leo XIII, who indulged in the translation of Latin poetry, were cited as examples.

"If you are a man to give up his work, nothing worse could happen. Worry results which leads, in some cases, to hardening of the arteries. A man must be permitted to go on. Hard work never killed anyone. If there is something a man does, to the exclusion of work, the arteries may be saved. Grover Cleveland with his love of fishing; Edison, Firestone, Ford and Burroughs with their camping trips seem picturesque."

Quoting Stanley Jones in the North American Review, in part, the speaker then said, "Intelligent men and women discover a gold mine in the pursuit of a hobby. They have rediscovered the vanishing art of using their spare time in the cultivation of some valuable hobby. It may appease the inner craving to do something all our own."

The speaker then told how he built two ship models, one of which a [illegible] sorority borrowed at one time in order to entice prospective members.

After a dissertation on various kinds of hobbies, President Plumley touched on his hobby of raising peonies. Said he, in conclusion, "If you wish to enjoy something beautiful, take up peonies as a hobby."

Immediately after President Plumley's talk refreshments were served under the direction of Professors [illegible] and Adams.

Because of the inclement weather conditions last week the tryouts for the women's tennis doubles have not yet been completed and are being continued this week. The teams for the tournament will be chosen as soon as [illegible] can be finished. Watch the bulletin board for further notices.

FIRST ISSUE WINNOWINGS TO APPEAR NOVEMBER 1

Headed by Prof. A. W. Peach's article, "Some Aspects of Vermont's Literary History," this year's initial issue of the Winnowings from the Mill will appear on November 1. Included in this number are a short story by Janice Goodrich, '30, last year's editor of the Winnowings; a contribution, "History of Autumn," by Frances M. Frost, Vermont's poetess, and an informal essay, "On Going to Bed," by Elizabeth Hollis, '32. Seven other articles, including essays, poems, short stories, and a book review, appear in the issue of the Winnowings.

The table of contents is:

"Some Aspects of Vermont's Literary History," A. W. Peach.
"Mixed Woman," Janice Goodrich, '30.
"The Spell of the River," Justine Rogers, '31.
"History of Autumn," Frances M. Frost.
"Tales of Old Houses—'Heartbreak Hill,'" Margaret Rice, '31.
"On Going to Bed," Elizabeth Hollis, '32.
Second Sight," Mary Woolson, '31.
"Why the Little China Shepherd Sinned," Dorothy Dailey, '30.
"Books," E. F. J.
"The Mill Hands."

The editorial staff has two additional members, Julius Perelman, '31, and Roberta Powers, '32, as advertising managers; Margaret Rice, '31, is editor-in-chief; Leon W. Dean, '15, faculty adviser; Justine Rogers, '31, short story editor; Edward Fitzgerald, '32, poetry editor; Robert Aiken, '31, and Sam Barker, '32, contributing editors.

On the business side, Margaret A. Martin, '31, is business manager, Charlotte Odell, '33, circulating manager; Julius Perelman and Roberta Powers, advertising managers.

The Winnowings, at one time called The Vermont Literary Magazine, has been issued six times a year for the last four years. It is the University literary organ and contains the best literary achievements by the men and women of the student body.

Original literary work by any student will be carefully considered for publication by the board.

Students are urged to purchase a subscription to the Winnowings which costs $1.00 per year.

PAN-HELLENIC PRESIDENT ADDRESSES NEW SORORES

The Pan-Hellenic Council held a meeting last Tuesday in the Old Mill Chapel to explain to the pledges and to last year's initiates the relation of sorority to campus and the meaning of Pan-Hellenic.

The mission of sororities, it was explained, is to supplement college work by faster friendships, opportunities for leadership, and a wider outlook on collegiate education. Sororities hold a big place on the campus, standing for high ideals, noble aims and good scholarship. Two members from each fraternity constituting the Pan-Hellenic Council are the leaders, concerned with common interests and ideas of sororities.

"Hey, Joe," yelled the executioner as he strapped the flapper murderess in the chair, "hook up the extra generator. It takes a lot to shock this younger generation."—Cornell Widow.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits
Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
$1.00 Special $1.00
SHAMPOO and MARCEL
3 Center St. Phone 538

The Old Bastion
Full Fashion
Silk and Wool
Hosiery
$1.00
Pair
A warm trim fitting stocking in various shades of tan, brown, and gun metal. Every pair full fashion—a great value at $1.00 Pair.

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

Col. Black Considers Freshman Class Very Satisfactory; Weather More So

"The freshman class appears to be well up to the average," said Colonel Frederick F. Black in response to a Cynic reporter's query as to the merits of the first year class.

"Could you tell me some news, concerning the activities of the military department?" bluntly asked the reporter. The Colonel's eyes twinkled as he leaned back in his swivel chair. "Well he declared, we've been exceedingly fortunate in having good weather this year. Last year we had very little marching and the band was not outside at all. We drilled in the gym after the first of October.

"Our section rated 'excellent' as reviewed by the board of officers of our co-area last year. This makes the second time," declared the Colonel, "as we also won this distinction in 1929. Now we use the blue stars upon the uniform which designate our rating."

The Colonel pointed across the room to a shield trophy hanging upon the wall. "This was presented to us by the local American Legion and was won by Company D as the unit making the best showing."

"Are the number of juniors and seniors enrolled greater than that of last year?" queried the reporter. "No, they are about the same."

"When will the uniforms be used for the first time?" he [illegible]. "About the first of November," declared. "Our outside work [illegible] in two weeks and that will [illegible] deal later than last year. [illegible] pany will drill in the [illegible] two others in the gym.

"We have held several [illegible] Fridays, already, and in the [illegible] will turn the companies [illegible] Cadet officers on that [illegible] them do what they can [illegible] first of November, rifle [illegible] start. The men seem to [illegible] more than any other [illegible] work."

Continuing, Colonel [illegible] "There is also a girls' rifle [illegible] conduct all their matches [illegible] der supervision of unit [illegible] eral trophies are offered [illegible] them, is one given by Mr. [illegible] publisher. So far, the girls [illegible] very well. Last year the [illegible] match fired, under the [illegible] Sergeant Conner.

For a moment there was [illegible] the room, broken only by [illegible] ing of typewriter keys from [illegible] posite end of the office. [illegible] reporter commenced.

"How did the freshmen [illegible] on their recent examinations?" [illegible] did very well," said the [illegible]

NEWMAN CLUB ELECTS NEW STUDENT OFFICERS

Holding its first meeting of the season Sunday, October 19, in their rooms at the Cathedral High School the Newman club elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: president, Franics McBride, '31; vice-president, Mary Pratt, '33; secretary and treasurer, Esther Leary, '33; chairman of the entertainment committee, Alfred Baldwin, '33; and chairman of the play committee, Perry Bove, '32. Father Joyce the Chaplain, gave a very interesting lecture.

The next meeting is to be held on Sunday, November [illegible].

She: Three lipsticks, please.
Clerk: What size, miss?
She: Three car rides and a house party.—Green Goat.

Little Stanley, the campus tearabout, thinks that chorines are things that are studied in chemistry.—Ohio State Sun Dial.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed ..... $ .50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

There are several books of general interest in the UNIVERSITY STORE'S LENDING LIBRARY. Try some of these:

THE STORY OF PHILOSOPHY
By WILL DURANT

ASTRONOMY FOR EVERYBODY
By S. NEWCOMB

SHANDYGAFF
By CHRISTOPHER MORLEY
A collection of his best essays.

THE MEANING OF A LIBERAL EDUCATION
By E. D. MARTIN
Here is the true meaning of culture.

W. A. A. RALLY CHAIRMAN ANNOUNCES FINAL PLANS

Mildred Akins, '32, [illegible] W. A. A. Fall Rally, and [illegible] this event will take place [illegible] day, or, in case of rain [illegible] Plans for the rally include [illegible] off of finals in hockey, tennis and volleyball; awards [illegible] points; supper served out [illegible] bonfires.

A pipeful of good tobacco is the real smoke

TODAY, tomorrow, all the rest of your life, you can enjoy and keep on enjoying good tobacco in a good pipe.

"How can I pick a good pipe and how can I tell good tobacco?" you may ask. Who but you can answer? You'll know your own good pipe when you have [illegible] on it.

Edgeworth may be the [illegible] you're looking for. It has a distinctive flavor that [illegible] slow-burning coolness; [illegible] rich with the aroma of [illegible] burley blended just right. A pipeful of Edgeworth is the real smoke.

Why not try Edgeworth? You can buy it anywhere in the 15¢ tin—or, if you wish, write for a generous sample packet — free. Address: Larus & Bro. Co., 100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a combination of good tobaccos—selected carefully and blended especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes—15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.—Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

SPORTING NEWS

Kittens Battle Middlebury Frosh to a 13-13 Deadlock

Ken Smith Carries Punt 60 Yds. for First Touchdown—Ed Sowka Claims Two-thirds of Kitten Tackles—Midds Score on Forwards

FUMBLES PROVE COSTLY TO FRESHMEN'S HOPES

[illegible] Middlebury frosh battled to a 13 deadlock on Centennial field Saturday afternoon. [illegible] two-day downpour the field was unbelievably soggy and the [illegible]. Unfortunately this [illegible] favored the Blue and White [illegible] not at all, while the Kittens [illegible] exactly six times when [illegible] position, due no doubt to [illegible] to get the ball together with [illegible] the weather.

[illegible] consisted of the Vermont [illegible] pitted against the opposing [illegible] other line showing any [illegible] whatever. The tackling [illegible] on both sides, the tendency [illegible] dominating. The stellar [illegible] the defensive during the [illegible] afternoon was Eddie [illegible] Vermont fullback. Without [illegible] he completed two-thirds [illegible] Vermont tackles, blocking the [illegible] and coming in fast to [illegible] Middites on end runs.

[illegible] offensive Ed Saba and [illegible] Barlow were the fireworks, [illegible] holes in the Midd line [illegible] gains. Ken Smith and [illegible] starred offensively at [illegible] were weak on the defense. [illegible] Middlebury scores came on forward [illegible]. In fact, they tossed the ball [illegible] with reckless abandon all [illegible] completing practically every pass. [illegible] Smith, Kitten fullback, provided [illegible] sensational and outstanding play of the game by running back a punt [illegible] yards for the first yearling touchdown later, Ed Saba tied it up by [illegible] a 42-yard dash around end, [illegible] the day for the frosh.

[illegible] has only to bolster his [illegible] defense and strengthen his line [illegible] will be unbeatable. Delbert [illegible], guard, broke the rough [illegible] again to hurry forwards and [illegible] but his teammates seemed [illegible] to their posts.

[illegible] fumbles without doubt prevented the Kittens from amassing at [illegible] more touchdowns.

The [illegible] lookers, disgruntled, went [illegible] satisfied.

The lineups:

	MIDDLEBURY '34
[illegible] l.e.	Reid
[illegible] l.t.	Simmons
[illegible] l.g.	Ferrari
[illegible] Faucher c.	Blacker
[illegible] r.g.	Jocelyn
[illegible] r.t.	Watson, Hutton
[illegible] r.e.	Hickcox
[illegible] q.b.	Williams
[illegible] Kaskie l.h.	Anderson, Riccio
[illegible] r.h.b.	Fallon
[illegible] f.b.	Ferdon

ELIGIBILITY DEPARTMENT AFFORDS ATHLETES AID

[illegible] whose studies threaten to [illegible] under warning will be taken [illegible] the eligibility department [illegible] their becoming ineligible [illegible] consideration.

[illegible] Corbin, '31, manager of eligibility, described the process as one [illegible] up on athletes whose [illegible] below par and aiding them to [illegible] above the danger point.

[illegible] department has already secured [illegible] of all varsity and prospective men, will secure the [illegible] their courses and instructors by arrangement with these [illegible] will keep informed of the [illegible] condition of all athletes. [illegible] department secures tutors for [illegible] grades are below average. [illegible] an athlete received aid [illegible] department upon application [illegible] manager.

NOTICE

Press Club will hold a business meeting Friday, October 31, in 3 North College at 1.30 p.m.

Any co-ed having sufficient W. A. A. points to receive numerals, shields, blazers, or other honors, must hand her credits in to Isabel Warhurst by Tuesday, October 28.

[illegible]o, Bill, I hear you've been [illegible]

[illegible] but when the doctor told [illegible] asthma I breathed a lot [illegible]ns Stone Mill.

POST AND PRENTICE GET COACHING APPOINTMENT

Administration Formally Names Them to Basketball Mentors' Positions

Formal announcement from the offices of Pres. Guy W. Bailey and the Athletic Council confirm earlier reports of the appointment of two of Vermont's most prominent young alumni, A. T. Post, '27, and H. A. Prentice, '28, as coaches of freshman and varsity basketball respectively.

"Archie" Post, who is also coach of track and cross country, when an undergraduate on the hill was a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity and one of the most prominent members of the varsity basketball team for four years, when he shone at forward. He also earned laurels in track with the cinder joggers for three years and as a member of the cross country team for two. To cap these performances he received one of the outstanding honors on the hill by being named a member of Boulder.

"Bunny" Prentice was affiliated with the Delta Psi Fraternity and was prominent in military circles. As a member of the U. V. M. basket wielders for four years he gained prominent mention in eastern newspapers by his super-sensational play in the Yale tournament, where he starred at forward. His versatility is proven by his acquisition of letters in baseball and track. His senior year he was selected for the Boulder Society. For the past two summers he has attended the Harvard School of Physical Education and in his present capacity has greatly improved the physical education department at Vermont.

INTERFRAT TOURNAMENT NOW REACHING CLIMAX

Another semi-finalist in the interfraternity touch football tournament, which is now rapidly approaching a climax, will be decided on when the Owls and the Kappa Sigs meet in the second round of League B on the back campus this afternoon.

Although the Owls are an unknown quantity in the tournament, they are certain to meet with serious opposition from the Kappa Sigs, last year's champs, who piled up the largest score in this year's tourney when they trounced Zeta Chi 78-0 in the opening round of play.

The winner of this afternoon's contest will tackle the victor of the Phi Sigma Delta-Delta Psi match, scheduled for yesterday, for the right to represent League B in the finals for the all tournament championship.

League B's winning team will face either Sigma Phi or A. T. O. in the tournament finals. The final game in League A will be played tomorrow afternoon.

Sigma Phi has in "Fred" Tupper the "Sol" Metzger of the tourney. Tupper's passing has been spectacular for its accuracy and finesse. He is one of the greatest offensive threats to appear on back campus. "Brute" Billings, Tupper's backfield mate, whose speediness enables him to outdistance his opponents, will be at the receiving end of "Fred's" heaves. The defensive play of "Russ" Morse has been another feature of the Sig's play.

A. T. O. will open with a team which should give the Sigs a tough tussle. In Bond Burke and Blodgett the A. T. O.'s present a backfield which snatched a victory Thursday from the Phi Mu Delts. Baldwin, Gordon and the Mahoney brothers may also have plenty to offer.

Y. W. C. A. MEETS WITH COUNCIL TO MAKE PLANS

A meeting of all Y. W. C. A. members and the council was held Thursday evening after the Student Union examination for freshmen. Lillian Mount, '32, presided and installed the freshman representative, Daisy Putnam. Plans for the year were discussed and the committees for the Christmas Bazaar were chosen.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sporting Editor—

All the consolation the frosh got was a 13 to 13 tie with Middlebury. Coach Tully's yearlings clearly outclassed their rivals but the breaks were against them.

Earl Carlston, rated as the best forward passer at Penn, turned in his uniform after being reprimanded by Coach Wray.

Bert Harris, veteran guard at Rutgers, booted ninety-seven place kicks from a row between the crossbars without a miss. This beats the previous college record by forty kicks, which he made himself.

Ken Smith certainly shakes off his would-be tacklers running back those punts. One Midd frosh took a dive at him and got a good taste of Centennial Field.

Forward pass defense still shows no improvement and the Blue and White frosh took advantage of this weakness, scoring both their touchdowns through the air.

We are indeed pleased with the appointment of "Bunny" Prentice and "Archie" Post as coaches of varsity and frosh basketball. Our sincerest congratulations are offered them.

"Ev" Wilder, who led his teammates across the finish at Amherst, gave Hopper plenty to think about during the run. With a better knowledge of the course, Wilder would surely have registered a victory over him.

Coach "Archie" Post is to be congratulated for the showing of his harriers under adverse weather conditions and unfamiliarity with the course. They gave the Sabrinas a real battle to the end.

Six fumbles are plenty for one game. The disease became catching as soon as the Kittens were in sight of their opponents' goal and consequently many scoring opportunities were lost.

After his one play in the game, early in the second quarter, "Albie" Booth, the Eli dynamo, was carried off the field. He had just intercepted an Army pass on his 5-yard line.

"Ben" Ticknor, Harvard captain and all-American center, demonstrated why he was picked, by appearing in every one of the Crimson defensive stands.

Approximately 486,500 persons attended seven games on gridirons in various parts of the country. The largest attendance was at the Stanford-Southern California contest, played at Palo Alto, 88,000 looking on.

Found guilty of "recruiting and subsidizing" athletes, the University of Kansas was eliminated from the Big Six Conference after the year.

A. T. O. WINS BY SINGLE SAFETY'S MARGIN, 8-6

Defeats Phi Mu Delts in Close Game in Interfrat Football Tourney

A single safety was the margin of victory for A. T. O. when by a score of 8-6 it eliminated Phi Mu Delta from the interfraternity touch football tourney.

The teams were evenly matched and during most of the play it was anybody's game. Two quarters went scoreless, while the second half witnessed some of the fastest playing yet seen on back campus. A touchdown on a spectacular pass from Mahoney to Burke, which put A. T. O. ahead six points, was matched in the first minutes of the second half when a pass, Kendall to Neal, put the Phi Mu Delts on an equal footing.

The break came when a pass from center went over the receiver's head and before it could be retrieved Burke of A. T. O. fell on it behind the Phi Mu Delta line for the winning points.

Burke, Bond and Blodgett played a good game for A. T. O., while Neal, Dimon and Kendall featured for the Phi Mu Delts.

A. T. O. now advances to the finals of League A, to battle Sigma Phi for the privilege of meeting the winner in League B for the interfraternity title.

"She is fair,
She is sweet,
If only she had Smaller feet."

Gridsters Helpless Before Powerful Wildcat Attack

New Hampshire Piles Up Fifty-nine Points Against Catamounts As Wet Field and Rain Prevent Aerial Game at Durham

CLOSE SCORE DEFEATS HARRIERS AT AMHERST

Coach Pleased With Showing of Vermont Cross-country Team

Coach Archie Post displayed enthusiasm over the showing of his varsity harriers in their opening meet with Amherst over the latter's course where, by the close score of 22-33 they lost in an exciting meet to the Sabrina cross-country team.

Upon arising in the morning the boys were surprised to discover that a light snow had been falling which in turn developed into a light rain, all indications that the course was to be heavy that day.

At the back of the gun which was to send the men over the gruelling 4½ mile course, Hopper of Amherst took the lead while at his heels was "Ev" Wilder, small but packed with plenty of fight. Over hill and dale they went, the leaders holding on and the rest strewn out behind. Pounding along they entered the home stretch with Hopper finishing strong, ready to capture the gold medal followed by Wilder, who with a better knowledge of the course could have set the pace and run his main competitor to the ground. As it was he pushed his opponent into fast figures for the course.

To those unacquainted with the scoring of cross-country, the men receive the number of points corresponding to the place they finish. Thus a man winning fifth place would gain five points for his team.

Coach Post, when interviewed during the midst of his breakfast Sunday morning as to the showing of his charges, replied, "It was closer than I expected."

Results: First, Hopper (A.); second, Wilder (U. V. M.); third, Chase (A.); fourth, Hadley (U. V. M.); fifth, Morse (A.); sixth, Jardine (A.); seventh, Eddy (A.); eighth, Barker (U. V. M.); ninth, Varney (U. V. M.); tenth, Colburn (U. V. M.). Winning time: 25 minutes 58 seconds.

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM NOW GETTING STARTED

"The Women's Rifle team has lost only two matches since 1927 and last year they won the entire twenty matches fired," declared Sergeant Conner, who has coached the team for the past three years.

Last year those having high scores were D. Gurney, '30, 99.06; E. Robelen, '30, 98.6; G. Hubert, '31, 98.3; L. Walker, '33, 98.3; E. Pritchard, '31, 98.3; E. Stanton, '31, 98. In order to be enumerated in this list, the women must have fired in at least three-quarters of the matches held.

Dorothy Gurney, '30, won the rifle given for the highest score made last year and the year before it was won by Georgiana Hubert, '31. This year as previously a rifle will be presented to the girl receiving the highest score.

Officers elected for this year are as follows: Captain, Georgiana Hubert; Manager, Evelyn Stanton.

"We are contemplating joining the National Rifle Association," said Sergeant Conner. "The purpose of this organization is to promote rifle shooting among civilians. Membership may be obtained by affiliation of the entire club or of individuals interested."

The Women's Rifle team was first organized in 1921 under Sergeant Latner who conducted the team's activities for two years. In 1923 it was coached by a member of the Military department and for the next two years it was in charge of a civilian. From 1926-7 there was no team and since then it has been under the supervision of Sergeant Conner.

W. A. A. Field Day

Wednesday, October 29, has been set aside as W. A. A. field day if the weather permits. If the day is unfavorable the event will take place on Thursday or Friday. The final contests in tennis, hockey, volleyball, and archery will be held at this time. After the sports the co-eds will assemble at Grassmount for an outdoor feed, each class will have a bonfire and its members will sit around it. All the women of the University are urged to attend.

LONG RUNS EARN NEW HAMPSHIRE TOUCHDOWNS

Playing on a driving rain on a wet, soggy field, Vermont was helpless before a New Hampshire backfield which plowed through time and again to score 59 points against the Catamounts at Durham last Saturday.

Most spectacular was a 90-yard run around Vermont's left end, made from New Hampshire's 10-yard line, when Erlzabeth, right halfback, raced for a touchdown. All but one of the Wildcat touchdowns were made on long runs from beyond the 20-yard line.

New Hampshire early decided to abstain from a passing game, resorting to line plays on the offensive. The Catamount aerial attack, highly successful in earlier games, had no chance to develop Saturday.

Most of the scoring was done in the second half. Vermont's starting line was slightly altered from that of previous Saturdays. A newcomer to the backfield was Stew. Manning, who substituted for Heaton at half back.

Beverstock was New Hampshire's shining light, scoring three touchdowns, two on 20-yard runs and one on a 50-yard dash to the goal posts. Half a dozen others dashed out from the Wildcat backfield at various times to score for New Hampshire.

VERMONT	NEW HAMPSHIRE
Tilley (Rugg), l.e. l.e., Ryder (Sterling)
M. Cohen (Aronson), l.t.
	l.t., Learmonth (Clapp)
H. Cohen (Mayness), l.g.
	l.g., Roche (Wageman)
Davis (Dinsmoor), c. c., Hawkes (Hayes)
Donaldson (Blakely), r.g. r.g., Theodos (Abbiatti) Farmer (Park), r.t. r.t., Robinson (Wilson)
Wood (Park), r.e. r.e., Hagstrom (Donovan)
Winant (Wadsworth), q.b.
	q.b., Wood (Palmer)
Jay (Dedell), l.h.
	l.h., McGowan (J. Slack)
Heaton (Manning), r.h. r.h., Eustis (Elizabeth)
Collins, f.b.
	f.b., Beverstock (R. Slack)

ANNOUNCE ALL CLASS VOLLEY BALL TEAMS

Volley ball teams have been chosen from each class. The managers are as follows: Freshman, Helen Fogg; sophomore, Margaret Crane; junior, Dorothy Humphrey, and captain, Winifred Graham; senior, Vera Chadburn.

Members of the teams:

Freshman—Helen Roberts, Ruth Martin, Edith Rogers, Jennie Scutaken, Helen Fogg, Alice Hoyt, Helen Rothwell, Alma Sauseville, Ruby Jennes, Virginia Yewell (sub.), Eleanor Walker (sub.), Ruth Reynolds (sub.).

Sophomore—Mary Pettes, Ethelda Miller, Ora Armstrong, Leah Gowen, Margaret Tower, Georgia Nichols, Charlotte Odell, Shirley Nichols, Frances Simon, Helen Allen (sub.), Margaret Crane (sub.), Rhoena Barnes (sub.).

Junior—Mildred Aiken, Winifred Graham, Doris Humphrey, Cora Humphrey, Jessie Minckler, Elizabeth Smith, Helen Eastman, Lillian Mount, Katrina Mann (sub.), Mary Morris (sub.), Louise Pierson (sub.).

Senior—Vera Chadburn, Helen Dragg, Dorothy Nash, Marjorie Bracken, Jane Corwin, Dorothy Fowler, Natalie Huxley, Charlotte Gilmore, Lillian Andrews.

Dramatic Club try-outs for class plays took place yesterday afternoon, Monday, in 3 North College with Professors Aiken, Dean and Lantsch as the judges. The plays chosen for the junior and sophomore classes by the selecting committee are: "The Rehearsal" by Christopher Morley, and "Many Happy Returns of the Day" by Katherine Clay Knox. According to an announcement made by the president of the society the casts chosen will be posted Tuesday morning on the "Y" room bulletin board.

Classes in volley ball may be made up either Thursday or Friday. No credit is received with cuts.

Soccer or hiking will take the place of the indoor winter classes beginning next Monday. If weather permits these sports will be the physical education work for two weeks.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS ELECTIONS WILL TAKE PLACE DECEMBER SIXTH

Apply Before November 10 to Receive $2,000 Stipend Awarded for All-round Qualities

[illegible] will be held [illegible] Library. The [illegible] scholarships [illegible] scholarships [illegible] scholarships

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1930 — NUMBER 12

FRESHMAN MEN REFUSE TO VOTE ON RULES AS BOULDER CALLS MEETING

Class Assembly Breaks Up In Disorder After Both Sides State Their Case

STUDENT UNION SAYS IT HAS TAKEN NO ACTION

... and counter-argument ... to a discussion of the ... and indignation was ... the paddling party held ... morning at a meeting of ... freshman men with three ... of Boulder Tuesday.

... S. Morgan, '34, intro- ... Stanley Smith, '31, repre- ... Boulder, who called for ... report of the rules. He ... the freshmen with the ... that because the rules which ... to obey are much less ... degrading than the rules ... the class of 1931, as ... present class should be ... cooperate.

... Morgan, whose name had ... list of freshmen in a re- ... tion abolishing the rules, ... he believed the class to ... insincere in the signing of ... tion.

... easy to get up a peti- ..., said, "and it is even more ... by a group of men, many ... place their signature on it ... friends are doing it. ... fourths of the class will ... and they will have to ... rules whether they will or ...

... there was a storm of pro- ... questions were put. Why ... rules? Why traditional haz- ... Why should Vermont societies ... freshmen to obey rules and pad- ... when other institutions are ... them? Why should the ... men keep rules when the ... have abolished them? The ... will take men whether ... the rules or not.

The Paddling Party

... questions were answered by ... men from the class, in- ... president. Much ire was ... when one man brought up the ... party of the preceding Fri- ... The class as a whole expressed ... approval of the system of ... Society, which, they said, ... advantage of the freshmen by ... before them as military ... paddle freshmen who did ... at the paddling party ... days before.

... Corbin, of Boulder, in re- ... that Boulder had arranged ... Black before the mili- ... that towards the end of the ... should turn the control of ... over to R. J. Maynes, ... could keep the men steady ... and dismiss them at his dis- ...

... freshmen called for a vote ... subject. When told by the ... that it would have no effect, ... anized and informal denun- ... the rules was resumed. ... refused to submit the ques- ... and the freshmen left ... in confusion after accom- ... nothing except for demon- ... indignation at the rules ... imposed by Gold Key ... direction of Boulder.

Student Union Statement

... following statement was issued ... Margaret Stanley, '31, ... of the Women's Student ...

... Cynic of Tuesday, October ... stated that the Women's ... had incorporated into ... a rule refusing in the ... that any sophomore class ... freshman week for in- ... I wish to correct that ... to say that no such by- ... been voted.

... conference committee, ... five faculty members and ... met before and not ... freshman women voted to ... rules, this meeting being ... continuation of a similar ... held last spring. The ... rules committee was pres- ... some discussion voted ... judgment day, with the un- ... that a recommendation ... would be made by them for its per-

(Continued on page 4)

CLUB NAMES ACTORS IN WOMEN'S CLASS PLAYS

Wilma Spencer, president of the Dramatic Club announces the survivors of the tryouts for the class plays as follows:

Junior: Gwendolyn Slater, Dorothy Sweeney, Hildur Wilde, Margaret Mower, Katherine Skinner and Theodora Wakefield; sophomores—Dorine Lee, Marion Kiel, Antoinette Hubbard, Hazel Dinsmore, Dorothy Murphy and Dorotha Edwards; freshmen—Elaine Burdette, Ruth Wood, Alice Heisen and Elizabeth Woodward.

"The Twelve Pound Look" by Sir James Barrie has been chosen as the freshman play.

LISMAN LEADS ROUND-TABLE DISCUSSION ON POWER OF THE PRESS

Professors Gifford, Dykhuizen and Dean Participate in John Dewey Club Meeting

"News is anything selected for treatment by a newspaper which is treated in such a manner as to interest its readers," declared Louis Lisman, president of the John Dewey Club, as he introduced the topic for discussion, "The Power of the Press," at its opening meeting last Tuesday evening.

"Propaganda," continued Mr. Lisman, "which, with news, is another phenomenon of journalism, is first, the advertising and education of opinion, and second, an attempt to graft upon the reader certain opinions. The manner in which a newspaper advances its propaganda," he explained, "is by 'playing up,' coloring or even falsifying news, and to a far greater extent by the use of its editorial columns to influence opinion."

As the meeting was a round table discussion, Julius Perelman, '31, took advantage of the occasion and asked the following question: Have newspaper editors any code of ethics to guide them? Professor Dean of the English department undertook to answer:

"Decent-minded men always have a distinct code of ethics," he said, "or they are forced upon a newspaper by its reading public. It couldn't last if it didn't have it."

What is an Editorial

"What is the definition of an editorial?" next queried Mr. Perelman.

In the first place the assembly decided that an editorial was an expression of opinion, opinion upon anything, not necessarily on a controversial subject.

A Fact-finding Organ

"In its service as a fact-finding organ," declared Professor Gifford in explaining the psychological effect of a newspaper upon its readers, "the newspaper exercises strong influence by the selection of the facts presented. The matter of emphasis," explained the professor, "or the amount of space given to sensational news and that given to social and civic interests has a most subtle and unsuspected influence."

At this juncture Paul LaCrosse, '32, wanted to know the influence that the average paper has because of its editorials.

It was quite obvious to the club that a newspaper tends to stabilize the opinions of its readers. Some journals of opinion were mentioned and it was brought to the attention of the club that they have a strong influence upon the thinking people who read them, even though that influence may be quite narrowed by the paper's viewpoint.

The discussion then merged into a somewhat general conversation. Mr Lisman averred that some opinions are ingrained prejudices due to environment and education. Mr LaCrosse attempted to show that a newspaper's attitude may be only an extension of the popular attitude, and therefore could not alter opinion.

Harry Butman, '33, introduced the idea of the subjective influence of the newspaper. He argued that the printed word has great influence, and even brings a new angle to one's own work. Someone else, taking a different attitude, insisted that the reputation of the newspaper must be taken into account. This trend of thought quite naturally precipitated a discussion

(Continued on page 8)

VIRGIL, A POET OF THE AGES, WILL BE SUBJECT OF UNIVERSITY LECTURE

Prof. Marbury Ogle of Ohio State, Formerly Member of U. V. M. Faculty, To Honor Roman Poet

OCCASION IS 2,000TH YEAR SINCE POET'S BIRTH

Prof. Marbury B. Ogle will deliver the first University lecture of the season, speaking on "Virgil, a Poet of the Ages," next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the University gymnasium. Admission is free, and the public is invited to attend.

Prof. L. M. Prindle, head of the Latin department, recalled Pliny's remark on Verginius in connection with Ogle's lecture: "His good fortune was crowned at the end by having the most eloquent of eulogists."

But Virgil does not need a eulogist," declared Professor Prindle. "It is twenty centuries now since Virgil was born, and it is but fitting that the first speaker of the year should honor Virgil on a day just twenty days more than two millenniums after that poet's birth."

Professor Ogle

Marbury Bladen Ogle is a native of Maryland, a graduate and a doctor of philosophy of Johns Hopkins University. He is a pupil of Gildersleeve, the greatest Greek scholar America has produced, and of Kirby Flower Smith U. V. M., '84, the greatest Latinist ever sent out by Vermont. Professor Ogle came to Vermont in 1908 and was head of the department of Latin until 1925, when he was called to be head of the department of Classical Languages at the Ohio State University.

To quote Professor Prindle:

"There are Latinists in this country who know more; there may be two or three who have more subtle minds. But I know no teacher of Latin who better combines an ability to interest and to inspire with a sure and sane appreciation of the things that matter, whether they be of this world or the next."

FROSH WOMEN TO HOLD DEBATE TRYOUTS TODAY

Tryouts for the women's freshman debating team will take place today at four o'clock in the Vermonters' club house. The subject to be debated is "Resolved that Mathematics be made an elective in the liberal arts course."

Each woman will deliver a five minute talk on either side of the question. All first year women interested in debating are urged to attend, and also any sophomores who have tried out previously. This year the winner of the freshman-sophomore debate will be awarded the cup which is now on display in the Billings Library.

The women's volley ball teams are composed of the following girls:

Seniors: Chadburn, Drugg, Nash, Bracker, Corwin, Fowler, Hawley, Gilmore, and Andrews.

Juniors: Akins, Graham, Humphreys, C. Humphrey, Minckler, Brennan, Smith, Eaglionis, and Mount.

Sophomores: Petras, Miller, Armstrong, Gowan, Tower, Nichols, G., Nichols, S. Odell, and Sinon.

Freshmen: Roberts, Martin, Rogers, Scutakes, Fogg, Hoyt, Rockwell, Sausville, and Jeness.

Class tennis teams have been chosen as follows:

Seniors: Dorothy Nash and Eleanor Koenig, with Julia Housley as substitute.

Juniors: Winifred Graham and Cornelia Baylies with Janet Miller as substitute.

Sophomores: Janice Stannard and Elizabeth Eckhard with Esther Fish man as substitute.

Freshmen: Alice Gunn and Elaine Burdette, with Jane Cognette and Olga Searles as substitutes.

The sophomores came out victorious in a recent match with the freshmen the resultant score being 6-1, 2-6, 9-7.

The next match is seniors versus juniors, Tuesday afternoon at two.

The final match will be played Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

MEDIC PROF. RECEIVES DISTINGUISHED HONOR

Dr. John B. Wheeler, professor emeritus of surgery, was made a member of the Board of Governors of the American College of Physicians, at a recent meeting in Philadelphia. Ten new graduates of the College of Medicine of the University were elected fellows of the society.

The six elected to membership and the years of their graduation from the Medical College are: Dr. E. Douglas McSweeney, 1919, Burlington; Dr. [illegible] Adriance, Lyon Exploration; Dr. John H. Woodruff, 1905, Barre; Dr. Alfred Blackhall, 1918, Schenectady, N. Y.; Dr. Francis G. Riley, 1909, Jamaica, N. Y.; and Dr. Thomas F. Corriden, 1920, Northampton, Mass.

Dr. Wheeler, new member of the Board of Governors, was graduated from the University in 1876.

FROSH WILL ASSEMBLE TODAY IN OLD CHAPEL TO RECEIVE THEIR BIDS

R. H. Cowles and Professor Carroll to Address Freshmen at This Final Stage of Rushing

This afternoon the fourth and final phase of the fraternity rushing will take place. The freshmen will gather in the Old Mill Chapel at 4:00 p.m. to receive bids from the eleven men's fraternities. Delegates from Lambda Iota, Sigma Phi, Delta Psi, Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Nu, Phi Mu Delta, Zeta Chi, Sigma Delta, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon will be present to give out the bids.

After all are assembled and before the bids are given out, Richard H. Cowles, president of the Interfraternity Council, will give a short talk on this phase of fraternity rushing, pledging. Professor Carroll, who is not affiliated with any fraternity represented here and is therefore competent to give advice that favors no one in particular, will give a short advisory talk and a general outline of the rules as regards pledging.

Frosh Adjourn

Immediately following these two speeches the freshmen will adjourn to the next room where they will receive their bids.

7. At 4.00 p.m. on Friday, October 31, following the last rushing date the members of the Conference shall meet and bring all their invitations in sealed and addressed envelopes, said meeting to be held in the room in the Old Mill designated by the president of the Conference. Within each envelope shall be only the printed form of the invitations properly filled out and an unsealed envelope with the address of the inviting fraternity upon it. The invitations shall then be delivered by the respective representatives of the different fraternities in conference assembled to the freshmen presenting themselves before said Conference. In a room adjoining the Conference room, each freshman shall fill out the blanks, "I accept," or "I do not accept your invitation to membership"; and shall then put each invitation in the envelope addressed to the inviting fraternity and return same to the Conference room.

On the day of pledging, when the invitations are being given out, fraternity men will remain in their houses.

Every invitation shall be in writing and upon printed forms furnished by the secretary of the Conference; invitations not accepted shall be returned. This does not apply after pledging day.

8. Every pledge shall be valid for a period of seven months unless rescinded by the pledging fraternity.

Any fraternity directly concerned with a person who is pledged at another college, but before being initiated transfers to Vermont, must ratify or disclaim such pledge within ten days after the arrival of said pledgee. The fraternity may ratify or disclaim such pledge by reporting same to the president of the Conference.

9. All pledges shall wear buttons unless pledging shall be declared irregular by the Faculty Council they shall be strictly honored by all fraternities. It is herewith expressly ruled that the Faculty Council alone shall have power to declare a pledge irregular or unlawful.

(Continued on page 6)

METCALF HOLDS TRYOUT FOR FALL COLLEGE PLAY "THE QUEEN'S HUSBAND"

Play, Work of Robert E. Sherwood, to be Presented Here Sometime Late This Fall

PRODUCTION A COMEDY OF ROYAL FAMILY LIFE

Prof. John P. Metcalf has been holding tryouts for the fall college play "The Queen's Husband," by Robert Emmet Sherwood which will be presented at a date not yet definitely decided. These tryouts were held last Wednesday and yesterday in the Old Mill, North College. The cast will be announced in Tuesday's issue.

The Play

"The Queen's Husband" is a clever presentation of royal life with the characteristics of American family life, or perhaps American family life in a royal setting. Mr. Sherwood has made the most of a plot which like most plots has a rather familiar sound. And perhaps that ring is intentional, so that the real truths of the play should show up all the more strongly.

A king in a constitutional monarchy with all the time-honored privileges of royalty as expressed in Erle's speech to the Liberal leader in act two. "I have always been prompt at all ceremonies and official functions. My public speeches have been brief and in perfect taste. I have appeared presentable on dress parade. My home life has been above reproach. What else could I have done to fulfill the obligations to the people?" and a king moreover, with a wife of the society leader, pseudocultural, extra energetic type, perhaps modeled on the well known Queen Marie, such a king is not a free, strong man, and great natural capabilities can easily be hidden in him. But occasionally, even in the most adverse circumstances, ability will show through. How he handles the revolution, how he gets rid of Northrup, the undesirable ambitious military figure, how he accomplishes the marriage of his daughter to the man of her choice, all indicate a rare humanity and even greatness.

But the queen, who fortuitously visits America for two months, too short a time, is the greatest burden of this royal man. More accurate portraiture of a certain type of woman has seldom been done and it is a type which is unfortunately too common.

In Pellman, the radical liberal leader, the dreaming yet active college professor we have a type of man who gains power all too seldom, and it is a noteworthy achievement on King Eric's part to get him into power and at the same time not to antagonize the queen.

Romantics

There runs throughout the play a minor love strain, the romantic attachment of the Princess Anne and Frederic Granton, the king's secretary for each other capped as befits a play not of a deep nature, by their marriage. To accomplish this wedding the king uses his power as head of both state and church. An extract is not out of place here.

(The princess and Freddie are unaware of the king's plan. Freddie has just come in, and the lovers are in each others' arms.)

King: May I interrupt? Will you please look this way? . . . Frederick, do you take this woman for your lawful wife you do? . . . Anne, do you take this man for your lawful husband you do? . . . Do you promise to love, honor and cherish you do? . . . Do you promise to love, honor and obey you do? (He puts his own ring on Anne's finger, touch-

(Continued on page 4)

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

The Vermont Cynic

Members of the New England Collegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor

Associate Editors

Dramatics Editor
Fitzgerald, '31

Feature Editor
Edmour A. Germain, '31

Sports Editors

Women's Associate Editor

Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Margaret Mower, '32
Margaret Ann Martin, '32
Hope Randlett, '32

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers
G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Published semi-weekly during the college year
All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the room office or telephoned to 3681 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all matters pertaining to the Editorial to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Entered for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 October 31, 1930 No. 12

IN VIRGIL'S HONOR

It is appropriate indeed that the University of Vermont, which [illegible] in the collegiate world, should be the celebration of the Bimillennium of Virgil's birth.

It is fortunate indeed that Dr. Marbury Ogle should deliver the address on that occasion. Chester Ogle studied under one of the University's most distinguished scholars, and later earned distinction himself as head of the Latin department at Vermont. Since 1925 Professor Ogle has taught at Ohio State University.

Professor Ogle's reputation as a scholar is a wide one. The [illegible] is rare indeed: "There are [illegible] in this country who know more, there may be two or three who have more subtle minds. But I know no teacher of Latin who better combines an ability to interest and to inspire with a sure and fine appreciation of the things that matter, whether they be of this world or the next."

Vermont today is one of two universities which still awards the bachelor degree in arts only to such students as have completed a college course in Greek. The literary-scientific course, which requires college Latin for the award of the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, ranks with the commerce and economics course as the most popular curricula in the undergraduate colleges of the University.

This situation is peculiar to Vermont and stamps the University as an outstanding exponent of the classics.

Rarely has the relative value of money in other nations, as compared with our own country, been brought home more forcibly than in the letter from the settlement in the Belgian Congo to the Vermont Christian Association which contributed to its support a year and a half ago.

The settlement, which centers about the Congo Institute, has enlisted the aid of two Vermont alumni, who appealed to their alma mater to lend financial assistance to their work in the Katanga.

The students took responded, but were surprised when the Association declared the campaign closed after some four hundred dollars had been raised. Little did they realize how far $391.91 will go in Congo Institute, Kaumbe Kinda, Katanga, Kongo Belge; how much it will buy to continue with the story.

The letter, printed in the news columns, tells how the money is building two stone houses and another large new house, is helping to support two native teachers, is buying medicines, is encouraging agriculture and education, and is meeting the general expenses of the Institute.

One of the new buildings will be called the Vermont House. It should be a matter of pride to us that the name of Vermont has penetrated to the innermost parts of the Dark Continent and that we can now boast a Vermont in Africa.

Thus has been added another feather to the cap of the Vermont Christian Association, which, in every way, is becoming more and more indispensable to the campus.

DEWEY CLUB DISCUSSES POWER OF THE PRESS

(Continued from page 1)

concerning the influence of tabloid publications.

A Question of Crime

The meeting was most undecided as to whether crime and scandal should be suppressed in the newspaper. Professor Fechhuizen, giving his version, declared that if the purpose of a newspaper was to print crime he would not suppress crime and scandal. But if the newspaper were concerned only in the promotion of the social good, he would hesitate to print certain kinds of news.

As to the effect of printing news of crime demoralizing, some denied it. Professor Dean informed the meeting that young people's publications will not print anything pertaining to crime.

The question wanted to know what the editorial policy of a paper should be.

One speaker declared that it should take the form of a searchlight and ferret out the shady places, that it should be corrective and raise the general standards. Edmour Germain, '31, asserted that the function of the editor should be interpreting the news of the issue. Ben Rand, '31, on the other hand, argued that the editor should bring down into the vernacular his attitude on affairs of the day.

General discussion closed the meeting.

Boulder Straw Vote

A straw vote on "the editorial policy" of the Cynic was conducted on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. No definition was given on the ballot of "editorial policy."

All ballots were required to be signed. The results of the voting were not known as the Cynic went to press.

FACULTY COLUMN

As [illegible] request from the editor of The Cynic that I write this week a column of "faculty comment" brooks no refusal even though the copy must be in by "tomorrow" and "to-morrow is not far off. "I have but time" and whether I should, like Franklin, write a chapter of [illegible] with a chapter upon whiteness, in order to keep up the appearance of composing," or ought to discuss a few trivial topics about which a problem to solve be found, I quickly allows no delay as well as no refusal, and, perforce, I grab the first likely looking [illegible] that presents itself. As yet I have the quarry not in the tin of its wall. It may yet escape but I hope to return [illegible] with the right answer. I think.

It is of a subject dear to the hearts of Cynics, one feels, and it has also a certain timeliness in connection with the recent promulgation of senior reading lists which supplant the senior essays and senior debates which for [illegible] years have terrified the hearts and paralyzed the faculties of both writers and readers and speakers and auditors. The new senior reading requirement should be joyfully hailed as a relief from former torments although it is really intended to fill a much more important need—namely, the need of awakening the minds of college students to the realization of their opportunities and obligations in the reading of good literature.

It is apparent that students as a whole do not form the reading habit in college, that however faithful they may be in the performance of set tasks, they do not catch the real savour of that "still quiet air of delightful studies" which persists down through the years and should be a distinguishing characteristic of the college bred.

The lack seems to be universal. In educational publications during the last few years there has been much discussion of "adult education" or "continuing education for the college graduate." The idea has been fostered by the American Association of University Women and very slowly the colleges have come to realize that their graduates have not all been so "definitely educated" as had been expected. In a considerable number of institutions consistent and elaborate schemes for the encouragement of alumni education have been formulated. Such topics as "Our Education—What Are We Doing With It?" and "Contemporary Literature—What Are We Reading?" have been discussed in alumni gatherings, and in some instances colleges have furnished reading lists to reawaken and guide interest in intellectual pursuits. Clearly something is amiss and, as I have tried to indicate, extreme measures have been taken in some quarters to mend the fault.

It would probably be fruitless to speculate here on the reasons for this condition, to ask whether there is something lacking in our college methods or whether the rapid multiplication of student activities is at the bottom of the unquestioned neglect of reading. However, it may be profitable to state what seems a self-evident truth, that it is nothing short of deplorable "when young people spend three or four years of the most impressionable years of their lives in close proximity to fine collections of books and yet leave college utterly ignorant of many works supposedly familiar to every well educated man and woman."

Will you allow me to offer a few detached remarks at this time on the value of independent reading? That these observations may not be held as the outpouring of a misguided enthusiast making his solitary moan I will try to note also what some good and wise men have said.

A casual and hasty turning of the pages of history and biography can not fail to reveal that reading has always been the delight of the world's choicest spirits. To call a man "well read" is one of the most laudatory expressions of commendation. The "well read" man is respected, his words carry weight, his opinions are sound. It is not to be otherwise, for he has communed with the wittiest and wisest whom the world has known; what they have seen, he sees; and what they have felt he, too, feels. It is with reading as with listening to music. As Clutton Brock remarks, "when we hear a sympnony of Beethoven, we are for the moment Beethoven; and we ourselves are enriched forever by the fact that we have for the moment been Beethoven."

Although the external conditions of life are continually changing, the essential facts of human existence still remain the same. It is necessary to know these in order to be even moderately successful and decently happy, and for the ordinary mortal there seems to be no better way of learning them in all their phases than in books. The testimony of biography and [illegible] observation bear out this surmise. "I would have plenty of [illegible]," says Lowell in his interesting Books and Libraries. It is no insignificant fact that eminent men have always loved their Petrarch, whose example, whether for emulation or avoidance is never so poignant as when presented to us in a stirring personality.

Besides being of practical advantage, reading is also a pleasure. It is not hard work, though the attitude of most present-day students seems to show that they think the contrary. To find this pleasure, however, a reader must approach a good book in the right spirit. He must be content to read leisurely with many a side excursion. He must try to answer the question, "Why did the author take such pains to say all he has?" Doing this forges a bond of sympathy between the author and the reader which grows closer and closer as one turns from chapter to chapter. Says Emerson, in The American Scholar, "It is remarkable the character of the pleasure we derive from the best books. They impress us with the conviction that one nature wrote and the same reads. We read the verses of one of the great English poets of Chaucer, of Marvell, of Dryden, with the most modern joy,—with a pleasure, I mean, which is in great part caused by the abstraction of all time from their verses. There is some awe mixed with the joy of our surprise when this poet, who lived in some past world, two or three hundred years ago, says that which lies close to my own soul, that which I had well nigh thought and said."

The reading of good books is all this and much more. It is an intellectual stimulus which affords constant growth. The habit once formed in the leisure hours of youth will be a solace later in life when disappointment or cares oppress. Mark this—"Now because the soul of Man is not by its own Nature or observation furnisht with sufficient materials to work upon; it is necessary for it to have continual recourse to learning and books for fresh supplies, so that the solitary life will grow indigent, and be ready to starve without them; but if once we be thoroughly engnged in the Love of Letters, instead of being wearied with the length of any day, we shall only complain of the shortness of our whole life.

"O vita, stulto longa, sapienti brevis."

"O Life, long to the Fool, short to the wise!"

If these things are true, and there seems to be no gainsaying them, is it not a pity for students in college to neglect the opportunity which they have? Think of the pathetic condition of a junior who made it his boast that he had been in the library but once in all his tree years here. What makes the case more pitiable is that the man had no books of his own other than those required for class use. I ask, has such a man, who by his indifference shows all too plainly he has not yet learned to read, the right to be included among those whom the outside world considers educated men by virtue of their degrees?

This may be an exceptional case, but one has reason to suspect that there are many here now in nearly as bad a plight. Although our college life is full to overflowing with "activities" heaped on one another (one cannot refrain from wondering how many have any real claim to consideration and how many could not be sanely done away with), it is no excuse to plead lack of time for not learning to read. Most people in college have more time than they will ever have again. Think of the time that is wasted to the vexation of body and spirit. Is it necessary, for instance, to attend every "movie"? Is it necessary to go to every dance to which one may beg, buy or steal admission? Is it necessary to join the Church Street parade every Saturday night or, with more zeal than thought, take part in every entertainment, sport, and club to which one is eligible? It is a privilege and a duty for one to take an enthusiastic part in some college activities, to mingle with his fellows, to have as good time as is reasonably proper, but where there are so many things to take one's thought and energy one must choose only a few for which one cares most. Some words of Abraham Cowley may well be remembered: "The summ of this is, that for the uncertain hopes of some Conveniences we ought not to defer the execution of a work that is necessary, especially, when the use of these things which we would stay for, may otherwise be supplyed, but the loss of time, never recovered." Reading is "a work that is necessary."

Once again listen to Lowell: "A college training is an excellent thing; but after all the better part of every man's education is that which he gives himself, and it is this that a good library should furnish the opportunity and the means."

Take it to heart. One comes to college not for mere information, for, although much is made [illegible] of information, it is [illegible] of itself alone but for [illegible] the task affords one [illegible] want is not learning [illegible] that is, the power [illegible] answer its true end [illegible] intelligence and a [illegible] tellectual sympathies.

Can such opinions [illegible] aside? Can one [illegible] is necessary?"

J. [illegible]

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the [illegible]

Giving the lie to [illegible] effect that it has [illegible] combined with the [illegible] something of the kind is to make its appearance on the campus this week. [illegible] time of the appearance of the Cynic. It was [illegible] or ready for distribution twenty-four hours [illegible] only request that the [illegible] make use of its services, place the blame for the [illegible] the yearbook where it is certain that his friends as well as those who do will readily understand. Individual is due to these individuals and to find their pictures [illegible] cannot in justice appear [illegible] are errors or misstatements found, the editor [illegible] considering that more than [illegible] erable share of the information [illegible] be garnered from [illegible] sources during his summer vacation.

Believing that the [illegible] ter yearbook" idea has been [illegible] mensely overdone in the [illegible] tor has striven to attain [illegible] simplicity and interest [illegible] than the usual one of [illegible] and ornateness. Some of the [illegible] unnecessary of the features [illegible] omitted.

In closing, he requests [illegible] who have so often in the past [illegible] expressed their anxiety [illegible] ress of the Ariel shall meet [illegible] laudable interest, giving [illegible] logical form of expression [illegible] the sales campaign.

Very sincerely,
GEORGE R. BRUSH [illegible]
Editor-in-Chief.

To the Editor of the Cynic:

Tuesday afternoon, at 4 [illegible] writer attended the meeting of the class of 1934, held for the purpose of deciding whether the freshman rules were to be respected or repealed.

In observing and taking note of the proceedings, that which most impressed the undersigned was the manifest lack of cohesion, or ability to reach an agreement, exhibited on many points. Some men demanded that the rules be abolished, while others called for their observance, but one and all made a hubbub that one could scarcely hear, let alone come to a rational decision. When Jack Morgan, the class president, asked if a vote was to be taken he met with acclamation on one side and was howled down with equal fervor on the other. This is no way in which to conduct such an important meeting, for unless some definite decision is reached, and that very soon, the freshman class will be in a worse condition than before.

In concluding a letter that has grown rather long, the writer would like to call his classmates' attention to the fact that the "Declaration" should be vigorously backed up by the entire freshman class, otherwise it will fall miserably, and the penalties will then really commence. Punishments at military will be the mildest the class can expect in the way of penalties. Are the women, who have relished the stupid and useless [illegible] "hell week" freshman rules, content in a class by themselves, to look upon us from a lofty [illegible] pinnacle of modernity? No! Let us with the ancient and time worn [illegible] and regulations; let the rules [illegible] take their rightful place in the [illegible]

RICHARD R. M[illegible]

To the Editor of the Cynic:

Though not a Vermonter I would like to contribute the first [illegible] wards a fund for placing a [illegible] marking over the grave of [illegible] in a Philadelphia cemetery [illegible] his remains back to the [illegible] University he founded.

I believe if the students and alumni realized that the [illegible] Allen was unmarked and [illegible] Philadelphia that [illegible] would be contributed in [illegible] to give more tangible [illegible] respect due a valued [illegible]

I am also informed [illegible] Peach of Norwich that [illegible] driven from Vermont [illegible] who had despoiled him [illegible] and left him penniless [illegible] to return. He died in [illegible] neglect while other [illegible] in Vermont divided [illegible] and in spite of this [illegible] handed down spotless [illegible] ent day posterity.

WILL[illegible]

In the Days of '74: An Alumnus Reminisces at Large of Early Days

Edward P. Morse, '79, in the Vermont Alumni Weekly

...ful day in June, 1874, ...nt of flowers and fresh ... came in through the open ... group of candidates for ... class was gathered in ...room of the Old Mill ... learned dust within ... the fragrance from ...

... trepidation we faced the ... not unfriendly, eyes of ...odrich, who looked at us ...edge of bushy whiskers ...ed the larger part of ...al face. We were from ..., and some of us rather ...ed for college work.

...inations. I recollect dis... things. In Homer's Iliad ... the last passage I was ...ate. Two lines further ... have been hopelessly ... Greek geography I located ... Syracuse in New York ..., being a native of ... I was passed without ... the kindness of my ex...

... which I entered, that ...about thirty members at ... four or five of them ...entire student body, ex... the medical department, ...out eighty. Of these, ...ith were young women. ... women to receive diplo... University were then ... class, and graduated in ...te of the high scholarship ... by most of the girls, per... of it, co-education was ...upon by many of the boys ...tal experiment.

Ten on Faculty

...lty consisted of ten mem... the army officer who ...ed to teach military tactics, ... military drill. Of these ...half had been recruited from ... of the ministry, and sup... their modest salaries by ... as they had opportunity. A ... occurred in the faculty ... student days, which ex... from 1874 to 1879, a year hav... lost by trouble with my ... members of the faculty ...member as my instructors ...dent Buckham, and Profes... Torrey, Goodrich, Perkins, ... and Colyer. Two or three ...afterward went to other in... and the names of nearly ...w starred. So far as I can ... one member of the faculty ...me held a doctor's degree, ...se of his Ph.D. was confined ...talogue.

...were no assistant professors, ... or tutors. We had the ... the classroom of contact ...ture scholars, and, for the ... experienced teachers. The ... personal influence, and in... to scholarship, figured large... education.

...niversity's equipment was ... and its accommodations crude, ... the standards of today; but ... was strong and its disci... ough. According to the oft... um of the late President ... had all the essentials of ... college. "My idea of a ... said, "is a log with Mark ... at one end and James Gar... other." Equipment cannot ... place of personality, nor ... make up for the lack of per... ence.

...were no options in the courses ... If one were a candidate for ... of Bachelor of Arts he had ... mathematics for two years, ... and Greek, one or both, for ...ars, one year of German, two ... French, three of natural sci... and one year of mental, moral ...ical sciences. There were no ... and no evasions. If one did ... Greek, certain substitutes ...owed, and the degree of B.S. ...ed for A.B. The little group ...ering, chemical and agricul... had each their courses ... them. In the agricultural ... I recall only one student ...ars. Scientific agriculture ... come into its own. The ... of the students pursued the ...lassical course, including ... Latin. The idea that a col...tion should teach one how ... house, cook a dinner, or ... business had not pene... walls of the U V M. Its ... supposed to have the ...stomach, and mental train... and master whatever ... or trade they might ... choose.

Compulsory Chapel

...ttendance was compulsory ... a week, six mornings and ...on. Whatever else might ... program there was always ...cripture lesson and prayer. ... two exceptions the mem... faculty regularly attended, ... in turn for a week at a time ... the services.

...were no organized athletics. ...he fall term football was a favorite form of exercise, and anyone who wished took part in it. There was no "eleven." A game between the freshman and sophomore classes was an annual event, and all male members of each class, unless physically disqualified, were in the teams. The more players a class could muster, other things being equal, the better the chance of success. Baseball received some attention in the spring term from those who cared for it, but there was no regular "nine." No intercollegiate contests were held in either football or baseball. Basketball, hockey, tennis and other outdoor games, common enough in college and high school now, were not so much as named among us.

The activities of the college were nearly all carried on under one roof, that of the old main building, with its huge glistening tin-covered dome. The remodeling of this ... its present form, by removing the dome, deprived the sailors on the lake of a conspicuous landmark, by which they were welcomed home, as once the Athenian sailors were welcomed by the play of light on the shield of Athene on the Acropolis when they rounded the promontory of Sunium. This building, "The Old Mill," as it was affectionately called, contained the chapel, classrooms, reading room, men's dormitories, chemical laboratory and girls' study room.

Three other small buildings besides the president's house and that of the janitor completed the building equipment, unless one or more of the houses occupied by professors were college property. The gymnasium was a small wooden building, unheated and unlighted, which stood a short distance to the east of the main building. A brick structure with a mansard roof, standing north of the main building, housed the museum on the first floor, the library on the second, and art gallery on the third. The library was open for an hour twice a week for drawing and returning books, but did not provide accommodations for reading and study.

The medical department was housed in a small building at the south end of the campus, near the city reservoir. Here lectures were given three months in the year, the medical students studying for the remainder of the year under accredited physicians. There was no fellowship between the two student bodies, and the only time we were reminded that that department really belonged to the University was when we saw the president of the University presiding at the medical commencement.

Fraternity Life

No estimate of the shaping forces of college life would be complete that omitted the fraternities. At that time there were three—Lambda Iota, Sigma Phi and Delta Psi. There was also a newly organized sorority, of whose workings the men had no knowledge. The honorary society, Phi Beta Kappa, the cynosure of ambitious students, was rarely heard of except at commencement. There were no fraternity houses. Meetings were held in rented halls in the business section of the city. The fellowship and the literary training of my fraternity life I count among the strong shaping influences of my college days. There more than elsewhere I learned to overcome stage fright, think connectedly on my feet, consider critically the correct use of language, and measure myself with others. When, a few years after graduation, I was an instructor in a state university in the Middle West, and was requested to remove my fraternity pin because secret societies had been placed under the ban in that institution, I was quite at a loss to know why it had been thought necessary to outlaw fraternities. I should have been the loser in a large degree had such a policy prevailed in the University of Vermont.

My life as teacher and minister has brought me into contact with many colleges and universities. Circumstances made it necessary for me to send my children to other places for their college training, although it would have been my preference to have them enjoy the same opportunities I had at the University of Vermont. Nothing that I have seen elsewhere has made me regret that the ... fell out for me at Burlington.

President Buckham, who for so many years guided the affairs of the University, was a fine example of the scholarly and dignified college president, courteous in manner, deliberate in speech, careful in his choice of words to express his meaning, and not lacking in a quiet sense of humor. In stature he was rather below medium height, a fact to which allusion was once made by a speaker at the annual corporation dinner on commencement day. The last graduate to receive his diploma that day was a civil engineer of less stature than the president. In responding to the toast, "The University," the speaker said: "The University is small from its president down to its last graduate.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

A daughter was born on Sunday, October 26, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander. Mrs. Alexander was formerly Laura Bliss, '28, of Burlington.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

A bridge party was held Friday, October ... at the Athens Club ... Lenn Cochran, '31, won first prize.

PI BETA PHI

The alumnae gave a supper for the college chapter in the rooms Monday evening, October 27 with Mrs. E. F. Horsford of Charlotte as chairman.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Esther Stanley, '27, was married at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Stanley, to Bingham J. Humphrey of Proctor.

Mrs. Humphrey was graduated from the University in 1927 and for the past three years has taught in the Pittsford High School. Mr. Humphrey, a member of Delta Psi, received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Chemistry from Yale University recently.

Juliet Marston, ex-'33, of Montclair, N. J., made a solo flight at Curtis Field after five and one-half hours of dual instruction. The previous record was eleven hours.

ALPHA XI DELTA

The college chapter had a victrola dance in honor of the pledges on Saturday evening, October 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, who acted as chaperones.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Howe gave a tea in honor of the sorority members. Mrs. Myrick and Mrs. Mower poured.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The college chapter held a miscellaneous shower for Clara Salls, '25, at the house Wednesday, October 29. Miss Salls' marriage to Clifton Tandey, '25, Phi Mu Delta, is to take place November 1 at her home.

SIGMA GAMMA

Florence Cochran, '30, is attending the Albany Business College.

The college chapter held a waffle supper at their rooms on College Street, Tuesday evening, October 28. Committee members were Edna Herridon, chairman of the social committee, Barbara LeBaron, Doris Brennan and Norma Carder.

Elizabeth Brown and Minerva Risdon, '29, were week-end visitors in Burlington.

The dean calls the attention of all in charge of university dances or mixed social gatherings to the following regulations:

1. These rules involve in some cases a more definite formulation of policy than has previously been the case. Your organization will be held strictly responsible for their observance. The University expects, however, that its organizations will not be bound merely by the letter, but will in all cases observe the spirit of these regulations which are designed to provide for the proper conduct of University affairs and to make sure that these are given with suitable dignity.

2. In every instance the organization giving a dance will be held responsible for the observance of the usual rules of decorum, both by its own members, their guests and any others present at the dance. Women, whether college students or not, while participating in affairs given by college organizations must conform to the rules laid down for the behavior of college women.

3. Attention is called to the standing rule that each society can have only two dances per semester, not more than one formal dance being allowed each semester.

4. Dances such as tea dances and victrola parties which close promptly at ten o'clock or earlier will not count on the quota of allowed dances. (See paragraph 3.) They must, however, be chaperoned and registered at the Dean's Office at least two days in advance.

5. Social mixed gatherings at which University students are present must be registered at the Dean's Office two days in advance with the names of the chaperones.

6. In all cases chaperones must be approved by the Assistant Dean of the Arts College or the Dean of Women. For dances which come under paragraph 3 the chaperones must include one person of at least the rank of Assistant Professor.

7. No dance is authorized until formal consent has been given by the Assistant Dean. Assignment of date in Calendar does not waive the necessity of petition one week in advance.

8. Petitions, for permission to hold dances under paragraph 3, properly filled out, indicating date, place, floor committee and chaperones, must be in the office of Assistant Dean Swift one week (seven days) in advance of day and date desired.

9. Any change of arrangement indicated in the original petition must be submitted for approval at least twenty-four hours prior to hour of commencing.

10. Fraternity dances will not be authorized for evenings assigned to the Social Calendar to Campus Organizations for open dances.

11. No dance will be authorized except for Fridays, Saturdays and days immediately preceding University holidays, except that dances under paragraph 4 may be held at other times at the discretion of the Assistant Dean. Such permission will be given, however, only in cases where there will be no interference with preparation for classes.

12. Any infraction of these rules will render the offending committee or the society liable to such disciplinary action as the Dean or University Council may find proper.

(Signed) ELIJAH SWIFT
Assistant Dean

A judge in one of the western states had a case before him in which a big, hulking man brought action against his wife for cruel treatment. The wife was a little woman, with snapping black eyes. The judge ordered the case dismissed, saying to the man, "The charge is absurd. This little woman couldn't possibly injure a big fellow like you." The man replied "Well, Judge, I know she is little, but oh gosh!" Though expressed somewhat crudely such is my feeling about the University of Vermont of fifty years ago.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

Smalley Campaign Fund of V.C.A. Does Wonders on African Project

An outstanding example of the work that the Vermont Christian Association has accomplished to representation by the results of the Smalley Campaign, conducted here under their auspices about eighteen months ago. The sum raised, which was finally used in the interests of the educational work carried on in the Belgian Congo by Mr. and Mrs. Smalley, U. V. M. graduates, amounted to $[illegible].

Mr. M. D. Powers, ... here, recently received an interesting letter, postmarked May 14, 1930, Congo Institute, Kauene, Kinda, Katanga, Kongo Belge.

What It Has Done

To give an idea of what this money accomplished, we print below an excerpt from the letter:

"Dear Friends of the University of Vermont:

I think you will be surprised how much your money ($[illegible]) has done. Our ... with which ... thousand ... build two houses of three small rooms each. These houses will be used for married students with children. One thousand seven hundred and seventy francs are going to build the Vermont house, which is to be a new home for several of the single boys. Nine hundred and thirty francs will help pay our two native teachers. As we have tried to divide your gift among the many, many needs one thousand will be spent for medicines. One thousand for general expenses, and one thousand for Evangelism. This last will take care of the expenses of our Congo Institute boys as they go out into the neighboring villages. As a result of the work ... four boys this vacation, we have nine new ones coming into the elementary school. That outfit was doing fine work, for these boys came from villages where there had been no Christian work. The rest of your gift, some thousand, three hundred and seventy three francs and sixty-one centimes will be applied to agriculture. This seems especially appropriate as Mr. and Mrs. ... through whom you heard of the work here, are interested in agricultural work.

Although your gift means much to many of the motherless children at the present time, its influence will reach much farther than just to them. It is a big investment in Christian workers for those boys who are being helped will be preaching and teaching for many years. I want to thank you again in the name of the Congo Institute.

Sincerely yours,
[illegible]

BENNETT NAMES WOMEN'S QUARTETS AND SEXTET

Under the direction of Prof. H. B. Bennett, the following women were selected for the double quartet and sextet of Vermont ... Mattie Putnam, '31, Eleanor Eggleston, '31, Cynthia Lynch, '31, Katherine Skinner, '32, Esther Beardsley, '33, Emma Rock, '33, Elsie Roosa, '33, and Winona Spencer, '31.

The following have been chosen members of the women's sextet: Mattie Putnam, '31, Eleanor Eggleston, '31, Ruth Boxton, '32, Katherine Skinner, '32, Elsie Roosa, '33, and Winona Spencer, '31.

Co-ed Notes

Chairmen for the various committees for the Y. W. C. A. Oriental Bazaar to be given December 13 under the direction of Lillian Mount, '32, have been chosen as follows:

Dinner: Florence Huntley and Katrina Munn.

Booths: Sylvia Boyd.

Advertising: Beatrice Freeman and Daisy Putnam.

Dance: Ruth Small and Georgina Hurlbert.

Sale of tickets: Eleanor Koenig and Lillian Mount.

Any Y member who wishes to help is asked to notify some member of the Y cabinet.

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
$1.50 Special $1.50
Hot Oil Treatment with Marcel
43 Church St. Phone 538

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT
and
SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits, Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

Christmas Cards
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

SMOKE DAMAGE
was caused in our store on Monday evening and as a result we have been closed temporarily while adjustment was made.
Starting Saturday we are placing our entire stock on sale at prices greatly reduced.
The Sale is a CASH SALE and there will be no charge for alterations.
Come in early, fellows, and get the pick of the stock at the height of the season.
Hayes and Carney, Inc.
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

GERSHOY EXPERIMENTS ON MENDELIAN THEORY

Professor Gershoy is working, with Ronald Hamford, who is teaching at

There is, in most cases, a positive correlation between a close morphological relationship between species and the occurrence of an identical chromosome number. The knowledge of chromosome number is therefore, at all to species determination in

One hundred sixty-one species hybrids representing narrower and wider

FRENCH CLUB MOVE TO REORGANIZE NEXT WEEK

METCALF HOLDS TRYOUTS FOR FALL COLLEGE PLAY

(Continued from page 1)

FRESHMAN MEN REFUSE TO VOTE UPON RULES

(Continued from page 1)

Virgil, a Poet of the Ages

... Classics will celebrate the bimillennium of Virgil's birth next ... Latin professor ... will speak on "Virgil, a Poet of the ...

By Dana L. M. Perkins

... Mantua ... Virgil ... Eclogues ... Georgics ... Aeneid ... Dante ... Shakespeare ... Milton ...

At twenty-eight after some practice ... Virgil began writing pastorals in imitation of the Greek poet Theocritus and it was these "Eclogues" or "Bucolics" ten poems of two or three pages each, that first brought him fame. In a world part Italy, part Greece, part paradise, part fairyland shepherds quarrel decorously or sing of beauteous damsels in a beech tree shade, while hired man Tityrus is ever conveniently at hand to do the chores. It is a world where it is always afternoon, charming as Mozart's music, unreal as the opera, yet permeated with reality, the golden reality of sights and sounds in rural Italy. The Eclogues" live in the Arcadia of poet and artist and in that most perfect of elegies, the "Lycidas" of Milton.

Into the latest of the "Eclogues" even, obtrude the trouble and sadness and labor of this real world. Two generations of civil war had left much of Italy a man-made desert. Those who had once tilled her soil lay in alien graves or swelled the mob at Rome. Augustus and his minister Maecenas sought to restore life and ... to the countryside and through that to the nation. At their suggestion Virgil undertook a poem on farm ... and at forty after seven years of work finished the "Georgics," a poem of seventy pages in four parts, on farm management, trees and vines, stock raising and bee keeping.

Few experiment station bulletins had yet to last as long as the "Georgics." Virgil did know far better than some of the modern critics what sound farm practice was and is. Boyhood ... much reading, a seeing eye ... had fitted ... for the task. Yet we do not read ... for that. He is full of the myth ... of old Greece and early ... names that slide ... of the poetry at wise saws ... and bits of things ... Yet we do not ... for these alone. In his ... there is in essence all the ... of the native land where cat ... Italian lakes, unmatched blue ... Mediterranean waters, grey-green ... somber in the sunlight ... grapes that ripen on stony ... towns that perch on cone-shaped hills where rivers wind beneath; the graves and homes of all those sturdy farmers that found Rome a hamlet and left it a world. Best of all, we find in the quiet humor and pathos of the "Georgics" an eternal picture of the farmer's life, a struggle with diseases in plants and animals, with weeds, with weather, with never-ending toil; yet a struggle which often gives a ... modest competence, a ... tion, many small ... reckoning, and peace ... soul.

Few poems have ... so many different ... people as Virgil's ... it is the only book ... memories of high ... others, a forest of ... and superfluous allusions ... wandered and were ... laughed at Dido and ... her. To some Aeneas ... to others, a hero of ... do not quite know why ... sands, young and old, in ... tries and many centuries ... has been a treasure of the ... all a source of strength in ... of solace in adversity. It ... read and quoted by ... cloister, prisoners in the ... statesmen in the coffeehouse ... in the trenches. Its ... characters and phrases are ... world of thought.

AGGIE SOCIETY, ALPHA ZETA, PLANS FOR YEAR

At a recent meeting of ... national honorary agr... the society under the ... Frederick Blanchard ... hold meetings every ... everything of applicative ... velopment of rural life ... sidered.

They will seek espe... for the solution of the ... of country life.

The Y. W. Mount ... been postponed as the ... weather Saturday prevented ...

CHRISTMAS CARDS

Why not order PERSONAL CHRISTMAS GREETINGS this year and from

McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts
Phone 629

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 S. Willard St. Tel. 2680

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.

Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.

Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies

Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
111 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

Here are some more of those general interest books from the UNIVERSITY STORE'S LENDING LIBRARY:

DISRAELI AND GLADSTONE
By G. SOMERVILLE

Englishmen both, arch enemies, but builders of empires.

THE RED KNIGHT OF GERMANY
By FLOYD GIBBONS

The vivid story of Baron von Richthofen, the greatest of German war aviators.

WHY WE MISBEHAVE
By S. SCHMALHAUSEN

Frank and helpful comment on changing morality from actual practice.

Even brain-workers and frat-house fans get "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

YOU don't have to be an athlete to get "Athlete's Foot." Men who do their daily dozen in the library giving the old bean a big workout; and the boys who do a mental marathon in class but never try for the track—as well as those who really do give their muscles to Alma Mater—any and all are just so much good red meat to the tiny germ which has spread this ringworm infection everywhere. Tinea trichophyton is its name and it's the cause of "Athlete's Foot."

In universities from Pennsylvania to California, it has been found that 50% of the men have it. The U. S. Health Service has reported that "at least half of all adults suffer from it at some time." Co-eds are not immune from this trouble, either.

It lurks in the very places where we all go for cleanliness and health—on the edges of swimming pools and showers—in gymnasiums—on locker- and dressing-room floors. In spite of modern sanitation (you have to boil socks 15 minutes to kill it) this fungus parasite infects and re-infects bare feet almost any time they come in contact with damp floors.

Absorbine Jr. kills the germ of
"ATHLETE'S FOOT"

Tests in a famous New York "lab" have revealed that Absorbine Jr. penetrates flesh-like tissues deeply and that wherever it penetrates, it KILLS the ringworm germ.

It might not be a bad idea to examine your feet tonight. At the first sign of redness between toes, itching, peeling or blisters douse on Absorbine Jr. and keep a bottle handy in your locker as a preventive. Use after every exposure of bare feet on damp floors. At all druggists—$1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Absorbine Jr.

FOR YEARS HAS RELIEVED SORE MUSCLES, MUSCULAR ACHES, BRUISES, BURNS, CUTS, SPRAINS, ABRASIONS

SPORTING NEWS

KITTEN GRIDSTERS TO MEET NORWICH PLEBES

Will Be a Decisive Battle in Race for State Yearling Championship Title

...ond frosh contest of the ... League, the Kittens ... the Norwich plebes at ...n Sabine Field this after... game which will have a de... as to the Victors of ... title ... of a total of four starts, the ... have broken even, losing to ... School and Troy Confer... ...ens and snatching victory ... Mac's J. V. and Montpelier ...

...d the Norwich offense has ... upon a ground-gaining at... ...ntrated upon the opposing ... Morgan and Powell of the ... will bear the brunt of the off... ...ets and must be at their ... repulse the charge. As an ... weapon, the Maroon have a ... forward pass barrage with ... the heaving end and Wagner ... receiving. If the frosh ex... stop this pair, the pass de... ...t be bolstered considerably ... Tully's backfield is the best ... years. In "Ed" Sabu is a ... who will smash the ends and ... to smithereens. "Ken" Smith ... the name Smith is synonymous ... football ability" is a slippery ... who shakes off his tacklers grace... His catching of punts on the ... run is sensational and stopping ... in the open field is a hard job ... the defensive kingpin. Every ... he makes at least half the ... and the speed with which he ... up to back the line is amazing. ... kicking the yearlings have a ... weapon of unusual merit. ... and Bartow interchange at ... remaining backfield post with the ... having a slight edge at present. ... a drop prevails between the ... and line. As yet the lines ... show no tendency to hit their ... low and they come out of ... places rather slowly. Coach ... has been spending considerable ... on this phase and the Norwich game should give an idea as to the ...

The probable starting line-ups:

Kittens		Norwich Plebes
...	....l.e.	Lincoln
Morgan	l.t.	Boynton
...berhoff	l.g.	Horn
...	c.	Baker
...ckhouse	r.g.	Hodgson
...	r.t.	Lemaire
...	r.e.	Ashley
...	q.b.	Giles
Bressie, Bartow	l.h.b.	Wagner
...	r.h.b.	Tolman
...	f.b.	Burbank

SHAM-PLAINS

AGGIES' SONG

... be just a freshman
The fuzz on my lip not so long;
... be so-so on a dance floor,
... you I love right or wrong.

... seem that I still roam the fur...
... trip may not be litheful and gay;
... be so-so on the hot line,
... you I love more every day

... I dream every night-time.
... form fills my sight every hour;
... my cuffs shrink from my shoe ...

... heart's desire. I think you ...

... you 'midst daisies and clover,
... paused and still by a ...
... face has a grin loose and ...

... you, dear, you I'd marry if you ... only cook.

... never can tell about these ... They certainly have a queer ... humor. Now you take these ... Horse mumorists. They also ... that a perfectly good Ford ... didn't do to that poor car ... mentioning. Poor Havit ... quite broken up about it. It ... that he was pedaling his two ... cycle around Redstone late ... night when he heard a queer ... in the bushes. Getting off to in... he saw three Redstonites ... a Ford. Upon further investi... he found that they had bor... one poor frater's Austin and ... using a coffee grinder out of it. ... Havit is worrying in case they ... like and try to make an ... of any other coach from warming up a substitute right halfback, for instance, as a signal to the regular right halfback he was to be 'injured' on the next play" he demanded.

"There's no use arguing, football would be a better game if the big colleges scheduled major opponents right from the start of the season. Let the little fellows play the little fellows, and the big ones the big ones.

Notre Dame Does It

"Notre Dame does it and gets away with it. So do the big west coast teams, California, Southern California, Washington state for instance. The big ten doesn't waste a lot of time and development fooling around with minor opposition.

Arthur Sampson, former head coach at Tufts and now Little's backfield director, had some direct knowledge of the small college problem.

Harvard, Dartmouth and Brown used to invite us to play an early season game every year, he said, "but we never accepted anyone but Brown once or twice. We played teams of our own class with every game from start to close of the season a major game and we built up a following that finally made us more money than we could have gotten taking big guarantees and big guarantees from large colleges.

It's no fault of football that one sided games are played. All that is necessary is for the small college schedule makers to get smart.

Little scoffed at the idea that eastern elevens haven't the manpower of the West and Mid-west to carry through a season of eight major games.

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTING EDITOR—

Vermont fans were a bit bewildered at the result of the New Hampshire game and the rising confidence in the team was given a set-back. Nevertheless, optimism is returning and Vermonters hope that all doubts will be cleared by tomorrow's game with Rensselaer.

R. P. I. appears to have a stronger football team this year than usual. It has lost only two games out of five and these were dropped to Syracuse and Manhattan.

The Engineers have made 39 points in games this year while Vermont has gathered 20.

A year ago the Catamounts came from behind a 7 to 0 score at the half and defeated the Rensselaer team 13 to 7. With memories of this game only a year old, we expect the men from the Polytechnic Institute will not give the Green and Gold players any picnic tomorrow.

Last Saturday Union and Rensselaer fought to a scoreless tie. Such showing may appear to give tomorrow's visitors the edge, but you can never tell what the Cats will do on their home grounds.

Scoring 28 points against Penn State, Leonard Macaluso, Colgate's plunging fullback, jumped into the lead last Saturday among the eastern football scorers. In five games he has assembled a total of 70 points by means of 9 touchdowns and 16 extra points.

Speaking of scoring, we note that our old rival, Norwich, has a leading low-scoring college eleven. The Horsemen have made a total of six points for the season, scored at the expense of the Coast Guard.

In a recent issue of The Springfield Student ten commandments were listed for sports followers. They are printed for both spectators and players:

1. Thou shalt not quit
2. Thou shalt not alibi
3. Thou shalt not gloat over winning.
4. Thou shalt not be a rotten loser
5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantage
6. Thou shalt not ask odds thou art not willing to give.
7. Thou shalt always be willing to give the opponent the shade
8. Thou shalt not underestimate thy opponents nor overestimate thyself.
9. Remember that the game is the thing and he who thinketh otherwise is a mucker and no true sportsman.
10. Honor the game thou playeth for he who playeth the game straight and hard wins even though he loses.

A recent news item states that the human machine, or at least the average runner's body, during a 100-yard dash on a college track, is only 23 per cent efficient, according to tests recorded on a film shown at a convention of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers. The motion picture showed that energy is wasted in the form of heat and muscle friction. If a runner could eliminate this inefficiency, we wonder how fast he could make the 100 yard.

Sigma Phi should give the Kappa Sigs a real battle for touch football honors. The Sigs are well drilled and carry out their assignments to perfection.

Austin out of it. It affected him so badly that he burst into verse.

OH, THESE COEDS

Oh, these coeds have gone on a rampage
And are getting like the kids of kinder garten age
Somtimes their actions seem to be facetious
But to me it seems only very, very, very obnoxious.
They took a Ford and made it for a Lincoln
And then they took my bike and tried to make an Austin

CHORUS

Oh, the female of the species are more deadly than the male
So you'll pardon me if I turn a little pale
For if they can turn a flivver into a Pierce
To you, dear pal, they might do something worse.

ABRAHAM REENGAGED AS MENTOR OF HOCKEY

Rink Now Being Prepared in Anticipation of Early Season; Prospects Doubtful

Work has already begun towards getting the hockey rink in shape for practice, which will be held as soon as the weather permits. An early start has been decided upon this year in view of the fact that the Green and Gold pucksters are faced with their stiffest schedule in recent years.

H. B. "Hi" Abraham, coach of the Vermont team for the past three seasons, has been reengaged for the 1930-31 season. With the return of several veterans headed by Captain Francis "Mercer" Coach Abraham should guide his team through a very successful season barring scholastic difficulties and injuries.

The opening game is scheduled to be on January 9 against Dartmouth, a newcomer to the Vermont schedule, and Coach Abraham's first obstacle on January 9. Perennially the Green have put out teams that proved boon cramps to all highly touted eastern sextets. Some of its men have jumped into the pro ranks after matriculation. "Ed" Jeremiah, high-scoring forward of last year, has recently signed up with New Haven of the Canadian-American League. Rensselaer will appear in a home and home series, followed by tentative dates with Amherst, Colgate and Hamilton. February 4 the Catamount pucksters pay their annual visit to the Hudson where they meet the West Point Kaydets. At the present writing a full schedule has not been completed.

Middlebury, state champions, will be severely handicapped by the loss of seasoned veterans which should make the title race more interesting.

The Scribe

BY FOD TRIMP

With the return of Capt. Leo Segal to harness, the Cats are fighting ferociously in daily practice down on that cold gridiron. New Hampshire is a thing of the past, a bad memory, but it will be effaced if R. P. I. can be sent back to Troy defeated.

The baseball team did not lose a home game last spring, the football club beat the Coast Guard here a few weeks ago, and they're working to keep that slate clean. Let's give them a big break Saturday.

This touch football racket is almost over. After the daily elimination two teams at the time of this writing keep trudging victoriously out of the gloom on the back campus. The Kappa Sigs and Sigma Phi will, in all probability, stage a repetition of last year's combat in the finals on Monday. We hesitate in picking the winner.

More than due credit should be given our game little cross-country captain, Ev Wilder for the gallant fight he put up against Hooper of Amherst last week. Bad weather conditions and the unfamiliar course probably cost Vermont the first place.

So, in conclusion, whatever the result of the Cynic's editorial policy, "Manny" Dober seems unaffected. His dashing antics on the touch gridiron are still a symphony in grace, aesthetic in rhythm, and unrivalled in their harmonious perfection.

J. V. DEBATERS SPEAK BEFORE K. P. THURSDAY

The first junior varsity debate of the present season will be presented before the Burlington Knights of Pythias on November 6. The point of discussion will be the familiar chain store question.

The teams have not as yet been selected for this debate. Paul LaCrosse '32 and James Bixelow, '32 are expected to be two of the debaters but the other men have not as yet been chosen. The policy will be to include as many freshmen as possible.

The second debate is scheduled to fall soon after this one. It will be at Milton on the prohibition question.

Paul LaCrosse, acting manager of the junior varsity, has received a number of requests from nearby towns so it is thought that the year's program will be a full one. These debates were introduced last year with considerable success.

Cats Tackle Rensselaer After Strenuous Practice

Green and Gold Gridsters Eager to Make This Year's a Record of No Home Games Lost; Polytech Strong

SPORTS SYMPOSIUM

(This is the first in a series of interviews on outstanding sports topics with men prominent in fields of athletics.)

Prof. James E. Donahue, head of the Athletic Council, is a well-known figure on the Vermont campus. As a keen student of athletics and their problems he is well equipped to discuss the existent situation here on the hill.

"How to Improve Athletics" is Professor Donahue's first contribution to this column and it is hoped that it will not be the last.

If athletics are to be improved it must be done in a rational analytical fashion. Too often has action been taken without any goal or purpose. Dividing themselves into diversified groups alumni and undergraduates have sought one another's scalp. With an object in mind? No, and this leads to the fundamental difficulty that neither had settled in their own minds the reasons for their dissension.

"Once a goal has been definitely settled on, our next step is to examine the proposed action for the securing of the above purpose. Before taking the necessary steps one should clearly hash out in his own mind whether the proposed plan will contribute to the furtherance of this purpose. If it does, it is the step and comment to take.

If the proposed action is detrimental or injurious to the desired result and if your contribution may cause an explosion, it should be clearly understood that your proposed solution is not the proper step to take and thus should not be made.

Professor Donahue then put his finger on the root of all trouble. "The basis of all this insurgent discussion lies in the fact that it has no specific purpose in mind. It is due to irrational and illogical thinking. Ideas based not on a concrete foundation and individualistic belief, but ideas governed solely by sentiment and snob psychology.

"This University if it is to regain its place in the athletic sun must weld itself into a correlated unit where cooperation is stressed and where the desire to achieve a common cause is paramount."

Columbia, which is trying to regain its place in the football sun, secured as its head coach of that sport Lou Little, a former Catamount gridster. The Morningside mentor, considered one of the game's foremost strategists, is known not to mince his words. Words pro and con have been heard on the question of small colleges meeting the large ones.

Vermont under "Sabe" Abell has begun a new régime and the opinion of Lou Little would lend a timely aspect to the debate being waged by various coaches through the country.

"Small college teams insist on playing the big fellows in the early games," Little argued. "They don't have to schedule them unless they want to. They have two good reasons for doing it. Either they believe they have a chance to score an upset and jump into fame or they want the big guarantee that goes with a licking.

Now if they come to these big schools trying to upset the applecart they deserve little sympathy if the applecart runs over them. Suppose Gene Tunney offered Al Singer $10,000 to fight him, would Singer a lightweight have to battle a heavyweight?"

All right. Now the rules of boxing wouldn't let Tunney send in a substitute for himself in the third or fourth round to carry on the fight, but the rules of football allow substitutes to go in there and the game is played according to the rules. Any way of look couldn't take out the first team, and send in substitutes the course of these early season games would be decried.

The first string players are the best players and there is no way of keeping a college boy from scoring a touchdown if he gets the chance."

Little paused and so did his audience at the idea that substitutes should be sent in only for injured regulars.

What would there be to stop the

DUNN DISPLEASED WITH APPEARANCE AT DURHAM

A test of a week's heavy scrimmaging will be afforded Catamounts afternoon on Centennial Field when the Catamount grid machine meets Rensselaer in the second home game of the season.

Vermont, which came back strong in the second half of a spirited game last year, to turn a 7-0 defeat into a 13-7 victory will meet even stronger opposition from the engineers tomorrow. Rensselaer's outfit will prove a battle to the finish from the moment the whistle blows at 2 to until the final minute ends the game.

The coaching staff was disgusted with the Catamounts showing against New Hampshire last week but is confident that the team has better worse to show. That the line-up is in for a shaking up appears to be certain with the substitutions tomorrow are expected to involve a number of surprises.

The players themselves are by no means satisfied with the results of last Saturday's game and during the past week their fight has been one for improvement.

Vermont's chief offensive weapon, the aerial attack, was ineffective against New Hampshire because of a wet field and a steady drizzle. The team was helpless without its chief ground gaining device which may be an important part of Vermont's offensive tomorrow. That the team has developed other modes of attack during the past week is however to be expected.

Vermont, thus far has won its only home game to date, turning back the Coast Guard to the tune of a 13-0 score. Two weeks ago Vermont scored on Union, as the New Yorkers took a 19-7 game. The scores in the Amherst and Harvard games were true to prophecy.

Rensselaer presents a respectable record, with two victories, a tie and two defeats to show for its efforts. Although it was smothered in its first game 55-0 by Syracuse and lost to Manhattan 13-7, the engineers' machine has subdued Long Island, which lost by three touchdowns, and Clarkson, whom it nosed out 14-12. The Union game was a tie.

The probable line-ups:

Vermont		R. P. I.
Capt. Segal (Tilley)	l.e.	l.e., Smith
M. Cohen	l.t.	l.t., Teute
H. Cohen	l.g.	l.g., Ablondi
Dinniman	c.	c., Weinstein
Donaldson (G. Collins)	r.g.	r.g., Kelso
Farmer	r.t.	r.t., Bauer
Park	r.e.	r.e., Cady
Winant	q.b.	q.b., Crowley
Jay	l.h.b.	l.h.b., Illiss
T. Collins	r.h.b.	r.h.b., Diaddario
Heaton (Manning)	f.b.	f.b., States

SARAH CLEGHORN, VT. POET, GAINS ATTENTION OF STUDENTS, FACULTY

Reads from Her Poems and Discusses the Subject with Group Gathered at Redstone, Sunday

[illegible] Miss Cleghorn [illegible] of her poems and a discussion of poetry and poets followed. A tea preceding the meeting with Miss [illegible] and [illegible] was attended by [illegible] students.

[illegible] Miss Cleghorn [illegible] and humorous and tender in the same [illegible].

[illegible] Miss Cleghorn [illegible] poetry under the [illegible] of the [illegible] Mr. [illegible] introduced the speaker [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] of the [illegible] Miss Cleghorn [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] poetry as a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1930 NUMBER 13

VERGIL'S BIMILLENARY TO BE CELEBRATED HERE TONIGHT BY PROF. OGLE

Former Head of Latin Dept. to Deliver Lecture Honoring Greatest of Roman Poets

IS FIRST FREE LECTURE IN UNIVERSITY SERIES

...millenary will be formerly ... the University of Ver... Prof Marbury B Ogle, of ... formerly head of the ... language department here ... at 8:00 o'clock tonight in ...ium the lecture: "Vergil, ... Ages." This is the first ... free series of University ... and the students and others ... interested are invited to at...

... Ogle is widely and favor... known in linguistic circles as ... very foremost Vergilian ... of the age. He is a native of ... and graduate of Johns Hop... the degree of A.B. in 1902. ... his Ph.D. degree there in ... The next two years he served as ... professor in the University ... and from 1909-1925 as pro... of the Latin language and ... and head of the department. ... he was called to Ohio State ... as professor of classical ... He is a prominent member ... Mediaeval Academy of America, ... Philological Association and ... Association af America. ... pupil of Gildersleeve, the ... Greek scholar America has ... and of Kirby Flower Smith, ... 4, the greatest Latinist ever ... by Vermont. Professor Ogle ... Vermont in 1908 and was head ... department of Latin until 1925, ... he was called to be head of the ... of classical languages at ... State University.

Collaborates with Prof. Tupper

...orating with Professor Fred... Tupper, he published in 1924 a ... of Walter Map's "De Nugis ...m, and these two scholars, ... steeped" in mediaevalism, are ...ating in another work to be ... The Latin Writers of Eng...

... Ogle is editor of the Cen... College Latin Series and his ... and Latin," a manual of ... composition published in 1926 ... used in collegiate classical ... This book was given one and ... columns in review by the spectator which is considered ... recognition.

... teacher and scholar Professor ... combines the technical precision ... of the philologist with ... powers of imaginative in... and literary appreciation. The ... well and vividly recalls the ... ation delivered by Professor ... the occasion of the dedica... Goodrich memorial window ... Chapel.

Ciceronian Elegance

...norous tones of a finely modu... of rich timbre and the ... flowing periods of finely ... Latin gave the impression of ... force and elegance. The ... precision of phrase and style, ...ness of diction, and the fire ... orator were all manifest ... Ogle paid the filial tribute ... scholar and friend to the ...ster who had long since ... chief.

... spark of literary genius ... enthusiasm give Profes... enviable effectiveness both ... and orator. His long and ...hes have made him one of ...foremost Vergilian scholars ... The University of Ver... a man to celebrate the ...m of Vergil's birth, natur... to Professor Ogle whose ...re will be the first in the ... service of the current year. ... visit in Burlington Pro... will be the house guest of ... and Mrs. Frederick Tupper ... M. Prindle, head of the ...ment, who was a pupil of ... for four years and a col... four more, recalled Pliny's ... Vergilius in connection ... lecture. "His good fortune ... at the end by having the ... of eulogists."

"Vergil does not need an eulogist," declared Professor Prindle.

(Continued on page 4)

FIVE TAKE LATIN PRIZE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION

Last Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the Latin room, five freshmen took the competitive examination in Latin for the Howard prize.

Every year special entrance examinations in Latin, Greek and mathematics are given to those who desire to compete for the Howard prizes. These prizes, of twenty dollars each, go to the students making the highest grades in the tests which are based on standard high school courses. Last year the Latin entrance prize went to Lester A. Woodward. The examinations in mathematics and Greek have not as yet been held.

WINNOWINGS TO APPEAR SATURDAY IF STUDENTS INCREASE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Editor Says List Must Swell Considerably Before Public Will See First Issue

Winnowings From the Mill, the Vermont student literary magazine featuring student stories, poems and essays, will appear Saturday, November 8, being withheld a week due to the lack of subscriptions. Margaret Rice, '31, editor of Winnowings, states: "Unless more subscriptions are forthcoming the magazine will not be published next year.

The subscription price is $1.00 per year for six issues or 25 cents per copy.

The fate of Winnowings depends solely on the support given it by the students this year. It is a literary effort worthy of support by every student in college and the logical way to indicate this necessary support is to subscribe to it.

Not by Activity Fee

It has been erroneously stated that the student activity fee was raised in order to give financial support to the literary magazine. Some aid is given by the University, but it is very small. The solution of this financial difficulty is more subscriptions.

By and For the Students

This magazine is an outlet for the literary efforts of students. Last year it was a success in every way except financially. Besides contributions written by students, such eminent literary people as Frances Frost, poet, Arthur W. Peach, head of the English department at Norwich, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, famous novelist, Walter J. Coates, editor of Driftwind, and Daniel L. Cady, Vermont's poet laureate, contributed. This year the board intends to accomplish even more along this line. Arthur Peach has a feature in the first issue which will appear Saturday, November 8. Besides the above, Sinclair Lewis, famous novelist, Robert Frost, poet, Vrest Orton, editor of Voices, a magazine of poetry edited at Rutland, and Miss Sara Cleghorn, poetess, who spoke at Redstone October 26, have consented to contribute a product of their own literary genius.

AGGIE TEAM OF FOUR OBTAINS THREE PRIZES

K. M. Stevens, F. E. Blanchard, J. A. Peters, and W. H. Martin won three first prizes when they represented the Agricultural College at the eighth annual Intercollegiate Contest in Judging Dairy Products, held at the Eastern States Exposition at Springeld, Mass., September 14. In addition, Blanchard was highest in judging milk, while Stevens won the same honor in the judging of cheese.

Blanchard has been an active member of the 4-H Club for seven years. He was sent to the Eastern States Exposition by the club in 1927 and 1928 and was made an honorary member in 1929.

Stevens was actively engaged in club work for five years representing it at the 4-H Department of the Eastern States Exposition in 1922.

Both Blanchard and Stevens won Eastern States medals and Stevens won the Creamery Package Manufacturing Company's cup for the highest rank as cheese judge.

The entire team of Vermont representatives was coached by Professor R. W. Smith and Assistant Professor J. A. Newlander of the Department of Animal and Dairy Husbandry.

TWENTY STUDENTS GET ROLES IN CAST OF FALL THEATRICAL PRODUCTION

Many Veteran Players Will Appear Again in Troupe Presenting "The Queen's Husband"

THREE FROM FRESHMAN CLASS TO TAKE PARTS

Twenty students from the four classes were selected at the final tryout last Thursday afternoon to take a rôle in the cast of the fall play, "The Queen's Husband," by Robert Sherwood.

Frederick Grafton, Harvey Butterfield, '31; Phipps, Charles Libby, '34; Lord Birten, B Baker, '31; First Lady in Waiting, Marion Keil, '33; Princess Anne, Elizabeth Cory, '31; Queen Martha, Roberta Powers, '32; Second Lady in Waiting, Mila Anderson, '34; Third Lady-in-Waiting, Isabel Holmes, '32; General Northrup, Jack Bradish, '31; King Eric VIII, Robert Aiken, '31; Major Blent, Paul Westin, '32; Soldier, Robert Stewart, '34, Dr. Pellman, Sam Barker, '32; Prince William, Edward Fitzgerald, '32; Laker, Allen Scharbius, '32.

The understudies are: for Mr Butterfield, Mr Westin, for Miss Cory, Margaret Martin, '32, for Miss Powers, Hope Runslow, '32; for Mr. Aiken, Fred Householder, '32; for Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. Stewart.

The tryouts were held Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in the Old Mill. Prof. John T. Metcalf presiding. Professors Aiken and Myrick also acted as judges. The date of the presentation of the play has not been definitely decided.

"The Queen's Husband" is a clever presentation of royal life with the characteristics of American family life, or perhaps American family life in a royal setting. Mr. Sherwood has made the most of a plot which like most plots has a rather familiar sound. And perhaps that ring is intentional, so that the real truths of the play should show up all the more strongly.

Altogether it seems that the dramatic societies and Professor Metcalf have made a very good selection in choosing this play.

Alumni Magazine Circulation Great

Ten-Year-Old Weekly Has Worldwide Subscription List With 75 Outside United States

Seventy-five alumni residing outside the United States and representing nearly every country on the globe are included on the subscription list of the ten-year-old Vermont Alumni Weekly which is published each Wednesday by the Alumni Council under the editorship of Prof. Leon W. Dean of the English department.

The Weekly contains articles, letters, poems and columns submitted by various Vermont alumni and news about the student activities as well as whereabouts and doings of Vermont graduates. Stories and notes of the doings of all alumni clubs in America are inserted and reports of athletic contests and undergraduate news are published to keep Vermont alumni informed of the activities of their Alma Mater.

The publication was founded in 1920 and has remained the same in style and form excepting the cover design which has been changed frequently.

It depicts University life at present as it would interest alumni of Vermont.

PROF. GROAT ADDRESSES N. Y. ALUMNI MEETING

Professor Groat was one of the speakers at the meeting of the New York Alumni Association, known as the "Fall Smoker," which was held in the Tavern Room at the Hotel Commodure, Thursday evening, October 23. About 130 persons attended.

Pledging of 128 Freshmen Brings Rushing to Close

Over Half of Freshman Men Join Greek-letter Societies—Individual Lists Are Comparatively Small

EDITORS DEDICATE 1931 YEARBOOK TO AUTHORS OF COLLEGE ANTHEMS

Theme Songs Run Through Entire Ariel—Junior Questionnaire Shows Interesting Results

Dedicated to the men who have composed college songs, and especially to C. S. Putnam, '82, and C. W. Fisher, '84, authors of "Champlain," the 1931 Ariel, at last off the press, is a memorial of three years spent at college by the class of 1931.

The theme of the Ariel is the college song. The frontispiece of each important section in this year's volume contains a photograph of a building on the campus of the college from which the song appearing on the reverse side of the page is taken.

Yale's favorite tune, "Old College Days," is the first of the popular college songs in the Ariel. It is followed by snatches from the favorite Vermont melodies, each of which appears under a sketch of an appropriate campus scene. "Vermont Forever," written by Sanctuary, '93, is the only Vermont song to be entirely written out.

Other Songs Included

"Lord Jeffry Amherst," the University of Main "Stein Song," "Norwich Forever," "Ye Sons of Williams," "Alma Mater," "Song of Holy Cross," "Fair Harvard," and "Gamaliel Painter's Cane," the Middlebury anthem, completes the roster of college songs to whose authors the Ariel is dedicated.

Toward the end of the book, long past the sections which concern themselves with the campus, the University, the classes, the medics, athletics, and activities, is an interesting "Feature," and most informative among the various "features" is the junior questionnaire. It includes the answers by their classmates to questions concerning the relative merits of the members of the class of 1931.

It was learned that the most popular among the men of the class were "Bob" Tobin, Harvey Butterfield and Cal Walker, while Nutty Field, "Teddy" Taylor and "Ellie" Koenig held a similar place among the women. The most all-around were found to be "Bob" Tobin, "Rod" Maynes and "Wally" Sargent, for the men, and Jean Wappler, "George" Hubert, "Nutty" Field and Harriet Wright, for the women. The hardest workers among the men were "Stick" Brush, "Lou" Lisman and "Rod" Maynes, among the women were "Peg" Stanley, Esther Mandigo and Jean Wappler.

The most apt to succeed were "Stick" Brush, Harvey Butterfield, George Nelson, Jean Wappler, "Dot" Nash and "Peg" Stanley. It was decided also that "Stick" Brush, Harvey Butterfield, George Nelson, Jean Wappler, "Peg" Stanley and "George" Hubert had done most for U. V. M., while "Stick" Brush, "Cal" Walker, "Rod" Maynes, Jean Wappler, "George" Hubert and "Peg" Stanley had done most for 1931.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN INDOORS NOW

Physical education classes for women will be held indoors beginning the week of November 4. Students who have not handed in their hour plans to the gymnasium office must do so at once, in order that arrangements for classes can be made.

Soccer will be taught in all classes for those who are interested, but no regular class teams will be formed. If the weather permits, soccer classes will be held outdoors for the first two weeks.

Judge: And now, my good man, why is it that you can remember everything so distinctly during that week, but nothing before or after it?

Defendant: Well, your honor, my mother-in-law was with us during the whole week.

Judge: Case dismissed.

NUMBERS PLEDGED VARY FROM FOUR TO EIGHTEEN

Weeks of hectic rushing concluded Friday with the pledging of 128 freshmen and nine upperclassmen to Vermont's thirteen fraternities. Well over half the freshman class affiliated themselves with the Greek-letter societies.

The long lists of freshman pledges which characterized the close of last year's rushing season were not so much in evidence this year. No activity pledged over seventeen freshmen while two failed to get as few as four.

The longest list was Kappa Sigma's which took seventeen freshmen and one junior. Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon each listed sixteen. Those who took fewest were Sigma Phi, with four, Lambda Iota and Sigma Nu, with five each, and Sigma Delta, with four freshmen and three sophomores.

The list of fraternities and the men which each pledged are as follows:

LAMBDA IOTA

Lambda Iota announces the pledging of the following men: D. E. Bennett of Burlington, W. N. Pratt of Springfield, G. L. Davis of Springfield, P. C. Cummings of Burlington and A. C. Pond of Richford.

SIGMA PHI

Sigma Phi announces the pledging of the following men: K. L. Austin of Burlington, G. H. Burrows, Jr., of Exeter, N. H., C. B. Eaton of Worcester, Mass., and F. R. Busch of Farmington, Conn.

PHI DELTA THETA

Phi Delta Theta announces the pledging of W. J. Gilbert of Burlington, R. W. Stewart of Brookline, Mass., E. Q. Sylvester 2, of Hanover, Mass., W. A. Brown, Jr., of West Hartford, Conn., A. Cochrane of Boston, Mass., J. L. Quegley of Rutland, S. Bartow of Quincy, Mass., J. C. Morrison of Melrose Highlands, Mass., F. J. Hardy, Jr., of Burlington, K. E. Johnson of Fiskhill, N. Y., P. Isalin of Riverdale, N. Y.

DELTA PSI

Delta Psi announces the pledging of the following: J. L. Beckley, Great Neck, N. Y., F. P. Colburn, Burlington, D. W. Jenks, Burlington, M. H. Parker, Essex Junction, M. L. Powell, Jr., of Burlington, P. L. Powell, Milton, S. Pierce, Jr., Montclair, N. J., W. F. Kearney, E. Norwalk, Conn., F. C. Lutman, Burlington, D. F. Van Antwerp, R. T. Van Dyke, H. C. Wilson, Windsor, J. H. Woodruff, Jr., Barre.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Alpha Tau Omega announces the re-pledging of J. Gordon of Williamstown, Vt., S. Morse of Wethersfield, Conn., A. Hadfield of Lawrence, Mass. The following were pledged: H. C. Abbott of Franklin, Mass., P. Williams of Montpelier, J. E. Pierce of Manchester, E. B. Gammell of St. Johnsbury, A. Blakely of Great Neck, L. I., W. J. Ross of Montpelier, J. Kelleher of Montpelier, C. Terrien of Burlington, N. E. Daigle of Lyndonville, J. McGowan of Burlington, R. McKenzie of Burlington, J. McCrea of Burlington, W. Brisbin of Rutland, J. H. Howard of Rutland, B. B. Blodgett of Middlebury, R. Martin of Rutland.

KAPPA SIGMA

Kappa Sigma announces the pledging of the following men: C. E. [illegible] '32, and the following men of the class of 1934: F. M. Rees, A. S. Wesoly of New Britain, Conn., E. C. Bowka of

(Continued on page 3)

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Associate Sports Editors

Assistant Editors

Margaret Mumey, '32

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers
R. E. Tracy, '32 — G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Published weekly during the college year
... Any local notices should be handed ... Sunday and Wednesday. All ... Business Manager, Delta Psi House ...
... for mailing at special rate provided for in ... Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 19, 1922.

Office of Publication: Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 — November 4 1930 — No. 13

WE STILL HAVE SPIRIT

If we are to believe the columnists, boosters and professional pep ... the phrase "college spirit" was invented to provide a four-... for nullity. From the day an athletic council first ... appointed to a student body to support a team or a cheer leader called for "more pep," their complaint has been the chronic one that neither ... but pep has been forthcoming.

If the pessimist who is convinced that we are living in an era ... of which explanations and excuses have killed that collegiate chant ... its earlier, more enthusiastic cheering, we recommend a dose ... editorials in college journals of twenty, thirty or forty years ago. ... at their wistful laments anent the lack of college spirit do not pale ... him upside of half a dozen issues, then he can assure himself that ... editor was unconcerned with a problem which his colleagues re-... as one of the most pressing of the day.

And yet, although the existence of college spirit was denied in ... days as vehemently as it is today, we never cease to hear of the ... evidences given of that phenomenon many years ago.

It is our conviction that our predecessors eclipsed us, not in actual ... of vocal efforts to cheer their teams or in any similar ... but rather in attempts to secure such manifestations. Appeals ... support teams and clubs to turn out en masse on noteworthy occa-... and to cheer loud and long were much more common then than ... The repetition of such appeals, together with a certain measure ... success, gave the impression that displays of "spirit" were the rules ... not the exception, which they seem to be today, when the appeal ... back the team is far less frequently seen in print.

We believe, however, that "college spirit" is as much a reality to-... as it ever was. We admit that editors have ceased to call out the ... student body to every game, but that is because, with the lapse ... time editors have come to see the futility of such demands upon the ... body. We admit, too, that certain types of display, centering ... excessive noise and wholesale disturbance, have also ceased, ... this we ascribe to a realization on the part of the college student ... there is no excuse for horseplay at anytime.

In other ways college spirit is at least as persistent as ever it was. ... have the team and the game, we call attention to its manifestations ... less obvious forms. For college spirit is not a maker of cheering ... and parading merely, its forms are myriad, and he who serves his University ... any way shows as much spirit as the owner of the most leathery pair of lungs in the cheering section.

The student who sacrifices time and effort to activities from which ... derives no material remuneration, little publicity and only an empty ... of "honor," has more college spirit than the coonskin-coated rooter. ... The student who is not afraid to work for the betterment of his university is equally spirited. And of those "who only stand and wait," ... good scholar, whose business in college is to act the student, is ... possessed of a laudable college spirit.

That these types of students are with us today, is evident. That ... are at least as numerous and as active as they ever were, is also ... evident. If they were gone, we should say that college spirit, in its ... sense, was also gone. Until that time—and it seems more remote ... ever—we shall insist that we have college spirit.

The publication of the financial statement last spring of the 1930 Ariel seems to have ended the era of "bigger and better" yearbooks. The statement showed that Ariel to have cost over six thousand dollars, of which $1,300 was realized from a class tax, while another $1,700 had to be drawn out of the class treasury to meet deficits. Over five thousand dollars of the total amount came from the student body.

"These figures," wrote Prof. G. G. Groat, auditor of student accounts, to the editor of the Cynic at the time, "raise the somewhat interesting question as to how long Vermont can continue to put out a bigger and better Ariel each year. An Ariel that costs $6,155 raises the question whether this limit has not already been reached."

The disappointment created this year among those readers of the Ariel who expected a book as ornate and elaborate as those of some previous years, should be considerably tempered by this statement. The current Ariel omitted many unnecessary features and used an internal treatment. It may be the sign that the bigger and better Ariel has gone forever.

A Student-at-Large

A statement was made over the ra... the past two years ago that three-fourths of the world is at the present time in the throes of revolution. From China and India to South America there is revolution and civil war. Such an unsteady state of affairs might prompt those who are especially interested in contemporary political and economic processes to pay some attention to the conditions that are boiling just now and are likely to prove very troublesome in our day.

To remain in ignorance concerning what is happening at this very minute in the different countries of the world is only to overlook the problems that are bound to be settled in one way or another within the next fifty years. Whether we wish to stand aloof and keep a "hands off" policy in regard to Russian communism and Italian fascism will determine to a large extent the future of American commerce and political supremacy as well as the peace of the world.

It is only safe for those of us who are entrusted with the knowledge of the customs of the nations of the world and with the possible direction of human affairs in our own generation to study the world situation and to consider ways and means by which much of the trouble afflicting our institutions and social groups may be partially, if not completely, eradicated.

College students may not feel that there is any relation between what happens outside of their own peculiar environment and their welfare. The relation might not be noticed until later, but anyone can see that the connection is plain if he will only let his imagination penetrate to the dim horizon of the future.

The International Relations Club was established here for the sole purpose of giving Vermont students the opportunity to keep well informed of the contemporary world situation. And such organizations as the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace which gave considerable support to the club were founded to assist similar groups everywhere to keep posted as to the latest development in the political and the economic world.

Within two weeks the activities of the International Relations Club will commence. Everyone is invited to attend the meetings and to participate in the functions of the club.

This year the subjects that will be brought up for discussion will be those that are most pressing in the world situation today. The national grievances of the South American republics and the military activity of these countries will be reviewed. Ghandi's influence in India, the method he employs to bring about the result he wishes to see, and England's attitude toward him will constitute another set of problems which is certain to provoke considerable interest among those who have watched India's affairs at all within the last year.

An Associated Press dispatch in the Burlington Free Press a few days ago stated that a renewal of hostilities between China and Russia over the Trans-Siberian Railroad threatens. The relations of China with Russia will certainly be among the topics to be studied inasmuch as, war or no war, it is essential to consider the intrigues and political rivalries between these two countries if we are to get an adequate picture of the international situation at the present time.

The significance of Russian communism, a review of Germany's political status, the League of Nations, Italian affairs and Mussolini, unemployment and the tariff question, American foreign relations, all these subjects will undoubtedly fall within the scope of the club's attention this year.

The program is, of course, an ambitious one, but if we are at all serious concerning other matters we shall be fairly compelled to give some attention to each of them. Much will depend upon the enthusiasm of the members of the club, but judging from the interest many of the students have shown in these matters already the International Relations Club will be very active this year.

EDMOUR GERMAIN

FORMER CO-ED SETS A RECORD IN SOLO FLIGHT

Juliet Marston, ex-'33, who is attending the aviation school at the Curtiss Field in Caldwell Township, N. Y., has set a record by making her first solo flight after five and a half hours of dual instruction. The nearest record to this is eleven hours. Miss Marston's instructor was Lowell White.

Even our universities and colleges are conditioned by the popularized idea of miniature golf. At the University of Dayton two courses have been installed.

He: Yes, I changed schools.
She: Oh! I'm so glad. I never did like engineers, for they always leave blueprints on your neck.—Aggieator.

In The Good Old Days

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The editorial in our last issue in regard to the Middlebury incident has been criticized by a large number as unfair and too severe.... We are today more firmly convinced than ever that the facts of the case fully justify our position in every respect.

H. H. WATSON, Editor.

A remarkable dance was given by the three sororities at the Howard Relief last week. Three sororities met upon a common floor, in their midst were a large number of unpledged freshmen and not a man was present, all powers to Pan-Hellenic!

Members of the reception committee were: Mrs. L. R. Jones, Mrs. H. H. Cloudman and the new faculty ladies, Mrs. Bassett, Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. Myrick, and Mrs. Warfield.

Among the fraternity pledgees we notice Phi Delta Theta: F. W. Kehoe, '09, and Sigma Nu: E. H. Clouse, '09.

Vermont defeated Norwich at Burlington 26 to 0 in a snappy game, and also tied New Hampshire, 0 to 0 the previous Saturday.

On pure politics harangue
Once a senior held forth with much slangue
But they voted him down
For by common renoun
He was worse than the rest of the oangue. S., '08.

TEN YEARS AGO

The U. V. M. harriers lost to R. P. I. in a thrilling and hard-fought cross-country race, 25-30.

Vermont lost to Brown with a score of 35-0 in a game which proved Vermont's weakness under the heavy Brownian eleven.

A special entertainment will be put on tonight at the Majestic Theater by Key and Serpent Society. The regular moving picture feature will be Tom Moore in "Stop Thief."

Plans for staging a smoker were discussed at a meeting of the Gold Stripe Club which comprises any new men who have seen foreign service in the United States forces.

Editor-in-chief Davenport urged co-operation on the part of all for the writing of grinds for the Ariel. The class decided to have local photographers take the individual photos.

The Student Union warned the students not to go to the door of a classroom and yell the name of a student who happened to be in the room and wanted to see the team off to the Brown game.

An editorial note prophesies that Mrs. Calvin Coolidge will be the "first lady of the land" during the next four years.

A communication ... co-eds at the Rensse... reply states that there ... present, one of whom ... solace... man.

The women of the ... out en masse to vote at ... presidential electors, ... tenant governor, and ... They seem to be rightly ... new enfranchisement.

President Wilson pro... tenary celebration of land... grim fathers in 1620.

ONE YEAR AGO

The rainy weather last ... not dampen the ardor of the ... in visiting the various ... Some of the Greek letter ... port that more freshmen ... before visited the houses.

The Faculty Council ... students that they are ... placed under probation ... classes the last day preced... day after a vacation.

One hundred thirty-five ... editors and business ma... tended the largest high ... tors' Conference ever sp... U. V. M.

Mr. L. S. Hartwell of the ... partment declared before ... tional Relations Club that ... three major problems in ... with Mexico: organized ... land question, preservation ... resources.

Five touchdowns made ... necticut Aggies overpowered ... and Gold eleven at Storrs, ... men home with a 34-0 defeat.

W. A. A. sponsored its ... college athletic Play Day ... nasium with Middlebury and ... rence as her opponents.

Dorothy Dailey, '30, Mar... '30, and Margaret Stanley ... Smith College, Mt. Holyo... New Jersey State College ... and Swarthmore College in ... est of Student Union to stud... cuss student government and ... lems.

Mortar Board gave its ... dance last Saturday evening ... B. H. S. gymnasium. The ... decorated in orange and black, ... the farther end hung a large ... Board outlined in gold against ... background.

Eleven Norwich Cadets ... an equal number of Green ... Kittens with a resulting score ... The only bright spot in the ... game came in the last period, ... Cognetta tore loose on an ... run for Wadsworth to score ... Vermont.

PLEDGING 128 FRESHMEN BRINGS RUSHING CLOSE

(Continued from page 1)

New Britain, Conn., J. J. Delfausse of Rockville Center, N. Y., D. J. Tobin of Fair Haven, Mass., T. F. Hard of Arlington, R. S. Inman of New York City, R. Powell of Island Pond, W. M. Waterman of Vergennes, W. M. Adams, Jr., of Burlington, O. L. Brown of Vergennes, H. S. Farr of Bristol, M. Morris, P. M. White of Boston, Mass., K. B. Smith of Southington, Conn., R. R. Barron of Winchester, Mass., K. D. Spaulding of Newport, and L. F. Brown of Winchester, Mass.

SIGMA NU

Sigma Nu announces the pledging of the following men: E. E. Carlson of Shrewsbury, Mass., J. A. Chiota of Bridgeport, Conn., W. N. Coburn of Middlesex, T. G. Cogswell of Warner, N. H., and R. R. Murray of New York City.

PHI MU DELTA

Phi Mu Delta announces the pledging of K. L. Hoye of Burlington, S. D. Marchacos of Burlington, R. L. Butterman of Arlington, Mass., H. A. Lyford of Wilder, H. F. Howard of White River, H. J. Soule of East Fairfield, A. A. Austin of Middlebury, C. G. Otis of Vergennes, and W. H. Galvin of Greenwich, Mass.

TAU EPSILON PHI

Tau Epsilon Phi announces the pledging of the following men: B. Birnbaum of New Britain, Conn., R. Glasstone of Burlington, P. Gould of Malden, Mass., N. H. Kaplan of New Britain, Conn., M. Kramer of Winthrop, Mass., R. Levin of Burlington, P. Machanic of Burlington, L. R. Mazel of Burlington, J. Risman of Lynn, Mass., L. Robinson of Lynn, Mass., H. J. Selib of Jamaica Plain, Mass., H. Silverstein of Brookline, Mass., H. I. Wasserman of Burlington, and H. B. Wolinsky of West Rutland.

ZETA CHI

Zeta Chi announces the pledging of K. Ricketson, '32, of Stowe, L. M. Brock, '32, of S. Newbury, J. E. Bigelow, '33, of Fair Haven, and of the following freshmen: D. F. Green of Albany, N. Y., R. McCuin of Highgate, P. K. Morrison of Barnet, E. ... Jr., of Worcester, Mass., N. ... of Burlington, G. O. Rich... lington, and S. A. Dutton of ...

SIGMA DELTA

Sigma Delta announces ... ing of the following men: ... 1933, L. R. Dunham of ... F. Kenyon of Burlington, ... don of Fair Haven; Class ... F. Paris of Burlington, H. ... Newport Center, W. P. Stef... Haven, Conn., and W. L. ... Wilmington.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Sigma Alpha Epsilon announces pledging of the following men: ... Bailey of Delmar, N. Y., ... don of Burlington, C. Hea... lington; P. E. Lanou of ... J. I. Murray of Bellows ... Worcester of Manchester, N. ... Wells of Malden, Mass., R. ... of Worcester, Mass., H. ... of Burlington, F. E. Wea... ville, Conn., W. R. Sut... G. Ghiliani of Barre, A. ... Lawrence, Mass., W. E. ... Monson, Mass., C. J. Lib... mond Hill, N. Y., and M. ... S. Lancaster, Mass.

PHI SIGMA DELTA

Phi Sigma Delta ... pledging of H. Cohen, ... ton, H. N. Press, '33, ... and of the following: ... M. Berger of Burlington, ... Burlington, E. Denhoff ... Mass., S. W. Fishman ... I. Lisman of Burlington, ... man of Greenfield, Mass. ... man of Burlington.

All men who have been participating in special activities in place of the regular Physical Training curriculum should report back to their regular classes at once.

Sophomores and Freshmen desiring to scrub for the sports board of the Cynic should see the Sports Editor Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Cynic Office.

When you want a coke ... store is closed, try the ... dealer.

SPORTING NEWS

Vermont Frosh Gridsters Wallop Norwich Yearlings

Kittens Win by 43 to 14 Score at Sabine Field—Saba, Smith, Braskie and Sowka Star for Green and Gold While Giles is Outstanding Among Cadets

SABA CONTRIBUTES FIVE OF SEVEN TOUCHDOWNS

...powerful freshman grid ...ed to Northfield Friday, ... the field, and then ... with a 43-14 victory under ... the lighter and poorer ...een. This score is the ... the Green and Gold ...ed in the last ten years. Ed Saba was the big ...pon for the Kittens. He ... of the seven touchdowns ...ces traveling 60 to 70 ...ively.

Vermont quarter, showed ...heels to the Maroon by ... two punts for 60 yards ...ly twelve points in the ...utes of play.

... and Eddie Sowka were ... the defense, smearing ... forwards time after time ... comprising the whole Ver... ...ference.

... played quarter for the ..., turned in a nice game, ... which their only points by ... force forwards and pretty ...dashes. Ern Ashley at ... the Cadets performed ... position blocking nicely ... two passes out of the ... gains.

	Norwich '34
...an	l.e. l.e., Moren, Lincoln
Morgan	l.t.
	l.t., Boynton, Lincoln
	l.g., Horne
White, Brown	c....c., Baker
Cross	r.g. r.g., Hodkson, Goodwin
Powell	r.t.....r.t., Temaini
	r.e...r.e., Ashley, Ralston
	q.b., Giles
Wesley	l.h.b...l.h.b., Wagner
	r.h.b., Homer, Kenney
Burbank, Thomas, Burnett

... periods:

.....	12	6	7	18	—43
.....	7	0	7	0	—14

... Saba 5, Smith 2, Giles ... other touchdowns: Giles 2, ...

... Laird.
... MacMinn.
... Baker.

TUPPER AND PALMER TO MEET IN FINALS

... the past week the semi- ... the annual fall tennis tourna... ...ored by the Department of ... Education have been played ...

... st match Captain-elect Fred ... the Green and Gold varsity ... ...eated Wheeler by the score ... In the second match Larry ... veteran letterman from last ... the right to meet Tupper ... championship by virtue of vic... Wilson 6-2, 6-2.

... two semi-final winners meet ... future to decide the college ... for the year 1930-31. ... match awaits favorable ... and will be played when Fred ...ured leg returns to form. ...rnament this year has been ...ful, in that a champion... ...certain to be decided, a ... a feature not common to ...ments because of advance ...conditions and failure of ... off their matches. Even ... the tournament is far be... ...riginal schedule.

PRESS CLUB ADMONISHES AND CALLS FOR TRYOUTS

... the women's journalistic ... last Friday in 3 North ... its members to be more ... about their work and ... that dismissal from the ...sult unless more interest ...

... Clark, '31, president of ... will meet all girls who ...t for the club in 3 North ...ne-thirty, Wednesday, No...

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2670, 2671, 2672

KAPPA SIG AND SIGMA PHI WIN LEAGUE FINALS OF FOOTBALL TOURNEY

Eliminate A. T. O. and Phi Sigma Delta as Interfrat Matches Draw to Close

In the finals of League A, the Sigma Phis came through to wallop the A. T. O.'s 36 to 6, A. T. O. scoring in the last period. The elongated atom of Vermont touch-football fame, Fred Tupper, led his team to brilliant victory, making three of the touchdowns by his own flashy running. Tupper without Billings would have been ... a pump without a handle. This diminutive, bespectacled Sig outran the opposition and scored two of the six touchdowns, being instrumental in making the others.

This game was one of the roughest since the contest has started. Many penalties were inflicted on both sides. The score tells the story. The A. T. O.'s are weak on defence and their opponents strong on the offence.

Morse, Grant, Thompson and Beer were the bulwark of the line. Grant emerged from his strange interlude and intercepted passes from every angle. Beer foamed over and nearly wrecked the A. T. O.'s offence single-handed and, say, this Morse is no slouch either.

The A. T. O.'s scored in the last two plays of the game, as the twilight shadows deepened on the back campus stadium.

The Sigma Phis present their strong candidates in Morse, Tupper and Billings for the All Team.

In the finals of League B, the Kappa Sigs trounced the Phi Sigs by the score of 48 to 12.

Capt. "Ed" Newcomb was the individual star of the day, single handedly scoring three touchdowns and aiding materially in the other five. "Pie" Traynor played his usual stellar defensive game, smothering the none too-sure passes of his opponents.

"Charlie" Cummings contributed the sensational play of the game by intercepting a Phi Sig pass and running almost for a touchdown. However, an accident to his pants forced him to halt proceedings until Watson Morgan made the necessary repairs.

"Manny" Dober starred for the Phi Sigs, but could never get going, being stopped in his tracks by the Kappa Sigs whenever he whirled into motion.

"Charlie" Stroh was field marshal for the Phi Sigs and used a series of double and triple passes that once in a while found the Kappa Sigs napping.

"Jule" Perelman, on a pass from "Beanie" Cohen, tossed one to "Mike" Perelman, who ran unaided for a touchdown. The second marker was earned on a pass from Stroh to Cohen.

Kappa Sigs with Newcomb, Traynor, Bowers and Cummings has an even chance for repeating the touch-football tournament.

Boulder Refuses to Publish

A Boulder man Friday declined to make a statement concerning last week's straw vote on CYNIC "editorial policy." He said at the time that the results of the poll were not yet ready for publication.

Author: I've got an idea for a good novel.

Publisher: Then forget it; it won't sell.—Amherst Lord Jeff.

You can't tell the price of a car by smelling the exhaust.

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTING EDITOR—

It was certainly bitter to see that forward pass from Diehl to Pinto across the goal line after the Green and Gold team had held R. P. I. for three downs on the 5-yard mark in the second period of last Saturday's game. The only consolation that the Catamounts can get from that play is that the Engineers did not go through them but had to go over their heads to score.

The Vermont team appeared to be more the Fighting Catamounts than in any game this season. Their spirit seemed to have undergone a change that was pleasant to see.

Both teams were plainly anxious and offside rulings were plentiful. Seldom have we seen as many penalties in one game from this single cause as there were in Saturday's battle.

Coach Dunn's revision in the lineup was not at all bad and further practice ought to bring improvement.

Captain Goldwyn with his marvelous punting was outstanding in the Rensselaer attack. His field goal try in the third period failed only by inches.

It was extremely unfortunate that a Rensselaer man should be killed while on the way to the football game but a cancellation of the contest under the circumstances would have been impracticable.

The Vermont State College teams did not fare very well in last Saturday's games. Norwich was the only one to score but was beaten 13-12 by Worcester Polytech, while Middlebury was swamped by Springfield 34-0.

Next Saturday Norwich appears on Centennial Field in the first State gridiron battle for the Vermont eleven. Middlebury has already overwhelmed the Maroon and now the Cadets are pointing for at least second place. Will they get it? Full steam ahead for Norwich!!

New Hampshire has at last been beaten. Tufts administered the Wildcats' first defeat of the season Saturday by the score of 10 to 8.

The following are results of college football games last Saturday with Vermont opponents in italics:

Williams 14, Union 0
Springfield 34, Middlebury 0
Worcester Polytech 13, Norwich 12
Amherst 22, Mass. Aggies 6
Harvard 13, William and Mary 13
Tufts 10, New Hampshire 8
Conn. Aggies 13, Coast Guard 0
Dartmouth 0, Yale 0
Marquette 6, Boston College 0
Rhode Island 14, Boston U. 0
Syracuse 16, Brown 16
Columbia 10, Cornell 7
Alabama 19, Kentucky 0
Notre Dame 27, Indiana 0
Army 33, North Dakota 6
Holy Cross 32, Rutgers 20
Bates 13, Bowdoin 0
Maine 14, Colby 6
N. Y. U. 20, Carnegie Tech 7
Fordham 10, West Virginia 2
Chicago 0, Princeton 0
Georgia 0, Florida 0
Nebraska 0, Pittsburg 0
Northwestern 27, Minnesota 6
Pennsylvania 21, Kansas 6

"Damn these Listerine ads!" said the president of the B & O. Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

SMOKE DAMAGE
was caused in our store on Monday evening and as a result we have been closed temporarily while adjustment was made.
Starting Saturday we are placing our entire stock on sale at prices greatly reduced.
The Sale is a CASH SALE and there will be no charge for alterations.
Come in early, fellows, and get the pick of the stock at the height of the season.
Hayes and Carney, Inc.
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Single Touchdown Gives 7-0 Game to Rensselaer

Pass and Dropkick Earn Engineers' Points—Park and Manning at New Positions Shine for Catamonts—Dinniman and Collins Strong in Line

CATS' LINE IS STRONG AT CRITICAL MOMENTS

A horde of Cherry and White jerseys invaded Centennial Field last Saturday and eked out a victory over the revived Catamounts by the score of 7 to 0.

In the second quarter after an exchange of kicks, Crowley playing quarter for R. P. I., made 6 yards through left tackle reaching the Vermont 20-yard line. Goldwyn hit off tackle again and ripped off a first tackle. Here the line braced and Pinto on a reverse couldn't gain an inch. Crowley pierced the center of the line but Dinniman made a savage tackle and hailed him for no gain. On the next play Diehl whipped a pass into the outstretched arms of Pinto, who made the necessary distance for the first touchdown, making the score R. P. I. 6, Vermont 0. Goldwyn kicked the ball between the uprights for the additional point.

R. P. I. kicked off to Winant, who left the ball roll over his own goal line. It was brought out to the 20-yard line. Winant made 2 yards off tackle. "Tom" Collins tried the center but of no avail. "Stew" Manning, starting at the full back post, tried to smash the line but he, too, was stopped. Heaton kicked out of danger to the Cherry and White 30-yard line, where Crowley ran it back 15 yards. This gent next pulled the longest run of the game by racing for 25 yards behind pretty interference. Doing all the carrying, he cut through left tackle for a couple of yards.

Goldwyn, not of Metro-Goldwyn fame, made 15 yards off tackle. On the next play he was held off tackle for no gain. So the game see-sawed back and forth with R. P. I. pushing the Green and Gold back. When they came within scoring distance, the Catamount forward line held.

In the second quarter, Collins hit off tackle for 9 yards. On a lateral, Vermont fumbled. R. P. I. recovered on the 38-yard line. After trying to pierce the line, Goldwyn attempted a field goal, but it lacked the necessary distance.

In the second half the line braced and came out fighting. Hitting low they pushed the invaders back and showed what might be done with the proper coordination. When "Stew" Manning at fullback bucked the line, the Rensselaer wall gave way. These steamroller tactics surely held them.

R. P. I. started her second string backfield. Evidently their coach felt Vermont was to be a pushover, but the Catamounts woke up from the lethargy and put up a brave fight. "Peep" Parker at left end played his best game of the year. Time and again he spilled the interference to reach his man. Evidently his natural position is at one of the end posts. "Dinny" Dinniman playing the whole game at center, was down on almost every punt and did some of the finest work in the line. George "Buzz" Collins, back at his old post, was his former self again. "Stew" Manning evidently will occupy his newly acquired berth and should continue there through the State series.

Line-ups

Vermont	R. P. I.
Park (Durfey)	l.e. ... l.e., Dishaw
Donaldson (Davis)	l.t. ... l.t., Tenfe
G. Collins (H. Cohen)	l.g. ... l.g., Ablondi
Dinniman	c. ... c., Weinstein (Howland)
Farmer (Blakely)	r.g. ... r.g., Kelso
Aronson (M. Cohen)	r.t. ... r.t., Bauer
Wood (Palmer)	r.e. ... r.e., Pinto
Winant (Hove)	q.b. ... q.b., Crowley
T. Collins	l.h.b. ... l.h.b., Nolan (Bliss)
Heaton (Coburn, Jay)	r.h.b. ... r.h.b., Diehl
Manning	f.b. ... f.b., Goldwyn

ALL-CLASS FALL RALLY HELD AT GRASSMOUNT

Closing the fall out-door sport activities the W. A. A. fall rally was held at Grassmount Wednesday, October 29. During the afternoon the finals in hockey, volleyball and tennis were played off with the following results.

The seniors win the hockey championship by reason of defeating the juniors by 2-1, the freshmen and sophomores by 1-0; juniors are class leaders in volleyball, after winning from the sophomores 27-26 in an overtime period, the senior tennis team, Dot Nash and Ellie Koenig, win the title by a 6-1, 6-3, defeat over the sophomores.

Class bonfires were then built on the back lawn at Grassmount, and everyone gathered around for a picnic supper and the competitive sing. The juniors, led by Billie Mount, were judged the best, with the seniors receiving honorable mention.

After a snappy snake dance the co-eds were ready for the business part of the rally. Isabelle Warhurst, '31, announced the results of the final games, said that the W. A. A. Council had already nominated Jennie Scutakes and Jackie Hoyt for freshman representative, and asked for other nominations. Helen Fogg, Hilda Davies and Peg Scoboria were then added to the list.

As announced by the W. A. A. president the varsity hockey team is made up of N. Hawley, '31, M. Berry, '32, J. Howsley, '31, F. McKean, '31, D. Humphreys, '33, A. Gay, '32, V. Chadburn, '31, J. Rogers, '31, E. Abbott, '31, L. Harrington, '32, and M. Witherell, '34.

Those on the varsity volleyball team are: H. Fogg, '34, W. Graham, '32, D. Humphreys, '33, D. Brennan, '32, J. Scutakes, '34, E. Rockwell, '24, M. Tower, '33, E. Miller, '32, and I. Mount, '34.

Most of the interest in the program was centered on the presentation of the personal awards. Blazers, the highest honors, were given to Mildred Akins, '32, Winifred Graham, '32, Dorothy Nash, '31, and Lillian Mount, '32. The U. V. M. insignia were received by Dorothy Nash, '31, Dorothy Fowler, '32, and Carlotta Grimm, '31. Class numerals were presented to Rena Merrill, '31, Dorothy Fowler, Katherine Skinner, Emily Maslen, Sylvia Holden, '32, and Lenda Walker, '34.

THERE ARE BRIDGES AND BRIDGES

But the most popular BRIDGE right now belongs to the BRIDGE PARTY—For that we have TALLIES that will make the party a mixer, or tallies that will cheer folks up, give them a laugh and make all happy, and too we have tallies for those who can tell an informatory from a business double. With these TALLIES we have CARDS and every variety of PRIZE.

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

THIRD FROSH DEBATE SERIES CUTS ORIGINAL FOURTEEN MEN TO SIX

Three Who Will Engage With Sophomores For Bailey Cup To Be Determined In Next Tryout

[illegible]

Thirty in Kentucky

[illegible]

Closes For Negative

A Webster in closing the argument for the negative attempted to prove to the public that the cause there is not sufficient cause to the produced and prevalent. Because of the natural resources and hard working people the State has found a common obstacle of transportation and its aim to handle large quantities to the best advantage of all.

After a brief interpretation Webster returned to the stage to push the home rule question and further ground his argument. Home rule [illegible]

Ryan first rebuttal speaker for affirmative, showed that there was no difference in "independent" in matters of wages and hours. During the flood of 1927 he said the banks would not give credit when people had little and there was no chance of making further [illegible]

Morrison opened for the affirmative he argued that it is hard to believe that if it had not been for chain stores that we would not have progressed and our stores would be like the country stores of the nineties. It is true that the chain system is opposite from that of the independent dealer but in fact and in other words it is crowding the independent dealer out of business and is increasing employment rather than doing away with it. It is not inefficiency that puts the independent merchant out of business but it is the keen cutting prices that is detrimental to the independent.

Van Dyke closing the rebuttal for the negative refuted several of the affirmative points such as unemployment, inferior goods and the taking of money out of the town into other communities. He admitted that chains paid very low wages but there was chains for an argument.

Lesman concluded the debate by further declaring his points with proof and showing that chains were decreasing in sales. Chain store goods not less because of inferior quality and because they sell for less. It is not possible for all chain clerks to be promoted to supervisors because there are too many for the number of supervisors. This means that the clerks will have to go on working for eighteen dollars a week as admitted by the negative team.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Ham Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

SPECIAL

Discount to Students on

GAS and OIL

UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION

Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.

100% SERVICE

The Old Reliable

Women's and Misses

Washable

Cape Leather Pull-On

gloves $1.95 pr.

A very serviceable glove for campus wear. Four-button length, tan, brown, black, navy and green. Sizes 5½ to 7½.

Norwich-Vermont Game

NOVEMBER 8

Students tickets may be exchanged for reserve seat tickets in the Old Mill Chapel on Thursday, November 6, at 4 o'clock p.m.

Tickets will not be exchanged at the Graduate Manager's Office LATER THAN FRIDAY NIGHT AT 5 O'CLOCK

S. C. Abell,
Graduate Manager

Elizabeth Clark, '31, president of The Press Club, will meet all women scrubs in 3 North College at 1.30 p.m. Wednesday, November 5

Phone 613 or 614

VERMONT CLEANSING CO.

SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices

Try

HENRY'S DINER

155 Bank St.

NORWICH CANCELS MEET WITH VERMONT VARSITY

[illegible]

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

[illegible]

DELTA DELTA DELTA

[illegible]

KAPPA DELTA

[illegible]

[illegible]

A meeting of Pan Hellenic was held Tuesday October 28 at four in the Grill. It was voted to hold meetings every three weeks instead of every two weeks.

VERGIL'S BIMILLENARY TO BE CELEBRATED TONIGHT

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible]

The Vergil Bimillenary

Two thousand years have elapsed since the birth of Vergil the greatest of Roman poets but his fame has not by the least diminished through this long period. His works still appeal to every lover of good poetry, high adventure and true patriotism.

In 1930 the Athone E. Roma Society of Rome reminded the world that on October 5, 1930 the two thousandth anniversary of Publius Vergilius Maro would occur, and it invited all nations to unite in doing honor to one of the world's greatest epic and pastoral poets.

It is only just that Vergil be accorded the highest praise and that his birthday anniversary be especially honored for as Dr Anna Pearl Mac-Vay says, No other poet except Euripides has pictured more sympathetically man's emotions, whether of supreme bliss or keenest sorrow, and [illegible] why more vividly the horrors of war and the desolation that it brings to its innocent victims. Vergil is loved around all the world because of his [illegible] he never pictures war as a glorious adventure, but always makes us feel its cruelty and barbarous [illegible]

Ranked Among Best

Though shy and quiet Vergil was everywhere welcome, and contact with greatness and grandeur lent splendour to his lines. He died at the age of fifty-one and left behind him some four hundred pages, containing three works in three forms of poetry, the "Eclogues" in pastoral, the "Georgics" in didactics, the "Aeneid" in epic. In his life he won fame unrivalled and posterity has ranked him with Homer, Dante, with Shakespeare and Milton among the great.

ANNOUNCE CHOICE FOR GLEE CLUB QUARTETS

Under the direction of [illegible] Bennett the following were selected for the various quartets after a recent [illegible] recently

Quartet -1. H [illegible]
W F Kerrigan '31
A L. Schaetzle '32
R. S. Jones '32 J H [illegible]
W E Daigle '31 J [illegible] and the members of the [illegible] listed above.

The rehearsals of the Glee Club, which will [illegible] ing rushing season, [illegible] sumed this week. A good progress is being made [illegible] for the intercollegiate [illegible] to be held later in the [illegible]

Each entrant in the [illegible] three songs: the "prize [illegible] son," and a choice song. [illegible] glee clubs will sing the [illegible] song which is to be "Watch," by Elgar. The [illegible] to represent Vermont will [illegible] "Champlain," which won [illegible] of applause at the [illegible] test in Springfield last [illegible] choice song has not yet been [illegible] but the Music Department [illegible] on several possibilities.

The glee club will [illegible] public appearances at [illegible] in preparation for the [illegible] contest. In the second [illegible] comic opera will be presented [illegible] Streng Theater by the [illegible] by the University choir [illegible]

All sophomores wishing to scrub the business side of the 1932 Ariel meet at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock

Everett G. Wilder Mgr

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

They shut the door on hybrid styles

Quantity production of equipment has long been practiced by the telephone industry. Telephone designers years ago shut the door on many hybrid styles—seeking first to work out instruments which could best transmit the voice, then making these few types in great quantities.

This standardization made possible concentrated study of manufacturing processes, and steady improvement of them. For example, production of 15,000,000 switchboard [illegible] year, all of one type, led to the development of a highly special machine which does in a few minutes what once took an hour.

Manufacturing engineers, with their [illegible] start in applying these ideas, have been able to develop methods which in many cases have become industrial models. The opportunity [illegible]

BELL SYSTEM

A NATION-WIDE SYSTEM OF MORE THAN 20,000,000 INTER-CONNECTING TELEPHONES

BEAT NORWICH

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1930 | NUMBER 14

VARSITY DEBATERS TO MEET KEENE NORMAL SCHOOL IN BURLINGTON

J. V.'s Get Underway With Conflict Before K. P.'s on Chain Stores; Keene Debate on Same Topic

FRESHMEN ALSO DEBATE CHAIN STORE IN TRYOUT

[illegible] home debating season, [illegible] will take possession of the [illegible] platform the evening of [illegible] when Keene Normal [illegible] meet Vermont on the question [illegible] That the chain store [illegible] detrimental to the best [illegible] the American public." [illegible] will uphold the affirmative [illegible], which will be argued [illegible] an style.

The Vermont team, while not yet [illegible] decided upon, will probably [illegible] George Nelson, '31, Louis [illegible] and either R. P. Donaghy, [illegible] Bigelow, '33.

[illegible] Normal School is expected to [illegible] by a strong team. [illegible] ago a veteran Vermont [illegible] moved to Keene and won a [illegible] the subject of advertising. [illegible] of the team were George [illegible] Louis Lisman, '31, and [illegible] '30.

J. V.'s Begin

J. V. debating started off last eve[illegible] when P. J. LaCrosse, '32, and [illegible] Birnbaum, '34, argued the [illegible] of the chain store question [illegible] Realtors McCuen, '34, and [illegible] Bigelow, '33, before the Knights [illegible] E. M. Codding, '31, pre[illegible] as chairman.

Within the next few days the J. V.'s will travel to Milton to debate pro[illegible] under the auspices of the [illegible] Batman, '33, of the Milton [illegible] Church. In this de[illegible] the teams will employ the Oregon [illegible] The teams will include J. E. [illegible], '33, and P. J. LaCrosse, '32, [illegible] at least two others.

On November 14 the Vergennes [illegible] will sponsor the third appear[illegible] of the J. V.'s at Vergennes. The [illegible] will deal with the repeal of [illegible] prohibition amendment and will [illegible] be conducted in the Oregon style [illegible] The debate P. J. LaCrosse, '32, and [illegible] Codding, '31, will oppose [illegible] Howe, '34, and J. E. Bige[illegible] '33.

Several other J. V. debates, includ[illegible] practices with the two Burlington [illegible] schools, are also in the offing.

Final Frosh Tryout

The final tryout for the freshman [illegible] debating team, which will com[illegible] against the sophomores for the [illegible] this month, will be held [illegible] afternoon at four o'clock in the [illegible] Mill Chapel. The question is the [illegible] previous tryouts, "Re[illegible] that the chain store is detri[illegible] the best interests of the [illegible] people." Benjamin Birn[illegible] Batman, Marshall Howe [illegible] Lisman will uphold the [illegible] while George Burrows, [illegible] Charles Libbey and Rob[illegible] will oppose them. The [illegible] minutes for constructive [illegible] and four minutes for re[illegible]

[illegible] of three men and an alter[illegible] survives this tryout will [illegible] sophomore team composed [illegible] Burn, R. P. Donaghy and [illegible]. The winner of this [illegible] hold the Bailey cup for [illegible]. At present, the class of [illegible] the cup.

The old English V for W. A. A. points will be given as usual this year. Seniors must have 1,600 points to gain this honor; 200 may be made in the last year.

Meeting of Vermont Independents, Monday, November 10, at 7:30 in Y. M. C. A. office in the Old Mill. Important business. All non-fraternity men cordially invited.

E. M. Codding, Pres.

"FRIENDSHIP" IS THEME OF ADAMS' CHAPEL TALK

"It may be well to be alone at times, but not all the time," declared Rev. Chauncey Adams of the Congregational Church in Waterbury in his chapel address Wednesday.

He pointed out that friendship was depicted when Jesus said, "All the things that my father told me, I have made known to you." Also in Jesus' death there is another example pictured, as he gave up his life for his followers.

Everybody must stand on one side or the other in life, either to meet people as friends or as foes. As there are more possibilities to meet people in today's world than ever before, it is very hard to make the choice. He further declared that mankind must make sacrifices in the present day world.

Reverend Adams closed with a wish that all present would go out into the world with the thought that the greatest thing in the world is personality and that sacrifices never hurt too much.

PROF. MARBURY B. OGLE SPEAKS IN GYMNASIUM ON GREAT ROMAN POET

"Vergil, a Poet of the Ages," is Title of Lecture; Poet's True Greatness and Genius Shown

Prof. Marbury Bladen Ogle, head of the department of Latin at Ohio State University and formerly head of the same department at this University, delivered the first of the regular series of University lectures in the gymnasium Tuesday night. A large and enthusiastic audience enjoyed the lecture, the title of which was "Vergil—a Poet of the Ages."

Prindle Introduces

Prof. Lester M. Prindle introduced the speaker with a fine tribute to his predecessor. Mr. Prindle stressed briefly the greatness of the Latin poet in honor of whose two thousandth anniversary the lecture was given. He went on to speak of the personal relations between Professor Ogle and himself and voiced his appreciation of the help and inspiration which the former had given him as a teacher and friend.

Professor Ogle remarked that it was indeed a pleasure for him to return to Vermont and see again many of his friends and colleagues. As he approached Burlington, he said, he felt as if it were a homecoming after a brief vacation.

"Why," asked Professor Ogle, "do we celebrate Vergil's anniversary?" This universal celebration is a tribute not only to one of the greatest and most influential figures of literature, but also to the spiritual sense of the world. It shows that Vergil's inspiration is far-reaching and that the world realizes how different would be the record of our civilization without Vergil, Caesar and Cicero.

The speaker then proceeded to outline several reasons why Vergil's works are great. He stressed the subjectivity of the poetry, the manifestation of the poet's soul in his work. The tragedy of his own life is shown and lends reality to the expressions of profound tragedy which are to be found in the pages of the Aeneid. The poet's hatred for war and his realization that civilization had reached a critical point in his own time are also evident. Professor Ogle quoted briefly from the Eclogues and the Aeneid to illustrate his points. However, as he observed, no translation can do justice to the majesty, simplicity, and directness of the Latin verse.

The Aeneid

"The Aeneid," said the speaker, "is not an epic in the sense that the Iliad and Beowulf are epics. The Aeneid is not only a panegyric of the glories of the Trojan-Roman race but is also an expression of the poet's profound thought." Professor Ogle sum-

(Continued on page 3)

Dunn Sees Prospect of Beating Norwich Red Fire to Light Student Parade Tonight

Coach, Captain and Graduate Manager Equally Enthusiastic Over Chances of Victory in Tomorrow's Game—Key and Serpent to Sponsor Monster Rally Tonight With Torchlight Procession From Gymnasium to City Hall Park for Entire Student Body in Place of Usual Smoker—Dunn, Abell, Levine, Tully and Others to Speak From City Hall Stand to Marchers

CAPTAIN SEGAL CALLS FOR WINNING ATTITUDE; ABELL EXPECTS BIG SUPPORT

Coach David L. Dunn, in reply to the question, "What are the chances of beating Norwich?" said last night:

"The boys were well beaten at New Hampshire. A final drive has been made. The team is coming fast and strong. They have got it in themselves to win and they are going to get rid of it. They can win!"

The Torchlight Parade

Red fire will light the line of march from the University to the City Hall tonight, when the student body turns out en masse to demonstrate its loyalty to the football team tomorrow.

The parade will be sponsored by the Key and Serpent Society and will be the third in the history of the University. All four classes will march, men and women both, assembling at the gymnasium at 7:30.

The parade, or rather the snake dance, is one of the grandest affairs of the year. It takes the place of the customary smoker, and is the only occasion when both men and women have an opportunity to participate as a group in cheering the team for a forthcoming game.

The band, as usual, will be in the van, while the cheer leaders will be here, there and everywhere, leading the students in familiar songs and cheers. Fiery red torches, meaning danger to Norwich, will be carried by every marcher.

The paraders, as soon as they arrive at the park, will form around the bandstand for a program of speakers, music and more cheers, modeled on the lines of the traditional smoker and sponsored by Key and Serpent.

Head Coach "Dave" Dunn, George Tully, freshman football mentor, "Babe" Abell, graduate manager, Line Coach "Bumps" Levine, and "Mickey" McMahon, one-time cheerleader, will be on hand as speakers of the evening.

Chances Are Good

Leo Segal, Vermont's fighting football captain, who suffered an injury at Amherst which has put him out of the game ever since, is expected to be in condition for Saturday's battle. When asked what he thought Vermont's possibilities against Norwich were, he declared that "the team's chances of victory Saturday are very good. The men have the potentialities of a winning aggregation. So far it has been hidden, but it must, and will, be brought out."

"In practice," the captain said, "the team looks like a million dollars, and it will be out there giving every thing it has against Norwich."

Segal also explained that the team will be starting at almost full strength for the first time since the beginning of the season, as only three men are injured, each of whom has a good chance of recovery by Saturday.

"Vermont hasn't a winning attitude," complained Segal in discussing the general student opinion of athletics, "and doesn't care enough about winning, all because the student body, and outsiders also, think that we can't win, basing their opinion on past performances. But the team has been working out with more vim and vigor than it has displayed all season, the players have been showing the right spirit, and will show it, and all we ask for is support from the student body with the expectation of a victory over Norwich. The team will do the rest."

Graduate Manager Abell was equally enthusiastic over tomorrow's prospects.

"Everything is in ship shape," he said. "The boys are on the job, the equipment is O. K., the officials are the best to be had and with the homecoming of alumni, the game ought to be a great success."

When asked about the advance sale of tickets, he was equally encouraging. "The advance sale is very good. People are taking a keen interest in this game, I judge from the way they have applied for seats. Gold Key and Key and Serpent will have their hands full with the crowd I think."

"The homecoming of the alumni is going to add a great deal of the color of the game. They plan to have a separate cheering section."

"I think the boys have it in them to win if they will. The game will be a thriller."

Beat Norwich!

WATCH VERMONT!

No.	Name	Position	Age	Wt.	Prep School
20	Jay, Orson W., '32	b.	20	155	St. Albans High
21	Dorey, George L., '31	b.	21	173	Middlebury High
22	Winant, Edward M., '32	b.	21	155	Mamaroneck High
23	Heaton, Wm. S., '31	b.	22	145	Montpelier High
24	Segal, Leo, '31 (Capt.)	e.	21	150	Dorchester High
25	Allerton, Wade R., '31	e.	21	155	Columbia High
26	Wadsworth, Elmer E., '33	b.	20	166	Mt. Herman High
27	Bedell, Wm. R., '33	e.	19	155	Flushing High
28	Thorne, Edward E., '32	e.	23	165	Deerfield Academy
29	Durfey, Lyman R., '31	e.	22	174	Cathedral High
30	Collins, Thomas E., '33	b.	19	169	W. Hartford High
31	Rugg, Howard L., '32	e.	23	167	St. Albans High
33	Tilley, Clifton W., '32	g.	18	180	Essex Jct. High
35	Aronson, Arnold O., '31	t.	21	190	Proctor High
36	Davis, Harold W., '32	c.	19	219	Lyndon Institute
37	Park, Paul N.,	t.	21	195	Ryegate High
38	Blakely, Richard M., '31	g.	21	172	Ticonderga High
39	Cohen, Mathew, '32	t.	22	173	Central High
40	Donaldson, Malcolm G., '31	g.	20	160	Burlington High
41	Collins, George R., '32	g.	21	170	Flushing High
42	Wood, James E., '33	g.	20	150	New Hampton High
43	Maynes, Roderick J., '31	g.	21	155	Woodstock High
45	Farmer, Morris H., '33	g.	24	165	Sherman High
46	Cohen, Harris, '33	g.	20	226	Burlington High
32	Kibby, E. V., '32	e.	19	155	Randolph High
34	Dinniman, Harold, '32	c.	22	172	Peekskill Military Academy
47	Manning, Stewart, '32	b.	—	—	Worcester High

VERMONT WELCOMES PARENTS AND ALUMNI

During the past few days members of the committee in charge of the "Homecoming Day," to be held this Saturday, have been particularly busy in the matter of sending out cards to the alumni. Efforts have also been made to secure the cooperation of the student body by having each man invite his own father up over the week-end. This idea is mainly to benefit the freshmen since the parents of the upperclassmen have already visited them.

The committee composed of R. Worrell, '31, R. Tobin, '31, R. Maynes, '31, E. Winant, '32, and J. Marvin, '33, voted to hold a "Homecoming Day" annually provided that these are proven successful. Each year the day will come the same time when Vermont plays Norwich or Middlebury. Since plans were made so late this year the alumni will be entertained by their respective fraternities. Next year it is hoped that a banquet can be held to accommodate all the visitors.

The activities begin Friday night with a pep rally sponsored by the Key and Serpent Society. Saturday afternoon the game with Norwich and the cross-country race will take place. In the evening the fraternities will entertain their alumni and the Key and Serpent will put on a dance.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Delegations of college presidents, general secretaries and presidents of Christian associations, and student leaders from colleges all over the country will gather at Detroit, Mich., December 27-31, for the Student Faculty Conference, sponsored by the National Student Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

The purpose of the conference is to present problems arising in the Christian Association work on the campus and discuss solutions and ideas of the various groups represented. Today more than ever before the student Christian Association movement clearly sees that it has definite social, religious and intellectual duties. At no other time it realizes the power of the Christian principles it follows. The need for organized discussions of its problems is especially acute. Faculties and students feel that the Detroit conference will do much to aid them in their work at orientation, so

(Continued on page 3)

The Vermont Cynic

The official student newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Business Manager

Sports Editor

News Editor

Managing Editor

Associate Editors

Assistant Business Managers

Subscription Price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Published at the Intercollegiate Publishing House every Tuesday and Thursday during the college year. Communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in before 4 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All communications relating to business should be addressed to the Business Manager. Entered at the Burlington Postoffice for transmission outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 14, 1918.

The Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 69 November 7, 1929 No. 14

WELCOME HOME

[illegible] Homecoming Day and we are here again.

WE WANT TO WIN

"The team can win."

We echo that point right [illegible] Catamount outfit hold [illegible] statement as suggested by another [illegible] Dunn. He is not [illegible] to be admitting to keep up his courage. He fully [illegible] the situation and the necessity of defeat by the weaker of [illegible] opponents. He realizes that a team can lose and still be [illegible] Vermont did at New Hampshire.

But he also knows that Vermont has an fighting heart up. He knows that the team will give everything it has, that it may be able to say to its supporters, "We beat Norwich." Time and again the Catamounts showed a fighting spirit [illegible] and have done the unexpected and turned the tables in a stronger opponent. Norwich has no great advantage over Vermont. It is not unbeatable today. Its record this year is none of the best. But it has a tradition behind it of five seasons during which it has held Vermont scoreless. To upset that unrelated every Norwich player will fight as never before and it is for Vermont to keep a team so determined. That the Cats are equally determined we believe that tomorrow's game will prove.

But no other fighting will be done upon the turning of the [illegible] battle will not the stands, whose [illegible] assist will be the grandstand [illegible] the past or [illegible] have a look all [illegible] you?

We cannot contribute a point to the score of course, but it [illegible] a little [illegible] to your [illegible] Come cheering with [illegible] Sing songs, [illegible] in other ways?

Vermont has not got a winning [illegible] said Captain Segal. If he is right [illegible] observing seems to keep him out, then the student [illegible] is proving a distinct handicap to the team. If we are to win [illegible] every game. But we will have accepted them we can expect losing [illegible].

The effect of cheering on a game is a debatable question, but that the knowledge of another's confidence in oneself is a tremendous aid to success is a matter of common observation. The team that is expected to lose will lose. The team we expect to win will win.

The real game of the season is the [illegible] tonight will begin to [illegible] in most [illegible] a [illegible] sense. Every loyal student that supports the team [illegible] frequently determines its attitude towards the game.

And every "We can win" will bring that feeling of confidence to the team which tells it that we are behind it with a will to win and we can prove that our shouting was not in vain when we cried "[illegible] Norwich!"

THE MUSE CONVERSES

AN INTERVIEW WITH PROFESSOR GUMPERT

[illegible] merrily, "and personally I think that [illegible] is the finest [illegible] we have had for years."

We were seated in the professor's laboratory situated on the fifth floor of the Old Mill. In order to insure an uninterrupted hour, Professor Gumpert had just pulled in the rope ladder which forms the only means of entrance and exit.

"Professor Gumpert," said I, "the readers of the Cynic would like to hear about some of the extraordinary [illegible] you have been [illegible] Have you any [illegible] to tell them?"

A fine [illegible] said the professor modestly. "Here for example"

This appeared to be very ordinary rain, said I.

"And that is just where you are mistaken," said Professor Gumpert, for these two rats were caught desert[illegible]

To cover my [illegible] I hastily turned to a bowl of water in which [illegible] was floating, and [illegible] started to pick out the lumps and take a drink.

"Hold," roared the professor. "Do you realize that you were about to throw away one of the few authentic pieces of bread that has been cast on [illegible] And the bread wouldn't have returned," he continued in an aggrieved [illegible] If I hadn't sent a [illegible] with a little piece of [illegible] tied round his neck after it. Pinch some of that water between your fingers."

After it [illegible] I said doubtfully.

Exactly," exclaimed Doctor Gumpert, "and your observation only goes to prove a hitherto unproved assertion [illegible] that there is a certain rudimentary mind even in a Vermont man. Of course, this water is viscid. That's not the point. It isn't often that you [illegible] water that's thicker than blood [illegible] only that," continued Doctor Gumpert, "in China the natives paint it brown and use it for molasses."

Just then a man with a wild free [illegible] looking out of his eye peered over the window sill. He cast a de[illegible] look about and climbed up over the window.

A sad case, said the professor. He got that way trying to observe [illegible] Look before you leap,' and 'He who hesitates is lost.' At this [illegible] the professor plunged his hand into a bowl of gin and drew out one of several silver fish swimming there. He bit its tail, and the happy little creature crying "uncle" at the top of its lungs leaped back into the bowl.

One question more," I said, stuffing my brief case with apples and preparing to leave. "What do you think of the Cynic policy?"

"Rotten," said the professor, "I'd rather have a Prudential twenty-year endowment."

At that, I slid out of the room on a roller coaster thoughtfully provided by the professor, and went my way, wishing the Herr Geheimrat Direktor and his wife and all the little kiddies a happy new year.

Room for Improvement

The recent reorganization of the entire freshman disciplinary system brings to the fore once more the question as to whether St. Lawrence is not after all, outgrowing the need for such stringent measures in regards to freshmen. We have only to consider the rapid increase in enrollment, the larger faculty, the erection of the several new buildings on the campus, to realize that the college is [illegible] steadily along material lines. Such expansion should tend to motivate a parallel movement toward better ethical standards of student conduct and a desire on the part of the undergraduates to give their college a real freedom from arbitrary regulations.

If we pride ourselves on rivalling the highest rated colleges in the country in athletic and curricular accomplishments, why not outdo them in the present trend toward recognition of the freshman year as a vital part of the college course, demanding equal privileges for its members with the two final years of undergraduate life. Mutual understanding among the classes with the purpose of bettering the college by cooperation not dictation would be on a much higher level of student control than that which now exists. The freshmen are in college. Let them benefit by their own mistakes not be demoralized by those of the upperclassmen.—St. Lawrence H.S. News

With the installation by the Princeton University Press of a linotype machine completely equipped for printing Arabic characters, work is in process here on the publication of the first series of Oriental texts ever to be actually printed in Arabic by a university press in America.

Beat Norwich!

The Mystic Pen

Campus characters, number 2. He hails from Franklin, Mass. (when it doesn't rain); always looks as though he had just finished a two-year nonstop miniature golf tournament; blows through a cornet; sometimes through his nose; claims that all the money he ever spent would not heat one gram of water through sixten degrees Centigrade; his idea of a good time is a week in bed; once gave a little girl a penny, is afraid to go home in the dark; still refuses to take Canadian money; is president of the Freshman Society for Abolition of Co-education; always holds his fork in his left hand and eats grapefruit with a spoon; is Joe Lechmyr's favorite because of his winsome smile; he once said hello to someone and the chapel clock hasn't been right since!

The Hooey Club discussed the power of the press at its last meeting. A [illegible] stated that the best effect was obtained by having the crease along the seams of the trousers. He was overruled for changing the subject. The more serious-minded members came to the conclusion that if the male right and left arms were placed, respectively, under and over the corresponding opposite arms of the female the efficiency of the power of the press would be 100 percent.

"I certainly am glad to see that not all of the coeds have become too modernized by college life," said the Old Chapel mouse. "Why, would you believe it last time I crossed the floor three females registered the primeval emotions just as they did in great great-uncle's day. For a bit of lunch room cheese I'll tell you their names." We gave him the cheese, but we reserve the names for our blackmailing list!

Embarrassing moments: When you realize that the prof, who has repeated the question four times in a dangerously patient tone, is looking at you and not at the person next to you.

Famous last words: I'll just snooze two minutes longer.

Unsung heroes: That frail but determined female who plowed a way through the inter-period corridor crush for us.

A play is to be produced by the Freshman Dramatic Society, entitled "His Sweetheart's Husband," by the author of "Scrap Iron, Rags and Bottles." It is concerned with the affairs of an itinerant vendor who settles down in a small town and becomes attracted to the wife of another itinerant vendor. The play is packed with thrills, suspense, expense and humor. As the villain is not yet of age a minor love strain runs through the play. An extract is out of place here.

Husband: Well, dear, I'm off to cover my territory, and if my car doesn't break down too often I'll be back in three weeks. (Kisses her.)

Wife: You don't know how much I'll miss you!

Husband: Humph! (Takes up suitcase.) Goodbye! (Exits closing door.)

Villain (steps out of closet—they fall into each others' arms): Just think, honey, three whole weeks!

Wife: Oh, Joe, can it be true??? (Sound of returning footsteps; Joe ducks into closet again; husband enters.)

Husband: I forgot something, dear. (Walks to closet; throws open door.) Goodbye, Joe!! (Leaves.)

The subject of this week's lecture is "The Study of Companionate Marriage among the East Senegalian Variegated Newts." The speaker, Doctor Bungle, P P P., is well qualified, having spent ten minutes observing the Bator family of West Winooski.

There was a young lad from Winooski
Who swore to his love he'd be trueski.
What a blow to her pride
When she found that he'd lied,
And informed her that he was all throughski.

The inquiring reporter ventured into Converse to get the frosh to sign a petition advocating putting holes in Gold Key paddles to facilitate their descent upon the weak end. The reporter reports a black eye and a permanently impaired medulla.

Campus Rumor Number One: One Co-ed was heard to remark that she thought it a shame "Legs" Diamond was shot. She thinks the world of his burlesque productions.

Beat Norwich!

Intercollegiate News

College education for [illegible] dollars and cents [illegible] a survey of the [illegible] business women [illegible] versity of Michigan [illegible] the National Federat[illegible] and Professional W[illegible] College graduates show [illegible] advantage averaging $[illegible] over their sisters who [illegible] college without graduating.

The University of [illegible] paring to dedicate [illegible] stadium on Saturday [illegible] when the Alabama Cl[illegible] in the feature home [illegible] year; the Homecoming [illegible] new stadium seats [illegible] erected at a cost of $[illegible]

It takes courage and a [illegible] receive a swift right [illegible] enroll in some college [illegible] adays. Having undertaken [illegible] developing personality [illegible] anticipating the active [illegible] recording angel in [illegible] the student shall at least [illegible] as to his own traits. One [illegible] University course this [illegible] the length of taking [illegible] of each student to record [illegible] sartorial and social sins.

A still more rigorous [illegible] forced in the division of [illegible] nomics at the Kansas State [illegible] tural College. There all students are required to be [illegible] rated by five friends in the [illegible] ality traits ranging from [illegible] initiative to personal [illegible] charts are then compared [illegible] student's self-rating and [illegible] selected for improvement [illegible] month each student will [illegible] her advisor to discuss the [illegible] problems, and at the [illegible] semester she will be rated [illegible] herself, her instructor and [illegible] lege friends to determine [illegible] provement has been made. [illegible] third degree was part of [illegible] teachers at the University [illegible] last summer.

The third new student [illegible] to leave a Columbia University [illegible] tory within less than a [illegible] been expelled from John[illegible] The freshman was caught [illegible] articles out of a seventh floor [illegible] classmates said. Dean [illegible] Hawkes, in an address to the [illegible] man class on October 7, [illegible] the expulsion of two [illegible] from Hartley Hall for "[illegible] of themselves." It was [illegible] that throwing water and [illegible] articles from the windows [illegible] upper floors of the dormitories [illegible] action referred to.

Famous statesmen of [illegible] Asia are to speak to American [illegible] students through a series of [illegible] talking pictures in 1931 [illegible] of the National Student Federation [illegible] America mature. Negotiations [illegible] already under way to make [illegible] of such pictures of Aristide [illegible] part of a scheme to promote [illegible] telligent student interest [illegible] on world affairs. Well-known [illegible] speeches ten to twenty minutes [illegible] length, on subjects of pressing [illegible] ternational concern, are [illegible] Scenes illustrating the speech [illegible] may be played into the picture [illegible] ing the address, and other [illegible] used to sustain interest.

Beat Norwich!

The Vermouth Sink is a [illegible] discussion. To paddle or not [illegible] dle. It's hardly a question [illegible] are a determined lot, and [illegible] prophetically wheezed. "[illegible] hell bust loose!"

The Nucleus, freshman [illegible] made an attempt to rescue [illegible] ren from the Gold Key [illegible] last week. They failed in [illegible] jective only because of a [illegible] tack of frigus peduum, which [illegible] some of the men. Better [illegible] time.

Dear Mystic Pen: I [illegible] tunate Blows, gargle [illegible] no athlete's foot and [illegible] pen. Yet my best friend [illegible] me why that young [illegible] looks the other way when I [illegible]

Yours, Three Star [illegible]

Perhaps it's love. You [illegible] flunking instead of passing [illegible] any case, ring the bell! [illegible]

45 Middle College

Wearily the endless stairs
We climb, into the vapid air
Of our Roof Garden in the sky
Where we'll learn Good-bye
We stay a little while and then
We all shag down those stairs again.

There is a young freshman [illegible]
Who has lots of cash, but [illegible]
When he is around
The girls can't be found
Now how is this guy going [illegible]

Beat Norwich!

BEAT NORWICH

Vermont Poet Calls Prof. Ogle One of University's Illustrious Quintet

By Daniel L. Cady ap
Burlington Free Press.
(October 31, 1930)

not Vergil was a wizard, ught in the middle age
it is fortunate that a izard" should come back
n to tell us about him,
Ogle did at the Ver-asium on November 4
it would have been more Professor Ogle had never all, for when he steamed niversity possessed an in-professors, five in number, eauties in the New Eng-show, to use very under-language. Professor Ogle the difficult mathemati-squaring the circle" when reducing rotundly to four-five professors, named Bas-Myrick, Ogle and Tupper, are still with us with the ception: they were all selec-late President Buckham,

so many stars in the Educational Primate of land, as President Buck-ailed in his later years;
never done anything mor-
these men around him, ave been a great colle-
Though Professor Ogle was disrupt the charming circle,
e of the others after him:
remain and may "Vermont" after such a fashion that always remain.

never been quite reconciled that Professor Ogle should ated the circle by accepting a in an Ohio institution, worthy. I do not want to n Ohio for scholarship any
I do on Utah for religion.
so many colleges ('tis said boy and girl in the State college) that they all look h alike to us. But perhaps ave satisfaction: there are t other college steeples are bells in the hope of ate Ogelesque attention. He Vermont" for seventeen years developed under his skin and of it, into a teacher so suc-
that I shall not be sorry in cannot hold the merit-laden forever. Wouldn't it be paradisaical should he wish to return unto his brethren at "Vermont" who love him, and who have decided, I hope, never to turn their backs upon Burlington while life and being last?

The above mention of a circle of five at our University is in no sense invidious; I am not enumerating all the worthy competent, but those I have mentioned are each full professors; beside, there are other "circles" and other squares and other absolute mathematical proportions at "Vermont." Let each writer and reader, too, select his own figure and expatiate upon it as he desires.

Our University staff is in general so bright-shining that the question with me is not whether I am speaking of those I should speak of, but whether we are, as a community, properly appreciative of our resident professors —"we townies." Here with us are men who can calculate in a minute how long it would take the moon to fall to the earth; men who can easily show us that the dead languages are so much alive that the simplest treatise on a scientific subject cannot be written without using the supposedly defunct tongues; men with whom Chaucer would have shared his tabard in a stormy night to men men whose botanic ability can change nature, as Shakespeare says other men who presented at the Italian Court, say, would neither in Romance idiom or grace of politeness fail to measure up to the exacting situation "Town vs. Gown" is an old fuss that should be stricken from the docket in Burlington.

Friends, do we ever think
  There dwell amongst us here
Men whose fixed qualities
  Are stars by which to steer,
Fine souls who mine for truth
  Above the atmosphere?

And when we ask them in—
  These moulders of the mind—
Bid we them come before
  Or after we have dined,
And do we smooth their paths
  Or swat 'em good behind"

Probably the best-known saying of Vergil in English is descensus Averni facilis, which may be freely rendered "it is easy to go down hill." Let's disregard this saying for the time being by going up the hill next Tuesday evening to hear what Professor Ogle has to say about P. Vergilius Maro and the lyre he swept

An early season photograph of Coach "Dave" Dunn, Captain Leo Regal and Line Coach "Hump" Levine. In interviews last night, both Dunn and Regal expressed confidence in the team's ability to win over Norwich tomorrow.
(Courtesy of Burlington Daily News)

IN THE BACKFIELD

"EDDIE" WINANT "TOM" COLLINS

PERRY BOVE "ORRIE" JAY

Beat Norwich

PROF. OGLE LECTURES ON GREAT ROMAN POET

(Continued from page 1)

marized the plot of the Aeneid and called attention to the fact that Aeneas was a victim of destiny, a pawn of the fates, who had to carry out the mission assigned to him in spite of crushing and recurrent disappointments. Aeneas suffered one blow after another, loss of wife, comrades, father and beloved, but was able to carry out his task and lay the foundations of mighty Rome. Again the speaker stressed the tragic elements of the epic, the ill-fated love of Dido and Aeneas and the episode of Pallas. Monday night a play opened in New York which had the same moral undercurrent as the tale of Dido and Aeneas. The chief characters, Queen Elizabeth and Essex, loved each other intensely but were kept apart by the same tragic decree of fate which doomed the passion of the earlier lovers to failure. This emphasizes that Vergil appeals to the modern writers. As Professor Erskine declared in an essay which recently appeared in Harper's Vergil is a modern poet.

"Not Without Honor"

Vergil was appreciated by his own contemporaries, unlike many famous figures of literature and history, and his popularity has endured throughout the centuries. Many people have believed and some still do believe that Vergil was a prophet of Christianity. In one of his Eclogues, the poet prophesies the birth of a babe who will rule over all and the coming of a golden age. This, of course, was not long before the birth of Christ. From this connection, Vergil is often linked with church figures, especially St. Paul. During the middle ages, Vergil was looked upon as a magician by the people of those times, and many amusing tales have come down to us concerning his practice of the black arts. The Sortes Vergilianae are likewise interesting. People used to consult the poetry of Vergil at random for inspiration in time of trial, as the Bible is sometimes used.

In closing, Professor Ogle remarked upon the popularity of Vergil in school. His life and works form the part of most every high school student's education. Because of the universal popularity of his poetry, Vergil will undoubtedly remain one of the most popular and appreciated literary figures of history.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

(Continued from page 1)

cial and religious work. To ascertain what are the local needs the national committee has sent questionnaires to faculty and student groups in the hopes that some common solution may be synthesized at the conference.

The conference will consist of two daily group meetings for the delegates to consider in detail any matters of particular interest. A morning session will provide for discussions and reports in six fields of student Christian Association work. The Administrative Policy, The Educational System; The Social and Organized Life on the Campus; Morals in a Day of Relativity, Social Attitudes and Responsibilities; Personal Advising and Counseling. An afternoon series will deal with the place of religion in higher education, and the function, organization and relationship of all religious agencies on or adjoining the campus. A fundamental aim of the conference is to show that each act and motive has a vital part in effecting that unified self which is the basis of sound character and religious ideals.

Key and Serpent Dance

Tomorrow night at 8:30 Key and Serpent will close the Norwich week-end with an informal dance in the High School gymnasium. The Black Pirates will furnish the music. Professor and Mrs. C. E. Brown and Professor and Mrs. I. S. Hartwell will chaperone.

IN THE LINE

"BILL" HEATON

Solid defense man, who replaces "Eddie" Winant. "Tom" Collins, "Bill" Manning, will probably start Norwich's game.

"CLIF" TILLEY "ROD" MAYES

"TINY" DAVIS "HANK" DURFEY

"DON" DONALDSON

who will probably start at guard tomorrow. Captain Regal, "Buzz" Collins, Farmer, Dinniman, Aronson and Park are expected to hold the other line positions.

Year's second end in the Norwich game two years ago, when Vermont played the Horsemen to a standstill in a steady rain. Spectators filled the stands in spite of the rain.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.
Doughnuts Rolls your best Treat
Corner Church and College Streets

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least — of food and music

In every college town there is one outstanding smoking tobacco

At Illinois it's

ALONG Green Street, where campus leaders stroll . . . in the great slate-roofed fraternity houses of Champaign . . . there is one pipe tobacco which always rolls up the biggest vote. At Illinois it's Edgeworth, every time.

A pipe—Edgeworth. That is the smoking combination which has won the college man. Harvard, Cornell, Michigan, Stanford, Dartmouth—all agree with Illinois. Natural merit has made Edgeworth the favorite tobacco in America's leading colleges and universities.

College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their verdict: try Edgeworth yourself. Find it at your nearest tobacco shop—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, address: Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys with an natural sauce enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive "eleventh process." Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms "Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

Once Lived As Norwegian Peasant Then Translated Norwegian Novel

[illegible] Professor of the English department of the University of Vermont, is the translator of Arne Garborg's novel "Peace" which was recently published by the Boston Cornhill.

Mr. Carleton, after graduating from Brown University, went to Norway where he taught for a year. He took the usual grind, with a peek out the back door and a smile on his face and learned the countryside, mixed with the peasants, working a week or two on a farm here, spending [illegible] a week-end's outing there, then back again to a

PROF. P. H. CARLETON
Once Lived as Norwegian Peasant

[illegible] all the while picking up a working knowledge of the language and handling the hoe, the scythe and the cutting implements of the land.

Translates "Peace"

[illegible] Mr. Carleton to make available for [illegible] Garborg

Know Garborg

[illegible] Mr. Carleton was prompted [illegible] translation of this book

Progressive Attitude

[illegible] the fact that [illegible] a great [illegible] Dartmouth, for example, [illegible] has been trying out for many years [illegible] completely abolished [illegible] Technology [illegible] Massachusetts [illegible] introduced [illegible] required in that institution [illegible] Student Council [illegible] by the [illegible] by the [illegible] has to [illegible] the [illegible] Dartmouth [illegible] plan [illegible] I think [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] plan [illegible] in Dartmouth [illegible]

[illegible] the Council of the previous [illegible] opinion [illegible] and the [illegible] of a competitive [illegible] is [illegible] abolished was advocated editorially by the Dartmouth undergraduate publication at Hartford College. The article mentioned that the Dartmouth for its suggestion to be adopted are "very reasonable. We do not deny that it is planned to adopted [illegible] would help [illegible] the possession of knowledge." What we are arguing [illegible] competition [illegible] is [illegible] we believe that grades [illegible] encourage a competitive spirit [illegible] college with a [illegible] and because its [illegible] the student very often [illegible] frustrates her own end of educational achievement since the concentration studying essential to the attainment of high grades must of necessity be [illegible]

[illegible] ister Norwich

[illegible] a more serious by the fact that he [illegible] and acquainted with the [illegible] literature of which [illegible] was one of the dominating figures [illegible] Aroused the struggle of the last century a group of Norwegians started a civil war to emancipate national literature from the sterile bonds of the formal, polite language of [illegible] the Dano-Norwegian riks-maal or language of the people, derived from the old Norsk. It was much the same sort of struggle that took place in the England of Chaucer, the France of Rabelais, the Italy of Dante and in [illegible] of recent date. It is reminiscent of the battle of modern languages when they departed from the Latin of the scholastic and ecclesiastic and set their [illegible] up as literary languages, bring [illegible] vigor and freshness.

Ivar Aasin in the king's language, Aasin Garborg and his fellow worker, Arne Garborg, confined themselves particularly to the peasant language. Garborg carried on a constant propaganda for the literary use of the peasant's tongue with the result that, as in Ireland, a national renaissance sprang from the [illegible] soil. Peasant poets became articulate with a bright, burning accents or with a simple sombreness and plays were built from peasant life in the peasant tongue. A landscape background was built for the presentation of native drama and comedy.

The Old School resented this literary upheaval, and poetic after poetic was issued to a controversy which [illegible]

In the Peasant Movement

[illegible] taken several tramping expeditions in [illegible]

CO-ED JUNIOR VARSITY DEBATES AT CHARLOTTE

The junior varsity made its initial appearance in a home-town debate Monday evening, November 3, 1930, when the team, composed of Sylvia Boyd '32, Laura Johnson, '33, Carolyn Taft, '33, and Lena Cochran, '31, traveled to Charlotte to debate there before the Charlotte Grange on the subject "Resolved that every automobile owner in the State of Vermont be compelled to take out liability insurance at the time of registration." Sylvia Boyd and Laura Johnson upheld the affirmative side of the question, and Carolyn Taft and Lena Cochran debated for the negative.

In a lively debate of an hour's duration the contending teams expounded their views on the why's and wherefore's of compulsory liability insurance for the Vermont automobile owner. Each speaker was allowed ten minutes for her constructive argument and each team had five minutes for a rebuttal speech. Sylvia Boyd gave the rebuttal for the affirmative, and Carolyn Taft for the negative.

Sylvia Boyd, speaking first for the affirmative, showed that present conditions are deplorable and that the present law is inadequate to meet the situation properly. She quoted statistics to prove that in this country alone there is an average of an accident every hour. She demanded that the public be fully protected--not only the automobile owner, but the pedestrian, for in most accidents it is the pedestrian who is injured, maimed perhaps for life.

Carolyn Taft opening the attack for the negative, admitted that conditions were bad, but stoutly denied that enactment of such legislation as proposed by the affirmative would be a remedy. She argued that legislation of such a nature would increase reckless driving and consequently the number of accidents. Then she showed that such a law would increase litigations in the courts already overburdened, and that the cost of insurance would be raised in order to enable companies concerned to make adequate compensation for the rapidly increasing amount of accidents.

Laura Johnson continuing the argument for the affirmative proved that enactment of a compulsory liability insurance law would be constitutional, [illegible] would be obeyed no better of the law better in giving greater protection to a people already guaranteed [illegible] constitution. Besides giving personal protection it would tend to equalize financial responsibility and would automatically eliminate the reckless driver from the road. Insurance companies would blacklist careless drivers so that they would be unable to register their cars.

The last of the speakers in constructive argument was Lena Cochran. In upholding the negative she maintained that compulsory liability insurance would make for a socialistic state, that it would put the government in business, and would be subject to politics. She declared that the natural reaction to such a law would be of an antagonistic nature as people never like to do anything under compulsion. In conclusion she presented an alternative plan whereby the participant of one accident would either have to pay damages in full, or suffer the consequence of having his license revoked.

In rebuttal, Carolyn Taft, speaking again for the negative, declared that the financial burden, instead of being equalized would be increased. A surprisingly large number of people would not be able to "run their cars" if they had to take out liability insurance at the time of registration. She questioned the affirmative's statistics on the increasing number of accidents and wondered exactly how many of those ever took place right here in the State of Vermont. Here she repeated that accidents involving tourists could not come into consideration under this law.

Sylvia Boyd in closing the debate pointed out that enactment of the law would not tend to increase [illegible] of reckless driving, or cost of [illegible] ance and doubted whether it would increase litigations in court.

After the debate refreshments were served by the members of the [illegible] and the general consensus of opinion was that they had been "very much interested" and thought "the debate was carried out in fine style."

Roberta Powers, '32, and Professor Carleton, coach of women's debate, accompanied the team to Charlotte.

NEWMAN CLUB HEARS JOYCE AND PLANS PLAY

Father R. F. Joyce addressed the Newman Club in the Catholic School auditorium last Sunday. Plans were also [illegible] for a play entitled "The Three [illegible] to be presented during the latter part of this month or the first part of December. Another meeting will be held Sunday evening, November 16.

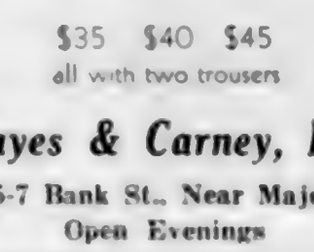
The committee which is working on a suitable date for regular meetings, announces that the first Thursday of every month at 7:30 o'clock is to be the time for the meetings. Other announcements will be posted later.

DEUTSCHE VEREIN PLANS FOR FUTURE ACTIVITIES

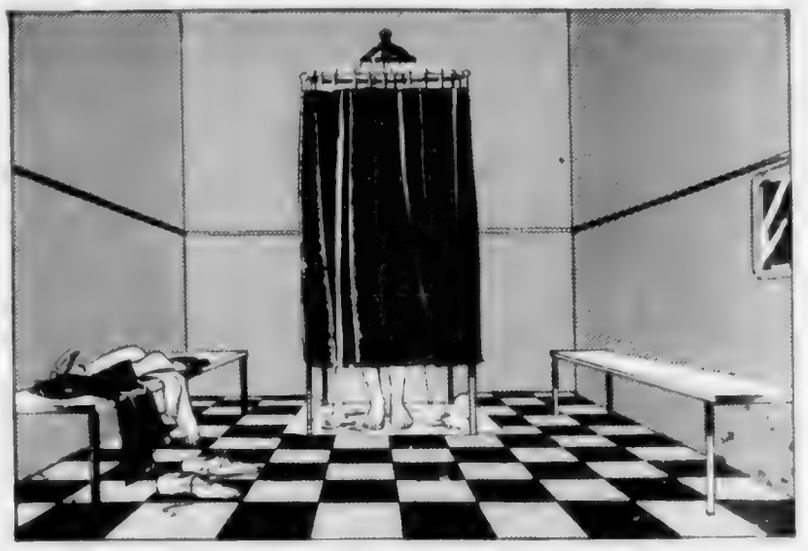
Deutsche Verein, the German club, held the first business and social meeting of the year Friday, October 31, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

Plans for the coming year were discussed but as yet nothing definite has been decided.

The next meeting will be held Friday, November 14.



SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best



ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS
for U. V. M.
Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.
Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies
Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

CHRISTMAS CARDS
Why not order
PERSONAL CHRISTMAS GREETINGS
this year and from
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts
Phone 629

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
11 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

You Are Sure To Make Your Point
if you insist on a new Fall Braeburn
There is something that is just naturally lucky about them
No situation is too strenuous ... on the floor rolling Dominos ... or on a divan talking about the weather ... they always make a perfect score.
$35 $40 $45
all with two trousers
Hayes & Carney, Inc.
195-7 Bank St., Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Bare feet on damp floors may give you "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

ON the floors of showers and locker rooms, there the little ringworm parasite that causes "Athlete's Foot" is right at home. Tinea trichophyton is the name, and in colleges as far apart as California and Pennsylvania it has been found that 50% of the men have it. Again, the U. S. Public Health Service reports that "at least half of all adults suffer from it at some time."

"Athlete's Foot," golfer's foot, toe itch, dobie-itch—there are many names for the same thing, and the symptoms are redness between the toes, with i-t-c-h-i-n-g—or a thick, moist skin condition—or a dryness with little scales. The danger signals vary, but authorities agree that they are all traceable to the ringworm germ, tinea trichophyton.

It lurks in the very places where we all go for cleanliness and health—on the edges of swimming pools and showers—in gymnasiums—on locker- and dressing-room floors. In spite of modern sanitation (you have to boil socks 15 minutes to kill it) this fungus parasite infects and re-infects bare feet almost any time they come in contact with damp floors.

Absorbine Jr. kills the germ of
"ATHLETE'S FOOT"

Tests in a famous New York "lab" have revealed that Absorbine Jr. penetrates flesh-like tissues deeply and that wherever it penetrates, it KILLS the ringworm germ.

It might not be a bad idea to examine your feet tonight. At the first sign of the symptoms mentioned, douse on Absorbine Jr. And keep a bottle handy in your locker as a precaution. Use it after every exposure of bare feet on damp floors. At druggists—$1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Absorbine Jr.
FOR YEARS HAS RELIEVED SORE MUSCLES, MUSCULAR ACHES, BRUISES, BURNS, CUTS, SPRAINS, ABRASIONS

SPORTING NEWS

Norwich Here Tomorrow in State Title Tilt

Vermont Takes on Norwich in First State Grid Game

Horsemen Here Tomorrow For State Championship Battle—Vermont to Be At Full Strength Against Old Rivals—Changes in Line-ups Expected

CADETS ALREADY BEATEN BY MIDDLEBURY ELEVEN

LINE-UPS TOMORROW

Vermont		Norwich
(24) Segal (Capt.)	l.e.	Mersheimer
(40) Donaldson	l.t.	(53) Del Vecchio
(41) Collins, G.	l.g.	(2) Caswell
(34) Dinniman	c.	(69) Bodfish
(45) Farmer	r.g.	(64) Smith
(35) Aronson	r.t.	(37) Gibbons
(42) Wood, (37) Park	r.e.	(11) Fanos
(22) Winant	q.b.	(59) O'Brien
(30) Collins, T.	l.h.b.	(56) Coane (Capt.)
(23) Heaton	r.h.b.	(57) Montagano
(47) Manning	f.b.	(54) Fullerton

GAME CALLED AT 2.00 P.M.

Horsemen!!! That's the ... the hill. It's the motto ... watchword that is circling ... campus among the U. V. M. ... Tomorrow that cry will ... a great shout when the ... Gold line of the football ... University of Vermont ... soled toe into the earth ... the eyes of the gridsters ... posing the Maroon eleven ... University, the Military ... New England. All attend... will doubtless be broken ... opening game for the State ... title. The game is sched... at 2.00 p.m. on Centen... and wise persons will be ...

... can only hope for second ... fight for the State cham... to make certain of this ... Horsemen must win to... because they have already ... by Middlebury. On the ... this will be Vermont's first ... and both Norwich and ... defeated in order to win ... ship title.

... both teams are far from ... with the Cadets losing to ... Bates, Worcester Tech ... Middlebury Panthers and ... their sole victory against ... Guards. However, advance ... must be thrown into dis... of past records, when ... ons get together.

... forget past failures and ... contest with renewed ... different atmosphere per... ... at Sabine and Cen... No matter what derog... football enthusiasts may ... them formerly, a different ... now grips both elevens. ... are held under the arc ... air of mystery enshrouds ... of both teams. Rejuve... ...ing mad they enter the ... one thought—victory. All ... thrown overboard as the ... arterbacks untie their ... in an attempt to catch ... unawares. Optimism ... Make it contagious!

... Graham's squad is the ... to report to the Maroon ... other years, enough men ... out to provide A and B ... this year it has been neces... the group into one co... which can stand up ... reserve material is almost ...

... compose the backbone ... men, namely, Captain ... Jim Fullerton, Anastos ... O'Brien, Winthrop Clark ... Both coaches have ... to encounter the same ... of a lack of experi... and consequently have ... line-ups beyond recogni... down by the so-called ... regular posts has been ... ing these light-hearted ... bench where they may ... ities away from the ... combat.

... does the passing for ... ually Captain Coane is ... Jim Fullerton retains ... fullback where he con... the line plunging and ... work. Pat Del Vecchio, ... ance in the Norwich-... of last year was sensa... ...rnated between a tackle and a backfield position. Dissatisfied with the showing of his charges against Middlebury Coach Graham made several rearrangements in an effort to strengthen the team work. Coane went from right end to left halfback, Del Vecchio from left half to left tackle and Fanos from center to right end. Three reserves were drafted for other positions. Mersheimer was sent to left end, Caswell to left guard and Bodfish to center. The change was vindicated in the showing of the Horsemen against Worcester.

Vermont should be at full strength tomorrow. Captain Leo Segal, out since the Amherst game with injuries, will probably be ready to face these old rivals. Though one of the lightest men on the squad, he hits the opposing line with a drive that almost inevitably puts his man out of play. Being a bear on defense, he should make end sweeps lacking in the Norwich repertoire. His return will help bolster a sore spot and pep up a heretofore slow line which has been without the spark to pave the way for the ball carriers.

"Peep" Park and Jim Wood will fight it out for the other flank. Both have earned their places by the dint of hard work and it remains a toss-up as to whom will start. "Dinny" Dinniman has definitely replaced "Tiny" Davis at center where he continues to back up the line a la Ben Ticknor.

"Stew" Manning has shown his ability to handle the job at fullback. Well-knit and stocky, he whacks the line with a punch that finds his opponents wondering who hit them. Tom Collins also has been fighting hard in every minute of play, giving all he had and then some. Dependable and always ready to come through. The Hartford youngster has been a bright light in some of the dark moments during the season. "Bill" Heaton and "Ed" Winant round up the quartet, both contributing their bit to the cause.

KAPPA SIGS TACKLE SIGMA PHIS MONDAY IN TOURNEY FINALS

In view of the fact that Fred Tupper's knee could not possibly have been in shape to allow him to play in the final or championship game scheduled for last Monday, the Kappa Sigs have agreed to have the game postponed until next Monday afternoon, November 10.

The Kappa Sigs are to be commended on their sportsmanlike attitude, and this should certainly go a long way in creating a better all-round spirit among the various fraternities.

With Captain Tupper back in their line-up the Sigma Phis should at least have an even break with their opponents. Displaying a fast passing and high-scoring attack built around Tupper, Billings and Beer, the Sigma Phis have again showed as was the case last year, that they were clearly the class of their league.

Much may be said relative to the merits of the Kappa Sigs who like the Sigma Phis have repeated last fall's performance and was the same team which they defeated for the championship last year, again remains the only obstacle between them and the cup. Possessing a much stronger defence than their opponents and a smooth forward passing attack built around Newcomb, Traynor, Cummings and Bowers it would seem that if there is any edge at all, the Kappa Sigs get it.

All in all it should be a great game.

CAT'S MEOW

Sporting Editor

It has been five years since Vermont has scored on Norwich. The last time was in 1925 when the Green and Gold won 3 to 0. Consequently we think it's about time for a second. What about it?

We want a touchdown!
We want a touchdown!!
We want a touchdown!!!

Vermont will be at full strength tomorrow. There are no serious injuries among the players. The game will be played on home grounds before a large attendance of the student body. Why not a good old-fashioned Vermont victory tomorrow?

Tomorrow is the time for the student body to crash through and give the team some visible support. Norwich is a different story from the other games. Put the red lantern of Norwich out with a bang!

St. Michael's and Norwich have already started basketball practice. No coach has yet been selected to direct the Maroon quintet but it is expected that Dewey Graham will again handle the team as in the past years. At present he is busy with the football team.

Norwich looks for a very successful season this year. The only regular not returning this year is Grandy, who played a guard position.

The number of college football teams in the country that can boast of having won every game this season is getting fewer and fewer. Tomorrow night may see a further lessening of the number. Today the leaders in this select group of winners are Notre Dame, Fordham, Marquette, Alabama, Northwestern, Washington State and Alleghany.

Among the features of the football games throughout the country tomorrow will be the intersectional games to be played by Eastern teams at home against Mid-western opponents. Some of these games are:

Harvard-Michigan at Cambridge.
Army-Illinois at New York
Pennsylvania-Notre Dame at Philadelphia.
Fordham-Detroit at New York
N. Y. U.-Georgia at New York.

Beat Norwich!

FROSH CROSS COUNTRY TO MEET NORWICH '34

Tomorrow the freshman cross country squad will compete against the yearling outfit from Norwich over the home course. This will be the second meet of the season for Coach Archie Post's first year men and it is hoped that the results will be more favorable than those of the last meet which was at Saranac against the high school there.

The freshmen have been training diligently during the past weeks and a great deal of improvement has been made since that last race. Consequently the Kittens expect to show their heels to the visitors tomorrow.

Beat Norwich!

MORTAR BOARD BACKS DORMITORY COMPETITION

Dormitory competition for the prize awarded annually by Mortar Board to the house judged best begins this week.

Once a week each dormitory will be inspected by Mortar Board women and scored on the following points: Neatness of rooms, cooperation, observance of study hours and success of fire drills. Last year this prize was won by Rand House.

Beat Norwich!

Kittens To Battle Clark In Last Game On Schedule

Frosh Expect Victory Tomorrow to Complete a Successful Year—Prep School Team Has Defeated Both Middlebury and Norwich Freshman Gridsters

IMPROVEMENT IS SHOWN SINCE START OF SEASON

Tomorrow afternoon the frosh football team will conclude one of the most successful seasons in recent years when it journeys down to Clark School at Hanover to play the final game on the schedule. Clark ... a very fine aggregation this year boasting the Dartmouth ... the Norwich players and the Middlebury frosh and holding the strong Cushing Academy club to a standstill. However the frosh ... are now of the opinion that ... that tied Middlebury and were defeated by Vermont Academy ... gent practice and a revamped line have added considerably to their de... while that great backfield of Sabin, Sowles, Smith and Brankle have coordinated to a greater extent and have not failed to score this season.

The forward pass defense is far better than before under Coach Tubby's careful coaching while the Kittens own air route is vastly more effective than in early games. The most recent discoveries in the forward wall are Cochran and Wagner whose work at the tackle positions against Norwich last Saturday stamped them ... as good as Morgan and Powell present incumbents of those berths.

If the frosh trounce Clark School they will have the prize worth ... state championship. Title and if defeated will receive the second ... footballs symbols of this enviable honor.

The probable starting line-up:

Vermont Freshmen		Clark School
Inman	r.e.	Cayer
Powell	r.t.	Dunham
Delfanne	r.g.	Cunningham
Fancher	c.	Herrin
Dente	l.g.	Robinette
Morgan	l.t.	Donnelly
Rust	l.e.	Hendren
Smith	q.b.	Neville
Brankle	l.h.b.	Nicholson
Saba	r.h.b.	Bryan
Bowka	f.b.	Kinney

Cats Have Edge On Horsemen In Past

Since 1897 Vermont Has Defeated Norwich 16 Times, Lost 8 and Tied Once

Over a period of time from 1897 to 1929 twenty-five football games have been played between the Vermont arch rivals. Of these U. V. M. has won a total of sixteen contests, lost eight and tied one for an aggregate score of 370 points to the Maroons 118.

The most overwhelming score ... carried in 1922 when the fighting Catamounts annihilated the men from Northfield 61-0. It is only in recent years that the Kaydets have managed to prove their superiority when last year the Horsemen triumphed 20-0.

For a total of consecutive games the Green and Gold take the honors by winning five from 1921 to 1925. During those years, may history repeat, men of Vermont amassed 125 tallies to a scanty two for Norwich, that occurring in 1921.

The following are the scores from 1897 to 1929.

	Vermont	Norwich
1897	62	4
1900	17	0
1901	56	0
1904	0	6
1905	26	0
1905	16	0
1906	5	0
1907	2	0
1908	11	0
1908	12	5
1909	11	0
1910	0	17
1911	18	5
1916	6	7
1919	0	13
1920	7	16
1921	14	2
1922	61	0
1923	34	0
1924	13	0
1925	3	0
1926	0	3
1927	0	13
1928	0	0
1929	0	20
Total	370	118

SEASON'S RECORDS

Vermont—1930

Vermont	0	Amherst	41
Vermont	0	Harvard	35
Vermont	13	Coast Guard	0
Vermont	7	Union	19
Vermont	0	New Hampshire	59
Vermont	0	Rensselaer	7
Totals	20		161

Norwich—1930

Norwich	0	Dartmouth	79
Norwich	0	Bates	7
Norwich	6	Coast Guard	0
Norwich	0	Middlebury	18
Norwich	12	Worcester	13
Totals	18		117

CO-ED SHARPSHOOTERS ORGANIZE RIFLE CLUB

At a meeting last Wednesday a group of seniors, members of last year's rifle team, and Miss Alice Blanchard became charter members of the new N. R. A. Club, which is under the auspices of the National Rifle Associations of America.

The following officers were appointed: Georgina Hubert, '31, president and captain; Evelyn Slayton, '31, secretary and manager; and Harriet Wright, '31, treasurer.

Membership in this club does not imply membership on this year's rifle team.

A couple of Vermont boys are patrons of the great old sport of ... Major Williams is desirous of having more college men and women at his new gallery in the auditorium.

SPORTS SYMPOSIUM

White Pigskin

Huge arc lights turn night into day, a white painted pigskin comes hurtling through the air, and twenty-two players in colorful uniforms followed the ball. Now it is a matter of actual record that the first game of night football was played in Canada, as McGill opened its gridiron season last week. The game was a success and the players had little difficulty in following the ball, being used to night practice.

It is estimated that about 5000 persons watched the curtain-raiser. A threat of rain, the Canadian cold, and the damper rising atmosphere probably kept many others from attending. Canada through McGill is experimenting with night football, which has already been put to use in some of the mid-western colleges last year, and with which eastern colleges are planning to tackle now.

No doubt the idea of playing football at night is a novelty. Whether night football can pull a greater crowd than afternoon ball is doubtful; the expense in putting on the night show is naturally higher. The extra expense can probably be charged up to novelty, hardly any other excuse seems to exist. Experience of the various experimenters, however, will tell the story of the fate of the "white pigskin" ...

The Loafer!

Mrs Acrobat (dubiously): John I'm afraid our boy is going to be a failure.

Mr Acrobat (sadly): Yes, it's beginning to look as though he'll never be able to stand on his own head.

Beat Norwich!

SIX DEPARTMENTS HAVE 1,240 STUDENTS ENROLLED

Total Increases by 39—48 Enter Social Science—Other Arts Curricula Decrease by 90

Of the 1,240 students enrolled in the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College in the departments from east and west Vermonters. This figure being 39 points ahead of last year.

The new enrollment is the greatest ever [illegible] with 12 departments contributing each to the total. Of the number of students as in 1929. The College of Arts and Sciences has the students of more than last year. In attendance were recorded in the College of Engineering, 15 and College of Agriculture [illegible] enrolled in the College of Medicine, by two-year teacher training course, 6 in the number of graduate students 16.

The [illegible] science curriculum offered for the first time this year in the College of Arts and Sciences of record of men and 3 women. The course provides for specialization in botany, economics, philosophy, psychology and political science, instead of an introduction of science as in other courses.

Other Curricula Decrease

The withdrawal of this course was responsible in the falling off in enrollment in other courses. The commerce and economics curriculum has 40 fewer students than last year, the literary schools 30 fewer, the chemical 20 fewer. The commerce and economics and [illegible] courses with 114 and 14 students respectively continue to have the largest enrollments in the Arts course. The general science curriculum has 109 students, an increase of 3. The chemistry curriculum has 43 an increase of 3. There are 19 students in the pre-medical course five fewer than last year. Enrollment in the four-year teacher training course increased from 49 last year to 60 this year. Only a dozen students are doing work toward a master's degree. There were 28 last year.

Massachusetts sends more students to the University than any other state except Vermont, 151 this year. Connecticut sends 99 and New York 93. Other states represented in the student body are: New Jersey 26, New Hampshire 12, Maine 7; District of Columbia and Rhode Island, three each; Pennsylvania and Canada, two each; Colorado, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Wyoming, Minnesota and Washington, one each.

Freshmen Increase

The percentage of Vermonters in the student body increased slightly. With a total enrollment increase of 39, the number of Vermonters increased 15.

This year's entering class in the undergraduate departments has 220 men and 147 women compared with 200 men and 111 women last year. The total membership of the class, 367, is 54 larger than last year.

Tables showing the enrollment by classes and departments follow:

	1930	1929
Seniors	186	175
Juniors	210	209
Sophomores	231	257
Freshmen	367	313
Specials	10	10
All undergraduates	1,004	965

College of Medicine

	1930	1929
Fourth year	31	30
Third year	38	31
Second year	38	42
First year	44	53
Total	151	156

By Departments

	1930	1929
Arts and Sciences	755	730
Engineering	139	151
Agriculture	110	98
Two-year Teacher Tr.	73	79
Graduate students	12	26
Medicine	151	156
Total	1,240	1,210

Vermont Christian Association Serves All-Students In Its Varied Function

Serving the students of the University in its social, religious and intellectual activities, the Vermont Christian Association stands at the head of all other campus organizations in the range of its influence.

Even before the freshman enters the University and continuing through until his graduation its functions include the Freshmen Handbook, Freshman Camp, Freshman Banquet and Dance, Thanksgiving Dance and the Room and Employment Bureau.

Through its student cabinet it conducts numerous meetings, lectures and conferences throughout the year.

Student delegates are sent to the three intercollegiate conferences which are held at Northfield, Mass. and other nearby conference centers. It also maintains a secretary who serves as a counsel or personal advisor to students needing such service.

Each Spring the general secretary sends letters of inquiry to all the preparatory schools in Vermont to secure the names of high school seniors who intend to enter the University in the fall. All the names that are obtained in this manner are handed on to the pastors of the Burlington churches. This is done with the hope that the churches of the city may get in touch with the new students of their communion even before the opening of college, inviting them to share in the church fellowship. Immediately after enrollment in September the pastors of the churches in Burlington are given complete lists of all the new students of their respective denominations.

Personal Advice

The office of the association is open every day that college is in session and a part of the summer previous to the opening of college. A good many students seeking some sort of counsel on personal help call from time to time to visit with the secretary. All such calls are welcome because with the limited facilities now at the disposal of the association these talks are about the only bits of personal work that can be handled.

Sixteen Delegates

It is interesting to note that this student body has been represented by sixteen delegates in all, at the last three New England Student Y Conferences. At the present time R. H. Cowles, '31, is a member of the New England committee which has charge of setting up the med-winter student conference at East Northfield, Mass. and H. D. Butterfield, '31, is a member of the New England committee in charge of setting up the annual June conference for the New [illegible] leges.

During the last college [illegible] deputations from the [illegible] ciations conducted or assisted [illegible] ducting religious services [illegible] ton and in neighboring [illegible]

CO-EDS TO GIVE CLASS PLAYS FOR DEAN CUP

The freshman class [illegible] Twelve Pound Look, by [illegible] sophomore class play, [illegible] Returns of the Day, [illegible] class play, "Rehearsal," by [illegible] Morley, are to be given [illegible] at eight o'clock in the gym[illegible] admittance being twenty [illegible]

Last year the Dean's Cup [illegible] to the class putting on the [illegible] was won by the juniors [illegible] 1931, their play being [illegible] The previous year, the [illegible] by the junior class also [illegible] 1930. Their play was [illegible] dines."

The managements of [illegible] as follows: Juniors: [illegible] bella Main; property, [illegible] Brune; makeup, Vivian [illegible] Sophomores: Costume, [illegible] dall; property, Priss[illegible] makeup, Ara Armstrong. [illegible] Costume, Marie Hous[illegible] Mary Bennett; makeup, [illegible] ton.

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR

$1.25 Special $1.25

Shampoo and Finger Wave

43 Church St. Phone 538

FRATERNITY GREETING CARDS

Isham News Shop

102A Church Street

WILLARD TOURIST INN

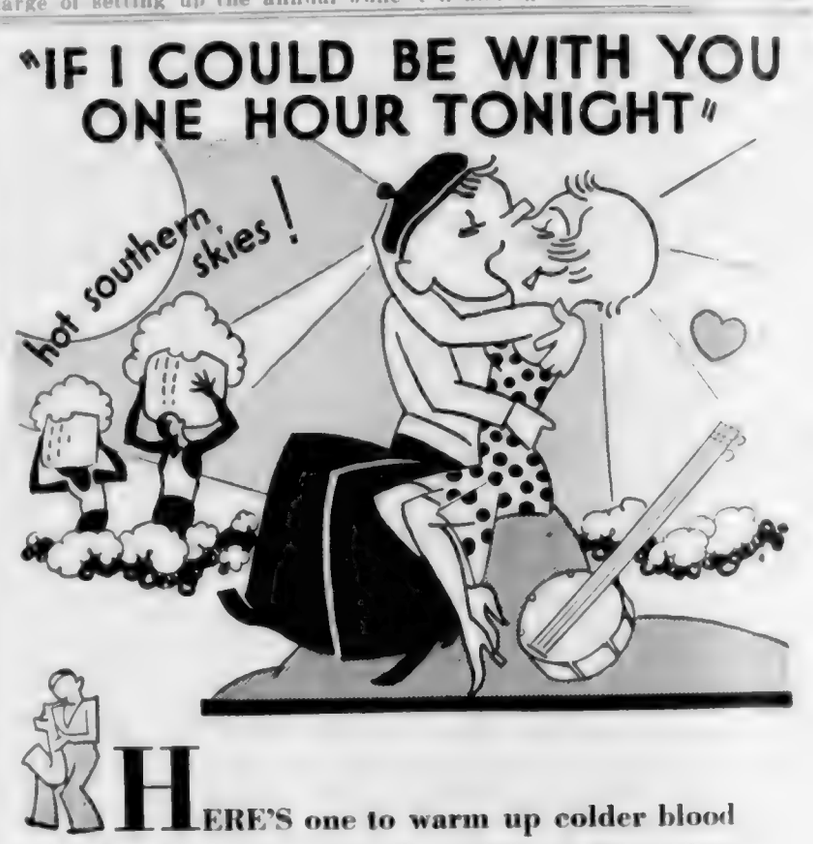
HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald



69 N. Willard St. Tel 2680

THERE ARE BRIDGES AND BRIDGES

But the most popular BRIDGE right now belongs to the BRIDGE PARTY—For that we have TALLIES that will make the party a mixer, or tallies that will cheer folks up, give them a laugh and make all happy, and too we have tallies for those who can tell an informatory from a business double. With these TALLIES we have CARDS and every variety of PRIZE

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

HERE'S one to warm up colder blood than yours . . . jazzed on a Victor Record as only McKinney's famous Cotton Pickers could jazz it . . . sung by a dark-voiced, dark-hued boy with his mind on his work!

O saxophone, O trumpet muted, O magnolia trees growing in the jungle!

Here are samples of the best of their kind . . . Remember . . . the greatest artists and orchestras record the latest hits first for Victor . . .

V-38118 "IF I COULD BE WITH YOU ONE HOUR TONIGHT"
"Zonky"
McKinney's Cotton Pickers

V-22517 "SHINE ON HARVEST MOON"
"Memories"
Southern Orchestra

V-22526-B "DON'T TELL HER WHAT HAPPENED TO ME"
"Moonlight on the Colorado"
Shilkret and Victor Orchestras

V-1478 SERENADE—Student Prince
"L'Amour Toujour"
Crooks

The Music You Want When You Want It, on

Victor Records

One will always stand out

they Satisfy

CHESTERFIELD CIGARETTES are manufactured by LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1930 — NUMBER 15

KEENE DEBATE WILL OPEN HOME SEASON

Varsity to Support Chain Store Proposition Against Keene Normal, Thursday

EXTENDED WESTERN TOUR SCHEDULED FOR MARCH

[illegible] Normal School will furnish [illegible] to the varsity forensicists [illegible] evening in the Old Chapel, [illegible] supports the negative of the [illegible] Resolved, That the chain [illegible] generally detrimental to the [illegible] interests of the American public." [illegible] no charge and everyone is [illegible] invited to attend.

The Vermont team, taking the affirmative of the topic in this encounter which will open the home debating season, will probably include [illegible] veterans, Louis Lisman, and [illegible] Nelson.

Last season a veteran Vermont outfit [illegible] losing in addition to the above [illegible] Franklin A. Sears, '30, won a decision over the Keene debaters on a contest of advertising.

This home debate is the second [illegible] tilt for Vermont, the men having opened their season October 20 in a nondecision encounter against [illegible] at Lewiston, Me., on the same question, the Oregon cross-examination style being used.

Extensive Western Tour

Final arrangements for the debating trip to the West are being completed. The journey will probably start March 17. According to present plans the team will engage in sixteen debates. The trip will include debates with colleges located in five states, ranging from the Atlantic Coast to the Mississippi River. Colleges which have already accepted Vermont's challenges are Northwestern University, North Central College, Augustana University and Carthage College in Illinois.

In Ohio Vermont will debate Western Reserve University, Ohio State College, Heidelburg College, Mt. Union College and Kent State College. In New York the team will debate Colgate College, Fordham College, University of Buffalo, Hunter College, and New York State College for Women.

Pennsylvania will be the scene of a debate, with St. Thomas of Scranton. Maryland will also feature one appearance of Vermont's debaters. Loyola College at Baltimore will provide the opposition.

Subjects have not been chosen in all cases but it is expected that such subjects as the chain store, prohibition, [illegible], water power and several [illegible] will be used at least once during the trip.

Gone Three Weeks

The itinerary will require approximately three weeks' time. Part of this period will fall during the Easter vacation. The last debate will be held in the West probably at Chicago. This will be followed by at least three others. The team will next hop back to Ohio for a series of debates in that state. Following the Ohio debate New York will be the scene of the next forensic [illegible]. The final days of the trip will be spent in that state with side trips to Pennsylvania and Maryland. [illegible] to guess who will comprise the team which will make the trip probably George Nelson, '31, [illegible]man, '31, and either one or [illegible]en from the class debating [illegible] from the junior varsity [illegible] the trip. The team will be [illegible] accompanied by Coach [illegible].

AVIATION CLUB STARTS INSTRUCTION IN FLYING

[illegible] one member of the Aviation Club has begun [illegible]g instruction.

[illegible]n, '34 of New York, who [illegible] one and one-half hours took the lessons in the [illegible] plane purchased jointly [illegible]ersity and City Flying [illegible] ago.

[illegible] Crocket chairman of the [illegible] Revision Committee, [illegible] Governor Weeks, met [illegible]mittee in the Senate [illegible] Montpelier yesterday at [illegible] consider amendments to [illegible]stitution. The Vermont [illegible] be revised once each

LE CERCLE LAFAYETTE REORGANIZES, ELECTS

At the reorganization meeting held last Wednesday night, Le Cercle LaFayette elected officers and made plans for the forthcoming meeting, Friday, December 5.

Paul LaCrosse, '32, was elected president; Elizabeth Mandigo, '31, secretary; Lillian Mount, '32, treasurer; and Frazer Drew, '33, chairman of the entertainment committee. Professor Doane is the club's faculty advisor.

Meetings will be conducted in French as much as possible. At the next meeting Miss Andrews, graduate student in French, will give a talk in French on Paul Morand. A one act play in French will also be presented by several of the members. Students interested in French as a cultural language will be amply rewarded in attending.

GREY FRIARS ACCEPTS TWO FOR MEMBERSHIP AT YEAR'S THIRD MEET

Men's Literary Group Takes Bartlett, '32, Butman, '33, and Initiate MacDonald, '33

Two men, Harry J. Butman, '33, and A. L. Bartlett, '32, were accepted for membership in Grey Friars on the merits of two manuscripts submitted by each man and read before the society at its third meeting of the year held Thursday evening, November 6, in the Greek Library.

At the meeting, William G. MacDonald, '33, who had been accepted for membership last spring was formally admitted by the recently revised initatory service. The two men above will be formally received into membership at a later meeting.

Mr. Bartlett was admitted on the merits of a short story and an essay. The short story, entitled "Five Grand," was a realistic account of a young prize-fighter who resisted the temptation to "throw" a fight for a large bribe which would enable him to buy a home and settle down in conubial bliss and how he finally received a great deal more money than he would have by accepting the offer. The essay, "Our Machine Age," contrasted the happiness of our ancestors and ourselves who live in an age of mechanical contrivances.

Successful Manuscripts

H. J. Butman submitted "Around the Corner," which was a strongly plotted narrative treating the case of an unmarried mother and her subsequent marriage. His essay was in the form of a sermon salled "What Think Ye of Christ?" The title speaks for itself.

Fred Householder read a descriptive sketch taken from farm life.

Edmour Germain read a narrative description, "The Student," giving the contrasting religious views of a catholic priest and a student from a large modern university.

Samuel Barker read a descriptive sketch dealing with a rustic farmer's experiences on a New York train.

After the manuscripts had been discussed refreshments were served and a general discussion on free-lancing and markets was held.

Because of the fact that the number of active men in Grey Friars is limited to sixteen out of the whole student body, the requirements for membership are somewhat rigid. The applicants are requested to submit two manuscripts in different fields of literature to be read and criticized at the first meeting following the presentation. The subjects may be anything in the field of poetry, essays, short stories, or sketches. A combination of two of these affords the most desirable bases for judging the literary ability of a man who is interested in Grey Friars.

ANNOUNCES MANAGERS OF FOUR CLASS PLAYS

Winona Spencer, '31, president of Dramatic club, announces the managers of the class plays as follows:

Junior [illegible] mes, Orabelle Main; properties, Evelyn DeBrune; make-up, Vivian Hubbard; sophomores costumes, Madora Kendall; properties, Priscilla Perry; make-up, Ara Armstrong; freshman—costumes, Marie Horak, properties, Mary Bennett, and [illegible] Ruth Tarleton.

Superior Catamounts Deadlock Norwich Cadets 0-0 with Five Near-touchdowns

Green and Gold Outfights Cadets in State Title Game—Five Times Within 10-yard Line—Heaton Wages Strong Offense, While Manning Displays Stellar Offensive

STUDENT VOLUNTEER SECRETARY HERE

International Relations Club to Sponsor Address This Evening—Lecturer Also to Address Chapel and V. C. A.

Raymond P. Currier, Educational Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement will speak at the usual hour this morning in Chapel. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock he will speak before the men and women's Vermont Christian Association cabinets and other students interested in Old Mill Chapel. This evening under the auspices of the International Relations Club of the University, he will speak on the situation of India, a vital problem at the present time in the international field. This meeting will be held also in the Old Mill Chapel at 8 o'clock.

Wide Experience

Mr. Raymond P. Currier has the B.A. and M.A. from Harvard. For almost ten years he was on the staff of Judson College, Rangoon, Burma. After a year of home service with one of the mission boards, he went to the Indiana State University as Y. M. C. A. Secretary. For four years he was Associate Professor of English at Franklin College, Franklin, Ind. At the present time Mr. Currier, as Educational Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, and editor of Far Horizons, has a task exacting and of far-reaching significance. The rich background of his own experience thus makes him of great value in any student center.

Personal Interviews

Mr. Currier will be more than pleased to hold personal interviews. Students who are interested will feel that he shares and shares their own attitudes.

He is a man who combines in his own experience an understanding of the problems of world missions and of student life in our generation and makes a unique contribution to every college he visits. Students here and elsewhere will do well to think over his significant advice.

TWO VOLUME WORK IS BY TUPPER AND OGLE

Prof. Frederick H. Tupper in collaboration with Prof. M. B. Ogle of Ohio State University recent Vergil lecturer, is compiling a two-volume work entitled, "The Latin Writers of England."

One volume will contain the works and lives of the prose writers and the other volume the poets of ancient England.

While in Europe on sabbatical leave, Professor Tupper spent some time collecting material for this work.

The period which these volumes will cover is the Dark and Middle Ages from 500 until 1500.

The Century Company will publish the works, the date of whose appearance has not yet been determined.

In 1924 Professors Tupper and Ogle jointly published a translation of Walter Maps "De Negis Curialium."

Middlebury Game

Students may purchase reserved seat tickets for the Middlebury-Vermont game at Middlebury on November 15, for one dollar at the University Book Store. These will be ON SALE TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, and THURSDAY of this week.

If purchased at Middlebury, the reserved seat tickets will be two dollars.

S. C. Abell,
Graduate Manager.

WCAX BROADCAST THIS SEASON OPENED FRIDAY WITH VARIED PROGRAM

University Station on the Air One Hour With Prof. Leon Dean Announcing

Broadcasting from Station WCAX, University of Vermont, started last Friday night with the arrangement of an interesting program of talks and vocal music with Prof. Leon W. Dean of the English department as the radio announcer. Miss Charlotte deVolt, teacher of violin in the Department of Music gave a violin recital from 8 to 8:30.

Station WCAX broadcasts on a frequency of 1,200 kilocycles. The complete program follows:

7:30 "Concerning the Vermont College of Agriculture," J. L. Hills, Dean, College of Agriculture.

7:40- "4-H Club Camps," Martha E. Leighton, assistant State club leader, Extension Service.

7:50 "War Service Goes On," Capt. M. D. Merchant, chaplain, Fort Ethan Allen.

8-8:30—Violin recital, Miss Charlotte deVolt, department of music, University of Vermont.

1. Sonata in G Minor.. Handel
   Andante un poco lento
   Allegro
   Adagio
   Allegro (tempo de giga)
2. Ave Maria..Schubert Wilhelmj
3. Cadiz .. ..Albeniz-Kreisel
4. Danse Tzigane. .....Nachez

FINAL TRYOUT SELECTS FROSH DEBATING TEAM

Three men, David Jenks, Harry Butman and Marshall Howe, and one alternate, Irving Lisman, were chosen for the team by Mr. M. D. Powers, Prof. L. W. Dean, and Prof. A. G. Buehler, Friday afternoon as a result of the last of the freshman debating tryouts utilizing throughout the series the subject of chain stores.

George Nelson, '31, a member of the varsity debating team was chairman. The seven men participating in the debate were Robert VanDyke, George Burrows and David Jenks for the negative, Marshall Howe, Harry Butman, Benjamin Birnbaum and Irving Lisman for the affirmative. Charles Libby, a member of the negative team was unable to attend.

The original squad, by three preliminaries and a final debate, was cut down from the original thirteen men to the four man team which is to compete against the sophomores for the Bailey Cup. The original men out for the freshman team were Ronald Bingham, Benjamin Birnham, Joseph Gannon, George Burrows, Harry Butman, David Jenks, Marshall Howe, Charles Libby, Irving Lisman, Realtus McCuin, William Ryan, Robert VanDyke, and Alden Webster.

Of the new team, Robert Jenks was a member of the Burlington High School debating team two years ago. Marshall Howe was captain of the championship team of the Berkshire League of Massachusetts; Harry Butman's experience comes greatly from his preaching and seminary training. Mr. Butman is the pastor of the Milton Congregational Church. Irving Lisman was a member of the State championship team of 1928.

No freshman debating schedule has yet been arranged but besides the freshman-sophomore debate matches are being planned with the junior varsity and the freshman women. Meanwhile, for practice, the freshmen are debating with the J. V.'s before various organizations through the State.

Students of Syracuse University will be placed on probation in the future if a "C" average is not maintained.

CAPTAIN SEGAL RETURNS WITH TEMPORARY POWER

STATISTICS OF GAME

	Vermont	Norwich
First downs	13	4
Yards gained rushing	234	85
Yards lost rushing	13	5
Forward passes	14	4
Forwards completed	3	1
Lateral passes	1	0
Laterals completed	1	0
Yards gained laterals	28	0
Laterals intercepted	0	0
Fumbles	1	1
Fumbles recovered	1	1
Penalties	4	6
Yards lost, penalties	40	50

Conceded a moral victory, the Catamount grid team retired from the annual Norwich classic, Saturday deadlocked in a 0 to 0 tie by the break of the game.

Vermont outplayed its opponent consistently, scoring three times as many first downs and gaining 262 yards to their 83. Five times the Catamounts threatened within the Cadets' 10 yard line, but a stiffened defense, a slippery field or an overthrown pass invariably gave the ball to Norwich on downs.

Homecoming Day

The game was the principal event of Vermont's first Homecoming Day and was celebrated the night before with a torchlight parade, sponsored by Key and Serpent in place of the usual smoker.

A large crowd followed the parade which bore red torches from the Gymnasium to City Hall Park, where Graduate Manager "Babe" Abell, Captain Leo Segal, Coach "Dave" Dunn, Coach "Bump" Levine, and "Ernie" Codding spoke from the bandstand asking student support and prophesying victory.

On Saturday, after the game, fraternities entertained visiting alumni with dances and banquets. Lambda Iota gave a tea dance, at which Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Braun chaperoned. At the Phi Delta Theta House, Major and Mrs. O. H. Stanley also chaperoned a tea dance, at which Clark's Collegians furnished the music. The Black Pirates played at the Sigma Phi dance. Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell chaperoned. Another tea dance was held at the Phi Mu Delta House, "Doc" Hovey's Music Weavers playing, and Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Stineford chaperoning. At the Phi Sigma Delta House Captain and Mrs. W. E. Lauer chaperoned yet another afternoon dance.

A banquet for a large number of alumni was held at the Zeta Chi House, suppers and get-togethers were also held at the Delta Phi, Kappa Sigma, A. T. O. and S. A. E. houses.

Fraternities reported many visitors at their afternoon function. The number of alumnae in Burlington for Homecoming Day as well as alumni who were not present at the dances, cannot be estimated.

Three hundred couples attended the Key and Serpent dance Saturday evening, including nearly 100 Norwich students. The Black Pirates played. Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Braun, and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell chaperoned. The event concluded the Key and Serpent week.

Game Was Heartbreaker

The demand for support in the Norwich game was met by hundreds of students and townspeople. It was a heartbreaking spectacle for the colorful crowd that packed the grandstands in the hope of seeing the Catamounts turn in their first victory over the Cadets in five years.

Five times during the game Vermont had the ball within the 10 yard line and five times plays went awry or penalties were inflicted to give Norwich the ball on downs.

It is now difficult to pick an outstanding star in Saturday's contest. The line was stronger than it had been all year and succeeded in stopping the Norwich backs at the line of scrimmage while it outcharged the forward completely in the first three periods. Segal and Dinniman turned espe

(Continued on page 3)

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Margaret Ann Martin, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Published semi-weekly during the college year

Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 59 November 12, 1930 No. 15

A STUDENT-AT-LARGE: ARMISTICE DAY

What do you think of World Peace? This question, perhaps more than any other in the world is being asked this Armistice Day by hundreds of millions the world over.

Few nations have come to doubt since the World War whether they can ever again engage in such a titanic struggle involving the loss of millions in human life and property and upsetting the entire social, moral and economic structure of their national and international life. To do so would be tantamount to plotting the cemeteries of civilization, let alone creating a serious breach in international ethics.

The paramount issue today which vitally concerns statesmen, educators and religious leaders and students is the renunciation of violence as an instrument of settling international controversies and the substitution of a non-violent method involving courts of justice and arbitration such as the World Court and the League of Nations.

The supreme task of the twentieth century is the establishment of a world community similar to the several states of the United States between which there are no interstate wars, separating the groups from each other economically, socially and culturally.

A new age of internationalism is dawning. All the nations of the world are in a relation of interdependence. Their interests are no longer separate and isolated but all bound together inextricably in a thousand and one new economic ties and relationships that had no existence whatever a century ago. No nation, not even the strongest, is in a position to break with the others without depriving itself of the resources of its indispensable supplies and of its necessary customers without bringing ruin upon itself.

In the whole range of our economic life, as peoples and nations, we are living in a world which has become internationalized in a world in which there is no room for a narrow love in serving our own country alone with fear and suspicion of other nations.

Nearly all the leading nations of the earth two years ago mutually renounced war as an instrument of international policy (except a purely defensive type, and thanks to modern trend of public opinion that is the only kind that may ever again be waged). The three primary naval powers, England, United States and Japan have recently pledged themselves to the reduction of their navies. While in no case has it been a drastic cut, this does display their sincere belief that huge defensive preparations do engender mutual fear, suspicion and hatred of other nations as well as create in the people a reliance on war as a method of settling international problems.

They realize that with the rapid perfection of vital and active peace machinery and the mobilization of public opinion away from war, a trust and faith in the war method is sheer ignorance, fear and cowardice. Valor and honor and patriotism today are words of peace--peace on a common-sense commercial basis.

This new attitude is being accepted by increasing numbers and in time will displace the system in which whole nations were emotionally attuned to rush into warfare at the slightest provocation.

People realize that security lies not in great armies (like those of European powers in 1914) and despite the fact that this Armistice Day in the United States, 800,000 young men are preparing for war, they are relying more and more on an intelligent public opinion which looks to compete appreciation and harmony through international organization.

World Peace is the challenge thrown before the college students of America today. Will you in whom lies the responsibility for the preservation of the noblest ideals of civilization betray this trust? Will you put your faith in another sanguine world war or will you pledge yourself to the support of the movement utilizing the power of love and friendship in your national and international life?

This is the message of Armistice Day.

An International House nine stories high is to be financed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and be built in the quadrangle of the University of Chicago. Foreign students attending institutions of higher education in the city

President [illegible] has given no response to the last two times that it is time the national sport of that country [illegible] It is if America accused [illegible] Grand Mogul Norgren, whose [illegible] team, so easily [illegible] a team of the Israelis

Crowds of 70,000 at college games are not unusual the school nines are [illegible] organized in leagues and the [illegible] play much better ball than the average American college team in the opinion of Norgren.

At Harvard the average age of freshmen 100 years ago was 16 years and 3 months. Fifty years later, in 1880, it had advanced to 18 years and 7 months, which is not far from today's figure both at Harvard and at colleges in other parts of the country.

THE MUSE CONVERSES

The University of Wisconsin, far-seeing under the leadership of [illegible] degree system, with its experimental college headed by Prof. Alexander Meiklejohn, this week starts pioneering in new educational pastures. For the first time one of the largest universities in America puts into effect courses especially designed to fit over-ambitious freshmen and to make education a matter of the spirit and not the letter by ceasing to place sole emphasis on grades and credits as a measure of intellectual attainment. Passing marks alone will no longer serve the student as an academic life preserver.

"The University of Wisconsin cannot be converted into a Lighthouse keepers' club," admonished Press Gentry Friend after the changes were adopted. Students who are clever enough to pass in their studies but who begrudge the hours spent away from social and athletic activities at wasting their own as well as the university's time and money in his opinion.

The new curriculum will give such students two years to demonstrate that they can profit from the university's opportunities. If their experience during that time has really been nothing more than an intellectual siesta they will not be allowed to go on, despite passing grades. But every encouragement will be given students of superior ability and interest.

Days of Thinking

Their widely discussed two-year course throws overboard the whole paraphernalia of marks, credits, examinations and the cut-and-dried subjects of study. Instead, the students are "introduced into the ways of thinking by getting them to study in the first year the Athenian civilization of the fifth century B. C., and in the second year the civilization of the United States in the nineteenth century. These two studies are intended to give introduction to literature, history, art and architecture, economics, politics, religion, anthropology, science and philosophy, each in two different settings and each in relation to the others."

The new plan, now begun in the College of Letters and Science on the recommendation of a faculty committee aided by two student groups, represents a compromise between this freedom of the experimental college and the inflexibility of the university's old system. The tutorial method, for example, the most important item in the teaching system of the experimental college, is strongly urged in the new system throughout the university. The general deprecation of cold bookkeeping records as an indication of the students' development may also be traced to the experimental college, as may the introduction of general survey courses.

The First Two Years

On the other hand, the curriculum is still chopped into separate courses. A definite number of credits is necessary for graduation, as of yore. Required subjects, while they may be disposed of more easily, remain. For most students the day-to-day routine of the first two years will be the same as it was under the old régime.

The freshman who enrolls this week will be confronted, however, with a variety of arrangements to nurse along his individual development. First he will face a series of examinations in English, foreign languages, mathematics, history and the sciences. If a test shows that his proficiency in history is beyond that indicated by his high school credits he will be placed in a class commensurate with his actual attainment rather than his credits. The same rule will apply to the other subjects. If he is a student of unusual ability he may not have to take most of the required subjects and so have a wider range of electives. The number of years spent in classrooms will no longer be a criterion.

As a Junior

At the end of two years, however, a sharp line is drawn. Formerly the student would be entitled to go as a junior provided he had accumulated the necessary number of credits. But now that is not enough unless his grades place him in the highest group of his class.

If he falls into the second group he must apply for admission to the junior year. His application will be considered by a faculty committee which will give weight not only to his high school and university record but also to the written recommendations, if any, of members of the teaching staff under whom he studied as a sophomore. If he is in the third group he cannot be taken into the junior class at all, but may apply again after a lapse of one year. At this time his activities since leaving the university will be taken into account.

It is estimated that 65 percent of the students will fall into the first group, 20 percent into the second and 15 percent into the third. Approximately half of the applications in the second group are expected to be approved.

However, regardless of which group he makes, he will be given a certificate entitling him to the rank of "graduate in the liberal studies."

If the student has proved his ability and seriousness he will be allowed as much freedom from routine work as he can profitably use. He may even be granted a master's degree, in addition to a bachelor's degree, after only four years of study.

Intercollegiate News

No fewer than 137,900 patients of [illegible] were received [illegible] clinic department of the University of California Medical School in San Francisco in the year 1929-1930, according to statistics made public by Dr. Lionel Schmitt, director of the University Hospital.

Seventy-five students of Princeton Seminary visited Chinatown, New York recently. The trip was arranged to give the seminarians an opportunity to study evangelistic work and was sponsored by the student association of the seminary.

Many of the daily tribulations of the students and faculty of the College of the City of New York for the past week have been attributed to the sudden disappearance of two of that institution's most honored landmarks. Both scholarship and athletic disappointments are ascribed, in some quarters to the mysterious removal of these relics from their traditional resting places.

The first loss was the disappearance of General Webb's historic sword which for years rested in the mighty arm of the General's statute on Convent Avenue.

The second and less serious loss on the Height's campus has been the removal of a bust of Mercury, which had served as the patron of the college comic, The Mercury. Opinion among the students is that the winged feet of the little god of grip and jest have not carried him beyond confines of the college. But the saber case is without clues and will remain, for the present at least, a sword of Damocles to freshman, senior and fellow.

The College of the City of New York will keep a record of each student's extra-curricular activities in clubs, on publication staffs and athletic teams along with his scholastic, physical and intelligence test record, Dr. Frederick B. Robinson, the president, announces.

Freshmen from South Africa, Canada, Venezuela, Colombia and Mexico, besides those from 180 cities and towns in twenty-one of the United States, and a Bayside, L. I., boy who was with Admiral Byrd at the South Pole, go to make up the Columbia College class of 1934.

Number of holders of Bachelor degrees listed in "Who's Who" for the twenty college most represented:

1.	Harvard	1,374
2.	Yale	937
3.	Princeton	480
4.	Michigan	470
5.	Columbia	402
6.	Cornell	401
7.	Amherst	206
8.	Wisconsin	287
9.	Brown	268
10.	U. of Pa.	261
11.	M. I. T.	240
12.	U. S. M. Acad.	235
13.	Dartmouth	222
14.	U. S. N. Acad.	186
15.	California	185
16.	Wesleyan	182
17.	Williams	177
18.	Indiana	176
19.	Hopkins	171
20.	Chicago	170

Percentage of living alumni in "Who's Who" of twenty colleges most represented:

1.	Hampden-Sydney	7.45
2.	Amherst	7.40
3	Harvard	6.60
4.	Wesleyan	5.98
5.	Trinity (Conn.)	5.45
6.	Yale	4.78
7.	Hobart	4.75
8.	Williams	4.54
9.	Princeton	4.50
10.	Haverford	4.20
11.	Brown	3.74
12.	Hamilton	3.73
13.	Bowdoin	3.48
14	Centre	3.28
15.	Union	2.97
16.	Marietta	2.70
17.	Lafayette	2.65
18.	Dartmouth	2.64
19.	F. & M.	2.61
20.	Earlham	2.58

PSYCHOLOGY PROFESSOR SPEAKS AT P. T. A. MEET

At a meeting of the Adams School Parent-Teacher Association last Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock Prof. P. H. Ewert, of the department of psychology, spoke on "Some Aspects of Mental Testing." He also answered many questions that the parents wished to ask in connection with this field. Mr. Hard, physical training instructor, talked about "Our Playground Problems."

Bits of Bunk

"Make hay while the [illegible] boy," advised the [illegible]
Who the devil wants [illegible] returned the kid.

"If the lake went [illegible] around, Chicago would be Virgin Islands."
"Yes, virgin on [illegible] Brown Jug.

Life's Little Paradoxes

Now that we're going [illegible] soon, will you promise [illegible] gambling.—Pennsylvania P[illegible]

The Baby's Name

We'll call him Tom, his [illegible]
On Jack I'll never pass
'Cause Tom-As for a [illegible]
Is better than Jack [illegible]
Octopus

First Convict: When [illegible] leave heah, boy?
Lifer: De fust
First Convict: De fust [illegible]
Lifer: De fust chance [illegible]
Penn. State Froth

Chairman: We'd like you [illegible] a few remarks at our banquet.
Prohibition Advocate: Are [illegible] that the banquet will be dry [illegible] respect.
Chairman: Certainly. We [illegible] think we asked you to speak.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl

Love laughs at locksmiths, but [illegible] thing that's laughed at [illegible] love has to retaliate somehow.

Two Old Salts Meet

"Hello, Bill, rudder you been [illegible] lately?"
"Hello, yourself, and [illegible] comin' along?"
"Oh, knot so good—my [illegible] sailing."
"Something you eight [illegible] probably."
"Yeah, the stuff you get nowadays makes you keel over."
"Well, guess it's stern [illegible] paid you that five I owe you."
"All right, but if you need it [illegible] you some more."
"Gotto be sailing along. See you again sometimes."—Wisconsin [illegible] pus.

He: Is Jack hot?
She: I'll say he is
He: How do you know?
She: Didn't you see the cinders on the track after his race?—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

"That was a dirty trek," said the African explorer as he dusted off his clothes.—Whitman Blue Moon

"Will you love me forever?" pleaded the young suitor.
"I cannot tell that," coyly replied the sweet young flapper as she looked at the beautiful necklace he had given her, "but I love you for the present."

"My dear, I won't have a thing to if that laundress keeps on stealing things. This week it was two Turkish towels."—Life.

"Your cheeks look just like peach blossoms."
"Darn it! I wanted them to look like roses."—Missouri Outlook

Figures show that girls are wearing fewer clothes.—Y News

"Do you drive your own car?"
"No, I have a son at college."—Cynic.

"Napoleon was right when he said an army fights on its stomach," [illegible] tered a soldier, as he crawled [illegible] the mud in No Man's Land.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

Babs: I heard that someone [illegible] cently given 500 kisses. What [illegible] you do if some boy friend [illegible] to help him outdo this record?
Bubs: I'd tell him to [illegible] Jack o'Lantern.

"Say, Diogenes, why [illegible]
"I never trust these [illegible] in the dark."—Burr.

"Do you work here?"
"No, ma'am, I'm the [illegible]

Mistress: I saw the [illegible] you this morning. I'll [illegible] in myself after this.
Janet: It won't [illegible] ma'am; he promised not [illegible] body except me.—The [illegible]

Women interested in forming an archery club should see Miss Cummings or Miss Blanchard [illegible] If enough are interested, special rates may be procured and a convenient time set for practice.

The club will meet in the Memorial Auditorium under the direction of Major Williams who coached at Lake Placid Club last year.

SPORTING NEWS

Norwich Game Results in Moral Victory for Vermont

Breaks of Game Tie Score—Vermont Gets Thirteen First Downs to Four for Norwich and Gains 262 Yards to Horsemen's 83 on Rushes and Passes

ENTIRE TEAM SHOWS STRENGTH IN STATE TILT

(Continued from page 1)

...ering down under punts ...ighting for the first time ...ierst injury

...field shone consistently ... with Bill Heaton, Eddie ... Manning and Tom ...ing the brunt of the attack ... afternoon. Heaton turned ... offensive game during his ..., while Manning, who ... out for practice but two ... was the stellar light on the ...

... the half the bands of the ... universities furnished music. The ... R. O. T. C. Band marched to ... of the field and played the ... alma mater songs after forming ... N" and "V"

... play by play account of the ... follows:

Vermont Near Touchdown

... QUARTER: Coane kicked off ... Winant, who ran the ball back 22 ... to the 34-yard line, a beautiful ... judging skill. Heaton lost two ... then Winant and Manning hit ... for two and five yards respectively. Heaton got off a long spiral ... to O'Brien, who was nailed in ... tracks on the Norwich 35-yard line. ... and Montagno made first ..., while Vermont offside and a ... end run by Coane turned in ... first down for the Cadets. ... was the only bit of offensive ... the Maroon produced. Fuller... fumbled and the ball-hawk Din... recovered. A lateral gained six ... but two plays through the line ... smeared and Bill punted outside ... 22-yard marker. Norwich exchanged the compliment and the Ver... backs tore into action. Tom ... smashed through Fanos for ... yards. Stew followed with three ... and then Tommy made first ... An offside by Gibbons, Nor... tackle, and a clever lateral, ... to Heaton, turned into another ... down. Manning and Heaton ... through the weakening line for ... third first down and then the ... continued their march to ... 14-yard line by a Winant end run. ... lateral to Manning brought ... pigskin to the 5-yard stripe and ... an offside play coupled with hard ... when Heaton slipped in an open ... to the goal gave the Cadets the ... in the shadow of their own goal ... The quarter ended as Coane ... to Winant.

Cadets Block Cats' Threats

... QUARTER: Winant stepped ... to the 45, eluded a charging ... end, and then hurled a long, ... pass behind the Norwich ... to Peep Park, who snatched ... and was downed on the 10-yard ... Heaton added three through the ... Winant two more and then two ... plunges were repulsed by ... and the second Vermont ... was cut off. Norwich punted ... of danger and the ball rolled out ... yard line. Eddie tossed one ... laterals to Manning, who ... yards around right end before ... got him. Collins then made ... down. Winant and Manning ... their relentless way through ... to the 10-yard line for Ver... first down. A fumbled ... line plunges and an incom... ... told the story of the ... charge blasted by the ... game see-sawed back and ... each gaining on punt ex... Finally Collins came in fast, ... a high pass and tore down ... before he was stopped. A ... Winant to Collins, car...kin to the 30-yard stripe ... ended.

Scoring Punch Lacking

... QUARTER: O'Brien kicked off ..., who pounded his way ... line to the 33-yard line ... gained little ground and ... to O'Brien. The latter ... Winant, who caught the ... 25-yard line and wormed ... to the 36. Ed then hit ... 5 yards and Manning ... for nine more. Collins ... a lateral and then Bill ... in back of perfect in... charged through the line ... way up the field 21 ... Fullerton nailed him. A ...tute did not report and ... added five more yards to the Catamount total. Winant added five more, Manning four, and Eddie tossed a lateral to Heaton, who stopped on the 10-yard line. Manning tore through for 6 yards and three successive rushes put the ball on the 2-yard line. Again Vermont's powerful scoring attack had been stopped. This was the fourth time the Green and Gold team had failed to produce the necessary punch. The third period ended with the teams still deadlocked.

Aerial Attacks Fail

FOURTH QUARTER: The teams were more evenly matched during the last period. Norwich made one first down to Vermont's three. It became apparent to Winant that the only possible chance of scoring lay through the air route. Eddie tossed several long beautiful passes but the ends were slow in covering and the Norwich backs were on the alert, knocking down several certain gains. In the last few minutes Norwich was penalized for slugging. Collins and Heaton nipped off first downs, but it was too late and the whistle blew, ending one of the hardest-fought battles ever seen on Centennial Field with one of the unhappiest results, a scoreless tie, which duplicated the game two years ago.

The line-ups:

VERMONT		NORWICH
Segal, Palmer	l.e.	Mersheimer
Donaldson	l.t.	Delucchio
G. Collins, Maynes	l.g.	Sipila
Dinniman	c.	Fanos
Farmer	r.g.	Smith
Aronson	r.t.	Gibbons
Park	r.e.	Clark
Winant	q.b.	O'Brien
Heaton, Jay	l.h.b.	Montagno
T. Collins	r.h.b.	Coane
Manning	f.b.	Fullerton

Referee—O'Brien (Holy Cross)
Umpire—Peterson (Springfield).
Field Judge—Laird (Dartmouth)
Head Linesman—Hausner (Ithaca).
Time—Four 15-minute quarters

PROF. TUPPER ATTENDS ONTARIO INSTALLATION

Prof. Frederick Tupper of the University attended the installation of Dr. William Hamilton Fyfe as principal of Queens College, Kingston, Ont. Professor Tupper met Doctor Fyfe a year and a half ago in England when Doctor Fyfe was headmaster of Christ Hospital School, the famous bluecoat school attended by Charles Lamb, Samuel Coleridge and other English notables. Professor Tupper was notified of Doctor Fyfe's election to the principalship of Queens College through an invitation from the chancellor and trustees of the college, inviting him to attend the ceremonies of installation.

MORTAR BOARD GIVES ANNUAL FALL DANCE

The annual fall Mortar Board dance was held in the Burlington High School Gymnasium Saturday night, November 1. Prof. and Mrs. Leon Dean and Prof. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell were chaperones. Ruth Field and Janice Davis represented Mortar Board in the receiving line. Music was furnished by the Black Pirates Orchestra.

Recently one prominent university president wrote that the social fraternity constitutes "the greatest organized source of moral misbehavior on the campus."

Direct payments to student athletes as a solution for present chaotic conditions in the world of intercollegiate sports is advocated by the editors of several college papers reporting to the National Student Federation.

She: I showed mother the verses which you sent me. She was pleased.
He: Indeed! And what did she say?
She: She said she is delighted to find that I was not going to marry a poet.—Texas Longhorn

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTING EDITOR

Vermont 0 Norwich 0!

Vermont can get little consolation from that score, although it is certain that the Green and Gold had the superior team. The game now has gone down as history, the result has been recorded and ten years from now no one will ask which was the better team. The fact remains that the game ended in a scoreless tie, and Vermont again failed for the fifth consecutive time to cross the Norwich goal line.

Nevertheless, we should give the Vermont players plenty of credit. The facts of the game show how much superior the Catamounts were to the Horsemen. The Green and Gold team clearly outrushed and outplayed Norwich during the entire game.

Vermont made fourteen first downs to three for Norwich.

Vermont had possession of the ball most of the time and were playing far in Norwich territory.

Four times Vermont was within twelve yards of the Norwich goal line, once landing on the 3-yard marker.

Norwich threatened only once and that was in the second period when a fumble was recovered.

Vermont had the stage all set for a touchdown in the first half but a break came that saved Norwich from defeat. The field was a little wet and Heaton slipped and fell after receiving a pass five yards from the goal line with a clear field in front of him.

The spirit of rivalry between the two colleges was more peaceful and more friendly this year than usual. The traditional Norwich red lantern was conspicuous by its absence. The old alumni would no doubt say that the contest was turning into an old ladies' game.

The only hopes now that Vermont can have on a claim for the State title is by defeating Middlebury next Saturday in the Black Panthers' own lair. If the Catamounts should win this next game, they would have a fair claim to the State championship.

Last Saturday Rensselaer defeated Middlebury 6 to 0, and the previous week Rensselaer beat Vermont 7 to 0. This would indicate that there would be a tough battle Saturday between the Catamounts and the Panthers.

Springfield and Middlebury are the only remaining opponents on the Vermont football schedule. Both games are away from home and neither will be a cinch.

Scores of last Saturday's college football games with Vermont opponents in italics:

Amherst 7, Trinity 7.
Michigan 6, Harvard 3.
New Hampshire 33, Conn. Aggies 0.
Springfield 57, Mass. Aggies 0.
Rensselaer 6, Middlebury 0.
Rochester 14, Union 13.
Dartmouth 43, Allegheny 14.
Army 13, Illinois 0.
Brown 32, Tufts 7.
Colgate 54, Columbia 0.
Georgetown 20, Boston College 19.
Georgia 7, N. Y. U. 6.
Holy Cross 13, New River 0.
Notre Dame, 60, Pennsylvania 20.
Alabama 20, Florida 0.
Fordham 13, Detroit 7.
Williams 40, Wesleyan 0.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

Clark School Snatches 7-0 Victory from Frosh Eleven

Saba is Outstanding Halfback—Nicholson Scores Touchdown for Clark in Series of Off-tackle Slants

WEAK FRESHMAN LINE LOSES YARDAGE RAPIDLY

On a series of off tackle slants that pierced the weak Kitten forward wall Clark School of Hanover managed to squeeze out a victory over Coach Tully's yearlings in the last five minutes of play by the margin of 7 to 0.

Back and forth the contest see-sawed Clark School taking the ball deep into 1934 territory only to lose the advantage when within sight of the goal line.

Coach Tully minced no metaphors between halves and the frosh took the field with evil in their eyes. A determined march down the field threatened to end in disaster for the Clarksters. After a series of three incomplete passes with subsequent loss in yardage, due to penalties, Ed Saba, crafty leader of the yearlings hurled a low speedy forward to Dente who had punted down the field. A beautiful piece of generalship and a first down. Here the offense stalled and fizzled, due to the ragged play of the line which continuously allowed the Clark forwards to seep in, breaking up the Vermont offence before it got momentum.

Clark's spirited march began to check on the Kitten's 35 yard line and with the brunt of the attack carried by Captain Nicholson, scored a touchdown through consecutive thrusts off tackle. Then the additional point was kicked, making the result 7 to 0.

In a review of the frosh record, we find victories being chalked against Montpelier Seminary and Norwich plebes, suffering defeat at the hands of Vermont Academy and Clark School. A deadlock resulted when the Kittens met the Middlebury frosh. Coach Dunn will welcome with open arms Ed Saba, Ed Sowka, Ken Smith, Bill Brasklis, Sam Barton from the backfield and other lesser lights from the line, who with a year of freshman play behind them should prove more adaptable to "Dave" Dunn's ideas. Graduation will seriously deplete the ranks of the varsity and experienced material should be at a premium.

Line-ups:

VERMONT FROSH		CLARK SCHOOL
Dente (Suitor)	l.e.	Bowdren
Morgan (Cochrane)	l.t.	Dusel (Sleep)
Delfausse	l.g.	Robinette
Faucher (White)	c.	Harris
Denhoff	r.g.	Cunnington
Wagner	r.t.	Leete (Donahue)
Russ	r.e.	Celzer
K. Smith	q.b.	Neville
Brasklis (Wesoly)	l.h.b.	Kinney (Baum)
Saba (Capt.)	r.h.b.	LaForge (Boylan)
Sowka	f.b.	Nicholson (Capt.)

Mrs. Gee: William, how do you suppose those dozens and dozens of empty bottles got into our cellar?
Mr. Gee: I'm sure I don't know love, I never bought an empty bottle in my life.—Philadelphia Bulletin

BASKETBALL CANDIDATES TO BEGIN PRACTICE SOON

Basketball practice will not begin in earnest until Monday, November 17, according to the plans of Coach Howard Prentice. A small group of candidates are now working out under his direction, getting into condition for intensive practice.

A large squad is expected to report when practice begins, and from all indications a strong team will be moulded together from six returning lettermen and several likely-looking candidates from last year's frosh team.

The schedule which is to be undertaken this year is one of the stiffest which the Green and Gold has been up against in several seasons. It is featured by home games with New Hampshire and Dartmouth, while Clarkson Tech and Harvard appear as newcomers.

COURSE OFFERED FOR BASKETBALL OFFICIALS

Beginning December 2, a new elective course in the art of basketball officiating will be started. Classes will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays in charge of "Bump" Levine, and the course will last three weeks. The main object of the course is to promote better basketball refereeing and to standardize the style of officiating games. For practical experience the candidates will officiate in the practice games of both the freshman and the varsity basketball squads under the instruction of "Bunny" Prentice and "Archie" Post. The students will attend the State Board meeting for interpretation of rules on December 6. This course is the first of its kind to be offered in the University and has unusually bright prospects.

SGT. CONNER CUTS FOR WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM

Candidates for the Women's Rifle Team surviving the cut made Friday by Coach Conner are:

Allen, H., Barnum, H., Barrett, E., Beggs, C., Bishop, E., Brown, S., Chase, N. M., Clark, E., Clark, K., Dodge, A., Dunsmore, M. R., Eskelionis, H., Goss, R., Harrington, L. E., Hersom, C. A., Hubbard, H., Hubert, G., Capt., Humphrey, C., Huntley, F., Johnson, T., McNall, A., Marsh, O. A., Minckler, J., Munn, K., Murray, E., Nash, D., Pritchard, E. G., Putnam, D., Skinner, D. H., Slayton, E. L., Mgr., Smith, E., Taylor, D., Thomas, F., Unger, N., Urie, E., Urie, M. V., Walker, L., Wharton, M., Yewell, E.

Women may practice in the gallery range from 2 to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday inclusive.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

The Old Reliable
Women's and Misses Washable Cape Leather Pull-On Gloves $1.95 pr.
A very serviceable glove for campus wear. Four button length, tan, brown, black, navy and gray. Sizes 6½ to 7½.

John Dewey, 79, Reminisces and Sees Vermont Always Enjoyable

His Books

[illegible] Public and [illegible] Quest for Cer[illegible]

Present Day Education

[illegible] ought [illegible] He thinks [illegible] has been made in [illegible] high schools. As to the [illegible] of selecting a student's [illegible]

Hope in Russia

Russia, now the most dis[illegible] of countries to most travelers, Doctor Dewey finds cause for hope. "Educational facilities there are better than ever before," he said. "No one could doubt that. Vienna he finds much saddened and impoverished by the war. Not only did the Austrians lose the greater part of their territory [illegible] but most of their sources of wealth. But Vienna is still a beautiful place to visit and the people are as courteous as ever, still living up to their reputation for being the most polite people in the world.

Doctor Dewey enjoys being in the woods and spends much time outdoors. He is quite fond of sport. He finds in travel most of his recreation, but he has always taken pleasure in his work. That this is appreciated by others is attested by the number of his honorary degrees, which have reached a staggering number since he took his A.B. at Vermont in 1879 and his Ph.D. at Johns Hopkins in 1884. They include LL.D.'s from the University of Wisconsin, the University of Vermont, Pekin, National University and the Universities of Michigan, Minnesota and Chicago.—Burlington Free Press

NOTICE

Bluestockings will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, November 25, instead of on Thursday.

Last week the juniors had their pictures taken for the "Ariel." Out of two hundred students who made appointments only one hundred and thirty kept them. This represents a very low percentage of the junior class. Those who have not yet had their pictures taken by the visiting photographer should make arrangements elsewhere as soon as possible.

Middlebury Game

Students may purchase reserved seat tickets for the Middlebury-Vermont game at Middlebury on November 15, for one dollar at the University Book Store. These will be ON SALE TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, and THURSDAY of this week.

If purchased at Middlebury, the reserved seat tickets will be two dollars.

S. C. Abell,
Graduate Manager.

DEAN SWIFT WILL SPEAK TO NEW YORK ALUMNAE

Dean Elijah Swift of the Arts and Sciences College will be the guest of honor at the annual meeting and luncheon of the New York Alumnae Association of the University of Vermont which will take place Saturday, November 15 at one o'clock at the American Women's Association clubhouse which is located at 353 West 57th Street, New York City.

All Vermont graduates living in and around New York as well as all former students are cordially invited and requested to attend this luncheon meeting.

HOPE RANSLOW WILL BE PLAY PROPERTY MANAGER

Hope Ranslow, '32, was appointed as the women's property manager for the fall college play, "The Queen's Husband," at a meeting of Masque and Sandal held Thursday, November [illegible] at the Theta house.

Masque and Sandal and Wig and Buskin, the women's and men's honorary dramatic societies have decided that the play will be given December 11.

Co-ed Notes

As a result of competitive tryouts, the women's debate manager will be Sophie Levin, '31, and assistant, Priscilla Perry, '33.

Elizabeth Clark, '31, president of Press club, called a meeting of interested scrubs Wednesday afternoon, November 5. The candidates, numbering about seventy altogether, will be divided into groups headed by a Press club member. With this new organization of work it is hoped that more will be accomplished than ever before.

At the last meeting of the Student Union Council, held November 4, the women present voted to have a Mortar Board member present at every meeting of the freshman women. Thus the freshman women will be wisely advised concerning different problems that may arise.

University of Iowa has a class in [illegible] announcing

PROFS. TUPPER, SWIFT DELEGATES AT CONFAB

[illegible] a meeting is a great stimulus [illegible] gives a means of comparing what is [illegible] in different colleges," declared Dean Elijah Swift, [illegible] about the convention of the Association of Colleges in New England, which he and Professor Tupper attended at Tufts College on October 31, and November 1.

This meeting is held every year and is attended by two representatives from every college of the Association. In all fourteen colleges are listed and the foremost institutions in New England including Harvard, Yale, Tufts and Bowdoin are represented. Each college acts as host at one session. The convention held last at Vermont was in 1928 and it will take place here again in 1942.

"Matters of common interest are discussed," said Dean Swift, who represented Vermont along with Professor Tupper of the English department, "and the discussions and proceedings are held confidential, and never reported."

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB ELECTS THREE OFFICERS

At the opening meeting of the home economics club held in Morrill Hall, Thursday, November 6, under the supervision of Miss Terrill, head of the home economics department the following officers were elected: President, Agnes Shaw, '31, secretary, Caroline Taft, '33, and treasurer, Priscilla Perry, '33.

Anyone taking the home economics course is eligible for membership in the club. The organization aims to further the interests of home economics students. Last year several interesting programs were sponsored by the group including speakers on interior decorating and home furnishing.

HOME PRACTICE HOUSE RENOVATES PERSONNEL

Managers at the practice house of the home economics department this week are: Lillian Andrews, '31, hostess, Ruth Spear, '31, assistant hostess, Helen LeBaron, '32, cook, Lois Harrington, '32, household manager, Caroline Taft, '33, and Lucille Davis, '34, waitresses.

W. A. A. ARRANGES NEW GYMNASIUM SCHEDULE

Miss Cummings has announced an entirely new and different program for co-eds in the Women's Physical Education department this year.

The program is as follows:

November 5-17. Soccer (indoor).

November 17-mid-years. Basketball; posture tests and demonstrations, to be held at the beginning of the hour.

Mid-years-February 22. Cageball, volleyball stunts, pyramid building.

Week of February 23. Outdoor winter sports.

March 1-28. Indoor baseball, running and jumping for form, apparatus.

April 13-27. All kinds of playground and playday games.

April 27-June. Outdoor sports, baseball, tennis, archery, horseback riding.

Those taking two classes of [illegible] gym a week will have one period of archery at the Auditorium, and one period of individual exercise in the gymnasium

THE FORUM

What Is College?

A short time before the [illegible] present semester a [illegible] fellow of our acquaintance, one who had just graduated high school.

Being somewhat [illegible] we inquired if he were going to college and was surprised to receive a negative answer. He replied, "I've got a good job."

The chap in question, [illegible] looking, possesses an [illegible] sonality, could well afford the [illegible] of a collegiate career [illegible] high school record [illegible] and socially—in short [illegible] would be considered [illegible] material by fraternities [illegible] no doubt, would be a [illegible] university.

But the immediate [illegible] ensuing from a "job" deter[illegible] dividual from coming to [illegible] it has in uncounted other [illegible] It all brings us up to the [illegible] once more, "What is college?"

We do not consider ourselves [illegible] fied to attempt a complete [illegible] the query. Nevertheless [illegible] should mean something more [illegible] means of making money later [illegible] if high school graduates [illegible] there is no use in continuing [illegible] schooling merely because they [illegible] to possess a "job" which offers [illegible] financial returns as a direct [illegible] something is lacking in the [illegible] tion of college.

There is no purpose in being [illegible] to facts and one of the most [illegible] is that the great majority of [illegible] sity students are what they are [illegible] cause they feel that this [illegible] going to result, directly or indirectly, in later material benefits.

However, college does offer [illegible] thing more than this and [illegible] that our higher institutions [illegible] press this upon their students [illegible] sub-freshmen the healthier will be the whole attitude toward [illegible] —Syracuse Daily Orange.

Tomorrow evening at 7.30 in small gymnasium a meeting for all varsity basketball candidates will be held for the purpose of organization. Uniforms not required.

All sophomore men who desire to scrub varsity basketball report to Manager C. N. Crockett, Monday, November 17, at 4.15 p.m. in the gym.

Southern Methodist University in its student body a grandmother mother and a daughter all working degrees.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

[illegible] was initiated [illegible] and a banquet was [illegible] Sat[illegible] evening at the [illegible] of the Hotel Vermont.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

[illegible] was hostess at a tea given for the active chapter [illegible]

[illegible] Smith, '30, Ina Harris '30, Betty Bailey of Alpha Iota, and Dorothy Ammerman '31 were week-end visitors in town.

PI BETA PHI

[illegible] Stannard '31, was pledged to the local chapter Wednesday after noon, November 5.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Mrs. Schoen, province president, visited the local chapter from Saturday until Tuesday. Saturday evening she was entertained by the alumnae at the home of Marion Way. Sunday afternoon a tea was given in her honor at the home of Mrs. Chester Way.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The active chapter held a rummage sale at the [illegible] afternoon.

SIGMA GAMMA

The chapter will hold a dance Saturday evening, November 29, at the Lafayette. Dancing from [illegible] Professor and Mrs. Smith and Professor and Mrs. Campbell will chaperone. Music will be furnished by Lockwood's Aristocrats.

A [illegible] party to be given [illegible] the [illegible] of the chapter on Tuesday evening, November 18.

KAPPA DELTA

[illegible] was pledged to the local chapter on Tuesday, November 4.

VT. CHEMICAL SOCIETY TO HEAR AGRONOMIST

Dr. F. W. Parker, an agronomist from the Du Pont Ammonia Corporation will address the Vermont Branch of the American Chemical Society this evening at 8:00 o'clock in Williams science hall on the subject, "The Nitrogen Industry and its Place in the World." The public is invited.

The Vermont Branch of the American Chemical Society was organized [illegible] whose work are to chemists from [illegible] of Vermont, Middlebury and Norwich together with noted industrial chemists of the State. One meeting is held each year at Middlebury and two are held at Vermont.

Dr. Parker is well known in the field of agronomy. His subject should be especially appealing to those interested in chemistry, agronomy and [illegible] as it deals with the application of chemistry to such problems as food supply and chemical warfare.

A student at Fort Scott, Kansas, collected $2,750 for injuries received in a class scrap.

[illegible] party Thursday, November 6. Betty Upton, '29, received the consolation prize.

K. E. L.

K. E. L. gave a tea for the freshmen Sunday, November 4 at the home of Gertrude Levin, '31.

EPSILON SIGMA

Epsilon Sigma announces the pledging on Tuesday, November 4 of the following: Dorothy Ellis, Barre; Helen Holmes, Burlington; Myrtle Latham, Barre; Marion O'Brien, Winooski; Frances Scott, Ferne Souther, and Maxine Schmidt of Burlington. Initiation will be held Tuesday evening, November 10, at the rooms on Loomis Street.

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An [illegible] Restaurant

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

IN THE UNIVERSITY STORE WITH JOE AND SUE COLLEGE

"Have you seen the 'College Milestones'? A real college diary from freshman to senior years. There are also special pages for Football, Field and Ice Hockey, Basketball, Track Points and Baseball Scores, Outstanding Social Events, Addresses and Telephone Numbers. That will be just the thing to keep until I get that MEMORY BOOK I want so badly," says Sue.

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

Two Queens and a Pair of Braeburns

That's almost a full h[illegible] Our ace in the [illegible] however is more [illegible] burns just arrived.

Canyon Blues and [illegible] browns make a full [illegible] here almost a sure [illegible] Hurry, they won't [illegible] here long

$35 $40 $4[illegible] two trousers

Hayes & Carney, In[illegible]

195-7 Bank St., Near M[illegible]

Open Evenings

"Where Vermont Men

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 19 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1930 NUMBER 18

THREE LOWER CLASSES TO GIVE ONE-ACT PLAYS TONIGHT IN GYMNASIUM

Junior Women To Present "Rehearsal," Sophomores, "Many Happy Returns," Frosh, "The Twelve Pound Look"

DEAN CUP WILL REWARD SUCCESSFUL COMPETITOR

Club will present the ... in competition for ... Friday evening, November ... University gymnasium. ... Day, "Rehearsal" by ... ley, is a true-to-life ... ony gone through by ... one week before the ... a modern one-act play. ... manager begins to real... of her task in pre... sentation; the char... of collapse and ready ... edict an utter failure, ... suffering director is ...

... this play, coached by ... 31, is as follows: ... Gwendolyn Shafer. ... manager. Theodora ... Doris Skinner, Hildur ... Mower and Dorothy ...

The Sophomore Play

... Returns of the Day" ... Day Knox is to be the ... sentation. Margaret ... forty-fifth birthday ... restless and discontented, ... fact that she is an in... ... She reviews her ... seen at various stages, ... critically for the first ... of this introspection ... to her former husband, ... ng him another chance ... one for herself.

... Levin, '31, coached the ... ne cast: ... Haswell, Dorothy Mur... ... Margaret Wharton. ... ten years, Dorotha Ed... Margaret at twenty years, Mar... ... thirty years, Sylvia ... maid, Dorine Lee.

The Freshman Play

... Barrie's "The Twelve ... is the choice for the ... This, named by a ... of Barrie's keenest and ... sketches, is the pic... point in the life of the ... extremely self-satisfied ... His complacency is ... that by the appearance of ... ete in the position of a ... otter goes on to explain ... husband why she does ... and bow down to him. ... almost loses his self... after dismissing the typist ... cy, gets reassurance of ... from his second wife. ... note of Barrie's plays ... mentalism, as has been ... but courage. Kate, the ... quality of course, but ... surprising to note that ... is also. Hers is exem... submergence of her per... the development and care ... 's. The significance of ... be made apparent only ... ... of "The Twelve Pound ... ed by Justine Rogers, '31. ... Woodward, '33, is as ...

... Sims, Elaine Burdett. ... Ruth Wood. ... Herson. ... Betty Woodward.

The Cup

... Cup, presented by Prof. ... on W. Dean for the first ... has always been won by ... ass. "Sardines," a play ... fishing village whose life ... by the bell that an... ...es a good catch, was judged best ... Overtones," a modern ... drama, won the cup last

Most Students Ignore Poll On Cynic Editorial Policy; 580 Don't Vote

Straw Vote Attracts Less Than Half of Student Body—144 Vote "Yes" and 266 "No"—Voting Last Four Days Under Auspices of Senior Society

The majority of the student body expressed complete unwillingness to Boulder's four day straw vote on what it termed "Cynic Editorial Policy" two weeks ago.

Five hundred and eighty students in the academic colleges refused to participate in the voting, 266 voted "no" in reply to the question, "Are you in favor of the present editorial policy of the Cynic?" while 144 voted "yes" in reply to the same question.

Moral Victory

The editor of the Cynic, when informed of the results of the poll, expressed keen gratification, hailing them as a moral victory for the Cynic.

"The 266 students who voted against the Cynic," he declared, "include every student in the University with the slightest grudge against the paper. The Boulder straw vote gave them the opportunity to air their grudge, which in many cases was of long standing. Of course the perpetually discontented elements to be found here as in every community took advantage of the occasion to record a goodly number of negative votes.

"The large number who refused to vote show a healthy indifference to what they must regard as a tempest in a teapot, stirred up by the outraged egotism of the class societies.

"Most of the supporters of the Cynic abstained from the polls as a silent protest against the methods of the Boulder Society. The senior society violated the tradition of the Austin case by open and defiant Cynic interest polling to steal votes from time to time.

To Investigate Other Colleges

As an aftermath of the recent campaign of the Cynic against freshman rules, a proposal was submitted to the Faculty-Student Council last week to appoint a committee to examine into freshman-sophomore relations at other colleges. The committee would make an actual tour of inspection.

A debate of almost an hour resulted in a decision to appoint a committee of five to consider the method of procedure for such an investigation. It was expected that the makeup of the committee of five would be four to one in favor of freshman rules. Three men have already been appointed: Roderick Maynes, a member of the Boulder Society, Francis Bolles, a member of the Faculty-Student Council, and Jackson Morgan, president of the freshman class. Another member of the committee will be appointed by the president of the sophomore class, and one by Prof. M. B. Cummings and Prof. Elijah Swift, respectively chairman and secretary of the Council. The committee will report next Friday.

Dean Swift expressed the belief that an investigation into freshman-sophomore relations in other colleges would have an influence on student sentiment here.

MEN'S SOCIETIES WILL HOLD DANCES IN HONOR OF THE NEW MEMBERS

Following the Middlebury game Saturday, eight of Vermont's thirteen Greek-letter societies will hold dances. Most of these affairs are to be staged in honor of the new pledges.

The dances, annual events after the Middlebury game, will be chaperoned by various members of the University faculty and alumnae.

The Owls will hold a dance for their pledges Saturday evening, November 15, at the Lambda Iota house at 440 Pearl Street. Music will be furnished by Freddie Lynch's orchestra and the dance will be chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun and Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Carleton.

December Informal

Sigma Phi will hold an informal pledge dance on December 12.

Delta Psi will hold no dance Saturday but will hold an informal affair on November 28, the Friday after Thanksgiving, at its house on Summit Street. This will be in honor of the pledges and will be chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. Paul French and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell. Lechnyr's Vermonters will furnish music.

Phi Delta Theta will hold a dance at its house at 439 College Street on Saturday evening at eight-thirty. The chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Jenney and Major and Mrs. O. H. Stanley.

Alpha Tau Omega will hold a dance for its pledges Saturday, November 15, at its house on College Street. Prof. and Mrs. Leon Dean will act as chaperones.

An informal pledge dance will be held by Kappa Sigma fraternity at the house, Saturday evening, November 15.

Phi Mu Delta will open its social season the Friday after Thanksgiving with a dance at its house on College Street. The Black Pirates will furnish music.

Sigma Nu will conduct a dance for its pledges Saturday, also after the game. The Black Pirates will furnish music.

Other Post-Game Dances

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will hold a pledge dance Saturday evening at its home at 56 Summit Street. Music will be furnished by Lechnyr's Vermonters. Prof. and Mrs. P. D. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell will act as chaperones.

Sigma Delta will hold a dance after the game Saturday for its pledges at 316 Main Street. Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Puffer and Prof. K. J. Sheldon will chaperone. Music will be furnished by the Music Weavers.

Tau Epsilon Phi will open its social season with a dance for the pledges at its house on Wilson Street. Dr. and Mrs. Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. S. Alpert will chaperone. The Moonlight Serenaders will furnish music.

METCALF ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PROSPECTS FOR SUCCESSFUL FALL PLAY

When interviewed last Tuesday, Prof. John T. Metcalf, who is directing the annual fall dramatic production, The Queen's Husband, expressed himself as enthusiastic over prospects.

Although only four rehearsals have been held—one last Friday, three Wednesday, Thursday and today—the cast is already showing up remarkably well. "I see no reason why the play should not be a success," stated Metcalf.

The play, which is the work of Robert Emmet Sherwood, will be presented on December 11; the place is not yet decided upon.

WCAX, University radio station, announces the following program for tonight:

7.30. Talk—"The Value of Our Schools in Terms of Service," Dr. B. C. Douglass, head of Department of Education and Director of Summer School.

7.40. Talk—"The Work of the American Red Cross," Prof. E. C. Mower, head of Department of Political Science.

7.50. Talk—"Profits From Your Woodlot Improvement," John G. Weir, Extension Forester.

8.00. Vocal selections—Mrs. Elizabeth Bradish, dramatic soprano, Department of Music.

1. My Lovely Celia ... Munro
2. The Hills of Gruzia, Mednikoff
3. The Last Song ... Rogers
4. Ritorna Vincitor, from "Aida" ... Verdi
5. Clair de Lune ... Szulc
6. Hymne au Soleil ... Georges
7. Traeume ... Wagner
8. In dem Schatten Meiner Locken ... Wolf
9. Der Erlkoenig ... Schubert

CARLETON TO ADDRESS CO-ED LITERARY GROUP

Florence Deane Carleton of the English Department will speak before Phrenokosmos women's literary society at their meeting November 18 on Norwegian Literature. The meeting will be held at the Kappa Alpha Theta House.

This talk will cover part of the field of Scandinavian literature, which is to be the theme of the club this year.

"SITUATION IN INDIA" IS SUBJECT OF TALK BY RAYMOND CURRIER

Noted Missionary Worker, Secretary of Student Volunteer Movement Addresses Students

Tuesday night Mr. R. P. Currier, the Educational Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, spoke before a small but appreciative audience of students and townspeople on "The Situation in India."

Mr. Currier, who holds degrees from Harvard, served for nearly ten years on the Judson College staff in Burma. This experience and his later work has given him a sound inside knowledge of his subject.

LaCrosse Introduces

Paul J. LaCrosse, '32, introduced the speaker with a short reference to the round-table conference held the same day in England to decide on India's fate.

Mr. Currier began his lecture with the well-known fable, of Indian origin, of the five blind men and the elephant. The average student or writer on India today is much like those blind men, laying hold on people are want to do in any situation of some one phase of the problem, and disregarding its other aspects. "So, at the outset," he said, "it is admittedly hard to give a complete and truthful picture of India."

In Ghandhi, the "Mahatma"—("Great Soul," newly "saint") of the Indian people is summed up the spirit and ideals of the race. It is a quiet spirit, essentially kind, occasionally through extreme oppression and suffering, perverted to cruelty, but essentially peaceful and mild.

Ghandhi's Views

"It is pertinent here," he went on, "to quote from the two most authoritative books on India—those by C. F. Andrews—some of the Mahatma's views."

Two of his sayings are:

"The supreme consideration is man. Replace greed by love and the world will be well." "Performance of duty should be independent of public opinion."

A brief summary of Ghandhi's credo is found in these three words—truth, love, and independence.

When Ghandhi at last decided, in 1920, that the British government was incurable, he prepared and launched his program of passive resistance.

The first step was toward public protest by boycott—boycott of schools, courts, British honors, and by closing the stores on certain days.

Second came a step which he later recalled, thinking it incited to hatred, the burning of foreign goods.

The third step was civil disobedience. British laws were disobeyed by his followers, who, however, readily gave themselves up for arrest. As a convenient law to break he picked the government salt monopoly. This is not as trivial as it may seem, for salt is a vital necessity in India, since rice, with which salt is the only seasoning, forms the staple diet of the country.

All have heard of Ghandhi's famous "March to the Sea." The result was the arrest at one time or another of 35,000 natives, including Mr. Ghandhi.

One word "Ahimsa," meaning "harmlessness," represents the method of resistance adopted.

The effectiveness of this method has been amply demonstrated in India in such affairs as quarrels between the Sikhs and the Hindus, and outcastes with orthodoxy.

(Continued on page 6)

PLAYWRIGHT KENNEDY TO GIVE SECOND TALK OF UNIVERSITY SERIES

Charles Rann Kennedy, Noted Actor, Author and Teacher of Drama, To Be Here Tuesday

"SERVANT IN THE HOUSE" MOST NOTED CREATION

Charles Rann Kennedy, one of the foremost actors and playwrights of the present day, will deliver the second lecture of the University series in the auditorium the evening of Tuesday, November 18. The lecture is open to all who are interested.

An Englishman

Mr. Kennedy, an Englishman by birth, married an Scottish actress, equally eminent, Edith Wynne Matheson. Together they head the dramatic department of the Bennett School at Millbrook, N. Y. Besides the world famous "Servant in the House," for which Mr. Kennedy creates the title rôle, he has written numerous other plays. Among his recent plays are "The Chastening," "The Admiral" and "The Salutation." These three were written for a cast of three players, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy and Margaret Gage, and have won a wide audience on both sides of the Atlantic. Each play is an idea dramatized, a fine and original addition to the drama as it is heard or read. The Kennedys recently presented "The Admiral," which was written in 1923 in Rutland, Vt.

Charles Rann Kennedy is one of the consummate artists of today. A dramatist in form, he derives from the same current of modernism that produced Shaw. Into his plays pass the exquisite attention to detail of a medieval craftsman. Everything he writes is marked by psychological depth and subtlety and matchless technical skill. For thirty years he has served the theater as actor, playwright and producer. During this time he has written a long list of plays including "The Servant in the House," "The Terrible Meek," and "The Idol Breaker." In the "Plays for Three Players" Kennedy appears in the full maturity of his art. These dramas are proof that classic form may be attained without sacrifice in modernity of these and without slavish imitation of antique models. Perfect in technique, these plays range over the centuries but deal always with the most modern problems.

Plays for Three

"The Chastening" is an afternoon in the life of Joseph, Mary and Jesus, when the twelve-year-old Messiah declares his divine mission. "The Admiral" vividly paints Christopher Columbus longing to discover a new world; the peasant girl who loves him; and the first authentic modern woman, Isabella of Spain. "The Salutation" is a beautiful modern version of the love story that gave birth to Dante's "Divine Comedy."

The precise subject of Mr. Kennedy's lecture has not yet been announced, but the announcement will follow soon.

J. V. ORATORS TO SPEAK AT VERGENNES GRANGE

At the Vergennes Grange this evening the Junior Varsity debaters will participate in an Oregon style debate. The question is, "Resolved, that the eighteenth amendment should be repealed." The affirmative team consists of P. J. LaCrosse, '32, and E. M. Codding, '31; the negative team will be composed of J. E. Bigelow, '33, and M. D. Howe, '34. This will also be a discussion debate. For the affirmative LaCrosse will act as witness and will present the case. Codding will act as lawyer and will present the rebuttal. For the negative, Bigelow will act as witness and Howe as lawyer. This is the second appearance of the J. V.'s at Vergennes.

In Holland the pledges to fraternities must shave the hair off their heads and enter all buildings through the windows.

bury middlebury!

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Associate Editors
Sports Editor
Intercollegiate Editor
Business Manager
Assistant Business Managers
Circulation Manager
Assistant Circulation Managers

G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Published semi-weekly during the college year

All business communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 3021 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other communications to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Entered according to postal regulations for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Printed by the Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 November 14, 1930 No. 16

WHAT ARE OTHERS DOING?

A Committee, appointed by the Executive Council of the Student Council of Syracuse University, to investigate conditions relating to freshmen, sophomore relations at Syracuse University, has appointed a group of ... to serve on such a committee.

... the committee should set itself ... colleges. We do not ... or abolish sophomore ... simply because other colleges ... We see much merit in the ... that freshman rules are ridiculous, futile and harmful, they should be abolished ... by the abolishment of other colleges.

... to contradict ourself, we must ... the fact that the Faculty-Student ... is not only difficult to solve but ... a problem in which the most ... interest if we treat it from a subjective point of view. If we are to consider the problem of freshman-sophomore ... at Vermont, we must get basic facts from our own campus. We must determine what other colleges with the same problem are doing or have done and we must examine the results that they have obtained in the light of those secured by our own colleges.

Admittedly, it will be difficult to find a single student capable of arriving at an impartial decision as a result of his observations at other colleges. But this obstacle can easily be avoided by appointing a committee made up of those members who are known to favor freshman rules and the other half to oppose them. Whether the committee works as a body or individually, it should not be difficult for an unbiased faculty committee to arrive at a decision based on the reports, whether identical or conflicting, of the investigating group.

It should be the duty of the committee, not merely to determine whether other colleges have enforcing freshman rules, but what rules they have and how and to what extent the rules are being enforced. Just here more attention must be given to the why and wherefore of everything it sees or hears. If a college is enforcing freshman rules, the committee must learn, among other things, why ... have been abolished, how they have been modified in recent years and what the attitude of the faculty towards them is. Where the rules have been abolished, the committee must learn why ... and what the consequences of their abolition have been.

... should not be ... on the part of one or two members of the committee to give weight to only a small part of the evidence ... Bias, prejudices of students' leaders, college editors and other moving powers should all be taken account by the committee. ... Where there is ... the views of the majority should be obtained.

... that the work of the committee will have a ... influence on student opinion. What influence the committee ... will have will depend on many occasions on its personnel, the ... of the report on the campus and the ... at its conclusions ... The committee should be representative ... and those who oppose the system of ... information to the class members. If the ... its conclusions show ... to grasp and explain the problem it is investigating, then its ... will be truly constructive.

MOST OF ARIEL PHOTOS HAVE NOW BEEN TAKEN

S. S. Van Tine of Boston has finished the work on the individual photographs for the Ariel and has also taken group pictures of the editorial staffs of the Cynic, the Ariel, the Literary Magazine and the Freshman Handbook. Most of the group pictures not taken last week will be taken immediately after Christmas recess by a representative of Mr. Van Tine.

The proofs for the pictures taken last week will arrive and be distributed today. The proofs must be returned with the order some time before November 22 to insure delivery before Christmas. The orders must be paid for on or before December 10. Those juniors who have ordered from Van Tine will have a glossy print sent directly to R. W. Cobb, editor of the Ariel, but the others must hand in a glossy print to the editor before Christmas vacation or the picture will not appear in the book.

All junior questionnaires must be in right away as well as the grinds. It is their delay that is holding up the progress of the Ariel!

The Mystic Pen

... may you whinny while your enemy ... under the stinging lash of pub... The Mystic Pen has become ... and if we took another step we would vanish altogether. ... no longer will we use the names ... we have praise make immortal, or bring to your attention. Those are for you to guess. And lest the column should become a deathling without personality because of ... of those cute handles beginning with capitals, we shall insert ... not the right ones, of course, but one sufficiently astute might figure them out thus: The numerical position of each letter plus seven, divided by the square root of seventeen, or if it does not come out even, the cube root of three, will give you the numerical position of the correct letter. Of course this method rarely works out, but there is no harm in trying, is there, kiddies?

The first person honored, de novo modo, is I. J. Yammer, Count Del'repit, the lad with the Arliss appearance (when he sleeps). This doughty rugby fan was the one responsible for our moral victory over Norwich. Who but he had the courage, when the team was pressed to the wall, to shout aloud with verve, zest and aplomb, those heartening words: "Rrrraw, Rrrraw, bite, bite, scratch, scratch; smite the bleedin sojurs! Hi say, that's not cricket! No fair pushing or mentioning maters; come, come, gentlemen, smite for old Vermouth—spachelate his bally cranium!" Truly, this Hinglishman from Bellows Blows has brought to us a novel spirit, and no doubt it will be his piercing voice that will resound from the depths of the band section to bring us victory in the Middd game.

Beat Drums Beat! ! !

Last night a prade was held to instill pep into the Vermouth backgammon team, which is sheduled to beat Drums today in one of the most hercely fought contests of the season. Coach Bradstreet, in reply to questions calmly shrieked, "The boys have got it in them (loose reference); the old wackets are all shined up, and fingernails are in fine shape. A final drive around the lake in my new Austin settled all difficulties. Tomorrow we will beat Drums to a standstill!" The Peerade was sponsored by Combination Lock Society. Pink fire, meaning something or other for Drums, was supposed to light the line of march, but a mistake was made by the shippers and the fire was carmine red. The ensuing holocaust was awful.

We congratulate Etaoin Shrdlu, the only frosh who has succeeded in wearing knickers without official condemnation. We would like to wear them, too, but we have been picked out for personal attention and threatened with corporeal punishment by a certain Moulder gentleman. And that, said the King, is not cricket.

Thoughts while finding the log of 31.429:

Where are the dreams of our old high school days,
Our pals, and our old unsophisticate ways?
Gone the past and fond memory's fold,
There to lie dormant and quickly grow old.
Where are the girls that we asked to be true.
Sitting at home nights, most probably blue???
Not by a dam site—they're waltzing around
And won't even know you till Christmas comes 'round!

Li Wong, affectionately known as Duck" expressed dissatisfaction with the koffee korner's latest consignment of Bengal Chutney. It seems to fret Mr Wong awfully when his Chutney is not done up in ten-gram squares and he howled his disapproval from the depths of his straight jacket as he was carted away to Tooloose.

The charter members of The Nucleus, freshman honorary, are shown above in fighting regalia at one of their petit dejeuners. In the center is the chairman, exhorting the faithful to show a little more spirit and more active non-cooperation. On the extreme right is "Slim" Spears, handsome Jerseyite, who is wondering whether or not he will get out in time to make a date. The man next to him with the frozen face and puzzled brow is Mr. Garden, of Canada and points south, who is listening to internal rumblings which are the result of having eaten too much of the artichoke on top of pickled oysters, or rather ersters. On the chairman's right is Mr. Stoneglass, pre-medic, wondering if the peculiar behavior of the speaker's Adam's apple is due to mytosis. Next to him is fighting Herb Bilees, wishing someone would slide the olives his way. And last but not least we have young Tirade, in a rare moment of relaxation, with his hair combed and everything. Meet the boys, Mr. Merriwell!

First Stude (arriving late at the game): What's the latest dope?
Second Medic: Toxic heroin.

Intercollegiate News

Concentration

Ability to concentrate is not a ... developed by the ... school and elementary school training, if replies to a question ... of the Pennsylvania State ... represent a general condition. ... freshman students in the School of Education, who, from the fact that ... courses would seem ... a greater inclination for study than those in other departments, stated their chief difficulty with college work to be their inability to concentrate.

Lack of knowledge of how to study, how to budget working time, and how to choose among the subjects of the college curriculum were among the other problems for which these students admitted they were unprepared.

This situation is likewise true at Indiana University as well as at any other college or university. The average freshman's hardest task is trying to concentrate. High school studying is so entirely different than that required for the college student that the first-year men have a difficult time trying to change their mode of work. The study hall common in all high schools of any consequence is where the high school student does most of his studying. It is done usually under supervision. In college the student himself is his study hall supervisor. He finds it hard to be his own master.

If the high school student were left to his initiative more in his school work, college would not present such a problem to him his first year. The high school senior might be given more responsibility. He should be made to realize that he is responsible for his work to himself and not to his teachers.—The Indiana Daily Student.

Freshmen Study Classics

Two hundred classics of literature ranging from Homer to Freud, will supply the reading material of twenty selected University of Chicago freshmen, ten of them co-eds, who will study in a special course for two years under Pres. Robert M. Hutchins and Dr. Mortimer Adler, associate professor of philosophy.

The course, which is an innovation because of the university president acting as a teacher, includes the reading and study of sixty of the prescribed authors or books. Considerable elasticity is allowed the students in the selection of works to be digested, although the authors will, for the most part, be prescribed.

The first ten authors have been chosen for the first quarter as follows:
Homer—Iliad, The Odyssey (translations).
Bible—Old Testament (King James version recommended).
Aeschylus—Prometheus, the House of Altreus, Agamemnon.
Sophocles—Oedipus Tyrannus, Oedipus Coloneus and others.
Euripides—Alcestis, Medea, Electra, and others.
Herodotus—History.
Thucydides—History of the Peloponnesian War.
Aristophanes—Frogs, Clouds, Birds.
Plato—Symposium, Republic, Dialogues.
Aristotle—Ethics, poetics, politics and others.

Vivisection and Pro

Certain students at the University of Nebraska were put on probation for not numbing the brain of a frog before beginning to cut it up.

There is plenty of ground for argument on both sides of the question. It is doubtful whether merely putting students on probation will have much on curbing genuine research or even cherubic playfulness.—B. U. News.

Sweet College Men

Most of the pocket-money which college men at Washington University spend goes for candy, a recent investigation shows; it reveals that $9,172.-25 was thus spent.

The pertinent question which this inquiry raises is whether the men really got the candy or whether she ate it all. However, a good time was had by all.—B. U. News.

The unemployment situation is not only affecting the working class but is also influencing the students.

The closing of three Columbia restaurants has cost twenty-five students their jobs.

THE FORUM

A Dean Speak...

Several sweeping ... followed ... on the educational ... policy of Wesleyan ... called in the report ... Nicolson newly ... mitted today to ... McConaughy for the ... report will appear in ... dent's annual report ... end of the month.

Abolish Grades

The former dean ... tion of the literal ... established form in the ... American colleges ... which would do away ... healthy worship of ... that scholarship and ... admission standards be ... any policy of expansion ... keep Wesleyan a small ... that the fraternity ... for freshmen be delayed ... opening of college until ... year period.

"It seems to me that ... grades are two different ... Nicolson says in his ... moving the literal ... "and emphasis on the latter ... detract from the former ... the uncertainties, and ... fairness, of the present ... should like to see the ... 'passed with honor' ... 'failed.'"

Reduce Numbers

Not only would Professor ... keep the college enrollment ... present mark of 600, but to ... be reduced to the former ... 500 students.

"I know there are financial ... ties in the way," he declared, ... believe Wesleyan will gain ... by reducing somewhat the ... force, if necessary, and ... resisting the temptation to ... departments and expand the ... existing. If we should reduce ... sion to twenty-five or more ... poorly-prepared students ... should have a stronger college."

Too Many Flunks

The ex-dean would go ... in advancing the scholastic ... college. He stands for the ... of the "unlimited cut" system ... which students of good ... are excused from the requirement ... regular attendance at classes. ... the privilege of cuts has not been ... abused by the majority of the privileged students, Professor Nicolson finds, in individual cases that students have flunked from college the college by frequent absences ... classes.

"I do not belong to the 'give ... rope-to-hang-himself' group of the faculty who believe the responsibility for cutting classes should be placed on the students," declares Nicolson. "To say our students are men and should be left to their own responsibility is to treat the university, not college students. ... be faithless to our frequently advertised claim to be a small college where students are closely watched over by the faculty."

Scholarships

"As for scholarships, taking into account the present 'poor times' that we are in for a reduction of number applying for admission in the next few years, I believe it would be better to spread the amount around so as to help a number rather than give comparatively large sums to a few."

Postpone Rushing Season

Fraternity pledging later in the year would enable new students to choose the fraternity most satisfactory to their choice, according to the dean.

"The present 'hit or miss' system," says Professor Nicolson, "results sometimes in near-tragedies ... formed students had to ... initiation rules last year ... so many cases of broken ... hope the faculty will continue ... all its influence in favor of ... pledging at mid-years, or ... at the beginning of the ... year."

America's pet critic ... pounds some cynicism ... an American show any ... pendence and originality ... let him depart ever so ... the common patterns of ... us, let him appear to be ... ter time of it in this ... once he is suspected. It ... a crime alike to dine ... read decent books. The ... ican of the new dispensation ... a bounder and an ignoramus.

Somehow or other ... hasn't changed. "H. L. ...

The Trojan band of the ... of Southern California ... on the Pacific Coast with ... members. Its colorful ... "bag of stunts" have ... able comment this year.

Alumnus, Professor at U. of Illinois Writes of Vermonters in Urbana

[illegible] and which Champlain took to a State [illegible] appears to [illegible] the summer climate is Jasper to Dec[illegible]. Ed.

[illegible] upon your letter in [illegible] for a contribution [illegible] came to me [illegible] was my good wife [illegible] me while I was tak[illegible] note and when she [illegible] she said, "What [illegible] about?" I replied at [illegible] in Urbana. Please [illegible] that University of Ver[illegible] just plain Vermonters [illegible]. It has been long [illegible] coming, partly because [illegible] have been more insistent [illegible] upon my time and [illegible] of inertia, which latter [illegible] sometimes called by a more [illegible] but less euphonious [illegible].

[illegible]come to mind because of [illegible] residence here and of im[illegible] position is H. E. Cun[illegible] of Phi Delta Theta, and [illegible] formerly Ethel Lord of Burling[illegible]. He will be remembered by some [illegible] association as assistant regis[illegible] teacher of German at [illegible] 1906-10. As secretary of the [illegible] Trustees, director of the Uni[illegible] press and director of the In[illegible] Office, he is well known [illegible]. Since he signs all university [illegible] and as salary checks are [illegible], his importance may be [illegible]. In fact he might be called [illegible] president's right-hand man (or is [illegible] since he helps to hand [illegible] president the diplomas for the [illegible] at commencement. "Harry" [illegible] sports a cane and a [illegible] pipe but does not sport [illegible].

[illegible] receive our attention is an [illegible] Delta Theta, George P. Tut[illegible] dramatic fame. George is [illegible] only more so and is [illegible] in dramatics. During [illegible] when he is not rehears[illegible] Players Club, which, by the [illegible] elected one year by Max [illegible] acts as registrar of the [illegible] in an institution having [illegible] and students in the [illegible] departments and over [illegible] the Chicago departments. [illegible] that he has but little [illegible]. Of course there are a few [illegible] whom he must give direc[illegible] everybody knows, that [illegible] be classed as work. On [illegible] days, registration (and [illegible] of you readers ever helped [illegible] out programs and schedules [illegible] thousand students in two [illegible]. Registrar Tuttle may be seen [illegible] calmly about the different [illegible] with little to do but chat with [illegible] who have difficulties of [illegible] at such times. He has for [illegible] half a Vermonter, Beulah [illegible] and they have two children, both [illegible]. George sports a car and may [illegible] around Burlington and Char[illegible] summer.

[illegible]ically, the next in order [illegible] humble scribe, '13, together [illegible] better half, Florence (nee [illegible]) and his father-in-law, Rev [illegible] Sherburne. He (the writer) [illegible] the space in one of the [illegible] a large new Materials Test[illegible] (where we break any [illegible] hair of your head to the [illegible] of a freight car) and en[illegible] keep straight the ideas of [illegible] the eighteen hundred engi[illegible]ments on the subject of [illegible] and applied mechanics [illegible] isn't as bad as the name [illegible] if you wish further infor[illegible] may ask any engineer. [illegible] consists of the aforemen[illegible] and father-in-law. They [illegible] children, car, radio or dog [illegible] family enjoys the delights [illegible] summer whenever pos[illegible]. It was every summer until [illegible] years ago and at irregular [illegible] since then.

[illegible] the scheme selected, [illegible], we meet McKendree [illegible] an Owl. He teaches Span[illegible] eager individuals and tries [illegible] some reluctant ones and [illegible] while carries on advanced [illegible] and a Ph.D. degree. His [illegible] consists of himself, his wife [illegible] kiddies. In the summer he [illegible] seen driving his flivver be[illegible]ington and his summer [illegible] South Hero. He enjoys a [illegible] and likes to sing, the latter [illegible] as evidenced by his Sunday [illegible] performance at the church [illegible] he attends. Note: "Mac" [illegible] coach at Theresa College in [illegible] Minnesota in September and [illegible] what has just been written [illegible] rather than present informa[illegible].

Plans having been [illegible], I [illegible] that a Bethel [illegible] of [illegible] W [illegible] would be [illegible] of Vermont [illegible] Hon. and [illegible] here.

As [illegible] people the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

W. A. A. LEADING LONG CAMPAIGN FOR HEALTH

Health Council Posts Hints For Co-eds Help; Senior Women To Be Questioned Next Week

[illegible] W A A Health Council is [illegible] the graduate who read the [illegible] of the part of the University women [illegible] and the [illegible] of [illegible] principles

Both [illegible] recently interviewed [illegible] physicians and health [illegible] [illegible] to get their views on the [illegible] for health

[illegible] factors that were stressed [illegible] proper diet sufficient [illegible] each day exercise physical [illegible] [illegible] according with the [illegible] and last [illegible] with fresh [illegible] and not too [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] posters appearing on the Health [illegible] Bulletin board have attracted [illegible] attention and favorable [illegible] [illegible] Each member is responsible for one of these and many clever ideas have been worked out in a striking way At present the subjects of the placards are developed from the advice given by those interviewed

Next week a questionnaire will be sent to all senior women asking their opinions as to the fundamentals of health The cooperation of every senior women is asked in this important [illegible]

The council is made up of Miss [illegible] as advisor Mildred Atkins [illegible] and one representative from each dormitory

All those who signed up for 1931 Aroels please get them at once from the bookstore

All Bluestockings members are requested to pay their first semester dues at the meeting on November 26

The German Club will meet at the Kappa Alpha Theta Friday afternoon November 14, at 4 00 p.m.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOMEMADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel 3680

RAYMOND P. CURTIER
Who spoke in Chapel to the V. C. A. and Before the I. R. Club Wednesday

NATIONAL CITY LEAGUE BACKS ESSAY CONTEST

Sponsored by the National Municipal League, a municipal essay contest is being held this year. A prize of one hundred dollars was donated by Mr. William H. Baldwin to be awarded for the best essay submitted this year concerning municipal government.

The Topics

The subjects concerning the 1931 contest are, however, limited to five topics

1. Private versus Municipal Ownership and Operation of Airports.
2. State Controlled Metropolitan Governments versus Home Rule.
3. Allocation of a Proper Portion of State Gasoline Tax to Municipalities
4. Relationships Between Efficient Government and the Rates for Fire and other Insurance
5. Expanding the Aid and Influence of the Federal Government in Municipal Affairs.

The essay should not be less than five nor more than ten thousand words in length. It should be typewritten in duplicate and should contain marginal or footnote references of authorities consulted. It must be mailed in duplicate or delivered to an Express Company not later than May 15, 1931. The letter should be addressed to Russell Forbes, secretary of the National Municipal League, 251 Broadway, New York City.

It should be marked "For the Baldwin Prize." Furthermore, the name of the competitor should not appear on the essay, but a fictitious name or some other designation must be given instead. The real name with college and home addresses must be included in a sealed envelope accompanying the essay. No essay already published will be considered as eligible.

The Donator

The prize will be awarded by a board of judges appointed by the executive committee of the National Municipal League. Mr. Baldwin, the donor of the 1931 prize, did a great deal for the development of municipal governments. He was a hard-working business man and did a great deal to raise the ideals and standards of the business world. He has often been called the "Sir Galahad of the Market." He died at the early age of forty-one.

Any additional details concerning the contest may be secured by addressing inquiries to the chairman on the league and prize committee, Prof. Edwin A. Cottrell, Leland Stanford University, California. Further announcements concerning the contest will be posted on the bulletin board in the Old Mill.

IN THE UNIVERSITY STORE WITH JOE AND SUE COLLEGE

"That's the second notebook and third pen I've lost this fall. In the UNIVERSITY STORE they have a new machine to stamp a name on notebooks, fountain pens, leather goods and all such things. I'm going in there now and buy a new pen and notebook and get my name put on free. They will stamp your name on the book you have now for a quarter. You remember how quickly you got your pen back after you lost it just because you had your name on it," says Joe.

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

LA CROSSE ANNOUNCES J. V. DEBATE SCHEDULE

Paul J. LaCrosse, manager of junior varsity debaters, has released the following schedule of engagements for the next month. In most cases the date is not yet definitely decided, and other debates may be scheduled later.

At Milton

The next debate will be held at Milton on Sunday, November 23. A J. V. team composed of Paul J. LaCrosse, '32, J. E. Bigelow, '33, and F. W. Householder, jr., '32, will debate the affirmative of the emergence question with a Milton team comprising Mr. and Mrs. Leon Latham, Jr.,—prominent lawyer and his wife,—and Jerome Bullis, superintendent of the schools of Milton.

Rev. Harry Butman, '33, will preside at the debate, which will be held in the Congregational Church.

In perhaps two weeks two J. V. teams will re-visit Milton to deliver a debate on the Prohibition question in the American Legion hall there.

A week later the boys will participate in a verbal encounter with a Grange team at Charlotte, also on the prohibition question,—"Resolved: That the national prohibition laws should be repealed." This debate has been arranged by Mrs. Nelson Frink, lecturer of the Charlotte Grange.

Disarmament

Colchester will be the scene of the next fray, which will occur about one month from the date of this issue. The Rev. Ritchie Lowe of that town is arranging a debate on disarmament with a junior varsity team.

Bury Middlebury!

V. C. A. PLANS COMPLETE THANKSGIVING PROGRAM

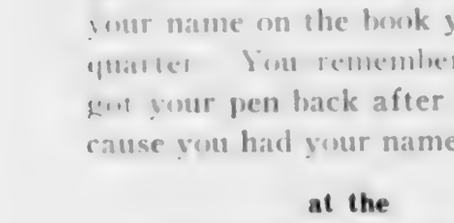
Tentative plans have been [illegible] the annual V. C. A. [illegible] dance to be held the evening of November 27, Thursday.

Every year the V. C. A. with the cooperation of the Women's Athletic Association gives a dinner dance on Thanksgiving Day. The dinner and these functions were very successful.

James Wood, '33, manager of the dance, will announce the orchestra and plans at a later date. It is expected that the same orchestra will be secured this year for the affair.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB GIVES ANNUAL CONCERT

The Women's Glee Club will give its annual concert on Friday, December 21, in the University Gymnasium. Professor Bennett and Miss [illegible] have been training the Glee Club and promise a successful concert. A double quartet will supplement the glee club and an orchestra [illegible] is to accompany several [illegible]



After the concert, members of the club may invite guests to the Women's House where an informal social entertainment of dancing and refreshments is planned.

It takes 1,500 nuts to hold an automobile together but it only takes one to spread it all over the landscape.
The Cha[illegible]

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

Less talk and more taste—

better taste

ONE will always stand out!

© 1930 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

In dormitories as well as in the gym ...beware of "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

THE man who's making his "M. A." as well as the man who's making the team—the fellow whose foot-work is from class to class as well as the bright boy who can foot it in 10 seconds flat—any one or all of them stand a good chance of having that ringworm infection commonly known as "Athlete's Foot." In fact, 50% of the men in universities as widely separated as those of Pennsylvania and California have caught it, according to authoritative reports. "At least half of all adults suffer from it at some time," according to the U. S. Public Health Service.

The symptoms vary, but all are traceable to one germ, tinea trichophyton by name. Sometimes it starts with redness between the toes and i-t-c-h-i-n-g. Again, tiny blisters appear; or it may show itself in a thick, moist skin condition; or dryness with little scales.

It lurks in the very places where we all go for cleanliness and health—on the edges of swimming pools and showers—in gymnasiums—on locker- and dressing-room floors. In spite of modern sanitation (you have to boil socks 15 minutes to kill it) this fungus parasite infects and re-infects bare feet almost any time they come in contact with damp floors.

Absorbine Jr. kills the germ of
"ATHLETE'S FOOT"

Tests in a famous New York "lab" have revealed that Absorbine Jr. penetrates flesh-like tissues deeply and that wherever it penetrates, it KILLS the ringworm germ.

It might not be a bad idea to examine your feet tonight. At the first signs of the symptoms mentioned, douse on Absorbine Jr. And keep a bottle handy in your locker as a preventive. Use it after every exposure of bare feet on damp floors. At all druggists—$1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Absorbine Jr.

FOR YEARS HAS RELIEVED SORE MUSCLES, MUSCULAR ACHES, BRUISES, BURNS, CUTS, SPRAINS, ABRASIONS

SPORTING NEWS

JOHN BURKE, VERMONT ACAD. MENTOR, FUTURE FRESHMAN GRID COACH

Famous Coach Engaged To Handle Vermont Freshmen Next Year

HAS EXCELLENT RECORD AT VERMONT ACADEMY

[illegible] to an announcement from [illegible] Council, John H. Burke, [illegible] coach at Vermont Acad[illegible] 1926, whose teams during [illegible] have been consistently best in New England, has [illegible] to coach freshman foot[illegible] niversity of Vermont be[illegible] ext year. He will also have [illegible] probably assisting Larry [illegible] n baseball, and possibly [illegible] with freshman or varsity [illegible] teams.

[illegible] record at Vermont Academy [illegible] little short of phenomenal. [illegible] teams have won twenty [illegible] last twenty-seven games. [illegible] his basketball teams have [illegible] ingly better every year, [illegible] year went undefeated until [illegible] prep school championship [illegible] at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, where the "Wildcats" [illegible] by Oak Park Military [illegible] the second-place team, 25-21. [illegible] all record of Johnny's teams [illegible] as good. Last spring, among [illegible] Yale junior varsity was [illegible] 14-5.

[illegible] grid team this year has [illegible] undefeated, having won, fre[illegible] using the second and third [illegible] from the following opponents: [illegible] Michael's 33-2; Vermont freshmen, [illegible] St. Anslem's (Manchester, N. H.), [illegible] Middlebury freshmen, 51-2; and [illegible] Academy, 28-12.

[illegible] Meehan, mentor at N. Y. U., [illegible] last year by acquiring an even [illegible] of Burke-trained men, inci[illegible]

[illegible] is an excellent handler of [illegible] very popular among the students [illegible] team candidates. He is mar[illegible] and the father of two children. [illegible] about thirty years old.

Never a great football player, he [illegible] the Springfield College foot[illegible] mentors' training school, and [illegible] up higher education under [illegible] than Knute Rockne. However, [illegible] quarterback on the New Jer[illegible] school team for which George [illegible] began his career. Tully, who, [illegible] Sage, brought Oberlander's long [illegible] to national prominence while [illegible] Dartmouth, has been coaching the [illegible] footballers this year, but found [illegible] conflicting with his medical [illegible] and probably will act only as [illegible] in the future.

[illegible] attended Colby College in [illegible] for two years and a half, and [illegible] to continue his work for a [illegible] at the University. While there, [illegible] was a hoopster that he excelled. [illegible] basketball work, indeed, is his [illegible]

His appointment will complete the [illegible] system at the University of [illegible] bringing the staff up to full [illegible]

CAT'S MEOW

—Sporting Editor—

Bury Middlebury!
Bury Middlebury!!
BURY MIDDLEBURY!!!

The only chance for Vermont to capture the state title is to defeat Middlebury tomorrow. A tie score will not do. It must be a clear-cut victory.

Middlebury defeated Norwich 18 to 0 but this is the only time that the Blue and White eleven has scored this year.

Sigma Phi turned the tables on Kappa Sigma Monday afternoon and avenged last year's defeat by taking the final game of the touch football tournament by the score of 18 to 6. It was a close game all the way but the almost perfect defense of the Sigs, coupled with the sensational work of Tupper on the offense, turned the tide of victory. The score was 0 to 0 at the half but the Sigs ran the opening kick-off of the second half back for a touchdown. Not to be outdone, the Kappa Sigs didn't waste any time in scoring on a remarkable catch by Bowers. The Sigs came back, though, and put across two more touchdowns to take the game and the championship. The game was played on Centennial Field before a handful of spectators, including a few loyal coeds.

Middlebury won the state football championship last year and already has one leg toward the title this year. Vermont will enter the game tomorrow as the under dog but a fighting spirit should carry the Catamounts through to the finish. The student body that saw the Norwich game have confidence in the team's ability to win and with an added vital punch to use when a scoring opportunity arises, the Catamounts should bring home a victory tomorrow.

With the acquisition of Johnny Burke to coach the freshman football team next year, the Kittens should not lack capable coaching instruction. His Vermont Academy athletic teams, of which he has been mentor since 1926, have been among the best of the prep schools in New England. We welcome him to the coaching staff at the University of Vermont.

The end of the current football season is drawing to a close. A number of college elevens will finish their schedules tomorrow and this only reminds us how near the basketball season is. Norwich will play the last football game of the season against M. A. C. in Amherst tomorrow.

Sigma Phi had sweet revenge by snatching the interfraternity touch football championship from Kappa Sigma in the final game of the tournament this fall. Last year these same two teams battled for the honor in the finals and the latter came off victorious.

SIGMA PHI CAPTURES CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE IN TOURNEY FINALS

Defeats Kappa Sigma, Last Year's Winner, by Score of 18 to 6

COMPETITION CLOSE IN CHOICE OF "ALL" TEAMS

In cooperation with the Physical Education Department which sponsored the tournament the Cynic announces the selection of two "All fraternity" teams picked from the outstanding players participating in the games.

The selections follow:

FIRST TEAM

Tupper (Capt.), Sigma Phi.
Stroh, Phi Sigma Delta.
Traynor, Kappa Sigma.
Tomassetti, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
Aiken, Sigma Nu.
Billings, Sigma Phi

SECOND TEAM

Marvin (Capt.), Delta Psi.
Morse, Sigma Phi.
Cohen, Phi Sigma Delta.
Beer, Sigma Phi.
Mercier, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
Bond, Alpha Tau Omega.
Bowers, Kappa Sigma.

Captain of the first team and unanimously the sensation of the tourney is Fred Tupper, outstanding individual of the cup winning Sigma Phis. "Brute" Billings, diminutive bespectacled Sig who had outrun the opposition all season, culminated his brilliant performances by scoring two of the three touchdowns against the Kappa Sigs.

Charley Stroh, field marshal of the Phi Sigs, has been instrumental in keeping that team in the running. He is worthy of a position on any team.

"Marty" Tomassetti, fleet back of the S. A. E.'s, by his remarkable bit of defensive genius in covering Tupper in the memorable contest between the Sigs and the S. A. E.'s earned his place by his play in that game alone.

Eddie Newcomb needs no introduction. As the driving spirit of the Kappa Sigs, he has supplied the spark which enabled his team to reach the final round. His shifty runback of punts through the ranks of his opponents made him a marked man yet none could stop him. Tossing passes with abandon when his running attack was halted, Ed was enabled to run some of the largest scores registered.

"Bob" Aiken repeats his performance of last year. His tricky method of getting by the defense was copied by other performers but could not attain the position of the original. Without him the Sigma Nu's were lost.

A slight shade of difference exists between the first and second teams. In fact picking a winner is a difficult task. A game can only be the deciding factor.

Two Sigs, Russ Morse and "Sudsy" Beer, make the second team. Russ in his defensive game prevented any attack from getting started. Beer has been playing well all season. As a snatcher of passers he has no superior. Had he played in the final contest, he should have made a prominent bid for the first team.

Jim Marvin of the Delts, who rejuvenated his team when they were behind the Sigma Nu's 12 to 0, produced the comeback which was never expected.

No doubt some difference of opinion will exist by those following the sport but the above-mentioned teams would most certainly be hard to beat.

VERMONT HOCKEY TEAM TO PLAY ELEVEN GAMES

According to the schedule released from the graduate manager's office the 1931 hockey team will engage in eleven matches, four of which will be at home. There will be two games with both Middlebury and Norwich and three trips will be made out of the State by the Catamount puckaters.

The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 9.	Colgate	There
Jan. 10.	Hamilton	There
Jan. 15.	Dartmouth	There
Jan. 17.	Amherst	Here
Jan. 30.	St. Stephens	Here
Feb. 7.	Norwich	There
Feb. 10.	Norwich	Here
Feb. 13.	R. P. I.	There
Feb. 14.	Army	There
Feb. 17.	Middlebury	Here
Feb. 23.	Middlebury	There

Bury Middlebury!

Catamounts At Middlebury In Final State Title Bout

Vermont Football Team To Tackle Blue And White Tomorrow—Both Have Unimpressive Records With One Victory Each This Season—Green And Gold Has Edge Over Middlebury In Past Games

CONTEST WILL DECIDE STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

VERMONT-MIDDLEBURY STATISTICS

All-time Record

	Vermont	Middlebury
1894	5	3
1895	14	0
1899	40	0
1900	31	5
1901	0	12
1905	10	0
1906	11	0
1913	10	7
1914	0	6
1915	6	6
1916	6	7
1918	0	0
1919	14	20
1920	0	6
1921	32	0
1922	14	7
1923	13	6
1924	0	15
1925	7	6
1926	0	13
1927	13	7
1928	6	6
1929	0	19
Totals	244	140

This Year's Records

Vermont [illegible]
Vt	0	Amherst	41
Vt	0	Harvard	6
Vt	13	Coast Guard	0
Vt	7	Union	19
Vt	0	New Hampshire	59
Vt	0	Rensselaer	7
Vt	0	Norwich	0
Totals	20		161
Middlebury [illegible]
Midd	0	Columbia	48
Midd	0	Williams	26
Midd	0	Mass Aggies	7
Midd	0	Boston Univ.	7
Midd	18	Norwich	0
Midd	0	Springfield	34
Midd	0	Rensselaer	6
Totals	18		128

CROSS COUNTRY TEAMS TO MEET MIDDLEBURY

In the final meet of the season Vermont's varsity and freshman cross-country teams will encounter the Middlebury harriers at Middlebury in their annual competition. Both institutions are represented by strong runners. Vermont has previously lost to Amherst by the close count of 23 to 32, unfamiliarity with the course being a big factor in the defeat. Captain Wilder led the Vermont pack and finished second in the race. Hadley and Barker have also shown up well.

Middlebury has wins this season over St. Stephens and Williams. Wilder will have a worthy opponent in Captain Perrin, who has consistently led the Middlebury team to the finish line.

The varsity men who will run for Vermont are as follows: Captain Wilder, Hadley, Leach, Varney, Brooks, Barker, Colburn, Kilburn and Bachl.

The outlook for a victory in the freshman cross-country race seems very bright. The frosh turned in a very impressive win over the Norwich frosh and have a fine chance of repeating tomorrow.

Last Saturday the Vermont frosh defeated the Norwich yearlings 36-18 on the home course. The race, won by Shippee, with Woodruff second, was done in fast time, the winner being clocked in 16:03. The order of finishers was Shippee (V), Woodruff (V), Davis (N), Ball (V), Dobson (V), Lunna (V), Mulcahey (V), Brown (V), Gagne (N) and Harwood (V).

Bury Middlebury!

Tomorrow afternoon the crowning achievement of Vermont's football season, the culmination of all her hopes, takes place in the colorful fall classic at Middlebury. A large attendance is expected to witness the battle between these two great rivals.

The University of Vermont-Middlebury college football rivalry, which dates back to 1894, has resulted in eighteen victories in thirty contests for the Catamounts, while the Blue Panther teams have won eight and tied four of the games. Victorious 19 to 0 last year, Middlebury hopes to defeat Vermont again in tomorrow's game, although even a tie would give them the Vermont state championship which they won last year. Middlebury's record since 1910 has been far better than during the early days, however, as the Middlemen have won six, tied four, and lost only seven of the seventeen games played during that period.

Comparative scores mean little in a game of this sort as both aggregations have new offences and defences as well as a fighting spirit never so apparent in pre-season contests.

The current year's records of both teams are rather poor, each turning in one victory, Vermont a 13 to 0 win over the Coast Guards, while the Blue and White smeared Norwich 18 to 0. Vermont lost to Union, New Hampshire, Amherst, Harvard, R. P. I. and tied Norwich while Middlebury was defeated by Springfield, Williams, R. P. I., Columbia, and the Mass Aggies.

The two bases for comparison, Norwich and R. P. I., give Middlebury a little edge but this will avail little tomorrow against Dunn and his fighting Catamounts.

The lines match up with about equal strength while Middlebury's Hoyle is

(Continued on page 6)

Basketball Is Most Popular In List Of Freshman Athletic Preferences

By Joe Levin

[illegible] cooperation of the director [illegible] education, Howard Pren[illegible] is able to present a list [illegible] freshman athletic preferences [illegible] experience in his dual capacity [illegible] basketball coach and active [illegible] P. T. department is well [illegible] voice his opinion as to [illegible] of this investigation. Him[illegible]pant in various athletics, [illegible] concerning the follow[illegible] most illuminating.

Athletic Preferences
[illegible]	101
[illegible]	100
[illegible]	87
[illegible]	85
[illegible]	70
[illegible]	68
[illegible]	67
[illegible]	58
[illegible]	37
[illegible]	31
[illegible]	26
[illegible]	22
[illegible]	11
[illegible]	9
[illegible]	6
[illegible]	5
[illegible]	1
[illegible]	1
[illegible]	1

[illegible] man was examined at [illegible] of the semester," said Mr. Prentice, "he was asked to state his previous athletic experience and in what fields of sport. As a definition of athletic experience we mean primarily playing it, not as a representative of a particular institution but in intramural competition.

"The figures concerning basketball are not unusual. The court game is the favorite game in Vermont. Swimming presents the sensational case. One hundred students were interested. A pool is desirous in the vicinity of Burlington, its construction would warrant sufficient attendance and it is hoped the Y. M. C. A. may fulfill its plans.

Interest in winter sports is manifested by seventy-six preferring skating, fifty-eight skiing and twenty-six hockey. The rink should be a busy place this winter.

"Football ranks seventh in the list proving conclusively that we do not get men in comparison with the rest, possessing football experience.

"In the first nine sports, six of those are carry over sports, that is, those sports which men can use after leaving college. This tendency is being manifested throughout the country. More colleges are employing these fields for those students not possessing the athletic ability to engage in the more strenuous sports. However, emphasis is not being discontinued upon sports already prominent in athletic programs."

Deane's Restaurant

Bakery Lane

MIDDLEBURY

Quality Always

Special Lunches Dinners

Counter Service for

SANDWICHES, PIES, CAKES, AND COFFEE

No Waiting on Day of Game

"SITUATION IN INDIA" IS SUBJECT OF TALK BY RAYMOND CURRIER

(Continued from page 1)

Power of Gandhi's Spirit

Contrast between British vs. Indian

AM CHEMICAL SOCIETY HEARS DU PONT EXPERT

SOCCER POPULAR SPORT AMONG VERMONT WOMEN

CO-EDS IN CHARGE AT HOME PRACTICE HOUSE

Catamounts at Middlebury

(Continued from page 1)

Vermont		Middlebury
Palmer, Gross	f.f.	Thrasher
Davis	f.f.	Huntington
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ingraham	[illegible]	Nelson
Farmer	f.g.	Brown
Aronson	[illegible]	Perry
Park	r.e.	Sorenson
Wignott	[illegible]	Markowski
Heaton	l.h.b.	Hardy
T. Collins	r.h.b.	Bakeman
Manning	[illegible]	Hartney

The Lady is Bold

Lady, when I see you come
And hear your cheery
"Mac, I bain."
Imop within me I despair
And would refuse you
But I can't.

Bury Middlebury!

V. C. A. TO HOLD RETREAT AT CHARLOTTE HOSTELRY

The Y. C. A. is holding a [illegible] night November [illegible] and those [illegible] group will leave the [illegible] Room to journey to [illegible] basket will be had at the Inn.

After the meal the [illegible] the direction of Mr. [illegible] of V. C. A. work will [illegible] gram and campaign [illegible] year.

"Why are you crying [illegible]
"My mammy couldn't [illegible] ball glove."
"Why don't you look [illegible] self."
"Hell, I know where it [illegible] sylvania Punch Bowl.

The college barber at [illegible] College has offered the [illegible] soccer club free hair cuts [illegible] the Franklin and Marshall [illegible]
Oh! Harvey, ain't this [illegible]
But you had better wait [illegible] basketball season opens [illegible] make one of these [illegible]

Bury Middlebury!

Prophecy

Justification of Missions

LADIES' HOME JOURNAL OFFERS STORY PRIZES

The Ladies' Home Journal well-known magazine is offering prizes for the best short story and the best short short story by a college undergraduate.

For the short story, reckoned as having 4,000 to 7,000 words in length, a prize of $1,000 will be awarded. The prize for the best short short story will be $500. The limits for this story are 1,000 to 2,000 words in length.

The Journal reserves the right to purchase at regular rates any stories submitted which does not win the prize, but which does deserve printing.

Manuscripts of short short stories must be mailed on or before February 1. The winning short short story will be published in the June Ladies' Home Journal. Short story manuscripts must be mailed before midnight of March 1. The winning story will appear in the July issue.

A contestant may enter any number of stories in either or both divisions. Each entry must be in a separate envelope.

All manuscripts must be typewritten double spaced, on one side of the paper only. The title of the story should be in the center at the top of the first page, the author's name, address, college and class at the left, and the number of words at the right.

Entries should be addressed to Contest Editor, Ladies' Home Journal, Independence Square, Philadelphia, Pa.

Bury Middlebury!

GOAL!

FOURTH down! Seconds to play! Defending a slender one-point margin of victory, eleven husky bodies have valiantly repulsed three smashing attacks which have advanced the ball a scant foot to the fifteen-yard line. With success almost certainly within the defender's grasp, the field goal specialist drops far back behind his stalwart line. A crashing impact — a blur of rushing bodies — and his nimble foot sends the ball high between the goal posts for the winning points!

Shift this scene to a battle ground of modern business. The goal is an important contract . . . a substantial order for equipment or appliances. Salesmanship, backed by a product of established quality, plays its important part; but a Westinghouse representative is more than a salesman. The background of specialized engineering skill that enables him to serve his customers as a consultant in electrification is what supplies the necessary "punch" to win.

To many a younger college man with Westinghouse has come the opportunity to apply his talent toward the conclusion of a worthwhile transaction. The young men whose photographs appear on this page are but a few of the many who, with college only a few years behind them, are finding success with an organization offering such a variety of opportunities in the world's electrical work.

H. B. VIDAL,
Central Station Sales, Niagara Falls, N. Y. University of Colorado, '22

H. J. KONGABLE,
Industrial Sales, Tulsa, Oklahoma, Okla. A. & M., '21

J. A. BUTTS,
Headquarters Sales, University of Maryland, '22

P. H. STOHR,
Headquarters Sales, Univ. of Iowa, '22

Below are listed a few of the many electrical jobs handled by Westinghouse in recent years, wherein younger college men have played important parts:

Lighting of the Barcelona Exposition, Barcelona, Spain . . . Hydro-Electric Generators, Conowingo Station, Philadelphia Electric Company . . . Plant Electrification, Maine Seaboard Paper Company

Westinghouse

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 40 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 18 1930 NUMBER 17

Varsity Forensicists Gain Total Victory Over Keene

Opening Debate of Home Schedule Affords Match of Wits on Chain Store Question—Three Local Judges Award Decision

TWO ON VERMONT TEAM VETERANS OF PLATFORM

[illegible] ally opened her [illegible] schedule last Thursday [illegible] victory over Keene [illegible] on the topic of the [illegible] relationship to the Ameri[illegible] The place was the Old [illegible] time 8:00 p.m. [illegible] affirmative were the [illegible] R Pendon Donaghy, [illegible] man '31 and George R [illegible] Keene Normal was [illegible] Edward Presby; Ernest Reed Hardy. The judges [illegible] Ford, Miss Consuelo [illegible] Rev. Harvey F. Connor [illegible] Dean presided in his [illegible] manner.

[illegible] read the argument for [illegible] pointing out that all the [illegible] had to do was to show [illegible] disadvantages than benefits to the [illegible] However, proceeded the [illegible] We will do more than that [illegible] know the Chain Store is [illegible] in general."

[illegible] pointed out fallacies in the [illegible] contentions of the Chain [illegible] advocates namely: that great[illegible] and lower overhead result [illegible] wealth. [illegible] independent merchant gives bet[illegible] than the chains, contended [illegible] Likewise chains make [illegible] by means of purchases of [illegible] stock, damaged stock and [illegible]

[illegible] Presby responded for Keene [illegible] by pointing out the economic [illegible] of the Chain Store.

[illegible] argued that the chains open [illegible] careers heretofore unknown [illegible] Spencer maintained that the [illegible] more expert use of all their [illegible] that they have met no op[illegible] from representatives of the [illegible] classes and taken as a whole [illegible] benefit to the individual.

[illegible] Lisman, second Vermont [illegible] based his argument on the [illegible] of the chains to produce mo[illegible] Quoting decisions of the Ohio [illegible] Court and the U. S. Supreme [illegible] Lisman maintained that when [illegible] per cent of the population control [illegible] per cent of the wealth a state of [illegible] dangerous to the country's [illegible] exists.

[illegible] likewise pointed out the [illegible] false appeal which the chain [illegible] the public through their [illegible] of advertising.

"The chains are willing to lose a [illegible] hundred thousand dollars if in [illegible] they drive the independent [illegible] from business and control [illegible]" he concluded.

Terrific Blast

[illegible] Peltonen next took the floor. [illegible] the blast of oratory Pelto[illegible] proceeded to point out the benefits [illegible] Chain Store to community. He [illegible] the Chain Store aids [illegible] donations extensively. "Money [illegible] as much by the [illegible] as by the independent" [illegible] Keene debater with a [illegible] of his fist.

[illegible] pointed out the waste [illegible] chains, the lower over[illegible] and the effectiveness [illegible] plan employed by the [illegible]

[illegible] save the Nation half a [illegible] in this manner" con[illegible]

[illegible] concluded the argu[illegible] ment by a lengthy ex[illegible] the economic principles [illegible] must preserve the in[illegible] preneur," he contended. [illegible] the social aspects of [illegible] Nelson argued the utter[illegible] of putting one-third of [illegible] out of a job without a [illegible]

[illegible] rejected the debate for [illegible] indirect method of proof [illegible] detriments of the old[illegible] then he challenged the [illegible] show any basic differ[illegible] the Chain Store and the [illegible] which the affirmative

They Refute

[illegible] Presby first negative [illegible] ed whether a business [illegible] 15 per cent of the [illegible] can be termed a mo[illegible] contended that [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

REV. R. W. MC LAUGHLIN IN VESPER TALK DISCUSSES THE HUMOR IN RELIGION

Sees Humorous Element in Religion and Life Indispensable To Mankind

Taking as his theme the words "Throned in heaven he laughs" the Rev. Dr. R. W. McLaughlin of Newgen, Me., spoke on the "Relation of Humor to Religion" in the first vesper service of the year at the Ira Allen Chapel Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

"If we deal with religion in connection with grief, sorrow and solemnity why not humor?" he asked. Humor has always played an effective part in life. When a moral awakening comes it is accompanied by humor. Humor is something under the sun that enables the possessor to perceive life as grotesque."

Humor is the perception of the grotesque doubling upon itself and forcing the person who perceives life as grotesque to laugh at himself. The human being is the only animal that can laugh when alone.

Humor is used to relieve the strain in times of crisis. At the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Doctor McLaughlin continued, "Harrison, weighing 300 pounds, who was seated at the table with pen in hand looked up at Elbridge Gerry who weighed scarcely over 100 pounds and said, 'Well, I'm more fortunate than you, with the rope around your neck you'll dangle there for hours, whereas with me it will all be over in one quick jerk.'"

Doctor McLaughlin cited another example of the virtue of humor in life in the instance of a friend of his, a man of about forty years of age who lived in a bachelor apartment in New York City. One night this man awoke and noticed his cat standing on the sill of the open window on the fourth floor above the pavement. Jumping out of bed, he ran to the window and when reaching for the pet, by some mysterious misfortune fell out of the window to the pavement below. He had lain there for some hours, apparently dead, when a dog came to him and began to bark. This awakened the tenants of the ground floor and when they noticed the prostrate form of the man, they called an ambulance.

He, however, was still alive, with his skull badly bruised, four ribs cracked, all but two teeth knocked out, and one leg broken. He was taken to the hospital from where through the aid of scientific nursing and surgery he was able to leave in about four weeks. The Doctor had the occasion to be in New York just after his friend returned to his apartment and called to see him. As he was admitted to the room he saw him sitting there with his head almost entirely bandaged and as he walked towards him perceived that he was mumbling something. He came closer and what he heard was, "I tried to save my cat, and a dog rescued me."

"A man with such a sense of real humor," the speaker said, "would have said that even if he had all his ribs broken, all his teeth knocked out, or both his legs broken."

The mixed choir under the direction of Professor Bennett sang several hymns.

OMICRON NU HONORARY INITIATES TWO WOMEN

Three senior women, Harriet Wright, Ruth Small and Harriet Johnstone were initiated into Omicron Nu, the honorary home economics society last Monday afternoon at the Practice House.

Members of the society are elected on the basis of scholastic and leadership capacities and promise of future attainment in culinary excellence.

[illegible] attended the National Missionary Conference at New Haven Conn. Saturday and Sunday. The conference was sponsored by John R. Mott of the World Student Volunteer Movement.

DEAN CUP AWARDED TO SOPHOMORES FOR BEST ONE-ACT PRODUCTION

Judges Annually Present Prize To Winner of Lower-Class Plays

ALL JUDGES VOTE FOR "MANY HAPPY RETURNS"

[illegible] Dramatic Society of the [illegible] Thursday night [illegible] Dean Cup to the [illegible] for the best [illegible] production of the [illegible] Dorothy Mayhew as the heroine, Hilda [illegible] herself, and the [illegible] supporting cast [illegible] The setting [illegible] made by a Freshman [illegible] The color production [illegible] the cast up to the same high standard. Dorothy Lefevre, as a [illegible] and appealing as her [illegible] a little more had grasped the [illegible] emotional scenes of her role. [illegible] with her age of ten years. Mary [illegible] Duggan, as a comic and [illegible] Boyd in an emotional part. This play [illegible] is [illegible] to be given [illegible] and [illegible]

Sir James Barrie's "The Twelve-Pound Look" was rather disappointing. Ruth Wood and Alice Hutson had dramatic ability and were suitable for their characters but the central figure, Sir Harry Sims, played by Elaine Burdett, was overacted and the tone of the whole performance was lost.

"The Rehearsal," by Christopher Morley, the junior play, was well acted

(Continued on page 4)

WCAX Plans Early Morning Broadcast

To Go On The Air Friday At 1 A.M. To Reach Larger Distance Audience

Plans are under way for conducting an experimental broadcast Friday morning, November 21 from one until two o'clock from WCAX.

Directed by Thomas Bradlee of the Agricultural Experiment Station, and having as its microphone master Prof. Leon W. Dean, the radio station of the University of Vermont serves a wide area of public interest through its broadcasts of entertainment and educational topics.

The early hour has been chosen to give friends of the University an opportunity to receive the program at a greater distance and later in the evening when the reception conditions are better.

A very interesting and entertaining program was broadcast last Friday evening, November 14. The performance included three short lectures by professors at the University and several very delightful vocal selections by Mrs. Elizabeth Bradlish, dramatic soprano of the department of music. The program was as follows:

7:30. Talk—"The Value of Our Schools in Terms of Service" Dr. B. C. Douglass, head of the Department of Education and Director of Summer School.

7:45. Talk—"The Work of the American Red Cross," Prof. E. C. Mower, head of Department of Political Science.

7:50. Talk—"Profits From Your Woodlot Improvement," John C. Weir, Extension Forester.

8:00. Vocal selections—Mrs. Elizabeth Bradlish, dramatic soprano, Department of Music.

1. My Lovely Celia Munro
2. The Hills of Granta Medcalf
3. The Last Song Poger
4. Rivers Vineyard from "Aida" Verdi
5. Cliff de Lune Spaulding
6. Depuis le Jour Charpentier
7. Tracina Wagner
8. In dem Schatten Meiner Locken Wolf
9. Der Einsame Lassen

ARTS DEAN DISCUSSES RECENT U. V. M. PROGRESS

[illegible] Dean [illegible] progress of the [illegible] University [illegible] with the [illegible] Association [illegible] New York. The [illegible] Dean [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Alumni [illegible] Alumnae.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB TO PRESENT FIRST CONCERT OF YEAR NEXT FRIDAY

Will Feature Quartet, Soloists, Orchestra, and Instrumentalists in Varied Program

Prof. H. G. Bennett, director of the Women's Glee Club announces the following program for the concert on Friday, November 21 in the evening. The public is invited to attend.

Ave Maria ..... Brahms
Bridal Chorus from "Der Freischutz" Weber
(Solos by Miss Putnam, Miss Eggleston and Miss Rousar)
The Women's Glee Club
Dans l'air nous suivons des yeux, from "Carmen" ..... Bizet
Women's Sextet
Marching ..... Brahms
Men's Double Quartet
Gloria Patri ..... Palestrina
Women's Double Quartet
Now Is the Month of Maying Morley
Women's Glee Club
Midnight Bells .. Heuberger-Kountz
Sweet Fern ..... Burleigh
The Fisherman ..... Burleigh
Miss deVolt
Song of Fate ..... Brahms
Women's Double Quartet, Men's Double Quartet, Women's Glee Club and members of orchestra
Hail Then, All Hail, from "The Birth of Venus" ..... Faure
Women's Sextet and Women's Glee Club with Miss Putnam as soloist

Miss Katrina Munn and Miss Mary Morris, accompanists, Miss Charlotte deVolt, solo violinist, and the Men's Double Quartet will assist at the concert.

The Women's Glee Club is made up of the following members:

First sopranos: Marion Berry, Ruth Dawson, Eleanor Eggleston, Alice Gay, Sylvia Holden, Gertrude Marsh, Allene McNall, Matila Putnam, Margaret Rice, Marguerite Sargent, Dorothy Sweeney, Helen Taylor, Dorothy Thomas, Betty Wallace, Harriet Willard and Elaine Yewell.

Second sopranos: Elinor Bean, Mary Bennett, Sylvia Boyd, Hilda Davis, Priscilla Davis, Janet Dodge, Ella Downs, Anna Farr, Ethelyn Foster, Frances French, Ellen Haff, Jane Hall, Evelyn Holden, Helen Holmes, Elizabeth Howe, Esther Mansfield, Agnes Parsons, Helen Roberts, Emma Rock and Mary Thomson.

First altos: Ara Armstrong, Esther Beardsley, Ruth Burton, Rowena Camp, Katharine Clark, Anne Dodge, Margaret Kenneth, Captain Lynch, Margaret Moore, Dorothy Nash, Pascilla Perry, Doris Skinner and Katherine Skinner.

Second altos: Norma Carder Betts, Josephine Helen Jenkins, Elizabeth Mandigo, Genevieve Petze, Elsie Rowe and Wyneta Spencer.

Orchestra members are: S. B. Barker, Evelyn DeBruno, F. Hendee Jr., D. Jenks, R. S. Jones, Charles March, Priscilla Perry, Esther Wheeler, A. Whiting, Effie Wing and Ruth Wood.

The public is cordially invited to this concert, contrary to the practice of past years there will be no dance [illegible]

CHARLES RANN KENNEDY, GIFTED PLAYWRIGHT AND ACTOR, SPEAKS TONIGHT

Production of College Plays to Be Discussed by World-Famous Dramatic Producer and Critic

PROFESSOR A. B. MYRICK TO PRESENT LECTURER

[illegible] Dramatic Association [illegible] Lecture Course [illegible] Kennedy, [illegible] Mr. Kennedy [illegible] Professor A. B. Myrick [illegible] Public Orators." His [illegible] production and acting is unexcelled. He plans to have a dining conference for the second [illegible]

Mr. Kennedy has a voice of unusual range and flexibility of expression. He speaks with the power of passion and the insight of tempered judgment. He sets himself like a rock against the mercenary and meretricious tendencies of the modern stage.

With the spirit of an artist and the tempered judgment of the critic he discusses and presents drama; that drama which portrays life and truth with psychological exactitude and [illegible] devotion to form.

Professor Gifford Says

Prof. A. R. Gifford, who heads the committee on University lectures says of Mr. Kennedy: "He is a delightful speaker and frequently rambles from his chosen topic to bring in clever and amusing allusions and illustrations from his own plays and from those of the older classics. He is interested in a production of 'Hamlet' which his wife, Edith Matthison is to rehearse tomorrow night for production at the Bennett School Thursday evening. Mr. Kennedy will, I am certain, furnish a most delightful evening to all who attend."

The Christian Science Monitor states:

"Charles Rann Kennedy and his wife, Edith Wynne Matthison, seem to have evolved for themselves a most unusual and beautiful way of doing the work they both love. Mr. Kennedy's uncommon gift as a dramatist has enabled him to write plays of great poetical beauty, truth and humor, classic in nobility of motive and in form they yet have a very real bearing on the everyday life of today.

The widespread so-called commercial theatre has nothing more to do and that more truly belongs to the English-speaking stage than the unassuming "The Admirable Bashville" and "The Servant in the House" are expressed, acted. The very theatre upon the direct lineup of classic and universal appeal with the comedy and sincerity of great artists. They have been set a wonderful mood for themselves, and as we gather from their future actions that new paths are already to be made. Their companionship and dedication to all that is best of the theatre in their many creative steadfast devotion to their ideals. The Kennedys have [illegible] and are starting [illegible]

Published Works Popular

[illegible] Rann Kennedy has been a dramatic personality [illegible] a new century. Beginning [illegible] he has [illegible] in various capacities [illegible] and in [illegible] He [illegible] and [illegible] Public Orators" [illegible] and [illegible] Power in his [illegible] Plays for Puritans" including "The Servant" "The Terrible [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

FAME VIA FOOTBALL

SIX FRATERNITIES HOLD DANCES FOR PLEDGEES AT CHAPTER HOUSES

TEN ON U. V. M. FACULTY HOLD HARVARD DEGREES

VERMONT SOCIETY N Y WILL HOLD TEA DANCE

The University orchestra will have a general rehearsal Tuesday November 18, at four. There will be a rehearsal of stringed instruments Thursday at four. Members who are playing the "Song of Love" by Brahms will also rehearse Tuesday at five and Thursday at seven.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

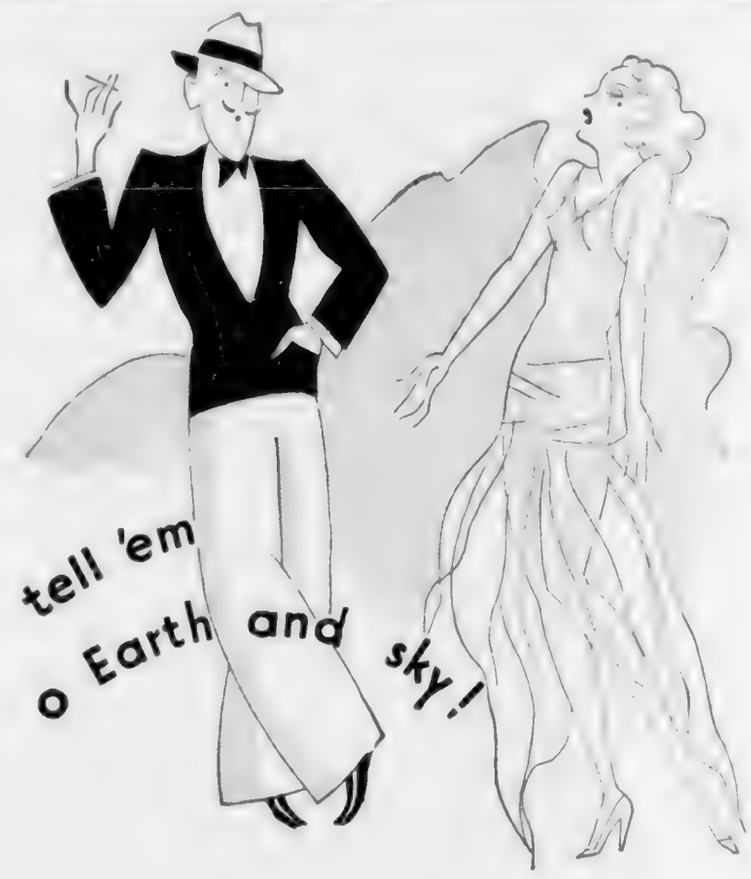
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander are moving from this city to Maine. Mrs. Alexander was formerly Laura Bliss, '26.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Alpha Xi Delta's annual fall dance will be held Saturday, November 22, at the College Street rooms. Prof. and Mrs. Leon W. Dean and Prof. and Mrs. Carroll will be chaperones. Music will be furnished by Carl Ramm's orchestra.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Alpha Chi Omega will hold its annual fall dance at the house Saturday, November 22. Prof. and Mrs. Braun and Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke will chaperone and music will be furnished by Holbrook's orchestra.



Alpha Iota Chapter of Alpha Chi Omega held open house Thursday evening, November 13, at the sorority's new home, 384 Main Street. About five hundred guests attended. In the receiving line were Dean and Mrs. Elijah Swift; Miss Isabel Whiting, acting dean of women; Miss Alice Dodge, '31, chapter president; Miss Mildred Perrin, alumnae advisor; Miss Margorie Leighton, province secretary; and Miss Elizabeth Clark, '31, house manager. Ice cream and cake was served.

EPSILON SIGMA

The active chapter will give a bridge party at their rooms on Loomis Street Tuesday evening, November 18.

REV. RANKIN, BAPTIST, TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

Proofs of all the individual and group "Ariel" photographs are now ready at the Bookstore, and must be returned to Raymond Cobb at Delta Psi by Friday to insure delivery of finished pictures before Christmas.

"I'M YOURS!"

A GREAT Victor dance record . . . blue as indigo . . . warm as a summer night in Spain! Recorded by Maestro Bert Lown and his Hotel Biltmore Orchestra, famous ultra-modern rhythm hounds. A big wow on the other side, too—"Here Comes the Sun."

Take her at her word. She's yours for six bits . . . So are ALL the latest hits . . . by Victor . . . each living proof that the world's greatest orchestras and artists record for Victor.

Swell New Victor Records

22541 "I'M YOURS" / "Here Comes the Sun" — Bert Lown and his Hotel Biltmore Orchestra

22538 "SING SOMETHING SIMPLE" / "Lucky Seven" — Leo Reisman and Orchestra

22537 "BODY AND SOUL" / "Something to Remember You By" — Leo Reisman and Orchestra

22528 "THREE LITTLE WORDS" / "Ring Dem Bells" — Duke Ellington's Orchestra

22523-B "IN THE JAILHOUSE" / "High Powered Mama" — Jimmie Rodgers

The Music You Want When You Want It, on

VICTOR RECORDS

SPORTING NEWS

Green and Gold Gridsters Yield Title to Panters

Vermont Completely Outplayed in Championship Fray, 26-6—Bakeman Drops First Down—Bove Nips Pass for Only Catamount Score

BACKFIELD, LINE HAVE INHERENT WEAKNESSES

[illegible] and rainy Saturday, [illegible] the Green and Gold [illegible] once again to the Mid[illegible]ers by the decisive score [illegible].

[illegible]ords the story and this [illegible] indication of what a [illegible]good team did when it [illegible]aggregation—it cracked. [illegible] largest cheering sections [illegible]wed the team to an alien [illegible]rowed and silent as they [illegible] team being annihilated.

The Game

[illegible]eath shrilled and Hunting[illegible]Middlebury kicked off to Tom [illegible] Vermont's 15-yard line, and [illegible]ned on the 30. Winant [illegible]ped with no gain off tackle. [illegible]Manning crashed the line off [illegible] without causing a dent in [illegible]. On the next play the [illegible] White was offside. Winant [illegible] to Hardy on his 15-yard line. [illegible] was halted for no gain on a [illegible]and end. Here it began pelt[illegible] teams saw-sawed back and [illegible] with the Beckmen gaining on [illegible] Hoyle and Bakeman in for [illegible]. On the next play the [illegible]gled to advance via the line. [illegible] Vermont line held and the [illegible] were forced to kick. Winant [illegible] for one yard. Manning made [illegible]. The Green and Gold [illegible] to Midd on the next play and [illegible] was squelched in his [illegible] Parks and Segal. Markowski [illegible] behind the line to Bakeman but [illegible] to advance the ball. Here Bake[illegible]an 25 yards behind perfect in[illegible]ference through left tackle for a [illegible]down. This brought the pigskin [illegible] Vermont 25-yard line. Markow[illegible] pass to Bakeman was incomplete. [illegible] threw Hoyle for a 10-yard loss. [illegible] ended the quarter.

[illegible] a fake kick Hoyle regained his [illegible] yards and Hartrey on the next [illegible] kicked to Winant on Vermont's [illegible] line. Bedell gained two off [illegible] guard. Winant punched center [illegible] for a run. Winant kicked offside to [illegible]dlebury on his own 16-yard line. [illegible] went through tackle for five. [illegible] cracked center for a yard [illegible] a half. Hardy's cross kick failed. [illegible] made first down on eight yards [illegible] end. Geo. Collins was in[illegible] on the play. H. Cohen taking [illegible]ce. Hardy rammed the line for [illegible] yards. Donaldson substituted for M. Cohen. On off tackle slices and [illegible]s Middlebury advanced the [illegible] to the U. V. M. 15-yard line. Then [illegible] a clever piece of deception, Markowski passed to Hardy on a fake place-kick into Vermont's end zone for a [illegible]down. The Cats' backs were at [illegible] permitting an eligible man to [illegible] behind them. Huntington kicked [illegible] for a point. Tune at this time, [illegible] Middlebury 7.

[illegible] elected to kick to the Blue [illegible]. Here the ball was punted [illegible] for a time. A break came [illegible] Markowski light-footed through [illegible] a 30-yard run. This took the [illegible] the Vermont 15-yard mark. [illegible] Beckmen were penalized five [illegible] for slugging, taking the ball [illegible] the Cats' danger zone. Two [illegible]s and again the Panthers [illegible]alized, this time for tripping. [illegible] play and the half ended. The [illegible] dance at half time still re[illegible] Vermont 0, Middlebury 7.

[illegible]ond verse opened with Win[illegible]ng off to Hartrey. Hardy [illegible]" tackle without gain. Here [illegible] Middlebury was penalized 15 [illegible] bringing the ball to the [illegible] yard line. Hardy kicked [illegible]al punt which fully traveled [illegible] in the air to Winant who [illegible] 10 yards. Heaton gained [illegible] through right guard. Hardy [illegible] Winant's flat pass and [illegible] jumped 10 yards for a touchdown. Huntington failed to kick the goal. Here Vermont lost whatever hope it had until the final few minutes when "Albie" Bove tossed a pass in the end zone to make SIX the perfect. Bove didn't go in till the last few minutes and before he did the Catamounts were outrushed, outpassed and outplayed.

Using Vermont's own tactics the Beckmen lateralled and end runned the field to within scoring distance. Then Markowski snapped one right into Thrasher's arms, a balled like a bullet pass. Huntington's educated toe at the time safely piloted the ball over the cross bars. The chorus now was Vermont 0, Middlebury 20. Again the Panthers this time dazzling trick cross tricks to deceive the already out witted Dunnmen carried the ball around left end for the final touchdown. Hoyle crossing the chalk line. The sad refrain in the third quarter was now Vermont 0, Middlebury 26.

Taking the reins from Winant and assisted by "Lighthorse" Jay, "Slinger" Bedell and "Stew" Manning, Perry Bove whipped the team into a frenzy. Here the team showed itself as it might have been.

Vermont on a lateral forward pass combination gained 40 yards. Collins making a spectacular catch on the Blue and White 35-yard stripe. The next play netted nothing. A flat pass advanced it five more. Another yard on a line buck. "Lighthorse" Jay gained three on a lateral. Bedell nabbed Bove's pass for 8 yards. Flat pass gained one more making it first down for U. V. M., and the fourth consecutive. Bedell gained one off tackle and Jay four around end. One attempt gained nothing then Bedells flat pass was picked out of the air by "Albie" Bove deep in the right end zone. A few more plays and the gun snapped. Mournful finis—Vermont 6, Middlebury 26.

The line-up.

VERMONT		MIDDLEBURY
Segal (Palmer)	l.e.	Thrasher
M. Cohen (Donaldson)	l.t.	Huntington
G. Collins (H. Cohen)	l.g.	Duffany
Dinniman (Durfey)	c.	Nelson
Farmer (Davis)	r.g.	Brown
Aronson	r.t.	Perry
Parks	r.e.	Sorenson
Winant (Bove)	q.b.	Markowski
Bedell (Heaton)	l.h.b.	Foote
T. Collins (Jay)	r.h.b.	Bakeman
Manning	f.b.	Hardy

Middlebury	0	7	13	6—26
Vermont	0	0	0	6—6

Referee—H. I. O'Brien (Holy Cross)
Umpire—F. W. Burleigh (Exeter)
Head Linesman—L. O. Johnson (Amherst).
Field Judge—F. L. Jones (Middlebury)

The Women's Glee Club will rehearse Tuesday, November 18, from 7.15 to 8.45, Wednesday from 8.00 to 9.30, Thursday from 7.00 to 8.15. In addition announcement will probably be made of a noon rehearsal to be held in the gym.

A terrible storm came up and they parked their car by the side of the road. "Are you afraid?" he asked. "No," she replied, "not if you take that cigarette out of your mouth."

FRESHMAN GRIDSTERS WIN TWO, LOSE TWO AND ARE TIED ONCE

Defeat Montpelier Seminary and Norwich Frosh; Drop to Vt. Academy and Clark School

KITTENS TIE WITH MIDD FOR STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

[illegible] the play-off of Coach Dunn at Hanover, N. H. [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] Vermont Freshman [illegible] Here Vermont [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Middlebury [illegible]

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION GROUP HOLDS LUNCHEON WITH FIVE FRESHMEN

V. C. A. Cabinet Convenes at Charlotte With Student Group Discussing Campus Religion

CHARLES RANN KENNEDY SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

(Continued from page 1)

VARSITY FORENSICISTS VICTORIOUS OVER KEENE

(Continued from page 1)

DEAN CUP AWARDED TO SOPHOMORES FOR PLAY

PROFESSORS' ASSOCIATION MEETS AT LOCAL HOTEL

The National organization is several years old and has a membership of about seven thousand. The Vermont

In The Good Old Days

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

TEN YEARS AGO

ONE YEAR AGO

Physical education statistics show that the average 1932 man is a little taller, a little older and slightly heavier than the average sophomore male.

Student activities for the fiscal year ending June, 1929, called for a $,000 expenditure. President Bailey reports

PROF. DEAN ADDRESSES VERGENNES COMMUNITY

Vermont ranks 1st among all states and Second in the possession of advantages of home ...

Prof. G. G. Groat ... Vermont Economic ... Yankee plan ... the war debt question.

In the triangular ... Vermont loses second ... boys and Norwich ... third down, respectively.

Notice: "Every student ... college band ... rehearsals or meets ... This includes the band, society and all houses ... for their points. The ... of this rule will be considered ... offense.

Machine guns, rifles and ... used to decorate the B. B. ... previous when Scotland ... sponsors the first formal ...

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

Two Queens and a Pair of Braeburns

That's almost a full house. Our ace in the hole however is more Braeburns just arrived . . .

Canyon Blues and rich browns make a full house here almost a sure thing. Hurry, they won't be here long.

$41 $43 $45

Hayes & Carney, Inc.
195-7 Bank St., Near Majestic
Open Evenings

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

It looms up large in their lives

The telephone has a big place in the daily lives of most people today, but its place will be even bigger tomorrow.

Its importance has been fostered by the work of men in all phases of the telephone business and no little part has been taken by those engaged in selling. They have helped to effect an increase of more than three and a half million Bell telephones in the last five years. In the same period they have been instrumental in making the public realize more completely the telephone's usefulness. Result: an increase from 49,000,000 calls per day to 65,000,000.

For men with a leaning toward sales promotion, the opportunity is there!

BELL SYSTEM

A NATION-WIDE SYSTEM OF INTER-CONNECTING TELEPHONES

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1930 NUMBER 18

SOPHS AND FRESHMEN CLASH IN ANNUAL FRAY ON FORENSIC PLATFORM

Debate This Year To Be On Question, "Resolved: That Frosh Rules Should Be Abolished."

BAILEY CUP GOES TO WINNING CLASS TEAM

Donaghy, Colburn and Bigelow, Sophs, Will Debate Negative Against Jenks, Butman and Howe

[illegible] that Freshman Rules [illegible] abolished." will be the subject of the freshman-sophomore debate [illegible] year. The debate will be held [illegible] Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock in [illegible] Old Chapel. The freshman team will uphold the affirmative. A representative of Boulder will present the question of "Freshman Rules" before the debate.

The freshman team, the product of [illegible] lengthy tryout series, consists of Marshall Howe of Adams, [illegible] David Jenks of Burlington, [illegible] Butman of Milton, and Irving [illegible] of Burlington, alternate. The team promises well but of course has [illegible] had not a real chance to test its [illegible] as a combination at Vermont.

The negative team, the sophomores, comprise R. P. Donaghy of Northfield, R. F. Colburn of Burlington, and [illegible] Bigelow of Fair Haven. No alternate is considered necessary.

The subject of Freshman Rules is a very appropriate one at this time at Vermont. The debate has the sanction both assistant Dean Swift of the College of Arts and Sciences and President Bailey. The argument on the subject has been heated for some months and the debate will afford those interested to obtain the real issues in an interesting and, it is hoped, [illegible] way.

The winning team in Tuesday night's debate will be immediately awarded the possession of the Bailey Cup for a period of one year. As a team the sophomores are considered the underdog, or aggressor, but in this case due to the nature of the subject and the potential strength of the freshman team the sophomores are probably the short end of the betting.

DOROTHY NASH QUOTES "NIGHT-OUT" REGULATIONS

Dorothy Nash, '31, chief justice of Student Union, quotes the following rules in order that co-eds may know [illegible] regulations: "It shall not be counted as a night-out if a co-ed is escorted and goes out to eat for a period not exceeding one hour, provided she returns by 10:00 p.m. (10:10, on campus). It is permissible for her to eat in a restaurant after [illegible] provided it is counted as a night-out if [illegible] in connection with a [illegible] party or a college dance; a [illegible] date is not a night-out, provided the student is in by 9:10 p.m.

GERMAN SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST SOCIAL MEETING

[illegible] organized German Club held [illegible] social meeting of the year [illegible] the Alpha Chi Omega house. [illegible] German were given by Irene [illegible] Mary Clough, '33, and [illegible] man, '32, members of the

YOUNG EDITOR RECEIVED COLDLY BY COMMITTEE

Cynic Man Ejected From Meeting of S. C. F.-C. D. M. P. C. I. F.-S. R. O. C. I.

At a meeting of the Special Committee of the Faculty Student Council to Devise a Method of Procedure for a Committee to Investigate Freshman-sophomore Relations at Other Collegiate Institutions, held at the Delta Psi house last Tuesday, a member of the CYNIC staff taken along by a committee-man to act as his secretary, met with a reception that could hardly be termed either hospitable or cordial.

This sophomore went into the room where the committee was sitting, accompanying his employer, and sat down. Then two of the senior members looked at him, and at each other. They thought in silence a while and Senior number 1 looked at Senior number 2, and number 2 looked at number 1.

After some time of this playful eye-conversation, the two commenced to speak. For fully two minutes, twenty-seven and three-tenths seconds by the stop-watch did these men discuss the undesirable presence.

And number 1 said, "Young man, are you a member of this committee?"

"No."

"Well, I think you had better go."

"But I came to act as secretary to my friend."

"You may go."

So it ended, and number 1 looked at number 2. And all was well.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB OFFERS FIRST CONCERT OF YEAR THIS EVENING

Brahms' "Song of Fate" With Orchestral Accompaniment To Feature Tonight's Program

The Women's Glee Club, assisted by the University orchestra, the men's double quartet, and Katrina Munn and Mary Morris, accompanists, will present its opening concert of the season tonight in the gymnasium. The concert is free and the public is invited.

These organizations, under the direction of Prof. H. G. Bennett, and Miss Charlotte deVolt, violinist accompanied by Miss Miriam Marston, give an interesting program.

The main number on the program is Brahms' "Song of Fate." Their selection is one of the noblest and exalted of Brahms' works. It was written for a chorus of mixed voices and orchestra, the music reflects two moods of Hoelderlin's poem: the serenity of the gods and the suffering of men. Brahms has added an instrumental postlude recalling the calm introduction. Whether he intended to represent a regretful memory or a ray of hope, or whether he repeated the melody just because he liked it, can be decided individually only by hearing the selection rendered.

The program follows:

Ave Maria ..... Brahams
Bridal Chorus from "Der Freischutz" Weber
(Solos by the Misses Putman, Eggleston and Roosa)
The Women's Glee Club
Dans l'air nous suivons des yeux, from "Carmen" ..... Bizet
Marching ..... Brahms
Men's Double Quartet

(Continued on page 3)

CYNIC SURVEY SHOWS MOST ATHLETES PREFER THE G. S. CURRICULUM

Seventeen Letter-men Are Enrolled In That Course As Against Sixteen In C. And E. And Fewer In Others

ENGINEERS PLACE HIGH PERCENT OF ATHLETES

Forty-eight From Arts and Sciences College Represent Smaller Proportion Than Twenty-five From Engineering

The majority of athletes, according to a recent CYNIC survey, are students in the College of Arts and Sciences, and the general science curriculum is the most popular with them. This college claims forty-eight lettermen, as compared with twenty-five engineers seven agricultural students and six medics.

The general science course is taken by some seventeen sportsmen, commerce and economics by sixteen, literary-scientific by eight, chemistry, three, education, two, and in the classical curriculum, one. The engineers favor mechanical engineering, thirteen taking that course, to nine for civil, and three for electrical. Six medics and seven aggies have won their letters.

The class of '32 has more athletes than any other, thirty-four, to be exact, while '33 and '30 each have sixteen and the present seniors, twenty-five.

Multi-Sport Stars

There were at Vermont last year two three-letter men. One of these, who earned his letters in football, track, and the outing club, is now gone, the other, a junior, won his in football, baseball, and basketball.

Ten men won two letters each last year. The combinations in this respect were very varied, two playing football and hockey, two football and basketball, three football and track, two football and baseball, one basketball and tennis, one hockey and the outing club, one hockey and track, another hockey and tennis. One man won his letter from the outing club and in football.

A series of tables relative to the class, college and course of the present letter-men follows:

By Class

Sport	'33	'32	'31	'30
Football	..	9	7	8

(Continued on page 4)

"THE QUEEN'S HUSBAND" PROGRESSING RAPIDLY IN REHEARSALS, SAY CAST

The "Queen's Husband," with its thrilling plots of revolution and love is quickly taking form. Three regular rehearsals take place every week. Acts one and two are almost perfected and act three is progressing rapidly.

Bob Aiken, '31, who has the part of the King says, "The play is going on very well and although we are still reading our parts, most of the characters know them." Aiken had prominent parts in "Summertime," "Holiday" and "Dear Brutus."

Roberta Powers, '32, is to be the Queen in this play. Miss Powers displayed her ability in "Holiday" in which she played the leading character.

H. D. Butterfield, '31, will portray the part of Grant, the King's secretary. Butterfield has acted in "Lady Windemere's Fan," "Dear Brutus" and "Holiday."

The part of the Princess is to be played by Elizabeth Corey, '31. Miss Corey showed her talents in "Summertime." She was also property manager of "Dear Brutus."

Doctor Feilman, an anarchic University professor, is played by S. B. Barker, '32. Barker has had previous experience in "Dear Brutus" and "Holiday."

This Metcalf-coached play will be given December 11. The play, which is modern in theme describes a struggle between a revolutionist and a loyalist party. A love marriage and a political marriage also enter into the story, further to capture the interest of the audience.

Robert Emmett Sherwood, the author of the play, is noted in addition for his recent work, "The Road to Rome."

ALLEN HOUSE EXPLOIT RESULTS IN DISASTER

Freshman-Sophomore Telephone "Line" Causes Man To Flunk Hour Exam

An exploit which recently came to our attention was that of one of the most prominent freshman residents of the Allen house, on Colchester Avenue.

This woman, who is well known in certain campus circles, called a sophomore man on the telephone the night previous to a difficult hour examination, and "strung" him a "hot line" for about two hours. Result: sophomore flunks examination "cold" next day, we trust a sophomore committee will draw up suitable resolutions.

PROF. METCALF STATES FRESHMEN MAY OBTAIN INTELLIGENCE RATINGS

Results of Intelligence Tests Now Ready at Office of Psychology, Dean, or Registrar

Freshmen desiring to know the grades they received on the intelligence tests given during their preliminary enrollment days at the University may obtain them by calling at the psychology office near 33 North College, at the office of the dean of their respective college or at the registrar's office, Professor Metcalf stated last week.

The tests, prepared and standardized by the American Board of Education are given annually to the men and women of the University. The one used this year was prepared under the direction of Prof. L. L. Thurstone of the University of Chicago.

The score rated according to the number of correct answers, with speed and accuracy counting about one half, give an indication of one's general intelligence and ability to learn but do not show special aptitudes in various technical fields or subjects of study. It shows the relation of one's mental capacity to that of the average of the class.

Professor Metcalf stated when asked about the statistics the department had compiled on the tests:

"No information correlating the results of the tests with curricula or grades have been announced.

"A total of 390 students took the tests. Of these, in the Arts and Sciences College 119 were women and 145 were men, giving a total of 264. In the College of Engineering, where there are no women this year, 49 men reported for the tests.

Eight agricultural men and 26 home economics women took the intelligence test totaling 34. Thirty-nine of the two-year teacher training course were included among those whose tests are on file at the psychology office.

PLAYWRIGHT KENNEDY LAMENTS THE UGLINESS IN PRESENT-DAY LIFE

Centers Talk Around Production of Amateur Dramatics in Schools and Colleges Today

HAS BROAD KNOWLEDGE OF ENGLISH PHONETICS

Distinguished Dramatist Scores New York as Disgrace to World for Its Theatrical Productions

We are thankful for the existence of a new school of philosophers, a new school of physicists, a new school of critics, men who can fearlessly cast aside the worn-out customs of their fathers, men who can take art and put it where it rightfully belongs without regard for the Menckens of the world," declared Charles Rann Kennedy, most versatile of actors, and a great dramatist, in the second of the University lectures given last Tuesday evening before a huge gathering of townspeople, students and faculty members.

Prof. A. H. Myrick, head of the Romance language department of the University, introduced Mr. Kennedy as a beautiful and splendid actor who had introduced a new and daring thought into modern drama, and as a man who had a sublime contempt for all that is cheap and mean. And truly the white-haired artist, presenting an air of dignity and mysticism, outdid the flattering introduction, now sending the audience into convulsions of laughter with a splendid imitation of the whining cockney Englishman and again hushing them to awed silence as he lived for a brief moment some powerful instant in the career of Shakespear's Hamlet.

At present, Mr. Kennedy informed his audience he is in the throes of producing Hamlet, the presentation of which he is looking forward to as he is working under perfect conditions and in conjunction with his famous wife, Edith Wynne Matthison.

His talk, or rather presentation, was centered around the production of plays in schools and colleges, and in explaining his main theme he said that "It is fast becoming a question of the school versus the commercialized theater." Mr. Kennedy further explained that generally speaking, the drama of the legitimate stage has been on the down grade for the past decade, due in part to the competition of the movies, and the vulgar, uncouth theater that has been appealing to the lower crust of the public.

New York a Disgrace

"New York," asserted the speaker rising high in his vehemence, "is a disgrace to the world, because of the

(Continued on page 2)

U. V. M. Students Attend Round Table World Problems Conference

"Nationalism, Bolshevikism and Materialism are the major problems of the World today," said Dr. Basil Mathews, noted authority on world affairs, speaking at a conference of college students held at Hartford, Conn., last Saturday and Sunday. Vermont was represented at this meeting by Florence Huntley, '33, J. E. Pinelow, '33 and P. J. LaCrosse, '32.

About fifty delegates were present representing some twenty odd colleges in New England and vicinity. The conference was sponsored by John R. Mott and was part of the World Student Volunteer Movement. The time was given over to lectures, conferences and round table discussions. Hartford Seminary was the host institution.

Nationalism Selfish

"Nationalism," explained Doctor Mathews, "is the principle of self-centered self-sufficiency." Doctor Mathews emphasized the importance of the League of Nations as a peace promoter.

"The League," said Doctor Mathews, "has much more influence than many people in the world realize. In the recent case of Corfu which Italy has been proudly feasting her eyes upon for some time, discussion of the matter before the council of the League caused even the belligerent Mussolini to cease his operations toward conquest.

Doctor Mathews gave several examples of the peace preserving power of the League. Among these were the Turko-Grecian disputes, and the dispute on wages and hours of labor between Japan and India. In this latter case, India was forced to raise her tariff barriers because Japan had violated the existing minimum wage and maximum number of working hours agreement. Action by the council of the League prevented further conflict on the matter. Dr. Mathews concluded with a hope that nations would use their Nationalistic spirit to make their nations the best possible ones rather than to use it for enmity. Bolshevism and materialism were emphasized in a similar authoritative manner.

During the discussion which occupied the major portion of the conference time, several interesting points were brought out.

Doctor Mathews defined progress as the development of a world order in which human characteristics can develop in freedom and unity.

In answer to another question he asserted that it was his belief that most economic depressions were due to under-consumption rather than over-production.

"Over-production," said Doctor

(Continued on page 4)

What's In Your Name? An Ingenious Cynic Reporter Analyzes Directory

[illegible] offers quite a variety in [illegible] aspect of its existence and [illegible] of its faculty and students exception. A CYNIC reporter spent a few minutes looking [illegible] College directory and [illegible] he found.

[illegible] of letters the names [illegible] three to twelve. The shortest [illegible] employee name is Hay and [illegible] Ellenberger and Housewright eleven letters each. The [illegible] Varrichione and Harasimchambault, Fleischmann, [illegible] and Winchenbach for [illegible] and Jay, Hay, Roy and [illegible] shortest. Among the co-eds [illegible] moreland with twelve letters [illegible] stein, and Eisenwinter and on the other end Fay, Gay, and Lee.

The faculty and employees come from all sorts of professions and stations in life—Abbott, Carpenter, Cooks, Crooks, Dean, Dresser, Householder, Marshall, Miller, Painter, Taylor, and Walker. They are Bold, Hardy, Swift, Young, Smart and Rich, but sometimes Moody Savage, and even Black.

Nature and its various aspects are well represented with Banks, Brooks, DeForest, Hills, LaMountain, Littlefield and Parks. In the national phenomena, there are Fogg, Frost, and Storms. The faculty shows the preference in colors to be Black, various shades of Brown and Greene.

(Continued on page 2)

The Vermont Cynic

Published tri-weekly by the Undergraduates of the University of Vermont

Entered at the Post Office at Burlington, Vermont, as second class matter

KENNEDY AND OTHERS

[illegible] Kennedy [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTING NEWS

ANNUAL INTER-CLASS BASKETBALL TOURNEY TO BE PLAYED SOON

Schedule Calls For Games To Be Completed Between December 6 and 15—Winner Determined On Percentage Basis

[illegible] to A. T. Post, director of [illegible] athletics, the annual in[illegible] basketball tournament will [illegible] between December 6 and [illegible] team will play three games [illegible] championship will be awarded [illegible] team having the greatest num[illegible] victories. In case of a tie, a [illegible] will be held for the champion[illegible]

[illegible] to obtain practice periods [illegible] teams, the captains or mana[illegible] the respective teams are re[illegible] see Mr. Post or Mr. Prentice [illegible]

[illegible] edule is as follows:

[illegible] 9 Seniors vs. Juniors.
[illegible] 8 Sophomores vs. Freshmen.
Dec. 10 Seniors vs. Sophomores.
[illegible] 12 Juniors vs. Freshmen.
Dec. 13 Seniors vs. Freshmen.
Dec. 15 Juniors vs. Sophomores.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL CANDIDATES TO START PRACTICE NEXT MONTH

According to present plans, Coach [illegible] Post will issue his first call [illegible] freshman basketball candidates [illegible] 1. In view of the fact that [illegible] schedule is to be arranged this [illegible] and also because the first game [illegible] not scheduled until after midyears, [illegible] early start will not be necessary.

In contrast to the usual frosh schedule of ten or more games, it is planned this year to schedule only five or six. All of this season's games are to be played with prep school or college freshman fives, as it is believed that more valuable training may be obtained from those games than with those engaged in with independent and semi-pro teams.

It is hoped this year that by not opening the season until after midyears that the candidates will be able to devote time to their studies and thus come through midyears without encountering any scholastic difficulties.

Coach Post plans to have practice three times a week, until Christmas. From the reopening of college after the vacation period until midyears he plans to form a league composed of the candidates surviving the cuts, in which the teams will play several games.

Among those expected to report are Saba, Sowka and Braskie, former Vermont Academy stars; Marchacos, captain of last year's B. H. S. state champs and an all-state forward Lutkus and Rust of the same team; Morsell, star center of the strong Checkerboard team of last year; Drown, star of last year's Barton Academy team and [illegible] junior tournament guard selection; Richmond, captain of the Orleans team of two years ago which won the state junior title that year; Mulcahy and Woodruff of last year's Spaulding High outfit.

Glee Club Offers Program

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Patri ..... Palestrina
Women's Double Quartet
[illegible] the Month of Maying ..Morley
Women's Glee Club
[illegible] Bells ...Henberger-Kreisler
[illegible]rn .....Burleigh
[illegible]erman .....Burleigh
Miss deVolt
[illegible] Fate .....Brahms
[illegible] Double Quartet, Men's Double [illegible] Women's Glee Club and [illegible] orchestra
[illegible] All Hail, from "The Birth [illegible]s" .....Fanré
[illegible] Sextet and Women's Glee [illegible]ith Miss Putnam as soloist.

RIFLEMEN PREPARING FOR COMING SEASON

Several Veterans Available For This Year's Team—Schedule To Include Trip To Montreal

Again as in past years Vermont will have a rifle team with which to compete with other colleges. The team will be organized in cooperation with the military department and practice will be held soon. Prospects for the coming season are very bright with several lettermen from last year's team available. Among the veterans are Captain G. M. Donaldson, '31; M. L. Joslin, '31; J. O. Percival, '31; L. J. Riani, '31; L. S. Wright, '32; L. R. Dunham, '33; W. C. Perry, '33; L. M. Freedom, '33; and H. J. Sheldon, '33. Captain Berry will again be coach.

Manager A. H. Roller, '31, has been working on a schedule and expects to have it completed soon. An added incentive to those reporting this year will be a trip to Montreal where McGill will be met in a shoulder to shoulder match. All men making the "R. V. T." will also receive a gold charm which has a raised rifle and "V" on it.

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTING EDITOR—

The football sun is setting and there will be a brief lull until basketball, hockey and the other winter sports start in earnest.

Pre-season prospects in Vermont basketball are only fair but who knows what Coach Prentice will develop? The fans ought not to be disappointed, anyhow.

Vermont has one more football contest to fill out the 1930 schedule of nine games and this will be the annual Turkey Day battle at Springfield. The record this year has been a bit disappointing but at times the team has looked good.

Springfield appears to be at the top of the heap among the small colleges of New England. Last Saturday the "Y" College had the honor of flattening New Hampshire 20 to 7.

Len Macaluso of Colgate still leads the nation in scoring with his figure of 135 points for the season. This mark exceeds by five points the 1929 record of Geen McEver of Tennessee, the nation's leading scorer last year.

The Norwich football players closed their season Saturday with a victory over the Massachusetts Aggies. This win gave the cadets a season record of two victories, one tie and four losses in seven games played. Captain Coane, Clark, Gibbons and Sipila, who were regulars throughout the season, played their last game for Norwich.

A fencing schedule is being made up that will give the team several trips out of the state. The first match is here with Montreal A. A. on November 29 and a return contest will be held January 1. Dartmouth will be an opponent February 7 at Hanover. Two more matches have been arranged that will take place at Boston, one with Boston University on February 27, and the other with M. I. T. March 27. Negotiations for other matches are being made and it is expected that the complete schedule will be released soon.

All-Vermont State Teams

First Team		Second Team
Thrasher (M)	l.e.	Segal (V)
Huntington (M)	l.t.	Donaldson (V)
Duffany (M)	l.g.	Brown (M)
Nelson (M)	c.	Dinniman (V)
DelVecchio (N)	r.g.	Farmer (V)
Perry (M)	r.t.	Gibbons (N)
Parks (V)	r.e.	Coane (N)
Markowski (M)	q.b.	Winant (V)
Hoyle (M)	h.b.	Montagano (N)
Hartrey (M)	h.b.	T. Collins (V)
Hardy (M)	f.b.	Manning (V)

With the winning of the State title by Middlebury, it is most fortunate that we are able to present two all Vermont State teams picked by Coach "Dave" Dunn of Vermont. His first year on the hill, the Catamount mentor has no biased or prejudiced opinions regarding the relative merits of the various men. Picked solely on a basis of performance, these twenty-two men have earned the honor bestowed upon them.

"Peep" Parks is the only Green and Gold athlete to make the first team. A converted tackle, this giant wingman has come along like a streak and reached the peak of play during the State series. Down under punts like a bullet, his huge form has struck like a bolt. On plays around his end, he has consistently refused to be taken out of play and has rather broken through the interference, nailing his man for a loss.

Nine Blue and White men have been awarded positions on the teams. Definitely ahead of its rivals in all departments, her opponents suffer from comparison. Midd's backfield has been placed intact upon Coach Dunn's first team.

Markowski, quarterback and alumnus of Tilton Academy directs the team. Using his men with a knowledge of their capacities, he quickly diagnosed his enemies' weakness and focused his fire upon that point. Immediately after a substitute had entered he shot a play at that man, demoralizing both the recipient and the team. He remains far ahead of the pilot on the second eleven, Ed Winant.

Hardy at full is the best punter and line plunger we have seen perform on a Vermont gridiron. In his kicking, Coach Beck has a defensive weapon. Having plenty of distance and sufficient height, his 50-yard boots give his ends an even chance to get down the field, nail the receiver and prevent a runback.

Two H's, Hoyle and Hartrey complete the quartet. The former pulls passes out of the air with grace, nesthetic in its performance. With Markowski on the tossing end this combination is a marked pair. Yet none have a defense able to stop them. Hartrey's work in the Vermont game enables him to make the team.

Thrasher pulls down the left end. An experienced wingman at Fitchburg High under Annott, he handles his position with a background of play. Ready when opportunity knocked he scored a touchdown on a pass from Markowski.

Huntington, whose educated toe sends the ball over the cross bar for the point after touchdown is at left tackle. His selection is vindicated by the calibre of his play.

Duffany is the last member of the Middlebury trio on the left side of the line. Coming out of the line with the charge of a rifle he ripped holes in the Vermont line large enough to allow his ball carrier to slip through with ease. Vermont couldn't gain an inch through the midsection of the line. Smothering the attack before it got started, the center of the Blue and White line was impregnable.

A hard fight resulted in the selection of the candidate for center honors. Dinny Dinniman is a close contender. Smearing plays that same way, Dinny has made a major portion of the tackles behind the line of scrimmage, but Nelson of Middlebury has the edge. Consistency has been his prime virtue. Backing up the line in Ben Ticknor fashion, he'd come from nowhere, hurl his body at the oncoming back and stop what appeared to be the makings of an appreciable gain when the Catamount attack tried to plow through him, it was repulsed. Were it any other man Dinny would have honors cinched.

Pat DelVecchio is the lone Norwich entrant on the first team. A converted half back, Coach Dewey Graham used him to bolster his weak line. Both Vermont and Middlebury have respect for this youth's ability. As a running guard he had sufficient speed getting out of the line to lead his interference. The Maroon candidate capably represents the Kaydets.

Harold Perry, captain of the Beckmen will be acclaimed the most popular choice for right tackle. A product of the rugged teams turned out at Lynn (Mass.) Classical High, he made the frosh team and after serving his apprenticeship has been the regular varsity tackle for the past three seasons. During the State series, his play has been of such calibre to merit his being chosen on the all-State team in 1929. A popular leader, his capacities were well adapted to serve the Blue and White entries.

A degree of wide difference exists between the first and second teams. Seven Catamounts occupy positions. Leo Segal, fighting captain, deservedly gains the post at left end. Were Leo not injured early in the season his effectiveness reduced we do not hesitate that his name would have reappeared on the first team.

All the remaining members of the second team excluding Dinniman, Gray, Coane, Tom Collins and Stew Manning have turned in spasmodic performances, at times reaching great heights. The latter named all gave their first team brothers a fight before relinquishing their positions.

TRYOUT DATES GIVEN ASPIRANTS TO NATIONAL ATHLETIC FRATERNITY

Sigma Delta Psi Candidates Have Opportunities To Pass Requirements For Membership

Candidates for admission to Sigma Delta Psi, the national athletic fraternity, will be given opportunities to pass the requirements, starting December 2. According to Howard A. Prentice of the University of Vermont department of physical education, tryouts will be held on the following days:

Mile run and 100-yard dash—every Friday at 4:00 p.m. on the running track in the gymnasium.

Running high jump, broad jump, pole vault and shot put—every Wednesday at 4:00 p.m. in the cage.

Baseball throw and football punt—every Monday at 4:00 p.m. on the back campus, weather permitting.

Tumbling and posture—every Thursday at 3:00 p.m. in the auxiliary gymnasium, or by appointment.

The 220-yard low hurdles and the swimming requirements will be held in the Spring.

PLEDGES PLAY PRANKS ON MIDGET MOTOR-CAR

Two pledges were returning to their house late at night when a midget Austin car came to their attention, parked by the curb in front of the house. When they had ascertained that it was the property of a man belonging to another fraternity, who was engaged in making merry inside with fraternity brothers of theirs, the freshmen, by dint of much heaving and shoving, succeeded in lifting first the front end, and then the rear, over the curb; then it was a simple matter to roll it up to the very doorstep. Rumor has it that when the owner came out, somewhat the worse for wear, he tripped and fell over the car, to the accompaniment of picturesque language.

All juniors should hand in their proofs to Ray Cobb at the Delta Psi house or leave them in the bookstore by today, in order to insure delivery before Christmas. Deposits on orders should be mailed directly to Warren K. Vantine Studio, 160 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.

All freshman men who wish to scrub the Cynic are urged to come out at once. There is opportunity for more men to make the board. Elections will be held immediately after midyears for those who come out now!

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

All Wool Vermont Sweaters

Just the sweater for the numeral men of the Freshman Team.

$8.00

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.

"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices

Try

HENRY'S DINER

155 Bank St.

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.

Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.

Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies.

Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.

191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

SPECIAL

Discount to Students on

GAS and OIL

UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION

Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.

100% SERVICE

CHRISTMAS CARDS

Why not order PERSONAL CHRISTMAS GREETINGS this year and from

McAULIFFE'S

Church & College Sts.

Phone 629

WE NOW HAVE ON DISPLAY ATTRACTIVE CHRISTMAS CARDS WITH THE UNIVERSITY SEAL.

Don't Wait! Buy Now

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

CO-ED J. V. DEBATERS SCHEDULE TWO MEETS

U. V. M. STUDENTS HEAR ABOUT WORLD PROBELMS

Continued from page 1

THREE U. V. M. WOMEN MANAGE GIRL SCOUTS

Society Notes

PI BETA PHI

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

SIGMA GAMMA

MOST ATHLETES PREFER THE C. S. CURRICULUM

By College

	A.S.	Engr.	Agri.	Med.
Outing Club	4	1	2
Total	48	25	7	4

By Course—Arts and Science

Sport	Cl. S.	Jr.	Jr.	Cl.	Frsh.	Cl.
Football	3	2	1	1	1
Baseball	3	1	1
Basketball	2	1	1			1

By Course—Engineering

	M. E.	C. E.	E. E.
Basketball	1		1
Total	13	9	8

A.J. women please notice the W. A. A. poster on the bulletin board in the Y-room. Get busy for W. A. A. credits!

W. A. A. Council meetings are to be held on Wednesdays from now on.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

"DOUBLE YOUR LIFE" RANKIN'S CHAPEL TOPIC

He challenged his [illegible] this life and live it

Bluestockings will hold a [illegible] at the Theta house, Tuesday, November 25, at 4:00 p.m.

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FO[illegible]
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college [illegible]
HOME-MADE PIES and S[illegible]
CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

The Ideal Hotel for You
In BOSTON
is the NEW
Hotel MANGER
At North Station
Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden
500 ROOMS
Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower • Built-in Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) • Servidor Circulating Ice Water
New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel
Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service
RATES—ROOM AND BATH
FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00
FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00
No Higher Rates

ONE WILL ALWAYS STAND OUT

Whole-hearted, natural, real!

EQUALLY genuine is the response of smokers to Chesterfield's satisfying goodness, its wholesome smoothness.

No one ever has to "acquire" a taste for Chesterfields. You don't have to learn to like them. Smokers take to their pleasing flavor instinctively . . . and here's why:

MILDNESS — the entirely natural mildness of tobaccos that are without harshness or bitterness.

BETTER TASTE — Such as only a cigarette of wholesome purity and better tobaccos can have.

for MILDER BETTER TASTE

Chesterfield Cigarettes are manufactured by LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

They Satisfy
—that's Why!

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1930 — NUMBER 19

E. ALEXANDER POWELL JOURNALIST, EXPLORER LECTURES HERE DEC. 2

Third In Lecture Series, Colonel Powell's Topic Is To Be "The Last Home Of Mystery"

SCHEDULE THREE MORE IN UNIVERSITY SERIES

University Lecture will [illegible] Campus Colonel E. Alexander who will give his illustrated [illegible] "The Last Home of Mystery" in the University Gymnasium [illegible] evening of Tuesday, December 2.

[illegible] Powell widely known as the author of many popular books of travel and exploration is also considered one of the great explorers of the world.

He gained fame as a war correspondent in Europe during the great war. Reaching Belgium before the end of a week he accompanied the German army in its 1914 campaign. Later he was with the German army in its victorious advance into Russia. He still later saw the war on the French and Italian fronts.

Roving Experiences

His travels have sent him on special diplomatic commissions into Russian Turkestan, Mexico, the Far East and Africa. There is scarcely a corner of the earth he has not visited. Of all his experiences he writes most forceful and most entertaining.

His lecture on "The Last Home of Mystery" is illustrated with superb motion pictures.

Other lecturers with whom Professor [illegible] Chairman of the Committee on University Lecturers, has signed contracts are:

S. K. Ratcliffe On India

S. K. Ratcliffe of London who will appear Thursday, February 5. Mr. Ratcliffe made a most favorable impression last year when he spoke on Russian, British and American political and social systems. Since he last spoke he has visited India to investigate conditions on the spot. His subject this season will relate to the Indian question.

Dame Crowdy

On Thursday, March 12, Dame [illegible] Crowdy will speak on "International Aspects of Social Reform." Dame Crowdy a brilliant and vivacious speaker draws audiences of five thousand and more in her native England. As head of the Social Questions Section of the League of Nations and [illegible] her five years of active service during the great war, Dame Crowdy has a wealth of experiences from which to draw.

Irish Poet May Come

The January lecture date has not been [illegible] Professor Gifford is awaiting a final word from the Committee of Arrangements for George "AE" Russell. It is hoped that the Committee will arrange a January date for this brilliant Irish poet who is also an eminent authority on Rural Economics to visit the University.

Lectures in the series already held [illegible] on the Vergil Lecture on December 4 by Prof. Marbury Bladen of the Ohio State University and that by Miss Rann Kennedy. The Symposium on Production of Plays in Schools and Colleges. An audience of [illegible] each of these speakers.

FACULTY MEN ATTEND OUT-OF-TOWN MEETS

[illegible] Bradlee, director of the Extension Service of the University of Vermont returned to his office Friday [illegible] ding the greater part of the week in Washington, attending the meeting of Land Grant Colleges and the House Conference on child welfare.

[illegible] L. Hills of the College of Agriculture who also attended the meeting of Land Grant Colleges, returned Saturday.

[illegible] Dean Thomas recently attended the ordination of the Rev. [illegible] Rone as pastor of the Congregational Church of Vershire, where Dean Thomas was ordained pastor years ago and where he served [illegible] nine years. Mrs. Thomas is a native of Vershire.

DEAN SWIFT ANNOUNCES CHANGES IN SCHEDULE

States Rules For Thanksgiving And Christmas Recess—Probation For Violation

"Vacation rules apply particularly to Thanksgiving and Christmas when the students like to extend their stays at home," declared Dean Swift when asked by a Cynic reporter how strictly the rules are enforced.

"Students who wish to extend their vacations," he added, "must first obtain permission from Dean Hills, of the College of Agriculture, who is secretary of the University council."

Students should especially note that on the days immediately preceding the vacation classes will be held in accordance to the following schedule:

First hour	8:00 to 8:50
Second hour	9:00 to 9:50
Third hour	10:00 to 10:50
Fourth hour	11:00 to 11:40
Fifth hour	1:30 to 2:20
Sixth hour	2:00 to 3:20.

These changes will be effective Wednesday, November 26; Friday, December 19; Friday, March 27, thus making it much easier for students who are taking trains to go home.

On the Wednesday before Thanksgiving not only are classes set ahead one-half hour as is usual, but the chapel hour has been omitted.

Violation of the rule forbidding the cutting of classes on days preceding and following vacation will be punished by probation.

MEN'S DOUBLE QUARTET ASSISTS WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB FRIDAY EVENING

University Orchestra, Soloists and Instrumentalists Join Forces in Annual Concert

The Women's Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. H. G. Bennett, presented its annual concert Friday evening, November 21, to a representative and appreciative audience of students, faculty and Burlington friends.

The fifty club members were assisted by the men's double quartet, the University orchestra, Mary Morris, '32, and Katrina Munn, '32, as accompanist, Miss Charlotte deVolt, violin soloist, and Miss Miriam Marston.

The Bridal Chorus from Weber's "Der Freischutz" was sung in a light, carefree style with effective solos by Mailla Putnam, Eleanor Eggleston and Elsie Roosa.

The men's double quartet sang without accompaniment "Marching" by Brahms; the expression and harmony of the clear voices made this selection especially popular with the audience. As accompaniments to the Glee Club in "Song of Fate" and "Hail Them, All Hail" from Faurés' "Birth of Venus" the women's sextet and double quartet sang commendably; the balance and harmony of the voices were excellent.

(Continued on page 4)

Faculty-Student Council Adopts Plan For Investigation of Rules

Committee Appointed by President Will Visit Several Colleges to Study Freshman-Sophomore Relations—Freshman Women Abolish Held Week

Freshman-Sophomore relations at several different colleges and universities throughout New England, New York and Quebec will be investigated soon by men of the junior and senior classes as a result of a plan of action adopted by the Faculty-Student Council which met Friday afternoon at 4.15 in the Marsh room.

A committee of five men appointed by the Council met Tuesday to draw up a plan of procedure for the investigation. The men on the committee were: Roderick Maynes, a member of Boulder Society; Francis Bolles, a member of Faculty-Student Council; Joseph Carter, member of the Cynic staff; William Perry, representative from the sophomore class and Jackson Morgan, president of the freshman class.

Adopt Committee Proposals

Reports from this committee were favorably received and their proposals adopted in all essential aspects.

The action voted by the Council was:

"That a committee be appointed by the faculty members of the Faculty-Student Council and approved by President Bailey, to consist of about eight men. That this investigating committee personally visit a list of colleges to be selected by the President from a tentative list of representative institutions submitted by the preliminary committee."

Juniors and Seniors

If possible each college will be visited by a group of two men, a junior and a senior, who are to interview a list of representative students and administrative officers, endeavoring to secure facts in regard to freshman sophomore relations.

They will determine whether freshman rules exist or not, reasons therefor, advantages, or disadvantages, the rules, methods of enforcement, enforcing bodies, recent changes in the rules, their origin, attitudes of students and faculty toward the situation, etc.

The reports of facts found by the visiting men will be submitted to the Faculty-Student Council at an early date for further action on the question of freshman rules at this University.

Women Abolish Hell Week

At the instance of Prof. Catherine Nulty a meeting of freshman women appointed by each dormitory was called last Thursday afternoon to decide the question of freshman rules and hazing for women.

The committee comprising students and faculty wishes to abolish Freshman Week and Judgment Day and only retain for a limited time certain customs such as wearing of the arm-band, entering eastern doors of the Old Mill, and the greeting of classmates.

This procedure resulted from concerted action of the freshman women, who on the fourth day of Freshman Week this year, in a mass meeting voted to ignore all rules.

The committee of eight freshman house representatives meeting with Miss Nulty comprised: Allen House, Emmaline Perrault; Off Campus, Augusta Cohen; Maynard House, Muriel Magee; Rand House, Betty Gengel; Redstone, Katherine Donahue; Robinson, Catherine Durick; Ruggles, Jean Kinlock; Slade Hall, Charlotte Brown.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS AGAIN SPONSOR DANCE ON THANKSGIVING NIGHT

Sponsored annually by the Men's and Women's Christian Associations, the Thanksgiving Dance will be held at the Burlington High School Gymnasium Thursday evening beginning at 8.30 o'clock.

The Thanksgiving Dance is one of the Christian Associations' annual activities and is given especially for those who do not go home for the holiday.

No admission will be charged and all college students are invited to attend.

Tickets, required for admission are now ready for distribution at the V. C. A. office in the Old Mill.

Doten's Black Pirates will furnish music for the dance.

New Faculty Counsellor System at U. V. M. Should Abate Failures

This year, for the first time, a counsellor system is being tried out at Vermont. Twenty-four members of the faculty have been selected as counsellors, each one having charge of a group of about twelve freshman students.

The advisors for the men are under the direction of Dean Swift, while Miss Catherine F. Nulty, of the economics department, has charge of the women.

A great many students fail during the first half of the freshman year and it is hoped that through the work of the new system the number of failures this semester will be reduced to a minimum.

The first step taken in helping the students is to privately discuss both scholastic and social problems with each individual. It is hoped that the students will feel that they can come to their advisor at any time and that all discussions will be absolutely confidential.

The next step taken by the advisory committee is to examine back student's study schedule and arrange it so that the more difficult subjects may be studied when the mind is freshest.

Suggestions are offered on how to go about absorbing the information in different types of lessons such as language, science, or history. An investigation of study conditions is then made, and if there is any distracting influence present, it is adjusted at once.

The advisors do not pamper the students but merely attempt to show them how to budget their time and how to gain the maximum amount of concentration.

The Counsellors Suggest

After considerable research on the subject of how to study most efficiently, the Council offers many helpful suggestions to students:

1. Keep yourself in good physical condition.
2. See that all external conditions are conducive to good work.
   a. Light, temperature, study desk and chair. Tools of study properly arranged and no draft, glare, music or loud conversation.
3. Establish proper habits and methods of work.
   a. Have daily study schedule.

(Continued on page 4)

FEWER STUDENTS ARE UNDER WARNING IN ARTS COLLEGE, SAYS SWIFT

"We have not had so few under warning, at this time in many years," said Dean Swift of the Arts College. It is not due to failure to re-enroll as figures for last June are also much under previous figures for same month." Then he added, "Apparently poorer students are leaving or studying harder or both."

Those placed "under warning" by classes for month of September, 1930 are:

Class	Number "under warning"
1931	5
1932	11
1933	28
1934	18
TT	7

A total in the Arts College of sixty-two plus seven teacher training students. The total as compared with those "under warning" for September of previous years is as follows:

Year	Number
1930	62
1929	94
1928	88
1927	128
1926	75

The decrease is not only in number but also in percentage. We notice that there is considerable decrease in the number "under warning" in 1927 with that of 1930. The reason is not fully known. "If a student cannot do the work it is better for him to leave; warnings are a healthy sign," said Dean Swift.

After December grades are in, the faculty will place under warning those freshmen who are failing two or more courses and will drop a few whose cases appear hopeless at this time.

"The placing of students under warning is designed as a true warning to the freshmen affected that they are likely to leave at midyears," said Dean Swift.

Scholarship Rules and Regulations

The regulations of the University concerning scholarships are printed below:

1. The scholarship of the students is graded on the scale of 100 percent

(Continued on page 4)

MILITANT LOWERCLASS DEBATERS WILL DISCUSS FRESHMAN RULES TOPIC

Promise Verbal Pyrotechnics on Campus Question in Annual Freshman-Sophomore Tilt

BAILEY CUP WILL ADD IMPETUS TO STRUGGLE

An [illegible] question either favoring or opposed to freshman rules at the University of Vermont, besides numerous [illegible] with discussions in every quarter of the faculty and student body, the freshman and sophomore [illegible] will give added impetus to the movement in a [illegible] debate on the topic "Resolved, that freshman rules should be abolished," at eight o'clock tonight in the Old Mill Chapel.

The occasion is the annual debate between the two lower classes and the freshman team maintaining the affirmative presents Harry Butman, David Jenks and Marshall Howe, with Irving Listman as alternate. Arrayed against them and supporting freshman rules will be James Bigelow, Reardon Donaghy and Russell Colburn.

The Cup

The Bailey cup, presented by Senator H. Alton Bailey of Winooski is at stake, to give added impetus to the discussion of the already highly controversial topic.

The sophomore team won the trophy last year and will do all within their power to retain the cup. The freshmen, while anxious to win the trophy, evidence greater desire to let the upperclassmen know how they stand on the question of abolition of the freshman rules.

Boulder Society will pull the trigger for the forensic tilt by defining "freshman rules" and reading the list of rules lately laid down by them for the first year.

Judges for the evening will be Profs. M. H. Lantsch, L. S. Hartwell and G. H. Nicholson, none of whom are graduates of the University of Vermont. Prof. Leon W. Dean of the English department will preside.

The Line-ups

The sophomores have two able strategists who have engaged in several major encounters with the varsity, and if they are conceded a losing edge, as present indications seem to predict, a tremendous struggle is imminent.

R. P. Donaghy of Northfield, one of the sophomore field generals, was a member of the winning freshman team last year. He also took part in a pre-season debate with Middlebury and in the varsity tilt with N. Y. U. So far this year he has shown considerable improvement, and has been holding down the varsity berth left vacant by the graduation of Franklin Sears. This year he has debated against Bates and Keene Normal.

J. E. Bigelow of Fair Haven, second sophomore exponent, also debated Middlebury last year, and took part in the post-season match with N. H. State Normal. Bigelow has confined most of his activities to junior varsity debating. This year he has again been busy with the J. V.'s and also debated at Bates.

R. F. Colburn of Burlington, third member of the strong sophomore aggregation, ended his debating activities last year after the pre-season Middlebury match, but since took first prize in the Kingsley oratory contest.

Nevertheless, in spite of this redoubtable display of strength, the freshmen expect to emerge the victors. It has in David Jenks of Burlington a clever debater, and in Harry Butman of Milton, an eloquent speaker and effective rebuttalist, while Marshall Howe of Adams, Mass., is also an experienced forensicist.

On the face of it, the frosh team shapes up as worthy opposition for any class team that the college has ever produced.

In the last three years the Bailey cup has been won twice by freshmen and only once by the sophomores. The cup is presented by Senator H. Alton Bailey, graduate of the class of 1915, one of the founders of Tau Kappa Alpha, and a member of the debating team that included Prof. I. M. Prindle, Prof. L. W. Dean and Mr. M. D. Powers, present coach of debate.

"Both teams are confident of a victory," stated Harry Butman, freshman star. "The cup is as good as ours. We

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Editor-in-chief

Managing Editor

Business Manager

Women's Editor

Associate Editors

Sports Editor

Assistant Sports Editors

Women's Athletic Editor

Women's Associate Editor

Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Margaret Mower, '32
Hope Ranslow, '32

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers

Subscription price $1.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Published semi-weekly during the college year

All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 1491 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all subscriptions to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879 authorized October 19, 1925.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol 49 November 25, 1930 No. 19

Faculty Column

A Gentle Parable of a Foolish Sparrow

Once upon a time there was a Sparrow. This Sparrow, to judge by her name (for she was a Her), was descended from Spanish Ancestry. Not withstanding that fact, I must continue this Gentle Parable.

One Spring this Sparrow loyally responded to the Call of Duty lest the race of Sparrows disappear forever from the Earth. She undertook to build her a nest, as all good Sparrows qualifying for her Pronouns should. In pursuance of her Duty she found a Knot Hole in the wall of a Barn (Editor's Note—Modern readers to whom the meaning of this word is not clear may translate it freely). Into this Knot Hole opened in upon a Two-by-Four. The Two-by-Four formed a Narrow Shelf back of the Knot-Hole and it was upon this Narrow Shelf that the Sparrow undertook to build her Nest.

Now it is most Unfortunate that the Scottish Poet did not know Sparrows as he did Mice and Men. Nevertheless our Sparrow proved the wisdom of his Observation in a most Convincing Manner.

After the manner of Sparrows she worked Industriously, bringing Spears of Dry Grass to her Knot Hole. Once within, she placed them upon the Two-by-Four and thus began the building of a Nest. But now Howled the Winds of Adversity. They found entrance through the Knot-Hole and Blew the carefully placed Spears of Dry Grass down upon the Floor Beneath.

But the Sparrow had the Courage of her Convictions and was not Deterred by the Howling of the Winds of Adversity. Day after Day she labored bringing Yet Other Spears of Dry Grass to her Narrow Shelf wherewith to Found a Nest. But the Winds of Adversity would not Abate and Thus as fast as they were laid the foundations for her nest joined their fellows upon the Floor Beneath.

This Process was continued for Days and Weeks. The Spears of Dry Grass were brought regularly, Day by Day, but the Winds of Adversity saw to it that a Nest never developed therefrom.

The weeks of Labor were not without their Results, however. For as Time went by there Accumulated upon the Floor Beneath the Narrow Shelf a Mound of Dry Grass. Now this Mound of Dry Grass was Without Form or Comeliness but it had the one Virtue that it was Large. And it became steadily Larger. Day by Day. Since the Well Known Detroit Product occupying the Barn did not require Bedding (obs.) the Mound of Dry Grass was left Undisturbed. At length it reached a Size many times that of a Sparrow's Nest, yet was it Not a Nest. But the Sparrow Labored On.

The Summer was Passing yet still was the Sparrow Undiscouraged in the building of her Nest upon the Narrow Shelf. Each Day she brought fresh Spears of Dry Grass and started the foundations for the Nest anew.

But Time went On. She had No Nest. Yet would Nature not be Cheated. One day she Laid an Egg upon her Nestless Two-by-Four. The Winds of Adversity were quiet that day but a gentle Breeze of Irony rolled the Egg from the Narrow Shelf and let it Fall upon the Mound of Dry Grass Beneath. Another day. Another Egg. It joined its Fellow upon the Mound of Dry Grass which was Not a Nest. At last a Third Egg joined its Predecessors. And there our Parable Ends.

The Sparrow was seen no more. To Show for her Summer's Work she had One (1) Mound of Dry Grass which was Not a Nest and Three (3) Eggs fated never to be Hatched.

This Parable is True. It will also serve Indifferently Well as an Allegory. Does our Sparrow ever Come to College? Do we ever see Institutional Characteristics exhibited in our Institutions of Higher Learning? Our Sparrow attempted to build a Nest upon Too Narrow a Shelf; our College Sparrow would likewise attempt to build an Education upon Too Narrow a Base. Our Sparrow had the Best of Intentions; so would our College Sparrow. Perhaps, indeed, he would be as Industriously Acquisitive as was she, gathering Facts and Facts and More Facts without Weaving them into a Unified Mental Structure.

And what of the Winds of Adversity? Surely the multitudinous Disturbing Factors which would surround our College Sparrow upon any Modern Campus are too well known to need detailing here. As in the case of the Sparrow of our Parable so here these Disturbing Factors would frustrate our College Sparrow in any attempt to make the Most of the Shelf, however broad, with which he was provided as a Base. And the Sparrow Might have safely built a Nest upon a Very Narrow Shelf had it not been for the Disturbing Factors.

Perhaps our College Sparrow could find a Better Use for his Narrow Shelf than as a Nest Foundation. Perhaps it was Never Intended for that Purpose. Presumably, however, he would as little realize that Fact as did the Sparrow of our Gentle Parable. And so at the conclusion of Four Years of College he would find, as did she, that he had to Show for his College Course only One (1) Miscellaneous Mound of Dry Facts where a Carefully Woven Educational Nest for his Mind should have been and Three (3) Embryo Ideas fated never to be Hatched.

PAUL A. MOODY

DR. PARKS TO LECTURE AT CHEMISTRY SEMINAR

Dr. F. B. Parks of the College of Medicine will speak on the subject of "The Chemistry of Nutrition" at the first of a series of seminars to be held by the chemistry department in Williams Science Hall, beginning tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The meetings, which will be held throughout the winter, are open to members of the faculty, to seniors specializing in chemistry and to all others who are interested. At each of these meetings, a paper prepared by some member of the seminar, will be presented for discussion.

I send my sweetheart postal cards because she likes open air males.

A Student-at-Large

As the editor asked me to be a student-at-large, which means he thought asking me to write an article for the Cynic I will do my best (which, after all, is the most a fellow can do) and will leave the rest to my patient and tolerant readers' judgments.

Music, as some of you will know, is my special hobby. You will, therefore, pardon the partiality of this article as it attempts to arouse greater enthusiasm and interest in this field, which is just what I hope to accomplish.

May I be allowed to ask this question: Why do so few students in the University take part in our musical functions and attend concerts, etc? Is it because of lack of understanding, lack of audience interest, or what? If lack of understanding is the explanation, our next difficult problem is how to overcome this.

Can we overcome it by staying away? Do we overcome any difficulty without meeting it face to face? It seems to me that in order to gain familiarity with this cultural field we must make it a point to come in contact with some of its phases as often as possible. Sometimes I have had the occasion to ask students, especially women, if they are going to a certain concert, and the most frequent reply is, in a casual manner, "I do not believe so. I have quite a bit of studying to do." Well! We all have studying to do, but after all the concerts given here in Burlington are so few and far between that I am sure no professor would fail a student if he devoted about ten nights a year to attending concerts rather than preparing his next day's assignment. I will admit that most of you will feel somewhat at a loss when you first begin to attend concerts, but if this is the case you should not be discouraged. Many concert artists play selections which only an artist himself may understand. This does not always happen to be the case, which is a great relief to many of us. Then, too, the real artist always selects several pieces which are not too complex for the general public, selections which have a catchy rhythm, familiar air or pleasing melody. Goodness, there are so many types of pieces that usually there is at least one selection on each program which you will enjoy and, after all, that is something. In time your vocabulary in music will increase and improve just as it does in any "language" if you adopt conscientious methods of training.

I am sure you will get a thrill when you first learn to recognize a piece or composer, and from that time on you will strive to become familiar with others. It is the beginning which is difficult, but after all isn't that true with everything? After we get the rough edges worn off we find the path easier.

Now I should like to consider music from the viewpoint of our audience at a concert given by Rachmaninoff, the Russian pianist, or perhaps by Harold Bauer, America's greatest pianist, whom we should recognize especially since he is an American, and since it is very difficult for one of our musicians to compete with those of other nations, especially of Russia and Italy. Well! Now in the audience are most likely people of all walks of life, some of whom are well educated and others not so much so. There is one program for the evening, which is planned in such a way as to interest the greater percentage of people in the audience.

This is, after all, as you can well imagine, a most difficult thing to do. Well! After each selection the customary thing to do here in America (I hear it is not often the case in some European cities) is to applaud. Usually people do so whether they feel so inclined or not, but after the concert is over you will hear different opinions from every corner of the room to the effect: "I thought his interpretation of that piece was marvelous." I never thought anyone could so well imitate the rippling of a brook." Another person will say, "I used to play Liszt's 'Hungarian Rhapsody,' but not until now did I realize the real depth of the piece." Well! You will hear any number of comments favorable or unfavorable, but since I wish to encourage our students to become as enthusiastic over music as Kake Walk or some of our other college functions I prefer not to discuss the negative side of the question.

Now I should like to consider this from Harold Bauer's viewpoint. This of course will not be as exact since I do not know how it feels to be an artist, while I have had many an opportunity to be among an audience. However, from the little I know and from the great amount which I conclude, I think an artist is working under great difficulties.

He doesn't know his audience and although he probably doesn't trouble himself much about it, he might have varied his program somewhat if he had known what his audience desired to hear. Sometimes the artist doesn't play any of his own compositions as the audience wishes. It gives one a great thrill to hear Harold Bauer, for example, play a selection on which he has been working. I believe nothing can inspire a student more than to hear a piece which he has been striving conscientiously to conquer. I do not think this happens very often, but when it does!

Now that I have gone into this lengthy discussion I wish to bring some points nearer home. What is wrong with the music department at the University of Vermont? It is young, but age shouldn't be a black mark. Nothing is wrong with the department. The difficulty is with you. Our department offers excellent training in theory, piano, voice, violin and organ, but you people do not take advantage of it.

You leave it to a minority, and it stands to reason that it is too big an undertaking for a few. One doesn't have to be a genius to take these courses, for if that were the case we wouldn't have any department. I am sure our music faculty doesn't expect geniuses. All they wish is the interest of everyone.

The department can't progress so rapidly as it should unless each and all of you work with it. If you cannot sing, play an instrument and are not theoretically inclined, you can still help by giving us a big hand at the concerts. The Women's Glee Club (and orchestra) had a large audience at their fall concert last Saturday night, but I think that probably seventy-five or eighty percent were parents, faculty members and adults, while the rest were college students. After having attended concerts in several other colleges this seemed like a very small percentage. Students usually feel it a privilege to be able to attend these, but here at Vermont I wonder if this is the case.

We do not have many concerts here. Perhaps if we had more the students would become interested in them, but, as it is, last year we couldn't even have the series of Burlington Symphony concerts. What is the reason? It seems that it is as difficult to get the adults interested in music as the students. In Boston and the larger cities musical concerts are extremely popular. Now why cannot we give Burlington a start along this path also? Our college can do it, and will do it, if you will help. We have excellent teachers, fine material and equipment, factors with which most of you are probably unfamiliar. If there is any doubt in your mind about any or all of these factors just step over to the music house and look things over.

I am sure I have more than taken advantage of your patience, so will close hoping to see you at the next and following concerts and musical entertainments.

CARLOTTA GRIMM.

Review of "The Winnowings"

By PROFESSOR W. E. AIKEN

The appearance of the November number of Winnowings gives the reviewer the opportunity to express satisfaction over the continuance of the undergraduate literary magazine. In my opinion none of the various "student activities" is more important; for, excepting dramatic work, and that in a different sense, it is the only chance, among such activities for creative artistic work. The importance of the impulse to attempt such work is great in its educative value, and is not to be measured wholly by its objective success.

The present number of Winnowings, though somewhat uneven in quality, averages well with previous issues.

The first article is the promised comment on Vermont literature, "Some Aspects of Vermont's Literary History," from the pen of Prof. A. W. Peach of Norwich University. In this article the emphasis is placed very sensibly on the local interest in the study of the literature of Vermont, rather than on any extravagant claims of merit. Vermont has produced no first rate authors, and rather few of the second class, but many of a certain merit whose work is of a interest in the social study of the state. If Professor Peach's discussion contained rather more specific information, it might be more effective, perhaps, in convincing any sceptic of the significance of Vermont literature.

Fiction is represented, first, by "Hired Woman," Janice Goodrich's prize story in the Tri-State Contest. In spite of my dislike for stories that transplant Russian gloom into New England hills, with insanity thrown in as a spicy addition, I am forced to admit that the atmosphere is well managed and the one morbid character well realized. I was disappointed, however, when the hill wife failed to poison her husband. Probably he deserved it, anyhow it would have been one more pleasant touch.

"Tales of Old Houses," by Margaret Rice, shows considerable mastery over the descriptive sentence, but as a short story it is over-[illegible] presses one as more [illegible] short story than as a [illegible] veloped tale.

In "Why the Little [illegible] Smiled," Dorothy Dix [illegible] as much as was [illegible] trivial a theme.

The personal essay [illegible] cult and easy. In "O[illegible] Elizabeth Hollis found [illegible] certain pleasant loqua[illegible] unexpectedness, the [illegible] and of phrase, that [illegible] for in this form is har[illegible] Justine Rogers, on the [illegible] "The Spell of the Riv[illegible] an excellent theme, [illegible] labored. The spell [illegible] about which the auth[illegible] reader never quite feels.

Winnowings offers [illegible] poems. Both are [illegible] "Second Sight," by Mary [illegible] gins well in the first [illegible] effective in the second [illegible] somewhat blurred and [illegible] the last. "History of [illegible] Frances Frost, combin[illegible] and mood with a very [illegible] is a difficult thing to e[illegible] and definite images, and [illegible] time produce the haun[illegible] of the prevailing mood.

The book chat column [illegible] ing as usual. But by what [illegible] ance does E. J. F. know [illegible] Maugham has expressed [illegible] opinion of the reputation [illegible] dy? One notes with inte[illegible] contributor's commendat[illegible] Sackville-West for avoid[illegible] perficiality usually as[illegible] cleverness." O wise you[illegible]

On the whole, the [illegible] nowings are to be congrat[illegible] There is nothing in the issue [illegible] worth attempting; the aut[illegible] better for successes, part[illegible] and partial failures alik[illegible] undergraduate critics wh[illegible] they can do better are [illegible] ahead and prove their [illegible]

The Mystic Pen

The ways of a woman are [illegible] queer.
Remember the days when [illegible] used to fear
A life without children and [illegible] drank beer?
The times sure are changing, [illegible] none of that here.
Propose to a co-ed and [illegible] sneer:
"I'll never get married, I want a career."

You know what that means. Hell son.

Horace, Epode III, in the most manner:

THAT GARLIC

The patricide who kills his [illegible] A sinful thing, should have [illegible] crop
Crammed full of fragrant [illegible] I vow
More potent than the [illegible] And how!!
This garlic sears my bone[illegible] me pant.
They must have grafted [illegible] the plant....
And if, old pal, you eat [illegible] again
I hope your girl friend [illegible] and then Avoids your osculation [illegible]
To seek the end that's fur[illegible] couch.

Fifty years ago today: Frank [illegible] riwell stepped up to the girl's f[illegible] and said, "Sir, I shall find [illegible] papers, though it cost me [illegible]

Twenty-five years ago: [illegible] well stepped up to the [illegible] said, in a voice quaking [illegible] "I'll save your cheetuld, [illegible] to go to the...

One year ago: Frank M[illegible] like a true son of his f[illegible] up to the president a[illegible] those nefarious scound[illegible] captured, though I exert[illegible] of my..." Who threw t[illegible]

"Where is your mother-[illegible] lass?" wheezed the old [illegible] ing room A.

"She's in the baggage [illegible] smiled Elsie Dinsmore [illegible] her six shooter.

A stude at Worceste[illegible] Austin. The last he [illegible] when he was giving it [illegible] bright stude must have [illegible] plug in the sink. Let [illegible] ing to the corporal's [illegible]

"I get the blues w[illegible] sighed the pink litmus

COBB ISSUES LATEST NEWS ABOUT 1932 ARIEL

[illegible] 1932 Ariel, when informed that they would receive photographs after to[illegible] 25

[illegible] had their photographs [illegible] Van Tine Studio and [illegible] yet returned the proofs [illegible] election must send them [illegible] Warren K. Van Tine Studio [illegible] Tremont St., Boston, Mass.," [illegible] Cobb, the editor.

[illegible] our finished pictures [illegible] before Christmas for use as [illegible] just conduct our financial [illegible] from this date, directly with [illegible] and not through the staff [illegible] the Ariel," it was said.

[illegible] deposit is necessary now [illegible] since on the orders will be [illegible] later 10.

Local Photographers

[illegible] having work done in Burlington [illegible] elsewhere by local photographers [illegible] required to have their [illegible] in the hands of the editor [illegible] beginning of the Christmas [illegible] in order to be assured [illegible] included among those in the [illegible]

[illegible] pictures from juniors and [illegible] from seniors are rapidly coming in. Those who have not [illegible] should place theirs in the [illegible] in the Old Mill corridor, [illegible] official bulletin board.

[illegible] on grinds has not yet been [illegible] as the art contest annually [illegible] competition in drawing sections started.

[illegible] affirms that the athletic [illegible] nearly up to date and that [illegible] sections are being planned, [illegible] represent unique and original [illegible] on the part of the staff.

All members of the freshman basketball squad, including those men whom the coach designates, will not be allowed to play interfraternity basketball.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sporting Editor—

All quiet on the northern front. Next is Vermont at Springfield in the annual Turkey Day tussle.

Indications point to a hard day for Vermont. The Springfield football team has been in the habit of beating the Green and Gold eleven and this season's comparative scores give the "Y" College a decided edge to repeat the trick Thursday.

That comparative scores are sometimes of little value may be shown by the fact that in the first part of the season the Massachusetts Aggies defeated Middlebury, but the Middlites trounced Norwich, who later beat the Massachusetts Aggies.

Springfield has in Owl and Blumenstock two backs far above the average. Both have played an important part in the Gymnasts' victories. Vermont had better watch them.

Capt. Leo Segal will play his last football game against the Gymnasts. Although with luck against him this season, Leo has been out with the team every day with either all his physical or moral support.

After the Middlebury fray Coach Dunn suspended practice for three days until Thursday. All the men welcomed the holidays and the lay off may have invigorated them with plenty of pep for the Thanksgiving Day game.

No matter how poor the records of either team may be, the Vermont-Springfield contest has always developed into a close, hard scrap and if the Catamounts only refuse to give up the fight, U. V. M. students will be satisfied.

ATHLETES REQUIRED TO MEET ELIGIBILITY RULE

Every student at the University of Vermont who represents, or who hopes to represent the institution in an athletic competition must read the following committee's statement. If he finds the requirements he must declare himself eligible in writing on a card to be obtained from the Athletic Council and filed with the director of athletics.

Statement

1. No student at good and regular standing in the University shall be eligible to participate in intercollegiate athletics with the following exceptions:

No student shall represent the University in any intercollegiate contest who hold the position of manager or of assistant manager or of head cheerleader who

a. is enrolled as a special or unclassified student.

b. is under warning or on probation, or failed of promotion at the end of his preceding college year.

c. has been a member of another collegiate institution, until he shall have been a student at this University for a period of one year.

d. has previously represented this or any other university for four years in such intercollegiate contest or who has received a Baccalaureate degree.

e. has played baseball on such teams as ordinarily come under the national agreement.

f. has not been a resident student at the University for one semester.

g. is declared for any other reason by the Athletic Council as unfitted to represent the University.

h. has not signed a statement as to his own eligibility and filed same with the director of athletics as provided in part two below.

2. Each student at the time of enrollment shall be given a copy of the rules of eligibility and shall be asked to sign an accompanying statement as to his personal eligibility. He shall file this statement with the director of athletics.

I hereby certify that I have read the rules of eligibility given above and declare that in accordance with the above rules I am eligible to represent the University of Vermont in athletic competition.

FEWER STUDENTS ARE UNDER WARNING IN ARTS

(Continued from page 1)

as follows: A (90-100 percent); B (80-89 percent); C (70-79 percent); D (60-69 percent); X and F (below 60 percent). An X indicates a failure which may be removed by re-examination. An F indicates a more serious failure and requires the repetition of the course without privilege of re-examination.

2. Students must have passed with a grade of C or above in more than one-half of their work,* (reckoned by semester hours) in order to be graduated.

3. A student who drops or is dropped from a course because of low record is considered to have failed the course. In certain cases extra courses may be dropped by arrangement without penalty.

4. Promotion and class standing will be determined by the number of credit hours of live record which a student has at the beginning of each college year.

5. More than fifty percent of the semester hours* of each student's enrollment must be passed at the mid-year examination period and at the final examination period, if that student is to be allowed to continue in college.

Any student who at mid-year of final examination receives X or F in fifty percent or more of the semester hours* of the subjects in the enrollment of that student, is dropped from the University because of low scholarship, unless allowed to continue by vote of the faculty of the college concerned.

Students having records that have been consistently low and generally unsatisfactory, though not necessarily under the provisions of the preceding paragraphs of this section, may be dropped for low scholarship at the discretion of the faculty.

May Not Re-enter

Any student who is dropped at mid-years may not re-enter the University during the same college year and is not eligible to take re-examinations, except by special permission of the faculty of the college from which the student was dropped.

A student who has been dropped on account of low scholarship, if permitted to re-enter the University, shall do so "under warning." Students who fail very seriously or who on repeating do not pass in more than half the enrolled work are dropped without the privilege of return. Faculty actions pertaining to the dismissal of students on account of low scholarship are subject to review by the President of the University.

*Not including Military Science and other extra-curriculum subjects.

6. A student is considered delinquent in scholarship if more than one-half of the total hours* of his entire live record is below the grade "C," or if he is conditioned at the end of any semester or is failing during any semester in one-third or more of his work reckoned by semester hours. Any student may be placed "under warning" or continued "under warning" whenever the entire previous scholastic record in the opinion of the faculty, warrants such action, even though the record of the preceding semester may not strictly indicate such action.

7. A student who is delinquent in scholarship shall be given a "warning" by the faculty of the College in which he is enrolled. While "under warning" the student shall be debarred from membership in athletic teams, musical, dramatic, and debating clubs, publication boards, and other analogous University organizations until improvement in scholastic standing shall warrant participation in such extra scholastic activities.

8. Due notice of removal from under warning must be received by the student from the Secretary of the College in which he is enrolled, before full University standing is regained. Parents of students under warning will be notified. Notices of warnings and of their removal will be mailed to the last local address of record and the student will be considered to have been officially notified when the notice is mailed whether it is actually received or not. Duplicates of these notices will be mailed to the President of the University and to the chairmen of the Senate Committees on Athletics, Non-athletic Activities and Scholarships.

9. In the College of Arts and Sciences removal of a student from under warning is at the discretion of the Faculty. In general the Studies Committee to which power is delegated does not remove students from under warning unless the grades of more than one-half the total hours of entire live record are C or better and unless work done during the preceding semester is of satisfactory grade.

*Including Military Science.

Vermont Eleven To Attack Springfield in Closing Fray

Three-day Respite Following Midd Game Will Bring Players Into Line Against "Y" Men ThanksgivingDay

SPORTS SYMPOSIUM

Hurry Up" Yost, as they call the coach of football at the University of Michigan, is one of the oldest and most revered men in his profession. Under his wing have developed such stars as Benny Friedman and that All-American end, Osterbaan. It is his plea that officials of the highest intelligence and efficiency, coupled with experience should be selected to guide the game through its sixty minutes of play. Mistakes have occurred in officiating but all humans err. His review on the technical phase of the gridiron is most illuminating to most students of America's outdoor sport.

Football's court of last resort holds sixty minute sessions on a chalk line field.

Each session is final, for advocates (the teams) and arbiters (the officials) never meet again in the same capacities.

A football game is not a parcel of land or a mass of metal of certain value to remain constant during judicature. It is a constantly moving procedure with every play depending upon the decision of the play before it, and decision upon each play must be final and without appeal.

Yale's Illegal Score

Yale recently made a touchdown against Georgia when a southern fumble of a kickoff was plucked from the air by Barres, who continued across the goal line.

After the game an appeal to the rule book disclosed that Barres should have been given the ball on recovery, at Georgia's 20 yard line. It was a rule officials, players and coaches apparently forgot.

None can tell what might have happened had the correct decision been made. Yale, with the ball on the 20 yard line was in position to score and might have done so.

Time taken up and the defensive year and fear on Georgia, might have prevented the third and winning Georgia touchdown.

They're Only Human

Because of the mistake, an entirely different game was played from the one which would have followed the correct decision. It might have been a better Yale game? It might have been a better Georgia game? The game was played, however, and decided at New Haven, October 11, 1930.

Mistakes in rules or mistakes in judgment perhaps have occurred in every football game. The exact facts possibly are known, about very few plays.

Such conditions will continue as long as we humans play games with line decisions as in tennis; first base decisions as in baseball and out of bounds and many similar decisions as in football.

Experienced and honest judgment of the facts are all we can expect in games. The effort should be to prevent as many mistakes as possible by securing men of greatest intelligence, the largest experience and the most proved efficiency as officials.

The arbiter's decision must stand where every play is dependent upon conditions produced by proceeding decisions.

In football the court of last resort is on the chalk-lined gridiron. Officials make human mistakes, but are an important part of football.

In the handling of the greatest game known to the college men of the United States, we have not found a better method.

FIVE U. V. M. GRIDSTERS WILL SEE LAST FIGHT

After a three-day respite, following the Middlebury game November 15 during which time no practice was held, the Catamount grid machine will set out Thanksgiving Day for Springfield where its personnel will push the throttle forward to its utmost in an attempt to crush the "Y" men in the season's closing game.

Vermont has never won from the Gymnasts since the series was started and the chances of emerging victorious from the coming fracas are rather slim. The Catamounts have had an unusually poor season winning only one game and tying another in eight starts.

The sole victory was the 13-0 affair with the Coast Guard from New London, Conn., while the tie with our Norwich Cadet rivals, may be considered a moral victory.

Amherst, Union, Harvard, Rensselaer, New Hampshire, and Midd all defeated Vermont while the Red and White of Springfield has lost but one game, and that to Harvard.

In fact Springfield is leading the New England small colleges in scoring with victories over Mass. Aggies, Boston University, New Hampshire, Middlebury and others.

The stars of the Gymnasts are all Vermont boys. Bobby White of Spaulding, Owl and Dressel of Springfield and Johnson, a lineman from Bellows Falls.

It will be the last game for Captain Leo Segal, Bill Heaton, "Remie" Aronson, "Dinny" Dinniman and "Peep" Parks so Vermont fans can rest assured that the Green and Gold will present the best defense and offense possible.

The probable starting line-ups:

Vermont		Springfield
Segal	l.e.	Blumenstock
M. Cohen	l.t.	Greenman
G. Collins	l.g.	Ball
Dinniman	c.	Thompson
Farmer	r.g.	Peterson
Aronson	r.t.	Rae
Parks	r.e.	Wilson
Winant	q.b.	White
Heaton	l.h.b.	Dressel
T. Collins	r.h.b.	Owl
Manning	f.b.	Simonson

TITLE TENNIS TILT MAY BE PLAYED THIS FALL

According to an announcement from the department of physical education, there is still hope of completing the tennis tournament this fall.

There is just the final match to be played to decide the college tennis championship for the year 1930-31. The two finalists are Captain-elect Fred Tupper, '32, of the Vermont netsters and Larry Palmer, '33, veteran letterman of last year's team.

FAME OF VERMONT MAN REACHES DISTANT POINT

Followers of this page will be surprised to learn of the distant fame of some of the characters herein depicted.

Rev. Harry Butman, '23, now Congregational minister at Milton and former pastor of the First Congregational Church of Key West, Fla., has received word from a friend that what caught his eye in a recent issue of the Cynic was the dubbing of the former as the "Flying Parson" in track.

After the freshman basketball season begins, Mr. Butman will display his talents on the court with the freshmen. A new title will then be secured for our athletic theologian.

Editor Balances High Spots In Two Classic Grid Contests Saturday

Joe Levin

In practically identical scores Harvard triumphed over the Elis 13-0 and Notre Dame, after a hard fight won over Northwestern 14 to 0. Being the two feature games of the week's football classics, statistics comparing these two games coached by Arnold Horween and Knute Rockne should be relished by football statisticians.

[illegible] Harvard in trouncing Yale made four less first downs, amassing [illegible] The Horsemen hard pressed for victory clearly indicated their superiority in this department, managing to accumulate eight against their opponents six. Rushing finds the Wildcats ahead piling up 114 to 90 yards [illegible] Yale whacked Harvard similarly, gathering 127 to the Crimson's [illegible] Both losers gaining more through rushing. Acknowledged finesse in the [illegible] attacks gave the Crimson and Notre Dame their deserving victories, [illegible] gaining 142 to 73 yards through the air while Notre Dame shutout [illegible] Henley's eleven 60 yards to 0.

Harvard 13-Yale 0

Statistics of the Game

	Total Y.	H.
First downs	9	5
Net gain by rushing, yards	127	90
Forward passes attempted	29	9
Forward passes completed	9	6
Net gained by forward, yards	73	142
Opponent's forwards intercepted	3	2
Lateral passes attempted	3	2
Lateral passes completed	1	2
Net gained by laterals, yards	3	6
Punts	14	14
Distance of punts, yards	557	546
Average of punts, yards	39	82
Fumbles	5	1
Penalized through penalties, yards	50	35

[illegible] Wood personally conducted [illegible] of Cambridge to a victory by [illegible] his two passes of 33 yards [illegible] Art Huguley. Harvard attempted nine and successfully made [illegible] the mighty atom, Albie [illegible] heaved twenty-nine for the Elis [illegible] twenty go astray, some of [illegible] narrowly missing the hands of receivers. Sargent's incomplete [illegible] Taylor on the 4-yard line was [illegible] the Elis came to scoring. [illegible] fourth period Yale tried six- [illegible] clicked on nine.

[illegible] Stevens came into Harvard's [illegible] and when his men attempted [illegible] and found one successful. Ben Ticknor's boys batted [illegible] and in their specialty combined two. It was the threat of [illegible] son's laterals that spread the [illegible] secondary defense and left a wide [illegible] channel down the center of the [illegible] the forward passes.

[illegible] ing the Elis have a slight [illegible] totaling 557, to the Crimson's [illegible] the average on the four- [illegible] was 40 yards for the disciples of Eli Yale and thirty-nine for [illegible] Harvard.

[illegible] proved fatal to the Bulldogs. Dropping the pigskin [illegible] while the Cambridgemen [illegible] on three occasions. Harvard once and recovered.

[illegible] this on tap," said the director [illegible] showed the chorus a new step.—[illegible]

Notre Dame 14-Northwestern 0

Statistics of the Game

	NW.	N. D.
First downs	6	8
Yards gained rushing	114	90
Forward passes	9	12
Forwards completed	0	4
Yards gained, forwards	0	60
Forwards intercepted by	2	3
Lateral passes	0	1
Laterals completed	0	1
Yards gained, laterals	0	15
Number of punts	8	8
Distance of punts, yards	283	273
Runback of punts, yards	25	26
Fumbles	2	1
Yards lost, penalties	40	50

Schwartz's 22-yard run in the fourth quarter accounted for the first Notre Dame score while Dan Hanley's plunge through center after the interception of a Northwestern pass paved the way for the second.

Schwartz's passing was the feature of the South Bend air maneuvers. Attempting twelve, N. D. connected on four. Northwestern was simply outclassed in this phase, completing not a single one out of nine. Schwartz's 50-yard pass to Conley missed the latter's fingers by inches.

Mullins on a pass from Schwartz for a gain of 15 yards was the only lateral. Knute Rockne's tarzans attempted. This weapon was not in the hepertoire of Northwestern.

Capt. Hal Bruder's eleven was by a slim margin superior to Captain Conley's men in the art of punting. Eight in toto were tried by both with the men from Evanston aggregating 283 yards and the Horsemen piling up ten less. The average making thirty-six for the former and thirty-five for the latter.

As in the H.-Y. game fumbling was disastrous to the cause of the Conference eleven, twice fumbling within Notre Dame's 5-yard line after uninterrupted marches down the field. It was this weakness that proved fatal.

Blankets will be presented to the letter men of the senior class by Key and Serpent Society the evening of the Football Hop, which is scheduled for December 6.

The dance is given annually by the sophomore class and although arrangements have not yet been completed it is expected they will be immediately following the Springfield game.

MILITANT LOWERCLASS MEN DEBATE TONIGHT

(Continued from page 1)

at a dangerous angle and there was a glint in his eyes that would

WCAX BROADCAST LEADS OFF WITH PIANO RECITAL

Broadcasting from station WCAX of the University of Vermont Friday evening, December 12, at 7:30 and featuring Miss Miriam Marston of the department of music in a half-hour program.

Piano compositions by classical, as well as modern composers and the major sonata and string trio will be used in order.

The program as announced from the WCAX microphone by Prof. Leon W. [illegible] is:

8 P.M.

1. Piano Recital. Miss Miriam Marston, Instructor, Department of Music
   a) Gavotte in B Minor Bach-Saint-Saens
   b) Sonata Moonlight Beethoven
   c) Impromptu in E Major Chopin
   d) Etude in C Minor Chopin
   e) Etude in D Flat Liszt
   f) Liebe Traume Liszt
   g) The Lake at Evening Griffes
   h) Prelude in C Sharp Minor Rachmaninoff
2. Talk. Fall Care of Shrubs. Mr. C. H. Brooks, Vermont Extension Service
3. Talk. Prevalent Poultry Diseases. L. M. Greene, Poultry Pathologist, College of Agriculture
4. Talk. Fighting to Maintain the Tariff on Maple Sugar and Syrup. A. H. Packard, President, Vermont State Farm Bureau Federation

NEW FACULTY ADVISOR SYSTEM AT VERMONT

(Continued from page 1)

b. Begin promptly to go through [illegible] of work.

c. Make rapid review before beginning advanced work.

d. Make a rapid preliminary survey of assigned material, reading again for essential facts and details.

e. Pause at brief intervals the essential ideas of what you have read.

f. Form the habit of working out your own concrete examples of all general rules and principles.

g. Take a moderate amount of notes at science, using a system of abbreviations, and then rewrite these notes daily, amplifying them into an outline.

h. In memorizing, learn by whole rather than by parts. In committing to memory it is better to read aloud than to read silently and better to read rapidly than slowly.

Advisors for the women students: Mrs. Adams, Professor Bassett, Miss Blanchard, Miss Brown, Miss Cummings, Miss Davis, Professor Douglass, Miss Morgan, Miss Nutty, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. VanDyke. Advisors for the men students: Professor Aiken, Instructor Brand, Professor Burrows, Mr. Carleton, Professor Carpenter, Professor Carroll, Professor DeForest, Professor Donahue, Mr. Hartwell, Professor Jacobs, Prof. J. F. Lyndsay, Professor Peairs, Professor Stinetord.

PROF. MOODY COMMENCES FIELD ZOOLOGY COURSE

[illegible]

SGT. CONNER PROMOTED TO OFFICE OF CAPTAIN

[illegible] U. S. Congress, of the battalion of engineers between [illegible] University of Vermont has been promoted to a captaincy in the engineers as a result of correspondence work since the World War.

During the war Captain Conner attended two corps for the commission [illegible] of officers and in 1923 became a [illegible] instructor. Through [illegible] promotion he was promoted to [illegible] in 1926 and to [illegible] a vacancy appeared for a captain's [illegible]

STUDENT UNION SELECTS VARIOUS ZONE CHAIRMEN

Mae Tinkham, '31, Erlene Little, '31, Helen Donleavy, '31, Norma Carder, '33, Rhoena Barnes, '32, and Margaret Watsins, '32, have been appointed zone chairmen for the year 1930-31.

Their duties will be to take charge of night-out slips and to see that they are handed in regularly. All out-of-town undergraduate women students, not living in dormitories, are required to file these registration cards of [illegible] in conformance with the Student Union regulations.

MILTON CLASHES WITH J. V. DEBATERS SUNDAY

Parishioners of the Milton Congregational Church and residents of the town listened to a forensic tilt between a local team and the U. V. M. Junior Varsity Sunday evening on the topic "Resolved that woman's emergence from the home is more beneficial than detrimental to American life."

Jerome Bullis professor at the Milton High School, Leon Latham, Burlington Attorney and Harry Butman, '34, pastor of the Milton Church upheld the affirmative. P. J. LaCrosse, Fred Householder, '32, and J. E. [illegible] argued the negative. A large audience was present and keen interest was manifest both by facial expressions and by the applause of the audience.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPT. HEARS EDUCATION TALK

Miss Caroline Bixby, the educational director of the Glenwood Range Company, addressed the members of the home economics department Monday, November 24, at 3:00 o'clock in Morrill Hall.

Miss Bixby gave another talk on topics of interest to home economics students at 7:30 o'clock the same evening.

These lectures were sponsored by the Home Economics Club to stimulate the interest of the members in household management.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

All Wool
Vermont Sweaters
Just the sweater for the numeral men of the Freshman Team.
$8.00
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

PROFESSOR MYRICK TO ADDRESS DEWEY CLUB

[illegible] be of unusual interest to students and faculty for discussion.

The last meeting of the club was a [illegible] Vermont [illegible] interesting [illegible] Vermont [illegible] discussed several new lines of research.

[illegible] meeting of the Jerry Dewey Club, after the next one on Wednesday, December 3, will come on Thursday, December 18, Tuesday, February 24, Tuesday, March 24, Tuesday, April 28 and Tuesday, May 19.

DONAHUE CONDUCTS NEW COURSE IN NAVIGATION

Prof. J. F. Donahue, of the department of mathematics, is conducting a special extra-curricular advanced course in navigation this semester.

Much practical general knowledge of the subject is being presented and the members expect to cruise south next summer aboard the seventy-foot yawl, "The Keel," which is owned by H. M. Chatterton, '31, and is now at Biddeford Pool, Maine. The members in the course expect to receive much practical experience in navigation.

Co-ed Notes

Freshman hygiene lectures began this week to be held Mondays and Fridays.

Classes in bowling will start the week after Thanksgiving.

The archery classes coached by Major Williams are held Mondays at 3 p.m. and 4 p.m., Tuesdays at 2 p.m. It is reported that the classes are progressing rapidly.

The sophomore and freshman dancing classes directed by Miss Baldwin are held at the Vermonters' Club house. The sophomore work at present is: a ballet dance, "Valse Etude," and a tap dance, "East Side."

The freshman dances are: a ballet dance, "Butterfly," and a tap dance, "Broadway Chant."

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
SHAMPOO $ .50
MARCEL $ .50
FINGER-WAVE $ .75
43 Church St. Phone 538

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

MEN'S DOUBLE QUARTET ASSISTS WOMEN'S CLUB

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] deVolt as violinist [illegible] a group. Mozart's [illegible] Hasbrouck Kreisler, Bel[illegible] Sweet Fern" and The Fisher[illegible]. These two ballads were widely [illegible] and had as their central theme [illegible] nature. "Sweet Fern" with its soft, peaceful harmony was in delightful contrast to "The Fisherman," a jolly, carefree song with the tang of salt water expressed in its tune.

Musicianly Support

Miss deVolt has gained a reputation for skill and range of achievement, always kept to the same high level; [illegible] Musicians' accompaniment was [illegible] and in keeping with the subject. The piano accompaniment supplied by Katrina Munn and Mary Morris was accurate and masterful.

All groups participated in the chef-d'oeuvre of the concert, Brahms' "Song of Fate." It was written for a chorus of mixed voices with the setting given by the orchestral accompaniment. With Miss deVolt as concertmaster the music of the flutes, violin, clarinet and cello, gave a skillful performance that was haunting, vivid and powerful. The chorus reached the climaxes of this number with assurance and delicate shadings of feeling. The whole effect was one of beauty and harmony.

In the finale, "Hail Then, All Hail," Miss Putnam as soloist added a fine interpretation with her sweet, clear voice to the work of the Glee Club.

At a Student Union Council meeting held Tuesday, November 18, Marjorie Bracken, '31, gave an interesting report of her trip as delegate to the Student Union Convention in New Jersey.

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet will hold an important meeting either Tuesday or Wednesday of this week at 4 o'clock. Watch the bulletin board for the definite date.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed ..... $ .50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

The Old Bushiva
Full Fashion Silk & Wool
Stockings
$1.00 Pair
Great for campus wear. Fits snug at the ankle, well known Phoenix make.—Eight leading colors.

1931 ARIEL
$4.50
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

Society Notes

DELTA DELTA DELTA

[illegible] Wednesday. [illegible] the meeting a [illegible] served and officers [illegible] The committee in charge [illegible] Hubbard, Dorothy Keefe [illegible] Baker.

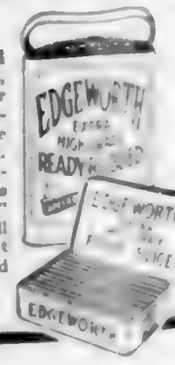
SIGMA GAMMA

Sigma Gamma will [illegible] Saturday evening. [illegible] their rooms on College [illegible] fessor and Mrs. Campbell [illegible] Mrs. Doune will be chaperones. [illegible] nyr's Vermonters will [illegible] music.

KAPPA DELTA

The active chapter will [illegible] mage sale at the Star [illegible] North Winooski Avenue [illegible] vember 29.

Statement



The freshman woman [illegible] House referred to in the [illegible] the CYNIC asks: "Why [illegible] more gentleman (?) in [illegible] himself to be 'strung along [illegible] line' for two hours, [illegible] in serious disaster the [illegible] in an hour test? Owing [illegible] that hour tests are announced [illegible] ahead of time, we wonder [illegible] afflicted sophomore will [illegible] sode as a precaution in the [illegible]

This interrogative statement concludes the series of our [illegible] cerning the Allen House.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

From California to New Haven
... the FAVORITE pipe tobacco of college men is—
WHEREVER college men pause to load their pipes you'll see the familiar blue tin of Edgeworth!
At California, at Yale, at W[illegible] and Cornell . . . in America[illegible] ing colleges and universities you will find Edgeworth the favorite smoking tobacco of the college man.
College men everywhere [illegible] to the appeal of pipes [illegible] cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their choice. Try Edgeworth yourself. Taste its [illegible] ural savor that is enhanced immeasurably by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process.
You will find Edgeworth [illegible] nearest tobacco shop. 15¢ [illegible] Or, for generous free sample address Larus & Bro. Co., [illegible] St., Richmond, Va.
EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO
Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1930 — NUMBER 20

COLONEL POWELL WILL LECTURE HERE TUESDAY ON MYSTERIOUS NEPAL

Distinguished Explorer and Author Calls This Country, "The Last Home of Mystery"

HAS TRAVELED IN ASIA RUSSIA, AFRICA, MEXICO

Received Special Invitations From Native Princes To Visit These Eastern Lands

University Lecture will ampus Colonel E. Alex- who will give his illus- "The Last Home of the University Gymna- ning of Tuesday, Decem-ell widely known as the many popular books of exploration is also con- of the great explorers of ame as a war corre- Europe during the great Belgium before the a week he accompanied army in its 1914 cam- he was with the German victorious advance into still later saw the war French and Italian fronts.

Roving Experiences

have sent him on special commissions into Russia, Mexico, the Far East There is scarcely a cor- earth he has not visited. of his experiences he writes clear, forceful and most entertain- fashion.

The lecture gives the story of a ney from Ceylon through India and into the isolated native Kingdom of Nepal in the Himalaya Mountains. The splendid colored slides, with which the lecture is illustrated, portray the quaint peoples, the golden ples the poverty and barbarism, and a thousand and one extraordinary scenes along the line of this "amazing journey."

Nepal itself can be visited only by special permission of the Maharajah, but Colonel Powell had an official invitation from this and many other native princes. He accordingly visited the princely courts and native states as guest and under highly favorable circumstances for seeing the life of the land.

As author of many books of travel and exploration and as a popular lecturer, Colonel Powell has an enviable known for lucid and interesting style. He seems to combine a flair for the unusual and the important.

What Colonel Powell has to say of India and the political situation in eastern Europe is based on personal knowledge and observation.

I wanna go home!!!

PI PHIS BUILDING NEW CHAPTER HOUSE HERE

Land has recently been purchased by Pi Beta Phi for the purpose of erecting a house for that fraternity. Pi Beta Phi was the second fraternity to make its appearance on Vermont campus and its house will be the third on the hill. Plans are being prepared by a local architect for an English type house, of brick and stucco, to accomodate sixteen girls and a matron. The work is being carried on with the help of Incorporate Alumnae of Vermont Beta of Pi Beta Phi.

The lot, which was purchased from the University of Vermont, is at the northwest corner of South Prospect and Cliff Street. It has a frontage of 152 feet and a depth of eighty feet. If the plans go through, work will be started on the new fraternity house in the spring and the house will be ready to be occupied in the fall.

V. C. A. OFFERS THANKS WITH PLEASANT DANCE AT B. H. S. GYMNASIUM

Thanksgiving night found the Burlington High School gymnasium a scene of mirth and music. The annual Thanksgiving Dance, sponsored by the Vermont Christian Associations of the University, was on. Every college student who could come was there, and gave thanks in a fitting manner for all the benefits he had received during the year.

The men's and women's V. C. A. boards give these dances every year especially for the benefit of those who are unable to go home for the holiday.

The dance was put on under the management of James E. Wood, '33, director of entertainment of the V. C. A., and he was able to secure the Black Pirates orchestra for this affair.

Prof. and Mrs. F. D. Carpenter, and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Towne acted as chaperones.

This week introduces another series of fraternities dances. The place, chaperone and orchestra of each are given below.

Delta Psi will hold a Pledge Dance this Friday night at the Delta Psi house. Dr. and Mrs. P. K. French and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell will chaperone. Joe Lechnyr's orchestra will furnish music.

Another Pledge Dance will be held at the Phi Mu Delta house, Friday, November 28. Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Stineford will chaperone. The "Black Pirates" will furnish music.

Zeta Chi will have an informal dance this Friday at the Zeta Chi house. Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Millington and Mr. and Mrs. George Ward will chaperone.

Phi Sigma Delta fraternity will hold an informal social at their new house Friday night. Prof. and Mrs. F. D. Carpenter and Mr. M. H. Laatsch will chaperone.

"MERLAND" IS SCENE OF ACTION IN THIS FALL'S DRAMATIC PRODUCTION

Play Will Have All The Sound Effects of a Great Mexican Revolution and Other Off-stage Noises

METCALF CALLS THIS A "CHALLENGE TO CAST"

"Undoubtedly the most dramatic performance ever chosen" declared Harvey Butterfield, leading man of the "Queen's Husband" which will be presented December eleventh by Masque and Sandal and Wig and Buskin. The play, which was originally presented exactly two years ago in the Playhouse Theatre of New York with Richard Young, is full of action and political intrigue. Revolution, internal turbulence—even domestic scenes between King and Queen, husband and wife—make up much of the action. Then, too, there is the love plot: the marriage of the Princess and the Royal Prince, planned by the Queen, and the elopement of the Princess and the King's Secretary.

The play is laid in the land of Merland, an imaginary kingdom lying somewhere between Denmark and Scotland. The ruler of the country is, in reality, the Queen; in name, the Queen's husband. The play presents a fine picture of court and political intrigue. The second act is perhaps, the most dramatic. Here, the King, always allowing himself to be overruled by his dominating wife, begins to assert himself. The climax is reached when the King countermands the dictator's order to shell the tenement districts, and with a marvellous tact he brings the Queen to his side against the dictator, forcing the latter to resign.

King Diplomatic

None of the characters are especially protypes of any particular person, although the Queen herself, willful, ambitious and dominant, resembles Queen Marie of Roumania; the King, tactful, diplomatic and with a fine sense of humor, resembles more the English type of sovereign. Indeed, diplomacy stands him in good need in his constant disputes with his royal wife. Later, however, when he has to face the Queen after the elopement of the Princess, he says, going out:

"Yes, I will be going to the Cathedral now. But I will be coming back shortly. (The King goes out bravely, but with a pronounced consciousness of impending doom.)

The play is delightfully humorous, with many clever and witty lines. The acts are bursting with action. "A powerful play" said the coach, Professor Metcalf.

Rehearsals are going on at the rate of five a week. There are still two weeks for further preparation, at the end of which time, the play will be presented, it is hoped, to an appreciative audience.

One of the hardest workers is the property manager. While many of the usual props have to be furnished, there is also the necessity of many off stage noises. In the second act—the act of the revolution—there must be the sounds of shells, guns, cannon, machine-gun batteries, galloping horses, in fact all the fixtures of a Mexican Revolution. Nevertheless, the cast, the managers and Mr. Metcalf are positive that all will go off well.

Said Mr. Metcalf thoughtfully, "This will be a real challenge to the ability of the cast."

And Harvey Butterfield and Elizabeth Corey, leading characters came back with, "Take it right off your mind—the cast will shop up.

LEADER OF 4-H CLUBS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Miss Martha E. Leighton, U. V. M. '23, assistant State 4-H club leader, will act as girls' chaperone for the New England Delegation to the National 4-H Club Congress, which is to be held in Chicago, November 30 to December 6.

Three delegates are being sent from Vermont Clubs, Roger Whitcolm of Springfield, Ida M. Mathews of Middletown Springs and Leona Page of Groton. The trip is planned so that the members of the party may visit Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

Frosh Triumph Over Sophs Two to One in Cup Debate

Large Audience Packs Old Chapel As Hard-fighting Lowerclass Teams Battle Over Much-discussed Question Of Freshman Rules Tuesday Night

KAKE WALK HAS HAD A LONG AND INTERESTING HISTORY AT VERMONT

Research By Cynic Reporter Discloses First Occasion Was Rather Wild and Weird

Kake Walk, eruption extraordinary of college spirit, an event unique to the University of Vermont, as no other college either in the past or the present has ever produced anything similar to it, once again looms on the University social horizon, and soon the campus will resound as of yore to the familiar tune of "Cotton Babies." The various fraternities whose turn it is to compete, now that Thanksgiving is over, will immediately begin to devote both their time and thought to the rehearsing of stunts and kake walkin'.

Spirit, such as this entertainment displays, is found wherever there have been colleges. In the days before the Civil War it was shown at Vermont when, each year, the boys exhibited their skill in military tactics. A sort of "peerade" was the next method that the students developed for giving vent to this excess of spirit, while some years later it became customary for the junior and senior classes to put on some fantastic minstrel show the evening before the freshman-sophomore football game. Although these events did by no means provide the background for the development of the Kake Walk, they do show that Vermont has always had the "pep" that any occasion might demand.

Back In '93

In the Cynic of December 23, 1893, lost among the various items in the "Locals" column a perseverting reporter brought to light the following historic topic: "The social event of the season was the 'Kake Walk,' held in Armory Hall, December 19th. A large number of students were present and social hilarity was indulged in until a late hour. The costumes were very appropriate and formed a feature of the entertainment. The faculty and ladies were conspicuous by their absence." Thus was the humble beginning and even more humble announcement of the mighty Kake Walk as we now know it.

Let us see what Dr. E. G. Randall, one of those who took part in the origination of the Kake Walk, writing in the Cynic of March 16, 1907, has to say about this original performance. "F. T. Sharp, after one conference with a few of us in No. 6 South College, wrote a poster inviting all those who might be interested to partake in a Kake Walk to be held in the old 'Drill Hall' under the chapel the next evening." (This drill hall has since been divided into the rooms occupied by the college store, department of education and others.) "The nature of the festivity was left to the ingenuity of the participants and the spontaneity with which all classes entered into the affair augered well for its perpetuity as a college custom. Very little was done in the way of preparation of the hall. Lanterns and lamps were produced to help out with the illumination. A goodly cake, notwithstanding it was an issue of the 'hash house' was provided. To quote from the '95 Ariel: 'Three squeeking fiddles a melodium and a trombeone of brass furnished the tom. And merry was the musik as they played, and joyous was the daunce as any mayde.' • • • • • "There were couples from the highest in military glory to the most abject barbarism of the South Sea Islands. There were highly tinted but comely ballet maids, howbeit of masculine proportions, clowns and gypsies. Hilarity was the order of the day and everybody did stunts. The Kake Walk itself was the concluding event. A procession of couples marched around the hall several times, and then each couple separately doing their grotesquest best. • • • • • There is no recollec-

(Continued on page 4)

PROFS AGAIN JUDGES IN THIS YEAR'S MEET

A two to one victory, carrying with it the possession of the Bailey Cup for one year, was awarded last Tuesday night to the freshman debating team maintaining the affirmative team, of the topic "Resolved, that freshman rules should be abolished." The event was the annual freshman-sophomore debate, held in the Old Mill Chapel.

Marshall Howe, Harry Putnam, and David Jenks upheld the affirmative and the negative team comprising Russell Colburn, Pearlon Donaghy and James Bigelow met them on the other side of the question.

The three judges were Prof. M. H. Laatsch, G. H. Nicholson, and L. S. Hartwell, all on the University faculty.

Howe opening the constructive argument for the affirmative, maintained that freshman rules, designed to aid the freshman, in reality endanger class spirit and create an unhealthy antagonism.

The method of education by coercion he stated, is ineffective. The means in this case do not justify the goal which is ostensibly sought. In this University he pointed out, there are other means which are being employed which do accomplish much more toward adjustment and orientation of the freshmen.

Colburn Opens For '33

Colburn, maintaining the negative, analyzed the freshman rules, as set forth by Boulder Society, into two distinct groups, viz: Practical and traditional. Traditional modes of behavior, he stated, are demanded because the instinctive habits they engender are worthwhile.

He stated that the freshmen have always worn the freshman cap with pride. Only this year, he stated, mentioning the Cynic, was it suggested that the class disobey the rules.

In complete detail he pointed out the practical and traditional values of each individual rule. The freshman rules were much worse in the 'old days' and have been made much milder. Where formerly the freshmen were forced by signs to refrain from certain practices, today they are told not to do so and complete obedience results.

Describing the individual psychological effects of freshman rules, Butman took up the affirmative construction as second speaker.

He declared that although the ostensible motive of Gold Key and Boulder in maintaining the rules seemed to be promoting the best interests of the freshmen and the university, it is obvious that they are doing it purely for their own sadistic enjoyment.

He discussed the history of the present senior class, declaring that the rules are Boulder's attempt to compensate for the severe initiation they themselves received as freshmen by demanding the obedience of the present class.

Citing collegiate examples, he said that freshman rules and hazing bring out all that is evil in men and the effect on the individual is exactly opposite to that desired.

There are no cocky freshmen because the incoming man feels he is a stranger in an alien land. Coercion always arouses resistance, he stated, citing psychological theories as evidence.

Enthusiasm cannot be forced into a man. It must arise spontaneously. School spirit comprises not obedience to rules but finer intangible things, such as friendship, work and play.

Donaghy Appeals to Tradition

An appeal to traditions was the argument of Donaghy, the second negative speaker. Freshmen must wear their green and gold caps to be true men of Vermont. Such regulations as are imposed, he maintained, are not hardships.

That freshman rules provide amusement for the upperclassmen, are absolutely useless, and defeat their purpose was the contention of Jenks, the concluding affirmative speaker. Enforcement of the rules, he said, is undoing

(Continued on page 4)

Formal Opening of Robert Fleming Museum Planned for Next June

"The chief aim at present," declared Mr. Horace B. Eldred, assistant director of the University Museum, to a reporter, Monday, "consists in making the new museum a real educational center where one may acquire a great deal of first-hand information. At present I am engaged in packing a lot of material," he continued, "of which only the better specimens will be displayed and the rest made available to anyone interested in the particular subject represented.

"We are planning to have a great deal of descriptive data accompany each exhibit," he said, "and we intend to use specimens to illustrate fully the collected material." All labelling will be by means of photography, to present a uniform appearance. The cases themselves will be white on a background of black."

Construction on the new building, to be known as the Robert Hull Fleming Museum, began on May 5, 1930, and the contract held by the H. Wales Company of Meriden, Conn., calls for its completion by April 11.

Meanwhile the outside work on the building is finished and the staging

The Inside Work

The plastering inside has commenced and will proceed throughout the month of December. In all about fifty laborers are employed, including workmen of all trades. The building, patterned somewhat after the Ira Allen Chapel style of architecture, faces on Colchester Avenue and will help to complete the long-desired University quadrangle.

Many new additions are planned which are not included in the present museum building. A children's room catering especially to children will be an added feature and will be under supervision of Mrs. Ann Perkins Middlebrook. This room will contain a large aquarium, a blackboard and a stereoptical machine.

The children's department will cooperate with the local teachers and periods will be set aside in which the children of the graded schools may listen to lectures and instructive talks on subjects they are studying.

Opening Planned

University officials plan to have an official opening some time around Commencement, and hope at least to have the exhibits arranged.

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

The official student newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Leonard B. Brush, '32
George R. Nelson, '32
Managing Editors

IZOLIS LINMAN, '31
Editor-in-chief

ART S. CORBIN, '31
Business Manager

Hilda S. Smith, '31
Women's Editor

Leonard M. Fraser, '31
Sports Editor

Associate Editors

Raymond W. Cobb, '32 Joseph C. Carter, '32 Alice O. Keyes, '32 Fred W. Hinrichsen, '32

Contributing Editors
R. J. Jones, '32
S. Dempsey, '32

Dramatic Editor
E. J. Fitzgerald, '31

Feature Editor
Edmour A. Germain, '31

Assistant Editors

J. E. Bigelow, '32
J. B. Dow, '32
C. J. Killam, '32

W. G. MacDonald, '33
H. J. Shaw, '33
J. C. Shaw, '32

R. M. Spitler, '32
S. L. Tayer, '33

Assistant Sports Editors

J. S. Lacy, '32
J. Monahan, '32
F. Tupper, '32

Assistant Editors

J. H. Forrest, '32
G. M. Fienberg, '33

Harriet Wright, '31
Women's Athletic Editor

Luella Ross, '31
Women's Associate Editor

Gladys Press, '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Mildred Gile, '32
Helen LaRocca, '32

Rosetta Harkness, '32
Margaret Ann Martin, '32

Margaret Mower, '32
Hope Ranslow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers

R. G. Hurlburt, '32
E. E. Tracy, '32
G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1891. Published semi-weekly during the college year.
All communications must be signed by the writer. Any local notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 3491 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol 49 November 28, 1930 No 20

"WHEN I BECAME A MAN, I PUT AWAY CHILDISH THINGS"

Never was the utter indefensibility of freshman rules more effectively revealed than in Tuesday's Bailey Cup debate, when one of the best sophomore teams in years went down before the freshmen in a hopeless effort to prove the desirability of retaining the rules.

For back a dozen of the rules the sophomores had no other defense than the sacred cow of tradition, which one of the freshmen properly characterized as the red herring designed to withdraw attention from one's shabby apparel. We reprint the defences advanced by the sophomores for each of the men's rules. They are the best we have heard.

1. The freshman cap. Defence: Tradition; also, "it acquaints the freshmen with each other."

2. Uncovering when entering a building or meeting a professor. Defence: A simple mark of respect.

3. Entering the buildings by certain doors only and avoiding the north side of College Street. Defence: Tradition.

4. No smoking in college buildings. Defence: The buildings would catch fire.

5. Carrying matches. Defence: "You may be lost in the woods some night."

6. The campus hello. Defence: A mark of democratic spirit.

7. Lacking songs and yells attending games and smokers. Defence: Promotes college spirit.

8. No mustache knickers, white sweaters, etc. Defence: Tradition.

To reassure the skeptics, we hereby take oath that the above is a truthful representation of the best arguments yet advanced in defence of freshman rules.

With these arguments we have no quarrel. We cheerfully admit that a lighted cigarette stub can burn up a building and that the campus hello encourages democratic sentiment.

But why, then, should we permit the freshman class alone to preserve our traditions or carry on our democratic tradition? Why, indeed, should the freshman be made the sole vehicle for the preservation of any of our traditions? If a college becomes finer and nobler when one hundred and fifty of its students cease to wear knickers, how much finer and nobler when five hundred students put away the detestable plus-fours. That college would be rich in tradition, indeed, whose front doors would remain forever locked and its north-side streets untrod. We, therefore, propose the following rules for the men of the University of Vermont.

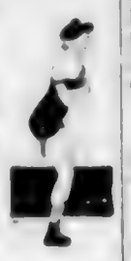
1. No student shall appear on the streets with head uncovered. The sophomores shall continue the organization called Gold Key to paddle offending freshmen; the juniors shall form an organization called Silver Key to paddle the sophomores; the seniors shall form an organization called Brass Key to paddle the juniors; and the faculty shall paddle the seniors.

2. The front doors of the Old Mill shall be forever locked; the north side of College Street shall be filled with traps. Such distinctive traditions will be worthy of preservation.

3. No student may sport a mustache, wear white sweaters, knickers, corduroy trousers or socks of any color other than white. This idea would embody much of the conventional uniforms of European universities, which is said to be their proudest tradition, albeit it has been held in these United States to be at variance with our concepts of democracy. However, as the sage remarked, "tradition is tradition" and everything you say against it doesn't count.

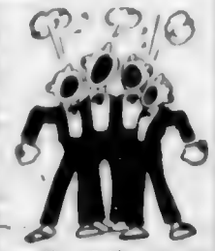
4. Since it is a dictate of etiquette that students salute professors, remove their hats when entering buildings, and do not wear prep school insignia, and since these have been made compulsory rulings, there shall also be included in the list of rules the whole of that monumental work, Miss Emily Post's "Etiquette."

In all seriousness, why should the campus hello be made binding on freshmen alone? The memory of unpleasant compulsion often restrains the sophomore or upperclassman from greeting the freshman he meets on the campus; certainly, this rule has not served to encourage students to greet one another on campus.



One freshman quoted this text in Tuesday's debate: "When I became a man I put away childish things." We commend the text to those upperclassmen who find it so difficult to remember that they are no longer in prep school.

The Mystic Pen



Continuing our short course in Hot Air for those who haven't the time for the intricacies (when sitting on the dictionary) of syntax.

Ode V To a Flirt

What slim young sheik with pink-toned hair
Deodored arms and sophisticated air
Embraces you, O Pyhrra fair
Behind my back, when I'm not there?
I surely do pity that ill fated guy
It won't be so long before I'll hear him sigh
Bemoaning his fate and your changeable ways.
Though he now feels you love him
Through passionate days
He hopes you'll be faithful—I felt that way too
Variety seems just the right thing for you
So I've put up my gifts and retired from the fight.
But you'll cast him out for another some night!

You folks are all well acquainted with the members of our dashing football team. But have you ever met the gentlemen that helped them to whatever success they obtained? Who are they? Why just scrutinize the tonsils of the group on the left or right, and meet the cheering squad of U. V. M. If, at any of the games you hear any sounds from the stands they were only those issuing from the well-oiled larynxes of the aforementioned quartette. It was with great difficulty that we snapped a picture of these men in action as they all belong to the band, and usually have their labial appendages wrapped around some horn or other.

The Boop-a-Doop Craze Comes to College

"Come on, Vermont, the game's in the soup!"

We want a touchdown. Boop-a-doop!"

"This morning, gentlemen, we shall discuss the four classes of nouns. All nouns ending in ein, heit, ung, uberstrasse and coolidge are feminine, boop-a-doop."

"The future of the drama in the high school depends upon the authority felt by the user of correct American, boop-a-doop."

"In discussing the present state of the market I can only say boop-a-doop," said Roger Babbitt in an interview today.

The photographer for the Mystic Pen was right on the job yesterday. He caught a rare pose of Thornwell Lincoln Soft, '34, exulting at the news of the birth of his third baby boy. This blithe young frosh is a great advocate of companionate marriage. The mother could not be reached at a late hour last night. It is not expected that the new arrival will interfere with Soft's pursuit of his studies. He divulged that he was almost caught up with them.

Popular misconceptions: That the Medics have nothing to do but stand on the Medic steps and ogle passers-by. Which, by the way is a fine art. Here is the week's program of a certain Medic G. (person who does gardening): On Sunday night he sleeps; Monday to the Majestic; Tuesday, Baby Golf; Wednesday, parlor date. Thursday, Strong; Friday, Study; Saturday, outing to Winooski. When Flynn's opens up this bright young man will have something to do on Fridays.

Embarrassing moments: When your borrowed R. O. T. C. cap slides over your ears, and a few thousand fans go hysterical in the stands as you march down the field with the band.

Hurrah! It's Chris Columbus. How Jolly, we are discovered! ! !

We have heard of bulldozing, finagling, finessing, putting one over and so on . . . Which moves us to remark
The head of the house of the Hapsburgs and such
Is young Archduke Otto, and papers say much
Of his plans for the throne; yea, he stands out alone.
But what in the world is a putsch?
A putsch? Yea, say, what in the world is a putsch? ? ?

Embarrassing moments: (this is too good to keep) The petite lil blonde that was telling her awed friends all about the cost of her new mink coat when 'Red,' the official campus hound, ambled over, snuffled it angrily and began a vocal lament of the fact that he missed the feline slaughter that was necessary to produce the thing.

But mother, did the stork bring Ozzie too?

Intercollegiate News

If there is one interest in the university which should continue through out the student's life, it is an interest in good literature. Such interest should not be confined to any one department. The library and lectures give every student an opportunity to make the acquaintance of the best books and what is written and said about them. The friends made at college may drift to the ends of the earth but you can still have the books you learned to make your companions at college.—McGill Daily

Miss Hazel Winter, 18, is the only blind girl of her sex at Oxford, to which she won a $350 scholarship.

Thirteen thousand students at the University of Waseda, largest university in Japan, have gone on a strike because they objected to the distribution of baseball tickets to a game between the University of Waseda and Kelo University. Waseda was defeated in the game. The students demanded that a formal apology be made by the president for the manner of the distribution. They also seek the establishment of self-governing bodies in each division of the university.

Without a doubt the most unique college band in the country is the famous Kilty Band of Carnegie Tech. It follows the football team on all trips, and as the kilties swing into march step with white knees flashing from beneath the short skirts of their Scottish uniforms they are certainly an inspiring sight. In addition to its striking appearance, the organization has achieve near perfection from a musical standpoint. Recently the kilties followed the team to the University of West Virginia. Arriving after a dusty trip they had their pride severely wounded by being forced to parade through Morgantown with dirty knees.

More than sixty colleges and universities in the country are offering courses in aviation this year with a total enrollment of 2,406 students.

Democracy, an unknown quantity on the Harvard campus for many years, is about to be introduced on that campus, if efforts being made by President Lowell and the other administrators are successful. The administration is seeking to bring an end to the exclusive cliques at Harvard, and to have the undergraduates of all classes and degrees of wealth mix more freely.

The cost of living for students at the University of Paris is not to be compared with that of students in the United States. A student in the Latin quarter here can live on $230 for two semesters, and his tuition, unless he takes technical training, is $5.00 for the year.

Theta Sigma Nu, University of Southern California, was installed as Omicron chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity in a two days ceremony at the Elks Temple in Los Angeles, November 6 and 7.

All men students at the University of Southern California must wear a white shirt and a rooters hat in order to be admitted to football contests.

A sophomore at Ohio State University dines on a dime a day. He eats quite heavily when he goes home for his week-ends, but during the school week he sticks strictly to his dime a day policy. Last year on the same diet he managed to gain twelve pounds. He spent $360 during the whole freshman year. Three dollars of this sum he threw away for entertainment, much going for picture shows, his favorite pastimo. With a year's experience behind him he expects to exercise much stricter economy this year.

Alleged failure to shout "fore" before driving a ball on the Schenley Park golf course in Pittsburgh will cost Maurice A. Nernberg, attorney, $1,000 if a recent verdict returned by a jury stands. The jury held that Nernberg's negligence in sounding the warning entitled Leon Benjamin, who was hit by the ball, to $1,000 for the loss of four teeth and other injuries. Benjamin said he was putting on No. 6 green when Nernberg drove from No. 7 tee. They parallel, and witnesses said Nernberg's stance was not calculated to send the pellet on a straight line for No. 7 green. Nernberg will seek a retrial of the case, he indicated.

A man is known by the company he keeps buying drinks for.

Bits of Bunk

"Believe It Or N..."

After two years ... of an anti-religious ... receive the degree of ... ism. Nearly half ... are girls.

The University of K... a short course for ... students who are within ... the bottom of the ladder.

Dr. Meyer Nimkoff ... the University of South... has opened "The Inst... riage and Family Gu... of the courses deal w... and Money," "The Ps... Wife Who Works," ... Problems of the First Y... riage" and after one ... the course in "Mother ... Menace of American di... granted.

Sophomore (who is ac... fair co-ed): Hey, Frosh ... Obliging Freshman ... you have a cigarette wit...

College Prof. (to d... Now, if you divide six ... cats, what will you have? ... Wise guy in the rear ... kittens!

Old Salt: So you want ... a yarn, boys?
Boys: Yes, a true one.
Old Salt: Right. I'll t... the time when I was ... nibals. Exchange.

Famous last words: "I ... on the nineteenth of De... sure the Dean won't mind ... a few clases."

The Injustice of It

Shall I, growing wan and pal...
Die before I get to Yale?
Or slowly chew my finger...
Awaiting bids to William...
When I think of Saturdays
Taking graceless men to "J...
I wonder if they think they ... smart
Not to ask me to house parties."

Main to Rocky

Hello. Haven't seen you ... a...
I was just saying the ... day was too bad. You'll have to come dinner soon. Sunday will do. I have asked you sooner but I h... three narratives and two ... topics
you know I never do my ... work
Some people study all the ... time think you ought to get some ... in you're young and then I ... also work better when I just have to ... a good thing my family ... suspect a Phi Bete, but I told them ... I came—here's my room ... have had a chance to talk ...

Co-ed Notes

Ruth Spear, '31, was ... tea held at Grassmount. ... noon, November 23, at ... in honor of Mrs. Willard ... house director there. Dor... '31, and Lorella Ross, '31, ...

Basketball for the co-eds ... the week of December 1. A ... be posted in the "Y" room ... signatures of those who ... out for the class teams.

Freshman hygiene began ... November 24. Classes will ... to be held at two and three ... Mondays and Fridays. Dr. ... Kent, M.D., has charge of ... tures.

On account of the suitable ... this week several classes ... cer again at the Weather ...

Class basketball begins ... December 2. Watch the bulletin ... for posters on which to sign.

This year the Health ... soliciting ideas regarding ... problems of the girls at ... possible remedies for them. ... vice of several faculty ... already been given and ... the girls in the form of ... "Y" room. The Health ... wants the opinion of ... women, who, after four ... lege life, doubtless have ... good ideas on the subject. ... Council has sent out letters ... seniors asking for their ... expect to be able to report ... interesting results.

The home economics ... ing duties in the Practice ... week are: Barbara LeBa... tess, Agnes Shaw, '31. ... tess, Mailia Putnam, '... manager, Elsie Tryon, '... Cannon, '33, waitress, El... ward, '34, and Frances ... helpers.

SPORTING NEWS

VERMONT FENCERS TO INITIATE SEASON WITH MONTREAL JANUARY 29

Schedule Contains Nine Matches But Only Two Are to be Held at Home

[illegible] fencing team will be in [illegible] condition when it com[illegible] the fast-stepping teams on [illegible]edule," states Major Ed[illegible] coach. The new mentor [illegible]mpressed with the show[illegible]mbers of last year's team, [illegible]le Captain Perelman, a [illegible] captain Basiliacato, foils[illegible]berman; Musgrove, foils[illegible]worth, foilsman, saberman [illegible]d Manager Shuman, foils[illegible]

[illegible] the freshmen there are [illegible]perienced men who have [illegible]art at preparatory schools [illegible]tanding masters. Also [illegible]aberman, and Kaufman, a [illegible] men of experience at the [illegible] are giving the varsity veter[illegible] competition.

[illegible]e has been arranged with [illegible]m Dartmouth, Norwich, M. I. T., Boston University, Boston College, McGill, and Montreal A. A. A. [illegible] is being aroused with [illegible]ity of a trip to New York [illegible] attendance at the Northern [illegible] at Norwich. As an added [illegible] tentative arrangements have [illegible] for entrance in the Canadian International Fencing Tournament. The first engagement on the [illegible] is to be held here with the Montreal A. A. A. on January 29. There will be two trips to Montreal, one to Hanover, N. H., and one to Boston.

The public is invited to attend an informal match to be held in the auxiliary gymnasium tomorrow evening at 4:30 o'clock. The master of ceremonies will be Major Coffett.

The schedule follows:

January	29	Montreal A. A. A., here.
February	1	McGill, there.
	21	Dartmouth, there.
	21	Montreal A. A. A., there.
March	1	Norwich, there.
	8	Norwich, here.
	27	M. I. T., there.
	28	Boston University, there.
	29	Boston College, there.

DEAN ADDRESSES MEET OF KAPPA PHI KAPPA

A joint meeting and open house [illegible] of the Kappa Phi Kappa, the [illegible] honorary society was held Wednesday night, November 19 in the [illegible] office in the Old Mill. Prof. [illegible] Dean of the English department addressed the meeting using as his [illegible] "Short Story Writing in Vermont Ten years ago." Prof. D. C. Douglas of the education department explained the activities of the society.

Professor Douglas in an interview stated that no definite arrangement of [illegible] activities has been planned for the year, but that these ideas progress from time to time and are carried out by the student members who are allowed to take active and initiative part in the meetings. This was the first meeting of the year and any [illegible] who were not members of [illegible] were allowed to be present. [illegible] regular meeting a member [illegible]nity gives a talk on some [illegible] interest to the members and [illegible] are given the opportunity [illegible] the speaker on anything [illegible] the educational aspect of [illegible]ty.

VT. DELEGATES ATTEND NATIONAL CONFERENCES

Miss [illegible]tha M. Terrill, professor [illegible]nomics has returned from [illegible] Land Grant College Conference, the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection [illegible]eld from Wednesday noon, [illegible]9 until Saturday noon, [illegible] in Washington, D. C.

[illegible]ference was a national one, [illegible] President Hoover, who gave [illegible] address. At this meeting [illegible]ired and fifty extension [illegible] of Mr. Hoover's selec[illegible]reports on their findings. [illegible] three thousand invited [illegible]ttended the conference [illegible] were Prof. Harry Per[illegible] University of Vermont, [illegible] Marjorie Luce of the Ex[illegible]tment, in addition to Miss [illegible]

[illegible] said it is a sure sign of [illegible] when a Scotchman throws [illegible] Christmas tree.

SPORTS SYMPOSIUM

Press Questions Fate of Football

Football is again the storm center of controversy in the college and public press. The public attitude toward the game, the problem of recruiting and subsidizing of players, and the whole question of the place of athletics in university life, are receiving their annual discussion

This fall the situation is arousing an unusual amount of feeling, with the recent pronouncement of Grantland Rice, sports writer, and Bill Roper, coach of Princeton University, that American football is definitely on the decline. They declare that it is being approached as a business, not as a sport; that too much emphasis is being placed on winning, and too little on sportsmanship; in a word, that football is dying. These statements have not passed unchallenged. Several western college newspapers arise to defend the game, and to insist that the strictures of Mr. Rice and Mr Roper do not apply to the West, however true they may be in the East Professionalism in football is being attacked in the Middle West. The University of Kansas was recently dropped from the Big Six Conference because two of its varsity players were found to be receiving payment. Commenting on this the Daily Nebraskan places "the blame squarely on an athletic-minded public These wolves are to blame, in all probability, for the present catastrophe at Kansas." On the other hand, the University of Nebraska and Missouri as well as other large universities in trying to guard against the danger of athletes transferring simply for the sake of playing football, have instituted an eligibility rule which forbids transferred students engaging in any activity until they have attended the institution for one year. This rule is causing a great deal of protest at Nebraska as being too extreme, and barring valuable athletes from taking part in activities which really need them, and in which they are interested. It is undoubtedly the effort to avoid the stigma of professionalism which has led to this rule.

At the other extreme is the opinion of the editors of the California Daily Bruin, who deprecate the subterfuges now being used to secure and keep good football players, and who see no other solution to the problem than "open athletic subsidies, openly arrived at." This stand assumes that good athletic teams are absolutely necessary to the development of a university. In fact, it seems to declare that the university exists for athletics, and not the athletics for the university—a point of view which has been attacked by other college newspapers An editorial in the Columbia Spectator comments: "We do not believe athletics are doomed to professionalism. . . We should like to see some encouragement given to a return of the amateur spirit. . . The only deduction to be made from it (the California editor's declaration) is that the expenditure of funds for books, for the establishment of professorial chairs, in brief, any money not spent on extra-curricular activity is just so much coin of the realm that has been scattered to the winds."

College football is in a strange position. Some colleges are attacking it as merely "a form of intoxication for the spectators" (Oregon Daily Emerald); others are defending it as the mainspring of university life, and urging more financial support for it; and while athletic experts are pronouncing it dying, thousands gather weekly to watch it.—N. S. F. A.

College Pay Urged For Football Stars

Frank payment of college football players in preference to giving them opportunities to work their way through college was advocated by Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, Florida, in an address to the students of the Collegiate School, 241 West Seventy-second Street

"It is my opinion that if we pay our football players in material things or jobs we might just as well pay them cash," said Doctor Holt. "Almost any college will welcome a player of repute, though few will offer him outright a salary for his winning efforts. Most of them let him tend a furnace or mow lawns to win his way through.

"Why not pay him cash for the work which directly attracts people to the college stadium and brings money to the college athletic association? Whether he gets money outright, or pretends to earn it in his spare time, it is all the same thing.

"I do not wish to give opinion that I advocate professionalism in college athletics. I certainly believe, however, that open professionalism is much to be preferred to a professed amateurism that looks askance at paying players but rewards them on the sly for their athletic ability."

CROSS-COUNTRY SQUADS CLOSE MEDIOCRE SEASON

Both the varsity and frosh cross country teams closed their seasons Saturday with a defeat at the hands of Middlebury

The varsity under the excellent leadership of Capt. E. Wilder defeated the Norwich harriers but lost to both Amherst and Middlebury

The frosh closed a successful season although losing to the Middlebury frosh and Saranac Lake High School. They defeated Norwich by a score of 26-17, excellent work being done by Schippe, Wooding and Lunna.

The prospects for next year's varsity team are very good, with Captain Wilder returning and most of this year's varsity, and also the return of this year's frosh team.

LARRY PALMER WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeats Fred Tupper, Jr., In Tournament Finals by Scores of 6-4, 3-6, 7-5 and 6-2

At last the tennis tournament has been completed. In the finals Larry Palmer, '33, of Winchester, Mass., won the University of Vermont tennis championship for 1930 by defeating Fred Tupper, Jr., '32, of Burlington. The match was close and hard fought and was won by scores of 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, and 6-2.

By virtue of this victory Palmer secured permanent possession of a small cup and won the privilege of having his name engraved on the Aldrich Memorial Tennis cup, a trophy which has been in competition since 1923.

Last year the fall tournament was never completed and very nearly had the same result this year in spite of an early start. The final match was delayed for nearly a month, because of bad weather and an injury received by Tupper, one of the participants. Tupper, a junior, is captain of the varsity tennis team and one of the best all-around athletes in college being a member of Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity. Palmer, a sophomore, is a football and baseball man besides being a crack tennis player.

OFFERS THREE AWARDS FOR ECONOMICS ESSAYS

Three prizes consisting of cash awards, gold medals, and diplomas are offered by the Italian Chamber of Commerce, New York, for student essays submitted on the economic relations between Italy and the United States.

It is an annual contest, open to graduate students and to seniors in American universities and colleges, irrespective of nationality.

The essay submitted may be specially written for this contest or it may be a final course essay.

The subject of the essay may be any subject clearly falling within the following general fields,—preferably to be treated with special reference to the following subjects:

Trade, industry, agriculture, finance, merchant marine, railroads, public work, hydro-electric plants, land reclamation, commercial education and related subjects; problems or phases of the export trade from Italy to the United States; economic development of Italy's colonies

The successful candidate in each of these general fields will receive three prizes: (a) A gold medal presented by that ministry or department of the Italian government in whose field the winning essay has been written; (b) A cash prize of $100 presented by the Italian Chamber of Commerce in New York; (c) A diploma presented by the above office

For complete details and instructions consult President Bailey or Dean Swift, or write to the above office at 225 Lafayette St., New York City.

Sergeant Conner reports most favorably on the women's rifle team The following high scores were made this week: Edith Pritchard, '31, Lenda Walker, '33, with 100 as score and Evelyn Slayton, '31, with ninety-nine.

The Health Council is ready to send out letters to all seniors, asking for suggestions for the betterment of health problems of the college. All enclosed cards must be returned by December 5.

Basketball Candidates Open Practice for First Contest

Twenty-five Men Report to Coach for Pre-season Training—Squad Will be Increased After Yesterday's Game

ELIGIBILITY RULES MADE FOR INTER-CLASS GAMES

Practice Hours Are Reserved For Teams In Inter-Class Basketball Tournament

With the limited time available for inter-class basketball practice the following times have been already reserved

Seniors—Tuesday 4:00 to 5:30 p.m. and Thursday 1:00 to 2:00 p.m.

Juniors—Wednesday 1:00 to 2:00 p.m The time has been set back to this hour because the women occupy the gymnasium from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m on Wednesday.

Eligibility Rules for the 1930 tournament are.

1. Members of the varsity squad and men who have won varsity basketball letters at Vermont or any other college are ineligible.

2. Members of the freshman first squad are ineligible, these to be selected by coach "Archie" Post.

3. (a) All members of the academic colleges are eligible.

(b) Those medical students who are candidates for bachelor's degree in June, 1931, are eligible for the senior team.

It is hoped that the remaining classes will arrange their days for practice as soon as possible.

COMPETITION OPENED IN ESSAYS ON NEW TARIFF

The Free Trade League offers three prizes, respectively, $100, $50, and $25, in a competition open to students majoring in economics in any American college for a fair, non-partisan dissection of the new tariff, with regard to the interest as consumers of our 123,000,000 Americans and in view of the relations of farmers, wage-earners and salaried workers as both producers and consumers in face of the reduced purchasing power of the dollar, and with reference to the industries claiming permanent benefit from the protective tariff.

The papers will be judged by three members of the American Economic Association, and those proposing to compete are requested to send their names promptly and to submit their papers before December 15, 1930, to the Free Trade League, Room 908, 2 West 45th Street, New York.

The League reserves rights of publication of the winning papers but will give specific permission to the authors and to newspapers and others desiring to republish. There are no rules or regulations but compactness of statement will be counted a merit.

NOTICE

There will be a Mortar Board meeting Monday afternoon, December 1.

The German Club, Deutsche Verein, will hold a meeting Friday, November 28, at the Alpha Chi Omega house. A one act play will constitute a part of the program.

Freshman basketball candidates report for business meeting at 4.00 o'clock this afternoon in the auxiliary gym.

Freshmen who want to scrub basketball for numerals report to E. T. Grant, Monday afternoon at 4.00 o'clock in the gym.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

SUN LIFE INSURANCE, DEC. 6, OPENING GAME

During the past week Coach Prentice has given his charges plenty of hard work in preparation for the opening game of the 1930-31 season scheduled with the Sun Life Insurance Company of Montreal on December 6. During the practice sessions, a review of all the fundamentals in pivoting, passing, faking, dribbling and shooting has been held

The squad numbering at present about twenty five men will be increased shortly after the finish of the football season, when Ed Winant, Skip Bedell, Tom Collins, Cliff Tilly, Hank Durfey and Peep Park are expected to report At present Coach Prentice has three of last year's letter men at work, namely, Captain Wally Hargent, Fred Tupper and Bob Tobin, in addition to three members of last year's Kitten quintet, Ray Talbert, Ed Mahoney and Jerry Farnell Frank Pires, last year's varsity shortstop on the baseball team, is another candidate from whom much will be heard from as the season progresses

Coach Prentice will be under a handicap in not being able to use the candidates which will have necessarily reported late, due to participation in football, but after the first game, the squad will have its full strength and it is expected that a fast, smooth working team will be moulded together.

The complete schedule for the season follows:

Basketball Season 1930-1931

December	6.	Sun Life Ins., here
	10.	Clarkson, here
	13.	McGill, here
	18.	Dartmouth, here
January	9	New Hampshire, there
	10	Harvard, there.
	13.	St Michael's, here
	15	Dartmouth, there
February	5.	St. Michael's, there
	7.	Lowell Tex., here
	10.	Middlebury, here
	12.	Norwich, there
	14.	Springfield, here
	19	McGill, there
	20	Sun Life Ins., there
	24	Middlebury, there
	26.	Norwich, here
1931
March 6 and 7.		Interscholastic Basketball Tournament

Florence Huntley, '32, was appointed by the Y. W. C. A. cabinet as a representative at the Fellow Student conference at Hartford, Connecticut, November 14 to 17

Alice Hoyt is the newly elected freshman representative on the W. A. A. Council

Women are asked to watch the bulletin boards for notice of the coming campaign for W. A. A. freshman membership

Although the official membership campaign has been completed the Y. W. C. A. still desires members; any one who for one reason or another did not sign up and who wishes to do so should notify any member of the cabinet.

All women please hand in their W A A. points before December 3 Awards will be given at the student union rally to be held December 5

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.

Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.

Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies.

Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

Dewey, Vermont Alumnus, to Lead Jury in Devising Ideal Curriculum

[illegible]

[illegible] of New England school

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1930 | NUMBER 21

Students Named For Survey Of Rules In Nine Colleges

Resolution of Faculty-Student Council Results in Appointment of Five Seniors and Three Juniors to Investigate Freshman-Sophomore Relations On Other Campuses

... composed of five ... juniors was appointed in accordance with ... adopted at its last meeting of the Faculty-Student Council, ... freshman-sophomore ... colleges.

... of the committee are ... Maynes, Hugh Mattison, ... Bride, Frances Bowles, ... Paul Westin, Fred ... and Orson Jay.

Four In Class Societies

... Mattison and McBride are ... Boulder, and Westin of ... the societies which, ... Gold Key, have constituted the organized defense of freshman rushing the past few months. ... the defence in the Faculty-... Council. Cowles is chairman ... A. and is president of the ... Conference. House-... news editor in the CYNIC ... appointment in all literary activities ... has earned his letters in ... and baseball.

... men appointed have fraternity affiliations, four belonging to ... organizations which maintain ... at some of the colleges ... represented. Maynes belongs to ... Mattison to Sigma Alpha ... McBride to Alpha Tau Omega, ... Sigma, Cowles to Sigma Delta, Householder to Lambda Iota and Bolles and Westin to Delta Psi.

A tentative list of colleges to be investigated includes Bowdoin, Bates, New Hampshire State, Dartmouth, Williams, Amherst, M. A. C., Middlebury and McGill.

Wherever possible, a college will be investigated by both a junior and a senior, but no more than two men are expected to visit any one college. The investigators will interview administrative officers, class societies, editors and other prominent students, in an effort to ascertain what rules are enforced there on freshman men, to what extent these rules are enforced, by whom and in what manner, their origin and recent changes made in them, as well as other phases of the matter.

Created By Council

The creation of an investigating committee was proposed as the principal business of the first meeting of the Faculty-Student Council this semester. At that time the Council appointed a committee to devise a plan of procedure. The report of this committee was adopted in all essential respects by the Council at its second and latest meeting and provision was made for the appointment of the investigating committee.

REPRESENTATIVES FROM BETHLEHEM STEEL CORP. TO LECTURE THURSDAY

Grover Brown Will Tell of Opportunities Offered By the Concern—Technician Describes Steel Industry

MANUFACTURE OF STEEL TO BE SHOWN BY MOVIE

Part I

Opportunities for students desiring to enter the employ of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the manufacture of steel will be the subjects of a two part motion picture lecture to be delivered by Grover C. Brown Thursday evening under the auspices of the deans of the College of Engineering and Arts and Sciences.

The time and place of the lecture will be announced from the bulletin boards.

The policy of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation is to select men from different parts of the country rather than from any particular college, and so the lecture should be especially interesting to students.

The first part of the lecture will be an explanation of the opportunities and training activities of Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Mr. Brown will describe the method of application for a position and the final selection of men. He will consider the training course of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the system of rating, the requirements, the compensation paid during the preparatory course and the probable earnings after having completed the course. The departments of the company in which college men are employed and the requirements of the various positions will be some of the subjects which Mr. Brown will discuss. This part of the lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides.

Part II

A motion picture lecture will be given by the technical lecturer of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation dealing with general subject of steel manufacture. This will include transportation and handling of raw materials, blast furnace, manufacture of steel by the open hearth process, the rolling of Universal plates at Sparrows Point, a looping bar mill at the Lebanon Plant.

It will feature the operation of one of the largest and latest rolling mills user for rolling our Bethelhem wide flange sections. In addition brief mention will be made of the fabricating equipment and outstanding jobs turned out.

Also in this part will be shown an air view of the Bethlehem Plant.

The mine of ore and coal will be briefly described in view of their relation to the steel industry.

In this part there will be shown features of universal interest such as machines which unload 12,500 ton vessels in four hours and a half, a battery of automatic nut-tapping machines having a capacity of 1,500,000 nuts a day.

The meeting at Vermont will be one of a series now being held among the eastern colleges. The series includes lectures at the University of Maine, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Poughkeepsie, Columbia University, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, M. I. T. and Harvard University.

EDITOR OF ARIEL SETS DEAD-LINE FOR PHOTOS

Junior Glossy Prints and Grinds Due Before Christmas Vacation to Insure Inclusion

Any junior who failed to secure pictures from Vantine's Studio and who does not hand in a glossy print by the beginning of the Christmas vacation, absolutely will not appear in the Ariel," was the statement made by Raymond W. Cobb, editor-in-chief of the 1932 yearbook.

"Furthermore, the questionnaires and honor lists are holding up the work now. A little cooperation on the part of the juniors and seniors would lighten the work immensely. The grinds are due by the beginning of the Christmas vacation so the entire section can be made up during the holidays.

"The art work is being done by Hammersmith, Kortmeyer, painters and engravers and will be finished within the next three weeks.

"Work on the Athletic section is proceeding well under the direction of Bob Maislen. However, since the board was not elected until very late last year the absence of athletic photos and general snapshots is felt seriously. Anyone having any snapshots would help by offering to loan them."

Other sections of the book are coming along fairly well, and according to all indications the book will appear on time this year.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO PRESENT NOVEL PROGRAM AT SOUTH HERO FRIDAY

Will Feature Instrumental Solos With Thirteen Classical and Secular Numbers

Rehearsals are being held every day this week and plans are completed for the staging of a concert by the Men's Glee Club Friday, December 5, at 8 o'clock, at the Town Hall, South Hero, Vt.

The concert under supervision of Prof. H. G. Bennett of the music department and J. O. Percival, '31, manager, will include several numbers sung by the chorus, a cello solo by David Jenks, '34, and a flute solo played by Robert S. Jenks, '32.

The complete program of the chorus follows:

1. Domine Solam Fac Patrinm Nostram Americam.
2. Gounod—Greek River—a Negro Spiritual.
3. Soldiers Chorus—Faust.
4. Since I First Saw Your Face—Thomas Ford—17th century.
5. Marching—J. Brahms—Double Quartet.
6. Song of The Lumberman—Holst.
7. A Hunting We Will Go—English.
8. Volga Boat Song—Russian.
9. Bierwaltzer.
10. The Three Doves—Italian.
11. Andalucia—Spanish.
12. What Shall We Do with the Drunken Sailor?—Chorty.
13. Champlain—Fisher.

The men's double quartet is composed of W. Kearney, '34, R. S. Jenks, '32, G. Rucker, '34, J. H. Jardine, '34, A. A. Scharbius, Jr., '32, N. C. Daigle, '34, G. W. Burroughs, Jr., '34, and J. O. Percival, '31.

A bus furnished for the occasion will start from the music building on College Street and proceed to the town hall at South Hero.

Christmas Concert

The annual Christmas concert presented by the University chorus will take place Sunday afternoon, December 14, at 4 o'clock in the Ira Allen chapel.

The Rev. Doctor Smart will officiate as chaplain of the day.

A program now being arranged will consist of most of the Christmas Oratorial by Bach and the cantata of the second day of Christmas. Handel's Messiah and a few Christmas carols will also be sung. The choir assisted by the University orchestra will sing with Miss Miriam Natilee Marston as organist and Miss Charlotte de Volt, concert master, playing the violin obligato.

This year a large number of students have become interested in the chorus, especially those of the Freshman class. The concert will be given by the combined men's and women's clubs.

COL. ALEXANDER POWELL SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT ON HOME OF MYSTERY

Noted Author and Explorer Will Lecture on Strange Kingdom in Himalaya Mts.

COLORED SLIDES WILL PORTRAY NEPAL TREK

America's greatest traveler, Col. E. Alexander Powell, who has just completed one million miles of world travel, will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium as the third speaker in the current University lecture series.

One of Colonel Powell's most recent journeys, that into the forbidden kingdom of Nepál, will furnish the subject matter for tonight's lecture which is entitled the "Last Home of Mystery."

There is scarcely a corner of the earth that Colonel Powell has not seen. He has dreamed adventures since early childhood. As the son of the biggest horse and cattle breeder in America, adventure became a natural part of his life. In his recent journey he traveled by motor car the entire length of Europe's "cordon sanitair," the barrier that has been erected from the Black Sea to the Arctic Circle by the European nations to protect themselves against Bolshevism. Then, going to India under conditions such as have been accorded to no other American, he viewed from all angles that seething volcano of dissension and discontent which Indians and English alike feel will blow its head off within the next five years.

Colonel Powell went to India with the all powerful backing of the British government, combined with which he had personal invitations from several of the ruling princes, including the Nawab of Bhopal, the Gaekwar of Baroda and the Prime Minister of the mysterious Kingdom of Nepál. As the guest of these various potentates he saw the luxury of their courts and listened to their political views, while from British officials of unquestionable veracity he heard stories about them that would "make your hair curl."

The Colonel had the most rare experience in visiting the Kingdom of Nepál, sandwiched between British India and Tibet, at the very foot of Mt. Everest. It is a closed country where Europeans very rarely obtain permission to visit, while the Americans who have penetrated its mysteries, who have seen its capital, Katmander, can be counted on the fingers of one's hand.

The most extraordinary city in the world is Katmander. Its "main street," a mile in length, is lined compactly on both sides by golden temples, monuments and shrines, dazzlingly bright in the Himalayan sunshine, and, at the end of this thoroughfare, Everest rises 29,000 feet into the Asian sky. The royal palace presents a most unique interior. It is a vast white building surrounded by high walls, while the imposing marble staircase in the great durbar hall is lined on either side with cash registers, weighing machines, nickel in the slot machines, chewing gum machines and the like, one on each step as we would place flowering plants or palms.

This city of Katmander is a combination of Bangkok, Phnom Penh, Timbuktu and Benares, plus Barnum's circus and Coney Island, crowded with buildings as fantastic as the structures of a dream, and thronged with representatives of all the races of inner Asia clad in all the colors of the rainbow. It is no wonder, then, that Colonel Powell calls it "the last home of mystery."

Colonel Powell's illustrated lecture deals with his own experiences and adventures in India and Central Asia and his return to Europe via the overland route. His listeners are first transported to Ceylon, from whence they cover the length and breath of India, stopping here and there for brief sojourns into the native states and Nepál; then through Baluchistan, up the Persian Gulf to Bahrein and Basra, up the Tigris to Bagdad.

(Continued on page 4)

GIFFORD TO SPEAK AT JOHN DEWEY CLUB ON HUMAN RELATIONS

Psychology and Philosophy Head Will Interrelate Sciences and Human Life

Prof. A. R. Gifford, head of the department of philosophy and psychology ... speak on "Human Relations" at ... monthly meeting of the ... Club which will be held ... evening at 7.30 in 32 South ...

In discussion Professor Gifford will consider the relation of chemistry, biology, botany, psychology and philosophy to human life and will interrelate the various sciences.

The program of this meeting is the second of a series which is planned to be unique, and which will be of general interest to students and faculty.

The next meeting of the John Dewey Club will be a round-table discussion concerning the power of the press.

The next meetings of the John Dewey Club after the one on Wednesday, December 3, are scheduled for Thursday, December 18; Tuesday, January 27; Tuesday, March 24; Tuesday, April 28; and Tuesday, May 19.

WILL HOLD INTERFRAT BASKETBALL TOURNEY

... to the plans in progress ... department of Physical Education ... annual interfraternity basketball tournament will be held again ...

... to definite dates or schedules ... announced as yet, it is ... that the opening will not take ... towards the completion of ... schedule. The winners of ... may play the champions ... as a preliminary to the ... one of the varsity quintet. ... hours, the manager of ... teams are requested to ... or Mr. Prentice.

MASQUE AND SANDAL TO SEND TWO TO MARYLAND

... and Sandal, women's honorary society will send Elizabeth ... and Margaret A. Marshall College, Maryland, the ... December 5.

... will be a dramatic contests from many of the ...

HOWARD MATH ENTRANCE EXAM GIVEN YESTERDAY

Students competing in the Howard Prize Entrance Examination in Mathematics took the test yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in Room 3, South College.

The results of this examination will determine the winner of the Howard Mathematics prize of twenty dollars which is provided through the will of Mrs. Hannah Howard late of this city. The examination covered the mathematics required for admission to the university—Algebra and Plane Geometry. The examination was strictly competitive as no passing marks were set and the results have no bearing on the grades of the students who took the examination.

GERMAN CLUB PRESENTS PLAY BY SCHNITZLER

"Literature" one of Schnitzler's plays was presented by three students at Deutscher Verein, the German Club, which held its fortnightly meeting Friday afternoon at the Alpha Chi Omega House.

A. A. Scharbius took the part of Clemens, G. H. Smead the part of Gilbert and Margaret Tower the part of Margerite. After the play the members of the club, with the aid of Professor Carpenter, played a game using letters to form German words. Professor Ladd won although Irene Hall was a close second.

The Verein, one of the unique clubs on the campus, in that it has no officers, was founded by the German department to foster a greater knowledge and interest of the German language and literature. Last week's meeting was attended by several members of the German classes and Professors Carpenter and Ladd of the German department.

The meetings of the Verein are generally informal. Several of the members present some sort of entertainment at each meeting. The conversation is always carried on in German. The membership of the organization is not limited to any specific number, any student of the University interested in German may attend the meetings.

NOTICE

Members of the fall riding classes are requested to report back immediately to their regular physical training classes, in order to receive credit for the course.

I can't imagine why that conductor looked so disgusted when I asked if the depot was Yale station.

FOOTBALL HOP WILL BE SATURDAY AT B. H. S. GYM

Annually popular with the students, and the fall dance at which blankets will be presented to the football men by Key and Serpent society, the Football Hop sponsored by the sophomores, is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening, December 6 at the B. H. S. gymnasium.

This year the music will be furnished by Lechnyr's eight piece orchestra and the chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun.

The dance is in charge of Fraser B. Drew, assisted by Stanley K. Carter, William C. Cronin and William C. Perry. On the committee for refreshments are Eleanor Gates, Alice Fairchild, Esther Beardsley, E. J. Monkel and E. E. Dunn. The committee for decorations comprises Marion Kiel, Leah Gowen, Dorothy Jackman, J. D. Carson, L. L. Woodward, and B. A. Cohen.

Prof. Ewert Tells Research Club of Equipment in a Topsy-turvy World

[illegible] inverted picture of the object on the retina of the eye.

[illegible] between sight and the other senses. A baby may see a [illegible] for its head and to find what he has taken hold of the [illegible] feet. After a while the baby will learn to coordinate his touch with his seeing and will be able to pick up the doll by the head at will.

By a system of lenses invented by Professor Ewert Mears was able to [illegible] with a baby has to learn. These lenses changed the [illegible] of vision from an object so that the object was right side up on the retina of the eye, and which the brain then so changed the object appeared to be right side up.

When I first put on these lenses I was completely helpless, so much so that it was impossible for me to walk across a room without assistance," Professor Mears said in describing the two-weeks period during which he and his associates lived in the visual world of a baby. Not once during this time did he see an object in the conventional way. At night when the lenses were removed his eyes were fatigued.

"When Doctor Ewert led me into the street for the first time everything was topsy-turvy," he said. "The ground was above me and the sky below. It seemed as if I were walking in mid-air except that I could feel the ground beneath my feet. In the street itself autos were racing madly along upside down. Everybody seemed to be walking on their heads and bobbing up and down. Of course their feet were in the air and their right arms were where their left arms should have been. This up and down motion of peoples' heads is present under normal conditions, but we become so accustomed to seeing people walk that we fail to notice this motion.

Through these lenses all laws of gravitation seem to be reversed. A seesaw appears to be suspended from the cross bar and the children's heads are hanging down. They seem to push themselves upward.

At first when I heard a street car coming on my right I would turn my head to what seemed to be my right, and the car was not there. When I turned my eyes to what seemed to be my left there was the street car, and all the time I was hearing the noise from my right.

Doctor Ewert was leading me along the street on the first day of the experiments. He was grasping my right hand, but I was seeing him at what seemed to be my left. Whenever he spoke to me I had to turn to my right in order to see him. It was an awkward feeling, watching him talk at my left and hearing his voice from the right. When I would attempt to pass another person coming toward me I invariably bumped into him, and I had adapted myself to the new visual field.

The greatest shock came when I looked at my feet. I stopped in amazement. They were pointing toward me instead of away from me and they seemed to belong to somebody else. Yet I found I could move them with a reasonable result. When I tried to lift the right foot, what appeared to be the left foot moved. The same thing happened when I tried to move the fingers on my right hand, as I did so the fingers on what seemed my left hand were caused as if by some [illegible].

In the experimental room a buzzer was [illegible] from the ceiling. I could hear the sound from above, but I had to look down in order to see the buzzer. Gradually I learned to look in what seemed to be the opposite direction from which the sound was coming.

Only once during this time did I [illegible]

Meals Embarrassing

[illegible] down meal I was somewhat surprised [illegible] of picking up the food [illegible] fork showed it onto the other. When I reached for a glass of water, my left [illegible] and ran to the other side of the table.

Gradually I learned to get [illegible] new conditions but I finally had to give up my attempts to bother my own friends.

One day I took a street car ride and getting into the car I tried to walk [illegible] the motorman. When I went [illegible] I watched the singers [illegible] on their heads, and the dancers [illegible] all their tricks with their feet in the air.

When the performers finished and were leaving the stage, my fellow experimenters and myself would seem to [illegible] at the opposite end of the stage.

After the theatre I would read a book or letter by turning the pages upside down. (A messenger boy with a telegram for one of the subjects was frightened away by seeing the message turned upside down to be read.) Getting into pajamas and into bed was a task. The bed seemed to be suspended in mid-air and the mattress was turned down."

Gradually the experimenters learned new coordination between their senses. After a while it was possible for them to walk several hundred yards unassisted. They learned to look to their right when they heard auto horns from their left.

THE FORUM

Marks of "Ideal" Student

"The Ideal" student as set forth, by the prize Yale scholar is:

1. The Ideal student realizes that the primary purpose of a college education is study.

2. He has a variety of intellectual interests, having acquaintances with a great many subjects though concentrating particularly on one or two fields.

3. He has a broad knowledge of all cultural pursuits and he follows the progress of the world as reflected to the newspapers and periodicals.

4. For recreation he goes to theatres, attends social events and mingles with other students.

5. The Ideal student has an open mind and is continually changing his mind about life.

6. He doesn't take himself too seriously and possesses a sense of humor.

7. For the sake of exercise, the Ideal student participates in a minor sport at college, such, for instance, as the bicycle fad which has just struck Yale. He does not take up a major sport, because he has found that it takes entirely too much of his time.

8. He is able to adapt himself to circumstances as they spring up, and to take advantage of opportunities for intellectual or spiritual development.

9. He uses his memory faculty as an aid to constructive thought. He remembers only essential facts. Rather than cram his head with too many facts, he prefers to think for himself.

10. The Ideal student does not get particularly high marks. He is interested more in getting an education than in the impression he is making on the professor, in so far as this has reference to marks.

11. He has the courage of his own convictions. Even at the risk of low marks he has backbone enough not, for instance, to do all the grinding details demanded by some professors, details having very little connection with the essentials of the subject.

CAPT. BERRY ASSIGNED TO FORT BENNING, GA.

According to special orders of the War department just received at the University of Vermont, Captain K. L. Berry, in the military department, has been assigned to the 24th Infantry, Fort Benning, Georgia which duty he will assume December 10.

First Lieutenant Joseph W. Kullman, Infantry, is to take the place of Captain Berry. Lieutenant Kullman is relieved from assignment and duty with the 28th Infantry, Fort Ontario, N. Y.

As despairing as the little boy who ran away from school, only to find he'd stowed away on the Floating University.—Penn. State Froth.

FACULTY COLUMN

Ideals for College Students

[illegible] much gold can be extracted from the ore of higher education provided that one has the proper appliances. Ingersoll said years ago (I am [illegible] him verbatim) that coin [illegible] diamonds but polished pebbles. If one reads the lives of authentic geniuses like Shelley, Robert Frost, and Eugene O'Neill, he understands the wisdom of these words, for [illegible] many other especially gifted souls, found the college environment uncongenial to the ripening of their powers. But since most of us are not even near-geniuses, we can take heart at the thought that our adventures in learning may add to our lustre. At any rate, when I see students treading round-about paths to their goal, perhaps because they have been unable to locate the direct one, I feel like offering my advice, however little it may be worth and however well aware I am that it will not be taken.

Above all else, a student should not be a drifter. Too many come to college without definite purpose. Some of these are not college material and would be better off elsewhere; others, though wishing to be in the swim, desire merely to keep their heads above water. Those in this latter group are interested simply in "getting by"; presumably President Wilson was thinking of them when he quoted sympathetically the remark of a Yale teacher that "the human mind has infinite resources for resisting the introduction of knowledge." I do not, of course, expect students to be grinds, but they should certainly determine their educational objective as early as possible and stick to it tenaciously. I frequently see them floundering in a slough of indecision, indifference, and laziness. We should not forget how difficult it is to shed bad habits contracted at the adolescent age.

Then again, a student should be—a student. This remark, it will be objected, is indeed a platitude or a feeble attempt at facetiousness. Alas! it is neither. On the contrary, it is an injunction based on my belief that many students have forgotten that the object of a college education, as Newman so eloquently asserted, is to train the mind. They become so engrossed in the social whirl or so intoxicated with the desire to be prominent on the campus that they lose their sense of values. I am heretical enough to think that the curriculum is of primary importance; to be sure, a man gains something from extra-curricular activities provided that he does not take part in too many of them, but I feel that the over-emphasis on them is distorting the perspective of teachers and students alike.

Closely allied to mental development is the acquisition of culture. How many students are sincerely eager to "know the best that has been thought and done in the world?" If they were, would they not be desirous of communing with lofty and enthralling spirits through the medium of their books? But, as one of my colleagues has truly pointed out, reading has become a lost art among a majority of the students.

I do not wish to descant at too great length on desirable ideals for students. However, there are a few others that I should like to mention even if I lack the space to elaborate on them.

It is my firm belief that professors rather than courses should sometimes be elected. At every college there are certain men with whom it is a privilege for the students to come in contact; they are not, nor do they consider themselves, oracles, but when they combine ripe scholarship with teaching ability and wisdom they are worthy descendants of Mark Hopkins. Should not students, though obliged to depart from favorite courses become acquainted with these outstanding personalities?

My next point is that a student, instead of apathetically considering this the best of all possible worlds, should open his mind to new ideas. The youth who is not aflame with zeal to recreate the world in accordance with the yearnings of his heart, to storm the citadels of injustice, and to shake the towers of prejudice till they topple to ruin was born old. Conservatism, whether it is the beginning of wisdom or hardening of the arteries, belongs to age; let none be so blind as to expect it from youth or so atrophied as to praise it when he finds it.

The student should also be an individualist. In these days of syndicates without end and of manufactured opinions both on the campus and off it, nothing is easier than conformity and nothing is more deadly. I wish that all students owned copies of Emerson's "Self-Reliance" and kindred essays. "Whoso would be a man must be a non-conformist."

Lastly, a student should be critical; he should have standards of judgment and comparision. In order to have significant and vital ones he must form them himself; the natural result is that, owing to his immaturity, many of them are invalid or, at any rate, subject to change. That does not matter, for it is better to have wrong opinions than none or somebody else's.

Those students who are considerate enough to read this effusion will smile tolerantly and say: "This college is not meant for America, but for Utopia."

My answer is: "No, this is the sort of college America needs, the sort of college that would justify its existence. Since we consider ourselves a nation of idealists, surely the institutions of higher learning which should be our torch-bearers, cannot afford to let their light grow dim or die out."

BENJAMIN B. WAINWRIGHT.

The Mystic Pen

Hello
"Hello."
"Joe?"
"Yeah."
"Listen, Joe. I heard you've decided definitely on going away to college. That means I won't see you till Christmas...and I just wanted to say goodbye and good luck..."
"That's nice of you."
"And listen, Joe. Wherever you are I want you to know that I'm thinking of you and that I...love you."
"Say, Who is this? ? ? ?"

A "Scotchman" recently donated a cup to the St. Lawrence University coach, instructor or member of the faculty that could stay under water longest. Which, quite naturally moves the muse...

In bygone days, to win a cup
The Profs all kept their whiskers up;
A thesis they would write, or three
To win a Phi Beta Kappa Key.
But times have changed, in modern schools
With laurel they don't crown'em.
They put them in the swimming pools
Competitively drown'em!

I'm the friendly Fuller man, Madam.

The favorite tobacco of the Vermont man is...

If you want to know young U. V. M.'s favorite tobacco, watch him as he loads his pipe or lights his cigaretto between classes in the Old Mill...Watch him as he slides down the banister and coyly pulls a tin of O. P.'s out of anyone's pocket. A pipe and O. P.'s—this is the combination that has won the U. V. M. stude. Harvard, Radcliffe, Colgate, Ushwash... all agree with U. V. M. College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes packed with tempting O. P.'s. Taste the rich natural savor of 'Other Peoples'...enhanced immeasurably by the fact that it costs you nothing...

Dancing as a fine art has returned to U. V. M. Behold on your right the famed Adagio team of the Famous MacSwath cousins, Juan and Harrie. Note the daring equipoise, counter-poise, or what have you. Before a packed audience in the gym last night Juan and Harrie, affectionately known as "Pete" and "Re-pete," gave a series of interpretative numbers of which the figure illustrated—"The Soul of the Undifferentiated Cell"—was the climax.

Joe and Sue College at the Koffee Korner:

Says Sue: Oh Joe, that delicious erster soup is just the thing to fill that empty spot.

Let's stop a minute. You know, I found an erster in it once! And those pâté de foie gras sandwiches are so tempting—yes, miss, I'll take two. Why Joe, aren't you hungry? A toothpick and a glass of water will never keep you going....what? you're practically broke! Oh say, make that one pâté de foie gras instead of two!—(Advt.)

Leave it to college boys to be ingenious. Have you noticed the copper

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the [illegible]

The perennial [illegible] or not the Freshman [illegible] enforced is again [illegible] public (i.e., the Campus [illegible] and but when the Freshmen [illegible] debated on Tuesday [illegible]

As the Class of '34 represented on the [illegible] not propose to enter [illegible] tive side of the matter, I would like to point [illegible] to those who read the [illegible]

When the freshmen [illegible] the beginning of the [illegible] are usually equipped with [illegible] any sane man would [illegible] cludes "knickers, [illegible] flannels, and vari-colored [illegible] be met with the gavels [illegible] forth by the sophomores [illegible] the Freshman Rules, [illegible] disaster to those who [illegible] work their way in part [illegible] it represents a considerable [illegible] ture of money on their [illegible] (white) cost about two [illegible] the pair, totaling an average [illegible] lar and a half (six pairs [illegible] man cap costs a dollar [illegible] at the college bookstore [illegible] rank "gyp," as it is made [illegible] that shrinks to about [illegible] first time it is rained [illegible] "knickers" the freshmen [illegible] to lay aside also represent [illegible] ment of money made [illegible] causes a double wear and [illegible] their other trousers. [illegible] course, are negligible, all [illegible] the upper classes should [illegible] provide a free and accessible [illegible] of these if they wish to [illegible] with "lights" at odd moments.

I would suggest, therefore, [illegible] upperclasses (especially [illegible] mores, as they seem to be [illegible] ous than the others that [illegible] enforced), be required to [illegible] the above-mentioned exposure, particularly in the case of freshmen [illegible] have had their caps stolen [illegible] been ordered by "Boulder" [illegible] new ones.

RICHARD RUSH M[illegible]

How To Use The New Leave System

1. Take it or leave it
2. Keep track of knights [illegible]
3. Paint frieze of autumn [illegible] wall.
4. Reserve several night leaves [illegible] sleep.
5. Reserve several day leaves [illegible] sleep.
6. Take French leave.
7. Leave.

Light A Murad

Singing in the bathtub
Singing all alone.
The maid is sure to [illegible]
To the telephone.

Giants in the Earth, by O. E. [illegible]
"There were giants in the [illegible] in those days."—Gene[illegible]

---

coil contraption that looks [illegible] still on the business end of [illegible] campus chariots? When the [illegible] driver was asked its purpose [illegible] revenoo agent it was explained [illegible] the box attached to the bumper [illegible] striking a pedestrian, [illegible] liquid into the radiator, thus [illegible] ing the necessity of getting [illegible] tank up with an icy bucket [illegible] morning.

You'll pay for this, Dan [illegible] bully!

Simplicity, directness [illegible] are admirable characteristics [illegible] the U. V. M. co-ed. While [illegible] down Pearl Street in search [illegible] we found two co-eds on the [illegible] the station to catch the [illegible] Special (14 hours to N. Y.) [illegible] carried a laundry case [illegible] gowns 'n things to wear [illegible] After a block or so [illegible] arguing as to whether [illegible] tionable or other was [illegible] forgotten. To settle the [illegible] set the case on the [illegible] the contents out for inspection [illegible] traffic was blocked for [illegible]

Sign somewhere down [illegible] E. Van X, Chiropodist [illegible]

My fingers are all thumbs.

We will give a hand-knitted hip flask to the [illegible] first informs us the [illegible] the chauffeur who came [illegible] the other night and [illegible] shields. Also of the [illegible] asked for a shot of [illegible] ammonia in his coconut [illegible] your esophagus.

"Here's another one of [illegible] ed letters for your [illegible] Mrs. Shrdlu. "I wonder [illegible]
"Just a moment, [illegible] Elsie Dinsmore happily [illegible] poppa."

The Mystic Pen: Some [illegible]

SPORTING NEWS

Vermont Foilsmen Victors Over Montreal A.A.A. 9-8

Green and Gold Outfit Makes Good Impression in Opening Event of Season—First Time Vermonters Have Ever Defeated Canadian Fencers—Epee and Sabre Bouts Result in Ties

MATCHES ARE CLOSE THROUGHOUT CONTEST

M. gymnasium Satur
University of Vermont
aged the Montreal A.
a score of 9-8, and in mplished a feat which eams have failed in, for eam has never lost to rs before. The closest eam came to a win was n the score was 13-12
winning the foils bouts en and Gold team were the final outcome of the pee and sabre bouts both ties.

A more than 100 watched event on the fencing le, and was thrilled by splay of Captain Perel
ead a sweep with sabres
e of his other five bouts.
and Gomery also were in or the matches, and Sene-
p three points with saber
The visitors are contend-
Canadian Provincial cham-and the Vermont victory high hopes for a suc-
n The summary:

Wadsworth, Vt., d. Gomery,
Wadsworth, Vt., d. Smith, M.;
Vt., d B. Smith, M.; Perel-
B. Smith, M.; Perelman,
Smith, M.; Gomery, M., d.
Vt.; L. Smith, M., d. Mus-
Gomery, M.; d. Musgrove,
Smith, M., d. Wadsworth, Vt.
Perleman, Vt., d. Lavers, M.;
Vt., d Lavers, M.; Senecal,
Perelman, Vt.; Senecal, Vt., d.
Vt.

Perelman, Vt., d. Senecal,
Perelman, Vt., d. Heasley, M.;
M., d. Riani, Vt.; Heasley,
Riani, Vt.

SPORTS SYMPOSIUM

Out at Notre Dame, it is said, there is a horseman who isn't riding this year. Report has it that he is a better back than any now carrying the ball for the Irish.

The report may be merely hearsay, but it points to a condition existing in universities which the Carnegie investigators seem to have overlooked in their famous Bulletin No. 23.

One of the chief difficulties confronting a football coach in his efforts to insure the success of his teams comes from certain academic prejudices against proselyting and subterfuge of the three year rule. The three year rule is observed strictly by nearly every important university or college in the country. The three year rule is neatly evaded by the simple process of having certain players who are good football players take an extra year in school.

The practice seems to be so general in the west, south and east that exposure of its workings bring forth from football men little more than a mild protest.

Freshman Rule

Universities and colleges are free to play freshmen on varsity teams if the rule in question limits competition to three years of varsity competition. Under the spirit of the rule a student is available for football for his sophomore, junior and senior years. But many football coaches, obsessed with plenty of good football, have conceived the idea of keeping certain star players off the gridiron for a season in which they remain eligible, scholastically speaking. The boy stays in school an extra year and completes his three years of varsity football.

Some western universities, for instance, have teams composed of such players, who are permitted to play games a year against high schools and normal schools which do not count as varsity competition and entitle the players to an extra year at school and a football season or two on the varsity.

The use of scholastically ineligible players who normally would spend an extra year at their studies in order to obtain a sheepskin, there may be no quarrel with this practice. But when it is a pigskin rather than a sheepskin which is uppermost in the boy's mind, and when he is kept five years in a school from which he normally would graduate in four, that is something else again.

The charge that Knute Rockne has one of the best backs under cover while the present well nigh irresistible combination carries on through the 1930 season may be quite unfounded and certainly is unsubstantiated. But there are unmerous other instances in the South and West of such storing up of football material against a rainy season rather like spreading the jam thinly to cover the most bread and it is apparent that the college careers of many youngsters are being arranged according to their availability as varsity football material rather than by any desire to give them the customary four year education to prepare them for life.

The practice of spreading out a school's football material to cover more than three years is not prevalent in the East nor in the Pacific Northwest. Dearth of material is probably the answer, since the business is so generally condoned. In these parts, they use a student as soon as he becomes a sophomore, because they need him.

There is little opportunity to suggest a certain elasticity in his curriculum which will make him available for football in some future season when he may be of more use to the coach.

GRIDSTERS END SEASON WITH SPRINGFIELD GAME

Catamounts Are Overwhelmed By Gymnasts in Annual Clash Thanksgiving Day

Closing the 1930 season with the annual clash Thanksgiving Day at Springfield, the University of Vermont football team was handed out the worst defeat of the year by the Y College in a game played in freezing weather. The Springfield backs ran wild in the first two periods of the contest, and although the Catamounts checked them in the last half by holding them scoreless in the third quarter, a record score was piled up over the heads of the Vermonters. The final count stood 82 to 0.

It was evident from the start that the Catamounts were outclassed. Owl and Brown, backs, led the Springfield attacks that netted ten touchdowns in the first half and three in the second.

During part of the game Springfield substitutes were in the line-up. Vermont made only two first downs.

Owl was outstanding for Springfield with runs of 62 and 57 yards for touchdowns. Brown, White and Plumb also reeled off long runs.

Captain Segal, Donaldson, Blakely, Durfey, Aronson, Parks, and Heaton all played their last game of football for Vermont because they will graduate next June.

VERMONT		SPRINGFIELD
Segal, r e		r e, Bryant
Donaldson, r t		r t, Ameen
Farmer, r g		r g, Peterson
Dinnitman, c		c, Thompson
G. Collins, l g		l g, Ball
Aronson, l t		l t, Geesman
Parks, l e		l e, Blumenstock
Bove, q b		q b, White
Winant, r h b		r h b, Knowlton
T. Collins, l h b		l h b, Owl
Manning, f b		f b, Simonson

Score by periods	1	2	3	4	Total
Springfield	33	30	0	19	82

Touchdowns: Brown 3, Owl 3, Dressel 2, Plumb, Wilson, Russo, Simonson, White.

Points by goal after touchdown—White 3 (placements), Johnson (placement).

Referee: Walters, Williams.
Umpire: Bergin, Princeton.
Linesman: Burke, Boston College.
Field judge: Barry, Bowdoin.
Time—two 15 minute and two 10 minute periods.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL SCHEDULE FOR COMING SEASON IS ANNOUNCED

Kittens Start Practice Now But First Game Is Not Until After Midyears

OPENING CONTEST TO BE FEB. 6 AGAINST T. C. A.

With practice now begun, Manager E. J. Grant of the freshman basketball squad releases a six game schedule for the coming season.

Opening away from home with Troy Conference Academy on February 6 the following day the Kittens meet the strong Vermont Academy five on the latter's court in a home and home arrangment. On February 14, the annual game with the Clark School quintet will be the first home appearance of the yearlings. A tentative contest has been scheduled with St Albans High with the date as yet unsettled.

In closing the schedule the 1934 team will engage in battle with Troy Conference Academy on the 27th and Vermont Academy the next day.

Post Calls for Candidates

Coach Archie Post issued his first call for candidates for the freshman basketball team Friday and about twenty five men reported. The freshmen have only a short schedule this year, playing all of their contests after mid years because of the new one year rule which obtained last June at the University of Vermont.

The freshman quintets at Vermont have been consistently good over a period of eight years and have always emerged victorious in the majority of its contests. "Bunny" Prentice now mentor of the varsity, has been handling the Kittens in the last two years and his teams have lost but six games winning thirteen.

This year the prospects are far better than ever before. Ed Saba all-round star at Vermont Academy and his backfield mate Ed Sowka are out for positions. Jack Morgan ex-captain of Burlington High School and a member of last year's Checkerboys, will be a logical mid-court candidate. Spero Marchacas, leading scorer of last year's state champs, as well as Rust and Lutman of the same club will be out for berths. Brown of Boston, dark horse of last year's tourney, besides many other well-known court stars will make up Post's basketball aggregation.

The schedule follows:

February 6, Troy Conference Academy there.
February 7, Vermont Academy there.
February 14, Clark School here.
February 17, St. Albans pending.
February 27, Troy Conference Academy here.
February 28, Vermont Academy here.

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTING EDITOR—

Now that the football season is over basketball will take the premier place in the sports world at Vermont.

The Sun Life Insurance Company of Canada replaces Montreal A. A. A. as the U. V. M. basketball schedule. This will be the first time in several years that the Catamounts have not opened the season with Montreal A. A. A. appearing here on the home floor.

The victory of the Vermont fencing team over the aggregation from the Montreal A. A. A. Saturday was something of an accomplishment and gives bright prospects in view of future matches.

As football games become fewer and fewer, the season now opens to pick All American teams. Anyone may enter the game of picking an all-star eleven but who will be the first to present his selection? No matter who is picked there is bound to be controversy but it is a harmless pastime.

By defeating Georgia 13 to 0 Thanksgiving Day Alabama closed its third undefeated football season in eight years under Coach Wallace Wade.

Two formerly undefeated teams were pushed from their perches by Saturday's games. Army lost to Notre Dame while Dartmouth fell before Stanford in California.

A statistician has figured out that the average American takes 18,908 steps daily. This news may cause a campaign to move houses closer to garages.—South Bend Tribune.

TEAM WORK STRESSED IN BASKETEERS' OPENING SESSIONS OF PRACTICE

Coach Prentice Holds Final Stages of Training in Preparation for Opening Game Sat.

COMPETITION IS KEEN FOR PLACES ON TEAM

With the rigors of the opening of practice behind them, Coach "Bunny" Prentice's varsity basketball squad of twenty five men including Capt. Wally Sargent, Bob Lahm and Fred Tupper letter men, enter into the last week of training before the opening game Saturday with the Sun Life Insurance Company's team from Montreal.

During the first week the Catamount mentor has been laying emphasis upon the more important of the fundamentals. Passing and handling of the ball, offense tactics of cutting, dribbling and pivoting, drills down the length of the floor and smartness have received attention in Coach Prentice's campaign. Individual stardom has been submerged entirely and it will be those men who can coordinate with their teammates that ultimately shall win starting posts.

Signal practice has already been injected into the program and the offensive scheme is being slowly put into shape. Foul shooting a negligible factor in past Vermont teams is, too, being stressed with the severity that is undoubtedly necessary. Too many contests have been lost on this seemingly insignificant factor and more practice is a cure for this feature of the game.

With the finish of the football season the basketball squad should be enlarged by Hank Durfey and Ed Winant forwards together with Tom Collins stellar defense man who after completing a successful season with the P.G. frosh team came out for the varsity quintet and earned his letter. Peep Parks after a strenuous gridiron campaign has signified his intentions of making a bid for center where his height and natural ability should make him an outstanding candidate.

A wealth of material comes up from last year's Kitten quintet. Talbot pivot man, McGowan and Mahoney guards both of whom much is to be expected. Two of the most finished stars from the frosh team are Bob Grant and Mike Valerio forwards. Fast, clever and dead shots under the basket these youngsters are clever players and will be hard to stop. Neither are grandstand players which should be counted in their favor.

Jerry Farwell who earned his numerals as center must not be regarded as out of the race. Quiet and unassuming on the floor this Cushing star will prove a reliable player when called upon for action. Frank Plum

(Continued on page 5)

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2480

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR

SHAMPOO	$.50
MARCEL	.50
FINGERWAVE	.75

43 Church St. Phone 538

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
165 Bank St.

1931 ARIEL
$4.50
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

The Old Reliable
INTERWOVEN SOCKS
IN FANCY WOOL MIXTURES
50c. PAIR
Never have the Fancy Wool Hose for men been so attractive, and Interwovens always wear longer.
Twenty-four different patterns—all one price—50c. Pair

PROF. CUMMINGS HEADS RECENT WCAX PROGRAM

[illegible] Prof. M. H. Cummings of the history department of [illegible] Vermont, who has been speaker on [illegible] broadcast from station WCAX, Burlington, Wednesday evening, November 21, at one o'clock. Prof. Cummings spoke on [illegible] Vermont and New England.

[illegible] Vermont Symphonic Band, directed by Walter Flint, M. A. [illegible] Department of [illegible] College of Agriculture.

[illegible] Vermont Male Quartet: Harold W. [illegible] Professor Talbot, soloist Accompanist.

[illegible] Talk: "The Why and How of Vermont Music" by Prof. V. A. [illegible] Director Vermont Symphonic Band.

[illegible] Organ Recital: Prof. H. G. Hotchkiss, organist of Music.

1. Overture on Christmas Themes Lemare
2. Processional: Hallelujah Amen Handel
3. Toccata in G Major Dubois
4. Chorale Prelude on Ancient Tune: Wondrous Rose Bach
5. Prelude Gaul
6. Music of the Spheres Rubinstein
7. Hope and Circumstance Elgar

1 A M Broadcast

Returns on the special broadcast by WCAX conducted at one o'clock on Friday morning, November 21 show that programs of the University of Vermont radio station are being heard around the boundaries of this state and New England. The broadcast was made at the request of the Evening News Newark N. J.

Almost sixty replies have been received to date and they are still coming in. Thirty-four of these came from New Jersey, seven from New York, six from Pennsylvania, four from Massachusetts, one each from Connecticut, Maryland and Canada. Numerous telephone responses came in from Burlington and vicinity on the night of the broadcast.

Col. Alexander Powell Speaks on Home of Mystery across Iraq and Arabia by the Overland Desert Mail and from Damascus northward to the Bosphorous and Europe.

(Continued from page 1)

The importance of the lecture is twofold. One part touching upon the tremendous political and social problems that confront England in India, and the other treating with romantic experiences in the strange regions hidden behind the curtain of the Himalayas.

Colonel Powell's entrance into Nepal coincided with the great annual Hindu Mela when over 200,000 pilgrims from all over the world poured through the Himalayan passes to worship at the famous shrine of Pashpatti. So dense was the human horde upon the higher passes that it was only with difficulty that Colonel Powell's escort was able to clear a path. The lecturer concludes with a highly adventurous account of the return to Europe, dealing for the most part with his experiences in the Arabian desert where his party was allowed to proceed only under the protection of armored cars for the Arab raiders no longer attack on camels or on horses but in fleets of Buick cars. The lecture is excellently illustrated in colored lantern slides, and has been characterized as the "crowning work in Colonel Powell's amazing series of travel narratives covering the Eastern Hemisphere."

NORWEGIAN LITERATURE IS BLUESTOCKINGS TALK

[illegible] meeting of Bluestockings, held [illegible] Wednesday evening in the Ethan Allen room. Phyllis [illegible] president of the organization, spoke on Norwegian Literature, which he considered in two parts: that of the Saga of old time poems, and that of today.

In introducing Mr. [illegible] said briefly of his visit to Norway and several of his experiences.

The composers of the country united to extend the Grand period that [illegible] established such composers as Grieg and the [illegible] and may be given [illegible] number of Bluestockings are [illegible] in the Y room [illegible]

CLASSIC GROUP TO HEAR READINGS FROM PLATO

Readings from Plato's "Dialogues" will feature the program of Eta Sigma Phi, when holds its December meeting Tuesday evening, December 9 at [illegible] o'clock in 73 South College.

This program will furnish a lead for the meeting in January at which the members will appropriately celebrate the 2400th anniversary of the birth of Socrates the Greek philosopher.

Eta Sigma Phi is a Greek honorary society devoted to the purpose of fostering the study of the Greek and Latin classics and to develop an extensive appreciation of Greek and Roman culture among students.

The chapter at Vermont is a member of the national organization which comprises forty chapters. There are about thirty members in the local society which maintains a representative in the National Executive Council.

At the October meeting the society celebrated the 2000th anniversary of the birth of Vergil. Several members gave short talks and Professor Prindle of the Latin department offered several remarks on the ensuing discussion.

At the November meeting plans were made for the entertainment of Prof. Marbury Ogle who recently lectured here on the life and works of Vergil.

C. W. Knapp, '31, president of the society stated that the order is proud of the fact that Professor Bassett of the Greek department is a member as he is one of the outstanding Homeric scholars of the United States.

Alpha Tau Omega announces the initiation of William Burke, '33, of Rutland and B. B. Blodgett, '33, of Bolton Landing, N. Y.

CONVERSE FUND BUYS C. AND E. LITERATURE

Professor Grant Arnold of the Latin department, Dean Everett Fish Wheeler announced the prize has been awarded to two Vermont juniors. It was decided by the committee interested in the [illegible] for a prize for money with [illegible] for buying books and magazines for that department.

According to the will of the late John Holman Converse a fund of $1,000 was provided the income of which may be used in whole or in part for one [illegible] of three prizes of twenty-five dollars fifteen dollars and ten dollars respectively.

It was also provided that any amount not awarded should be used for books and magazines for the department of commerce and economics. The prizes are awarded on recommendation of the head of the department following presentation of a thesis of merit on some approved subject in the field of commerce and economics.

In the last few years interest in these prizes has been lax probably more because of the fact that few students know about them than because of the lack of interest in the field. Due to this condition the money has been used for furnishing the magazines and books which the department of economics uses.

COLUMBIA PROFESSOR TO TALK ON ELECTROLYTES

Prof. Victor K. La Mer of Columbia University will address the American Chemical Society on "Solutions of Electrolytes" this afternoon at 4 o'clock in 27 Williams Science Hall.

Dr. George Burrows, head of the department of chemistry, states that Professor La Mer is a distinguished chemical scientist and should interest a great number of students.

The meeting is free and open to all from among the faculty and student body.

J. V. QUARTET TO DEBATE BEFORE BOLTON GRANGE

Junior Varsity debating will continue Thursday evening at West Bolton, Vt., before the Bolton Grange of the subject: Resolved that chain stores should be abolished. P. J. La Crosse '32 and Harry Bateman, '33, will uphold the affirmative and J. E. Bigelow, '33, and E. M. Cummings '31, will deny the proposition.

The following debate will be held at St. Albans before the St. Albans Grange. The subject will be: "Resolved that the chain store is more detrimental than beneficial to the best interest of the American public."

P. J. La Crosse and Fred Housekeeper will uphold the affirmative and J. E. Bigelow and Charles Libby will disagree with these men.

Holbrook's Harmony Hounds will also make the trip, and furnish a few hours of music for dancing after the debate.

The J. V.'s will debate at Grand Isle Grange January 7 against the strong Grand Isle Grange team. P. J. La Crosse and J. E. Bigelow will debate for Vermont. The chain store will be discussed.

Team Work Stressed in Basketeers' Opening Sessions of Practice

(Continued from page 3)

of the champion U. V. M. nine is the "dark horse" of the squad. Although a former member of the Lowell (Mass.) High School team, he has kept away from the court game in recent years, confining his activities to but one sport. Under Coach Prentice's tutelage he is rapidly returning to form and may be used in this season's games. Larry Bowers is another on the list of candidates and is regarded as a likely looking prospect for the team.

A great deal of effort is being expanded by the varsity director on the

A. I. E. E. AND A. S. M. E. TO HOLD JOINT MEETING

Student and fa[illegible] the Vermont branch [illegible] an Institute of Elec[illegible] and the American [illegible] of Mechanical Engineers will [illegible] 4 p.m. in 27 Williams. Moving pictures from [illegible] of Wilmington, Del. [illegible] The topics taken up [illegible] will be:

"Building New York's [illegible] way."

"Hydro Electric Develop[illegible] New South."

"Building the Cascade[illegible]

"Dredging New York [illegible]

The pictures are [illegible] to show the newest deve[illegible] various fields of engineer[illegible] cially to show the part e[illegible] sives play in these fields.

The meeting is open t[illegible]

University of Minne[illegible] teams use more than one [illegible] fifty footballs annually.

defense, and experiment[illegible] made with the man for [illegible] man scheme. The results [illegible] tice will be seen when the [illegible] the floor to open the sea[illegible]

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

ORDER YOUR TUXEDO NOW

FOR THE CHRISTMAS HOUSE DANCES

TUXEDOS

$30 $35 $40

TUXEDO RENTALS

$3.00

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.

195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic

Open Evenings

WE NOW HAVE ON DISPLAY ATTRACTIVE CHRISTMAS CARDS WITH THE UNIVERSITY SEAL.

Don't Wait! Buy Now

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

6-ton reels of cable distributed with the speed of perishable food

A carload of telephone poles laid down a thousand miles away within 36 hours after getting the order! Rush calls of this sort must frequently be handled by Western Electric, distributors for the Bell System.

But even more remarkable is the regular day by day flow of telephone supplies. The Chicago warehouse—one of 32 in the national system—handles 1,400 orders a day. In 1929 more than $400,000,000 worth of equipment and materials was delivered to the telephone companies.

Distribution on so vast a scale presents many interesting problems to Bell System men. The solutions they work out mean much in keeping this industry in step with the times.

The opportunity is there!

BELL SYSTEM

A NATION-WIDE SYSTEM OF INTER-CONNECTING TELEPHONES

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1930 NUMBER 22

Gifford Speaks On Human Life

Addresses John Dewey Club on the Topic, "A Study of Human Relationships"

DEMONSTRATES DANGER OF SPECIALIZED WORK

Stresses Powerful Part Played by Social Environment in the Development of the Human Personality; "Society Is Man's Element"

[illegible] milieu in which man [illegible] in which his person[illegible] and the arena of his [illegible] declared Prof. A. R. [illegible] of both the psychology [illegible] departments of the [illegible] Wednesday evening [illegible] meeting of the John [illegible] be held this year. Pro[illegible] was the first guest lec[illegible] the club this year, [illegible] was the "Study of [illegible] Relationships."

[illegible] nature," said Professor [illegible] the center from which [illegible] in which is gathered, [illegible] disciplines which are studied [illegible] somewhat independently [illegible]."

The professor pointed out that the [illegible] tendency toward restricted [illegible] has been growing very [illegible] in the United States [illegible] and that since the establishment of Johns Hopkins University, [illegible] study and specialized scientific research have progressed rapidly.

Vermont Early "Settee of Science"

[illegible] the time that Johns Hopkins [illegible] being founded, Dean Perkins [illegible] Vermont which was then, as [illegible] the settee of science" in [illegible] to the distinct chairs that [illegible] other institutions.

"The danger in specialization," explained Professor Gifford, "is the same [illegible] happens when a person [illegible] through a forest fails to see [illegible] because of the trees, too [illegible] attention being focused on the [illegible] while the whole is lost to [illegible]. Recently, however, there have [illegible] attempts to integrate these various [illegible] of research to see wherein [illegible]. Yale, it was learned, [illegible] the first step in this direction [illegible] founding an "Institute of Human Relationship," that brings together all the science departments of [illegible] which are related to one [illegible]. Another who has seen this [illegible] is James H. Robinson of [illegible] who in 1923 wrote a book [illegible] 'Humanizer of Knowledge' [illegible] is a strong protest [illegible] separating of the sciences. [illegible] emphasizes the need of [illegible] related disciplines closer together and of giving a larger place [illegible] sciences which study human [illegible] relationship. The new [illegible] course at Vermont, explained Professor Gifford, was established to accomplish just that.

"The interest of our thinking [illegible] literature and the social relations [illegible] play so important a part [illegible]."

"What is man?" asked Professor [illegible] in answering his own [illegible] quoted from Socrates: [illegible] himself, for the unexamined [illegible] is not worth living."

"Interest in such sciences as [illegible] chemistry, geology and astronomy [illegible] due to the fact that they [illegible] the world in which we live.

"Then he asks Professor Gifford, [illegible] ourselves?"

"Answering his own question [illegible] that we are living organisms [illegible] biological study makes [illegible] we understand human [illegible] see it in its historical [illegible].

"The study of biological activity in [illegible] years has concentrated [illegible]," said Professor Gifford [illegible] stemming from science [illegible] exploring to show where [illegible] stopped and how they approximate relationships.

"The central concept is that of [illegible] which refers to the manner [illegible] individual reacts to [illegible] while evolution is the [illegible] study of the biological [illegible] human nature.

"The child always has the [illegible] to certain stimuli [illegible] Gifford as his discusses [illegible] from evolution into [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

BOEING OFFERS FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS FOR AIR INSTRUCTION COURSES

Notice was received last Monday at the CYNIC office that students of the University of Vermont are eligible to compete for the Scholarship Awards offered by W. E. Boeing, Chairman of the Board of United Aircraft and Transport Corp at the Boeing School of Aeronautics, Oakland, Calif.

This year four scholarships will be awarded, at a total value of $7,190, including a $5,275 Master Pilot course of 204 hours of flying and 924 hours of ground instruction, the other awards are the Private Pilot Ground and Flying course, Master Pilot Ground course and Master Mechanic course.

Those interested may obtain information from the Dean or Boeing School of Aeronautics, Oakland Airport, Oakland, Calif. Awards will be made by a national committee of prominent educators, Dr. Baldwin M. Woods, University of California, Chairman.

Any undergraduate students, including the class of 1931, who will complete one or more years of study by July 15, 1931, is eligible if he has a scholastic standing classifying him in the upper one-third of his class during his enrollment. Each candidate will be required to write an essay not exceeding 2,000 words on any one of the following subjects:

1. Trends of Development in Air Transportation.
2. Progress of Safety in Aviation.
3. Trend of Airport Design and Development.
4. Radio as an Aid to Aviation.
5. Importance of Proper Co-ordination of Federal and State Laws Governing Air Transportation.

W. E. Boeing is founder of the Boeing aeronautical enterprises, including the Chicago-Oakland-San Francisco and Seattle-San Diego air mail, express and passenger routes and the Boeing Airplane Company, manufacturers of military and commercial planes.

Boeing School is one of the largest in the United States and its instruction exceeds department of commerce requirements. It occupies modern steel and concrete buildings on the Oakland Airport, hub of transcontinental and coastwise air transport operations. Flying equipment ranges from training planes to three-ton transports.

Winners of last year's scholarships were: Ralph J. Moore, Stanford University; Lloyd H. Speelman, Mt. Union College; C. Willard Sharp, University of Nebraska; R. M. Harris, University of Washington.

I. R. CLUB TO DISCUSS WORLD PEACE PROBLEMS

Germain Announces Receipt Of Pamphlets On Such Topics, to Be Read At Next Meeting

Edmour Germain, '31, president of the International Relations club announced that the next meeting will be on December 16, at which time pamphlets reporting the vast world peace problems as they occur, will be read.

These pamphlets, called the "Fortnightly Summaries," are prepared and printed every two weeks by the Carnegie Endowment. As two issues which contain fifteen copies have already been sent to the club, they will be available to all club members. The name of the speaker who is to address the club's next gathering, will be announced in two or three days.

A number of excellent books dealing with world problems in general have also been sent to the club by the Carnegie Endowment. These books will be added to the ever increasing supply of literature in the club's library.

Professor Evans, the head of the history department will address the club on January 16. His topic for the evening will be that interesting man, Mussolini.

The calendar for the rest of the year is as follows: December 16, January 6, February 12, March 5, April 9, and May 7.

W. K. VanTine of Boston will be here immediately after the Christmas recess to complete the group photographs. Fraternity pictures will be taken free of charge. Any of the societies interested see Raymond W. Cobb at the Delta Psi house.

REV. C. S. HAGER SPEAKS ON THINGS NEW AND OLD

"The Best Revolutionary Is Also The Best Conservative," Says Chapel Speaker

"Things new and things old" was the topic of the service in the Ira Allen chapel conducted by the Rev. C. S. Hager of Veergennes last Wednesday. "If men find anything that is food for their souls it will be grown from the seeds of the past," he said.

"The scribes were antiquarian in thought—they knew things new and old. Jesus was a revolutionary and a conservative. He did not come to destroy the Laws of Moses.

There are a great deal of revolutionary movements in the world today. "You students, both men and women must take an attitude toward the spirit of the times. I hope you will all be revolutionary; revolutionary in the best sense. The world needs reformers and conservatives. There is a great tendency to scrap all valuables of the past.

"The old moralities and old religions need revising but we must build on the past. We must keep the antiques that are good with the novelties and new ideas," he said.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO PRESENT PROGRAM AT SOUTH HERO TONIGHT

Will Feature Instrumental Solos And Trio, With Numbers By The Double Quartet

Tonight the Men's Glee Club will journey to South Hero, where they are to give a concert. The Town Hall will be the scene of the musical affair, which is scheduled to start at 8:00.

The concert prepared and directed by Prof. H. G. Bennett of the music department, and managed by J. O. Percival, '31, manager of the club, will include several choral numbers, two instrumental solos, and two numbers by an instrumental trio and piano.

The complete program as finally revised follows:

1. Domine Salvam Fac Patriam Nostram Americam.
2. Deep River, a Negro Spiritual.
3. Soldiers' Chorus, from "Faust" Gounod

The Glee Club

4. Sur le Lac..... Godard

Cello Solo, David Jenks

5. Since First I Saw Your Face (17th century)...Thomas Ford
6. Marching ..... J. Brahms

The Double Quartet

7. Ballet in D minor from "Orpheus" Gluck
8. Minuet from L'Arlésienne Suite, No. 2..... Bizet

Flute Solo, Robert Jelks

9. A-hunting We Will Go...English
10. Volga Boat Song.....Russian
11. Bierwaltzer

The Glee Club

12. Introduction to Act III, Carmen ..... Bizet
13. Norwegian Dance .....Grieg

Instrumental Trio

14. The Three Doves.....Italian
15. Andalucia .....Spanish
16. What Shall We Do with the Drunken Sailor?...Chorly
17. Champlain .....Fisher

The Glee Club

The men's double quartet is composed of W. Kearney, '34, R. S. Jenks, '32, G. Ricker, '34, J. H. Jardine, '34, A. A. Scharbius, Jr., '32, N. C. Daigle, '34, G. W. Burroughs, Jr., '34, and J. O. Percival, '31.

The players in the trio are: Flute, R. S. Jenks, '32; cello, David Jenks, '34; clarinet, F. W. Householder, Jr., '32, accompanist, Professor Bennett.

A bus furnished for the occasion will start from the music building on South Prospect Street and proceed to the town hall in South Hero.

Several students will furnish music for dancing after the concert.

PHI CHI

Dr. Lyman Allen gave a very interesting talk to the members of the Phi Chi fraternity last Tuesday evening, his main subject was "Ethics and Diagnostic Procedure" and as a subtopic the doctor spoke on "The Art of Medicine in Contrast to the Science of Medicine."

LAMBDA IOTA

Lambda Iota announces the [illegible] of Dr. C. E. Braun, associate professor of chemistry.

FITZGERALD REGRETS HIS INABILITY TO REVIEW THIS FALL PLAY TOO

The fall play, The Queen's Husband, will be given at the Strong Theatre at 8 o'clock December 11. The progress of the play has been reported as extremely good. Rehearsals are now being held practically every day according to Professor Metcalf, the director.

E. J. Fitzgerald, a member of the cast, in speaking of the play said in part:

"My only regret is that as a member of the cast I shall not be able to review the play. I feel this deeply because this is the sort of play about which I should be able to say all the the nice things which I have been treasuring away all these years."

Advance Sale

Roy Worrell, business manager of the production announced early this week that boxes would go on sale Wednesday, December 3 at the University Store. The two-fold reason for the sale of boxes is to insure an advance sale and also to insure the person purchasing them of seats at the production. These boxes are to be exchanged Tuesday, December 9, Wednesday, December 10, and Thursday, December 11 at the Strong Theatre for reserved seats.

Marion Kiel, one of the women of the cast, was very enthusiastic about the progress of the play when interviewed by a CYNIC reporter recently. "The play will be a success," vouched Miss Kiel. "The rehearsals are progressing in fine style. I think we are even better than we have a right to hope for at this time. The players know their parts and put lots of snap into their acting."

ORGANIZE NEW STUDENT SIX-PIECE ORCHESTRA

Max Bergman, '33, saxophonist has with the assistance of five other students organized a new six-piece orchestra including Robert Magune, '34, Howard Wolinsky, '34, Philip Gould, '34, and Eric Denkoff, '34.

Willard Goldman, of Burlington is the baritone soloist and pianist. Wolinsky and Gould are the violinists, Denhoff plays the tenor saxophone, and Magune works the snare drum.

HARRY FORD TO SPEAK OVER WCAX TONIGHT

Program to Contain Numbers by Women's Glee Club and Violin Solos by Miss deVolt

Mr. H. L. Ford, Secretary of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce will be the first speaker on the WCAX Radio Program this evening at 8:00. He will give a ten minute talk on "The Burlington Chamber of Commerce and Chittenden County."

Miss Nellie M. Jones, of the department of public health, will also deliver a ten minute address before the microphone, on "Vermont's Campaign on Immunization Against Diphtheria."

The entire program is as follows:

P.M.

7:30 Violin Recital, Miss Charlotte deVolt, Department of Music
1. "Romance" from Second Concerto, Wieniawski
2. "Midnight Bells" from "The Opera Ball," Heuberger-Kreisler
3. "Sweet Fern," Burleigh
4. "The Fishermen," Burleigh

Women's Glee Club Sextet and Double Quartet, under the direction of Miss deVolt
1. "Gloria Patri," Palestrina
2. "The Bridal Wreath for Thee We Bind," Weber
3. "Chorus of Cigarette Girls" from "Carmen," Bizet
4. "Ave Maria," Brahms
5. "Now is the Month of Maying," Morley

8:00 Talk, "The Burlington Chamber of Commerce and Chittenden County," H. L. Ford, Secretary, Burlington Chamber of Commerce.

8:10 Talk, "Vermont's Campaign on Immunization Against Diphtheria," Miss Nellie M. Jones, State Advisory Nurse, Department of Public Health.

8:20 Talk, "Some Interesting Visitors to the Lake," H. H. Bowen, Research Instructor in Zoology.

Colonel Powell Talks of Nepal

Noted Explorer and Author Speaks On Mysterious Nation In the Himalaya Mts.

THIS LECTURE IS THIRD IN UNIVERSITY SERIES

Praises Magnificent Patriotism of Native Indian Princes Willing to Resign Their Independence For India's Good

Col. E. Alexander Powell who has been appropriately called America's greatest traveler, presented the third lecture of the University series in the gymnasium Tuesday evening on the subject "The Last Home of Mystery."

Prof. E. C. Jacobs of the geology department introduced the speaker with a brief description of the latters extensive travels and the honors and positions which he has held. Colonel Powell, greeted by an enthusiastic burst of applause from the large audience present remarked previous to Professor Jacobs gracious introduction he had not realized his own versatility and the extent of his travels. He remarked that since he had just returned from a town of Russia and the Balkan States he would like to talk about them but that Professor Gifford had desired him to speak of India and Nepal. Colonel Powell divided his audience into two parts, one composed of students and the other of faculty members and townspeople. To the first he addressed his talk and for the benefit and amusement of the second, a series of colored slides. He stressed the fact that he did not intend to give a carefully prepared balanced speech like a professional speaker but that he would talk just as if he were in a private home in front of a fireplace.

Colonel Powell refrained from discussing the political situation of India because, as he said, of three reasons. In the first place he had not the time, the second his audience had probably gained a good idea of the situation from the newspapers, and in the third place, it is unwise to discuss a people involved in a political flux because of the sudden changes which occur over night.

"India," began the speaker, is divided into two parts. British India is composed of those portions of the peninsula of Hindustan which have been annexed by England. Interspersed with these portions are almost 500 native states which are entirely independent of British rule. These native states comprise one-third of the total area of India and two-fifths of the entire population. One might think that the native chiefs secure in wealth in power would oppose a United India in which they would lose their political prestige. But these chiefs, also imbued with a magnificent patriotism, are actually agitating for the status of a dominion for India, such as in the case of Australia and New Zealand."

Visits Maharajah

Colonel Powell proceeded to outline a visit which he paid to the Maharajah of Gwalior, a young but powerful prince of one of the largest native states. Colonel Powell and his cousin arrived by train and were greeted at their station by a sumptuous barge and by an imposing array of guards and footmen who conducted them to the "Guest House" which all rulers have. This house was large enough to accommodate thirty or forty people and was outfitted most magnificently. There the travelers stayed until an audience was granted them. While they were being entertained in the Palace by one of the high officials H. Highness arrived in a flurry of children from ten to sixteen years of age, slid down a glass banister and rushed out of the room. Such was the speaker's unusual introduction to one of the most important native princes. Colonel Powell proceeded to describe other high officials of various states and praised their unbounded hospitality.

Nepal is an independent group of land which lies in the heart of the Himalayas between India and Tibet. The Nepalese are a race apparently of Tartar stock and were long supposed to have entered this fastness from Tibet. Their religion, customs, and arts are in

(Continued on page 4)

Senior Indicates Scholarship and Versatility of George Perkins Marsh

By [illegible] (Chapel Speaker)

[illegible] Marsh, an eminent [illegible]

[illegible] changes occurred [illegible] and Napoleon spent [illegible] the industrial revolu[illegible] came the [illegible] and the Spanish Colonies [illegible] and the United States.

[illegible] men, all of whom took [illegible] of this country. His great-father John Marsh came to this [illegible] England in 1633 and two [illegible] to establish a colony in [illegible] Joseph, moved [illegible] territory then in [illegible] New Hampshire. Granite [illegible] and [illegible] of eminent [illegible] much interested in [illegible] events of the time. He [illegible] at the Provincial Congress of [illegible] After the Revolutionary [illegible] to the first General Assembly [illegible] state constitution and was [illegible] first lieutenant governor of [illegible]

Charles, the father of George Marsh, [illegible] lawyer and was appointed United States district attorney [illegible] Washington. Daniel Webster, [illegible] wished to study [illegible] Mr Marsh married the [illegible] and widow of a lawyer for [illegible] wife George Perkins was [illegible] son of this union.

Charles Marsh had a very good [illegible] and his son George, early became [illegible] with it. At the [illegible] of seven he injured his eyesight [illegible] the encyclopedia when his [illegible] thought he was playing. His [illegible] brother was a great scholar and at this time, while George was unable to read, Charles, Jr., read to him, [illegible] him in his love for study and gave him a background in Greek and Latin.

George Marsh went to Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., to prepare to enter Dartmouth College where his father, a graduate, was a trustee. While at Andover, he purchased a [illegible] of Sallust published in Salem in 1808, which was the first book in his library. He was graduated from Dartmouth in 1820 with first honors. While there he gathered many books for his library especially the classical [illegible] in Romance literatures and [illegible] and grammars with which to study them.

After his graduation he was offered a chair at Norwich University which he accepted that he might have access to the Dartmouth and Norwich libraries. He did not succeed as a teacher, and turned to the study of law.

His eyesight had become worse by much night study so that when he returned home, his father read law to him. He was admitted to the bar in 1825. He chose Burlington in which to practice, partly that he might enjoy the facilities of the University library. He was a very successful lawyer and was able to combine his practice with extensive study, giving much time to the subjects of philosophy and Icelandic grammar.

He married Harriet Buell, the daughter of a prominent Burlington family. After a period of ill health, Mrs. Marsh died, leaving two sons, Charles and George, Jr., Charles died a few days after the death of his mother, and George was sent to Woodstock to be cared for by his grandparents. He was a brilliant but delicate boy. Mr Marsh married Caroline Crane in 1839. She was the daughter of an able lawyer, a superior woman who assisted her husband in his work and, after his death, wrote his biography.

Transcendentalist

Mr. Marsh, before his second marriage, became a member of the Supreme Executive Council of Vermont. In 1842, he was elected the Whig representative to Congress, which post he held until 1849. He was greatly influenced by the transcendental movement which swayed Emerson and Thoreau. Addresses which were later published reflect his recognition of the problems of this period. He spoke against the existence of slavery in the territories. I believe that he was wholly a sectionalist and worked for the interests of New England. He pointed out the fact that it is doubtful that the southern president would have so readily signed the treaty with England, fixing the boundary line between Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Canada, if these states had been slave-holding instead of free states. He said that the Southerners knew how to [illegible] with slave [illegible] with it but he thought it would be injurious to have [illegible] in the territories. These arguments were used to justify New England and the West for their stand against the establishment of more slave states.

An important issue after 1825 was the tariff question. When the Jacksonian interests between the South and the West gained control of Congress the tariff was lowered. An effect of the War of 1812 was to cause New England to withdraw much capital from commerce and put it into manufacturing. New England, therefore, wanted a protective tariff while the South, being mainly agricultural, wanted free trade. The West was divided but cast her lot for a time with the South. Mr. Marsh made a speech for a high protective tariff. He was influenced by sectional feeling which was very strong in this country. At a later period, Mr. Marsh said that he was now able to see all sides of the question even though he would not vote for free trade.

The Manifest Destiny movement began in California in 1830 and the desire for new land became so strong that it could not be checked. The agitation for the Annexation of Texas began as a result of this situation. Mr. Marsh spoke against this plan because he felt that Texas would be another slave state which would give the South the upper hand. Texas was annexed, however, in 1845. The war with Mexico which followed this event may have been a result of the annexation. Mr Marsh felt that we had forced an unjust war upon a defenseless people. He criticized it also because of the cost. He said that the government would not be justified in levying a direct tax upon the people but would be unable to pay for it in any other way. Again his arguments show his sectionalism. The Mexican War was very unpopular in New England. Mr. Marsh, like Lowell, tried to justify the New England attitude toward the war. The true reason for their attitude probably was that they were opposed to more slave territory even though they were economically bound to the South. At this period I believe Mr. Marsh's attitude was, like Lowell's, "my country right and see that she is always right," but more New England than "my country."

President Taylor appointed Mr. Marsh the resident minister to Turkey in 1849. He had previously made a study of the camel and continued to work extensively on his material. The results of his research were sent to the new Smithsonian Museum which he had been instrumental in founding. He lived in Constantinople until 1852, when he was sent on a special mission to Greece in connection with an imprisoned missionary.

In 1854 he returned to Vermont and interested himself in the affairs of the state. It was the time when the railroads were being built and Mr. Marsh became a member of the commission for the Rutland Railroad. He remained a director for some time. He was also a trustee for the University of Vermont during this period.

Abraham Lincoln, in 1861, appointed Mr. Marsh as our first minister to the new, independent Italy. Undoubtedly he was stimulated by the efforts of the leaders of the Young Italy movement to establish and stabilize the new government. He was very well liked and admired there. His interest in the language and literature of the Italian people led him to collect many Italian books for the purpose of making an English-Italian dictionary. This work, which was never completed, was to have contained all the connotations of the words. Mr. Marsh held his post in Italy until he died at Vallombrosa, July 23, 1882.

Remarkable Linguist

George Marsh was a very able linguist, writing and speaking with ease Scandinavian and other European languages. He was a remarkable philologist for his day and a scholar of great breadth, being well informed on military science, engraving and physics as well as the art and literature of many countries. His published books, papers and addresses indicate the versatility and depth of his studies. He contributed papers to Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia and to the Nation. While he was in Burlington he wrote "A Compendious Grammar of Old Northern or Icelandic Languages." Other books followed rapidly. "The Camel, His Organization, Habits and Uses With Reference to His Introduction into the United States"; "Lectures on the English Language"; "The Origin and History of the English Language", "Man and Nature"; and "Medieval and Modern Saints and Miracles."

The Marsh Library

Mr Marsh's library was varied. It contained Icelandic sagas, collected old Icelandic, Danish and Swedish laws, and many ancient and modern works treating the language, literature and history of the ancient Scandinavian race. He owned many volumes of celebrated Danish, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, German and French authors. In English, he had a respectable collection, rare in this country, of the best authors, among which are many old chronicles and famous works such as Lord Berner's "Froissart," Roger Ascham, the writings of King James I, and John Smith's "Virginia," 1624 edition. A nearly complete collection of Greek and Latin classics is also included and books on alchemy, magic, witchcraft and astrology show another field of his interest.

After the death of Mr. Marsh, Mr. Frederick Billings bought the library and presented it to the University of Vermont, completing many unfinished sets. A special room was built to house this collection which today is the envy of many colleges.

This library reflects the personality of its collector. He was a quiet and and observant man who loved the out of doors and was interested in his fellowmen. He derived much pleasure from learning foreign languages, discovering scientific truths and making observations on nature. By recording his conclusions over a wide range of subjects, he contributed much to our cultural life. He was a man who was held in high regard by a wide circle of friends. His life was saddened, however, by the successive deaths of the members of his family and he buried himself more and more in his books, finding there a solace for his grief.

The published writings of George Perkins Marsh are of lasting value, and his collections of volumes form a notable monument to him.

A Student-at-Large

[illegible] I could think of [illegible] any that wouldn't sound like a sermon, but all I seem to have are [illegible] thoughts on a rather [illegible]

Life is full of strange paradoxes and the older we live, the more of them we discover. Even though some of us are grey-headed as yet. For example, we are told in early childhood that we should suppress our emotions, and later on we learn that our emotions are the ruling factors of our lives, that they really make us what we are and not what we might be. What a field of training by courses of emotions could be opened up here! And then take this matter of the machine which has come to be such an important factor in modern life. Many people seem to fear that man is becoming a machine himself because of this fact of its growing importance, but in actuality man is no more becoming a machine than his machines are becoming men. Machines are not self-dependent--when a car has a flat tire, however. Robotistic its tendencies may be, it certainly will not stop and change the tire itself! But even the most skillless man will usually tend to a hole in the sole of his shoe of his own accord, especially in the winter season. And the worst of this dependency is that the more useful and more accurate a machine becomes, the more attention it needs! Man is the most useful and most accurate of all the animals yet created, as far as science can determine, and yet he does not have to be handled with such a great deal more care than did the man of a thousand years ago. On the other hand, the microscope of today is by far the most delicate of its family of instruments, and has to be treated with infinitely more care than did the crude lenses of Hooke and Leeuwenhoek about 250 years ago.

Man dominates, and will continue to dominate, machines, because of the placing of this factor of dependence. Man is to some extent dependent upon machines, but if man must, he can do without them--as, for example, the [illegible] necessity forced upon U. V. M. students of having to walk to classes in the cool of a zero winter morning when their product of Henry Ford's genius refuses to function, no matter how much thinking is put into it. Machine cannot do without man--as little as it can do with some men, it will do less without them: the typewriter, for instance; an inspiring sight when the fingers of an expert are tripping merrily all over the keys, less of a pleasure when a hunt-and-puncher gets started, and of no worth at all in transcribing that English theme when neither is at the controls.

Man is sometimes nick-named "homo sapiens," even though he may not always deserve such an appellation. I don't know of any other "homo," but if we do set out to name the machine after man, "homo" is as far as we can get. Although created by homo sapiens, and endowed by him with some human characteristics, the best machine cannot think—even as feebly as the most feeble man. Admittedly, it would be extremely handy to have a machine which could think—we have machines to save us a step here and there, machines to add and subtract for us (so that we can immediately unburden our minds of the multiplication tables laboriously learned back in the grades), machines to write for us, but not a one which will relieve us of the onerous burden of thinking. We have a machine which will measure the change in the velocity of a light wave so minute that, if it were multiplied by ten thousand, the eye could not distinguish the difference. Yet this mechanism, far more accurate in its recording than the brain in back of the eye, has no means of applying the very information which it has gathered. All of our machines are like that. No matter how life-like a frame-work may house the mechanical "works," no amount of artistic—or surgical—skill can graft brain-processes onto a piece of steel.

Now the great challenge to man is: "What are you going to use this mind of yours for?" We have seen how the increase in efficiency of the machine has cleared away for man's brain much wasted time and labor; now it is up to man to do something useful with all this extra brain space. If you have ever tried putting it to use, then you must know what a "kick" one can get out of recognizing a job, having ambition enough to plunge into it, and work at it until it is well finished, and being proud of having cleared it up well. It is generally held, even today, that man has a soul—either a soul or a lamentable lack of one—perhaps an offspring of his brain. It may well be this part of our internal, higher makeup which gives us the capability of distinguishing between right and wrong, and depending upon the amount which we have exercised it, the power and courage to make our decisions in what we know to be the right direction. This is hardly the place for a theological discussion—especially of a question of this importance. Of course one should not do right all the time—by all means not, if for no better reason than to make sure that his sense of right and wrong is still in good working order.

This, then, is the heritage of future generations. Life is the big job facing man, and its interpretation as a whole varies with each individual. It is made up of innumerable smaller jobs, the meeting and conquering of which makes up the final success or failure of the job of life. If we go far enough, man appears to be nothing more than a mere cog in a great machine, but what a cog, and in what a machine! What a machine it is in which the parts have their choice of working well or poorly, in which one part may interfere greatly with another, or may inspire the other to a much higher end. . . .

See where we have landed from the start of paradoxes! From machines to life! What a strange thing to worry about machine dominance when modern scientific thought and research is driving towards the ultimate, whether it be the beginning or the end! From cell to nucleus, to nucleolus, to chromosome, to gene, and from country to world, to other worlds, to universe—how much further in each direction are we to progress? Machines must be used, thinking must be along certain formulated ways, and yet nothing is more new and unregulated than research here. Machine thinking is useless here. These are the most vivid of all the means of assistance rendered by the machine to man in helping him to reach further into the Beyond than ever before. Men can help each other in the same way, but to a much higher degree, if they will only give each other a chance—work by considerate cooperation, not by group coercion.

If I have been preaching, I beg the reader's most humble pardon—such was indeed not my purpose. I have no desire to preach; I merely aimed to set down a few rambling thoughts on a subject of general interest. Opinions these perhaps are, but certainly not doctrines, and I offer them for whatever little their worth as the former may be.

SAM B. BARKER.

LE CERCLE LAFAYETTE TO HEAR TWO SPEAKERS

Mrs. Paul Evans wife of Professor Evans of the history department, and Miss Shirley Andrews, graduate student will lead the meeting of Le Cercle Lafayette, which will be held Friday evening, December 12 at 8 o'clock.

The meeting is to be held at Martin's [illegible] room which is situated next to the Green Mountain Power Corporation on South Winooski Avenue.

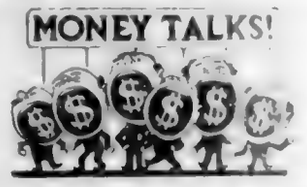
Miss Andrews will discuss in French the life and works of Paul Morand while Mrs. Evans, who has recently come from Paris and speaks French fluently will take part in the discussion.

A one act play whose title has not been as yet announced will be presented in French by several of the members. Following this refreshments will be served.

Women's basketball practice began in the gymn. Thursday afternoon, December 4, with Miss Alice Blanchard as coach. The schedule for practice is as follows:

Sophomores 4:00—4:30
Juniors and Seniors 4:30—5:00
Freshmen 5:00—5:30

The Mystic Pen



Words of the wise [illegible] really knows the [illegible] ballad in the street [illegible] beat the glance of the [illegible] and gait of the beast. Emerson

I didn't notice her [illegible]

The stage directions [illegible] Husband are going to [illegible] man quite an opportunity. His pantomimic [illegible] goes out bravely, but pronounced consciousness of doom." We wonder how to pronounce it. Dear, dear gentlemen, this is nothing like what Oscar Nitsky, [illegible] is going to put over with his play, "His Sweetheart's Ill." Recently mentioned here. Look at some of these: steps approach the door, toe mounts to the wrist to pump. He turns, [illegible] a last lingering look behind, features reflect calmness, [illegible] apprehension and [illegible] distance to the ground [illegible] turns out again he is [illegible] tinged with piquant [illegible] this: "Celia clasps her [illegible] Suddenly the dreaded [illegible] Joe has halitosis comes [illegible] then a sizzling offstage [illegible] oatmeal burning in the [illegible] pungent odor reaches [illegible] mental battle rages [illegible] practical soul struggles [illegible] romantic." And we will [illegible] dollar admission.

You may keep your [illegible] men, you will need [illegible] spring plowing.

Here you see a graphic [illegible] recent composite made [illegible] dred specimen letters, [illegible] dom from those studes [illegible] their parents. Some of [illegible] men will have no difficulty [illegible] yourselves. That's us the [illegible] center.

Little Radio Dramas of XLAX

Tonight, folksies, Foxy [illegible] first in a series of Little Radio [illegible] of XLAX.

Entitled: You can lead [illegible] water, but its more fun to [illegible]

He: Aha, me proud beauty, [illegible] you in my powah! How [illegible] a kiss, huh? I'll give it [illegible] I promise. Haw! Haw!

She: Never, never, Dan [illegible] that touch methyl alcohol [illegible] touch mine (cultured feminine [illegible]

He: Don't thwart me, [illegible] more—I'll tame you yet!

She: Oh! Oh! ! Oh! [illegible] you brute!

He: There! (sound of [illegible] foot coming out of a mud [illegible] peated) There! ! (sound) [illegible] (sound)

She: Oh! ! ! Oh! ! Oh! [illegible] (is heard at the door)

He: Who's thar?

Voice: Dick Fairywell [illegible] to rescue a damsel in distress.

She: Tell him to scram [illegible] or the book will be ended [illegible] reaches page 45.

Co-ed Notes: (last week) [illegible] you don't believe me [illegible] hygiene began Monday. No [illegible] . . ." My gosh, there must [illegible] run on soap that day. [illegible] what the girls did to keep [illegible] then. Thank the landlady [illegible] a convenient bathtub.

Daily Bull: I think I'll [illegible] lington over the Christmas [illegible] need the work, and nobody [illegible]

If that gorjus brunette [illegible] giving us such disconcerting [illegible] every time we pass her in [illegible] we are going to do something [illegible] Say "Hello," for instance.

I remember you from [illegible]

Mynette

She came to me the [illegible]
Immortalised my dream [illegible]
And so our passion's [illegible]
(Within the Mental Stream [illegible]
She was quite nice, and [illegible]
My moods became her [illegible]
Our meeting past, I [illegible]
She was my very own [illegible]
But then I woke, and [illegible]
And tho in dreams she [illegible]
She really has her other [illegible]
A few . . . ormaybe nine [illegible]

Yes, he's one of the [illegible] Chicago, you know.

On to Winooski!

SPORTING NEWS

Vermont To Have Veteran Sextet For Coming Season

Opening Game on Hockey Schedule is January 9 With Colgate—Amherst Is Here January 17 In First Of Four Home Matches

PROSPECTS LOOK VERY FAVORABLE FOR ICEMEN

...for the hockey team ...ut on Tuesday, when ...xercises were taken in ... veterans of last year's ...pt. "Frenchy" Mercier, ... and skill in stick han... him a valuable and ...

...ain, probably the best de... college, is certain to hold ... positions in front of ...ing forwards have al... ...culty in getting by his ... Hendrick, veteran ... see plenty of action be... "Leo" Segal, last year's ...pair up with Swain at de... in providing an impreg... thus relieving the goal ...reat part of his duties. ... pivot man and one of ...aters, will doubtless see ...work this coming season. ...rosh class possessed much ...rial and among the yearl... who earned their let... Jim" Wood and "Larry" ...des "Dick" Swain. These ...e back and should aid ...ham in building a team ...eteran sextet can be placed ... this year. With an eleven... ...dule in the offing all pros... ...carefully combed as cap... ...ates are necessary if suc... ...be attained.

...on the schedule are ...Hamilton, Dartmouth, Am... R. P. I. The first three ... to be played on alien ter... ...nning January ninth and ... on the fifteenth when the ... meet the big Green from ... Hockey enthusiasts will ... the team on home ice when ... Vermonters line up against the ... on January seventeenth.

Manager "Dan" Colburn when interviewed reported "prospects look very ... and plenty of action will be ... by the team."

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Harriet Platt, '32, passed chocolates, ... evening, December 1, announcing her engagement to Francis Bolles, ... Delta Psi.

The annual fall dance was held on ... garden of the Vermont, Saturday, November 30, from eight until ... The Black Pirates played.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

A bridge party was held Wednesday ... December 3 at the Theatre ...

The annual fall dance was held at the Phi Chi rooms, on Saturday, November 30. Dick Holbrook played.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The annual Christmas Bazaar will be held at the Alpha Chi house, December ...

Mary Leighton, '23, who lives in the Alpha Chi house, is on a trip to ... in the interests of the 4-H ...

SIGMA GAMMA

A tea for the patronesses was given ... rooms, Tuesday, December 2. ... Cochran and Mae Tinkham ...

KAPPA DELTA

Thomas Chisholm, Inspector General, ...polis, was the guest of ... tea given Sunday, Novem...

... classes in bowling, an extra ... activity, under the direc... department of physical edu... women met Wednesday, De... at 3:00 and 4:00 o'clock at ... alleys on Church Street ... are located opposite the ... two doors from the Alps ... upstairs, and are given ... to the women of the Uni... 00 and 4:00 on Wednes... charge is 10c a string.

... Jennings is now holding ...rences with all the fresh... ...phomore women.

... pictures are being taken at ...nters' club house by ap...

RULES INTERPRETATION MEETING WILL BE HELD

O'Brien Will Be Interpreter At Basketball Confab To Be Conducted Tomorrow

Harold I. O'Brien of Rutland, president of the Vermont State Board of Basketball officials, has been selected as interpreter of rules at a meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the U. V. M. gymnasium, according to an announcement from H. B. Levine, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Immediately after the Rules Interpretation confab a meeting of Vermont State Board will be held. After this exams will take place for those men who desire to become officials Practical examination will also be required of these candidates.

Classes of instruction for would-be officials started Tuesday and will be held for the next three weeks, every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. in the auxiliary gym. These classes will be conducted by H. B. Levine. At the end of the course examinations will be given and a satisfactory grade will give candidates the right to apply for membership in the Vermont State League of approved basketball officials.

These classes are held in attempt to raise the standards of officiating in Vermont basketball games, both scholastic and independent teams. The course is open to anyone interested.

The officers of the Vermont State Board are: president, Harold I. O'Brien of Rutland; vice-president, Howard A. Prentice of Burlington; secretary-treasurer, Hyman B. Levine of Burlington. The local members are as follows: Harry Albert, J. F. Lambert, H. B. Levine, P. C. Marston, H. A. Prentice, Clifton Price, Archie Post, H. M. Wallace, F. A. Winchenbach, and F. W. Whitmarsh.

RIFLE PRACTICE NOW TAKES PLACE DAILY

Rifle team practice started Monday and will take place every afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock in the men's rifle range. All those who desire to try out for the squad should report immediately. Freshmen and sophomores who come out will be excused one period a week from physical training classes.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT TO BE GIVEN SUNDAY WEEK

The annual Christmas concert presented by the University chorus will take place Sunday afternoon, December 14, at 4 o'clock in the Ira Allen chapel.

The Rev. Doctor Smart will officiate as chaplain of the day.

A program now being arranged will consist of most of the Christmas Oratorio by Bach and the cantata of the second day of Christmas. Handel's Messiah and a few Christmas carols will also be sung. The choir assisted by the University orchestra will sing with Miss Miriam Natilee Marston as organist and Miss Charlotte deVolt, concert master, playing the violin obligato.

UNUSUAL
CHRISTMAS GIFTS
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

CAT'S MEOW

Sporting Editor

Vermont opens the basketball season tomorrow night on the home floor. Four games will be played before the Christmas vacation but the first trip out-of-town will not take place until January 9 when the Catamount quintet will go to Durham N. H. to meet New Hampshire State.

It would now seem that Coach Bunny Prentice will pick his starting line-up with Captain Wally Sargent at center, Tupper and Durfey as forwards, and Tobin and Winant, guards. There are also several others who are practically certain to appear during the game.

Tomorrow the interclass basketball tournament gets under way with a game between the seniors and the juniors. This is something new conducted by the physical education department and should excite some interest. Later there will be an interfraternity tournament, but in the present case, fraternity lines will be cut.

The great football attraction tomorrow will be the game between Notre Dame and Southern California, two of the best teams in the country. Notre Dame has not been beaten this year and it looks as if Knute Rockne will come through the season with a clean slate. Mohler, quarterback of the California Steam Rollers, is the high scoring ace in the West with 108 points to his season's credit, and is the man that the Easterners will have to stop.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL GAMES START TOMORROW

Tournament Opens With Contest Between Seniors and Juniors

Tomorrow will see the commencement of the interclass basketball campaign at which time the seniors will play the juniors immediately after a rules interpretation meeting by Archie Post. This means that the game will probably start at 4 p.m.

Next Monday at 6:30 p.m. the sophs will take on a frosh squad handpicked from those freshmen present.

It is absolutely necessary for each man to be exactly on time, so that there might be no delay in selection of men, reading of rules, and start of the game.

Each game will consist of four eight minute periods.

According to the Williamette Collegians, the undergraduate paper at Williamette College, the following answers were given by freshmen at that institution in an intelligence test given them at the beginning of this school year: Lady Astor is the wife of the King of England; Madam Curie is a fake healer; Jack Dempsey is an ex-champion golfer; George Clemenceau is a humorist; Helen Keller is a famous woman swimmer; Carl Sandburg is a jockey; Edith Wharton wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

Select your CHRISTMAS
Remembrances
at the
"Home of Real Gifts"
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts. Phone 629

Basketeers Open Season Tomorrow on Home Floor

Catamounts Await First Test With Sun Life Insurance Company To Oppose Them—Starting Line-up Not Definitely Settled

SHAM-PLAINS

Again Havit Dun goes on a rampage. He proposed to Maple Nap for the fifty-fifth time this season and lost again 55 to 0. The poor fish doesn't realize his luck and like all disappointed lovers has sat him down and poured out his blues in a minor key entitled, "Tragedy in a Gold-fish Bowl."

One fish cost a quarter
The other cost a dime,
But the she fish wouldn't give the he fish any time
Said the he fish to the she fish,
"Your black spots are divine"
Said the she fish to the he fish,
"Minnow, you only cost a dime"
Said the he fish to the she fish
"This bowl is a wee bit lonely,
Don't you think if we had two more
You could learn to be my only?"
Said the she fish to the he fish
"Go jump into the lake and see if for you mourning I would take."
Said the he fish to the she fish,
"For you my life I'd take,
Hear I go then,"—then plunk into the lake.
Said the she fish to the he fish,
"My black spots are divine,
If he had stuck around I might have forgotten that line, about my costing a quarter and he only a dime."

PHYZ ED NOTES

Beginning this week the department of physical education has initiated a new program.

Classes in tumbling will be held every afternoon at 2 o'clock under the direction of A. T. Post.

Basketball officiating will be conducted under H. B. Levine every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock to both outsiders and students.

Regular physical training classes for freshmen will be held by A. T. Post and for the next few months basketball training will be given.

For all upperclassmen boxing will be given Mondays and Tuesdays, and wrestling Wednesdays and Thursdays. All sophomores are required to take these courses until later when special activities will be considered. These courses will be under the supervision of H. B. Levine.

"Cut the whiskers off this joke, Joe, and put it in," said the foreman.

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2080

OPPONENTS REPUTED TO HAVE STRONG FIVE

Tomorrow night will initiate the official opening of the 1930-31 basketball schedule at the University of Vermont with the appearance of the Sun Life Insurance Company of Canada on the local court. The visitors are newcomers on the Green and Gold schedule. In the past several years it has been customary for the Montreal A. A. A. quintet to open the basketball season here. This year however the Montreal team is not playing any competitive schedule, and only through much hard work on the part of Graduate Manager Abell was it possible to secure the Sun Life team for exhibition.

Little is known regarding the strength of the Canadians, but it is understood that this team hopes to represent the Dominion of Canada in the British Olympics.

The game should be of much interest to the followers of this sport at Vermont, as it opens up a new régime under the direction of "Bunny" Prentice, who is working hard in an attempt to pull the fortunes of the Catamounts out of the slump into which they have so ingloriously fallen within the past few seasons. With only a small amount of first-class material from which to build up a team the coach has his work cut out before him.

The starting line-up with the exception of Capt. Wally Sargent has not been settled definitely and according to Coach Prentice any of the following men are likely to see service: Tupper, Pires, Dober, Talbert, Tobin, Mahoney, and Allerton in addition to the candidates who have just reported from the football team, namely, Winant, Bedell, and Durfey.

All members of the class of 1931 who have not yet received their Ariels are requested to get them at the Bookstore. Also, those who ordered copies last year should get them now.

"Nine holes a day keep the doctor away."

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on
GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

WE NOW HAVE ON DISPLAY
ATTRACTIVE CHRISTMAS CARDS WITH THE UNIVERSITY SEAL.
Don't Wait! Buy Now
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

DEWEY CLUB LEARNS OF HUMAN RELATIONS

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] the speaker pointed out that we must come to the realization that temperament seem to be plastic and not always pre- [illegible] and that some responses are predetermined by previous experience.

Psychology substitutes the study of organized and behavior complexes and consummatory action and rejects [illegible] and repression, said the professor whom he showed how closely related physiology is to the last mentioned science.

It was learned that the pressure of the social situation has a strong controlling influence and we find our actions making creatures men of the group and of the various groupings in which we act.

"Take away family life, the neighborhood in which we live the play group and the school group and what have we left?" asked Professor Clifford. And the answer was, "nothing."

An attempt to define the structure of social existence in the study of sociology, paid the speaker as another [illegible] was omitted and placed upon the proper classification.

"Science" it was pointed out is the pathway in which we find fact just as a fact plays in the way we make lives in society. We find ourselves in an established social order with fixed customs, conventions and laws and we act certain functions and rights. We demand freedom and justice. To our instincts the cry of slavery says "Very well but what have we done with these privileges who for us to claim them there must be a mutual agreement." We come face to face with the fact that rights imply duties and duties imply rights.

Thus we find ourselves unwittingly [illegible] in the study of civics which brings about a combination between norms of personal conduct and [illegible] and the desire for freedom and the need of a stable social life.

A further study of the social order we find leads into such subdivisions as politics, law, economics, social psychology and social ethics.

"As we study ourselves," declared Professor Clifford, "we find that we are members of a species called homo sapiens and that we are closely related to other primates.

The discussion here merged into anthropology which tells of the races of mankind and their place in the animal kingdom.

"The species homo sapiens, has slowly toiled up from a way of life little above the apes" explained Professor Clifford in relating of man's ascent. "It a form of sedentary living is a natural civilization and then upward to the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome."

Next man's cultural advance was found to date from the beginning of writing with which came the possibility of history, expression and communication. Literature and history enter as the initiation into the spiritual life of humanity.

As one asks what is nature? and what is man? Philosophy enters to weave these various [illegible] of thought into a coherent pattern and all the parts of all the sciences is integrated, studied and correlated.

Philosophy is the apex of mental endeavor declared Professor Clifford, and in closing he likened the sciences to the spokes of a wheel all radiating from a common hub and all held together as it were, by the rim or tire which is philosophy.

OFFER EUROPEAN TRIP FOR ESSAYS ON PEACE

An award of a European trip will be made to the student winning first place in a national contest on some phase of international relations sponsored by the League of Nations Association.

The prize will be awarded for the best essay on the following subjects:

1. A critical survey of the political and economic aspects of the proposed federation of European States. 2. An estimate of the value of the mandate system. 3. Disarmament: obstacles, prospects, and accomplishments. 4. An economic program for the League of Nations. 5. Harmonizing the league covenant with the Pact of Paris. 6. Growth of international cooperation through the League of Nations. 7. An evaluation of the effectiveness of the League of Nations as a guarantor of the rights of minorities.

Any undergraduate regularly enrolled in any university, college or professional school during March [illegible] may compete in this contest. Three copies of essays of not more than 3,000 words, typewritten, double spaced, on one side of the sheet only, and in accordance with the usual requirements of manuscript form and style. Details of the contest may be obtained by writing to the League of Nations Association, New York City.

Thirteen Fraternities Have Varied Supervision For Home Study Hours

[illegible] hours this year but last year their study hours were 8:30 to 12 p.m.

Phi Sigma Delta study hours are from 7:30 p.m. onward with absolute quiet. Four nights each week pledgees [illegible] are required to study at the house.

Tau Epsilon Phi maintains study hours from 7:30 p.m. daily. All freshmen with low marks are instructed and must be present at the house each night. All men not living at the fraternity must leave previous to study hours.

COL. ALEXANDER POWELL LECTURES ABOUT NEPAL

(Continued from page 1)

town, and were lucky enough to secure his permission to enter the country. The speaker described very vividly the tortuous crossing of the only pass in the Himalayas and the beauties of the country beyond. After this extremely interesting visit to Nepal, Colonel Powell returned to Europe via Bagdad and Arabia over the overland route.

Following the talk Colonel Powell describes at length the colored slides of scenes in Nepal as they were projected on the screen. This display terminated a most interesting lecture, drew a large audience of students, faculty, and townspeople and excited their very favorable comment.

It made me simply ill when all those big brutes fell on poor little Albie Booth.

"I've changed my mind."
"Does it work any better?"

Tutor X Students

Lambda Iota study hours extend from 7 p.m. till late into the night. All students having grades of X are [illegible]. Before midyears a two weeks period study hours are maintained during the afternoon.

Phi Mu Delta has study hours from 7:30 p.m. onward every night. An attempt is made to raise low grades. Full time is devoted to study before midyears.

Alpha Tau Omega has decreed study hours to be enforced from 7:30 p.m. until 10:00 p.m.

Phi Delta Theta study hours are from 7 p.m. till all studying is completed. All pledges with precarious grades must study at the chapter house three hours each night for five nights a week. Absolute silence is required and upperclassmen supervise and assist needy freshmen.

Kappa Sigma study hours cover the period from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight each night. Pledges study at the house from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. each night. Upperclass supervision is maintained. Before midyears full time devoted to the books.

Evening Previous

Sigma Phi fraternity studies from 7:30 to 10 each evening. All freshmen or sophomores having low marks are required to study at the house the evening previous to the meeting of the class in which they are low. Study hours are maintained Monday afternoons at this fraternity. The entire

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.
Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.
Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies.
Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

The Ideal Hotel for You In BOSTON
Is the NEW Hotel MANGER
At North Station
Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden
500 ROOMS
Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower ♥ Built-in-Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) ♥ Servidor Circulating Ice Water.
New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel
Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service.
RATES—ROOM AND BATH
FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00
FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00
No Higher Rates

PLEDGES ANNOUNCED BY MEDICAL FRATERNITIES

The medical fraternities Nu Sigma Nu and Phi Chi announce the following pledges:

Nu Sigma Nu

E. L. Gibson, Hardwick, Vt., J. L. [illegible], Jr., Nurse, N. Y., R. F. DeWitt, Shoreham, Vt., W. M. Flagg, N. Attleboro, Mass., E. Giannarelli, Barre, Vt., A. Sharples, Jr., New Bedford, Mass., C. B. Foster, Underhill, Vt., H. E. Karr, Barre, Vt.

Phi Chi

J. F. Buglino, Brooklyn, N. Y., P. R. Ransom, Castleton, Vt., P. G. Rowand, New Canaan, Conn., B. P. Schurman, Springfield, Mass., T. Olson, Brattleboro, Vt., J. J. Ready, Rutland, Vt., K. F. Searles, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

At a concert an old man was given the job of collecting tickets at the door. After a time he sought out the secretary.

"I think there is going to be trouble for you," he whispered mysteriously.

"Why, what's the matter?"

"Bigamy no less," was the ticket collector's awed reply. "I've let in two women who said they were the secretary's wife, and now there's a third wanting to come in."

FRATERNITIES ANNOUNCE MEN RECENTLY PLEDGED

Five fraternities have announced the last announcements. They are as follows:

Lambda Iota

D. F. Germann, [illegible], A. D. Pond, Richford, Vt.

Kappa Sigma

E. G. Saba, Willimantic, [illegible], Richmond, Orleans, Vt., J. [illegible], Dedham, Mass.

Sigma Delta

W. P. Stetson, New Haven, W. L. Shippee, West Dover, [illegible] Lunna, Newport Center, Vt., [illegible] Paris, Burlington, Vt., R. [illegible] Ferrisburg, Vt., F. P. Kenyon, Vt., H. J. Sheldon, [illegible], Vt.

Phi Sigma Delta

S. F. Morris, Brooklyn, N. [illegible]

Zeta Chi

S. A. Dutton, Windham, [illegible] Morrison, Jr., Barnet, Vt., [illegible] ketson, Stowe, Vt., J. A. [illegible] ford, Vt.

What's YOUR favorite pipe tobacco?

Most PRINCETON men smoke—

IF you walk along Prospect Street in Princeton you'll notice how many men load their pipes from the familiar blue Edgeworth tin. At Senior Singing on the steps of Nassau Hall this spring the pipes will glow with Edgeworth.

A pipe and Edgeworth—this is the smoking combination that has won the college man. Yale, Dartmouth, Cornell, Illinois, Stanford . . . all agree with Princeton.

College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their choice: Try Edgeworth yourself. Taste its rich natural savor that is enhanced immeasurably by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process.

You will find Edgeworth at your nearest tobacco shop—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, address Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

I Got Rhythm

Burbling Brook flow to this

URGENT . . . yet as various as a young girl's whims . . . a syncopated steeplechase of Ole Man Trouble . . . Mister, you sure got music when you dance to Victor Record No. 22558!

Arden and Ohman—no lusty ivory-ticklers quite like them—record this Broadway wow for Victor with their own most understanding band.

Note list below. Each is a meaty wallop—matchless of its kind. Victor records what you want—first . . . and the greatest orchestras and artists, from jazz to symphony, record for Victor—exclusively!

Hear These!

Victor Records
22558—"I GOT RHYTHM" and "EMBRACEABLE YOU" Arden & Ohman Orch.

22512—"WILL YOU REMEMBER VIENNA" and "I BRING A LOVE SONG" Leo Reisman & Orch.

23010—"PENALTY OF LOVE" and "LOVIN' YOU THE WAY I DO" Rubber Riley & His Mileage Makers

23015—"MY MAN FROM CAROLINE" and "I LIKE A LITTLE GIRL LIKE THAT" Joe Venuti & His Orch.

The Music You Want When You Want It . . . on

Victor Records

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1930 — NUMBER 23

DEAN CHARLES BROWN IN VESPERS ASKS: HAVE WE OUTGROWN BIBLE?

Yale Divinity Professor Answers That Spirit and Not Letter of of Book Is Important

LITERAL INTERPRETATION OF BOOK DETRIMENTAL

...is a record of a long pro...ation to a chosen peo... Dr. Charles R. Brown, ...s of the Yale Divinity ...ing at the vesper service ...en Chapel last Sunday

...an took as his subject, ...erown the Bible?" ...make Wm. J. Bryan's ...interpreting the Bible ...d Doctor Brown.

...e that two or three ac... ...sometimes more exist of ... incident in the Bible. ...ontrary accounts of the ...s and its contents, the ten ...ts and even creation

...views of the Bible ex... ...g the development of ...zation which are contra... ...mselves."

...ch leads us to believe the ... Bible rather than the ...nued the Yale divinity ... right to expect imper... from an imperfect race ... When the race was a ... as a child. The contra... ...ents of later-day writers ...es farther advanced ... divine doctrine than ...preceded them. As the ... it replaced the imper... ...and doctrines of earlier ...more perfect and more ... The books of the Bible ...into the people of the ...are truths which are ...those which are dic...

Spirit, Not Letter

...we do not accept the letter ... we do still accept the ... Bible, the values in the ... not outgrown," maintained ... "Nothing is so good as ... do not think of God as the ... of ancient times thought of ... the spirit is the same with ... with them. We may have ... expressions, but reality re... same.

"...are two kinds of literature," ...Brown. "The literature of ... the literature of power.

"The literature of fact is here today ...tomorrow, but the literature ... lasts forever. The Bible is an ... example of the literature of ...

"We can never outgrow the Bible ... outgrow the need of expe... Was Doctor Brown's opinion. "We ... outgrow the sight of the ... Canyon, the sight of the Can... Cathedral, Macbeth or Hamlet, ... shall we outgrow the Bible. ... the Bible shows us Jesus ... the greatest influence the ... known, and that book ... teaches His doctrines and shows ... I want in my hand, in ... and most of all in my heart."

Not Outgrown

"...we outgrown the Bible? I ...in that in the light which ... path that goeth upward we ... now and forever more."

...ical program of the vesper ...

...ude, "Nazareth"...Gounod ...Tallis' Canon ...And the Glory of the Lord," ...siah"...Handel ..."A Mighty Fortress" (with ...Dumittis"...Gretchaninoff ..."A Mighty Fortress" ...Luther ...Fantasia on Christ... ...Bonnet

SCABBARD AND BLADE TO GIVE FORMAL BALL

...and Blade, the senior military society, will spon... ...nual Military Ball on Jan... ...evening before the last ...Years. This ball, which is ...given every year, and is al... ...event. It will most likely ...the Auditorium, but nothing ...known as yet concerning ...ittee or other details.

PLATO'S DIALOGUES WILL FEATURE GREEK MEET

Eta Sigma Phi, Greek honorary society will hold its December meeting this evening at 7 o'clock at South College.

Readings from Plato's "Dialogues" will feature the program, which will furnish a lead for the January meeting at which members will appropriately celebrate the 240th anniversary of the birth of Socrates, the Greek philosopher.

In October the society celebrated the 200th anniversary of the birth of Vergil. Several members gave short talks and Professor L. M. Prindle of the Latin department, offered several remarks in the ensuing discussion.

At the November meeting plans were made for the entertainment of Prof. Marbury Ogle, of Ohio State University, who recently lectured on the life and works of Vergil.

Eta Sigma Phi is a Greek society devoted to the purpose of fostering the study of the Greek and Latin classics and to develop an extensive appreciation of Greek and Roman culture among students.

PHI BETA KAPPA TAKES SENIORS WITH HIGHEST SCHOLASTIC AVERAGES

Charles Knapp, Louis Lisman, and Esther Mandigo Honored by Scholastic Society

FALL ELECTION ADMITS HALF LAST YEAR'S NUMBER

Three seniors, Charles W. Knapp, Louis Lisman and Esther C. Mandigo, were elected Friday to Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic society by virtue of having maintained a scholastic average higher than 90 for the last three years of their college course.

Initiation of the three members will take place this afternoon at five-thirty o'clock at the Lilian Allen Club. A banquet at six-thirty will follow the initiatory service.

Although the fall elections to Phi Beta Kappa are nearly always smaller than the elections at commencement time, the number elected this year was smaller than usual. Last fall six were elected.

Knapp and Miss Mandigo are both enrolled in the classical course and have no fraternity affiliations except with Eta Sigma Phi, honorary society of Greek and Latin students, in which Knapp is local president and holds a national office.

Lisman is a member of Phi Sigma Delta fraternity. He is enrolled in the literary scientific course.

Knapp came to the University from Freeport, N. Y., having prepared at New York Preparatory School. He is married and works as an accountant in addition to his college work.

Lisman prepared at Burlington High school. He is editor of the Varsity Outing, president of the Junior Class, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, Grey Friars Society, and University debating team. He has twice won prizes in the Kingsley prize speaking contest, and during the past two years has won four prizes in the debating contest for the Lawrence prizes.

Miss Mandigo prepared at Richford High School. She won a Honored entrance prize her freshman year and the Kirby Flower Smith junior scholarship in Latin. She was a member of the Student Union Council, junior class president at Rounseville and a member of the Glee Club and double quartet.

Owing to a University policy of some years' standing the three year averages of the new members and their relative standing was not made public. They are listed alphabetically.

Lisman, only recently twenty years of age, is one of the youngest members of the class, and Knapp, nearly twenty-seven, is one of the oldest.

Charles Knapp and Louis Lisman, who with Esther Mandigo were honored Friday, as the three highest standing students in the senior class, by election to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholarship society. The initiation will be held tonight.

GREY FRIARS DISCUSS MEMBERS' CREATIONS

Three manuscripts, written by the members were read and criticized at a social meeting of Grey Friars, held at 8 o'clock last Thursday evening at the suite of J. C. Carter in South Converse Hall.

Edmour Germain, '31, read a humorous short story, entitled, "The Two Editors." Robert Hyde, '32, read a short story dealing with gypsy life and Joseph Carter, '31, submitted an editorial letter dealing with the road building program.

Refreshments were served and a general discussion was held on writing and discussing manuscripts.

The next meeting will be in the Marsh Room at Billings Library on December 12, when H. R. Butman, '34, and A. L. Bartlett, '34, will be initiated.

Grey Friars was established in the spring of 1928 for the promotion of fellowship, and interest in writing. The members of the group must present evidence of their desire and ability to write and to appreciate good literature, writing and intellectual accomplishments of this sort.

Several openings are now present and any man who is interested in the activities of Grey Friars is requested to submit two manuscripts in different fields of literature, poetry, essays, short stories, plays, sketches, novels, etc. A combination of two of these gives the most desirable basis for judgment of the literary ability of an individual. Because of the exclusive nature of the organization, only those men demonstrating an ability to do creative writing are admitted.

Student Troupe To Present Queen's Husband Thursday

Cast of Fifteen Will Take Parts in Sherwood's Royal Comedy—Roberta Powers and Harvey Butterfield Have Two of Leading Rôles

Y. W. C. A. TO SPONSOR ORIENTAL BAZAAR AND DINNER FESTIVAL SAT.

Costumed Clerks Will Sell Favors Food and Delicacies—Black Pirates To Play

An oriental bazaar, dinner and festival will be sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. from 3-6 o'clock, Saturday evening December 13 at the Burlington High School Gymnasium.

The occasion is under the supervision of Lillian Mount, '32 assisted by Florence Huntley, '33.

There will be no admission to the Bazaar. At the six booths along the sides of the room which will be taken charge of by girls in oriental costumes, one can buy favors all imported ranging in price from ten cents to three dollars, which will make excellent Christmas gifts.

From 6:00-7:30 a supper consisting of oriental delicacies will be served in the B. H. S. cafeteria by waitresses clad in Eastern costumes.

The oriental atmosphere will be accentuated by strains of soft music. From 7:30-11:00 Dolenko's "Black Pirates" in the dress of nationalities from the Orient will play for the Oriental Festival in the gymnasium which will be lighted by Japanese lanterns. The bazaar booths will be open at this time also.

The committees in charge are: Dinner, Florence Huntley, '33, and Katrina Munn, '32; Favors, Beatrice Freeman, '32, Vera Chadburne, '31, Elisabeth Mandigo, '32; Booths, Sylvia Boyd, '33; Advertising, Beatrice Freeman, '32, Daisy Putnam, '34; Dance, Ruth Small, '31, Georgina Hubert, '31; Sale of tickets, Eleanor Koenig, '31, Lillian Mount, '32. Many freshman members of the Association are working on the committees.

MEN'S MUSICAL GROUP ENTERTAINS AT S. HERO

Before a large audience, the Men's Glee Club of the University of Vermont, presented a musical program Friday night at 8 o'clock at the South Hero Town Hall. The concert was directed by Prof. H. G. Bennett of the music department and managed by J. O. Percival, '31.

The program included several choral numbers, two instrumental solos and two numbers by an instrumental trio and piano.

The players in the trio were: Flute, R. S. Jenks, '32, Cello, David Jenks, '34, Clarinet, F. W. Householder Jr., '32. Professor Bennet acted as accompanist.

The men's double quartet is composed of W. Kearnes '34, R. S. Jenks '32, G. Rieker '34, J. H. Jardine, '34, A. A. Scharbrius Jr. '32, N. C. Dwight '34, G. W. Burroughs Jr., '34 and J. O. Percival '31.

The complete program:

1. Dominic Sal Am Far Pattiam Nos ...
...
2. Deep River a Negro Spiritual
3. Soldiers' Chorus, from Faust ...Gounod

The Glee Club

4. Sur le Lac ...Godard

Cello Solo, David Jenks

5. Since First I Saw Your Face (17th century) ...Thomas Ford
6. Marching ...L. Berthoven

Two Hundred Quartet

7. Ballet in D minor from "Orpheus" ...Gluck
8. Minuet from L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2 ...Bizet

Flute Solo, Robert Jenks

9. A-hunting We Will Go. ...English
10. Volga Boat Song ...Russian
11. Bierwaltzer

The Glee Club

12. Introduction to Act III ...Bizet Carmen
13. Norwegian Dance ...Grieg

Instrumental Trio

14. The Three Doves ...Italian
15. Andalucia ...Spanish

ROBERT AIKEN, VETERAN, TO ASSUME TITLE ROLE

With Robert Aiken '31 playing the title rôle, Roberta Powers '31 the part of Queen Martha and Harvey Butterfield, '31, the King's secretary, the University student troupe will present "The Queen's Husband" the thrilling comedy of royal family life in Merland Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Strong Theatre.

Special student prices of $1.00 and 75 cents have been arranged by Wig and Buckle, the dramatic society. The regular prices to all others are $1.50 and $1.00. Reserve seats must be secured at the ticket office of the Strong Theatre.

Vouchers at Bookstore

Vouchers will be on sale at the Bookstore. They must be bought tomorrow and Thursday morning they are exchangeable at the Strong Robert Aiken, '31, veteran actor who assumes the title rôle in the Queen's Husband.

Theatre today, Wednesday and Thursday. If tickets are purchased at the theatre the price will be one dollar and one dollar and a half, the same as to the general public. It seems that in the past the fall play has always been rather poorly attended and it does not seem fair to those who take a part in the play and spend many hours rehearsing for it that their work should be so poorly appreciated.

Elizabeth Cory '31, will assume the rôle of Princess Anne and Sam Barker, '32 will play Doctor Fellman, an anarchic university professor.

The Cast

The complete cast of characters:

Frederick Grafton, Harvey Butterfield, '31; Phipps, Charles Libbie, '34; Lord Burton, Benjamin Bauer, '31; First Lady-in-Waiting, Marion Kell, '32; Princess Anne, Elizabeth Cory, '31; Queen Martha, Roberta Powers, '31; Second Lady-in-Waiting, Mila Anderson, '34; Third Lady-in-Waiting, Isabel Hemmes, '32; General Northrup, Jack Bradish, '31; King Leo VIII, Robert Aiken, '31; Major Blent, Paul Westin, '32; soldier, Robert Stewart, '34; Doctor Fellman, Sam Barker, '32; Prince William, Edward Fitzgerald, '34; Lance Allen, Scharbrius, '32.

The understudies are: for Butterfield, Paul Westin, '32; for Miss Cory, Margaret Martin, '32; for Miss Powers, Hope Ranslow, '32; for Aiken, Fred Householder, '32; for Fitzgerald, Robert Stewart.

Robert Emmet Sherwood's play "The Queen's Husband" centered in past Jean I. Merland is modern in theme and depicts a struggle between a progressive and a hidebound party. It is a clever presentation of royal life with the characteristics of American comic relief in perhaps American comic life with a royal setting.

The Queen Rules

The play is laid in the land of Merland, an imaginary kingdom lying somewhere between Denmark and Scotland. The ruler of the country is, in reality, the Queen in name the Queen's husband. The play presents a fine picture of court and political intrigue.

The Vermont Cynic

The Official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor

Associate Editor
A. J. Fitzgerald, '31

Feature Editor
Edmund A. Germain, '31

W. G. MacDonald, '32

S. N. Spiller, '32
T. I. Taylor, '32

Assistant Business Manager
Mildred Cole '32

Assistant Business Managers
Elsette Harkness, '32

Margaret Mower, '32

Assistant Business Manager
J. J. Tracy, '32

G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Published semi-weekly during the college year.

Entered at the post office at Burlington as second class matter under the act of March 3, 1879. Acceptance for mailing at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 December 9, 1930 No. 23

"THE QUEEN'S HUSBAND"

The University Players production [illegible] night should not be repeated. The product of much time and much work [illegible] should earn its reward in a capacity house of student supporters.

[illegible] seen the lament of the dramatic societies and justly, [illegible] the attitude of the student body towards their presentations has been markedly indifferent. Never yet has it turned out in overwhelming numbers to applaud the players, nor is a forthcoming production as much a matter of speculative interest and anticipative [illegible] as even the most mediocre of athletic contests.

We feel this condition to be an abnormal one and not the matter for pride which the less intellectual, the pseudo-"red-blooded he-men" sometimes regard it. There is no reason for regarding a college play, the epitome of intellectualized extra-curricular activity, one of the most enthralling of all student presentations to watch, as less to be supported than the college game.

The college play is a high-water mark of student campus activity. It is the result of careful casting, good coaching and hard work. The [illegible] life portrayed on the stage is at least as interesting as the game staged on the gridiron, the controversy in the editorial columns of the college paper, or the lecture which packs the gymnasium with its hundreds of auditors.

We recommend "The Queen's Husband" to all and sundry for an evening's pleasant entertainment. The play is one of the most amusing to be presented in many seasons, the actors have appeared in other productions in the past and have played their parts well, and Director Metcalf's coaching accounts as finished a production as can be expected. We would suggest the heartiest support for the play not merely simply as a dramatic production of the University—but, with zest and play so admirable, our support as, if possible, even stronger. It seems to us that nothing but a full house could do justice to this year's fall play.

THROUGH TRAFFIC

[illegible] being the occupation of college editors, if student leaders and administrative officials must be their slaves, the [illegible] of college existence is not all that it ought to be, even the campus [illegible] of college years, or the comfort of [illegible].

[illegible] understood that each issue of [illegible] is read [illegible] college student [illegible] the [illegible] of administrative [illegible] and [illegible] editorial [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTING NEWS

Catamount Quintet Cedes Opening Game To Sun Life

Montreal Hoopsters Win 24-17—Tobin and Sargent Vermont Stars—Merritt and Thomas Score High for Sun

OUTPLAYED CATS NEED MORE BASKET PRACTICE

first game under the Coach Howard Pren amount quintet opened unimpressive style by ing at the hands of the Montreal warriors, carrying the Sun Life Insurance the margin of 24-17

Bannan finds revenge tors turned the tables garded as the favorite Last year as men treal A. A. his aggrega to the States and took the tune of 47-1. The rned evidently.

entirely different brand Canadians were faster and basket and completely Green and Gold on foul of thirteen attempts eight. The Catamounts tries made but three. this phase of the game malady.

the score was 9-7 in Sun Life, neither team being through the defense with Merritt at left forward playing center were the of the session. The for- eleven points while Tobin, who played the for Vermont, to two field mas, towering pivot man, The scrap between the ders was pretty to watch. sergent battled his adversary even terms.

Ray Talbert at left guard played a game on the defense, hold- his man to nary a point. With the slowly slipping away Vermont to a long-shot game, as a last were none too successful. the game ended with the score

The lineup:

SUN LIFE

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
	0	0	0
	0	0	0
	4	3	11
	0	0	0
	4	1	9
	0	1	1
	0	2	2
	0	1	1
	8	8	24

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
	1	1	3
	0	0	0
	0	0	0
	1	0	2
	0	0	0
	0	0	0
	0	0	0
	2	1	5
	3	0	6
	0	1	1
	7	3	17

Major Edgerly. Scorer: Wilder. Time: 20-

Special student prices for the annual fall play, "The Queen's Husband," held at the Strong Theater on December 11, 1930, have been arranged. The $1.50 tickets are now being sold for $1.00, and the $1.00 tickets now sell at 75c.

LOST

On December 5, Friday night at p.m., between Slade Hall and Gym on South Prospect Street—a Florentine silver bracelet composed of seven motifs. Each motif one inch by three-quarters inch, with head of dog in bas-relief. REWARD. Elaine Burdett, Slade Hall.

...ard the new Scotch foot
Get that quarter-back.

...RIED THE REST - NOW
...RY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
...pper Church Street
...friend in a new location

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL CANDIDATES PRACTICE

Coach Post Picks Temporary Squad to Represent Freshman Class in Tournament

Over fifty freshman basketball candidates have reported to Coach Archie Post. Much talent has been displayed among the various candidates and the prospect for a successful season is very bright. No scrimmaging has been done as yet because the squad is too large. Already one cut has been made leaving about twenty-six players on the squad

Practice has been concentrated on accuracy in handling the ball and in floor speed. Short shots have been tried as well as simple passing combinations. The usual limbering up on the track accompanies each practice

The team to represent the freshman class in the tournament will be the temporary squad comprising Abbot, Bennett, Brown, Butman, Morse, Parker, Wilson and Fishman. Their first game was the one scheduled last night with the sophomore team

The regular frosh team to be used in outside competition has not yet been named. The most likely candidates at present are: Saba from Vermont Academy; Delfausse from Rockville Center High School, Long Island, Marchacos and Myers of Burlington, Drown from Barton Academy; and Woodruff and Mulcahy from Spaulding. Since the schedule does not start until after mid-years, many of the freshman players have not reported as yet.

Coach Post in his talk to the candidates at the initial practice emphasized the advisability of their maintaining high scholastic grades. He said that many a good player had been lost to the team because of his studies.

"On your return from the Christmas vacation," he stated with much stress, "I want each one of you to be in perfect condition. Cut out the smoking and hit the hay early. That's all."

CANDIDATES IN TRIALS FOR SIGMA DELTA PSI

Nearly twenty athletes have reported to the department of physical education to try out for admission into Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity. A chapter was recently established at the University of Vermont and much interest has been aroused among the college athletes. The two men who have already satisfactorily passed the requirements are F. J. Tupper, Jr., '32, Sigma Phi, and L. S. Wright, '32, Sigma Nu

The following is a list of Sigma Delta Psi candidates as issued by Physical Director "Bunny" Prentice:

R. W. Allerton, '31, Kappa Sigma
W. R. Bedell, '32, Sigma Nu
P. B. Billings, '32, Sigma Phi
R. E. Bond, '32, A. T. O
P. Bove, '32, Sigma Nu
D. E. Child, '32, Sigma Nu
T. F. Collins, '33, Sigma Nu
R. F. DeWitt, '31, Delta Psi
G. M. Donaldson, '31, Independent
G. S. Flagg, '32, Sigma Nu
R. M. Huey, '31, Sigma Nu
O. W. Jay, '32, Kappa Sigma
R. G. Maynes, '31, Sigma Nu
E. L. Meehan, '32, Kappa Sigma
N. P. Parks, '31, Delta Psi
E. S. Phillips, '31, Sigma Nu
R. Swain '33, Phi Delta Theta
E. M. Winant '32, Kappa Sigma

The schedule of days when candidates may pass off their requirements is reprinted below:

I Mile run, 100 yard dash. Every Friday at 4.00 p.m. running track, Gym

II Running high jump, running broad jump, running pole vault, running shot put. Every Wednesday at 4.00 p.m. Cage

III Baseball throw, punting football. Every Monday at 4.00 p.m. Back Campus (weather permitting)

IV Tumbling, posture. Every Thursday at 3.00 p.m. or by appointment. Auxiliary Gym

The 220 yard low hurdle and the swimming requirement will have to be postponed until spring.

HOLD INTERPRETATION MEETING TO DISCUSS CHANGES IN RULINGS

O'Brien Conducts Explanation of New Basketball Rules to Be Used for Coming Season

DEMONSTRATION GAME PLAYED BY FRESHMEN

Before a large gathering of coaches, players and officials, Harold J. O'Brien, president of the Vermont State Board of Approved Basketball Officials, very efficiently conducted the explanation of the changes in the rules for the coming season.

Introduced by Secretary-Treasurer H. B. Levine, Mr. O'Brien proceeded to review the work accomplished at a recent meeting of coaches and officials in New York. Special emphasis was placed by Mr. O'Brien on the need of uniform interpretation of all rules by all officials as decided upon by the Joint Basketball Rules Committee.

Another point which Mr. O'Brien stressed was the desirability of weeding out officials, new members of State boards, whose abilities and characters are not of the desired type.

Following the explanation of the changes, two teams, composed of members of Archie Post's freshman squad, engaged in a scrimmage during which the new rulings were brought to attention, in addition to giving those present a chance to ask questions and to have certain points and interpretations demonstrated.

At the close of the meeting an examination for applicants who desired to become members of the Vermont State Board was held in the Old Mill.

Friday afternoon at Barre, Professor Aiken addressed the Winooski Valley Teachers' Convention. His subject was "The Appreciation of Literature."

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

1931 ARIEL
$4.50
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTING EDITOR

You had to lose the first game of the basketball season. It has been a matter of years since the Catamounts have been beaten in the opening contest but this first defeat should not ruin the chances for future victories. A fighting spirit may overcome great obstacles.

Tomorrow night will bring another test to the quintet with opposition offered from Clarkson Tech. A victory would mean much to prove that the basketball team is not going to slip into the same slump of last year.

A large number of freshmen reported to Coach "Archie" Post for basketball practice although the best came is not until after mid-years. There seems to be an abundance of good material on the squad judging from the presence of a number of preparatory school stars. If the freshmen can produce as good a team in basketball as they did in football there should be little complaint.

Sigma Delta Psi, the athletic fraternity, has been receiving some attention lately. Eighteen athletes in college have entered the tryouts to pass the strict requirements for membership. At present there are only two who have satisfactorily completed the tests but the physical education department hopes to increase the number as soon as possible. Days have been specified when tryouts will be held for the candidates. The physical education department is responsible for the establishment of a chapter at Vermont and should be commended on its work in creating interest in physical training.

SENIOR GRID MEN GET "V" BLANKETS AT HOP

Being the feature of the evening twelve blankets of green and gold with the athletic "V" in the center were presented by Key and Serpent Society to the senior football men at the annual Football Hop backed by the class of 1933 last Saturday night at the Burlington High School Gymnasium.

Blankets were given to Capt. L. Segal, W. S. Heaton, G. L. Dorey, R. W. Allerton, L. R. Durfey, R. J. Maynes, R. M. Huey, N. P. Park, A. O. Aronson, H. D. Dinniman, G. M. Donaldson and Mgr. W. E. Craig.

The Vermonters, directed by Joe Lechnyr, furnished syncopation at the dance which was chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun and Mr. L. S. Rowell and Miss Mae Tinkham.

The hall was decorated with varia-

ARTHUR W. DUPAW
and his ORCHESTRA
"The Sun Dodgers"
For rates and reservations
Please Call
Telephone 2232-W
Address 233 North Street

VERMONT TO BATTLE CLARKSON QUINTET IN NEXT CONTEST HERE

Tech Team Here Tomorrow for Second Game of Season—Line-up Indefinite

GAME IS TO START AT 8 O'CLOCK SHARP

Tomorrow night at eight o'clock the Green and Gold quintet appears on the home floor against the hoopsters of Clarkson Tech in the second game of the season.

It is now too early in the season to get a line-up on the veterans who have not yet played this year and consequently no accurate forecast can be made on the result of the contest. In years past however the Tech lads have handed very strong teams and indications point to a close battle.

After the performance last Saturday night Coach "Bunny" Prentice has a better view of the team and will determine his starting line-up in great part by the individual performances against the Sun Life. Capt. Wally Sargent at center, Pires or Dooley at left forward, Tupper or Taft at right with Winant, Bedell, Tobin and Talbert at guard positions, seem to be the men whom the coach will select for future contests.

Emphasis is being made this year on a strong passing team, a Prentice forte, in an attempt to raise Vermont from the dismal basketball slough which was evident last season.

There may be a preliminary contest at seven o'clock tomorrow night with the varsity game starting promptly at 8 p.m.

gated balloons, and sweet cider was served for refreshment.

The dance was in charge of F. H. Drew, assisted by W. C. Perry, S. K. Carter and W. C. Cronin. The committee on refreshments was E. E. Dunn, E. J. Moskal, Eleanor Gates, Alice Fairchild and Esther Beardsley. The committee on decorations consisted of L. S. Woodward, J. D. Carson, B. A. Cohen, Marion Kiel, Leah Gowen and Dorothy Jackman. The committee on tickets were H. D. Wood, J. E. Foster, M. Mahoney and R. Macomber.

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
SHAMPOO 1.00
MARCEL ..... .50
FINGERWAVE ..... .75
43 Church St. Phone 538

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed ..... $ .50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed .... 1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up

TO THE BOYS OF U. V. M.
Deliver a Message Please:
Tell your best Girl and others, You prefer Turks Ties, Gloves, Hosiery, Sweaters, Robes and in fact any apparel gift she is going to select for your Christmas.
TURKS
Burlington Vt.

Preliminary Schedule Mid-Year Examinations

Monday P.M., January 19

Chemistry 9
Economics 10
Latin A
Latin B
Latin 1
Latin 3
Latin 9
Latin 11 (Tacitus)
Physics 104
Psych 1
Zoology 51

Tuesday A.M., January 20

Chemistry 9
Economics 10
Latin A
Latin B
Latin 1
Latin 3
Latin 9
Latin 11 (Tacitus)
Physics 104
Psych 1
Zoology 51

Tuesday P.M., January 20

Ag. Steam Engineering
Education 3
Pol. Sci. 104
Social Education (T. Tr.)

Wednesday A.M., January 21

Spec. Methods (T. Tr.)
Chemistry 2
Home Ec. 6
Physics 1
Span. Eng. 1
Zoology 3 (Comp. Anatomy)

Wednesday P.M., January 21

Chemistry 104
Economics 1-2 T. Tr.
Economics 9 (Corp.)
Economics 9
Home Ec. 7 (Institutions)
Music 1 (History)
Music 3
Pol. Sci. 106
Pol. Sci. 112

Thursday A.M., January 22

Alt. Current Eng.
Botany 11 (Gen. Bact.)
Economics 2 (Pub. Finance)
History 12 (A & B)
Junior Elect. Lab.
Mech. Drawing
Physiology 1 (Arts)
Public School Music (T. Tr.)
Solfeggio A
Zoology 5

Wednesday A.M., January 28

Mechanics
Spanish 1
Spanish 2
Spanish 3

Wednesday P.M., January 28

Botany 1 (Pre-Med.)
Botany 4 (Plant Physiology)
Chemistry 1
Economics 2 (A & B)
Economics 8
Economics 59
Education 7
Greek 6
Greek 2
Greek 106
History of Art
Home Ec. 323 (T. Tr.)
Mental Hygiene
Physiology (Comp.) (Ag.)

Thursday A.M., January 29

Biology 2
Elect. Design
Forestry 2
Hortic. 1
Home Ec. 1
Home Ec. 20
Phys. 2a
Social Psych

Thursday P.M., January 29

Botany 3
Botany 5 (Cytology)
Chemistry 6
Civil Elect. Eng.
Constructive (T. Tr.)
Economics
English 52 (Grad.)
Math. 4 (Solid Geom.)
Pol. Sci. 2

Friday A.M., January 30

Psych 1
Psych. 4 (Genetic)
Psych. 106 (Experiment)
Steam Eng. Lab.

Friday P.M., January 30

Economics 12
Elect. Design
Elements of El. Eng.
English 7 (Am. Lit.)
Home Ec. 4
Latin 10
Materials
Physics 104
Pol. Sci. 5
Teach. of Ag.
Zoology 2
Zoology 7

Saturday A.M., January 31

Animal Husb. 2 (Live Stock)
Chemistry 111
Chemistry 19
Dairy Manu. 5
Geology 2
Home Ec. 8
Philosophy 1 (Logic)
Public School Music 2 (T. Tr.)

Saturday P.M., January 31

Botany 13 (Home Ec. Bact.)
Home Ec. 21
MILITARY SCIENCE
School Manage. (T. Tr.)

Monday A.M., January 26

Music 1 (Hist. & Ag.)
Music 7 (Harp Lab.)
Home Ec. 10

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME-MADE PIES and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
40 N. Willard St. Tel. 2040

Hesketh D. Butterfield '31 who represents Frederick Grafton, the king's secretary, in the Queen's Husband

STUDENTS TO PRESENT QUEEN'S HUSBAND THURS.

(Continued from page 1)

The second act is perhaps, the most dramatic. Here, the King, always allowing himself to be overruled by his dominating wife, begins to assert himself. The climax is reached when the King countermands the dictator's order to shell the tenement districts, and with a marvelous tact he brings the Queen to his side against the dictator, forcing the latter to resign.

The play, which was originally presented exactly two years ago in the Playhouse Theatre of New York with Richard Young, is full of action and political intrigue. Revolution, internal turbulence—even domestic scenes between King and Queen, husband and wife—make up much of the action.

Then, too, there is the love plot; the marriage of the Princess and the Royal Prince, planned by the Queen and the elopement of the Princess and the King's secretary.

Coach Metcalf states: "It is a powerful play which will be a real challenge to the ability of the cast."

Veteran Players

The leading players are veterans of the histrionic art and have taken rôles in previous college plays.

Aiken had prominent parts in "Summertime," "Holiday" and "Dear Brutus." Roberta Powers, '32, the Queen displayed her ability in "Holiday" in which she played the leading character. Butterfield portraying the part of Grant, the King's secretary, has acted in "Lady Windemere's Fan" "Dear Brutus" and "Holiday." Elizabeth Cory, the princess, displayed her talents in "Summertime." She was also property manager of "Dear Brutus." Barker, as Doctor Fellman, has had previous experience in "Dear Brutus" and "Holiday."

The costumes are very elaborate. They are being prepared by the Toms Company, of New York, costumers to college theatrical productions, as well as to professional companies.

The Old Reliable

INTERWOVEN SOCKS

IN

FANCY WOOL MIXTURES

50c. PAIR

Never have the Fancy Wool Hose for men been so attractive, and Interwovens always wear longer.

Twenty-four different patterns—all one price—50c. Pair.

TWENTY TO RECEIVE FOOTBALL LETTERS

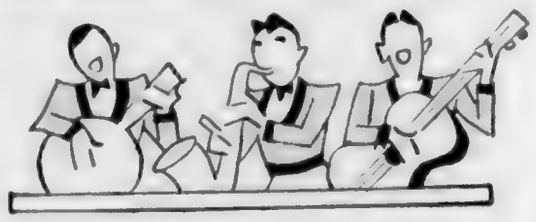
Twenty men will be awarded varsity football letters, according to an announcement made by Graduate Manager S. C. Abell. The men are as follows: Capt. Leo Segal, Dorchester, Mass.; A. O. Aronson, Proctor, Vt.; W. R. Bedell, Flushing, N. Y.; P. Bove, Rutland, Vt.; H. Cohen, Burlington, Vt.; M. Cohen, Bridgeport, Conn.; G. R. Collins, Bayside, L. I., N. Y.; T. F. Collins, West Hartford, Conn.; H. D. Dinnitman, New Haven, Conn.; G. M. Donaldson, Warren, Wyo.; L. R. Gurfey, Burlington, Vt.; H. M. Farmer, Sherman Station, Me.; W. S. Heaton, Montpelier, Vt.; S. H. Manning, New London, Conn.; R. J. Maynes, Woodstock, Vt.; L. R. Palmer, Winchester, Mass.; N. P. Park, South Ryegate, Vt.; E. M. Winant, Bronx, N. Y.; J. E. Wood, Belmont, Mass.; Mgr. W. E. Craig, Chicopee, Mass.

ESTHER C. MANDIGO [illegible] seniors elected to Phi [illegible] at the fall meeting of [illegible]

Prof. Leon W. Dean [illegible] Barre Women's Club last [illegible] on Creative Writing

Lambda Iota announces [illegible] tion of Dr. C. E. Braun [illegible] fessor of chemistry

"CAN THIS BE LOVE"



A COCKTAIL OF RHYTHM

INTOXICATE YOURSELF TO THIS

WINGING, compelling...ivory keys flickering in a garden...let your feet caress the wax to this! Recorded by Victor—played with rhythmic inevitability by those amazing pianists, Arden and Ohman, and their young-minded band!

Enough to say . . . except here are matchless up-to-day-after-tomorrow Victor hits, hot or sweet...white or dark . . . for taste high or low. You'll always find it on Victor Records, for which the world's leading artists and orchestras record exclusively . . . first.

Victor Record

22552-B—"CAN THIS BE LOVE" and "FINE AND DANDY"
Arden & Ohman Orchestra

22548—"SONG OF THE BIG TRAIL"
and "SING SONG GIRL"
Leroy Shield & Victor Hollywood Orchestra

22555—"I'M YOURS"
and "YOU DARLIN'"
Johnny Marvin

23016—"HITTIN' THE BOTTLE" and "THAT LINDY HOP"
Duke Ellington Orchestra

Coming Next Week!

A great English Tune. Recorded by a famous English Orchestra!

"BODY AND SOUL"
—Jack Hylton Orchestra

Victor Record 36027—DON'T MISS IT!

The Music You Want When You Want It, on

Victor Records

If it's a real gift you are looking for with a college friend in mind the

UNIVERSITY STORE

is the place to call.

We have everything that a student could use and would particularly appreciate as a luxury.

Co-ed Rules Relaxed and Strengthened!

WOMEN'S ISSUE

Vermont Skynic

WOMEN'S ISSUE

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1930 NUMBER 24

Stewed Onions Issues New and Stricter Co-ed Rules

President Comes Out Boldly in Favor of More and Better Enforcement of all Women's Regulations—Demands Demolition of Robinson's Fire Escapes

FRESHMEN NOW LIMITED TO ONE 10 O'CLOCK DATE

The president of Stewed Onions, guardians of the straight and narrow path to Rand's Lunch, issued an ultimatum today in which she declared that co-ed rules would be strictly enforced from now on. This notice is in answer to the edict from Dean Blacking that the co-eds could do as they pleased in regard to nights out and dates in.

The president's announcement contains the following points:

(1) fire escapes at Robinson shall be demolished;

(2) sound proof walls shall be built at Campus House and the cupola torn down;

(3) the back doors at Robinson shall be barred at six o'clock p.m.;

(4) arc lights shall be installed at Grassmount;

(5) four night watchmen shall patrol the grounds at Slade;

(6) The veranda posts at Rand's shall be cut down;

(7) an iron fence shall be built at Allen;

(8) three house directors must be in charge of Ruggles;

(9) the library shall close at seven o'clock;

(10) in order to discourage sitting on the window sills in the Old Mill, the time between classes shall be shortened to three minutes.

CO-EDS IN SUSPENSE

Stewed Onions action was not entirely unexpected, due to the fact of their announcement last week that freshmen could have but one ten o'clock night a week, sophomores and juniors two and seniors three. Co-eds, awaiting the result of the combat between Dean Blacking and Stewed Onions, are taking advantage of this no-rule period by dating every night with the frosh.

OPTIC AND ALGER NOW ON BILLINGS' SHELVES

[illegible] Library announces the addition to the following best sellers; [illegible] have been recommended by the [illegible] Department and are now on [illegible]

"[illegible] Burton" by Horatio Alger, Jr., [illegible] in tone and inspiring in interest. Bob, enterprising young hero [illegible] goes from one hair-raising [illegible] to another with admirable [illegible] and nonchalance. In the end, [illegible] succeeds in the world but [illegible] to forget his experiences [illegible] boy, come what may. [illegible] efforts, the mortgage on the [illegible] lifted and Bob's success [illegible] wormwood to the villain—[illegible] be, no doubt.

[illegible] by Oliver Optic is a [illegible] trials and triumphs of [illegible] of youthful experience, [illegible] illustrate the necessity [illegible] of perseverance of well [illegible] ever vicissitudes of for[illegible] our young hero, how[illegible] the incidents of his [illegible] struggle is in the soul. [illegible] is the conquest of [illegible] may be success; a [illegible] far nobler one. He who [illegible] much by neglecting the [illegible] and the soul has sac[illegible] greater good to the less. [illegible] pauper boy, having had [illegible] advantages of parental [illegible] his character has never [illegible] by the hallowed in[illegible] good home. His awak[illegible] mental lethargy to moral

(Continued on page 4)

J. E. BIGORLOW HOLDS AUDIENCE SPELLBOUND IN DEMOSTHENIC DEBATE

Famous Fair Haven Farmer and Mighty Muscular Forensic Artist Settles All Questions Decisively

Josephus Ezekiel Bigorlow of Fair Haven by gorry and body by Fisher, ambled down the aisle; with Demosthenic air he chewed his walrus moustache and stroked those cropped locks, the little darling. Having reached the platform in safety J. E. pulled down the "linoleum front" pulled out his ream of notes and thus began: "Well, friends, we're going to talk about the gals emergence from the home. Now that we Junior Varsity Debaters at this grand and glorious institution know our stuff cold, we will sell our notes to the highest bidder." (After a prolonged battle of words, Mr. Powers, M.D., emerged the victor and made off with them down the fire-escape. The notes, creased and marred, now repose in a sacred spot in the Fleming Hull Museum.)

J. E. Bigorlow, etc., went into action with eyes and muscles bristling; he chortled, he burbled, he mumbled he groaned but he convinced his audience that Vermont needs better roads and less hedging. O Tempora, O Mores! The big, broad, Western Vermont man then pulled down the "linoleum front," recaptured his tie (O, where is my wandering boy tonight?) cast looks of adoration at six little co-ed freshmen, and tried the negative side for a while. At first the cadaverous specimen of masculinity was an overwhelming disappointment; it seemed that he forgot that emergence meant début and, while groping for the definition in Webster's Intercollegiate Dictionary of the English Language, compared Vergil's Eclogues and Emily Dickinson's touching effusions. Professor Prindle and Professor Tupper looked daggers at each other but LaCrosse ever the minuteman seized them and gave a knife-throwing act that delighted the conglomeration present and tickled Bigorlow's ribs. (The medics took sixty stitches in him and then they gave it up as a bad job.)

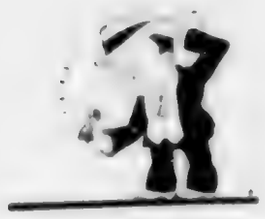
LaCrosse Speaks

Paul Jay LaCrosse, called on for an extemporaneous speech confounded his opponent, friends, by quoting [illegible]

(Continued on page 6)

SOCIETIES HOLD MASKED BALL IN B. P. O. E. HALL

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [



Vermont Skynic

Members of the New England Collegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Subscription price $1.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Vol. 69 No. 11

Kampus Kommen~

The Truth Hurts

Dear Editor:

The truth hurts! To carry my point and clinch the decision, let

Dear Editor:

The truth hurts! Yes, ladies and gentlemen, and you too Pro-

Dear Editor:

The truth hurts! Lies, on the other hand, have a certain pleasure in them; too, they are some-

a more agreeable place without the truth because the truth hurts!

Sincerely,

Miss SMITH

Bits of Bunk

Sunday—Y W and Y M C A joined in a spiritual revival at the W C T U Temple with Evangelist Butterfield as the leading light. This that his audience rose as one body to charity begins at home, appears that man.

Sunday The Christian Associa-

Dabs regular weekly revival meeting took place in the gallery of the gymnasium. Again they decided never to cut classes at chapel. The motion made and seconded was accepted.

Friday Y M C A members at Dartmouth Camp [illegible] the University Inn on the Burlington High School. The Y Cabinet served and Sophie are impressed as their cooking shows for the guests. Professor reports a profit of two [illegible] dollars and eleven [illegible] cents, due to a [illegible] in advertising made by one member.

The Mystic Pen

Why [illegible] anyway?

I am the Catty Coeds sister and I had my week at Vermont for a long time. The one thing I miss are the [illegible] cars. Sigma Nu tried to start the style with a yellow and green

Ford. But who cared? Nobody. An eminent professor said,

"Out, damned Spot," the other day.

I was [illegible] invited but my pet hyena. Which reminds me of the old slogan,

Pet Skin You Love to Touch.

But soon I remembered that

Even out at Five

Feet I ain't cabin' get excited

Did you hear of the [illegible] who thought that was a [illegible] formula? Is it any wonder one is flattered by make up.

B O

And when I

[illegible]

[illegible] Ain't [illegible]

To [illegible] save the surface and save all. And when I see

[illegible]

George Bernard Shaw

never uses soap on his face. If I had a beard, I wouldn't either.

[illegible] the Catty Coeds said that

[illegible] boy friend's beard

[illegible] Ben Ami—

It hasn't vanished yet

I told her that was not a nice thing

to say but she's hard

I asked her to try the clinging vine act.

And when I saw her again

she was clinging.

I told her that was not a nice thing to do but she's hard.

She has reformed now and I am glad because I do not like people that are hard

Who writes this stuff, anyway?

Jo: Gee, you know, whenever we have a beautiful day like this, it reminds me of the last time I spoke to "Two Gun" Mike. It makes me sad, too, because though the trees were in full bloom and the birds were singing and Mike kept telling me he was going to the Jojo: How did he know?

Jo: The judge told him two weeks before.

A Student-at-Large

WANTED—A man who escaped from the psychopathic hospital September 20, the inmate is about twenty years old, has delusions of possessing a brain, and might be found in the vicinity of the University of Vermont. Reward for return.—Notice in the Waterbury Daily Times.

Catty Co-ed

Who wrote what I never knew and
And what the purpose was My wonder when
The culprits ate
And why they shaved the fuss
From my coat
Once something
An honor seemed to be
But now 'tis past
And the same odors
I cannot seem to me.
Who was it that
Used to paddle
The frosh in days of yore?
It can not be
The same I fear
For now they are no more.
Another one
Has come at last
Who also want some fun.
Everyone must Be annoyed
Until it all is done.
A college Publication has Caused some consternation.
Now help the Situation is
The plea of the nation.

THE FORUM

Editor's note: Professor Incog has written so enthusiastically and wholeheartedly of Lewis Carroll that the latter's poem is published.

"Whimmyings from the Mill," the publication of the literati, intelligentsia, and E. J. F., has enjoyed an unprecedented success this year and published the work of renowned authors. However, it seems to me that Lewis Carroll, newcomer to the college ranks, surpasses all the others by far.

He is a master of mellifluous multitudinous melody and has that smoothness of style and finish, that delicacy of flexibility, that mastery of detail and design and that clean-cut diction so reminiscent of Shakespeare. In his verses is a depth of insight that leads us to the realization of fundamental truths and doctrines: one has to use reflective thinking to its fullest extent in order to pierce the surface of this amazing and revolutionary poem, 'Jabberwocky." But the effort is well worthwhile; a man who sees the tenets of these stanzas may consider himself educated; there is no more for him to learn; he knows all.

On the other hand, there is in this poet a glory in incompleteness and a sense of the beautiful in the unfinished. Does Lewis Carroll show truths as self-evident? No, gentlemen, he does not. He makes a man think and in doing so has risen as one of the great writers of the world. Lewis Carroll, an immortal!

JABBERWOCKY

"Twas brillig, and the slithy toves
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe:
All mimsy were the borogoves
And the mome raths outgrabe.

"Beware the Jabberwock, my son!
The jaws that bite, the claws that catch!
Beware the Jubjub bird, and shun
The frumious Bandersnatch!"

He took his vorpal sword in hand;
Long time the manxome foe he sought
So rested he by the Tumtum tree,
And stood awhile in thought.

And, as in uffish thought he stood,
The Jabberwock, with eyes of flame,
Came whiffling through the tulgey wood,
And burbled as it came!

One, two! One, two! And through and through
The vorpal blade went snicker-snack!

SOBRIETY

THE HOWL

High Chatterneck [illegible] a rummage sale of [illegible] place Thursday. Janet Lambda Ioughta [illegible]

SIGMA NU

The fratoinity [illegible] faculty with a tea [illegible] Dance passed. The sofa [illegible] and Mister Hoover [illegible] one or two billion [illegible] was a rousing success.

DELTA PSI

Due to a shortage of [illegible] boys went dateless last [illegible] ever, business is picking [illegible]

ZETA EI

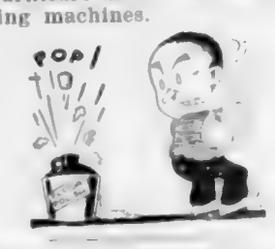
The brethren underwent [illegible] test last night and [illegible] for old rope. At a [illegible] held for the purpose of [illegible] dues, the freshmen paid [illegible] paid. My dear, can you [illegible]

KAPPA EPSILON

Eddie Whynot received [illegible] home last night and is [illegible] trustry red flannels again. [illegible] Ed'

Rog Adams and ever [illegible] cipal speaker last night at [illegible] department's banquet. Until the fire department broke [illegible] ing when the trusty firemen that a siren was present. He always getting into scrapes [illegible] but he does mean well, friends.

PHI DELT



The fratres attended Ginsberg's sale and carried away some [illegible] ous bargains.

(Editor's note: this item was [illegible] as the truth by a Fidelt. One [illegible] knows.)

The Christmas dance was a [illegible] due to the tireless and [illegible] efforts of J. Eddie Tracy, [illegible] Walker, H. Butterpasture, Pete freshman Brown, alumnus [illegible] universitate, Wally Carpenter, [illegible] others present.

SIGMER ALPHER EPSILON

Interior decorators are busy [illegible] work; the brethren have decided to furnish the rooms in [illegible] Quinze style rather than Queen Victorian since the boys use the [illegible] istic furniture as hatracks and [illegible] reducing machines.

KOFFEE KORNER WILL BE REMODELLED SOO

Extensive plans for [illegible] Coffee Corner have been [illegible] Devolle, Brown and Co. are [illegible] put into operation during [illegible] mas vacation. According [illegible] prints, the Y room will [illegible] several booths, a la Stu[illegible] ing curtains, à la Stu[illegible] been some discussion [illegible] scheme, one partner [illegible] green and orchid, the [illegible] and white; much anger [illegible] the administrative office [illegible] of this quarrel but it [illegible] compromise may be effected.

Other innovations [illegible] dition of four full-time [illegible] twenty for the ten [illegible] classes; they will [illegible] green and orchid or [illegible] A notice posted by the [illegible] ports that if any student [illegible] cream cheese-cherry [illegible] glass of orange juice [illegible] be sufficient to [illegible] tions.

The most surprising proposed reform is that [illegible] to be sold hereafter and [illegible] gum is taboo. This is an unceasing and [illegible] carried on by Ex-Coney [illegible]

Quo Vadis, by Sienkiewicz
("Whither goest thou")
"Domine, quo vadis"
—From The Vulgate

He left it dead, and with [illegible]
He went galumphing [illegible]
"And hast thou slain the [illegible]
Come to my arms, my [illegible]
O frabjous day! Callooh [illegible]
He chortled in his [illegible]

'Twas brillig, and the [illegible]
Did gyre and gimble [illegible]
All mimsy were the [illegible]
And the mome raths [illegible]

Do You Know What The Well-dressed College Man Is Wearing?

PUBLIC SPEAKING

... the inmate of the checked suit mentioned in this article in a typical pose

By Mme. No-Stile

Style is a very important factor in the life of a student; not only the Co-eds but also the eds are much concerned in this day and age with this all-important question. But at the present moment styles are going from the sublime to the ridiculous and this condition must be corrected.

The inevitable corduroys, blazers, and trench coats must be done away with since students must adopt a more conservative mode of dress for classes. I would suggest that they wear something informal for golf, cricket and croquet. The Prince of Wales wore black and white checks at St. Andrew's last summer and certainly this combination would meet with the approval of everyone.

Avoid Stetsons

One should no longer wear Mallory or Stetson hats for evening because the famous top hat, opera style pre-ferred, is very fashionable this year. If this type is not becoming they may wear the bowler hat, a short type with rakish brim. For travelling they may wear a cap with ear-flaps.

For coats, the frock coat with bell sleeves, tight waist, full square skirt, deep lapels and velvet collar were a très chic for dances such as Class Proms, Boulder and Mortar Board. Short coat jackets and tweed suits with braided edges might also be worn. Velvet or fur-trimmed over-coats, heavy capes or Inverness capes are all in vogue.

Fancy Vests

Colored and fancy waistcoats are very smart for formal affairs. Tuxedos with braid down the sides should be worn not only for evening but everyday. Short Wellington boots seem to be worn instead of those high ones which are a disgrace to the University and should be banned along with other loud and extreme appointments which the men have usually affected. Trouser-straps and spats may be donned during the winter season.

Referring to checked material for suits a certain man in the freshman class has the typical style to be worn and everyone, to be à la mode must buy a similar one.

Perhaps my suggestions will not be approved by all but I assure you that I have made a very careful study of fashions and find these to be the most favored.

DO-ECS HOLD LATEST RALLY AT MT. GRASSE

The "Do-ecs" of the Universe of Wearied Mountains held their last and final fall rally at Mt. Grasse last spring when the tides came in, on Wet-net-day, the forty-fifth of Wary Jane. In the early part of the evening the finals in "cockey," "willey-ball," and "mennis" were played off.

Frosh Survive

The freshman class survived the sophomores in the last words of the "cockey" game. The juniors received the "champagne-ship" in "willey-ball" after the team had "tightened up" sufficiently. The seniors came out on top at the "mennis" tournament, proving themselves dangerous rivals to every squad. Dot Smash showed herself the most fatal of the "menis" group.

"De-feet" was sore upon everyone following the activities mentioned so different sections of Mt. Grasse were set on fire while certain "do-ecs" went hunting for "game." Soon they returned and a generous "pick-nut" supper was enjoyed by everyone Competitive war-whooping took place later about the fires. The juniors, having attained the "champagne-ship" in "willey-ball" were thus in much better condition for competition and, of course, got the prize for the best war-whoops.

Buzzness Next

Next came the buzz-ness part of the rally. Every "do-ec" joined in and since everyone was a "do-ec" no one won the "buzzing" contest. A senior, Dizzy War-Thirst, a "mennis" champion of former "yeahs," announced the outcome of the final games and stated that the W. I. I. "Duns-ill" had all reddy nominated Rinnie Screw-Tacks for representative of the "cockey" winners. Miss War-Thirst asked for further nominations Gilded Day-Wise was added to the list.

The "grazer" awards were given to Milley Acking, Winnie Gray-Ham, Dottie Smash, and Billie Cow-nt, when they exhibited their rare talents by making Mt. Grasse bare for miles around. Class rumor-alls were given to R. More-ill, Dickie Grawl-Ed, Leanda Squawker, and Silly Told-Em, after their ability in this respect had been carefully noted and judged. U. W. M. in-"senig"-nia were received by three fiiace seniors, Dot Smash, Carl Grimm, and Dickie Growler.

As reported by the W. I. I. Press-the-Dent the varsity "mennis" team was made up of: M. Haul-Ey, M. Bury, F. McMean, D. Hun-Freese, V. Chat-e-Burn, and M. Wither All. The varsity "willey-ball" team consisted mostly of "wet"-ty members which were H. Forr, E. Rock-Well, E. Mull-Her, W. Gr Ahem, and Trilly Saust.

NEW FACULTY JIG BAND SCORES HIT IN CONCERT

Début of "Personality Boys and Girls" Astounding Success—Varied Instrumentation Plays to Capacity Crowd

The Faculty Jig Band lived up to the confidence placed in the Personality Boys and Girls when they made their début in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library to a large and appreciative audience of music.

Prof. Howard Gordon Bundle's opening of the new personal gave out the foreword of pleasing pain. The open music of the Personality Boys in the Dinner and better minds do a good turn daily and twice on Sundays. By our efforts we hope to put the name of Vermont on everyone's lips, we had the affection that Rudy Vallee is our deadly rival but any professor can overload natural matters and use the other Holme as every time.

The Personell

The personnel of the hardened jet Dan Tuneful are as follows: Prof. Gaskins (noted saxophonist and Ag Ec Prof) on the front row; Prof. A. Russell Gifford accordion; Prof. Frederic Tupper Jew's harp; Prof. Lyman Hamilton drums; Prof. Yasir Upshaw fiddle; Prof. Benjamin Woodbridge bass; Prof. Lovell Swope bass horn; Prof. Gregory Dyckman soprano saxophone; Prof. Jack Metcow xylophone; Prof. L. Marsh Brindle piano; Miss Mathesonge harmonica; Dean Blackmar musical saw.

The program of old and new songs, mostly new, surprised and pleased the congregation. Especially well received were Zimmermann's specialty dances from the Greek, Roman and Ukulelian and Miss DeKilowatt's impersonations of Harry Lauder and John Masefield.

The next recital will take place as soon as the Standing Room Only sign has been drawn up by Mister If E Drew.

NOTICE

The English department announces that classes in English literature and public sleeping will be resumed after midyears. All sophomores are requested to arm themselves with a novel of Elinor Glyn and a copy of the Boston Sunday Advertiser before coming to class. Sessions may be held on the steps of the medical building—and again, they may not.

Le Cercle Lafayette, the German club and the engineers will throw a bull session next Monday evening at this time. Come one, come all.

The Ironing club will gather at the Vermonters' club house at four o'clock on Thursday. Eats, under the direction of Betty Henleston, are to be consumed.

Obscenity Recognized as Subjective path I saw ahead of me a specimen of the female sex, so-called, commonly known as a co-ed. By the might of my feet I caught up to her and arrived at the Old Mill portal just two steps in advance. Gentlemen, what did I do? You may well ask. Did I pause and let this specimen of feminity open the door for me, a sophomore (a term from the Greek originally meaning wise fool). No, gentlemen, I did not. With all the courtliness of a Lord Chesterfield and the grace of a Beau Brummel and the dignity of an R. O. T. C. private, I opened the door for her. (Applause.) And now, gentlemen, what made me do this? I can tell you in one word: Tradition!"

(Continued from page 1)

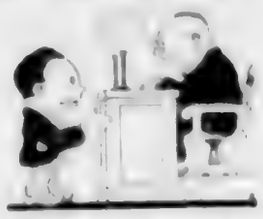
(Applause.)

Sophless Grudgment Night Winds Up Long, Lengthy Smell Week!!



Saturday last at midnight, each one of the class of '34 shaw-wash and their mates assisted Grudgment Night at the Casita Di Bums. The purpose of the to make an effective adoption of the few Sophless Victims and wreck ing the hallowed dairy of the present Ex Small Week.

The Audience

The audience, heated, supported with porridge pots and pumpkin pies, [illegible] was convened on a ground by the members of the class supporting confirmed bachelors and soppers on pumpkin soup and consecrating pewdered of all descriptions were stacked neatly in rows beside the club.

The traditional substitution and destruction of the sophless class by the Sophs was upon promised to be a Pleasant event.

The Grudge Madame La Auree Bowes stood at the bar. The 12 m. the Jewelry Box were already set.

I just love to be brought before the [illegible]

MEN'S HON. LIT. MILL. SOC. MEETS FOR WORK

Lit. Moore Cornwall, president of Lem Monte's mock humanity society, called [illegible] to order promptly promptly at the last meeting a parody of King Arthur's Round Table and Milton's Paradise Regained. After the firecrackers had been distributed, George Nellson started the discussion of the following topic:

The Psychological Point of View of [illegible] I get passes to the Mardi Theatre. Freddie Homeholder spoke his piece and the business session was then discontinued, to the dirty disgust of said Freddy. Joe Catcher, a bright and shining light in several places struck a pose and declaimed manfully "The Face on the Barroom Floor." he was given a stick of gum and a piece of candy at the conclusion of this epic and then sent home to the Social Psyche. Louis Lizman threw his hat in the ring and with a face all aglow with soap and expectation recited a thesis on The Manly Art of Self Defence while demonstrating an opponent with his right fist and a jab with his left, the poor boy knocked himself out and murmured unconsciously a la Hilaire Belloc: "When I am dead, I hope it may be said:
His sins were scarlet, but his editorials were read."

Little Sammie Appears

As the barber said "next," Sam Parker, a warrior from the happy hunting grounds of Sigma Nu, wiped off the rouge, threw away the marcel iron, and jumped through the window. Prof. Dean counted him out in record time and to all intents and purposes declared the meeting adjourned and horse de combat.

The gentlemen of the monastery were asked to attend the Military Ball in a body but declined with thanks giving as an excuse their lack of ability in the terpsichorean art.

The Second Case

[illegible] Miss Meal, strawberry best. Miss Gotze [illegible]

Miss Meal. Accused of assisting Arson students from [illegible]. Resigned disappointment to campus landscape and atmosphere.

Miss Gotze. Robbing patch of [illegible] educational value and mechanical object discovered by officials in defendant's own chamber.

[illegible] defendant plead [illegible]

[illegible] joint dances performed, the Tractor Fling by Miss Meal and the Corn Strutters Jig by Miss Gotze. Good deal of mud and earthly elements removed from said girls' overalls during process also large chunks of plaster from walls. Rest removed in tub.

Third Case

Trial of Miss Storma Larder.

(1) Occupation during Smell Week: Assistant Supervisor in Chem Lab at Wm Sel Hall.

(2) Crimes: The tossing of nitro glycerine at feet of Professor Ammonia. Result: hopeless dismemberment of limbs, portions and pieces of aforesaid personage.

(3) Outcome: Defendant pleads not guilty. States that light was in her eyes. Aimed at wrong person.

(4) Verdict: Not guilty.

(5) Results: Committee of chosen members of class of '34 appointed to see about lighting system and location of windows in Sel Hall, Wetty Boustward, chairman. Free season ticket to Archery auditorium donated Miss Larder. Object being to improve an aim already proficient. Case dismissed.

Fourth Case

Trial of Miss Ima Strong Arm.

(1) Occupation during Smell Week: Stunt dresser in fur factory.

(2) Crimes: Disturbing of the peace.

Sentence: Phooey. Ha-a-a-p!

Outcome: Court dismissed!!!

We once saw the following sign [illegible] displayed in a livery stable:

Please do not swear in here, not that we give a damn, but it sounds like hell before strangers.

WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET

ALLEN HOUSE — REDSTONE
CAMPUS HOUSE — ROBINSON
RAND HOUSE — GRASSMOUNT
RUGGLES — SLADE

RAND'S LUNCH

CLASSIFIED ADS

Love made on short notice
Tulip salve given away free of charge
Words of love extracted without pain while you wait
Our kisses and hugs are refreshing and embracing.
Satisfaction guaranteed for we are strictly up to date
Will you give us a trial?
Lonesome Eds.
Phone every man in the directory.
Office Hours from One until Won.

EDS' ALLOWANCE

UNIVERSITY DRAMATIC PRODUCTION MEETS WITH EXCELLENT RECEPTION

Sherwood's Comedy of Royal Family Life in "Merland" is Given at Strong Theater Last Night

"THE QUEEN'S HUSBAND" PLAYS TO GOOD CROWD

Cast Well Trained

Ham Edward Fitzgerald, Laker, Allen Richardson

REV. LOW LECTURES IN CHAPEL ABOUT PRAYER

DEBATERS TO REOPEN HERE AGAINST MC GILL

Canadians to Furnish Test in Preparation for Difficult Schedule After Midyears in the Old Mill Chapel.

The debate is designed to furnish

After Christmas

March 17 Lake Forest, Chicago, Ill
March 18 Wheaton, Chicago, Ill

GEORGE COLLINS TO BE GRID CAPTAIN FOR 1931; EATON NAMED MANAGER

Westin Chosen Freshman Manager; Cohen, Cronin and Sullivan, Assistant Managers

CAPTAIN-ELECT TWO YEAR VARSITY VETERAN would have been

"Al" Eaton, '32, president of the is a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity and has placed on the Dean's list several times since his entrance at the University.

March 19—North Central, Naperville, Ill
March 27 Kent State, Kent, O
March 28 John Carroll, Cleveland, O.
March 30 Western Reserve, Cleveland O
April 1 Buffalo, Buffalo, N. Y.
April 2 State Teachers, Albany, N. Y

For some debates at the close of the Western trip, Vermont is now negotiating with Florida, Porto Rico, N. Y. U., Weber College of Utah, Clark, Middlebury and St. Michael's.

VERMONT TAKES GAME FROM CLARKSON, 30-22

In last frame the Green and Gold nents, whereupon the stalling game proved effective. This was the first victory of the season for Vermont. Complete details of the game will follow in the next issue of the Cynic.

ORCHESTRA AND CHOIR TO GIVE XMAS CONCERT

Program Will Feature Parts of Bach's Christmas Oratorio and the Messiah of Handel

The program of the annual Christ-by the University Choir, Prof. H. G. Bennett, director, Miss Miriam Nattlee Marston, organist, Dorothy Fowler, Mailla Putnam, Elsie Roosa, A. A. Scharbius, Jr., N. E. Daigle, soloists, and the University

Miss Charlotte deVolt, con-

C. P. Beattie, Jr., trumpet

by the Rev. Isaac Chip-

December 11, at 4 p.m., in the Chapel, will be as follows:

Organ Prelude: Vom Himmel hoch da komm ich her.....Luther Organ Prelude: Chorale Prelude on "Vom Himmel hoch" .....Pachelbel
Processional: In dulci jubilo...German
Sentences and Collect
Response: Lo, how a rose e'er blooming, German, harm. ....Praetorius
From Bach's Christmas Oratorio:
Part II Cantata for the second day of the festival of Christmas
Symphony
Recitative: And there were shepherds
Chorus: Break forth, O beauteous, heavenly light
Recitative: And the angel said unto them
Chorus: Within yon gloomy manager
Recitative: O haste ye then Aria: Slumber, beloved
Recitative: And suddenly there was with the angel
Chorus: Glory to God in the highest Recitative: 'Tis right that angels thus should sing
Chorus: With all thy hosts
Scripture Reading
From Handel's Messiah:
Chorus: And the glory of the Lord
Air and Chorus: O thou that tellest good tidings to Zion
Chorus: For unto us a child is born
Pastoral Symphony
Air: Rejoice greatly
Recitative: Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened
Air: He shall feed his flock
Air: Come unto me
Chorus: Hallelujah
Hymn: Joy to the world.....Handel
Prayer and Benediction
Response: Silent night .....Gruber
Recessional: Adeste fideles Traditional Organ Postlude: Rhapsody on Christmas themes .....Gigout

The concert is free and open to the public.

MC GILL QUINTET HERE IN CATAMOUNTS' THIRD BASKETBALL CONTEST

Green and Gold Five Will Face Canadians Tomorrow Night After Breaking Even in First Two Battles

VERMONTERS VANQUISH McGILL IN PAST GAMES

Tomorrow night at

Prentice's basketball team appear on the U. V. M.

this time the McGill Uni-tet from Montreal will be nents. This will be the

the season with only one played before the Christmas

In the past two years

Canadians have appeared schedule. Vermont has winning but the visitors

a strong, fast team. Last score was 35-25 and the 28-26. Tomorrow night the etts will be about evenly

a close contest is expected.

Line-up Uncertain

Coach Prentice is still ing with his lineup. Captain at center appears to be the reasonably sure of his position per will no doubt start at a position with Durfee as mate. Winant, Pires, Tait and Dober are others who likely be used as forwards or guards. Tobin and Talbert who in the back court during the game with the Sun Life Company probably see action in tomorrow's test.

In the first two games of the season the Catamounts have broken even. The opener was lost to the Sun Life Insurance Company's quintet. However last Wednesday night the Green and Gold basketeers overcame the Tech 30 to 22. After this last game the prospects look much brighter for Vermont tomorrow.

VARIOUS SOCIETIES HOLD PRE-VACATION FUNCTIONS

Dinner dances, informals, formals will be in order the last day before the Christmas vacation.

Phi Delta Theta will have a dance at its house this evening. Freddy Lynch's orchestra will participate. Major and Mrs. Stone, Dr. and Mrs. Miltimore of Middlebury will chaperon.

Zeta Chi will also hold a dance at its house tonight. Professor and Mrs. Millington and Professor and Mrs. Evans will chaperon.

Kappa Sigma's dance at the Lieutenant Ferdinando Inn, Springfield, will be held at 8:00 tonight. Professor and Mrs. Hall and Professor and Mrs. Douglass will be the chaperons.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon's dance this evening will be Professor and Mrs. Braun and Mr. and Mrs. Lechnyr's Vermonters will play.

Sigma Delta, with Holtonmians playing, will also dance this evening. The chaperons will be Professor and Mrs. Peets, Professor Sheldon.

Sigma Phi's formal will be held at its house this evening. Professor and Mrs. Hartwell will chaperon. The Black Panthers of Middlebury play.

And Next Friday

Alpha Tau Omega will have a dance next Friday at its house. Professor and Mrs. Hartwell and Mr. and Mrs. Berry will chaperon. Mack Beaupre's orchestra will play.

Delta Psi's dinner dance. Lechnyr's Vermonters playing, will be held at its house next Friday. Professor and Mrs. Braun and Professor and Mrs. French will act as chaperons.

The Phi Mu Delta formal will be next Friday evening. Professor and Mrs. Stineford will chaperon. The orchestra will be the Carpenaders.

Sigma Nu will hold its Christmas formal next Friday with Captain and Mrs. Berry will chaperon. The Black Pirates will furnish the music.

Lambda Iota will hold a dance before the vacation, but the regular dinner dance will be held the night after on January 6.

OPTIC AND ALGER NOW ON BILLINGS SHELVES

(Continued from page 1)

to say that she was terribly rude and unladylike in her manners. That she was occasionally angry without a just cause that she had a few bad habits, and a few venial sins to her discredit to her knowledge was untruthful and even dishonest. She used bad language, told falsehoods by wholesale and had several times been detected in stealing valuable articles from the house. Yet with all her faults and failings, there were some good traits in Fanny Jane, though they seemed like the two grains of wheat in a bushel of chaff.

"Randy of the River" by Horatio Alger, Jr. In this tale we have a youth of qualities who elects to follow the calling of a deck hand on a Hudson River steamboat, doing his duty faithfully day by day, and trying to help others as well as himself. Like all other eds, he is at times tempted to do wrong, but he has a heart of gold even though it is hidden by a somewhat rugged outer garment, and in the end proves the truth of that old saying that it pays to be honest—not only in regard to others but also regarding one's self.

Other volumes soon to be added to the library's shelves are these by Alger:

"Out for Business" or Robert Frost's Strange Career;

"Nelson the Newsboy" or Afloat in New York.

"From Farm to Fortune" or Nat Nason's Strange Experience;

"Lost at Sea" or Robert Roscoe's Strange Cruise.

And some of Oliver Optic's creations: "Now or Never," "Poor and Proud," "Haste and Waste," "Work and Win," "Rich and Humble," "In School and Out."

MELODRAMATIC SOCIETY MAKES THRILLING DEBUT

(Continued from page 1)

ought to win.

UPSILON TAU ALPHER

Due to the absence of several coeds who will spend the week-end in Barre, the regular Upsilon Tau Alpher meeting has been postponed.

EPSILON SIGMER

Due to the absence of several co-eds who will spend the week-end in Cambridge, the regular meeting has been postponed.

ETA SIGMA PHI HEARS OF PLATO IN MEETING

Plans were announced for the next meeting, which will be held January 15, 1931.

Le Cercle Lafayette will hold its monthly meeting next Wednesday evening at 8:00 p.m. at Marie's Tea Room on South Winooski Ave.

LOYAL LEGION OFFERS SWORD TO HIGH CADET

President Guy W. Bailey of the University received last week the following letter from the recorder of the Vermont Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion:

"It gives me great pleasure to inform you that at its meeting held in Burlington November 17, the Vermont Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion passed the following resolution:

"Whereas It is one of the objects of the Loyal Legion to encourage military training, Resolved, That this Commandery annually present a sabre or other gift suitably inscribed to the student of the graduating class attaining the highest standing in the Reserve Officers Training Corps of the University of Vermont and Norwich University, and that the treasurer be hereby authorized to pay the cost of same on the regular Commandery voucher.

"This gift shall be presented by the Commander at the annual military inspection of the R. O. T. C.

"On notification of the date of this annual inspection from the University, the commander will be very glad to make this presentation to the successful student, and will you kindly refer this matter to the proper department for such action as may be necessary in order that this Commandery may receive sufficient notice to have the gift prepared."

The Vermont Cynic

Vol. 49 No. 24

For this issue:

LOUIS LISMAN, '31
Editor-in-Chief

S. S. COMBS, '31 L. M. FOSTER, '31
Business Manager Sports Editor

FRED W. HOUGHTON, '32
News Editor

RED CROSS TO OFFER COURSE IN FIRST AID

The attention of University students is called to the fact that a course in first aid will be given by the local chapter of the American Red Cross starting today.

The course consists of ten one-hour classes meeting each Friday at 7:30 p.m. except during vacation.

The instruction is free, but there is a fee of $1.00 to cover the cost of text, triangular bandage, splints, etc. The place of meeting is St. Paul's Parish House, the Bank Street entrance, on the corner of Bank and St. Paul Streets.

Coleslaw: How did you get the children from their mother at the beach this summer?

Caviar: I always said "Goodies, enjoying yourself," and they resented it and thought I was husbandish-looking and beat it.

Vermont Basketeers Score Gloriously Great Defeat

Coach Pessimist Has Trained His Boys Wonderfully in All the Tricks and Arts of Throwing a Game with the Greatest Skill —Congrats, Coach!

SEVERAL NEW TACTICS OFFERED IN THIS GAMES

[illegible] victorious," glori[illegible] tremendous con[illegible] basketball, scores [illegible] keeping new "losing" [illegible] excellent non-sup[illegible] a splendidly small [illegible] supporters, other[illegible] who at intervals [illegible] team to a praise[illegible] This splendid defeat [illegible] and hoped for, [illegible] many who are not [illegible] know, but not until [illegible] were such hopes fully [illegible]

[illegible] had been prevalent on [illegible] weeks, indeed stu[illegible] do their best to down the team, had in fact worked hard to make this defeat possible. The team itself seemed infused with the same spirited feeling of impending loss. The evening was [illegible] failure.

Coach Speaks

[illegible] coach said in a brief con[illegible] before the game as he gathered his puny and fa[illegible] about him, "now, my [illegible] of Vermont athletes, we [illegible] this game. We must lose [illegible] For the past few weeks [illegible] given you fine instruction in [illegible] the art of losing the game. [illegible] are about to demonstrate [illegible]ssness, and never failing [illegible] Furthermore, he continued [illegible] does your score to be any[illegible] near that of your opponents. [illegible] low a score as possible, grow [illegible] worse. If you score by mis[illegible]ember, we learn by our mis[illegible] and don't score again!"

Crowd Rests Easy

The crowd was at ease once more. [illegible] sitting back on the comfort[illegible] seats, finally all proceeded [illegible] occasionally some snoring quite [illegible] defeat, even at this early stage [illegible] game seemed fairly certain.

[illegible] excitement thrilled the [illegible] crowd. All eyes were for a [illegible] focused on the game. The [illegible] was valiantly, heedlessly play[illegible] of its brilliant tricks. The [illegible] men were literally sitting [illegible] failing on the hard floor, giving [illegible] that the worthy opponents [illegible] sweep past them to victory. [illegible] all previous rules of the [illegible] little cheering, the quietly [illegible] mob of loyal Vermonters [illegible] seriously as one "big strong [illegible] after another "sat down," while [illegible] other heroes, acting as pests, [illegible] around, falling on him, in [illegible] to suffocate the victim as soon [illegible]

Hissing the Foul-shooter

[illegible] the team accomplished [illegible] the art of missing baskets by [illegible] razing, hissing the mem[illegible] own team who was to throw [illegible] time. Thus they were able [illegible] each man so hopelessly that [illegible] nothing but aim carefully [illegible] completely. As the difference [illegible] ment's score and that of [illegible] exhibitionists increased, the [illegible] charged with spirit. The [illegible] seemed to realize the near [illegible] goal. The cheering squad [illegible] to rouse itself, and ask[illegible] the last goal, and to utter [illegible] cries, when they learned [illegible] Vermont team had not been [illegible]

[illegible] middle of the game Coach [illegible] decided that the basket at [illegible] goal was too large and [illegible] too easily, also that the [illegible] Anti-Prohibitionists was [illegible] consequently needlessly [illegible] the visiting team to score [illegible] minutes of consultation [illegible] urge decided that it would [illegible] work to change them [illegible] the existing evil. Even [illegible] possibility of impending vic[illegible] authorities decided that [illegible] should remain in "status quo" [illegible] the contest proceeded [illegible] part of players or onlookers, [illegible] failing to be thoroughly in[illegible] finally the monotony be[illegible] broke. It was then decided [illegible] the game into a race. One [illegible] man with the ball to op[illegible] guard pursued by the other

---

[illegible] term, "racket" meant [illegible] more than a century [illegible] was not invented by the [illegible] underworld.

Converse

YESTERDAY

7 a.m.—Rise to attend last post sweep [illegible] military.

8 to 12.30—Lessons hours. Nothing to do but attend classes in economics, history, mathematics, Latin, French, English, biology or philosophy. Any other such unnecessary boring of real brain like is optional at present, also of the above.

2.00-4.00—Social events.

Instruction offered in the fine art of deep kneebending.

Lectures delivered at all hours in under all conditions on all subjects. Notes taken at these hours guaranteed to implant a convergent concentrated to secure passing marks in all examinations.

4.00-6.00—Tryouts, practice and routine work in baseball, track, tennis, musical opera, Glee Club concert, play, debating, Cross Country, Freshfoot football, Liberary Magazine and Band.

7.00-9.00—Meetings of 27 clubs, 11 organizations, 43 committees and all fraternities.

9.00-10.00—Date with blackeyed coed.

10.00-11.00—Date with blackeyed co-ed.

11.00-12.00—Date with browneyed co-ed.

12.00-12.15—Study.

from the first SKYNE ever printed

TODAY

One bright and sunny evening I set out to communicate with one of the very intelligent and masterful proctors at Converse. At first this intellectual giant refused to give me any information but finally he blurted out the following schedule:

6.30—Rising bell

6.45—Eye, ear, nose and throat inspection

7.00—Toothbrush review.

7.15—Milk, puffed rice, orange juice

7.30—Military class for all over 130 pounds

8.30-10.20—Classes

10.20-10.30—Graham crackers, cocoa

10.30-12.20—Classes.

12.30—Dinner

1.15-1.50—Beauty nap

2.00-3.00—Quoits, archery, jacks, reading

3.00-4.00—Hygiene lecture or instructions from "Emily Post's Book on Etiquette"

4.00-6.00—May try out for a few of the major sports such as soccer, touch football, track. May write for college publications.

6.00—Supper.

6.45-8.30—Downtown or fraternity meeting.

8.30-10.00—Study.

10.10—Toothbrush review.

10.20—Lights out.

Special—Men may be allowed to stay out after 10.20 on college dance nights.

2—By parents writing proctors for special permission.

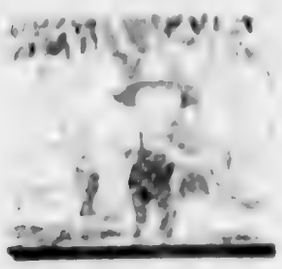
Extra Special—No one may live at Converse Hall unless he is on the Dean's List.

Extra Extra Special—No one is allowed to answer calls from the last one.

[illegible] team which would at a definite place seize the ball and relay it back. During the race no one was to try to make a basket.

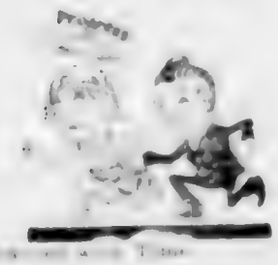
The novelty of this arrangement so aroused the interest of the audience that it had to be abruptly stopped. Indeed one could becoming overexcited cried hysterically to be allowed to go in in order to take part in the fun. She insisted that she could sprint and must be allowed to display her skill. However Coach Pessimist sadly shook his head and said he could see no prospect of defeat if one of the stronker and more vicious sex entered the game.

The game proceeded slowly and favorably for Vermont's defeat until the quarter. At this time a damp cloth was thrown to each team with a request to each to wipe up the floor which had become extraordinarily dirty. The Vermont team, however, lay back indolently and said it didn't feel up to it. Thereupon Coach Pessimist hurried forward and tried to force the team to conform to the request. This task is not enough, he said, it will sap your vitality decrease your efficiency and help you lose the game."



HAZING OF UPPERCLASS WOMEN STILL STRONG

[illegible] the upperclass women are [illegible] indulging. The three [illegible] [illegible] of Vermont Women [illegible] [illegible] the sophomore [illegible] [illegible] the freshmen [illegible] [illegible] and the dread report [illegible] [illegible] A [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]



Medical Declaration

SCENARIO

He becomes a Prominent Lawyer . . .

And he lives to a Ripe old Age

K. E. L.

Due to the absence of several coeds who will spend the week-end in New Haven, the regular chapter meeting has been postponed.

Our Day's Little Lesson

Society Notes

KAPPER ALPHER THETER

Due to the absence of several chapter members who will spend the week-end in New Haven, the regular meeting of Frosh or Conversationes has been postponed.

DELTER DELTER DELTER

Due to the absence of several coeds who will spend the week-end in Newport, the regular chapter meeting on Saturday has been postponed.

PI BETER PHI

Due to the absence of several coeds who will spend the week-end in New York, the regular chapter meeting has been postponed.

The House at Pooh's Corner proved so interesting that she almost didn't hear the door open. However she looked up just in time and who should it be but the prince from down the street a little way! She quickly looked down and then slowly gazed at him with the least of icy stares.

Well, to make a short story shorter, the prince's favorite color was blue. And it seemed that he had to have an encyclopedia just in back of the princess. You see, he was having an exam the next day on Catherine the Great and not having read the book, couldn't thought that he could scrape a little knowledge on the subject in condensed form.

And so he said, "Pardon me" very boldly and reached for the book. Well, then the miracle happened. For the princess, who up until this time hadn't known a thing about men suddenly knew everything. And so she said, "Oh I have that exam, too. Aren't you clever to think of using the encyclopedia." And he said, "Perhaps we can do it together." And she said "Let's do." And he said, "Well, how about seeking a more secluded nook." And so they gathered their books and wandered down the aisle to a little nook with a table and two chairs and sat down and spent the afternoon learning what each liked to eat more than anything else for breakfast.

J. E. BIGORLOW HOLDS AUDITORS SPELLBOUND

(Continued from page 1)

lation from the Koran, [illegible] Omar Khayyam's Rubaiyat, [illegible] He ended on this note. "[illegible] I ask you if we spend [illegible] going to school and [illegible] paring for college who [illegible] Those present [illegible] Friars Intersections, [illegible] bers and the aforementioned freshmen [illegible] shouting to the very [illegible] dance the next morn [illegible] ended up at Rand's Home [illegible] Pegorlow, the little [illegible] himself and paid the bill [illegible] seen, the wanted man wore [illegible] white checked suit, a [illegible] and carried a parasol.

While in the [illegible] entertaining debate we [illegible] Miss Laura Johndaughter [illegible] Sylvia Boyed concerning [illegible] of women. The latter presented [illegible] discourse concerning the [illegible] istence of women in the [illegible] era, the uselessness [illegible] brains then, their dependence [illegible] strong he-men and the [illegible] vantages of being a cloistered [illegible] Johndaughter had [illegible] parent without losing [illegible] facial control by merely [illegible] sentence, however she [illegible] to utter and abiet [illegible] sentence was: But [illegible] of the clothes they had to [illegible]

Curfew shall not ring [illegible]

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Ham Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

UNUSUAL CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Isham News Shop

102A Church Street

SUNDAY DINNER

Chicken or Turkey

$1.00

THE ALPS CAFE

The Cafe of Today's Best

ARTHUR W. DUPAW and his ORCHESTRA

"The Sun Dodgers"

For rates and reservations Please Call Telephone 2232-W

Address 233 North Street

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the

U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor

All Work Guaranteed

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald

69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

Select your CHRISTMAS Remembrances at the "Home of Fine Gifts"

McAULIFFE'S

Church & College Sts. Phone 629

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

64 COLCHESTER AVE.

Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.

Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats

Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies

Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.

101 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

The Ideal Hotel for You In BOSTON

Is the NEW Hotel MANGER

At North Station

Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden

500 ROOMS

Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower ♥ Built-in-Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) ♥ Servidor Circulating Ice Water.

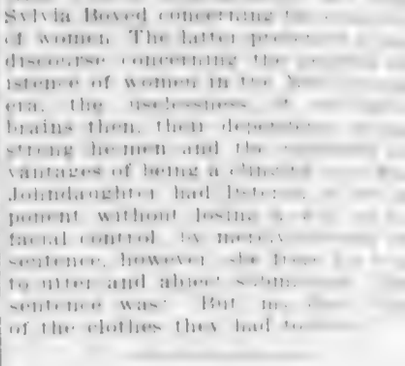
New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel

Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service.

RATES—ROOM AND BATH

FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00

FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00



No Higher Rates

PICTURES ARE ALWAYS GOOD AND APPROPRIATE FOR ANYONE. THERE'S AN UNUSUAL DISPLAY OF UNIVERSITY VIEWS NOW BEING SHOWN

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

42 out of 54 colleges choose this FAVORITE pipe tobacco and Yale agrees

LOOK UP at the windows of Harkness to find out what the Yale man smokes. In the spring time you'll see him sitting in his window seat with a pipeful of Edgeworth between his teeth.

On Chapel Street . . . out at the Bowl . . . everywhere the Yale man goes, his pipe and Edgeworth go with him. And at 42 out of 54 of the leading colleges and universities Edgeworth is the favorite tobacco.

A tobacco must be good to win the vote of so many discriminating smokers. And Edgeworth is good. To convince yourself try Edgeworth. You can get it wherever tobacco is sold . . . 15¢ a tin. Or, for a generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Virginia.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 19 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1930 — NUMBER 25

RENDER BACH ORATORIO AND HANDEL'S "MESSIAH" IN CHRISTMAS CONCERT

Combined Musical Groups Present Parts of "Christmas Oratorio" and "The Messiah"

REV. I. C. SMART SERVES AS CHAPLAIN OF DAY

...his Christmas Oratorio ... Messiah featured the an... concert projected by ...nnett and Miss Miriam ...ist. Sunday afternoon ...n the Ira Allen Chapel.

...Chipman Smart of the ... Congregational Church ...plain of the day.

...Fowler, Mailla Putnam, ... A. A. Scharbius, Jr., ... were the soloists. The ...hoir and the University ...bined in their vocal and ... assistance to the soloists. ...lotte de Volt, concert-... Charles Heath, Jr., trum-...ded the orchestra with ...rendition of their respec-...

...gram with singers:

...Prologue: Vom Himmel ...komm ich her.....Luther ...Prelude: Chorale Prelude on ...mel hoch".....Pachelbel ...In dulci jubilo..German ...d Collect.

...Lo, how a rose e'er bloom-...German, harm.....Praetorius

...Christmas Oratorio:

...Cantata for the second day of ...al of Christmas.

...And there were shepherds. Mailla Putnam.

...Break forth, O beauteous, ...light.

...And the angel said unto ...

Dorothy Fowler.

...Within yon gloomy manger.

O haste ye then.

Alfred Scharbius.

...Slumber, beloved.

Elsie Roosa.

...And suddenly there was ...angel.

Dorothy Fowler.

...Glory to God in the highest.

'Tis right that angels thus ...sing.

Norma Daigle

...With all thy hosts.

...reading.

...Handel's Messiah:

...And the glory of the Lord.

...chorus: O thou that tellest ...good tidings to Zion.

Mailla Putnam

...For unto us a child is born.

...symphony.

...greatly.

Dorothy Fowler.

...Then shall the eyes of the ...be opened.

...He shall feed his flock.

...unto me.

Mailla Putnam.

...Hallelujah.

...to the world.....Handel

...Benediction.

...Silent night.....Gruber

Adestes fideles,

Traditional

...Postlude: Rhapsody on Christ-...mas .....Gigout

GREY FRIARS INITIATES TWO AND RECEIVES ONE

...rlett, '32, and H. R. But-... were initiated into, and ...'32, was accepted for, ... at the business session ...rs held Friday afternoon ...k in the Greek library.

...men have demonstrated ... to write the short story ...on the basis of this and ...ntribution that each man ...

...e made for banquet Jan... speakers, prominent in ...ety, will be present. ...program a general discus...ture and creative writing ...

...s years several very in... have been given on ...ning to literary work.

COBB SETS FRIDAY AS DEAD LINE FOR PHOTOS

Raymond Cobb editor of the Ariel states that to date only a small percentage of junior class questionnaires, and senior honor data are in his hands. They must be handed in by the beginning of Christmas vacation. They can be left in Ariel box opposite the official bulletin board in the Old Mill corridor.

All junior individual pictures absolutely must be in by December 19 to insure their inclusion in the book. Those who have returned their proofs to the photographer, W. K. Vantine are considered to have handed them in and they will be mailed directly to the Ariel editor.

A glossy print of the others is required. This section will be made up during the Christmas vacation and the grinds must also be in.

TWO REPRESENTATIVES FROM BETHLEHEM STEEL PRESENT DUAL LECTURE

Two Part Discussion Points Out Opportunities, Wages and Manufacture

Manufacture of steel and opportunities for students at the Bethlehem Steel Mills were the subjects of illustrated lectures given by Mr. Grover C. Brown and Mr. George Richardson, representatives from the concern, last Thursday evening at Williams Science Hall.

Mr. Brown in the first part of the lecture pointed out that personnel of the Steel Mills is a vast and intricate organization. Numerous managers, secretaries, superintendents and officials are on the various staffs. To find men for these positions is the duty of the two representatives of the Steel Corporation. The meeting at Vermont was one of a series being held at Eastern Colleges to interest students in the organizations.

Over two hundred college graduates applied for entrance to the mill school and ninety were accepted. In these acceptances, school and outside experience, and personality were considered. Of the ninety men accepted, seventeen were civil engineers; fifteen, mechanical engineers, economists had fourteen; other graduates made up the other forty-four in the class. After acceptance, the men take a regular course at the mills, where a great variety of subjects is offered. At the very first, all men attend the lectures which are presented by specialists in various lines of the steel industry. The lecture course is one of the most diversified and best of any student course in the United States. After the lecture course the men are divided into groups and will go through the plants to see the actual work. Each week the students must send in a detailed report. These records are kept and averaged at the end of the course. Special blanks are provided to the superintendents for appraisal of reliability, application, personality, regularity, initiative, decision, vision, knowledge, education and leadership. At the end of the course the individual is rated. A mark of at least 80 per cent must be reached to qualify. Of the group of ninety students, only fourteen failed to rate. A vast diversity of work is divided among the new employees. Each man is allowed to choose his own type of work. After the first year of work it is found that on an average of about 50 per cent remain in the employ of the company. The more important reasons for leaving are: ill-health, return to school, unsatisfactory, dissatisfied with work, and better job. Very few terminations are made after two or three years of employment.

Wages High

Wages of the men are comparatively high. After seven years the salaries came to about $300 per month for men in the blast furnace, coke, combustion and mechanical maintenance departments. In the rolling mills the average salary is $300 at the end of eight years, while the ship-building departments rate but $300 after more than nine years. However, the average wage for employees is about $300 at the end of about six years. Comparatively few rise above the $350 margin. Nevertheless, said Mr Brown, while not every one can rise to the top, most of the men are very well off.

(Continued on page 4)

HARTWELL TO ADDRESS INTERNATIONAL CLUB ON REVOLUTIONS OF S. A.

History Instructor Will Explain "The Background of the South American Revolutions"

TOPIC OF THIRD MEET IS OF WIDE INTEREST

Mr. Lindley S. Hartwell of the History Department, will speak on "The Background of the South American Revolutions" before the International Relations Club at 8 o'clock this evening in the Vermonters Club house on Summit Street. The meeting is free and all students are invited to attend.

The meeting tonight is the third to be held thus far this year by the International Relations Club. The first meeting, in October, was devoted to a consideration of the work of the League of Nations. Pierre de Lanux, journalist and author of note, was the speaker at the first meeting and he evoked an enthusiastic response on the part of his audience to the activities and the effectiveness of the League of Nations.

Raymond Currier, one-time missionary in India, was the guest speaker at the second meeting of the club, held in November. He discussed the present political situation in India.

Tonight's topic for discussion, the South American revolutions, is a timely subject inasmuch as during the last few months a number of South American countries have been in a state of turmoil.

The last two issues of Fortnightly Summaries, which are issued by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, will be distributed to the members of the club tonight.

Any student may belong to the International Relations Club, and every one is invited to attend tonight's meeting.

FRATERNITIES HAVE AND TO HOLD HOUSE DANCES

Six Houses Hold Functions Friday and Four More to Follow Suit This Week

Ten of the thirteen men's fraternities have had or are having dances before the Christmas vacation. According to the usual custom, Lambda Iota will have its formal dinner dance after the recess.

Kappa Sigma had its dance last Friday night with music by Fred Mandel's orchestra from Springfield, Mass. The chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. D. B. Carroll and Prof. and Mrs. B. C. Douglass. The dance was held at the house.

Phi Delta Theta held a formal dinner dance with a midnight supper and entertainment Friday. The house was decorated by James Riley in the form of a night club. The music was furnished by Freddie Lynch and his orchestra. The chaperones were Major and Mrs. O. H. Stanley and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Miltimore of St. Albans, Vermont.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon held a dance Friday night with Lechnyr's Vermonters playing. The chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Clark.

The Sigma Deltas had at their house Friday night a dance chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. L. B. Puffer and Prof. K. J. Sheldon and Miss Taft. Holbrook's Harmonians furnished the music for the occasion.

Sigma Phi held an informal Friday night with the Black Panthers of Middlebury playing. The dance was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell.

A formal dance was also held Friday night at the Zeta Chi house with music by the New Algonquins. The chaperones at this dance were Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Millington, Prof. P. H. Ewert, Miss Catherine Courtney, and Mr. and Mrs. George Wood.

To Be Friday

Alpha Tau Omega holds its dance next Friday, December 19. The orchestra playing is Madeline Beaupre's and the chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell, James Berry and Miss Mary Murphy.

The Delta Psi dinner dance comes

(Continued on page 4)

LE CERCLE LAFAYETTE TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Le Cercle Lafayette will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, December 17 at 8 p.m. at Mercury Inn Room 11 S. Williams Avenue opposite the Majestic Theater.

Miss Suzanne Andrews graduate student in French, will talk on the latest works of Paul Morand. Miss Eva Evans who has resided in Paris for a considerable time will be present.

Several students will also present a one act play in French. La Marseillaise and other French songs which have been recorded will be played.

Following the program refreshments will be served.

APPOINT MARVIN AND WILDER AS ASSISTANT KAKE WALK DIRECTORS

Slavin Named Announcer—Choose Men for Seven Major Committees

J. W. Marvin, Jr., '32, and G. E. Wilder, '32, have been appointed assistant Kake Walk directors by the present directors, R. J. Maynes and F. S. Smith. The assistant directors automatically become directors in their senior year.

Marvin is a member of Delta Psi and is prominent in campus activities being an assistant manager of track, a letter man in hockey and a member of Wig and Buskin. Wilder, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is an assistant manager of basketball, captain of the cross-country for the past season and a member of Key and Serpent.

The list of the committees:

Announcer: W. J. Slavin, '31.

Ushering: R. W. Worrell, '31, chairman; E. J. Grant, '31, E. L. Meehan, '32, R. A. Philbin, '32, A. M. Sullivan, '32, W. C. Cronin, '33, M. B. Brown, '33.

Seating: R. E. Tobin, '31, chairman; L. L. Jones, '31, C. Wright, '32, G. R. Collins, '32, E. E. Dunn, '33, J. E. Wood, '33, F. J. Massucco, '33.

Stunts: F. A. McBride, '31, chairman, R. B. Aiken, '31, A. O. Eaton, '32, C. W. Tilley, '32, C. S. Brown, '33.

Advertising: H. R. Mattison, '31, chairman, G. R. Brush, '31, G. R. Nelson, '31, P. B. Billings, '32, R. W. Cobb, '32, P. P. Fischer, '33.

Lighting: R. A. Dailey, '31, chairman, R. F. Bigwood, '31, E. V. Kibby, '32, R. A. Hyde, '32, M. Benton, '33.

Peerade: W. E. Craig, '31, chairman, R. M. Huey, '31, J. E. Tracy, '32, R. J. Livingstone, '32, C. J. Kilburn, '33.

Kake Walking: F. A. Bolles, '31, chairman, J. E. Clark, '31, E. G. Hurlburt, '32, S. B. Barker, '32.

COMMITTEE NOMINATES FOR FOUNDER'S DAY

Speakers, chairman, and financial manager of Founder's Day were nominated by the 1932 nominating committee which met yesterday at 1 P. in the Old Mill chapel.

VERMONT DEBATERS TO MEET MC GILL ON CHAIN STORE QUESTION HERE

Lisman and Nelson To Oppose Canadians Tomorrow Evening In Decision Meet On Chain Store Question

MC GILL WILL OFFER STRONG FORENSIC TEAM

McGill University will be Vermont's next forensic opponent at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Old Mill chapel. The subject will be "Resolved the Chain Stores as now constituted are detrimental to the best interests of the public." The question is worded according to the preferences of the Canadian College. The Vermont team will consist of Louis Lisman '31 of Burlington and George Nelson '31 of Stamford Conn. There will be a decision rendered by a board of three judges. The debate will be American style and the speeches will be 15 minutes in constructive argument and 5 in rebuttal.

In the team of Lisman and Nelson Vermont will present her strongest debaters within the past few years if not of all time. Both are seniors, veterans of three years bitter campaigning. For the past two years they have been considered on a par with any debaters in the country. In their sophomore year a successful season was climaxed with a defeat of New York University at New York.

Last year these two men were members of a team which went through a long southern trip undefeated. So far this fall they have debated with R. P. Donaghy, '33. Bates in no decision contest and have administered a complete defeat to Keene Normal School.

McGill A Strong Team

McGill is famous for debating and has turned out some splendid teams. A few days ago the team which will debate Vermont turned back the burr-storming Scottish debaters who recently triumphed over Middlebury. McGill will do everything in her power to defeat Vermont at this early stage of the season in order to obtain practice.

To enlighten the rivalry between the two universities it was decided last week to hold a second debate between McGill and Vermont March 13 at Montreal. Regardless of the outcome of tomorrow's fray the losing team will be given an opportunity to retaliate.

J. V.'s

Junior varsity debating will continue its activities Thursday evening at West Bolton, Vermont. The subject will be "Resolved that capital punishment should be abolished." E. M. Codding and P. J. LaCrosse would have it abolished while J. E. Bigelow and Russell Colburn are not so enthusiastic. The Bolton Grange will play the hosts to the J. V.'s.

University Spends Over $35,000 In Support of Student Campus Activities

Last year the various student organizations on the campus cost the University the total sum of $36,361.16. This sum, coming directly from the college treasury, which in turn is augmented by the yearly student activity fee, was spent largely to defray the unpaid expenses of the two upper classes, the 1931 Ariel, the various honor societies, the student publications, the men's and women's athletic associations, and the men's and women's musical and debating societies.

In glancing over the long list it is found that $52 was paid to completely defray the debts of the 1930 Ariel. $2,875.68 on the other hand, was spent for the Ariel of 1931, which sum represents but a small part of its total cost.

The men's athletic association needed by far the largest amount of all as it took some $15,820.00, which was paid entirely from the men's student activity fees. This sum, of course, is but a fraction of all the money spent by the association, the rest being made up from guarantees and gate receipts.

The women's athletic association used much less than the men's, spending in all about $2,236.50, which was taken from the women's student activity fees, the association's only source of income.

The VERMONT CYNIC was the next great user of college funds, as the college paid out for the year 1929-1930 the sum of $6,227.11.

Classes Heavy Spenders

Taking the two upperclasses next, it was learned that 1930 required $838.04, while 1931 used the sum of $1,497.06. This money was apparently used to pay up expenses incurred when the classes lost money in running a dance, or other social functions. The class of 1932 also needed financial help to tune of $324.21 for the same reason.

The honor societies next occupied our attention, and it was ascertained that collectively the sum of $2,132.21 was needed to defray their unmet expenditures.

Boulder, the senior honor society, required $358.95. Epsilon Sigma, honor society of the teacher training department, needed $428.53, while Key and Serpent, the junior honor society used $527.70. Gold Key, sophomore honor society, required $124.80, which is not quite as much as that group usually needs. Masque and Sandal,

(Continued on page 8)

The Vermont Cynic

Members of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] '31 — LOUIS LISMAN, '31, Editor-in-chief — Hope N. Smith, '31, Women's Editor

[illegible] '31, Managing Editor — STUART S. CHENEY, '31, Business Manager — Lyndon M. Foster, '31, Sports Editor

Associate Editors

[illegible] '32 — Allen O. Eaton, '32 — Fred W. Householder, '32

[illegible] Editor — E. J. Fitzgerald, '31 — Feature Editor, Edmund A. Gorman, '31

Assistant Editors

J. S. Bigelow, '33 — W. G. MacDonald, '33 — S. N. Spiller, '33

[illegible] '33 — H. J. Shaw, '33 — T. I. Taylor, '33

[illegible] '33 — J. C. Shaw, '33

Assistant Sports Editors

[illegible] '33 — F. Tupper, '32

[illegible] '33 — G. M. Forsberg, '33

[illegible] '31, Associate Editor — Phyllis Ross, '31, Women's Associate Editor — Gladys Press, '31, Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

[illegible] '32 — Rosetta Harbour, '32 — Margaret Mower, '32

[illegible] '32 — Margaret Ann Martin, '32 — Hope Rankow, '32

[illegible] '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers

[illegible] '32 — G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

[illegible] Published semi-weekly during the college year. All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the news office or telephoned to 1091 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all [illegible] Delta House.

Entered at the Postoffice at Burlington as second class matter under Act of [illegible]. Acceptance for mailing at special rate provided for in Section 1103 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Published Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 — December 16, 1930 — No. 23

FACULTY, STUDENTS TO DISCUSS CAMPUS TOPICS

[illegible] and university administrators well known in American collegiate circles will discuss problems of common interest at the national student [illegible] conference to be held December [illegible] in Detroit, Michigan, under the combined auspices of the student [illegible] of the Y W C A and the student division of the Y M C A, co-operating as the council of Christian Associations.

[illegible] in regard to method of meeting the best work of this national gathering will be accomplished in sectional meetings. Careful preparatory work over a period of months has been done by seven commissions whose part it is to collect preliminary material, issue data and then guide the daily discussions in the group meetings at Detroit.

Delegates to the conference will come from various sections of the country and [illegible] participation is assured and representatives will be sent from institutions situated in Orono, Maine, Berkeley, Calif., New York, N. Y., Chicago, Ill., Minneapolis, Minn., Seattle, Wash., Austin, Texas, Nashville, Tenn., and Atlanta, Ga.

Vermont May Be Represented

Although no definite plan has been made, it is expected that Vermont will [illegible] take part in the convention. [illegible] questionnaires are now being [illegible] organization on topics concerning college social organization, moral standards, religion and methods for approaching student [illegible]. The questions will then be brought up for discussion at the conference itself by means of the smaller groups and gatherings.

[illegible] Miller of Guilford in writing [illegible] preparations there, commented that if the conference does [illegible] it [illegible] worthwhile.

"Because of the [illegible] Vermont delegates will have [illegible] other students [illegible]. They are [illegible] figures of [illegible] who will speak at the [illegible] Norman [illegible] Peter [illegible] of Cambridge, Mass., Prof. Rufus M. [illegible] of Wellesley College, Waverly [illegible] of Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa, Prof. [illegible] of Union Theological Seminary, New York [illegible] Prof. Kenneth S. Latourette of Yale [illegible] Chicago Theological Seminary, J. H. Mathews, New York city, and President A. L. Mayo, New York City, who will [illegible] Young Women's Christian Associations.

[illegible] the Students' Conference and [illegible] Conference in Hudson [illegible] addresses will also be given by Dean [illegible] of the University of Nebraska, Dean Charles Gilkey of [illegible] University and Prof. [illegible] of the Yale Divinity School.

The R. O. T. C. men who have the best [illegible] in target practice will be chosen for the R. O. T. C. rifle team. This includes the freshmen, barring the first year of the military course, who are barred from representing the University on the regular team.

VIC CHADBURNE EARNS OLD ENGLISH V AWARD

"Vic" Chadburne, '31, was awarded W. A. A.'s highest honor, the old English "V" at the Student Union mass meeting held last week in the University gymnasium.

This is the first time in three years that any University woman has attained this honor.

Marjorie Bracken told of her trip to New Jersey College in the interests of Woman's Student Union.

The blazer was awarded to Alice Lunna, '32, and to Doris Brennan, '32, who also received the "U. V. M." and numerals were presented to Frances McKeon, '31, and Evelyn Slayton, '31.

Alice Hoyt, '34, discussed the campaign for freshman membership in W. A. A. Ann Sawyer, '33, and Ruth Wood, '34, presented a costume dance. Sylvia Boyd, '33, then gave a talk on the Y. W. C. A. bazaar. Elsie Roosa sang three selections preceding the dance.

U. V. M. SPENDS $35,000 ON CAMPUS ACTIVITIES and Wig and Buskin, the two dramatic honor societies, spent $200.42 and $1,170.14 respectively. The reason for Wig and Buskin's unusually heavy expense was the players' trip to Rutland for the presentation of a play, which played to a poor audience and lost considerable money. Mortar Board, the women's honor society, asked the sum of $493.81.

(Continued from page 1)

The men's debating society incurred considerably heavier expenses than ever before, due of course to its southern trip, as it spent some $787.00. The men's musical club also took some unusual trips last year, and a total of $1,194.09 was spent.

The Student Senate spent very little last year, with only $32.55 being needed to defray expenses.

The Vermont Literary Magazine was not on a sound financial footing last year and cost the college $172.04. This is not all that was spent for the [illegible] but part of it was paid [illegible].

Women's [illegible] cost but little last year as only $33.75 was spent for the society. The women's dramatic club also required little attention, spending but $56.60. The women's musical club however, needed $489.18 and the Women's Student Union [illegible].

The Vermont Y. M. C. A. used $1,194.94 last year, the money being [illegible] for freshman camp, for sending [illegible] to conferences and in the coming months the college [illegible] the Y. W. C. A. required $[illegible].

This list of expenditures taken in the usual year starting September 1, 1929 and closing with June 1, 1930. According to Mr. Bruce, the college feels the total of such expenditures vary but little from year to year.

The University of California, ever ready to introduce the novel, is planning a turtle derby for the very near future. Turtle racing is but one of the new University of California fads, and to date this infantile form of recreation has met with great acclaim. A 100-yard speedway has been provided, and pending financial success, a stadium may be erected.

A Student-at-Large

[illegible] to fathom the exact significance of this [illegible]. To me it is vaguely reminiscent of the escapes of convicts or patients of a certain type of state institution. To be sure, their is a faint element of justice in the trend of the allegation. [illegible] I'd better follow the precedent set by the others who have conducted this column and comment upon the shape that the old school is in. Personally, I think that the school is in very good shape at least that portion of the student body whose shapes I have observed. Come, gentlemen, let us get down to serious work.

I have come back to campus life after a lapse of some years, and I am not wholly unastonished at the antics of the college youth. Probably a few rambling comments on some of the minor imbecilities of the average inhabitant of the college sphere would be as edifying, and slightly more interesting than any lengthy excursus upon some particular aspect of the great social crimes that irritate Boniface and afford the various editors of the CYNIC rambling practice.

Twice thus far this semester, I, in company with other zanies, have sat in anguished expectations while the wrist watches dragged their heavy hands toward a point ten minutes after class hour. Every step on the stairs caused palpitating hearts to step up their tempos, and the passing of each moment raised hope higher. When the ten minute period was up, and the delinquent professor failed to appear, we fled with idiotic joy and made ourselves scarce. I paid actual good green money, wrung with toil out of the sweat of my brow for the privilege of attending college. (And if you don't think that's work, you try wringing money out of the sweat of your brow sometime. No kidding, it's an awful job.) Rational reflection would cause one to think that I would grasp every opportunity to attend class as eagerly as a sophomore grasps a co-ed, but unfortunately my association with college students has made me think in a fashion not dissimilar to theirs, with the result that whenever the chance arises I flee madly from the privilege for which I paid. Rational reflection, I repeat, would make me aware of the total silliness of this procedure, but no one reflects rationally in college except possibly a few professors, and even they keep quiet about it for fear of being lonesome in faculty meetings.

An equally inane bit of action is that of the professors who insist upon heaping hapless studes and co-eds with trunk loads of assorted information anent the present value of future income, the correct behavior of the number three man in the rear rank, the use of the second aorist in Xenophon, the home life of a palisade cell, and kindred orders of tripe. Such piffle is of value in passing exams, and the laboring mind of the student retains the minimum quantity necessary for such passing until that desirable event is ten minutes in the past, and then he abandons it as fast as he does a girl that won't neck. As a matter of fact, the things he will remember about his college classes will have surprisingly little to do with text-books. He will remember the expression on the French prof's face when the class shark caught him in an error; he will remember the pictures that his seatmate drew in his notebook, and the clever white hands of the girl across the aisle will assume a prominence in memory all out of proportion to their importance. Such a fact, while frequently the subject of academic lamentation, is not to be moaned about. By far the largest part of our education takes place in grammer school, and if we spend all our days in school we would not amass in high school, college graduate school research work and all the rest of it, one-tenth of the amount of education that we get in the period from the first to the eighth grade. If a man can read and write and do enough arithmetic to carry out his work, why then, what the heck if he does forget whether Charlotte Corday stabbed Marat with a gusto or a dagger?

And yet one more observation. While I am not unacquainted with the perverse type of rationalization that passes for thinking among college men, I am somewhat bewildered by the attitude of some of them in the matter of sex. I have had men proudly announce to me that in affaires d'amour their control was on a par with that of the guinea pig, and beam expectantly as they waited for the tribute proper to such sophisticated proficiency. While I leave the subject of the value of virginity to the psychologist and the professional moralist, I am rather certain that frequent expeditions to a large city not farther away than a three days journey behind fast horses are not exactly conducive to physical well-being, to say nothing of the psychic aftermath experienced by the average decent fellow when he is rather sure that he has made a peculiarly objectionable type of pig out of himself. Through some quirk in undergraduate thinking the inexperienced boy is looked upon as a spiritless dolt unless he has proved his mettle in a setto with a professional daughter of joy. Whatever the reason, the feeling exists, and perhaps it is of little use to moralize. The best bit of commentary on the whole matter is that masterly sentence of Bertrand Russell's: "The posture is ridiculous, the pleasure momentary, and the price exorbitant."

HARRY BUTMAN, '33.

Duke University
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
Durham, N. C.

On October 1, 1931, carefully selected first and third year students will be admitted. Applications may be sent at any time and will be considered in the order of receipt. Catalogues and application forms may be obtained from the Dean.

FACULTY COLUMN

AN INTERVIEW

* * *

No I am neither a Norwegian nor a Swede. The last syllable is spelled ton.

* * *

No, that's not a euphemism; the [illegible] was born over here a couple of generations or so.

* * *

Yes, that's the fourth time that article has appeared; it grows a little more lush each time.

* * *

Well, I didn't like that headline—Live like a Norwegian Peasant. I conform to American standards.

* * *

No, my son's name is Nathaniel, not Sigurd. That's merely idle rumor.

* * *

Very brilliant for his two years.

* * *

He knows all about comma splices but I've got to drill him on his pronouns.

* * *

The M. O. S. Book.

* * *

An improvement? Take textbooks now.

* * *

The phrase is common enough; there's no need to be so literal.

* * *

Yes, each of them is written by an authority in that field. They're too accurate.

* * *

Not from the results that we get. Perhaps we should start from the end. After all what is a century one way or the other when you have twelve at your disposal?

* * *

Theories. Shut a group of bright young men with pet theories in a room and let 'em manufacture textbooks for a year or two. I'm sure, now, that a couple of my sophomores could produce a much more stimulating history of English literature than I could.

* * *

I suppose there would be more explosions in the laboratory, but there would be a certain zest in the experimental work.

* * *

I'm sure they would reduce the number of declensions and conjugations.

* * *

There would be more interest shown. Probably there would be duels over the irregular verbs.

* * *

* * *

William Morris.

* * *

His prose romances.

* * *

Why, yes, the first great poet since Spencer.

* * *

Keats, perhaps, but Shelley is shrill, and Browning, merely an indifferently successful acrobat.

* * *

It is strange, but I prefer not to discuss the matter.

* * *

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

A benefit bridge was held [illegible] day afternoon for the [illegible] Kentucky. This [illegible] ing to help the [illegible] that district.

Open house for [illegible] cluded under Pan-Hellenic rules was held Tuesday [illegible].

DELTA DELTA DELTA

A Christmas party was held [illegible] the Athena Club rooms [illegible] night.

PI BETA PHI

A Christmas party was held [illegible] the rooms by the alumnae [illegible] chapter last night.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

A Christmas party was held [illegible] day night at the home [illegible] tronesses and alumnae [illegible] guests of the active chapter.

K. E. L.

Formal initiation was held [illegible] afternoon, followed by a [illegible] the Hotel Vermont in honor [illegible] new members, Betty Gordon [illegible] New Britain, Conn., Ida [illegible] and Augusta Cohen, '34, of [illegible].

EPSILON SIGMA

A Christmas party will be held [illegible] the rooms at 123 Loomis Street [illegible] day night by the alumnae [illegible] chapter.

Co-ed Notes

There are fifty-eight [illegible] thirty-two sophomores [illegible] juniors, and sixteen seniors [illegible] for basketball.

There will be no classes [illegible] ball Thursday, December 18.

On Wednesday afternoon [illegible] 10, about thirty of the thirty-[illegible] who signed up reported. Three [illegible] sections on Wednesday of each week, one at three o'clock and one at four o'clock. There will be ten practices and the ten best scores will be averaged in choosing the team. Three [illegible] are allowed. Last Wednesday the high scorer was Thelma Appell.

The bowling class is held at the Regal Bowling Alley. Christine Shaw, '30, made the highest score of any woman who bowled in this alley this year.

There are four sections in archery. Much improvement and enthusiasm has been noted. These classes are held in the archery range in the Armatorium.

It's one of my favorite subjects. Why art has been so thoroughly divorced from the utilitarian that people gaze with equal complacence upon a skyscraper and a radiator ornament.

* * *

Monstrosities most of them. What can be the purpose of decorating an expensive car with the nude figure of an emaciated girl, off balance and holding aloft a dropsical dumpling?

* * *

* * *

Why, I once shot a rabbit that waited for me.

* * *

Yes, Calvin, the theologian.

* * *

Yes.

* * *

Yes.

* * *

Possibly.

PHILIP D. [illegible]

The Health Conferences for [illegible] men are being held in the [illegible]. These Health Conferences are [illegible] the follow-up of the physical examination given in the fall at the beginning of college.

W. A. A. is sponsoring [illegible] among the freshman women [illegible] taining W. A. A. points. The freshmen class has been divided into [illegible] ferent teams. Captains [illegible] have been chosen.

1931 ARIEL

$4.50

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

SPORTING NEWS

Improved Green and Gold Five Trims Clarkson Tech

Tobin and Tupper High Scorers In 30-22 Victory Over Engineers —Vermonters Find Basket More Easily Than In Previous Game

PLAY IS SPIRITED IN SECOND HOME CONTEST

[illegible] handling of the ball com- [illegible] greatly improved passing [illegible] Green and Gold quintet [illegible] of the season last [illegible] night, when it emerged [illegible] the strong Clarkson [illegible] the score of 30 to 22, in [illegible] featured by the spirited [illegible] spectacular shooting of goals [illegible] both teams.

Two Point Lead at Half

[illegible] in whirlwind fashion the [illegible] tallied within the [illegible] minutes of play as Durfey [illegible] a twin-counter after a beau- [illegible] made possible by the [illegible] ing of his teammates under [illegible] A moment later he scored [illegible] the foul stripe, and Ver- [illegible] ading, 3 to 0. Clarkson, [illegible] outdone, immediately re- [illegible] Forbes finding the basket on [illegible] pass from Towner. Following [illegible] short, quick passes that [illegible] tall well into the enemy [illegible] Dunn countered for the [illegible] ive. This was succeeded [illegible] of fast action with the [illegible] ing up and down the floor, [illegible] team securing any advantage. [illegible] opened up the scoring again [illegible] via the foul route and [illegible] by Tupper on a pretty [illegible] the tap-off. Forbes, the [illegible] of the Engineers unable [illegible] the stiff defense of the Ver- [illegible] leaved a long one from the [illegible] of the floor which dropped [illegible] through the net. On the other [illegible] the Green and Gold forwards [illegible] pierce the visitors' defence [illegible] any great consistency and were [illegible] to rely on long shots on several [illegible] Both teams took a brace [illegible] the last part of the first half. [illegible] Sargent being the only Cata- [illegible] to find the basket, while Forbes [illegible] lone Engineer to split the [illegible] Vermont had a precarious lead [illegible] points at the half, the score [illegible] 12 to 10.

During the period between halves, [illegible] Post, representing the Physical [illegible] Department at U. V. M., [illegible] occasion to present to Henry [illegible] manager of the Sigma Phi Fra- [illegible] football team, a silver cup, [illegible] winning the championship [illegible] last fall of the Interfraternity [illegible] Football League.

Vermont Shows Improvement

[illegible] the second half Forbes tal- [illegible] Clarkson on a follow-up shot. [illegible] later, however, Tupper [illegible] Vermont on a long pass [illegible] Tait. Clarkson caught up with [illegible] when Nazzitto dribbled [illegible] the entire Catamount team [illegible] center, and when Sullivan [illegible] through from the penalty [illegible] Engineers assumed the lead [illegible] time. But their lead was [illegible] as Tupper and Taft suc- [illegible] scored from the floor and [illegible] ted a foul shot.

[illegible] from one or two baskets by [illegible] and a notable exhibition of [illegible] by Bob Tobin, the rest [illegible] passed less actively. In [illegible] minutes of play Coach [illegible] moved Taft, Tobin and [illegible] ent and substituted Maho- [illegible] and Talbert, who kept [illegible] down in under the [illegible] most of the time.

[illegible] high point man of the [illegible] ing five floor goals and [illegible] ing the course of the eve- [illegible] and Tupper divided high [illegible] for Vermont, each [illegible] points.

[illegible] played decided improve- [illegible] shooting of fouls, sinking [illegible] tries as against three [illegible] in the Sun Life game. [illegible] vement was shown in [illegible] department of the [illegible] team passing more accu- [illegible] better footwork and [illegible] more consistently as a [illegible] the opening game.

VERMONT SWORDSMEN WILL MEET MC GILL FIVE IN NEXT FOILS BATTLE

To Assume Bout With Canadian Visitors in Second Clash of Season

Resuming practice after a glorious victory over the Canadian provincial champions, Montreal A. A. A., the fencing team is showing great promise of developing the best set of swordsmen in the history of the University of Vermont.

Due to the Christmas vacation and the mid-year examinations there is scarcely two weeks of practice left in preparation for the invasion of McGill and the return match with Montreal A. A. A.

As McGill University uses only the foil, it will be necessary for U. V. M. to produce a five-man foil team of especially high caliber to score victory over McGill. The probable line-up will be: Capt. J. Perelman, who, no doubt, is the best swordsman ever put out at U. V. M.; Wordsworth, No. 2 man; Ex-capt. J. Basilicato, J. Musgrove, Manager Schuman.

Each man on the above team is a veteran, having seen at least one or two years of service.

Following that trip, Vermont will play Norwich as a feature of Freshman Week on Friday the 13th. Captain Pendoe of Norwich is considered the best foilsman in New England and his match with Captain Perelman will certainly be a feature match. Then, too, the same Norwich épee team which tied us last year will be matched against the very same U. V. M. épee team. It should be some battle.

On March 26 U. V. M. will take a trip to Boston, playing B. C. on the 26th, B. U. on the 27th and M. I. T. the 28th.

According to Manager Schuman, the team feels sure that it will come through in every one of its matches.

As a preliminary to the major contest a quintet representing Henry's Diner and composed of a number of well-known Burlington players defeated the Varsity Ineligibles by a score of 19 to 16.

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Tupper, r.f.	4	0	8
Dober, r.f.	0	0	0
Winant, r.f.	0	0	0
Durfey, l.f.	7	2	4
Farwell, l.f.	0	0	0
Sargent, c.	2	1	5
Allerton, c.	0	0	0
Mahoney, r.g.	0	0	0
Tobin, r.g.	2	4	8
Taft, l.g.	2	1	5
Talbert, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	17	8	30

CLARKSON TECH

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Nazzitta, r.f.	1	0	2
Croman, r.f.	0	1	1
Towner, l.f.	0	3	3
Forbes, c.	5	1	11
Sullivan, r.g.	1	2	4
Munger, r.g.	0	0	0
Elderkin, l.g.	0	0	0
Rohrer, l.g.	0	1	1
Totals	7	8	22

Referee—Hausner. Timer Boyles. Time—Two 20-minute periods.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

Service and Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
195 Bank St.

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTING EDITOR—

[illegible] has started to break into [illegible] and we hope the good work continues. The team has shown much improvement since that first game and may give some surprises to [illegible] pre-season pessimists. Perhaps that opening defeat will bring some beneficial results after all.

The Dartmouth game here next Thursday night should attract a large gathering of fans. The Big Green is reputed to have a strong basketball team and should give the Catamounts a taste of fast playing. The last time the Indians appeared on the local court was two years ago, when they walked off with a scant 18-17 victory.

Hockey will get under way soon. For speed and thrills this sport is hard to beat and should arouse more interest from the student body. With a veteran team Vermont should get its share of victories this year, barring accidents of course.

The basketball officiating course, although only introduced as an experiment this year, has proven very successful. The course ends this week following which the exams for the Vermont State Board of Athletic Officials will be given.

Vermont 39, McGill 27 beckons straight for the Catamount quintet.

Bedecked in new jerseys and pants to match, the team looked snappy. "Sabe" Abell must purchase new out fits for every game.

Chet Taft held the fans spellbound with his superhuman shots and with the continuance of his brilliant work should be a tough man to replace.

Barry Wood, Harvard Phi Bete, quarterback, was elected captain of the Crimson forces for next year and is the only man who has a chance of beating George Owens' major sport record.

Dartmouth trounced the strong Providence five in her opening game and followers of the sport should be given an accurate idea as to what place the Indians may attain in the eastern intercollegiate league.

CROSS-COUNTRY LETTERS AND NUMERALS AWARDED

At a meeting of the Athletic Council Monday six men were awarded varsity cross-country letters and twenty-nine freshman football men and six frosh harriers were named to receive numerals.

The varsity track men to be given letters are: Capt. Everett Wilder, '32, Francis Bachi, '32, Ralph Hadley, '33, Samuel Barker, '32, Hewitt Varney, '32, and Mgr. L. L. Jones, '31.

The freshman football numerals were awarded to S. Barton, E. W. Braskie, A. Cochrane, M. M. Cross, N. J. Dente, E. Denhoff, J. J. Delfausse, A. J. Faucher, J. Ghiliani, H. P. Howard, R. S. Inman, J. L. Morgan, M. L. Powell, J. A. Rust, Jr., W. R. Sultor, E. G. Saba, E. C. Sowka, E. Q. Sylvester, K. C. Smith, P. White, A. S. Wesoly, F. Wegner, S. E. Ball, L. P. Brown, R. R. Barron, H. A. Lyford, S. Mintzer, H. Wasserman, E. Winters and the assistant managers C. B. Eaton, W. F. Kearney, T. F. Hard and D. F. Van Antwerp.

The 1934 cross-country numerals were awarded to the following: W. L. Shippee, J. H. Woodruff, C. F. Dobson, B. J. Mulcahy, S. E. Ball and H. [illegible] Lunna.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

McGill Trounced In Second Straight Catamount Win

Week's Winning Streak Beats Canadian Quintet 39-27, Chet Taft Piling Up Thirteen Points With Stellar Play— Vermont Strong Both Halves

POWERFUL BIG GREEN QUINTET WILL INVADE CATAMOUNT'S COVERT

Dartmouth Here Thursday to Battle Green and Gold in Fourth Game of Season

This week Thursday the fighting Catamounts play their last basketball game before the Christmas vacation when they encounter Dartmouth in the University gymnasium. Coach Prentice, with a wealth of new material, has done remarkably well so far this season but Dartmouth appears to be out of Vermont's class. The Big Green won the eastern intercollegiate title last winter and toppled the Green and Gold 42-13 at Hanover before Christmas last year. From all reports Dartmouth has another strong team, having beaten Providence College already this year.

The Catamounts, however, while lacking the individual brilliance of last year's aggregation, have much more team play, coordination, and will to win than has been seen at Vermont during the last three years. The combination of Hank Durfey and Freddy Tupper at forwards, Wally Sargent, the old reliable, at center, Bob Tobin and Chet Taft at guards seem to be the best working outfit Coach Prentice can command.

Tupper has already started showing his usual fine form and the opponents will have their hands full to keep him from getting ahead of them in scoring. Durfey and Taft have improved immensely since the season opened, Wally has been getting the jump better than last year while Tobin's former weakness, shooting, has noticeably improved as is evidenced by the fact that he has garnered nineteen points in the last three games, a great average for a guard.

Starting the season with a 24-17 defeat from the hands of the Sun Life Insurance Company, the Catamounts have steadily improved their play to win the next two contests from Clarkson Tech and McGill. Thursday's battle with Dartmouth will be the fourth game on the Green and Gold schedule. The next does not come until after the Christmas recess when the Vermont quintet will leave the home court for the first time to tackle New Hampshire State at Durham January 9.

The Vermont starting line-up will probably consist of Tupper and Durfey, forwards; Sargent, center; and Tobin and Taft, guards.

BLUESTOCKINGS TO MEET AT THETA HOUSE THURS.

Bluestockings will discuss the contributions submitted for try-outs at its monthly meeting to be held Thursday, December 18, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

TEAM SHOWS UNUSUAL STRENGTH THROUGHOUT

Vermont, aided and abetted by the spectacular performance of "Chet" Taft, point left guard, trounced the McGill five by the overwhelming score of 39-27. Thus the Catamounts tucked their second straight victory under their belts and look forward towards tackling "Dolly" Stark's Dartmouth quintet Thursday night with renewed vigor. Coach "Bunny" Prentice's outfit look stronger as they advance through the schedule foreboding ill news for her state rivals.

Starting for the Canadians at left forward was Weber, former University of Southern California star, high scorer for the aliens.

At the opening whistle, "Wally" Sargent won the tap, passed to "Hank" Durfey at left forward, who missed the basket. Weber, after dribbling into Vermont territory, cut in for the hoop where he received a pass for the first tally of the game. "Chet" Taft began the fireworks for the Green and Gold when he sailed a ringer from within foul territory to even the count. Play seesawed back and forth until out of a scrimmage McGill sank another. The Catamount missed three chances to score under the basket. Durfey, after the tap, forthwith made things even.

Sargent kept in action by scoring on a pretty shot under the basket and a few minutes later dropped one through the strings for another. Faulker, stocky McGill center, let go a long shot which reached its mark. Taft, to prove his shooting ability, also heaved a long one. After a stay at the visitors' goal, "Bob" Tobin, unguarded for the moment, fleet-footed it to the U. V. M. goal where he took a long pass for an easy one. At this point with four minutes to play, the Catamount mentor rushed in the substitutes, Allerton at right guard for Tobin scoring. Half time ending with the score Vermont 20 and McGill 12.

McGill had its line-up severely shaken but the second half proved a repetition of the first with Taft leading the attack. An entirely new team came on the floor for Vermont consisting of Talbert and Mahoney at guards, Allerton pivot, with Donaldson and Winant forwards. Taft, 13 points, and Capt. "Wally" Sargent, eight, starred for the Catamount pack, while Weber led the invading forces. Summary

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Tupper, r.f.	2	1	[illegible]
Durfey, l.f.	1	1	[illegible]
Farwell, l.f.	1	0	[illegible]
Dires, l.f.	1	0	[illegible]
Sargent, c.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Tobin, r.g.	1	2	4
Allerton, r.g.	1	0	2
Taft, l.g.	5	3	13
Totals	15	9	39

McGILL

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Small, r.f.	1	3	5

(Continued on page 4)

REFINED FORMAL WEAR
Tuxedos
AND ALL ACCESSORIES
CORRECT STYLES

Tuxedos	$30.00	Studs	$1.00
Waistcoats	5.00	Buttons	1.00
Shirts	3.00

BURKS
Burlington
Vt.

SOPHOMORES LEAD IN INTERCLASS TOURNEY

Second Year Quintet Conquers Undefeated Junior Team 25 to 8

[illegible] the Sophs and the next contest was a triumph for the Sophomores at the expense of the Freshmen. Perhaps even the Juniors and their staunch adherents will admit that they took over the yearling quintet by the score of 21 to 14. The Sophs got fast and rough in spots, [illegible] Newman and Dion were the high scorers for the Juniors, while Riani got the best of the defensive work [illegible] Albert and Wilson featured effectively while Carlson excelled in the defense.

Seniors 28, Frosh 14

Saturday afternoon the Seniors broke into the winning column at the expense of the luckless Frosh, winning by a 28 14 score. The game was fast and marked by much more clever passing on the part of both teams than has been evident until now. Mowles was the individual star for the seniors while Burnell led the Frosh in scoring.

Seniors

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible]	5	0	6
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	5	0	0
[illegible]	1	0	4
[illegible]	2	0	4
[illegible]	5	0	10
[illegible]	1	0	2
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	0	0
Totals	14	0	28

Frosh

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible]	3	0	6
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	1	1	3
[illegible]	0	1	1
[illegible]	2	0	4
Totals	6	2	14

Sophs 25, Juniors 8

In the second game Saturday afternoon the Sophomores continued their winning streak by swamping the unfortunate Juniors 25 to 8. Led by Grant, who accounted for 13 of his team mates points, the Sophs played circles around their opponents, and through [illegible] defensive play of Bowers McGowan and Mamucco their opponents were held to three floor baskets, two of which were scored by Riani.

Sophomores

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Beloff, r.f.	0	0	0
Rapuano, r.f.	0	0	0
Grant, l.f.	5	3	13
Bowers, c.	3	0	6
McGowan, r.g.	0	1	1
Massucco, l.g.	1	3	5
Totals	9	7	25

Juniors

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Newcomb, r.f.	0	1	1
Baldwin, r.f.	0	0	0
Preston, l.f.	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	1	1	3
[illegible]	0	0	0
Riani, l.g.	2	0	4
Totals	3	2	8

The standing of the teams

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Sophomores	2	0	1.000
Juniors	2	1	.666
Seniors	1	1	.500
Frosh	0	2	.000

INITIATE THREE SENIORS INTO SCHOLASTIC GROUP

[illegible] A. Fuller, Louis Lampert and Rachel Murray, [illegible] members of Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic society were initiated last Tuesday evening at the Ethan Allen Club house.

John E. Colburn, president of the [illegible] Kappa [illegible] Phi Beta Kappa [illegible] a few [illegible] remarks, after which [illegible] the three seniors. He pointed out briefly the purposes of the society, and showed how [illegible] the pledges of the [illegible] and attempted to give [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Merry Christmas

JAN 3 1931

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1930 NUMBER 26

McGill Defeats U. V. M. Orators

Unanimous Decision of Judges Hands Montreal Men Victory In Hard-Fought Contest

CHAIN STORE QUESTION IS DEBATED IN MEET

Vermont Defends Fundamental Value of Present-day Chains; McGill Calls Them Detrimental To Best Interests Of Public

[illegible] its first debate Wednes[illegible] when McGill University [illegible] with a 3-0 decision after [illegible] debate. The question [illegible] that Chain stores, as [illegible], are detrimental to [illegible]. The Vermont team con[illegible]ge R. Nelson and Louis [illegible]. McGill was represented [illegible]owis and Edmund Collard. [illegible] were the Rev. H. O. Tatum, [illegible] and Mr. D. A. Loomis [illegible] fifteen minutes in con[illegible] argument and five in rebut[illegible].

Lewis Opens

[illegible] opening the argument for [illegible] pleasing manner thanked [illegible] body for their enthusias[illegible]welcome. He next defined the ques[illegible] stating that McGill would debate [illegible] exceptional way in this debate. [illegible] first speaker was to define the [illegible] and expound the principles [illegible] the second would present the [illegible].

McGill this evening limits the ques[illegible] in two ways" said Lewis. First [illegible] as now constituted means [illegible] there Are certain details of the [illegible] Store which should be im[illegible]. We do not for a moment con[illegible] that the chain principle is wrong.

Second the phrase 'the best inter[illegible] of the public' must be taken as [illegible] the public and not a particular [illegible]. It means the producer as well [illegible] the consumer.

We of the affirmative tonight ad[illegible] that there are certain advantages [illegible] the chain store principle of mass [illegible]. We cannot ignore these [illegible] rather we concede them as being [illegible] to the question.

[illegible] are, first, the elimination of [illegible] middleman and second, the reduc[illegible] of costly overhead.

Now what we contend this evening [illegible] that the motive behind the chain [illegible] not one of benevolent public inter[illegible] but a grasping, crushing desire [illegible] profit. The centralized system of [illegible] chain store wields a tremendous [illegible] power over the community and the [illegible].

[illegible] his hand in a stately [illegible] the gentleman from McGill ar[illegible] that the chain store magnate in [illegible] lavishly furnished office, with [illegible] in his mouth and his indo[illegible] has no interest in the in[illegible] community and is indeed an [illegible] dictator.

Lisman Takes the Floor

[illegible] Lisman countered sharply if [illegible] spectacularly for Ver[illegible]. Lisman ridiculed the time [illegible] his opponent in avoiding [illegible] benefits of the question. [illegible] opponents would admit every[illegible] then contradict themselves [illegible] those very admissions on [illegible] case their case. The bread [illegible] of the nation is a vital in[illegible] the community." Quoting [illegible] Palmer, of the University [illegible] and Nystrom, of Columbia [illegible] Lisman deplored the in[illegible] of the independent merchant. [illegible] store has based its suc[illegible]ccessful inefficiency. The [illegible] way in the chain stores [illegible] the good old principles of [illegible] economy. As Professor [illegible] they make use of four [illegible] of betterment; efficient em[illegible]er prices, fresh goods and [illegible] Competition by the chain [illegible] the independent a lesson [illegible] who is the better for it [illegible] has caused the independent [illegible] and he is now making a [illegible] to society and it is the [illegible] is the cause."

(Continued on page 4)

MEN'S GLEE CLUB PICKS SONG FOR N. E. CONTEST

The Men's Glee club have chosen "Feasting, I Watch," by Elgar as the prize selection for the contest of New England College Glee clubs to be held at Hartford, Conn. March 27, 1931.

The glee club will also sing "Marching," by Brahms and "Champlain," by Fisher.

The glee club voted recently to hold a local concert in Burlington on January 15. The club likewise voted to take another trip early in January to a place as yet undecided

NEW WINNOWINGS TO APPEAR DIRECTLY AFTER CHRISTMAS VACATION

Magazine Will Contain Varied Selection of Poems, Short Stories and Essays

Margaret Rice, '31, editor-in-chief has announced that the second issue of Winnowings from the Mill, Vermont's literary magazine, will appear for distribution and sale on January 3, directly after the Christmas recess.

The magazine features, besides an article on fiction by Merritt Parmalee Allen, writer of boys stories, two poems, three short stories and two essays. Hope Ranslow, '32, contributes "Roses in December," an essay. Frances Frost, one af the rising poets of the United States contributes a recent poem of hers, "Man." "Sea Serpent" by Justine Rogers, '31, is another short story. "Dexters Castle," another of the series of the "Tales of Old Houses" was written by Margaret Rice. Edward Fitzgerald, '32, has here printed his prize winning poem "Fog," which won first place in the tri-state contest held last year. J. N. Meistener, a former student of the class of '31, who is now in the Navy, has sent a short story entitled "S. O. S." The manuscript, when it arrived, had the postmark of Stockholm, Sweden.

Most gratifying to the board of the Winnowings have been the results of the campaign for subscriptions for the magazine. The contributors for this year are far greater in number than ever before.

THOMAS DESCRIBES THE INFLUENCE OF CHRIST

"With the Advent of Christ something new came into the world, something very real, very powerful, very far reaching, of immense consequences of a beneficent character to subsequent history. This thing shaped thoughts, beliefs, hopes, aspirations, and institutions of the Western World, produced Christian civilization, and is still a living force in the world, and has in it the promise of ultimate triumph."

These were the opening words of Prof. Emeritus Evan Thomas who conducted the service at the Ira Allen Chapel on Wednesday. Professor Thomas went on to say that the new thing was not easy to define in so many words. However, he said, it was not a new ritual or religious organization, not a new social order, but rather a temper, a new tone of life, a new mood, a new reaction towards the ordinary events of life, a new way of looking at things. Nevertheless it is not difficult to recognize this new thing.

It was a temper or mood throughly saturated with the thoughts of God and things spiritual. In a world of and things spiritual. In a world of times and changes, decay and death, he came and set up an everlasting kingdom which was able to withstand the shocks that may cause failure.

Professor Thomas then gave an example of how this mood made itself apparent in the most familiar events of life. He said that a shower which came on the day that a boy was going to the circus provoked much anger in the youth. If the rain falls on Easter morning the ladies are disappointed because they cannot wear their new clothes. If it comes in summer one farmer welcomes it because it means better crops, another regrets it because of the danger to the hay just cut, ready to be gathered into the barn. However, God treats man in the way which He thinks is best. Treat one another with the same generous toleration with which God treats man

FRED TUPPER IS CHOSEN AS CHAIRMAN OF JUNIOR WEEK; WESTIN, MANAGER

Juniors Vote In Meeting to Pay A Tax Of Six Dollars For Support Of The Ariel

'32 ARIEL TO FEATURE JUNIORS' SIGNATURES

Appointment of Hope Ranslow to Faculty-Student Council is Confirmed; All Motions Easily Carried

The junior class meeting at the Williams Science lecture hall last Wednesday elected Tupper, Junior Week chairman, Westin, financial manager of Junior Week, Barker Founder's Day speaker and Hope Ranslow, Faculty student council.

President Allen O Eaton at the beginning of the meeting, introduced Raymond Cobb, editor of the Ariel who stated that the individual pictures, now at Vantine's in Boston, will be mailed to the various members of the class at their homes. All juniors who wish to have their pictures for Christmas, must notify the photographer, W. K. Vantine, at once. Grinds, honor lists, and questionnaires must be in by Friday. This year, instead of a snapshot, which has been used in previous years with the photograph, the signature of each student will appear with his picture. For this reason, larger pictures will be used on the page.

Everett Wilder, business manager of the Ariel, spoke of the class tax for the Ariel. According to his figures, a tax of about six dollars will be necessary this year. A motion was made and seconded that the tax be six dollars. The motion was passed without opposition. The tax will be placed on the second semester bill

The class, since it has never had any constitution, voted at the meeting that the president appoint a committee to make one up

Nominations were opened for the chairman of Junior Week. Besides Fred Tupper, who had been nominated at the last meeting of the class, George Collins was nominated from the floor. For financial director, R. F. Holbrook and Paul Westin were nominated. Sam Barker, Founder's Day speaker, and Hope Ranslow, faculty-student council member were unopposed. In the elections Frederick Tupper was chosen chairman of Junior Week Paul Westin was elected financial manager; Sam Barker, to speak at the Founder's Day exercises and Hope Ranslow's appointment was confirmed

Fred Tupper, who is a member of Sigma Phi, is on the varsity basketball team, an assistant sporting editor of the Cynic, and captain of the tennis team. Paul Westin, a Delta Psi, is a member of the freshman-sophomore relations committee, president of Key and Serpent, and manager of freshman football. Sam Barker, a Sigma Nu, is a member of Grey Friars, and of Key and Serpent. Hope Ranslow, who belongs to Kappa Alpha Theta, is an assistant editor of the Cynic, and a member of Bluestockings.

J. V. ORATORS TO HAVE MORE GRANGE DEBATES

Acting manager of Junior debating, Paul LaCrosse, '32, has received from the State Lecturer of the Vermont Grange a letter pertinent to Junior Varsity debating activities.

So far this year the J. V. manager has scheduled six debates before organizations of Burlington, Vergennes, Milton, St. Albans, W. Bolton and Grand Isle. Those who participated are as follows: Paul LaCrosse, '32, James Bigelow, '33; Ernest M. Codding, '31; M. Howe, '34; Fred Householder, '32; Charles Libby, '34; Realtus McCuin, '34; and Irving Lisman, '34

CIVIL SERVICE OFFERS POSITIONS TO CHEMISTS

Opportunities for junior chemists in the Civil Service starting with an entrance salary of $2,000 a year are offered by the United States Civil Service Commission

Applications for the competitive examination must be on file with the commission at Washington, D. C.

This examination is to fill vacancies in the departmental service or in the field

Competitors will be rated on general chemistry and elementary physics, and on one or more of the following named optional subjects, (1) advanced inorganic chemistry (2) analytical chemistry (3) organic chemistry, and (4) physical chemistry

Applicants must show that they have been graduated with a bachelor's degree from a college or university of recognized standing, such degree to require the completion of at least 15 credit hours, thirty credit hours of which must have been in chemistry.

Full information may be obtained from the above named office or from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners at the post office or custom house in any city.

DR. SMART ADDRESSES MEETING OF RESEARCH SOCIETY ON "HEBREW"

Points Out Differences In the Language From Latin and Greek Idioms

The Rev. I. C. Smart, pastor of the College Street Congregational Church was the principal speaker at the December meeting of the Research club, held last Tuesday night. Dr Smart's topic was "The Nature of the Hebrew Language." He discussed the character of the language from the viewpoint of its differences with Latin and Greek and its reflection in the Old Testament. The speaker illustrated his talk with readings from the Bible including among others, Abraham's sacrifice and the story of Ruth. A large group of members was present.

The Research club is composed of members of the University faculty who are interested in research. Meetings are held once a month and reports of original investigations are presented. The last meeting of each year is always devoted to reports by research fellows on original work done toward their master's degrees. The research fellowships in their present form were established by the Research club and were due principally to the efforts of Professor Burns and other members of the club.

FRENCH SOCIETY MEETS TO HEAR ABOUT MORAND

A remarkably active meeting of Le Cercle Francais was held last Wednesday evening at Marie's Tea Room.

Prof. A. B. Myrick and Mr. Doane, Mrs. Paul Evans, Miss Andrews and Miss Cohen, graduate students in French attended with a score or so of student linguists.

Miss Andrews presented her views on Paul Morand, and Mrs. P. Evans explained in greater details the delinquencies of this cubistic French author.

Games, too humorous and numerous to mention, were enthusiastically played. Records of French songs were heard and the delicious refreshments, served by Marie, were greatly enjoyed.

Nominal dues were voted upon and paid by the members, and plans for a French play with the help of Mrs. Paul Evans were discussed for the next monthly meeting to be held in January at Miss Cohen's residence.

After the mid-year examinations, try-outs will be held for the annual opera, sponsored by the Glee Clubs.

Merry Christmas!!!

Hartwell Talks To I. R. Society

History Professor Points Out Fundamental Causes of Latin-American Revolutions

JUSTIFIES THESE WARS AS POLITICALLY SOUND

Shows the Entire Lack of Honest Political Background in These Latin Countries, Caused by the Old Spanish Rule

Latin-American revolutions are for the most part not bad being relatively peaceful changes of government" declared Mr L. S. Hartwell of the University history department in a lecture devoted to the political and economic conditions of Latin American countries and given before the International Relations club last Tuesday evening.

Justice and democracy have once again triumphed as a result of these revolutions," said Mr Hartwell, "and in order to appreciate their full significance it is necessary to know something of the background of the countries in which they occur.

The fact that very few people have any knowledge about South American history, as Mr. Hartwell explained prompted him to relate the following humorous incident about a certain Vermont farmer which it is advisable to take with a grain of salt. The aforementioned farmer had a son who went to prep school, and who was doing fine in all his studies except history. Now according to the farmer this wasn't sonny boy's fault at all, but was due to the school board who were foolish enough to expect his son to remember things that happened before he was born.

The Heritage from Spain

Bolivia, Peru, and Argentina all have a very definite heritage from the Spanish rule," pointed out Mr Hartwell. "They haven't been able to govern well as they had no training school in which to gain experience prior to their independence.

It was shown where these countries have been free only one century, and were under the heavy thumb of Spain for over three centuries. They were governed directly by two councils both of whom resided in Spain, while viceroys and other minor officials tyrannized the natives in South America. Thus were they left with no political experience, and a legacy of economic as well as political dishonesty. The Spaniards stole everything they could get their hands on besides governing very poorly. When the people of these countries finally did win independence they considered dishonesty an essential part of politics.

Mr Hartwell next gave a brief analysis of the causes for present-day conditions in Bolivia, Peru, Argentina and Brazil.

Bolivia, it was learned, has a population of 600,000 whites and two million Indians, and it depends for the most part on tin, copper and rubber for its national income. The latter, however, has dropped out of its export market and the old administration couldn't make the treasury balance. The revolution that occurred there last June was brewing since the old government came into force, ten years ago.

A repetition of affairs existed in Argentina. The last political war horse in power since 1910 was a feeble old man, while the revolution was comparatively easy as the army had not been paid. Argentina is financially sound but depends on grain and meats for its income.

Peru

Peru is the oldest of the South American republics and has the finest past. It has a population of five million, 50 per cent of which are Indians, 15 per cent whites and the rest mixed. The man recently overthrown had been in power for eleven years, and was an old man when first elected. Peru now has a much younger and more progressive man in office.

Brazil presents a different state of affairs. It is 250,000 square miles larger than the United States, and has

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Business Manager

Assistant Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Vol. 49 No. 6

SMALL COLLEGE ADVANTAGES

ATHLETIC PROFESSIONALISM

Merry Christmas!!! Merry Christmas!!!

FACULTY COLUMN

A sense of humor will be needed to meet the problems of life after graduation. If adequately developed this sense prevents public men from making fools of themselves. A sense of humor has saved men and possibly nations. Abraham Lincoln rode out the storm of civil war and internal hatred because he possessed it while Jefferson Davis broke under the strain of carrying on without it.

Group life such as this is the best place to develop the saving sense for it.

Granting for the moment that students are here to gain knowledge there is nothing more essential than the development of intellectual curiosity. The highly-developed curiosity of the normal child is proverbial. In most cases that natural desire for knowledge is lost, strayed or stolen before college matriculation.

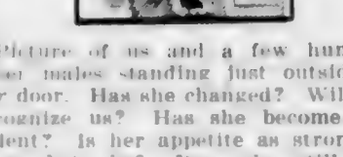
The knowledge of this world is more open to those who eternally ask intelligent questions than to those who occasionally give intelligent answers. To be sure the credit for the questions rarely appears in the instructors grade book, but life will exempt you from that while it never forgives emptiness of mind. If they are very intelligent questions, it seems probable that the faculty might fail for answers. In which case, we gladly join you in pursuit of knowledge.

I will stop there. No souls are saved beyond this point in any column. I would like to close with another thought from Franklin this time aimed at all undergraduates.

"Diligence is the mother of Good Luck."

L. S. Hartwell

Intercollegiate News



Co-eds at the University of Detroit although they number only 50, have been forbidden to converse with the male students at any time or at any place on the campus.

The beat of tom-toms and chanting of braves echoed over the campus of Haskell Institute, Lawrence, Kansas, as more than 1,000 Indians, attending a nation-wide pow-pow incident to the game between Haskell and the University of Kansas last week participated in the war-dances of their fathers.

The spectacle was held in the athletic stadium of the Government's Indian School. The braves tramped across the chalk-lines of the institution's football field, the modern battle-ground of Indian youth.—Oregon Daily Emerald

"What to do till the lawyer comes" is the theme of a first aid course in law which opened at New York University, September 23, for women only. The modern, successful business woman has found a knowledge of legal principles, procedure and terminology necessary, while others not actively engaged in business or professional fields have come to appreciate the value of such knowledge in the management and protection of their various interests. The course, sponsored by the Woman's Legal Education Society, is an answer to this need and will deal particularly with contracts, sales, wills and similar legal forms with which the average person comes in contact.—New York University Alumnus.

The Mystic Pen

Of course we are not the only ones who are going to have a brass band serenade us. And maybe there'll be the station agent calling "Last chance." How eagerly we anticipate the arrival in this section the tense moment as we pass under the noses of police acutely the inner fear and the blanched countenance as we dodge a horde of bill collectors.

First Medic: You have acute appendicitis.

First Pain. I didn't come here to a muzzled doctor. I want to know what's wrong with me.

Always in hallways . .

Picture of us and a few hundred other males standing just outside of her door. Has she changed? Will she recognize us? Has she become corpulent? Is her appetite as strong as it used to be? Does she still say, "You're so witty, dear. You ought to go on the stage!" Does she still eat oysters with a fork?...Never fear, gentlemen, the wurst is yet to come!

No Darling, we didn't write that stuff in the Skynx.

"Haemophilia, gentlemen," said surgeon Schmidt as his case began to bleed.

Operatee: (coming out of it) "And I'm Tarzan. Where's Napoleon?"

Well, the women moved in on us last week. They usurped the Cynic completely. The atmosphere in the Cynic office was so thick one could cut it with a knife. But well behaved eds don't carry knives. Winooski beer is just as powerful. We refused to let one of the females do our column for us, but when they swore to reveal to a third and fourth party that we had taken one of the aforementioned parties to the Majestic twice and another to the Flynn three times....we naturally give in.

How's this work? Perfectly straight?

It seems to us that a lot of the boys aren't doing their duty by the female frosh...er, not helping them to get ...er, oriented, as it were. Many of them seem to be sorta lonesome, especially a select few over in the Rand Arms (62 Colchester Ave., Phone 1559). One of them, in desperation, called us up as a last resort, on some pretext. Imagine! 'Tis indade a sad state of affairs.

Virtue is its own reward; all others get dividends.

Hurts: (Colliding with Sherlock in the Old Mill) "I'm awfully sorry!"

She: Oh, that's alright, I didn't mind it a bit!"

He: (Striving to please) "Shall I do it again?"

Go ahead and sue me!

A few casualties were reported when the band dropped eight measures off the balcony at the grand basketball opening.

"Bless us all," said Tiny Tim as he held his brother under the tub, "How he does gurgle!"

Embryo Editor Lilliput Bangem locked the Mystic Pen and one of the Eds in the Cynic office the other day. Scorning to use the window as an emergency exit we took the two typewriters apart to find an implement with which to open the combination locks. Then someone spoiled our fun by opening the door. When we put the dismantled machines together we found that we had two typewriters and an addressing machine. Skeptics may view the addressing machine in the Cynic office.

Some time ago we spoke about the young co-ed that opened her suitcase on Pearl St. with disastrous results. It seems that Betty (distant relation of Barney) became angry, and the world know that it was she was publicly observed, shaking out on the lawn. The result is that, while everybody loves a fight silence is golden.

Huzza, girls, three times! The fleet's in!"

Can we find two angles? Seventeen? A hundred? Ten more?

Girl hikers in a New Hampshire School get letters for walking. The spirit of cooperation is fine in secondary schools which develop the high school girls' all round preparedness for entering college. Of course we find a number of boys going back now and then.

Ring father, ring for Lil.

Cheer up, Medics, prospects are improving on horseback. A local paper hates to mention names, but carried the quarter page ad of a stone manufacturer who claims his volume of business for 1930 is far better than that of last year. He also assured the editors of the public that prospects were even better for 1931. Such unusual optimism is worthy of comment.

Come, Rollo; now is our chance, dash for liberty.

The Utah Chrony says that coverings aid personality. We resolve never to shave again.

Should she ask him in?

Young Ozzie Bicker thinks that he could sing anything ever sung. He ought to join the quartette. But he did a foolish when we asked him for us the Sextette from Go thou and do likewise.

Merry Christmas!

THE M... CONVE...

AD INFINITUM

The time has come ...
To talk of many ...
Of shoes and ...
ways
Of cabbages and ...
And why the sea is ...
And whether pigs ...

My friend, the ...
The thing you ... at ...
And quite important ...
The comfort of a ...
Of course you'll ...
You have a foot or ...

A ship is quite a ...
To which you will ...
It keeps one's feet ...
When one is on the ...
But as for getting ...
A taxicab for me!

"And sealing wax" (the ...
Its value I acclaim
I use it when I write to ...
The letters in my ...
The seals are relations ...
But I am not to blame.

"The cabbage is a handsome ...
Its flavor's wild and ...
It tastes as pink as ...
That ever left the ...
Although some folks ...
An onion in their tea.

"And Kings!" the Carpenter ...
I've met them face to ...
They're common, for ... packs;
And one's not worth an ...
To wear a crown about ...
I wouldn't have the ...

"Some cats have crimson, ...
A trapezoid has not.
Some jellyfish are ...
A few are apricot.
And there are other reasons ...
The sea is boiling hot.

"The question whether ... wings
In this distinction lies
The common sort but ...
Their own ancestral ...
The pig with wings, however ...
The kind of pig that flies.

Contributed unusupo' Lewis Carroll and Alexander ... nedy.

Merry Christmas!

"Minna, you must beat the ... more vigorously."

"But, madam, that raises ... dust."—Buen Humor

Immigration Officer: Now ... Your passport describes you as ... and you have a full head ... Your passport is false.

Tourist: No, the hair is ... Weekly.

Motorist: Would you mind ... out of that gutter? I'd like ... my car.

Gutterite: Fooled you. I'm leaning against a fire plug.

Merry Christmas!

SPORTING NEWS

AWARDING OF LETTERS ENDS FOOTBALL SEASON FOR CATAMOUNT TEAM

One Victory and a Tie in Nine Starts is the 1930 Record of Vermont Eleven

COAST GUARD GAME IS ONLY WIN OF SEASON

Springfield game on ... Day the University of ... all team ended the sea ... and which was not in ... raging. One victory, ... and seven losses is the ... for the Catamounts for ... United States Coast Guard ... was the sole victim ... a 13-0 score, while Nor... the Green and Gold to ... Both games took place ... Field. The winners ... include Amherst, Har... New Hampshire, Rens... and Springfield. ... Middlebury came ... championship for the ... year while Vermont ... were tied.

... coaching staff and a ... players Vermont ... and bright according to ... but if fans expected ... change for the better, ... disappointed. At times the ... a better fate, as, for in... Norwich over which ... were plainly superior, ... record, as a whole, ... to excite optimism.

... 1930 season against the ... Amherst eleven at Amherst ... the Green and Gold was ... the short end of a ... The outcome of this game ... as a fair indication of ... strength since it was the ... for the reorganized Cata...

... following Saturday found Ver... playing Harvard at Soldier's ... with the result a 35-0 victory ... Crimson. At one point in this ... the Vermonters were within one-... yard of a touchdown.

The Catamounts entered the win... column for the first and only ... during the season when they de... the U. S. Coast Guard Academy ... the opening contest at home. ... and Durfey made the two ... touchdowns for Vermont on passes ... Tom Collins kicked the extra ... Following this battle the Green ... gridsters journeyed to ... where they dropped a 19-7 ... to a veteran Union team. Jay ... seventy yards for Vermont's only ... after intercepting a forward pass ... Tom Collins kicked the ad... point.

New Hampshire was the next vic... of the Catamounts who were ... under a 59-0 score in a drab ... at Durham.

... suffered its second succes... when Rensselaer tri... to 0 in the second home ... of the year.

... State series contest, ... outplayed but not outfought, ... in holding the Green and ... to a scoreless tie before a large ... Coming Day crowd on Centen... Field. Five times Vermont was ... the Cadet ten-yard line and ... first downs were made to ... four but the score does ... the superiority of Coach ... who gained 262 yards to ... 83.

... Saturday Middlebury ... of the State champion... defeating the Catamounts ... Field. Perry Bove made ... touchdown.

... was brought to a close ... glorious 82-0 defeat suf... hands of Springfield in ... Thanksgiving Day clash. ... men were awarded ... recognition of their work ... season: Captain Segal, ... George Collins, Tom Col... Bedell, Heaton, Wood, ... Bove, Palmer, H. ... M. Cohen, Dinniman, ... Parks, Maynes, Durfey, and ...

... Football Hop held at ... gymnasium the fol... were awarded football ... Captain Segal, Aronson, ... Durfey, Dinniman, Parks, ... Heaton, Maynes.

... record:

0	Amherst 41
0	Harvard 35
7	Coast Guard 0
7	Union 19
0	New Hampshire ..59
0	Rensselaer 7
0	Norwich 0
6	Middlebury 26

Review of Touch Football Shows Kappa Sigs Ahead in Total Points

With metropolitan dailies lined with statistics concerning past college feats the sporting editors of the Cynic in conjunction with "Archie" Post of the physical education department are pleased to present their contribution towards the uplift of journalism.

Touch football in its reign on the hill has aroused a host of interest. We hope to further this sport by presentation of the scoring records of the individual teams together with a compilation of the individual point winners.

	Touch-downs	Safe-ties	Tot'l
Kappa Sigma	22	0	132
Sigma Phi	9	1	56
Delta Psi	7	0	42
Phi Sigma Delta	1	0	24
Sigma Nu	4	0	24
Phi Mu Delta	3	0	18
Alpha Tau Omega	2	1	14
Phi Delta Theta	1	0	6
	52	2	316

Following are the individual scorers with their records offering a basis for unique comparison:

	Touch-downs	Safe-ties	Totals
Newcomb (KΣ)	6	0	36
Traynor (KΣ)	6	0	36
Billings (ΣΦ)	3	0	18
Marvin, J. (ΔΨ)	3	0	18
Meehan (KΣ)	3	0	18
Tupper (ΣΦ)	2	0	12
Bowers (KΣ)	2	0	12
Vasta (ΔX)	2	0	12
Mayne, P. (ΔX)	1	0	6
[illegible] (KΣ)	1	0	6
Thompson (ΣΦ)	1	1	8
Burke (ΔΤΩ)	1	1	8
Stroh (ΦΣΔ)	1	0	6
Perelman (ΦΣΔ)	1	0	6
Beer (ΣΔΦ)	1	0	6
[illegible] (ΔΤ)	1	0	6
[illegible] (ΔΤΩ)	1	0	6
Neal (ΦΜΔ)	1	0	6
Dober (ΦΣΔ)	1	0	6
[illegible], E. (ΣΔ)	1	0	6
Fischer (ΣΦ)	1	0	6
Tobin (KΣ)	1	0	6
Pitts (KΣ)	1	0	6
Bowers (KΣ)	1	0	6
Manning (ΦΜΔ)	1	0	6
Concannon (ΦΜΔ)	1	0	6
Grant (ΔΣΦ)	1	0	6
Wright (ΣΧ)	1	0	6
Phillips (ΣΧ)	1	0	6
Talbert (ΔΨ)	1	0	6
Willette (ΔΧ)	1	0	6
	92	4	596

Kappa Sigs have probably set up a mark that should stand sufficient breaking when they amassed a total of 132 points, more than half being contributed by the efforts of "Ed" Newcomb and "Pie" Traynor. Sigma Phi winners of the cup rank second with 56 points, "Brute" Billings personally adding 18 and "Fred" Tupper, all-tourney star, 12. The Delts are in third place solely through the efforts of "Jim" Marvin.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Iva Harris, '30 and Frances Laythe, '30, were week-end visitors.

PI BETA PHI

Janice Stannard, '33, was initiated Wednesday afternoon. Supper was served in the rooms after the initiation.

ALPHA XI DELTA

A Christmas party and supper were held at the rooms Wednesday evening.

SIGMA GAMMA

Tuesday evening the chapter entertained its alumnae and patronesses, Mrs. Doan, Mrs. Pollard, Mrs. Swift, and Mrs. Bullard at a Christmas party at their rooms.

COMPANY A NOW HIGH IN LEGION COMPETITION

Competition between the four companies of the R. O. T. C. Battalion for the trophy awarded by Burlington Post of the American Legion has already begun. The trophy is an attractive silver placque offered last year for the first time and won by Company D.

The standing so far based upon Friday morning inspections is as follows:

November 21—	Company D-	89 %
	Company C—	86%
	Company A—	85.5%
	Company B-	84%
November 28—	Company A-	88%
	Company D—	86%
	Company C-	83%
	Company B—	80.5%
December 5—	Company B-	90.5%
	Company A-	90.5%
	Company D-	85.5%
	Company C—	83.5%
Average—	Company A-	88%
	Company D—	86.8%
	Company B-	85%
	Company C-	84.2%

"I had 140 men under me and I was sure of the honesty of only half a dozen."—Col. Ira L. Reeves, former prohibition administrator in New Jersey.

Vermont ...	0	Springfield	82
Totals	26		269

Touchdowns—Heaton, Durfey, Jay, Bove. Points after touchdown—T. Collins 2

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM SCHEDULES EIGHT SETS

The women's rifle team has scheduled the following matches: February 7, two matches, February 14, two matches, February 21, three matches, February 28, five matches, March 7, two matches, March 14, two matches, March 21, two matches, March 28, three matches.

Women scoring 100 in rifle are:
Ethel Bishop
Frances Thomas
Alice Dodge
Evelyn Slayton
Lenda Walker
Edith Pritchard.

The range will be open for practice from 2 to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday inclusive.

The personnel of the team follows:

Bishop, E.	Murray, E.
Chase, N. M.	Nash, D.
Clark, E.	Pritchard, E. G.
Dodge, A.	Putnam, D.
Dunsmore, M. R.	Slayton, E. L., Mgr.
Esielionis, E.	Smith, E.
Goss, R.	Taylor, D.
Hersom, C. A.	Thomas, F.
Hubert, G., Capt.	Urie, M. V.
Humphrey, C.	Walker, L.
Marsh, G. A.	Wharton, M.

BLUESTOCKINGS MEET TO CHOOSE MEMBERS

Bluestockings held its regular meeting Thursday afternoon, December 18, at four o'clock at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. The following members read original manuscripts which proved very interesting: Hilda Smith, '31, Winona Spencer, '31, Dorothy Emery, '31, Margaret Rice, '31, Luella Ross, '31, Winifred Stone, '31, Margaret Martin, '32, Helen LeBaron, '32. Following the reading of the manuscripts, the members criticized each briefly.

The main business of the afternoon was that of new members. Material which had been received from those trying for membership was discussed in length. After Christmas, the list of new members will be posted.

Following the business meeting a social half hour was enjoyed, and refreshments were served.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2660

CAT'S MEOW

The next home contest for the varsity basketball team will not come until January 13 when the St. Michael's five is here to open the State series.

In the meantime the Catamounts will make a trip last of the State to play New Hampshire and Harvard on successive nights.

Incidentally there are only five more home games. St. Michael's, Lowell Textile, Middlebury, Saint-a-field and Norwich will be the opponents.

Much interest was aroused in the interclass basketball games and the competition between the halls was keen. After the Christmas vacation the schedule will be reopened to determine the winner of the tournament.

As a preliminary to one of the varsity home games the regular freshman team will play the winner of the class league.

The joint rules committee of the major baseball leagues have eliminated the sacrifice fly rule. From now on when a batter lifts a high fly to the outfield and a runner advances a base, he will not be credited with a sacrifice but he will be charged with a time at bat.

ICEMEN PREPARE FOR APPROACHING SEASON

Hockey Team Practices Daily For Initial Contest With Colgate

During the last two weeks the University of Vermont hockey team has been holding practices every night under the direction of Coach "Hy" Abraham. Until this week there has been no ice practice, but last Tuesday the team practiced shooting and abandoned the preliminary limbering exercises they were having.

The outlook for a successful season in hockey is rather bright with Captain Mercier, Marvin, Hendricks and Leo Segal back as mainstays. Two games have been scheduled to take place before mid-years. The initial contest will be held with Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y. After that the team will make a trip to Hanover, N. H. where it will meet the Dartmouth rink men.

A freshman team will be started this year coached by Harry Shurman. Among the men out for the varsity team are: Captain Mercier, Segal, Marvin, Tomassetti, McVetty, "Buzz" Collins, Rees, Hendricks, Boyden, Murphy and Wood.

The eggs he had been carrying home from the store slipped from the bag and crashed to the sidewalk.

"Oh, my poor man," a woman cried "Have you dropped your eggs?"

The other sighed and then: "Oh, no, lady," he said softly, "I'm an open-air cooking demonstrator making an omelet on the sidewalk."

Merry Christmas!!!

THREE QUINTETS TIED FOR LEADING POSITION IN INTERCLASS GAMES

Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores In Triple Tie Each With Two Wins and a Defeat

TO COMPLETE TOURNEY AFTER HOLIDAY RECESS

After completing the first half of the interclass basketball tournament games, eight are tied for first place with each having a record of two victories and a defeat. The three leading teams are the seniors, juniors and sophomores. Following the Christmas recess the second part of the tournament calling for a repetition of games between the contenders will be played to settle the tie.

The seniors came into a leading position last Monday by defeating the sophomores who had previously beaten the juniors and freshmen. Before this game, the seniors had lost to the class of 1932. All three of the upperclass teams have conceded even the latter more fighting speed.

Until Monday evening the sophomore team was leading the field with a clean record but the seniors upset the dope by defeat the sophs 20 to 17 in an overtime game. All the score indicates the game was close at all times, with the sophs having the edge up until the last few minutes of the last half when the seniors succeeded in knotting the count 16-16. Then in the overtime session the upperclassmen caged four points while the class of 1933 had to be content with a single free throw. The seniors functioned exceptionally well as a unit but the second year men resorted to the crashing individual type of play which was generally not successful.

The summary:

Seniors	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Donaldson	1	2	4
Green	0	0	0
Parks	2	0	4
Maynes	2	0	4
Crockett	1	0	2
Aiken	0	1	1
Phillips	0	1	1
Totals	8	4	20

Sophomores	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Mussuco	1	1	3
Calcagni	1	0	2
Valerio	0	0	0
Bowers	2	1	5
Bedell	1	4	6
McGowan	0	1	1
Totals	5	7	17

The standing of the teams at the close of the second half of the tournament:

Seniors	2	1	.666
Juniors	2	1	.666
Sophomores	2	1	.666
Freshmen	0	3	.000

Merry Christmas!!!

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

SPEAKING OF GIFTS
Here's a Suggestion That's Favored by Most Men
Silk Mufflers
PRESENTED IN SQUARES OR CHECKS
$2.00 to $5.00
TURK'S
Burlington
Vt.

Inquiring Reporter Studies Bulletin Board in Old Mill's South Corridor

A Cynic reporter recently contemplated the [illegible] bulletin board and [illegible] to what he saw and thought. "Lest I should prove guilty" it is quite probable that it was empty if one were found at least what it was supposed to be used.

The advertisement of the College Hop, the Queen's Husband auction, the [illegible] meeting days after the dance, event due to the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1931 | NUMBER 27

UNIVERSITY MAKES MYRA HESS CONCERT THURSDAY FREE TO ALL STUDENTS

Courtesy of President Bailey Secures Free Tickets for Students and Faculty to Appearance of Pianist

RECITAL IS PART OF U. V. M. MUSIC SERIES

Music Department Sponsors Concert—Vouchers to be Secured in Bookstore—Pianist Has Been Highly Lauded by American Critics on Recent Concerts

A considerable number of free tickets [illegible] made available to students [illegible] through the courtesy of President Guy W. Bailey, for the concert by Myra Hess, world-famous pianist, plays in the University Gymnasium Thursday evening.

A University Series

The free tickets are being given out on the plan that this is a University series. Vouchers may be obtained by faculty and students, free of charge, at the University Store today, tomorrow and Thursday, which will entitle the bearer to any reserved seat not already taken in the advance mail sale ending January 3rd. The reserved seats can be obtained upon presentation of the vouchers at Bailey's Music Rooms. No free tickets will be issued at the box office.

Myra Hess made her début in her native London at the age of seventeen, and promptly beheld London at her feet. Having become famous in England not only as a brilliant virtuoso, but as a player of rare delicacy and taste, she toured Holland, Germany, and France, and confirmed the high reputation made at home. She first visited the United States in 1922 and created such a host of admirers that she has returned frequently. At her last concert this year in New York, Carnegie Hall was sold out, including stage seats and standing room, and hundreds had to be turned away.

MYRA HESS

The New York Times wrote of the pianist:

"Myra Hess, who gave her first New York recital of the season yesterday afternoon in Town Hall, is one of the few musicians who prove that the piano can be a medium of especial beauty and that its literature is not equaled in depth of any other instrument for variety and fascination. The public remains very faithful to Miss Hess and her art grows with each season is the reason of these facts and proves its appreciation by packing her hall wherever she appears . . . .

"The playing of Miss Hess grows constantly in resource and charm, although it does not change in character. Her style is the product of qualities deep within her. Its development is steady, consistent, inevitable, and it seems to grow richer with time."

Said the New York World:

"Miss Myra Hess, one of the most admirable of pianists, came back to New York yesterday and found this musical city awaiting her with open arms. Her recital in Town Hall, the first in that auditorium in two years, was a triumph. A crowded house, overflowing upon the stage, laid the full measure of its affection at her feet.

(Continued on page 6)

ARIEL PROGRESS RAPID, YEARBOOK EDITOR SHOWS

"Organizations which have not had their photographs taken for the Ariel must make appointments to take them either locally or through the Van Tine Studio," said R. W. Cobb yearbook editor, Saturday.

The women's grinds are all in, but the men's are still holding up the completion of the junior section. All individual glossy prints have been turned in. About three-fourths of the junior questionnaires and honor lists are in the hands of the editor.

The editor wishes all students who have not yet received their finished photographs from Van Tine to notify him as soon as possible.

A representative from the Boston studio will be on the campus Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, January 31, February 1 and 2 to take more group photos. Fraternity photographs will be taken free of charge by Van Tine and a glossy print will be furnished for the Ariel.

The senior honor lists are not in yet and as they must be in by February 3 it is imperative that the class of 1931 make an effort to secure the cooperation of all its members.

The other sections, including the athletic division, are progressing rapidly and will go to print soon.

JUNIOR COMMITTEES TO DIRECT 1931 EVENTS OF ANNUAL WEEK IN MAY

Junior Week Chairman Names Committeemen to Supervise Functions This Spring

Men and women who will direct the events of the Annual Junior Week to be held in May were named just before the recess by Fred Tupper, general chairman, and P. E. Westin, financial manager.

The committee which will supervise the various functions divide their work under the following heads: Junior prom, peerade, programs, publicity, favors, decorations, music, refreshments, and banquet. The students in charge:

Junior Prom: E. L. Meehan, chairman.

Peerade: F. R. Gorman, chairman; H. M. Albert, W. E. Collins, C. L. Park, A. A. Scharbius.

Programs: M. B. Morrill, chairman; M. E. Dober, R. A. Livingston, Edna Herridon, Roberta Powers.

Publicity: G. E. Wilder, chairman; P. B. Billings E. G. Hurlburt, J. S. Levin, C. Rutkowski.

Favors: R. L. Morse, chairman; E. J. Fitzgerald, S. Pelofsky, Carolyn Beggs, Olive Fields.

Decorations: Margaret Martin, chairman; M. Cohen, C. B. Cross, H. W. Davis, C. L. Topping, F. Varricchione, Lois Harrington, Katherine Kingston, Katrina Munn, Hope Ranslow, Marie Tucker.

Music: M. H. Grower, chairman; J. H. Marvin, M. Tomassetti H. C. Torrey, Christine Bliss.

Refreshments: Lillian Mount, chairman; H. L. Varney, E. M. Winant, Alice Brooks, Dorothy Sweeney.

Banquet: J. Stein, chairman; B. J. Boyes, J. C. Carter, G. R. Collins, E. V. Kibby.

SENIOR COMMITTEE TO NOMINATE TOMORROW

Representatives of all fraternities and sororities and of the independents will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1.30 in the Old Mill Chapel in response to a summons from Roy W. Worrell, president of the senior class, for a meeting of the Senior Nominating Committee in preparation for an election next Wednesday for Founder's Day, Senior Class Day and Senior Week.

The committee will nominate for chairman and financial manager of Senior Week, Lafayette orator, Ira Allen orator, author of the Address to Undergraduates, Pipe orator, Ivy orator, Class historian, Class poet and Founder's Day orator. Capable speakers are each year elected by the Senior class to deliver the orations.

It is imperative that all nominations be made at this time, since, according to the class constitution, no one may be voted on at a class meeting who has not been nominated at least a week previous.

Each of the Greek-letter societies may send one representative from the Senior class, and the independents are entitled to similar representation.

TUPPER COLLABORATING ON POETRY ANTHOLOGY OF VERMONT WITH COATES

Driftwind Editor Makes Announcement at Redstone Tea in Lecture on Native Poets

HIGH PRAISE ACCORDED TO EARLIEST WRITERS

Coates Lauds Poets of Second Rank Draws Particular Attention to Production of Sonnet Here—Audience of Over Fifty Hears Him

Addressing an audience of over fifty students and faculty members at a University tea at Redstone Sunday afternoon, Walter J. Coates, poet and editor of Driftwind, Vermont poetry magazine, told how he and Prof. Frederick Tupper of the English Department are now preparing an anthology of the poetry of Vermont.

Mr. Coates, who devoted his talk to the highlights of Vermont poetry, could class no native son with the more illustrious of poets, but claimed for the State some of the finest second ary writers.

He recalled that among the fathers of American literature were two who claimed Vermont as their native state, one the author of the first successful American drama, the other the first to use New England material in an attempt to give a true picture of New England life.

Praise for Poets

Although he would not discuss contemporary writers, Mr. Coates did not hesitate to describe the outstanding earlier poets of the State.

Of John Godfrey Saxe he declared that, "Had he lived in Boston, and gained the prestige that its literary group could have given him, he would have ranked ahead of Oliver Wendell Holmes."

Among other native poets who came in for extraordinary praise were the first American literary poet to gain recognition from English critics; a woman, the spiritual beauty of whose work won for her an international reputation; and another lyric poet "whose words," said Coates, "were they collected, would form one of the finest contributions to the field of poetry." Of the half dozen writers he named, half were graduates of the University of Vermont.

For the native sonnet the speaker was enthusiastic. He read to his audience numerous selections from this field, incidentally revealing that, in picking 135 poets for inclusion in their anthology, Professor Tupper, and he had found it necessary to choose from among a thousand authors.

The speaker deplored the reluctance of poets to conform to rules and their hastiness in forwarding unpolished manuscripts to publishers. He ad

(Continued on page 3)

J. V.'s DEBATE BY LIGHT OF KEROSENE LAMPS

[illegible] varsity debaters closed their pre-Christmas vacation schedule with a debate Thursday evening, December 18 at the Grange Hall in West Bolton. A team composed of Paul Lacroix '31 and Ira Lapman '34, debated the question: Resolved that capital punishment should be abolished," for the affirmative against James Bigelow, '32 and Rodrick McGuin '34, upholding the negative.

The debate was unique in method as no decision was rendered and the speakers expounded their arguments by the light of kerosene lamps.

The junior varsity sponsors these debates with the cooperation of the State Lecturer of the Vermont Grange Association who aids in arranging the place and time of the meetings.

FACULTY MEN ATTEND MEETINGS OF LEARNED BODIES DURING RECESS

Tupper Presides at Language Association Convention—Others Attend Six Meetings

Conventions of a half dozen learned societies were attended by members of the faculty during the winter recess. Prof. Frederick Tupper of the English department presided over the three-day session of the Modern Language Association of America. Prof. S. E. Bassett of the Greek department delivered a paper before the American Philological Association, and seven others attended the session of linguistic, scientific, political and historical bodies.

Professor Tupper, as president of the Modern Language Association, delivered the president's address, and served as toastmaster at the annual banquet, in Washington, D. C. Others who attended these meetings, which lasted three days beginning December 29, were Prof. F. D. Carpenter of the German department and Prof. J. I. Lindsay of the English department.

Prof. G. V. Bidder, now on leave of absence to study at Chicago, represented the University jointly with Professor Bassett at the meetings of the American Physiological Association in Iowa City, Iowa, December 29, 30 and 31.

Two at Scientific Meeting

Prof. G. P. Burns of the botany department attended the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Cleveland, Ohio, December 27, 28 and 29. Prof. P. A. Moody of the zoology department was present at the meeting of the American Society of Zoologists, held at Cleveland in conjunction with the other scientific convention.

A three day session of the American Political Science Association at Cleveland, Ohio, was attended by Prof. D. B. Carroll of the political science department. Prof. P. D. Evans of the history department was present at the meetings of the American Historical Society at Boston.

TRAYNOR, CAPTAIN OF 1931 BASEBALL, DEAD IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Prominent Junior Killed as Car Slides Off Road on Dangerous Curve and Hits Tree in Early Morning Crash

ACCIDENT OCCURS NEAR NEW YORK, DECEMBER 28

Late Athlete Made Varsity in Freshman Year—Played Two Seasons at Second Base in "Larry Gardner's Infield, Seeing Service in Every Game

"PIE" TRAYNOR

Edward L. "Pie" Traynor baseball captain-elect was killed in an automobile accident near New York City December 28.

Traynor, who would have been twenty-one January 24, was one of the last to play varsity baseball at the University in his freshman year, forming, two years ago, one of the freshman infield which went far towards solving "Larry" Gardner's first coaching problem.

He was born in Philadelphia, January 24, 1909, and graduated from the Manual Training High School in Brooklyn, N. Y., enrolling with the class of 1932 in the Commerce and Economics course at Vermont.

Road Was Slippery

The accident occurred early Friday morning a week and a half ago on a slippery road at Dead Man's curve on the Foxhurst road near the old Frank Tinney estate, outside of New York City. Three others were in the car when the machine left the road at a sharp turn and crashed into a tree but none of the three was seriously injured.

They had left Oceanside to take home a girl from a party.

Traynor would have played his third year at second base this spring. He played every minute of every game while he was in college and hit .325 last season. He was also high scorer in the last interfraternity touch football tournament and played class basketball.

He belonged to the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

MOWER WRITES TEXT ON WORLD GOVERMENT

Political Science Professor Prepares 700-page Volume for Publishers' Series

Entitled "International Government" and designed for use as a text book in the D. C. Heath and Company's political science series, a 700 page volume will be issued by Prof. E. C. Mower of the political science department within the month.

The book is the result of research work which began in the fall of 1926 when Professor Mower was one of a group of fifty American political scientists sent to Europe for six weeks study by the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace. The following year from the fall of 1927 to the summer of 1928, Professor Mower spent his sabbatical leave in Europe gathering further data for the book.

Nations As States

In the organization of his book, the author has dealt with the nations of the world on the analogy of the states of a nation. He has separate divisions of chapters, one on the legislative agencies of international government such as treaty-making bodies, and the bodies which have formulated the rules of warfare and the maritime code, another division on the executive agencies such as public opinion another on judicial agencies such as the Hague Court, the World Court and the other bodies for international arbitration; another on administrative agencies such as the Universal Postal Union.

(Continued on page 6)

Registrar Revises Mid-Year Exam Schedule Two Weeks In Advance

Containing ten changes and four additions, the mid-year examination schedule made its revised appearance with the close of the winter recess last week, two weeks in advance of the first examination.

Three home economics courses, the agriculture course, two courses in music, and one each in engineering and botany suffered changes in dates.

All examinations will begin at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. and will be held in the gymnasium unless otherwise announced by the instructor.

The schedule, as revised by the registrar, follows:

Monday A.M., January 19: A. C. Lab., English 2, General Forestry, History 11, Home Ec. 13, Hort. 4 (Flor.)

Monday P.M., January 19: D. C. Engineering, Greek 108, History (T. Tr.), Pol. Sci. 1, Pol. Sci. 106, Pol. Sci. 112.

Tuesday A.M., January 20: Chemistry 9, Economics 10, Home Ec. 4, Latin A, Latin B, Latin 1, Latin 2, Latin 9, Latin 13 (Tacitus), Physics 105, Psychology 7, Surveying 55.

Tuesday P.M., January 20: Adv. Steam Eng., Alt. Current Eng., Education 1, Music 1 (History), Pol. Sci. 104, Rural Ed. (T. Tr.).

Wednesday A.M., January 21: History 2, Home Ec. 2, Physics 1, Steam Eng. 1, Zoology 6 (Compar. Anatomy).

Wednesday P.M., January 21: Chemistry 104, Children's Lit. (T. Tr.), Economics 5 (Corp.), Economics 9, Elect. Power Trans., Greek 1, Home Ec. 3, Methods of Teach. Home Ec., Vermont History.

Thursday A.M., January 22: Astronomy, Chemistry 1, Diseases of Animals, Economics 58, Hygiene (T. Tr.), Philos 4 (History), Soils.

Thursday P.M., January 22: Economics 6, Economics 13, Economics 63, Elect. Commun., French 108, French 112, History 4, Reinforced Concrete, Solfeggio B.

Friday A.M., January 23: Economics 1, Economics 114, French 105, Intr. to Ed. (T. Tr.), Physiology (Comp.) (Ag.), Sociology, Zoology 9.

Friday P.M., January 23: Chemistry 8, Compar. Psych., Dairy Chemistry, History 8, Hydraulics, Math. 4 (Proj. Geom.), Music 3 (Elem. Har-

(Continued on page 6)

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Women's Editor
Sports Editor

Dramatic Editor
Feature Editor

Assistant Sports Editors

Assistant Editors

Women's Athletic Editor
Women's Associate Editor
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Advertising Manager
Assistant Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1891. Published semi-weekly during the college year.
All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 2691 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Acceptance for mailing at points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 January 6, 1931 No. 27

A "Serious Problem?"

Vermont is included among a group of land-grant colleges where, says the federal department of education, "the presence of both fraternity and sorority houses on the same college campus does constitute a serious problem." Although Vermont, with only two sorority houses on the campus, and one of these more recent than the investigation from which the department derived its conclusions, is manifestly not the butt of these criticisms, we quote from the Associated Press excerpts from the report for whatever of interest they may contain for the collegiate public:

"Visiting between fraternity and sorority members was found to be loosely regulated, and 11 institutions reported women could go to men's fraternity houses for other than scheduled social events. Control is left generally in the hands of the pan-hellenic council and students' organizations," the report said.

Thirty schools reported women were not permitted to attend other than duly announced social events, but two said this rule was broken frequently. Two colleges required housemothers in fraternities, while four reported complete absence of them.

College authorities were told they have a real responsibility toward students' and were warned against letting the students have their own way 'until they meet with disaster' and then punishing them severely.

The answer, the office of education said, was 'not stricter regulation but closer cooperation, more real interest by authorities and more assistance to avoid difficulties.'

'Smart' fraternity groups were criticized in the report, which said organizations whose members consider themselves intelligentsia and look down upon the proletariat, usually dissolve of their own accord.'"

Once more we begin to wonder whether the era of loose regulation of student campus activities is passing. If so, we hold it a great loss.

It was no easy matter to win from faculties consent to the hands-off policy which, in large measure, has governed student activities at Vermont as elsewhere. Regulation of social relations is, up to a certain point, not only desirable but manifestly necessary. But too rigid regulation here might well lead, in time, to strict control in fields where abuses might easily creep in through the agencies of regulation themselves; fields in which regulation is tantamount to faculty direction.

At Vermont, the Faculty—Student Council, in cooperation with the University Council regulates social relations among students. Actually, there is but one regulation; all others are deduced from it:

"The conduct of the students toward others is to be regulated by those plain rules of politeness, honor and religion which are binding on every free and virtuous community. They are to conform to every requirement of the Faculty, which may arise from their relations as instructors, counsellors and guardians, and as upright men and good citizens they shall use all lawful exertions to prevent and expose all violations of the laws of God and of the country, and whatever is at variance with the objects of the University."

This is the law under which the student body of the University is governed. We need fear no "serious problems" with such a code of behavior.

No need to tell how we were stunned by the news of the untimely death of "Pie" Traynor. Difficult though it will be to fill the gap he leaves in "Larry" Gardner's infield will not be greater than that he leaves in the heart of many a friend.

Collegiate Relief

When the man in the street assumes the sombre countenance of the man in the breadline, when bank doors shut and do not open, when "Prosperity" assumes very nearly the proportions of a mockery as men walk the streets in search of work, it is not surprising that the college—as close today as it is to the contemporary pulse—should not only take cognizance of the situation, but should step in and aid with the rest towards the tiding over of the crisis.

Until a social readjustment is afforded the only remedy for unemployment will be employment. It is heartening that colleges in general are not economizing where others are definitely committed to a policy of retrenchment. It is doubly heartening that three score colleges should now be embarked on a sixty million dollar building program, and it is a source of pride to us that Vermont is one of the 65 of the 250 major colleges in the United States included in the number of those who are serving to ameliorate the economic depression.

The outstanding piece of construction in which the University is today engaged is the Robert Hull Fleming Museum. The structure, which will be completed in June, after almost a year of work, at a cost of $300,000, will stand, in some part, as a monument to the days when universities gave work to the nation's unemployed.

It is not too late yet to secure the [illegible] and faculty. A satisfactory attendance Thursday night would both do honor [illegible] famous pianist and afford [illegible] entertainment to her auditors.

Spirit Is the Big Thing

Spirit is the big thing in college football, says Knute Rockne; and Notre Dame's stalwart coach should know. He told it to a high school boy in these words:

"Professional football is a game of individual skill, while intercollegiate and academic football is primarily a game in which spirit dominates," Mr. Rockne said. "They make a lot of fun out of it—the light writers for numerous magazines and sometimes newspaper readers—but, after all spirit is the big thing in football."

The statement is particularly timely when the little college which boasts a good football team is retorting to the cry of "Joe College" raised by the larger institution with unsuccessful football aspirations by pointing to comparative scores.

We cannot, however, dismiss the subject with Rockne's bland assertion. After all, spirit may assume any one of dozens of shades of meaning; and while some are more desirable than others, others are of necessity less desirable than some.

If, for example, spirit comes to mean an orgy of organized cheering or a blind hero-worship of the gridiron idol then it becomes positively pernicious. On the other hand, if spirit is taken to mean that which prompts the player to give the best he has, not for the sentimental love of dear old Wah Wah but for love of the game itself; if it is taken to mean a wholesome desire to win by showing oneself the better man; then it is truly to be encouraged and we may rightly say with Rockne the spirit is the big big thing in football.

But not in football alone! In every game into which life thrusts us, whenever we abide by the rules and play the game for all it is honestly worth, spirit is the big thing. And if we would not endure the stigma which, in the college man's mind, attaches to the term "professional," we must remember to play, not for individual glory, but for the victory of the team—shall we say—of our ideals?

In this issue we print a few pictures designed to illustrate some of the more prominent events of the year which closes with the beginning of the mid-year examination period. It is the precursor of a chronology soon to be published of all events during the year.

In glancing through the CYNIC files for the past year we are struck, after comparison with those of previous years, with the round-and-roundness of college news, the perennial repetition, not only of events designed for annual reconsumption, but even of the less regular of campus happenings.

A study of these files, with an eye to comparisons would, we are convinced, go far, on the one hand, towards eliminating much of the duplication now necessitated by the trial and error processes of campus organizations, and, simultaneously, towards affording a broader perspective and a keener understanding of campus affairs to the student. The sooner such a study is undertaken, the sooner shall we profit from it.

No bull fights are permitted in Spanish towns where the public instruction is not up to the government standard.

Communists or other agitators enrolled in classes for the purpose of inciting hostility toward the government caused one of Spain's greatest universities, that at Barcelona, to close because of "gross" disrespect for the King.

"Keep sweet"—at the University of Stanford last year 190,000 candy bars and 219,000 sticks of gum were consumed.

The Mystic Pen

The most interesting Freak of nature in captivity is the embryo Colyumist in the throes of Composition, when he has two Hours to the Dead Line; no [illegible] a sheet of blank Paper stuck in the Machine, leering mockingly at [illegible]. How nervously the queer Animal paces up and down, to and hither, fro and yon, chaws an Eraser, looks at his Sweetheart's Picture for Inspiration; gets an unproductive Smile. In despair he reads his past Opuses, [illegible] through other Papers to see what can be copied and IF. He writes a Line, scratches it out; another, tears the paper up. His Face is contorted in an expression of Anguish. One Unconsciously listens for the Death Rattle. The perspiration streams from every Pore, though it is 45 below.

The Freshman Investigation Society checked up on one specimen and found that he expended the equivalent of 6,007,923 foot pound man-power work Hours on writing one Colyum. Then the Society did some more investigating and found that only three Persons read the thing: three wit: Himself, and the Folks at Home.

Intellectualities before the Lecture ..heard, tho blurred:

"Yes, I'd like to meet him."

"You wouldn't like him, he's so..."

"Yes, but I like to meet all sorts of People...you know, I only come in Contact with the Type of Person who is bored by the Ordinary Pleasures."

"How Interesting...I meet a lot of people in my library work...I'll classify them for you."

"Have you ever seen a Person who doesn't care for the Ordinary Books?"

"No, I hadn't noticed."

"That's the sort of People I meet... I like to classify them."

"There goes Prof. Et. Kettera."

"I'd like to meet him..."

"He isn't what he seems...a Heart of gold beneath a Rough Exterior."

"Haw haw but isn't that an Interesting Character...looks as if he had such a Wealth of Cultural Training. I pride myself on my judgment of Human Nature. Now you can see that he is an Intellect of the Rarer Sort, probably comes to all these lectures a man about town, no doubt."

"Oh, er, yes, he's quite a Manabout-town; he drives the City Sweeper Truck."

Sometime ago we made a Remark about the two Old Grads at the Midd game, one of whom was slightly Happy, and indulged in noisy Vociferation. To date we have received Reprimands from several alumni, a few studes and an instructor, all of whom insisted that they should not be made the Target of Personal Remarks in the future, Well.

The University of Texas and the University of Mexico are going to exchange Profs. and Studes. Upon hearing this, Jubilant Whoop Chuck announced that if any such thing was going to happen here, he would put in his Bid for a Transfer to Wellesly right now.

But spare my Country's Flag, she said.

Frosh Yammer says he enjoys weekends in Montreal, but he can't seem to find any one who has a car.

Prospects look very favorable for icemen, says a CYNIC head...Just a post-season wise crack. Evidently we are in for warm winter.

THE FORUM

Scores Hidebound Education

American education must tear itself loose from traditional theories which conceive of the masses as recipients of information handed down by a chosen few and must adopt the modern view that learning is an organic and creative process continually devolving upon every individual in a democracy, declares Prof. William H. Kilpatrick of Teachers College, Columbia University. He addressed 200 teachers attending the second session of the fall conference of the New York City Teachers Union and its auxiliary at the Hudson Guild Farm.

Professor Kilpatrick blamed present educational difficulties on the prevailing interpretation of knowledge and learning as, respectively, sets of facts not to be questioned and an acceptance whose chief virtue is reverential docility. That attitude he said, has been inherited from the primitive authoritarian philosophy of early ages as well as from absolute and infallible truths promoted by Greek and Newtonian science.

Need for Educators Stressed

"Most of our so-called scientific education," said Doctor Kilpatrick, "is based on this theory of acceptance by the many, a theory [illegible] the enthronement of [illegible] as opposed to [illegible] tems.

"American education [illegible] a short, [illegible] thinking as an exemption of learning as [illegible] contriving solution to [illegible] occuring and ever [illegible]

The educator [illegible] neither present day [illegible] zenship were [illegible] that those who [illegible] must work at its every [illegible] and flexible point.

Intellectual Faith Predicted

Doctor Kilpatrick ex[illegible] timistic view that, in the [illegible] mankind will accept the [illegible] will stand the test of [illegible] eventually trend will follow. He called for a brief [illegible] merits of the case as a [illegible] decisions, and asserted the [illegible] end, profound intellectual [illegible] better day will win the [illegible]

Prof. Lois H. Meek, also of [illegible] University, defined consti[illegible] purposes, as a more equitable [illegible] tion of wealth, public welfare [illegible] for all the people, social [illegible] couragement of intellectual [illegible] and research and the promotion [illegible] dividual adjustment.

Education, she said, can serve [illegible] purposes by considering [illegible] only from the intellectual [illegible] social, physical and emotional [illegible] points as well and by correlating itself with other social agencies [illegible] as remedial clinics and day [illegible]

—New York Times

Beginning with the present freshman class, students at the [illegible] Agricultural College will be required to take a general examination covering their entire four-year course before they can be eligible for a degree.

That college girls don't go to enough parties . . . . that they don't go out enough . . . . that they don't study, is the claim of the dean of Hunter College.

At Virginia and Kentucky . . . down where tobacco grows college men choose this one outstanding SMOKING TOBACCO

THE men who go to the universities of Virginia and Kentucky know tobacco . . . they see how it grows and what makes it good.

So when Virginia students, and the men who stroll down old South Limestone Street in Lexington pack their pipes with Edgeworth their choice tells volumes about the cool, slow-burning quality of this favorite smoking tobacco.

It's the same story everywhere—North, South, East and West. In 42 out of 54 leading colleges and universities, college men prefer the smooth, fragrant burley blend of Edgeworth. Try Edgeworth yourself. You'll find more pleasure in a pipe than you ever knew before. Every tobacco store has Edgeworth, 15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

SPORTING NEWS

NO REAL ALTERATIONS IN FOOTBALL RULINGS

Rules Now Seem to be Standardized According to Report of Convention

[illegible] convention held in [illegible] the National Collegiate [illegible]ociation, for the first time [illegible]ears, came out with the [illegible]no real changes were to [illegible]football rules." Codifica[illegible]ee, the noteworthy con[illegible]ns 1927-1930 until at the [illegible] the rules seem standard [illegible] codification committee [illegible] has received commenda[illegible]al of E. K. Hall, chair[illegible]Lunsford, secretary; Wal[illegible] football's Judge Landis [illegible]ection of officials; A. W. [illegible] of athletics at Haver[illegible] and F. A. Lambert, well-[illegible] official.

Intercollegiate News

[illegible] was found that Hank Bru[illegible] halfback of Northwestern [illegible] had a slight case of small [illegible] co-eds on that campus [illegible] attended an after-game [illegible] which he was present, were [illegible] (No comment necessary.)

[illegible] football rally at Princeton [illegible] a grand riot in which [illegible] graduates took part when [illegible] the rally threw cushions [illegible] balcony onto the heads of [illegible] classmen below. Remember, [illegible] Princeton was established [illegible] of clergymen and certainly [illegible] was not to develop rio[illegible]especially after they had been [illegible] another to rally their team on [illegible]

[illegible] Brown of Hunter College at [illegible] popularity with the modern co[illegible] she recently issued a state[illegible] to the effect that it would be [illegible] healthful for the modern college [illegible] to attend parties more often [illegible] she does instead of staying home [illegible] retiring late at night.

[illegible] clock for co-eds who go out [illegible] was proposed the other day [illegible] Dean of Women Anne Dudley [illegible] of the University of Minnesota [illegible] proposed that all sorority [illegible] and rooming houses install [illegible] to act as time clocks. As [illegible] went out she would note the [illegible] she went, and with whom. [illegible] in, the return hour would [illegible] down. The sororities are [illegible] the plan.

[illegible] University of Wisconsin has a [illegible] newsreel. Campus events are [illegible] in the college auditorium at [illegible] Org Meeting.

[illegible] Albert Bachlem of the Uni[illegible] of Illinois gains notoriety. [illegible] under our garments are [illegible] always living in a tropical [illegible] Women's clothing is much [illegible] reasonable. The ideal garment [illegible] would be loose and flowing [illegible] binding collar or belt."

[illegible] wonder if Professor Bachlem [illegible] his male students wear [illegible] breenders, wide trousers and [illegible] shirts.

[illegible] trees on the campus of Leb[illegible] College have been label[illegible] signs are made of metal that [illegible] corrode in weather of any [illegible] they contain the scientific [illegible] common name of the tree, [illegible] to which it belongs, and [illegible] of the country in which it

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed ..... $ .50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up

TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
[illegible] found in a new location

CROSS-COUNTRY SQUAD ELECTS FOR NEXT YEAR

H. I. Varney, '32, will be the captain of [illegible] (for next year) as a result of the elections held recently. At the same time W. I. Shimoe '34 was made honorary captain of the freshman cross-country team. Both men, as members of their respective squads, helped in the performance during the past season which [illegible] their elections. The managers of cross-country will not be elected until next spring.

UNIVERSITY MUSEUM TO CONTAIN NOVEL ROOM

Designed to supplement the collection of Vermontiana donated to the Robert Hull Fleming Museum by the late James B. Wilbur the University will build into the Museum an "Early Vermont Room," to contain relics of earlier days in the history of the State. The announcement was made by Prof. H. F. Perkins, curator of the Museum, in an address before the Ethan Allen Club last week.

Wilbur's collection will be placed in the Wilbur Room. Many treasures of early Vermont life in colonial, Revolutionary War and later periods make up this collection.

The Museum is being constructed at a cost of approximately $300,000 and, according to the contract will be completed by about April 15.

The early Vermont room will contain a collection of Civil War uniforms donated by the Loyal Legion. There will be pictures, books and other historical data as well as relics of old periods.

An unusual feature of the Museum will be the children's department, which will feature lectures and talks on Saturday afternoons. In this respect the Vermont Museum will be one of the few university museums in the United States to have such a department. In connection with the department will be conducted a loan department whereby various materials will be loaned to the public schools of Vermont.

Another room of particular interest will be that for special exhibits and collections. These will be loan exhibits and collections from persons who do not wish to give them permanently to the Museum.

NEW KIND OF PRACTICE FOR FROSH HOOPSTERS

To Organize Four-team League With Regular Practice Games Until After Mid-years

Coach Austin T. Pierce has begun to organize his freshman basketball squad into a four-team league, possibly [illegible] practice games until the Christmas season begins after the mid-year examinations.

This plan is an innovation at Vermont and marks a change from previous custom. The explanation lies chiefly in the fact that in former years the yearling hoop teams have played only games and contests with their freshman mates. Coach Pierce believes the new method will help to improve the play of the men.

The prospective regulars of the team seem to be as good if not better than those of last year. There are several outstanding players from prep and high school teams. One of the most widely known is Ed Saba, former Vermont Academy forward, who may be played as a running guard this year, according to present plans. F. E. Wegner of Plainville, Conn., is an outstanding candidate for the pivot position, and F. R. Busch of Farmington, Conn., is another who may be used. Still others of the most promising candidates are S. S. Marchaces of Burlington; A. T. Case of Essex Junction, J. L. Beckley of Great Neck, N. Y., J. J. Delfausse of Rockville Center, N. Y. and C. H. Brown of Burlington.

Tupper Collaborating on Poetry Anthology

(Continued from page 1)

vised the study of the sonnet because of the rigid rules of its composition.

In defining the extent of Vermont poetry, he named Royall Tyler and Thomas Greene as its progenitors, and Frances Frost and Janice Goodrich as its latest products. He declared a literary revival throughout the State manifest during the last five years.

Over fifty attended the lecture and many more the tea. Professor Tupper introduced the speaker.

originated. The biology department of the school started the movement.

The Harvard Crimson reveals that 57 percent of the Radcliffe graduates who marry take Harvard men for their husbands. This isn't quite so bad as it might be, however, since only 5 percent of the Radcliffe girls marry at all.

Twelve members of the fifty-one on the Washington and Lee faculty are listed in Who's Who.

The honor system consists of two parts—not cheating, and reporting cheaters. At Wesleyan University they seem to obey at least one section. Just 360 cases of cheating were reported by the students in one year.

University of Chicago students are going to be used to test a lie detecting machine. The "lie detector" will reveal cheating in examinations. Dr. J. A. Larson, research psychiatrist, announced recently that he would conduct experiments on students who cheated purposely. The purpose is to test the accuracy of the machine and to demonstrate its value in a court of law.

Mildred Hoffman and Paul Brooker were chosen the most perfect campus lovers in a contest recently sponsored by the Sour Owl, University of Kansas humorous publication. They were awarded the honor by some 4,000 students on Mt. Oread.

The publication listed mental ability and Brooker is a bit blase in appearity, personality and devotion as the most important requisites. Miss Hoffman is somewhat surprisingly naive.

Popular misconceptions: That college people read College Humor; that college studes invariably attend chapel and lectures; that there are freshman rules; the Betty co-ed has eyes of blue for Yale or Ushwash Tech. The real dope is that she has been going out on too many dates lately.

A JANUARY SALE ! !
Come in and look over our stock
We have Novelties with or without the seal
FELT GOODS
and JEWELRY
This sale continues through the month
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

Basketball Squad Resumes Practicing After Vacation

First Trip of Season Places Catamounts Against New Hampshire State and Harvard This Week—Only One Home Contest This Month

CAT'S MEOW

Sporting Editor

In the sudden passing of "Pie" [illegible] and [illegible] the Baseball team [illegible] that the University has lost a valuable member. He [illegible] with a place of [illegible] on the field and his presence will be greatly missed.

The hockey season will open this week with a two-day trip into New York. On Friday the Vermont sextet is scheduled to tackle Colgate and on the following day will meet Hamilton. The first home game will be played against Amherst on Saturday, January 17.

Last season Middlebury won the state hockey championship, but this year Vermont will have a veteran team and looks forward to a most successful season.

One of the records made during the past football season was [illegible] established by Leo Macaluso, Colgate halfback, who was this year's high point scorer. He scored 145 points in ten games and made touchdowns as follows:

With the clash between the Universities of Alabama and Washington, State College in the big New Years game featuring the annual Tournament of Roses, the football sun has set to await another season. Although the Westerners were given a slight edge to win the contest, they were unable to stop the mighty Crimson tide from the South which upset the dope by winning 24 to 0.

In the first four games of the season the basketball team has broken even but has shown improvement with every game. If the team can break even in the next four games there should be no fault found. New Hampshire and Harvard this week will both be hard battles. St. Michael's will be played next Tuesday in the first of the State games and a close battle can always be expected from that quarter. Then on the following Thursday Dartmouth will again be the opponent in the last contest before the Catamounts will dive into the mid-year examinations.

"Dearest, I love you. Since the dawn of creation, since the birth of this world, since the beginning of time, I have known and loved you. Darling, will you be mine?"

"Oh, Tom, this is so sudden."

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN DARTMOUTH GAME

[illegible] Dartmouth [illegible] the Catamounts [illegible] the strong New Hampshire [illegible] on next Tuesday night. The [illegible] Wesleyan [illegible] Thursday [illegible] Connecticut [illegible] with the game [illegible] at Middlebury [illegible] night before the [illegible] the team played its best game of the season [illegible] the Indians in the [illegible] of play by the narrow margin of 34 to 28, only after [illegible] Stark rushed in his regulars. Chet Lee continued to scintillate by adding nine points to his ever increasing total. Lee, Dartmouth, Laust Mylkkanen were easily the outstanding performers. His [illegible] and generalship coupled with [illegible] and defensive [illegible] a smooth player to watch.

[illegible] team has been [illegible] and the Catamounts have [illegible] a good showing in the last games. They are [illegible] the mid-year examinations. The next game [illegible] Tuesday [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] the opponents and will be the [illegible] battle to take place on the local floor this month.

A Red, Red Nose

My nose is like a red, red rose
And will be so till June.
My nose is musical—ah, me!
But plays a single tune.

So large art thou, my bony nose
So bad a cold have I;
That I'll be tending thee, I guess
Till a' the seas gang dry.

"Who rooms with Tatom and Doane?"
"Nutting."
"I don't think I know Nutting."
"That's right." Annapolis Log.

"You kiss him, Bill, my shoes are Cowards." Dartmouth Jack O'Lantern.

ARTHUR W. DUPAW
and his ORCHESTRA
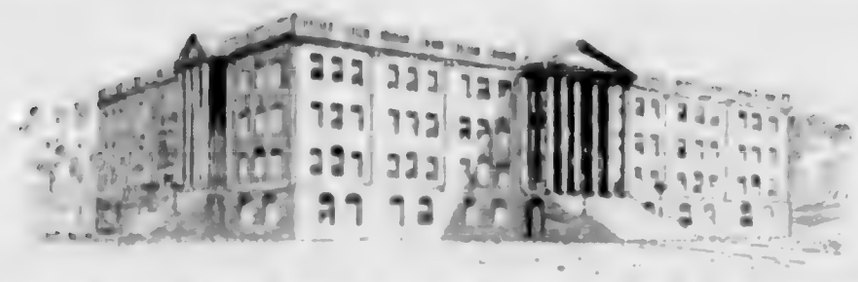
"The Sun Dodgers"
For rates and reservations
Please Call
Telephone 2232-W
Address 333 North Street

All Wool Fancy Hose 85c
3 PAIRS $2.50
FURRS
Burlington

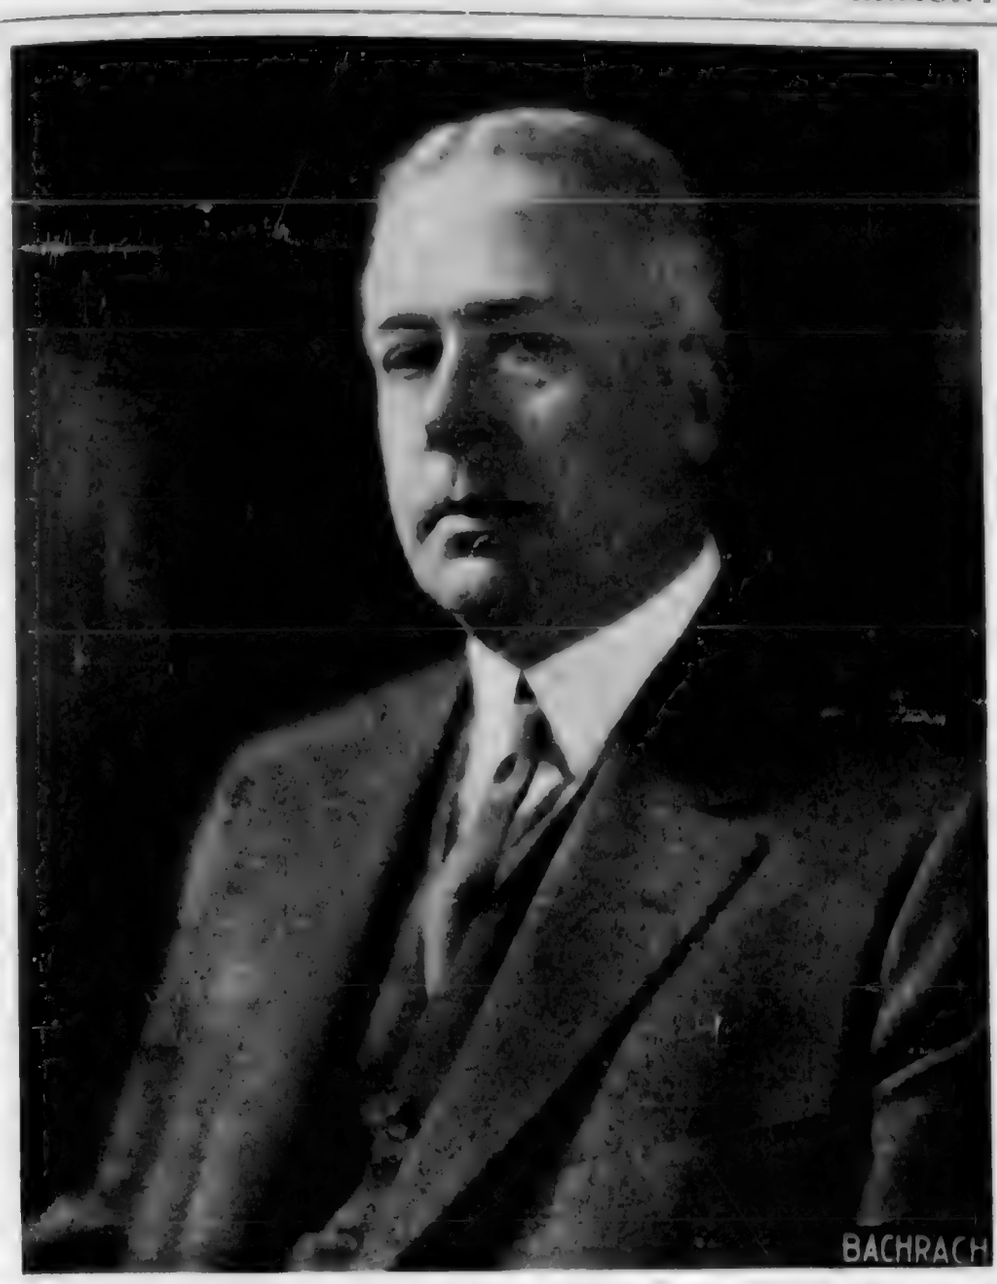
Some Pictorial Highlights Of 1930

The Second Unit Classroom Building will be completed in June at a cost of $[illegible]

Vermont closed its 1930 season this fall whose only bright light was the tie game with [illegible] and just outplayed Norwich in every department. The team will be considerably stronger next year in the anatomy of the freshman backfield.

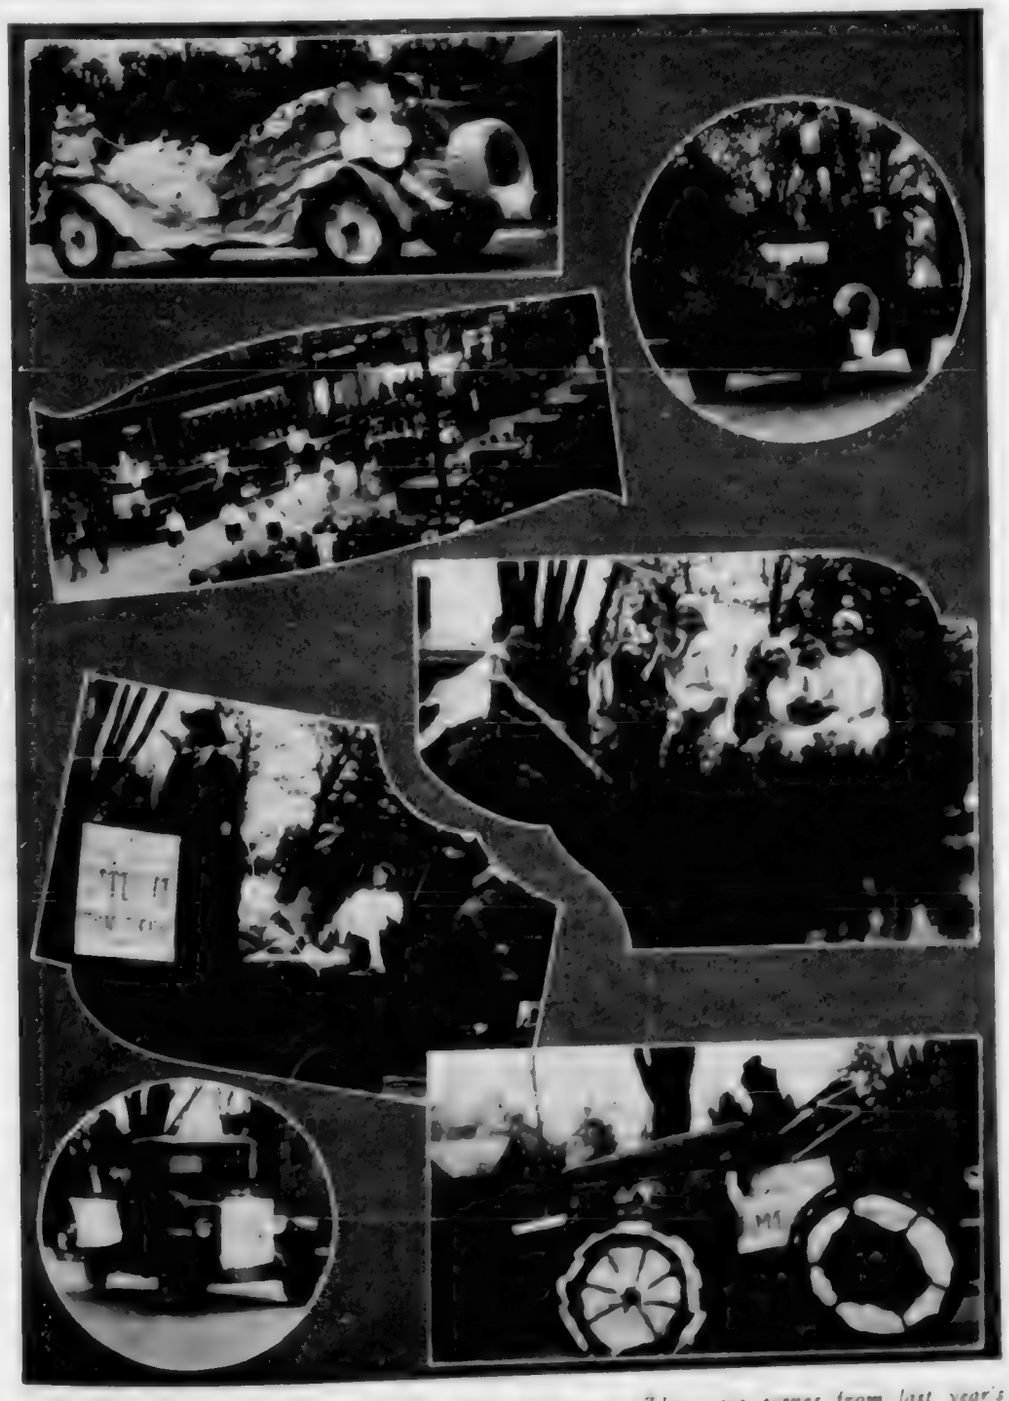


Debating has, during the past six years, ranked well at Vermont, whose forensic artists have brought [illegible] a victory on the platform. In this picture of the 1930 Tau Kappa Alpha group, the men are: Sitting, Macomber, faculty sponsor of the society; Prof. L. W. Dean, perpetual debate chairman. M. D. [illegible] coach; Seymour Nelson, manager; standing, Louis Lisman, president of the society; Franklin Sear, this year's manager; at Sear's right is Janice Goodrich, last year's women's captain, Roberta Powers, [illegible] the second debaters this year, is not shown.



More prizes were offered for Kake Walk last year than ever before. Sigma Phi and Phi Delta Theta [illegible] honors.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones [illegible]



DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

President Guy W. Bailey, who has long occupied the chief executive's chair at the University. The senior class when asked last year to choose what was "best at Vermont," voted overwhelmingly for the President. His address to the incoming class this fall was one of the finest ever delivered at Vermont.

Athletes of outstanding prominence were rare at Vermont during 1930. "Bump" Levine is now football line coach, after a season of captaining Vermont's grid men. Halloran, two sport star, captained basketball and gave much of what strength it had to Vermont's backfield. Sargent is a three-letter man, captain of 1931 basketball a leader on the diamond and a tennis player. Segal is the only man to have captained two sports in recent years, he led the hockey team last year and was captain of 1930 football.

Junior Week is always a gala season, what with peerade, play and prom. These are scenes from last year's Junior Week peerade advertising the spring play "Summertime."

[illegible] branch president of last year's senior class and editor of the book. Has successful law practice [illegible] the minor who said 'I'm the most [illegible] U. V. M. and I'm [illegible]

Richard Crosby, president of the U. V. M. which during the past year has chosen what one of the most active organized [illegible]

Thursday, January 8

HEY! HEY!

COLLEGE NIGHT AGAIN!!

EX-CONVERSE PRESENTS HIS

FIRST BIG COLLEGE NIGHT OF THE YEAR

HERE'S THE WORKS

"ART" BROWN—ORGAN SPECIALTY
"COLLEGE DAZE"
AND IT'S NEW!

FREDDIE DOUGLAS
TAP and ECCENTRIC DANCING
AND IT'S HOT!

DICK SHEPARD AND HIS HAWAIIANS
AND IT'S GOOD!

SOME REAL, HONEST TO LULU, WORTHWHILE VAUDEVILLE IN PERSON.

FEATURE PICTURE
"MADAM SATAN"

with REGINALD DENNY, KAY JOHNSON and plenty of Zep Crashes—and all that.

Cecil B. DeMille's contribution for the big night.

And Get This

To the lucky person sitting in the lucky seat

Hayes & Carney

will present a neat little gift.

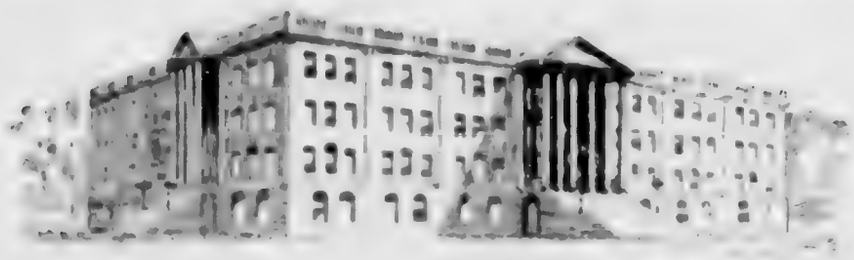
TRY YOUR LUCK

PALACE TWIN THEATRE

THURSDAY, JAN. 8
LAST SHOW
8:50 P. M.

Some Pictorial Highlights Of 1930

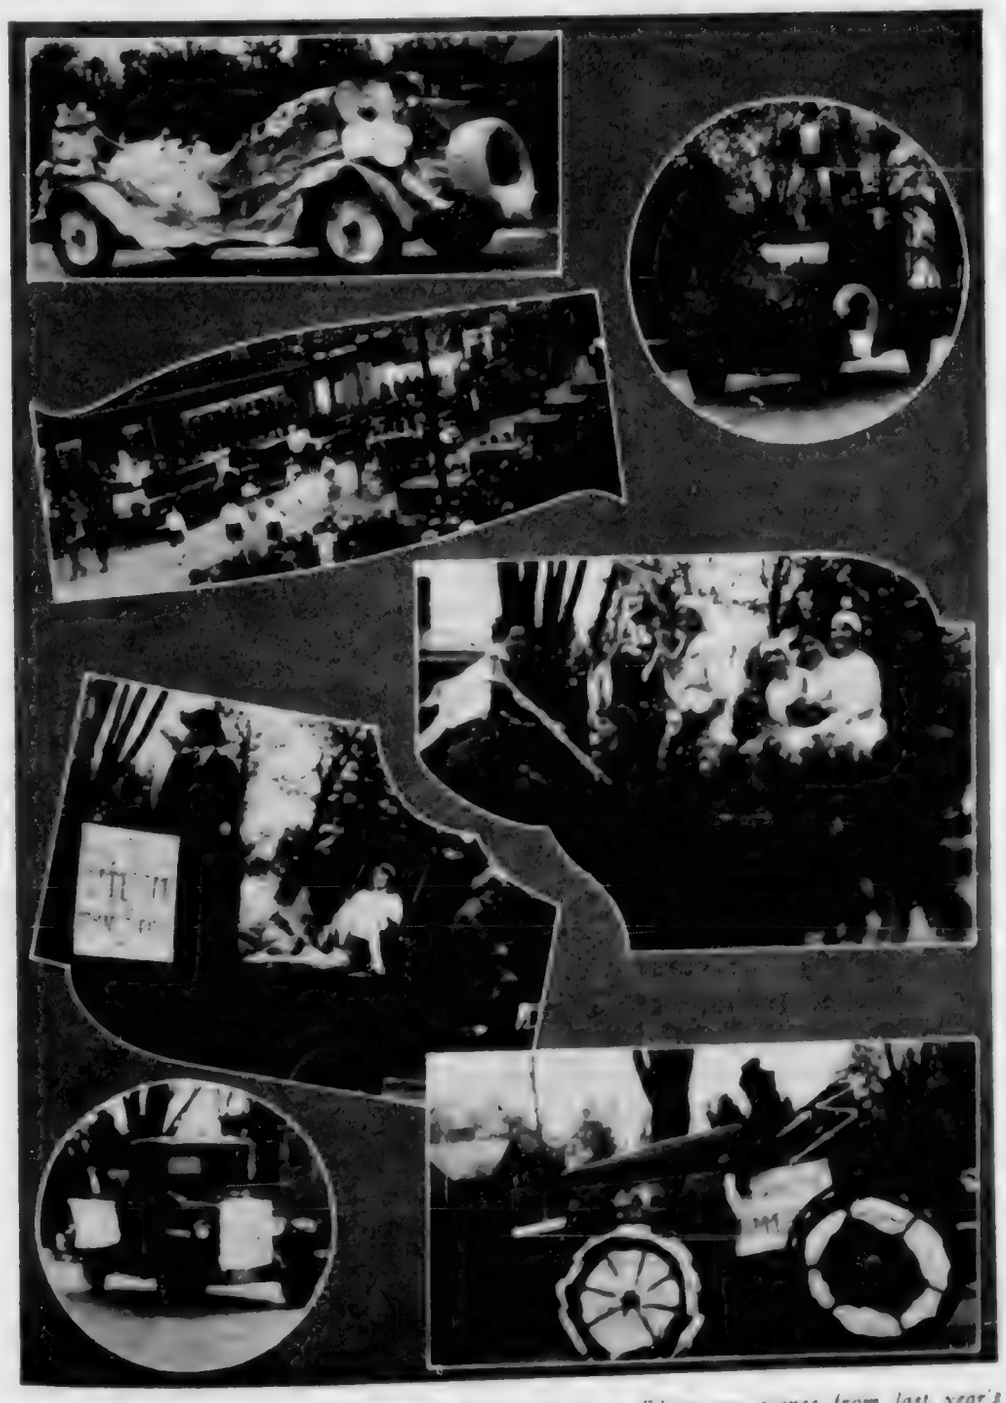
Vermont ... great another mediocre ... grid season this fall whose only bright light was the tie game ... Green and ... suffered No ... each in every department. The team will be considerably ... Year ... the nucleus of the freshman backfield



Debating has ... during the past six years, ranked well at Vermont, whose forensic artists have brought a ... on the platform. In this picture of the 1930 Tau Kappa Alpha group, the men are ... Mayo ..., faculty sponsor of the society, Prof. L. W. Dean, perpetual debate chairman. W ... coach ... Nelson, manager; standing, Louis Lisman, president of the society; Franklin ... year's manager, at Sear's right is Janice Goodrich, last year's women's captain, Roberta Powers ... the record debaters this year, is not shown

More ... than ever before. Sigma Phi and Phi Delt ... houses

ALEX VERRET
113 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones ... 3071, 3072



DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup
Doughnuts Better than the Rest
Corner Church and College Streets

President Guy W. Bailey, who has long occupied the chief executive's chair at the University. The senior class, when asked last year to choose what was "best at Vermont," voted overwhelmingly for the President. His address to the incoming class this fall was one of the finest ever delivered at Vermont.

Athletes of outstanding prominence were rare at Vermont during 1930. "Bump" Levine is now football line coach, after a season of captaining Vermont's grid men. Halligan, two-sport star, captained basketball and gave much of what strength it had to Vermont's backfield. Sargent is a three-letter man, captain of 1931 basketball, a hurler on the diamond and a tennis player. Segal is the only man to have captained two sports in recent years, he led the hockey team last year and was captain of 1930 football.

Junior Week is always a gala season, what with peerade, play and prom. These are scenes from last year's Junior Week peerade, advertising the spring play "Summertime"

Guy Lynch, president of last year's senior class and editor of the book. His classmates just gave credit him the senior who said, deep, the most for U. V. M. and he has!

Richard Crocker, member of the U. C. A. speech department, the cast says, has chosen the 3 out of the most active organizations on campus.

Lynch president of last year's senior class and editor of the book. His classmates just gave credit him the senior who said, deep, the most for U. V. M. and he has!

Richard Crocker, member of the U. C. A. speech department, the cast says, has chosen the 3 out of the most active organizations on campus.

Thursday, January 8

HEY! HEY!

COLLEGE NIGHT AGAIN!!

EX-CONVERSE PRESENTS HIS

FIRST BIG COLLEGE NIGHT OF THE YEAR

HERE'S THE WORKS

"ART" BROWN—ORGAN SPECIALTY
"COLLEGE DAZE"
AND IT'S NEW!

FREDDIE DOUGLAS
TAP and ECCENTRIC DANCING
AND IT'S HOT!

DICK SHEPARD AND HIS HAWAIIANS
AND IT'S GOOD!

SOME REAL, HONEST TO LULU, WORTHWHILE VAUDEVILLE IN PERSON.

FEATURE PICTURE
"MADAM SATAN"

with REGINALD DENNY, KAY JOHNSON and plenty of Zep Crashes—and all that.

Cecil B. DeMille's contribution for the big night.

And Get This

To the lucky person sitting in the lucky seat

Hayes & Carney

will present a neat little gift.

TRY YOUR LUCK

FLYNN THEATRE

THURSDAY, JAN. 8

LAST SHOW
8:50 P. M.

In The Good Old Days

Twenty-five Years Ago

[illegible] and Commencement for [illegible] Thursday, June 7. A [illegible] Commencement is that the Chapel is [illegible] seating [illegible] thousand [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] attendance

[illegible] commencing to [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1931 NUMBER 28

EVANS ELUCIDATES ON GOOD AND BAD QUALITIES OF MUSSOLINI'S REGIME

Says Culture Cannot Progress Under Dictatorship Which Hampers Individualism

TRACES RISE OF FASCIST PART IN ITALIAN STATE

[illegible] regime in Italy is a [illegible] being very difficult to [illegible] effectively," declared Prof. [illegible] head of the history department at the University, last Tuesday before the International Relations Club at which time he discussed internal and foreign politics under Mussolini.

He pointed out that Italian refugees in European capitals deny that liberty and freedom under the present system. Professor Evans also stated where its partisans say it is [illegible] doing away, in fact, with an [illegible] democracy.

"How can we know the truth about Italy?" asked the professor, "especially as the press is effectively muzzled. Italy herself is to blame for outside opinion, as we can only judge by the news that seeps out."

Fascism it was explained, is a product of evolution, and an historical introduction is needed to understand it.

Fascism grew out of the post-war disillusionment in Italy. The politicians promised the people a veritable Utopia after victory. Utopia, however, was not forthcoming, and the Italian people found themselves straddled with a great debt instead. The war did not pay its own way, and as a result of the treaties of 1919 Italy did not receive as much foreign land as she wanted.

The proletariat decided to gain their own Utopia. In this endeavor they were supported by the socialists and the people's party. Thus in 1920, by dint of powerful strokes they confiscated much land for the farmers and many factories for the working men. The capitalists gave way under the threat and workingmen's councils were formed. The capitalists, however, merely bided their time, united out the laborers and crushed the movement. It is on this troubled scene that Fascism first emerges.

Fascism Appears

Mussolini, a renegade socialist, organized his new faction in 1919. He worked against these two parties and gained support of the capitalists. This he gained money, and the results immediately began to pour in. From 1920 to 1921 marks a period of civil war, with Mussolini coming out more powerful. In the fall of 1922 he marches on Rome, with the next issue being the remaking of the Italian government. Mussolini, as Professor Evans explained, had less than half a million in his ranks at this time, and had to become dictator. In 1924 Mussolini won at the polls with a majority for his party. Previous to this he had the Ministry made independent of Parliament, and members of the Senate were nominated by himself. As for the Chamber of Deputies, since 1928 the members have been nominated by the two great Fascist syndicates. The names are carefully gone over and [illegible] the people have to vote either yes or no for 400 hand-picked Fascists, there being no other choice. Fascism also controls the local government as the mayors are all named by Rome. As even further security for the regime the national militia is [illegible] all over the country. The educational scheme also tends to strengthen his iron grip. Only Fascist schools exist. The books are censored, and the boys have pre-Fascist training.

Mussolini has made great accomplishments in economics and efficiency, and Professor Evans in answering the question, "What has been done?"

"Finances have been reorganized on a sound basis. Transportation systems, from the railroads to the canals, have been completely modernized. Industrial production is extensive, with a new relation between capital and labor. The class war is gone, to be replaced by collaboration. Local syndicates have been formed which are grouped into three national confederacies: (1) the labor syndicate, (2) the employers' syndicate, and (3) the pro-

(Continued on page 8)

CO-ED J. V. FORENSICISTS TO DEBATE CITY ZONING

The women's junior varsity debating squad made its next to last appearance this semester in a debate with the Hinesburg Parent Teachers' Association on Tuesday evening January 6, debating the subject of compulsory liability insurance.

The question stated was, "Resolved That every automobile owner in Vermont should be compelled to purchase liability insurance at the time of registration." Ruth Erwin and Helen Cook, both of the freshman class upheld the affirmative, while Florence Huntley, '32, and Laura Johnson, '33, took the negative side of the question.

The last debate of the squad until after midyears will be before the Klifa Club on January 15, when they will take up the question of City Zoning. The Oregon system will be used at this debate. Ethelda Miller, '33, Caroline Taft, '33, and Ruth Erwin, '34, will be in favor of City Zoning, and Roberta Powers, '32, Leah Gowan, '33, and Helen Cook, '34, will be against it.

SWIFT INDICATES THAT FRESHMAN SCHOLARSHIP IS ABOUT AS ALWAYS

Three freshmen were dropped from the Arts and Sciences College and forty-one others, each failing two or more courses, were put under warning at the faculty meeting December 18.

This number forty-one, is approximately fifteen per cent of the class of 1934. In addition to the above five more, each with failures in two or more subjects, were placed under warning earlier. Thus, in all, seventeen per cent of the class, in addition to those dropped, are failing in at least two courses.

This is somewhat lower than the number last year, twenty per cent having been dropped. One fifth is the usual proportion of the freshman class dropped.

"During the last three years," stated Dean Swift, "the number dropped at midyears, including those leaving college with failing records, has varied from twenty to twenty-seven per cent. There is no reason to expect that the number will be lower in the class this year."

LECHNYR TO PLAY AT PRE-MIDYEAR FUNCTION

Tomorrow evening at eight-thirty Boulder present their annual pre-mid year dance for the enjoyment of the students. It is always well to have some pleasant memories of midyears, think the seniors, and with this idea in mind Joe Lechnyr's Vermonters have been engaged to furnish the music for Saturday's informal affair.

This dance will also be held in the Burlington High School Gymnasium, on Main Street, and will be chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Leon W. Dean, and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun of the University faculty.

VERMONT VARSITY TO DEBATE MIDD. WOMEN ON CHAIN STORE QUESTION

J. V.'s Will Tackle Patrons of Husbandry at Grand Isle Grange On Same Topic

NELSON AND LISMAN TO SPEAK, IT IS PROBABLE

Varsity debating activities will be renewed with a contest here on January 16 against the Middlebury College women debating team. The subject is, "Resolved: that chain stores are detrimental to the best interest of the American public."

Vermont will uphold the negative of the proposition. The debate, a decision affair, will be conducted in the American style. The teams are not as yet selected but Vermont will probably use her veterans George Nelson, '31, and Louis Lisman, '31.

Middlebury Has Fine Team

Middlebury College will be represented by the strongest women's debating team in the history of that institution. The team's record this year and last year is one to be proud of. Vermont has not had a women's team in a number of years which could defeat the Middlebury aggregation, and even last year, a trip to Middlebury early in the first semester desulted disastrously for Vermont.

In the debate held this year the Middlebury team has won a number of victories and a great deal of favorable comment.

Vermont has had the Indian sign on Middlebury as far as men's debating is concerned but there has always been a kind of unwritten law that women's teams are possessors of handicap advantages over the men.

Fair Sex Win

Several times Vermont has engaged in mixed debates using either a men's or a women's team and in all cases the women's team has been the victor. The latest mixed debate at Vermont was last May when Louis Lisman, '31, Donald Frazier, ex-'32, and J. E. Bigelow, '33, won an overwhelming moral victory over a women's team from Plymouth Normal School only to lose a questionable decision.

Vermont veterans Nelson and Lisman, are full of pep and raring to go. Much chagrined at being caught off balance in the recent McGill debate where they lost by a 3-0 decision, these two men have sworn to take ample revenge for that defeat at the expense of the Middlebury young ladies.

The Junior Varsity

J. V. activities will continue tonight at Grand Isle before the grange of that place. J. E. Bigelow, '33 and P. J. LaCrosse, '32, will debate the chain store question with two grangers.

January 19 the scene shifts to Charlotte where three J. V.'s, as yet unchosen will battle three more grangers on the question. Resolved that the findings of the Vermont tax commission if enacted into law would be beneficial to the state."

Faint Strains of Cotton Babes Are Heard as Kake Walk Draws Nigh

For all the faculty warnings of midyears, strains of Kake Walk still creep into the air about the hill. The big show comes on the twentieth and twenty-first of February.

If the inside details of the meetings of the eight fraternities who are competing were to be made public, Kake Walk would lie second only to money as a topic of bull-sessions in all of them. The eight fraternities referred to are: Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Delta Theta, Lambda Iota, Sigma Phi, Tau Epsilon Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Delta and Zeta Chi. These fraternities will compete Thursday, February 19 for the distinction of presenting a stunt at Kake Walk on the following two nights. Six fraternities are usually chosen for the final competition.

"Somehow or other it's things like Kake Walk that makes Vermont what it is," said one Kake Walker of long ago. "So the frats are starting to think of stunts for Kake Walk," he mused. "Gee it's a lot of work but gosh I remember how so-and-so and I used to do that Kake Walk back in 1920 (or 1910 or 1900). We won first prize that year for our fraternity. I wouldn't have missed that for anything." And so on into the night the old grad reminisces about Kake Walk.

We would have only to enter one of those secret meetings held each Monday night between now and Kake Walk to realize how much spirit Kake Walk does arouse.

"This would be a great stunt." "You bet but listen to this." Such remarks as these are certain to be in evidence these next few weeks and rightly will they be directed toward that polished and elegant stunt which will certainly knock 'em cold.

Then the fraternity attention and that of everyone else is directed to the peerade. Both the group and individual entries will have to be good to win and everyone is racking his brains to devise a new idea with which to hoodwink the judges or doctor up an old idea in a new fashion with the same results, namely, to win a cup for the mantelpiece.

(Continued on page 4)

Prominent Seniors Are In Running For High Office

Three Nominated for Senior Week Chairman and Three for Financial Manager—Five Are Named Without Opposition to Class Day Speakerships

THREE MEN'S GREEK-LETTER SOCIETIES HAVE NOW HELD INITIATIONS

Remaining Ten Formally to Induct Pledgees to Membership After Midyear Examinations

Only three of Vermont's thirteen Greek letter men's fraternities have as yet initiated their pledgees. Heading the list with eleven initiates is Tau Epsilon Phi who pledged seventeen men at the beginning of the season. Included in the roll of its new members are Merrill Axel, '33, and Max Bergman, '33, of Burlington, Paul Gould, '34, of Malden, Mass.; Ben Bernbaum, '34, of New Britain, Conn.; Robert Glasstone, '34, of Burlington, Murray Kramer, '34, of Winthrop, Mass.; Ned Kaplan, '34, of New Britain, Conn.; Lee Robinson, '34, of Lynn, Mass.; Joseph Reaman, '34, of Lynn, Mass.; Herbert Helib, '34, of Jamaica Plain, Mass., and Hyman Silverstein, '34, of Brookline, Mass.

Sigma Phi comes second and has initiated all of its four pledgees from the freshman class. They are: Edward L. Austin, '34, of Burlington; George H. Burroughs, '34, of Exeter, N. H.; Frank R. Busch, '34, of Farmington, Conn., and Chester B. Eaton, '34, of Worcester, Mass.

Sigma Delta has thus far admitted only one pledgee, C. B. Harwood '34 of Rupert. Kappa Sigma, which has initiated one junior, Chester K. Bush, '32, of Sheldon, will hold the regular initiation after the midyear examinations.

When questioned members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon declared that they had set no definite date for their initiations.

The remaining seven fraternities, Lambda Iota, Delta Psi, Phi Sigma Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Mu Delta, Sigma Nu and Zeta Chi will hold their initiations some time after midyears.

COLLEGE NIGHT AGAIN FAVORABLY RECEIVED

College night, the first of the year, held under the management of ex-Converse took place last evening at the new Flynn Theatre. As in previous years at the Majestic Theatre a generous reception was accorded the show of shows. Ex-Converse again displayed his talent at picking attractions.

Among the features were "College Days" and organ specialty by that master of melody "Art" Brown.

Freddie Douglas, popular dancer, left the audience breathless with his tap and eccentric dancing. Those who know Freddie will add another achievement to his long list.

Dick Shepard and his Hawaiians featured the program with several numbers among which were "Happy Feet," "Don't Tell Her," "It's All the Same to Me" and "You're Driving Me Crazy." Once again the College Ukeartists made the audience applaud heartily.

The feature picture was "Madam Satan" starring Reginald Denny.

A new part of the college night program this year is the institution of the holder of the lucky seat idea. The holder of the lucky seat last evening will receive a desirable surprise gift contributed by Hayes and Carney.

Last year college night was a feature at the Majestic Theatre several times during the college year. Large audiences gave assurance of its success and again last night the efforts of ex-Converse were admirably rewarded.

The Press Club held a short business meeting at the Vermonters Club House Thursday with Prof. Leon Dean as guest. Refreshments were served. Members in charge were Frances French, '31, and Eleanor Eggleston, '33.

COMMITTEE PREPARES FOR COMING ELECTION

[illegible] meeting of the [illegible] last Wednesday [illegible] candidates for twelve offices. Four of these posts have but one name put up. These are the speakers for delivering the address to Ira Allen for which Lisman is named, to the Boulder with Corbin as orator, to the Campus with Brush, the class history by Margaret Stanley, and the poem by Mary Woolson. In as much as all candidates to be considered must be named at least one week previous to the elections, these students are already nominated.

For chairman of Senior Week and financial manager of Senior Week the competition is expected to be keen each of these offices having three candidates. For chairman, Brush, Smith and Worrell are named while for financial manager the class must chose among Butterfield, Maynes and Tobin.

The Candidates

George R. Brush of Arlington has been active in class and college affairs since his first year. Last year he headed his class and edited the 1931 Ariel. He is also a managing editor of the Cynic. He is a member of Lambda Iota fraternity.

F. Stanley Smith of Adams, Mass. who is also prominent in college circles, is a Boulder man, a director of the coming Kake Walk and advertising manager of the Cynic. He is affiliated with Sigma Phi.

Roy W. Worrell, a Delta Psi, is president of his class and business manager of Wig and Buskin. He, too, is an outstanding figure on the campus.

For Financial Manager

Harvey D. Butterfield, a Burlington boy, has been active in Y. C. A. work, being its president last year. In his freshman year he was the class president. At present he heads Wig and Buskin, men's honorary dramatic society which post he earned by his many fine performances in college plays. His fraternity is Phi Delta Theta.

Another Boulder man, Roderick J. Maynes is the other director of this year's Kake Walk, the president of Student Senate and a three letter man, having earned his V in football track and winter sports. Maynes is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Robert E. Tobin of Fairhaven, Mass. a Kappa Sigma, is an equally strong contender for this managership. He is a Boulder man, manager of junior varsity baseball and a letterman in basketball being a strong guard.

Louis Lisman who will deliver the address to Ira Allen is a member of Phi Sigma Delta. He is the editor-in-chief of the Cynic, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating society and president of the John Dewey Club. Lisman has been outstanding as a varsity debater.

Butterfield and Nelson are candidates for the address to Lafayette. Harvey Butterfield has been already mentioned. George R. Nelson, of Stamford, Conn. is manager of varsity debating and a managing editor of the Cynic. He and Lisman have been the mainstays of debating at Vermont for several years.

The Boulder Address

Stuart B. Corbin, of Burlington, is also a member of Boulder, senior honorary and as such will deliver the Boulder address. He has been active on the campus, being at present business manager of the Cynic, manager of baseball and manager of eligibility. He is a Delta Psi.

George R. Brush will deliver the Campus oration. For the pipe oration Mattison and Smith are candidates. Hugh R. Mattison of Bennington, a Sigma Alpha Epsilon is a Boulder man, advertising manager of Wig and Buskin and was business manager of the 1931 Ariel.

Cowles and Huey are up for the address to the undergraduates. Rich-

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

"The official Student ... of the University of Vermont"

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

... B. Brush, '31
... B. Nelson, '31
Managing Editors

LOUIS LISMAN, '31
Editor-in-Chief
STUART S. COBBIN, '31
Business Manager

Hilda S. Smith, '31
Women's Editor
... W. Foster, '31
Sports Editor

... Thomas, '32 ... Eaton, '32 Fred W. Householder, '32
Broadcasting Editors

... Dramatic Editor
... J. Fitzgerald, '31

Feature Editor
Edmour A. Germain, '31

Assistant Editors
... '31 W. C. MacDonald, '33 A. N. Speller, '33
... '31 H. J. Shaw, '33 T. F. Taylor, '33
... '31 I. C. Shaw, '33

Assistant Sports Editors
... Bishop, '32 F. Tupper, '32
Assistant Editors
... Farwell, '31 G. M. Fienberg, '33

Harriet Wright, '31
Women's Athletic Editor

Lucile Ross, '31
Women's Associate Editor

Gladys Press, '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Mildred Cole, '32 Rosette Harlowe, '32 Margaret Mower, '32
... Sherman, '32 Margaret Ann Martin, '32 Hope Ranslow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
P. Stanley Smith, '31
Assistant Business Managers
... Tracy, '32 G. R. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1881. Published semi-weekly during the college year.
All communications must be signed by the writer. Any local notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 3871 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Acceptance for mailing at special rate provided for in section 426 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication: Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 January 9, 1931 No 28

FACULTY COLUMN

Before me lies an ample supply of ... white paper such as the Administration so generously furnishes struggling students for test purposes. I am also equipped with a perfectly good pencil, concealing in its slender ... enough reserve leads to sully the virgin whiteness of many sheets of the paper aforementioned. Now for ... thoughts fit to spread before student eyes without giving offense. As I struggle to cerebrate, I wonder if perchance my choice of paper is not unfortunate for I seem afflicted with that paralysis of expression so frequently experienced by students when forced to use this same sort of paper. Yet something must be evolved in answer to the Cynic's request.

To one who has had some opportunity to be on fairly intimate terms with students in other institutions it seems that Vermont students lack intellectual interest, an attribute which should be engendered and fostered by the process of obtaining a college education. To be sure, we have with us on the campus a fair proportion of students who do more than passably well in their courses. I have in mind, however, that broader intellectual interest which leads them to be conversant with problems and tendencies larger than those immediately affecting campus life. In this respect, the Cynic itself may be said to offer a cross-section of the student mind: some items of news appear in it concerning activities in other colleges, but only rarely is mention made of events of international or national importance. How many of our students take or read regularly a daily newspaper? Some I can testify, do make use of those taken by the Billings Library, with especial assiduity. It would seem, when I happen to wish to peruse one. My fear, however, is that this habit of keeping abreast with the world is confined to a hardy few. That this apathy is not shared by students in other institutions may be evidenced by the manifesto of protest containing some 500 signatures dispatched last month from a campus about 100 miles from Burlington to Bishop Manning after his attack from the pulpit on Judge Lindsay. This was followed by an invitation to the two men to present their views in open debate before a mass meeting at the college in question.

The burden of my plaint is that our students are not interested in such matters. They become hot and bothered (a translation of a phrase from a German Chapbook of the sixteenth century) about the hazing of freshmen, non-glorious relic of the past, but seem little concerned, except perhaps as alcoving couples, about the future of marriage or other social relations. Nor do they devote much time, I fear, to literature, either of the past or of the present, unless it be to that ephemeral variety which portrays the lurid side of college parties or to that which is read as a requirement. And rare indeed is the student who can acquire genuine pleasure from required reading.

Yes, I can surmise the answer. In rebuttal it will be alleged that the ... of the poor, long-suffering student forced by a heartless faculty to fulfill degree requirements such as Military Science and even German is so exhausted that he must use his few moments of leisure in pursuits which will furnish him relaxation. Yet I should venture to assert that this self-same harried student, unless he be faced with the necessity of earning his entire expenses, now has more leisure time which could be turned to worthwhile reading than he will have after graduation.

And now permit me in conclusion to offer a suggestion prompted by the perusal of a column recently contributed by a colleague: namely that Vermont's students could obtain considerable intellectual stimulus by more intimate contact with faculty members. The latter, I believe would be found distinctly human and delightfully affable if trailed to their offices or homes for a quiet chat. If some seem in the classroom to be afflicted with academic aloofness, much of this would dissolve in a cup of tea and the remainder evaporate in tobacco smoke. Vermont students seem to look upon the faculty as a miscellaneous collection of evils, dwelling in a world far removed from reality. My challenge to these students is: become acquainted with the faculty outside the classroom. Its members stand ready to discuss, to contribute from their wider experience, and they consider it one of their greatest privileges to help Vermont students as individuals.

F. D. Carpenter.

A Student-at-Large

More and more students are realizing the infantilism of "scrubbing" activities which, if not a waste of time, are intellectually sterile. Whether they are wiser or lazier the writer does not pretend to know. It is sufficient to note that the halo of being a potentate or one activity or another has diminished.

Coddling of the student continues. He is "orientated," "advised," "counseled," given "study hours" and what not. To show independence one must engage in vicarious extra-curricula peccadillos. Tweedle-dee wins this year. Tweedle-dum will win next year.

Junior class debating is decried by the students. It is obvious that a department of Public Speaking would go far to dispel the present dissatisfaction. It is not too early to purge the students of lip-laziness in their freshman year. In any case slovenly speech should be eliminated before graduation.

When one philosophises on the disputes between the liberal and the conservative, capital and labor, the old and the young, religionists and unbelievers, militarists and pacifists, and that between races one begins to suspect that this is not the best of all possible worlds. However, only then can one lose his infantilism and have a genuine weltanschauung.

In a comparison of the German and French texts of "All Quiet on the Western Front" with the English translation, one becomes painfully aware of certain tampering and expurgating in the latter. No doubt certain messianic individuals feel obligated to protect their brethren from all temptations in order to ensure their own salvation.

"Magic Mountain" by Thomas Mann, winner of the 1929 Nobel prize, is undoubtedly one of the few worthwhile books of our times. One can, however, safely conjecture that few if any students has read it. This might lead to an interesting question. If students do not read the acknowledged writers of our times, are they likely to read the great writers of the past?

To those who may disagree with my impressions the words of Emerson are instructive. Let us "abide by our spontaneous impression with good-humored inflexibility then most when the whole cry of voices is on the other side. Else tomorrow a stranger will say with masterly good sense precisely what we have thought and felt all the time, and we shall be forced to take with shame our own opinion from another."

Paul J. LaCrosse, '32.

Le Cercle Lafayette will meet next Wednesday evening, January 14, at 8 o'clock at the home of Miss Lilian Cohen of 82 Grant Street.

Sam Barnet '32 will discuss the literary merits of Monsieur André Maurois. Mrs. Paul Evans will undoubtedly amplify the discussion on this literary figure of our times. A short recitation of the fables of Lafontaine will follow by Stanley Carter, '32.

A preliminary reading of Anatole France's "L'homme qui épousa une femme muette" by students yet to be selected will also take place.

New records of French songs will be played followed by refreshments. Almost needless to add, the above program and the general discussion and conversation will be entirely in French. The success of the last meeting warrants the continuation of this linguistic policy.

Intercollegiate News

The latest cultural shocker of the erstwhile cultural curriculum of the American college is a course on how to keep well while traveling in the tropics to be offered during the coming semester by the University of California.

The Times reports Dean Christian Gauss of Princeton University as saying: "Probably one-third of the million young men and women in the colleges are miscast for their parts."

Wellesley College is trying to do its share in the relief for the unemployed. While the college is speeding up its building program to afford more work, the students and faculty have raised $1,900 for the aid of the needy in Boston, Wellesley, Framingham and Natick.

Eastward the empire of the honors course takes its way. And the sacred inelasticity of the standard four-year college span is threatened, after the University of Chicago manner, in another quarter. Now it is Colgate University, at Hamilton, N. Y., which proposes to adopt a kind of tutorial system, in which ultimately the superior student may progress at his own rate and graduate whenever he can pass comprehensive examinations in the field in which he has specialized.

Colleges, Prof. Yandell Henderson of Yale warned the other day, are tending to be run too much like factories, and professors to be relegated to the status of industrial employes. The natural reaction, he prophesied, would be the development of such organizations as the American Association of University Professors into a sort of labor union.

Representatives from sixty-three foreign universities and colleges are listed in the student bodies of the New York University Graduate School and the Graduate School of Business Administration, according to the annual reports of the two schools.

"Flaming youth," ready to sweep away all the old safeguards of traditional morality, is apparently only a false alarm, at least on the campuses of the Middle West. Ninety-eight freshmen at Ripon College, Wisconsin, with the pristine ideas of high school upon them were recently asked to indicate their relative beliefs in twenty-five articles of social faith, ranging from democracy to divorce. Almost to a student they placed home, marriage and the church first as the most necessary social institutions, while socialism, companionate marriage and equal distribution of wealth were emphatically condemned.

The athletic teams at Springfield College were not quite as successful during the year 1930 as they had been during 1929. The eleven varsity teams for 1930 engaged in ninety-seven contests and were victorious in sixty-one and lost thirty-six, for an average of .629.

The Mystic Pen

and what a vacation that was! We wont recount the parties we went on, the hangovers, and the tender vows oft repeated (to the next girl), the grand home cooking, the lavish banquets . . . horse doovers to biscuit marconi (and that's no animal cracker). Most of the boys brushed up on their technique and disported themselves in various ways. They are all back worse for wear, ready to work, and off women for life. As it's a hard winter and most of the lads were broke, parlor and sofa dates were in the majority. And as the girls we left behind hadn't seen us in ages . . . and were thrilled at having a boy friend in college . . . "don't let it worry you son, it happened to me when I was a freshman." Honi soit qui mal y pense crisco halitosis nabisco. Enuf of that.

Datter, who's this young man, asettin here in the parly?

Our Christmas card, and a nice one it was, too, with . . .
I really think I shouldn't send
These verses to a fickle friend.
I know there aint no Sandy Claws,
But ogres cruel with foamy jaws.
But not to disillusion you
I'll send you greetings, quite a few:
I hope that in the coming year
You'll change that "Smile, but don't come near Me!" attitude which bothers me
So—that I'd like much more to see.
But jokes aside I really think
You're very sweet, and as I drink
The sunshine of your dazzling smile
I'd like to be with you a while
On some Deserted Island far
From noisy bus and trolley car
Where we could pet contentedly
As cattle on the lone prairie.
This nonsense is hyperbole
And at the end I cease, you see.

They got graves ready dug fer potes like you, stranger!

Newspapers have reviewed outstanding events of 1930, and astrologers have made their predictions for every day in the new year. Of course all good columnists never miss an opportunity of taking a slam at the age-old custom of predicting earthquakes and such. You probably heard Mr. Broun, and Mr. Winchell . . . well, we're gonna do a little predicting on our own hook. The list would never be complete without the Mystic Pen of the Vermont Cynic, the only college pseudo-comic of its size in the world . . . illustrated n' everything. (College Humour and Exchanges please note and don't fail to give credit—because, as we said, it's a hard winter.) Let's take January for a starter. Of course it's almost over . . . but we can try.

We can tell you that quite a few will flunk out at midyears (usinc.). Quite a few will also pass. Mr. Foote will continue to write Calvin's daily signed articles, and someone probably write Al's new series. There's nothing wrong in that . . . we were a ghost writer for a proofreader once. The Freshman Dramatic Society will start casting for "Her Sweetheart's Husband." There will be some snow, and a little wind. When exams are over everyone will settle down to the traditional loaf until finals; the east face of the chapel clock will go off on a tangent again; someone will say something about freshman rules and R. R. Yammer will write another letter to the editor; Hayes and Kearney will have a fire sale; Hoover will appoint a commission to end commissions; our best jokes will be used for filler and we will be quoted only in obscure high school monthlies; there'll be a few accidents; some one else will ask us if we are The Mystic Pen and we'll look foolish and say yes. We'll stare at that brunette till she becomes annoyed. We'll swear off women (again). The koffee korner will get a new tomato for the soup; the university store will sell cigarettes; station XLAX will do some real broadcasting . . . that's enuf of that.

But he's so different when you really know him!

The stars, a busted carburetor
A moon, a leaky radiator . . .
A country road, a grassy glade
The shock absorbers worn and frayed
Surely 'twas a perfect setting
For a stint of Torrid Petting. . .
But she was a mechanic's daughter and she knew when to put on the brakes

His verse is so different, my dear,
I MEAN it's so eTHEErial!

Well, well, son. Glad to hear you're doing so well at college. Come around and see us again some time; we're always glad to see our graduates. And would you mind not hanging around the building and disturbing the classes?

Dear old Horace . . . never fails us when we lack space . . . just look what we did to his odes ... the archaic manner):

Oh maid, what time you ... mine alone
No other favored youth ... knew
And I in greater bliss than ... King
Spoke, heard and thought ... but you . . .
Ah maid, what time the ... dreams
Was me, (and Chloe not ... love.
As now) I was the foremost ... seems—
My glory in your passion ... was above.
But now the Thracian Chloe ... my couch,
A mistress of soft words ... lyre
Quite fearlessly I'd die ... stead
If fates will spare her ... Hades' mire.

Throw the kid a Pretzel!

In the narrative style

Homecoming

He:
For two long months I have ... your Face;
And now I have to chase around ... place
To catch a sight of you...what can be wrong...?
Your Smile is just as gay—you sing a Song—
You're dated up..
She:
You bet, big boy, you know I'm not
The type that mopes around. I'm sorta hot
And have to have my fun. Now don't you think
I'd stay at home while you were gone ...I'd wink
At any man that passed. I can't stay home,
The Rumple Seats are calling, I must roam.
So don't you cry sweetheart, perhaps by May I'll have a date for you. But who can say?

EDUCATION CLUB HEARS WALLACE AT MEETING

Kappa Phi Kappa ... Tuesday night. James ... of the Department of ... fessor Wallace of the ... partment was the speaker.

Meetings of Kappa Phi ... senior educational ... are held every two weeks ... ers and refreshments ...

Bits of Bunk

Little Oswald (in the presence of the family circle, plus a few additions): No! I don't wanna kiss Miss Jones—she slapped Daddy for doing it! —Washington Dirge.

'Say, is your dog clever?'
"Clever! I should say so. When I say, 'Are you coming or aren't you,' he comes or he doesn't." —Wit.

Freshman Ronnoco gives us the interesting information that if all the sandwiches sold by the koffee korner were laid end to end they would either be eaten or become stale before they could be measured.

Vers Libre
Futility...
Like a cold sear wind from a pitch black sky;
Like a murky fog-grey dawn
Clutches with icy tentacles
Sucks your soul...

A. B. C.
Well, there are pessimists in this college. But we always did agree with Mr. Hoffenstien, tha: "the worm may turn, but you'll lie still."

In addition to our own humble portrait, which disgraces this page, we promise you for next week a fully illustrated text. Don't miss it, the printer probably will.

Try Our
JANE ELIZABETH CANDIES
for the week-end
70c A POUND
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

FOR YOUR DANCE
Crepe Paper Decorations
Noisemakers
Favors and Novelties
McAULIFFE'S
College & Church Sts. Phone 629

SPORTING NEWS

HOCKEY TEAM POINTS TOWARD OPENING GAME OF SEASON TOMORROW

Initial Contest with Colgate Has Been Postponed but Catamounts Plan to Start Against Hamilton

VERMONT EXPECTS TO HAVE STRONG SEXTET

[illegible] opening of college after [illegible] vacation Coach Hy [illegible] has been giving his hockey [illegible] of hard work in preparation for the New York trip which is [illegible] to open the season tomorrow with Hamilton as the first opponent. Much to the disappointment of players the initial match of the season with Colgate has been called off [illegible] poor ice conditions.

The hopes of a successful season have been considerably dimmed with the announcement that "Bob" Hen[illegible], a veteran of three years and [illegible] the best goalie in the state, will not be able to play at least until [illegible] midyear exams. To fill his place, [illegible] Abraham has been trying "Bob" [illegible] and Boyd Schurmann in the nets. Both of these candidates show [illegible] promise but lack experience.

The rest of the positions seem to [illegible] fairly well taken care of with Cap[illegible] "Frenchy" Mercier, "Jim" Mar[illegible] "Jimmy" Wood and Larry Palmer [illegible] available for the wing positions, Frank [illegible] Vezina at center and Leo Segal, [illegible] Collins and "Dick" Swain as [illegible].

Coach Abraham has not as yet announced the list of the players making the trip but it is expected that all [illegible] veterans in addition to two or [illegible] new men will be taken.

EVANS ELUCIDATES ON FASCIST GOVERNMENT

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible]al men's syndicate. The pres[illegible]t beggars, for which Italy had [illegible]otorious is also gone.

The Other Side

"There is also another side to this [illegible]ture," stated Professor Evans. "Italian liberty does not exist, the [illegible] has no freedom, and opposition [illegible]thlessly dealt with. The heavy [illegible] of Fascism is now extended even [illegible] the universities, and many intellectual leaders have been driven out [illegible] Italy.

He explained that the Renaissance, [illegible] the politicians promised, can [illegible]come with the suppression of individual expression.

As regards Mussolini's foreign [illegible], Professor Evans showed that [illegible] is keenly disappointed with her [illegible] of the spoils in the last war. [illegible] and question is a special cause [illegible] ill feeling. Italy says she needs [illegible] because of her excess popu[illegible] as a source of raw materials, [illegible] as an outlet for her manufactured goods. Italy, when she entered the war was promised German colonies in compensation.

Britain gave inadequate compensation and France donated a few sand[illegible]. These new Italians have a [illegible] feeling of nationalistic pride, [illegible] they actually feel superior to the [illegible] European peoples. Mussolini [illegible] stated that the attention of [illegible] is to be turned to the east. Jugo[illegible]a and Rumania, as a result, are [illegible]. Mussolini is also build[illegible] a bloc of friendly states in [illegible] Europe, and has assumed an [illegible] foreign policy. One really [illegible] whether or not it will [illegible].

Italy at present is in dire need of [illegible]. Mussolini has attempted to [illegible] abroad, but it has not been [illegible] as the bankers are afraid [illegible] the money for war pur[illegible]. Mussolini is now experiencing [illegible] difficulty in smoothing [illegible] suspicions.

New Books on Shelf

[illegible]rmain, the club presi[illegible] announced that the Carnegie [illegible] has recently made avail[illegible] the following books of interna[illegible] to the students of Ver[illegible] by Andre Siegfried.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
[illegible] get the most of [illegible] for the least—of [illegible] and music.

EX-COLLEGE STARS ON BURLINGTON TOWN TEAM

Tomorrow night should usher in one of the best contests to be fought on a local court when the Burlington town team meets the Detroit Clowns in the State Armory at 8 p.m. The Burlington team is composed of ex-college stars including "Tim" Halligan, "Dink" Bernstein and Seelye Estabrook, all sensational cavorters for Vermont, together with Humeston, former Middlebury captain and long-range center, with a St. Mike tinge to provide local color, in Owen Murphy, ex-B. C. star and now basketball mentor at the Winooski institution. From all indications fans should witness a close contest and with the added incentive of seeing old favorites in action, a record-breaking attendance is in the offing.

GLEE CLUB AN ACTIVE POPULAR ORGANIZATION

Will Make Trip This Spring to Hartford, Connecticut for the Annual Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest

A limited number of places in the Men's Glee Club are still open to undergraduates interested in singing and private tryouts may be arranged in the near future. Students interested in the Glee Club should not be afraid to try out as a trained voice is not a requisite for membership. Rehearsals are held twice a week at seven o'clock on Wednesday evening and at eight o'clock on Friday evening at the Music House on South Prospect Street.

The Men's Glee Club plays an important part in campus activities and has become, under Professor Bennett's careful guidance, one of the most popular and most active student organizations. In the past three years the Glee Club has participated in intercollegiate singing contests in Boston and Springfield, Mass., as well as in various programs in or near Burlington. This year one trip has already been taken and the club will go to Hartford, Conn., for three days to take part in the Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest there on February 27. In order to take this trip attendance at fifteen rehearsals before February 27, knowledge of the music to be sung, and participation in the local concert on January 15, are required. After the Hartford contest the club will probably make two more trips this spring. In addition to these concerts the Glee Club in cooperation with the Women's Glee Club each year presents an opera. Last year Gluck's "Orpheus" and Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury" were given at the Strong Theatre. The local concert will be held in the University Gymnasium on January 15.

OWLS TO HOLD ANNUAL DINNER-DANCE TONIGHT

Tonight Lambda Iota, better known as "The Owls," are holding their ninety-fifth anniversary dinner-dance. Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32, has outdone himself to make this dance, always outstanding on the hill, one of the most original and noteworthy functions of the year.

Last year the decorations featured heavy black and gold drapery, with unique lighting effects. The tables were arranged in booths, cabaret style. It is certain that this year will more than repeat last year's great success.

Once there was a professor who flunked a poor little freshman for laughing when he told a joke.

"The Nationalist Program for China" by Cha-Chu Wu; "The Treaty Veto of the American Senate" by D. F. Fleming; "The Ordeal of This Generation" by Gilbert Murray; "Uniting Europe" by William Rappard; "Africa and Some World Problems" by General Smuts; "The International Mandates" by Aaron M. Margalitt. These books will be found at the Billings Library.

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.
Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.
Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies.
Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED FOR INTERFRATERNITY WINTER SPORTS MEET

Schedule This Year is Separated in Two Parts with Midyears the Dividing Line

ELEVEN EVENTS MAKE UP EXTENSIVE PROGRAM

In its every attempt to provide exercise for all the physical education department has prepared a winter sports program of outstanding proportions. Interfraternity competition which has been conducive to a healthy state of rivalry, has been again secured as the channel through which Howard Prentice, "Archie" Post and "Bump" Levine will operate.

This year the schedule for the Interfraternity Winter Sports Meet has been divided into two parts. The first half begins next Tuesday afternoon and will be completed next week while the second half follows immediately after mid-years.

The schedule is as follows:

First Half

Tuesday, January 13—4.00 p.m.
220-yard ski dash
4 men ski relay

Thursday, January 15—4.00 p.m.
220-yard snowshoe dash
4 man snowshoe relay

Friday, January 16—7.30 p.m.
220-yard skating
One half mile skating

Second Half

Monday, February 2—4.00 p.m.
Cross-country ski

Tuesday, February 3—7.00 p.m.
One mile skate
One-fourth mile skate

Wednesday, February 4—4.00 p.m.
Cross-country snowshoe

Thursday, February 5—4.00 p.m.
Ski proficiency

Thursday, February 5—7.00 p.m.
One-half mile—4-man relay—skate

Point Distribution

	1st	2nd	3rd	4th
Skating 1 mile	5	3	2	1
Skating 880 yards ..	5	3	2	1
Skating 440 yards	5	3	2	1
Skating 220 yards ..	3	2	1
Skating 4-man relay	5	3	2	1
Snowshoe-cross country	5	3	2	1
Snowshoe dash 220-yds	3	2	1
Snowshoe 4-man relay	3	2	1
Ski dash 220 yds	3	2	1
Ski 4-man relay	3	2	1
Ski proficiency	5	3	2	1

Total points—116

Rules

1 There are 102 points for the events and 14 additional points to the fraternity having the best balanced teams—scoring 8, 5, 1.

2 Only one team per relay from each fraternity.

3 The ski proficiency will be run against time. The first seven will run in a second heat and the scoring will be for the best average times.

Rehearsals of the Women's Glee Club have been postponed until after midyears.

Important meeting of all sophomores scrubbing, or wishing to scrub, the business side of the 1932 Ariel with Sam Barker, at the Sigma Nu Lodge, 7 o'clock sharp, Thursday, January 15. Come or send a substitute.

The Ideal Hotel for You In BOSTON
Is the NEW Hotel MANGER
At North Station
Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden
500 ROOMS
Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower ♥ Built-in-Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) ♥ Servidor Circulating Ice Water.
New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel
Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service
RATES—ROOM AND BATH
FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00
FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00
No Higher Rates

Vermont Basketball Team In Initial Trip of Season

Catamounts to Tackle New Hampshire State Tonight in First Contest of Two-Game Invasion—Have Broken Even in Four Starts This Year—Expect to Use Regular Line-up

TO RESUME INTERCLASS BASKETBALL TOURNEY

Will Play Second Half of Interclass League Before Midyears With January 15 Game

Just prior to the Christmas vacation the first half of the interclass basketball tournament was completed with three teams tied for the lead in the race. The senior, junior and sophomore teams are now in close competition for the coveted first place. Each quintet has won two games and has lost one. The yearling team has been rather unsuccessful and has lost all three games.

Tonight at 6.45 p.m. the second half of the class tournament will be started with the seniors contesting the juniors. This game will be followed by another at 8 o'clock when the sophomores tackle the freshmen.

Tomorrow afternoon there will be two more contests. The first will be run at 2 o'clock between the senior five and the sophs. Following this battle the classes of 1932 and 1934 will clash. The tournament will be completed next Thursday when the winner will be declared.

The following is the schedule of the second half:

Jan.	9	6.45 p.m.	1931	vs. 1932
Jan.	9	8.00 p.m.	1933	vs. 1934
Jan.	10	2.00 p.m.	1931	vs. 1933
Jan.	10	3.00 p.m.	1932	vs. 1934
Jan.	15	6.45 p.m.	1931	vs. 1934
Jan.	15	8.00 p.m.	1932	vs. 1933

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Christmas reunions for members so situated that they could come were held at the Pan Hellenic House in New York and also at the Statler Hotel in Boston.

Caroline Whitney entertained the active chapter at a dance at her home in Essex Saturday evening, January 3.

PI BETA PHI

Pi Beta Phi announces the initiation of Janice Stannard '32 on December 17.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

A daughter was born to Mrs. W. J. Clark who will be remembered as Carolyn Strong '25.

Mary Davis '28, Marion Baldwin '29, and Fern Westover '27 were in town for the week-end.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Eva Harris, '30, Frances Hawley '28, Helen Prentice, '28, and Dorothy Kimball of the University of Colorado, '30 were in town for the week-end.

A tea for the alumni was held at the rooms Wednesday, January 7.

My girl still thinks that an alumnus is what kitchen utensils are made of.

HARVARD IS OPPONENT IN TOMORROW'S FRAY

For the first time this season the University of Vermont basketball team will make a trip out of the state when the Green and Gold quintet tackles New Hampshire State at Durham tonight and Harvard at Cambridge tomorrow night. Both of these opponents are expected to put up strong opposition and the Catamounts may make plans for two hard battles on their hands this week-end.

Fans have been growing more optimistic toward the team as the season has progressed because of the improvement shown with each game. Starting with little material at the beginning of the year Coach Prentice appears to have hit upon the right combination and is developing a smooth working quintet. Teamwork instead of individualism has been the point stressed and results have been forthcoming.

Record 50 50 So Far

Four games have been played this season and the records show an even break. Clarkson and McGill were defeated while the Sun Life Insurance Company of Canada and Dartmouth were victors over the Green and Gold. All these games were played on the home floor and were close battles. As a result of the good showing put up against Dartmouth in the last game just prior to the Christmas vacation prospects for the future contests are brighter.

It is expected that Coach Prentice will include in his starting line-up Tupper and Durfey, forwards, Captain Sargent, center, and Taft and Tobin, guards. This combination has worked very well together and appears to be about the best that can be offered. The reserve material has not been very abundant and was weakened by the resignation of "Skip" Bedell.

Next week there will be two more games before the midyear examinations. St. Michael's will appear on the local floor Tuesday night to open the battle for the State Championship, which was won last year by the Winooski team. Next Thursday the Catamounts will be in Hanover, N. H., to play the return game with Dartmouth.

University of Colorado—Freshmen not wearing green caps, smoking on the campus and walking on the grass were given green tickets by the sophomores to appear before a mock court, conducted by the law school. 150 convicted frosh were marched to a lake in the campus and tossed off the bridge into the icy water by members of the "club."

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

All Wool Fancy Hose 85c
3 PAIRS $2.50
TURK'S
Burlington Vt.

Reporter Studies Portraits on the Walls of English Department Rooms

[illegible] English who frequent these rooms [illegible]

Canterbury Cathedral

[illegible] Oxford. Next to this is a picture of Canterbury Cathedral a [illegible] It is a stupendous [illegible] a good example of a gothic English church

As we enter room two a picture on the opposite wall immediately catches our eye. It is Westminster Abbey in London, where the coronations and funerals of the royal family have taken place for five hundred years, since the time of Chaucer. We get a very good idea of the outside of this building which contains the dust of more famous men than any other shrine in the world.

On the right we see Abbotsford, Sir Walter Scott's home on the River Tweed in Scotland. It was here that many of the Waverley novels were written. At one side we see a picture of Sir Walter himself taken when he was an old man.

At our left we have Dove Cottage, the home of Wordsworth. On one side is a portrait of Wordsworth and on the other Coleridge, because these [illegible] Nearby there is a sketch of the tiny [illegible] here that Shakespeare was buried.

Old London

In Room 1 we find a [illegible] showing old map of London when there were houses on London Bridge. It gives us a good idea of how London looked before the fire.

[illegible] used many [illegible] Canterbury [illegible] Miller, the Host, the [illegible] Keats. The portrait of Keats, painted by [illegible] over London is especially famous.

These portraits conclude the display of [illegible] pictures. The many [illegible] were presented to the University by Professor Tupper and a great deal of gratitude is due him for the effort and the artistic appreciation he has exercised in making the collection.

"RENDEZVOUS WITH LIFE" REV. J. G. BROWN'S TOPIC

Services were conducted Wednesday morning in the Ira Allen Chapel by the Rev. J. Graydon Brown, pastor of the Congregational Church in Rutland. Although he has only been in Vermont for six years the Reverend Brown has played an important part in the Christian service work. Upon his arrival in Vermont, he became the pastor at St. Albans.

He opened his sermon by quoting the well-known war poem, "I Have a Rendezvous With Death," followed by the theme of his message to the students, "We Have a Rendezvous With Life." Outlining and portraying the scene of Pontius Pilate and Jesus, he went on to show how each held to his own ideal; Pilate, living for splendor, glory and triumph, obeying the decrees of the mob, and Jesus secure in his own beliefs.

All of us are here endowed with hope and promise. We travel through life in our own way yet we all have sooner or later that "Rendezvous With Life."

FAINT STRAINS OF KAKE WALK MELODY NOTICED

(Continued from page 1)

This year the Kake Walk directors, committees and all those interested are going to make [illegible] to make Kake Walk just a little bigger than in previous years. The directors F. Stanley Smith, '31, and Roderick Maynes, '31, are doing everything in their power to put Kake Walk across, and it looks like it's going across even at this early date.

The directors are now working on the matter of judges and cups which will be settled soon. But lest the students forget let him recall to mind that the strains of "Canton Babes" and Kake Walk will be around the corner, at least so says the old grad.

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR

SHAMPOO	.50
MARCEL	.50
FINGERWAVE	.35
43 Church St.	Phone 538

PROMINENT SENIORS ARE NOMINEES TO HIGH POST

(continued from page 1)

[illegible] he is a member of [illegible] Robert M. Huey, Sigma [illegible] Brattleboro, R. I. He [illegible] Pi Beta Phi. She was vice-president of the [illegible] Women's Affairs. At present she is the head of Student Union.

The Poem

The class poem is entrusted to the [illegible] Alpha Xi Delta is [illegible] Club.

[illegible] Day speakers. John A. Bradish of this city, is a Delta Psi. [illegible] he delivered his class [illegible] address.

The committee is to be commended for the [illegible] containing so many outstanding seniors. The final [illegible] with the class at their election meeting next week.

University of Washington. Every [illegible] a new $6,000 course in aviation absolutely free. The course will be given in the evening and thus will not interfere with class schedules.

Forum

"Italian demand for naval parity with France is due to a sharp increase in the Italian merchant marine, a growing Italian foreign trade, and to expanding Italian interests in the Mediterranean," declared Prof. P. D. Evans in a talk given before the Faculty Club at a recent meeting in which he explained the causes for two of Europe's existing sore spots.

Franco-Italian relations, the serious difficulties between Poland and Germany, and a few attempts to devote possible cures, were the topics with which Professor Evans concerned himself during the evening.

In discussing the first of the above mentioned international complications the Professor said that he would cover just enough of the situation after the war to see why Italy was disgruntled.

"In the first place," explained Professor Evans, "Italy was dissatisfied by the peace treaties of 1919 because she received no part of German colonies that were divided among the victorious allies."

Great Britain the Heavy Winner

He further explained that Great Britain got the lion's share of the spoils with France coming a close second. Then again, in apportioning the Turkish booty, Britain received Iraq and Palestine as mandates, while Italy was given extensive territory in Asia Minor together with some rocky islands off the coast. The Turks however, quickly regained their power and recaptured the land in Asia Minor before Italy even obtained a foothold. Thus Italy was left with only these barren islands to show for her troubles.

"Italy needs colonies," said Professor Evans when he pointed out why all these happenings angered the peninsula's officials, "because of certain prevailing internal conditions. Over population of the kingdom, he continued, "is one urgent cause for the need of foreign territory."

The Professor showed where Italy has a present population of forty-two millions of people and that its population was increasing at a rate of 400,000 each year.

A second reason why Italy needs new lands was shown to be her sorry lack of raw materials. Italy has no coal supplies, very small iron deposits, and none of the other important, fundamental metals, and while water power has been developed to a great extent in recent years she still has to import coal and the heavy metals to keep the wheels of her industries turning.

A third reason is the fact that enough food stuffs cannot be produced at home.

Italy, it was learned, has a few colonies in Northern Africa, but which consist mainly in dry sand banks, too poor to sustain vegetation.

Italy Dislikes France

"France is the particular object of Italian dislike," declared Professor Evans, "because Italy covets the French colonial possessions in Northern Africa, especially Tunis, Algiers and Morrocco which are rich in metals and phosphates, and are susceptible to considerable agricultural development."

It was explained that Britain and France, under the 1915 Treaty of London, promised to give compensation to Italy in case they obtained any German colonies. Britain has subsequently transferred Jubaland to Italy. Italy, on the other hand, wants Djoubuti and an extension of Tibza to Lake Chad from the French. So far France has not given her Djoubuti, and has conceded but little of the other. The Italians, of course, consider the compensation inadequate.

Another source of difficulty is the status given the Italians in Tunis, where there are more Italians than Frenchmen. Less than two per cent of them have been naturalized, producing an alien element that France is afraid of. France threatens forced naturalization. Italy protests this, and also demands the same special privileges that are accorded Frenchmen. The French, however, say that Italian demands are tantamount to joint control, and refuse to listen.

In regard to naval parity the Italians say they need a larger fleet because in time of war they depend more upon the outside world than France as they are less self-contained.

The Italian national pride has been hurt because in these dealings they feel that they have been treated as inferiors.

Poland Became a Nation

"Poland received national existence as a result of the 1919 treaties," stated Professor Evans in introducing the difficulties that are now prevalent between Poland and Germany.

Wilson declared for it and the allies were glad to create it, as they desired a strong state to balance against Germany on the east, as well as a buffer state against communist Russia.

In determining Poland's frontiers the treaty makers encountered vast difficulty. They finally laid the lines in the north, the south, and the west, and left the eastern boundary to be decided later. As a result of this, Poland, by military aggression, tried to get as much as possible.

Professor Evans explained how Poland first occupied East Galicia and annexed it, whereas it was supposed only to have a twenty-five year mandate over it. By this act Poland got some rich oil lands and also a large alien element of Ruthenians. Poland next started a war with Russia, and with the aid of France pushed her eastern frontier beyond the limits set by the allies. Its third move was to occupy much of Lithuania, and seize the capital which it still possesses. Thus Poland made two bitter enemies on the east.

The western frontier, as Professor Evans pointed out, presents even more serious situations, the first of which surrounds the so-called Polish corridor, and the second the upper Silician difficulties.

ARTHUR W. DUPAW and his ORCHESTRA

"The Sun Dodgers"

For rates and reservations
Please Call
Telephone 2232-W
Address 133 North Street

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
68 N. Willard St. Tel. 2080

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION

A meeting of the editorial, news and sports boards of the Cynic has been called for Wednesday, January 14, 1931, at 5 p.m., in the room adjoining the Cynic office, for the transaction of the following business:

1. To consider proposed by-laws.

2. To elect an editor-in-chief, a managing editor and an associate sports editor.

3. To receive the announcement of appointments to news editorships, assistant sports editorships and such other editorships as the board may provide for.

4. To consider such other business as may be proposed to the board.

The editors-elect will take office immediately.

Cards have been mailed to all who have the right to vote at this meeting.

L. Lisman, Editor.

In accordance with a resolution adopted at the November meeting, the Cynic hereby publishes the names of the assistant editors elected during the past semester:

On the editorial-news side—W. W. Brislin, S. C. Carter, W. A. Cohen, S. W. Fishman, M. T. Greenberg, I. Lisman, R. E. McCuin, R. W. Michelman, R. R. Murray, R. Weissman, H. B. Wolinsky.

In the sports side—N. H. Kaplan, M. Kramer, C. J. Libby, H. J. Selib.

GOLD KEY NOW AWAITS REPORT OF COMMITTEE

William Cronin, [illegible] the sophomore society, [illegible] known in a recent [illegible] society is awaiting [illegible] the investigation to [illegible] committee recently [illegible] Faculty Student Council [illegible] any active measures [illegible] ment of freshman [illegible]

Activities of this [illegible] been practically at a [illegible] the Boulder vote in the [illegible]

The above mentioned [illegible] pointed by the Faculty [illegible] all to investigate under [illegible] at other Eastern colleges [illegible] its work shortly after [illegible] Included in the survey [illegible] Bates, Dartmouth, New [illegible] State, Middlebury, M[illegible] Williams, and M. I. T.

The "Lane" to the Sea

Although the corridor [illegible] large number of Germans [illegible] to have it for an outlet [illegible] insurance of her [illegible] ence. East Prussia, however, [illegible] off from the rest of Germany, wounding the German nation [illegible] and East Prussia itself. [illegible] separation from the motherland has since suffered considerable economic depression.

The corridor itself has [illegible] trouble because the Poles [illegible] driving away German settlers [illegible] propriating German lands. [illegible] have reduced the German element about seventy-five per cent in the ten years. Germany has protested against this treatment of the minority. Poland, though, is entrenching herself in the corridor by building a port at Gdynia, and connecting it by direct railroad to the industrial regions of upper Silicia.

At this juncture Professor Evans brought up the important question of Upper Silicia. The Poles, as he explained, hadn't possessed this territory for over 600 years, yet they claimed it in 1919. Germany contested this claim, saying that [illegible] the losses of the Darr coal basin, the Lorraine iron mines, Upper Silicia was essential to her if she were to pay reparations. The peace makers decided on a plebescite, which ultimately resulted in Germany's favor. It was finally decided, however, to give Poland the communes which voted a majority for Poland. Thus Germany got the larger part of the lands, but Poland got the lion's share of the zinc and iron mines, and some of the blast furnaces and rolling mills.

Thus Germany has been angered and this ill feeling has been kept at white heat largely because of the Polish discriminations against Germans in this region for the last few years.

As regards possible cures, Professor Evans said that Italy and France should establish friendly relations, only France will make a few small concessions, and show a more favorable tone.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the

U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor

All Work Guaranteed

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

STOP LOOK LISTEN

RINGS, PINS and COMPACTS

marked from

$.98 to $5.00

A 20% Reduction on

BANNERS, PILLOWS and PENNANTS

Just the things you have been wishing to own.

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1931 — NUMBER 29

GLEE CLUB PROGRAM TO FEATURE FLEMISH SONG TRANSLATED BY EVANS

Sailor Chanteys, Traditional Songs From Many Countries, in This Concert

INSTRUMENTAL NUMBERS WILL ALSO BE ON BILL

[illegible] of the concert by the [illegible] of the University of [illegible] given in the University [illegible] Thursday, January 15 at [illegible] as follows

[illegible] fac patriam nostram Gounod
Negro Spiritual
[illegible]s from "Faust" Gounod
The Glee Club
Godard
F. W. Jenks, 'cellist
The Flemish Lion (translated from the Flemish by Professor Evans) Flemish
[illegible] first I saw your face Ford (17th century)
Brahms
The Glee Club
Ballet in D Minor, from "Orpheus" Gluck
Minuet from L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2 Bizet
R. S. Jenks, flutist
Three Sailor Chanteys arr. Bartholomew
Eight Bells
Away to Rio
Old Man Noah
The Glee Club Double Quartet
Introduction to Act III of "Carmen" Bizet
Norwegian Dance Grieg
R. S. Jenks, flutist,
F. W. Householder, clarinetist
D. W. Jenks, 'cellist
H. G. Bennett, pianist
The Three Doves Italian
Andalucia Spanish
What shall we do with a drunken sailor? Sailor Chantey
Champlain Putnam

The concert is free and open to the public

Special attention is called to "The Flemish Lion," a historical Flemish song which Prof. P. D. Evans, the new head of the history department here, heard this summer when abroad. He brought it back with him and has translated it for the Glee Club.

FIVE MEN'S SOCIETIES HOLD MIDYEAR DANCES

Five fraternities are holding or have held dances this month. Three of these are before mid-years; the other fraternities are to give theirs directly after mid-years. Kappa Sigma held a formal dance at its house last Saturday night. The Melody Boys of Port Henry furnished the music. Alpha Tau Omega will hold a Victrola dance next Saturday night. Sigma Phi and Phi Sigma Delta will have their dances directly after mid-years.

Lambda Iota held its 95th anniversary dinner dance at the Owl House on Friday evening. Freddie Lynch's orchestra furnished the music for the dance. J. J. Fitzgerald, '32, manager of the house, arranged a unique system of indirect colored wall lights which illuminated the house in a novel way. Professor and Mrs. Carleton and Professor and Mrs. Braun were the chaperons.

R. O. T. C. BAND PRESENTS PROGRAM OVER WCAX

The R. O. T. C. band, conducted by [illegible] Lechnyr, gave a concert last [illegible] which was broadcast [illegible] WCAX. The program began at [illegible] o'clock.

The selections played follow:
[illegible] Victorious" [illegible] The Pilgrim" Lake
[illegible] "Festival" Lassan
[illegible] Chicago Police Band" Mader
[illegible]derry Air Old Irish Melody
[illegible]istic March—"The Old [illegible]" Shilkret
[illegible] "The 8th U. S. Field [illegible]" Frank [illegible]ain"

[illegible] dancing were given last [illegible] will be completed this week.

Review of "The Winnowings"

BY MR. RAYMOND A. HALL

The reader of the second number of Winnowings will find a certain variety in the offerings which will reward him for spending an hour upon it. In the stories he will find the folk-lore sort of thing treated in "The Sea Serpent"; contrary to its name he will find "The Game" dealing with a story of the theatre; in "Dexter's Castle" he will discover an episode from the life of Newburyport in its prime; and his first guess will be that "S. O. S." stands for a rescue at sea.

The first article is a sketch called "Roses in December" built around an epitaph in a rural cemetery. The author imagines the sort of life led by the humble folk whose names the stone records and in doing so draws a rather effective portrait of the American peasant. From this picture we are led to look upon another whose life might fit the epitaph—a much less effective figure—a Civil War veteran to whom Lincoln spoke. This elegy in prose by Miss Ranslow has [illegible] The [illegible] Miss Reeves starts "The Sea Serpent" has in the first setting the feeling for the personages within natural limits which [illegible] and [illegible] In the last "Winnowings" The narrative proper [illegible] to a father in [illegible] reading.

In "The Game" Miss Martin plays an old fisherman situation for all it's worth [illegible] an old fisherman situation for all it's worth [illegible] across carrying on with a breaking heart. The tragic moment however is presented graphically and the story is told briefly so that the total effect is toward reality with the possible exception of the last sentence.

The creation of the atmosphere of

(Continued on page 4)

H. BARKER ADDRESSES FRESHMAN ENGINEERS

Discusses Field Open to Engineers Upon Graduation From University

[illegible] Barker [illegible] an interesting [illegible] to the Freshman engineering [illegible] of Wednesday morning. After giving a brief account of the civil engineering [illegible] graduates [illegible] Civil engineering [illegible] the [illegible] engineering [illegible] of civil engineering [illegible] Mr. Barker [illegible] Dean Hazen [illegible] Those [illegible] six main heads [illegible] design, field work and [illegible] railway engineering and [illegible] dealing [illegible] and [illegible] engineering [illegible] and [illegible] engineering [illegible] and [illegible] engineering

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

EDWIN TINMAN, '32
Editor-in-Chief

Willis S. Smith, '32
Women's Editor

STUART S. GUERIN, '32
Business Manager

Leonard M. Foster, '32
Sports Editor

News Editors
Allen O. Eaton, '32 — Irene W. Hemenway, '32

Department Editors
R. J. Fitzgerald, '32

Feature Editor
Edmund A. Germain, '32

W. G. Macdonald, '32
H. J. Shaw, '32
J. C. Shaw, '32

S. M. Spiller, '32
T. L. Taylor, '32

Assistant Sports Editors
F. Tupper, '32

Assistant Editors
G. M. Freiberg, '32

Women's Associate Editor — Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Rosetta Harkness, '32
Margaret Ann Martin, '32
Margaret Mower, '32
Hope Rowlow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
P. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Entered in 1881. Published semi-weekly during the college year.
All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 2691 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 69 — January 12, 1931 — No. 29

FACULTY COLUMN

In addition to some technical preparation for a career college offers to every student one master opportunity, the chance to live an experimental life. What is done in college has indirectly an incalculable influence on life after graduation, but it has no direct and immediate bearing on one's livelihood and one's place in the world. The major responsibilities of life rest lightly on the shoulders of the college student because he does not yet confront them face to face. This is the reason for that care-free attitude of mind which is the typical characteristic of college days and one of their greatest charms. An error of analysis in physiological chemistry, for example, in one's profession may cost a human life and one's own reputation, in college it means at most a failure in the course. It is, as we say, a purely academic question." Hence academic life is a laboratory where, at slight cost and risk, can be established certain fundamental principles on which largely depend one's later success and enjoyment of life. These principles are all ideas, basic conceptions which have most to do with shaping the practices and policies of the college-bred person, and determining his general outlook on life. A graduate who has, even unconsciously, accepted the best principles that are worked out in the academic "laboratory of life" has not been to college in vain. If, in addition, he has acquired the willingness and the ability to work out these principles for himself if he has learned to be at home in the presence of ideas, so that he enjoys their society and is on familiar terms with them, he has made his own the best that college can offer.

Most students adopt, even if they do not work out for themselves, many of the principles that are evolved from the academic life. Take, for example, the principle of loyalty. In the work-a-day world this sometimes conflicts with expediency, in college it does so far less. The proof is the universally admitted value of college because of the friendships formed there for friendship is the school of loyalty. From this school it spreads over a wide field of action. College spirit, with all its artificially cultivated eccentricities, is only loyalty to a group of those who are at least on the pretense of friendship. Above all is loyalty to the college itself. The college, being a human institution, is imperfect and often bungles its job but in spite of its blundering at times it is always the friend of the student and desires nothing so much as to help him in every way that it can. The student's recognition of this desire, no matter how poorly the desire has been realized in a particular case, is a grateful affection which is the largest asset in the endowment of a college, for the loyal graduate is always ready to give material and moral aid to the institution that he loves. The spirit of loyalty which most students develop in college is felt in a wide range of activities and relations of life after graduation. It has done much to give the world at large its confidence in the general reliability of the college-bred man and woman.

Not so many students, unfortunately take full advantage of the still greater opportunity in college to store the mind with ideas and to become familiar with their use. In the world outside of college it is usually, as Grover Cleveland remarked on a famous occasion, "a condition, not a theory, that confronts us." But college offers both the time and the atmosphere for evolving and testing theories, for getting acquainted with great ideas, and for accepting or rejecting these after weighing and comparing them with other ideas. Too many students measure their education by the intake of opinions offered by their instructors, forgetting that these opinions, no matter how wise, are really less valuable than ideas suggested by them. Even a great idea cannot be of use until it is metabolized by the aid of one's own mental processes. Besides, a new idea of one's own is an earnest of capacity for original thinking, with all its possibilities. A pathetic, but typical, example of the failure to take advantage of what college has to offer in the development of mental power, was the remark of a recent graduate in conversation when some point of psychology came up: "Oh, we had that in Psy 1, but I forget what he said about it"—not, be it remarked, "what I thought about it." This remark implied that the value of an idea was measured by what it would bring in the college legal tender of a grade for the course. It ignored two higher and more permanent values.

No argument is needed to prove that a civilization in which there is an approach to equilibrium between the value of material achievements and the value of ideas has the best chance of permanency. The urge towards the material is a recognized characteristic of the present age. Where can we look for the needed counterpoise of interest in ideas if not among the college-bred? Hence the cultivation in college of a friendship with ideas is valuable as a safeguard of our civilization. And it has also a more personal value. Many an old grad cherishes the memory of an evening in some classmate's room with three or four friends when, after the usual banter and the witty and final judgments passed upon the faculty and the world in general, some idea entered the circle, and the conversation, taking a serious turn, went on into the wee sma' hours. For, as friendship is the flowering of college life, so comradeship cemented by the mutual intimacy with ideas is one of the finest flowers of friendship. And there are no truer or more permanent friends than ideas themselves.

S. E. Hansett.

Northwestern University.—Certain co-eds are wishing they had not accepted dances with Purple football warriors quite so willingly. After Hank Bruder, brilliant halfback, was taken ill with smallpox, all members of the team and women with whom they had danced at a recent party were compelled to be vaccinated.

Grinnell College newspaper, the Scarlet and Black, has become a member of the National Scholastic Press Association. It is the first time the paper has been enrolled in a national scholastic organization.

Intercollegiate News

Seats for the Harvard-Dartmouth game last Saturday were oversubscribed two weeks in advance. It was Boston's big game of the year and oddly enough everybody got wet.

Regarding the $83,000,000 belonging to John Harvard it is worthwhile to note a recent salary increase in that celebrated institution which reads as follows:

Professorships, $8,000 to $12,000
Associate professorships, $6,000 to $7,000
Assistant professorships, $4,000 to $5,500
Instructorships only $3,000.

There is too much dignity in the world. There is too great a tendency of young people to think themselves what they are not," said Coach Thompson of Bates College in a recent talk to the students.

The most densely populated body of land in the world is Java with a population of 690 persons per square mile.

Each year 25 percent of the freshman class at Harvard enjoy the first year to such an extent that they repeat it.

Beneath a picture of Rudy Vallée in the Harvard Lampoon was the inscription, "Are all Yale men like that?"

Two freshmen at Washington State College are selling sticks of gum with each of which goes a chance to win an old Ford which they possess.

University of Nebraska gridmen have adopted the no-captain plan for their 1930 team. All athletic teams of the University will function without captains starting September 1, 1930.

Janitors at California are kicking because students slide down banisters instead of using the stairs.

Four-wheel brakes have improved traffic conditions so much that a pedestrian can now be picked up before the tenth car has run over him.

The "Cracker-Barrel Philosopher" heartily approves of whittling students. Says he, "A boy can think when he whittles and he can't whittle while he runs an automobile."

The same tests in mathematics, English and physics that were given ten years ago were given to the entering freshman class at Purdue this year. The new men received much better marks than their predecessors. Evidently men entering college now are better prepared than those who entered a decade ago.

Gradual settling of the soil has made it necessary to raise the foundations in the south end of the Stanford stadium.

Seventy-one Indiana University co-eds have been granted permission to drive cars.

University of Idaho women are holding a co-ed prom. It is a costume party where no men are admitted except those lucky few in the orchestra.

Long skirts are compulsory this year on the University of Idaho campus.

According to the University of Maryland paper, a "robot" may be defined as follows: "A 'robot' in case you have missed the expression, is a human monstrosity enrolled in the college of engineering. To be a good robot, a man must have deep circles under his eyes, a perpetual worried expression, and be able to play 'Annie Laurie' on the slide rule. 'Robotism' is a religion followed by a sect of half mad robots who are able to prove conclusively that you aren't anybody at all. Further they will tell you that nothing is and everything isn't—all of which you must appear to believe implicitly. Never attempt to argue with a robot . . . ."

According to the Brown and White of Lehigh, a new dictionary is now being compiled by Prof. Sir William Craigie, who since 1901 has been joint editor of the Oxford dictionary. In contradistinction to the common English dictionary this one will be devoted to the distinctive American-English. This will be the "first historical dictionary of the American tongue" and shall be known as the "Chicago American Dictionary." Professor Craigie who is a thorough believer in the autonomy of Americanisms maintains that "American inventiveness, coupled with the strange and rich conditions which faced pioneers on the frontier, have brought forth, in three centuries of American independence, changes in languages comparable to the Elizabethan period in England."

THE MUSE CONVERSES

Along with the sailor who spends his shore leave rowing in Central Park and the mailman who goes for a walk on Sunday, don't forget the riveter who takes his Saturday afternoon off to go to a talking movie.—Dartmouth Jack O'Lantern.

He: Can't you come to our tea dance?

It: No, I have to help mother about the house.

He: What? Is she drunk again?—Lehigh Burr.

A Florida paper tells about a proprietor of a hot dog stand in Florida who sprays the bare legs of lady customers with a Flit gun when they drive up to his stand so they can eat and drink in peace while patronizing him. This is service with a squirt.

Mother: What do you want for your birthday, darling?

Modern child: I wanna have one of those "rich man's playthings" I've read so much about.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

"Humph! Your papa is a shoemaker, and you haven't got any shoes?"

"Humph, yourself. Your papa is a dentist and your little sister's got only four teeth."—Texas Longhorn.

The big question of the hour is whether a Siamese twin would have to pay double tuition at the university.—Minn. Ski-U-Mah.

Once a Scotchman didn't go to a banquet because he didn't know what the word gratis on the invitation meant. The next day he was found dead before an open dictionary.—Sewanee Mountain Goat.

He: Joe's given up the idea of being a surgeon.

She: Why is that?

He: The dear boy discovered that it involved too much inside work.—Yellow Crab.

"He says he is from New York."

"New York? Why that big four-flusher! He's from a town so small they don't even have motion pictures!"

"How do ya know?"

'I talked with him for half an hour, and he didn't say, 'Yeah?' once."—Okla. Aggievator.

Mother: What is little Billy crying for?

Father: Well, he nearly swallowed my cuff-links, so I gave him a couple of cuffs.—Pathfinder.

"We don't print any such stuff as that!" said the editor loftily as he handed back the poem.

"Well, you needn't be so haughty about it!" retorted the poet. "You're not the only one who won't print it."—Sidmouth Observer.

The Wife: If only men behaved after marriage as they do during their engagement, there wouldn't be half as many divorces.

The Brute: No, but there'd be twice as many bankruptcies.—Humorist.

Professor (in a rage): That man is the biggest fool in the world.

Wife (consolingly): George, George, you are forgetting yourself.

Q.—What are you doing?

A.—Telephoning my brother to see what stocks I can get for a quarter.—Sun.

Laugh of the year: Those signs on passenger buses reading, "Blow Your Horn and This Bus Will Move Over."—Sun.

The subway gives you transit fast
And strives to please its fares,
But if you do not like it you
Can get the "L" upstairs.—Sun.

He calls his girl "impromptu" because she makes up as she goes along.

"Build Theaters in Two Oranges."—Headline. Which leads Eliot White to think it a reflection of the Tom Thumb influence.—Sun.

Holmes: Are you going to that new show at the Capital? There is a company of 120.

Watson: What has that got to do with it?"

Holmes: Nothing, except that they carry only one trunk.—Powwow.

Indian: Where's that settler I just shot?

American: Right over there—just follow the arrow.

"You've never heard the ten commandments, my boy? What's your name?"

"Moses, mum."

Come Rollo, now we must dash for Freedom!

The Mystic Pen

Every once in a while the other side of the college newspaper office releases on different in a pastoral way. Of things are never printed lege doesn't expect the them. It's merely a Rut suppose we did the Shropshire sheep shire bulls . . . what facts are revealed in the port about a Cow . . . (we made a few Rustic Molly, 47052 at the College has qualified Gold Medal with an extra terfat yield. This, to interesting and unique that cows under certain produce not only milk, thus proving the advantage lege education. If Rustic duces more butterfat than Vendor's Delight, or than III, she gets a Gold M knows what she'll do probably cash in on a bran mash.

The report goes on to many facts about Rusti centry . . . perhaps you ested. Her old man was tan 117894 (they gave them just like those guys get House) and what's more (no, cows don't incubate cans) is Molly of Everbree (model T) what a poetic Everbreeze . . . reminiscent well, you say it. Molly's mama's side was Exile's B it seems only one branch laws counts in the bovine and now, kiddies, you female cows can be called Then somewhere in the cow named Xenia's Oxford who said there was no romance dustry? But why not call . . . Bordens Sunflower . . . Grade A Land-o-Lake Aster Special. . .

mp

Contributor's Week

(try and improve upon

One of our promising (what? you say) pre-medics fine specimen of heroic wors we sat ruminating (an old custom):

alone and with a trembling into the world; they told me sent to cure all men's diseases choice to pull defective teeth out voice of composition with its great of fame and gold is better pain of years of study, eating out and having at the end the greatest of soul and spirit deep in book of dusty content. i have seen of men soul-starved, and fear death... for me—i wish but freedom cool breath.

mp

The author calls this one

Antithesis

Muriel giggled when I kissed
She's so tall, and very thin
It's no wonder that I missed
Lips and landed on her chin

mp

Mynette wiggled when I
She's so short...why, goodness know
It's no wonder that I missed
Lips to osculate her nose!

Yes, we told him it was a

mp

Here's a beaut...mis
hypochondriac and imbued spirit of numerous complex
I'm tired of being a plain
In all these affairs. The middle
Is getting too sharp, so I'm with it all.
I'll seek out some infant
I will fall
Preferably ugly and prob
Untouched by sophisticate charm
And when I feel blue I'll her arm.
Instead of the fiddle I'll noise,
For her admiration I'll poise.
I'll spread myself daily and of bull
And go through her Fro
leave it- not full.
With such adulations by tions
Perhaps will desert me and mind.
But I know now, while troubles indicting
Wherever I look only Rita

mp

Just imagine what fellow out when they're crossed in

mp

Pell Agra, our young arrived from the Sedan ago is learning fast.
farmer's daughter," she sanctuary much to

mp

She soled her sole for an gold...she's a shoemaker

SPORTING NEWS

Catamount Quintet Drops Both Games of First Trip

Contests Are Fast and Closely Contested—New Hampshire Wins 29 to 22—Green and Gold Five Throws Scare into Crimson Hoopmen

HARVARD BARELY STOPS VERMONTERS, 31-28

In their first trip away from home this season the Vermont team was unable to break into the winning column and was defeated by New Hampshire 29 to 22 and by Harvard 31 to 28 in fast and closely-contested matches. In both cases the Vermonters made threatening rallies in the last half but fell short [illegible] the Green and Gold [illegible] the first contest of the [illegible]ham, N. H., when the [illegible] team won in a fast-[illegible] 29 to 22.

[illegible]y left forward of the [illegible]ed for 15 points of his [illegible] furnishing them their [illegible]ory. He got away from [illegible] covering him for six [illegible] not three fouls. Tobin [illegible] who divided the job of [illegible]er Eustis, shot a basket [illegible].

At the [illegible] of the first half New [illegible] had a commanding lead [illegible] In the second half Ver-[illegible] to creep up but a couple [illegible] New Hampshire baskets [illegible] three raised foul tries kept the New Hampshire quintet ahead.

[illegible]ley and Taft were the only Ver-[illegible]ters to get more than one basket [illegible]. Each caged a pair from the [illegible]. Taft in addition shot four [illegible] from fouls. The New Hamp-[illegible] players missed countless foul [illegible]. The Catamounts in trying to [illegible] their men provided an ava-[illegible]e of free tries for the home [illegible]. New Hampshire capitalized [illegible] only five of these and Eustis [illegible] seemed to be the only New Hamp-[illegible] player to have the free try range. New Hampshire made up for its free [illegible] inaccuracy by its finished team [illegible] when the ball was in action.

The summary:

NEW HAMPSHIRE

	Gls	Fls	Pts
[illegible]zabeth, r.f.	1	0	2
[illegible]ahana, r.f.	1	1	3
[illegible]ley, l.f.	6	3	15
[illegible]ow, c.	0	0	0
[illegible]ey, c.	3	0	6
[illegible]ston, r.g.	1	1	3
[illegible]ston, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	12	5	29

VERMONT

	Gls	Fls	Pts
[illegible]ft, l.f.	2	4	8
[illegible]nal, l.g.	0	0	0
[illegible]ch, r.f.	1	3	5
[illegible]bot, r.g.	1	0	2
[illegible]gent, c.	0	0	0
[illegible]es, l.f.	2	1	5
[illegible]per, r.f.	1	0	2
[illegible]es, l.f.	0	0	0
Total	7	8	22

Referee—Clark and Rogers.
Time—Two 20-minute periods.

In the second game the Catamount five gave the Crimson hoopmen a scare Saturday night by staging a rally with three minutes left to play and came within three points of giving Harvard's basketball team its first defeat on Harvard's own court at the new gymnasium but the Crimson won 31 to 28, in an exceptionally fast basketball game

The Catamounts drew first blood leading, 2-0, on two foul shots after four minutes of play in the first half Harvard came back and at half-time led the Vermont players, 17 to 10

In the second half, Vermont cut the Crimson lead down to two points, but goals by Farrell and Holland finally gave the Crimson a 31-21 lead with three minutes left to play. Coach Ed Wachter than inserted an entire new team, which was unable to score against the Vermonters and which defensively was unequal to the task of holidng dwon the visitors' shooting

The summary

HARVARD

	Fls	Gls	Pts
Holland, r.f.	5	2	12
Schr'der, r.f.	0	0	0
Appelb', r.f.	0	0	0
Pattison, l.f.	0	1	1
Matul'ch, l.f.	1	1	3
Dutton, l.f.	0	0	0
Spona'gle, c.	0	0	0
Rauh, c.	0	0	0
Upton, c.	0	0	0
Farrell, r.g.	6	0	12
Altman, r.g.	0	0	0
Hageman, l.g.	0	3	3
Huppuch, l.f.	0	0	0
Totals	12	7	31

VERMONT

	Fls	Gls	Pts
Taft, l.g.	1	4	6
Tobin, l.g.	2	0	4
Talbot, r.g.	1	0	2
Durfey, c.	0	0	0
Sargent, c.	1	1	3
Winant, c.	1	0	2
Pires, l.f.	3	3	9
Durfey, l.f.	1	0	2
Tupper, r.f.	0	0	0
Winant, r.f.	0	0	0
Totals	10	8	28

Referee—McGuinness.
Time—Two 20-minute periods

LIEUTENANT KULLMAN TO COACH RIFLEMEN

[illegible] Joseph Kullman, who has [illegible]ted with the Department [illegible] Science and Tactics at the [illegible] of Vermont since the [illegible] December, has been ap-[illegible]ch of the University rifle [illegible]ding Captain K. L. Berry. [illegible]erry, for eighteen months [illegible] U. V. M., went to Fort [illegible], to coach the rifle team [illegible]led the service teams of [illegible]two years ago, and was [illegible]st year. This transfer is [illegible] a great honor, and is in [illegible] of a promotion for the [illegible]mont instructor. He is [illegible] with the 24th Infantry.

[illegible]t Kullman, a graduate of [illegible] comes from the 16th In-[illegible]aego, N. Y. His home is [illegible] O

[illegible]s team has been called out, [illegible] practicing regularly for [illegible] which will begin next [illegible]. There were twenty-four [illegible] the call for candidates, [illegible] a larger number than usual.

CO-ED MARKSMEN TRY NEW PRACTICE SYSTEM

The women's rifle team, in anticipation of competitive matches with other colleges next semester, is trying out a new method of practice Each week the team, consisting of twenty-two members, is divided into three small teams which compete with each other during the week. This new system is proving most effective in accustoming the girls to match shooting. The captains of last week's teams were Alice Dodge, '31, Nellie Chase, '31, and Ethel Bishop, '32

Vox Humana

The organ Jesse Crawford plays on Hasn't got the diapason
Of my organ. His piano
Couldn't cough or sneeze soprano

You could go for days and days
Morning, nights, and matinees.
You would never hear his sniffle
He gets paid. But then, I have my art. . . .

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed ..... $ .50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed .... 1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up

KAKE WALK TIME IS NEAR
Order your costumes through us. We're tied up with Hooker-Howe of Haverhill, Mass. and can give you plenty of service and Everything Is Confidential
SEE Y'ALL LATER
Hayes and Carney, Inc.
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

HOCKEY TEAM BATTLES TWO OVERTIME PERIODS AFTER TYING HAMILTON

Captain Mercier and Swain Star for Vermont in Opening Contest of Season

GAME RESULTS IN FINAL SCORE DEADLOCKED, 4-4

Battling for two overtime periods the Green and Gold puckchasers were unable to down the strong Hamilton College sextet at Clinton N Y last Saturday and were forced to be content with a 4-4 deadlock, in a game featured by the brilliant stickwork of both teams

Hamilton scored twice in the first period and twice in the second but Vermont scored twice in the second stanza which closed with Hamilton in the lead 4-2. In the fifth minute of the third chapter McVeddy, right wing of the Catamounts, scored on a pass from Leo Segal. The Hamilton defense took a brace, however, and the Vermonters did not threaten again for some time. Eighteen seconds before the end of the regulation time, Captain Mercier of Vermont broke through suddenly and made a pretty shot to tie the count

The first overtime period saw the two teams fighting desperately, and a regular barrage of shots was fired at both the goalies, both of whom were on the alert, however, and especially Schurman of the Catamounts, who was protecting the cage for the first time last Saturday

The second extra session kept the spectators continuously on their feet as the rival puck chasers vied desperately with one another in skating and stickwork, but all attempts to score were unsuccessful. Captain Mercier and Dick Swain were the outstanding performers of the Catamount sextet, while Wilson and Stevens starred for the Buff and Blue

Next Thursday the Green and Gold team is scheduled to meet Dartmouth at Hanover

The summary:

VERMONT		HAMILTON
Wood	c.	Wilson
Mercier	l.w.	Corwin
McVeddy	r.w.	Wettlaufer
Segal	l.d.	Hughes
Swain	r.d.	Redmond
Schurman	g.	Eames

Scoring by periods:
First period Stevens (H), 8:45, Crumb (H), 9:52
Second period — Wettlaufer (H), 5:00; Mercier (McVeddy) (V), 11 8, Wilson (H), 10:13; Swain (V), 12.19
Third period — McVeddy (Segal) (V), 4:50; Mercier (V), 19:42
Penalties by score:
First period Marvin (V), 1, Corwin (H), 2; Cunningham (V), 1, Segal (V), 2; Hughes (H), 2
Second period Cunningham (V), 1
Third period Wood (V), 2; Segal (V), 2; Wilson (H), 2
First overtime period Swain (V), 2

Subs — Hamilton: Heye, Crumb, Stevens Vermont: Cunningham, Marvin, Bussey
Officials—R. V. Sherman, referee R. Williams, assistant referee

At Rollins College, Florida, students are supposedly experiencing an ideal collegiate utopia. They sit around in comfortable chairs, discuss things as they see fit and the prof sits at his desk quietly, entering into discussion only when requested

The Old Burdick
Full Fashion Silk and Wool Stockings $1.00 and $1.50 pair
Full Fashioned Service Weight Silk Stockings $1.00
All the fashionable shades.

P. T. NOTICE

Classes in physical training will remain the same for the second semester. In case of a conflict, adjustment will be made on Saturday, January 31, at the physical education office

The members of the following squads who have been excused from physical education for the first semester are required to enroll and report back to physical education for the second semester

1. Sophomore members of the varsity football and varsity cross-country squads.
2. Members of the freshman football and freshman cross-country squads
3. Others who have been excused for the first semester

Failure to do so will result in reporting to the dean's office for explanation.

H. A. Prentice,
Director of Physical Education

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Squad Is Divided Into Four Teams to Compete With One Another

A full quota of the freshman basketball squad returned after vacation and only one casualty was reported All the members were in fine condition and were all set to resume practice with a snap and vigor that comes only from the love of the game. Coach Archie Post feels as though this year's frosh team has a fine chance against outside competition

Last Wednesday scrimmage games were played between teams I and II, and teams III and IV. The first two squads were rather evenly matched although there was rather poor team work on both sides. Squad III outplayed IV in a fast game marred by poor shooting. The tournament games between the various squads will be an interesting and exciting feature of the yearling practices

The first squad is composed of the more outstanding players of the class Frank Busch, of Farmington, Conn., is the center of this team. As forwards there are Spero Marchacos, eagle eye of last year's Burlington High School quintet, and Bernie Mulcahy, a diminutive Barrette. For guards there are Ed Saba, former Vermont Academy star, and Joe Delfausse, from Rockville Center. Walters of Burlington and O'Brown of Vergennes complete this group

Squad number II pivots around Fred Wegner as center with H. A. Lyford and John Woodruff as forwards, and Clarence Drown and John Beckley as guards. Abbott and Lunna both fast forwards complete this well-balanced section

In number III squad Hugh Wilson is at center with Paul Williams, S. Burnell, D. Bennett, A. Cass, H Butman and Waterman making up the rest of the aggregation The fourth squad consists of Norm Myers, Earl Morse, Kendrick Richmond E Carlson, M Parker and Tom Cogswell

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

GREEN AND GOLD FIVE MEETS ST. MIKE'S AND DARTMOUTH THIS WEEK

Catamounts Tackle Purple Team Here Tonight and Big Green at Hanover Thursday

BOTH GAMES EXPECTED TO BE CLOSE BATTLES

This week the University of Vermont basketball team has two basketball games after which there will be a rest until after mid years Tonight at 8 o'clock the St Michael's five will appear on the local floor in the first state contest of the season Thursday night the Green and Gold quintet will be in Hanover, N H, to pay their respects to Dartmouth in the return match On this same day the Vermont hockey team will be in town to tackle the Big Green

Both of these contests will be hard battles for the Catamounts In recent years St Michael's has put out a strong team and is again looking forward to another successful season Last year the Purple won the state championship The St Mike team has started off with several wins among them being a Vermont victim Clarkson In the past the contests with St Michael's have been close and bitterly fought and the rivalry has always attracted a large attendance Two years ago much interest was aroused when after the two regularly scheduled games the teams had broken even with one victory each. A play off was arranged whereby Vermont came out the winner 33 to 29 in an overtime contest

Thursday's game with Dartmouth will be the second battle this year against the Big Green In the previous engagement just before the Christmas vacation the Indians won by the narrow margin of 34 to 28 This game was most interesting and the fight that the Catamounts put up against the husky Dartmouth team was encouraging to the fans. Last Saturday the Big Green defeated University of Pennsylvania, 30 to 21, in an Eastern Intercollegiate League game. This was Dartmouth's opening battle of the season in league competition

Coach Prentice will no doubt start his regular line-up of Sargent at center, Tupper and Durfey, forwards, and Taft and Tobin guards

ARTHUR W. DUPAW
and his ORCHESTRA
"The Sun Dodgers"
For rates and reservations
Please Call
Telephone 2232-W
Address 233 North Street

All Wool Fancy Hose 85c
3 PAIRS $2.50
TURKS
Burlington Vt.

U. V. M. MEN SUPERVISE FLOOD PREVENTION WORK

REVIEW OF WINNOWINGS

(Continued from page 1)

Forum

Novel University Opens In 1934

The World Peace movement which has attained such popularity during the past year is to find practical expression in education in the Abraham Lincoln University which is expected to open in the fall of 1934. The plans for the university are being made by the Abraham Lincoln Foundation which is intended to establish and [illegible] the movement and the whose project [illegible] the union of Republics of New York and the desire for a [illegible] understanding [illegible]

The outstanding point which should be of great interest to all who are [illegible] the progress and development of new ideas in education have not been made generally known yet, but in the [illegible] of Progressive Education Dr. Eugene R Smith [illegible] some of the ideas which the organizers are seeking to incorporate in the university The students are to come from all countries and the total enrollment is to be 1,000 [illegible] there are to be six classes of 200 in the university at once four undergraduate classes and two graduate ones Each class is to include eighty students from the United States, one from each state and the remainder from the country at large and 120 students from the other countries of the world —Wellesley College News.

The organization of the Dutch students is explained in an article addressed to the National Student Federation of America by C. M. Nienhuys of the Dutch Student Union.

"Briefly, every university and college has its own student life and customs. There are more than 11,000 students, distributed over six universities and four colleges in Holland including Utrecht, Leiden, Amsterdam, Delft and Groningen.

"Each university town has its own character and recruits its students from certain districts and communities. In Utrecht, many sons of the land-owning nobility of Holland are studying. Leiden has more Dutch aristocracy, and Groningen has many Groningen and Frisian gentlemen farmers' sons, while Amsterdam is conspicuous for its students from intellectual circles and from the commercial milieu, having, moreover, a strong Jewish element in its student world.

"The organizations which comprise all the students in the five academies are the faculty-corporations which regulate for the student his studying opportunities. They are so-called professional corporations, organizing scientific lectures, outings, announcements of dates, etc.

"Nowhere is such a free and easy studying regime to be found as in Holland. No obligatory college attendance, no examinations after fixed terms of study, nor enforced interrogatories. Certainly this carries with it a greater danger for spirits too fond of liberty. However, the selecting influence is of more value.

"In the same way the student is given much more freedom in shaping his life outside his studies, for there are no compulsory clubs or boarding establishments of which he must be a member. There are, however, corps to which a student may become affiliated. They are a powerful corporation which sway the student's mode of living and pass it on from generation to generation. There social life culminates often in beautiful [illegible] where all the solemn happenings of student life are celebrated.

"As a reaction against the 'ragging' which was sometimes too severe, 'tenden' (clubs) sprung up in the [illegible] with more democratic tendencies where only students were admitted.

Especially in Utrecht, Leiden and Amsterdam they are well to the fore. They too know the social club life. Between them and the Corps the relations are as is only natural, not loving and they sometimes give vent to them at nocturnal encounters.

"As you will understand, the R. C. and Calvinistic Corps are social corporations on a religious base."—N. S. F. A.

"Every speech," says a K. C., with special references to after-dinner oratory, "should have a beginning, a middle and an end." We ourselves are not convinced that the beginning and the middle are indispensable.—London Punch

CYNIC MEETING WILL BE THIS AFTERNOON AT 4.00

The meeting of the [illegible] recently announced for [illegible] noon will be held this afternoon instead, at four o'clock in the [illegible] College. At this meeting the [illegible] in-chief, managing [illegible] tors and sporting [illegible] elected, and some other [illegible] sidered.

BLUESTOCKINGS VOTE ON PROSPECTIVE MEMBERS

At the meeting of the [illegible] women's honorary [illegible] held Wednesday at the [illegible] Theta house, the [illegible] tive members who [illegible] manuscripts for try-[illegible] cussed and voted upon. [illegible] list of new members [illegible] posted until after [illegible] tions, according to a [illegible] Justine Rogers, president [illegible] ciety.

Neverwed: "I suppose [illegible] marriage a true partnership."

Longwed: "Not exactly [illegible] like a corporation in which [illegible] minority stockholder [illegible] ments to meet operating [illegible]

Bits of Bunk

"Try and get a long boys," said the president as the brothers drew straws to see who would take the date.—Penn State Froth.

Most organizations have a president and vice-president. In a college comic they save on the expenses. The editor and the vice editor are combined in one man.—Dartmouth Jack O'Lantern.

A. I. O. Woman's greatest attraction is her hair.

Phi Beta. I say that it is her eyes.

Sigma Phi. It is unquestionably her teeth.

S. A. E. What's the use of our getting here trying to each other?—Rocky Mountain Goat.

Experience Shows That

1. The graduate who was always late to class will become mayor of New York.

2. The student who loved to play practical jokes in college will become Philadelphia's director of public safety.

3. The senator who was never out-talked in college will become a henpecked husband.

4. The [illegible] bridge fiend will remain the [illegible] bridge fiend.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

Important meeting of all sophomores scrubbing, or wishing to scrub, the business side of the 1932 Arval with Sam Barker, at the Sigma Nu Lodge, 7 o'clock sharp, Thursday, January 15. Come or send a substitute.

SIGMA GAMMA

Lucene Little, '29, of Hyde Park was a week-end visitor in town.

K. E. L.

A business and social meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at the home of Sophie Levin at 35 Bright Street.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

A 20 per cent Reduction on
BANNERS, PILLOWS and PENNANTS
RINGS, PINS and COMPACTS
marked from 98c to $5.00
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

In every college town there is one outstanding smoking tobacco

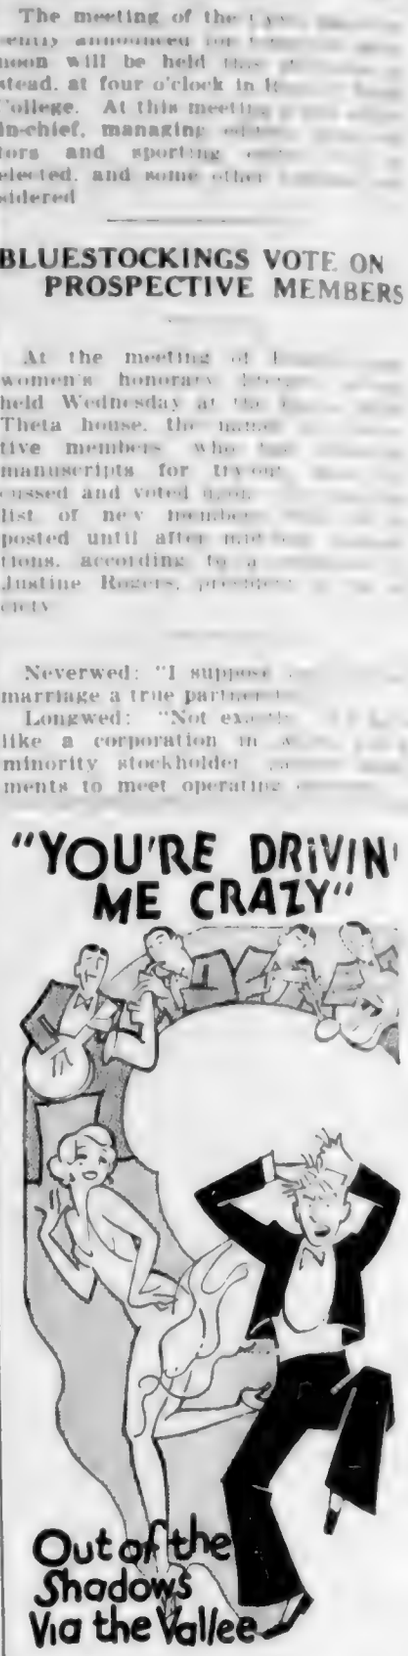
At Illinois it's

ALONG Green Street, where campus leaders stroll . . . in the great slate-roofed fraternity houses of Champaign . . . there is one pipe tobacco which always rolls up the biggest vote. At Illinois it's Edgeworth, every time.

A pipe—Edgeworth. That is the smoking combination which has won the college man. Harvard, Cornell, Michigan, Stanford, Dartmouth — all agree with Illinois. Natural merit has made Edgeworth the favorite tobacco in America's leading colleges and universities.



College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their verdict: try Edgeworth yourself. Find it at your nearest tobacco shop—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, address: Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive "eleventh process." Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

"YOU'RE DRIVIN' ME CRAZY"

THE finest piece by Rudy and His Merry Men these old ears have heard . . . ultra-modern (yet reminiscent of intimate harmony at "Joe's Place!") with a lively lilt that fair lifts you off your feet!

All the latest hits are recorded by Victor . . . by the finest and most celebrated artists and orchestras, who are exclusively Victor. The world's finest entertainment! Cut your peppiest capers to the list below, for example . . .

5 New Hot and Happy Hoof-Shakers by Victor

Record No. 22572
"YOU'RE DRIVING ME CRAZY"
"THINKING OF YOU"
Rudy Vallee & His Orch.

Record No. 22579
"YOU ARE THE MELODY"
"OLD FASHIONED GIRL"
Wayne King & His Orch.

Record No. 22571
"BOLERO"
"LA SEDUCCION"—Tango
Nat. Shilkret & His Orch.

Record No. 22564
"I'M A DING DONG DADDY"
Johnny Johnson & Orch.
"ONE MAN BAND"
Ted Weems Orch.

Record No. 23018
"WASTING MY LOVE ON YOU"
Joe Venuti Orch.
"DEEP DOWN SOUTH"
Bix Biederbeck Orch.

The music you want WHEN you want it . . . on

Victor Records

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1931 — NUMBER 30

DEBATING TEAM MEETS MIDDLEBURY CO-EDS ON CHAIN STORE QUESTION

Bigelow, Donaghy and Nelson Support Negative Side of Proposition Against Visiting Women

NO DECISION RENDERED BY MUTUAL AGREEMENT

[illegible] debate on the question, Resolved: That chain stores are [illegible] to the best interests of [illegible] the Vermont forensic [illegible] at James Bigelow, '33, [illegible] '32, and George Nelson [illegible] the Middlebury debaters. [illegible] Josephine Saunders, [illegible] Sinqiser.

The Middlebury women supported the affirmative side of the proposition while the V. M. men upheld the negative.

Prof. Leon W. Dean of the English department acted as chairman.

Miss Marian Singiser, opening the debate for Middlebury and for the affirmative, began by defining some terms. Chains, she said are a group of stores owned and controlled by one organization. Detrimental means [illegible] welfare is the common good. She then went on to give the history of the chain store system. Although chain systems are not at all new the growth in the United States was started seventy-two years ago. Although there is some good in chain stores there is no question that they are detrimental. They have usurped trade and industrial enterprise; newspapers and radio stations have even attacked the chain store. In the case of cheapness of goods statistics true and unbiased are hard to find, problems differ throughout the state. The system hurts the farmer because his products are not used by chains whereas the local independent merchant will use none but products of the local farmers. The chains fall into monopolies, as has been seen in some recent mergers. Some factories must cater solely to chains. If they should refuse, and many must because of the immense discounts demanded of them, then they must perforce close thus throwing hundreds out of work.

Miss Reardon Donaghy, first speaker for Vermont claimed that the chains

(Continued on page 4)

GLEE CLUB FEATURES NATIVE FLEMISH SONG

"The Flemish Lion," a traditional song of the Flemish people, translated into the native tongue by Prof. P. D. Evans featured the concert presented by the Men's Glee Club last night at [illegible] in the Gymnasium.

The historical Flemish number was brought to America by Professor Evans following his trip abroad last winter.

The program:

[illegible] fac patriam nostram — Gounod

[illegible] — Negro Spiritual

Soldiers Chorus from "Faust" — Gounod

The Glee Club

[illegible] — Godard

L. W. Jenks, 'cellist

The Flemish Lion (translated from the Flemish by Professor Evans) — Flemish

[illegible] saw your face — Ford (17th century)

[illegible] — Brahms

The Glee Club

[illegible] in C Minor, from "Orpheus" — Gluck

[illegible] L'Arlesienne Suite No 2 — Bizet

F. S. Jenks, flutist

[illegible] Chanteys

arr. Bartholomew

[illegible]

[illegible] to Rio

[illegible] Noah

The [illegible] Club Double Quartet

[illegible] to Act III of "Carmen" — Bizet

[illegible] Dance — Grieg

F. S. Jenks, flutist,

[illegible] Householder, clarinetist

L. W. Jenks, 'cellist

[illegible] C. Bennett, pianist

[illegible] loves — Italian

[illegible] — Spanish

[illegible] we do with a drunken — Sailor Chantey

Putnam

STUART S. COBBIN, '31

Business Manager of the Vermont Cynic during 1930-31

PROFESSOR DYKHUIZEN ADDRESSES CLUBS ON SOCRATES ANNIVERSARY

John Dewey and Eta Sigma Phi Groups Hear of Philosophy of Socrates

An interested group of faculty and students belonging to Eta Sigma Phi and the John Dewey Club met last Wednesday evening in commemorations of the 2400th anniversary of the birth of Socrates. Charles Knapp, '31 presented the speakers, Miss Verna Carrier, '32, and Professor Dykhuizen of the philosophy department. Miss Carrier spoke briefly on the familiar facts of Socrates' life, and Professor Dykhuizen brought out clearly his contributions to philosophy. Excerpts follow from the latter.

Well-Known Name

The name "Socrates" is one of the most familiar in all history, and especially to college students is the name familiar and that usually in one of two ways: either Socrates is known as the easy-going, good-humored philosopher husband who, being first berated and then drenched with a pail of water by his more practical, irate wife who had been disturbed in her slumber by the philosophical discussion arising under her bedroom window, calmly looked up and good naturedly replied: "So much thunder must needs produce a shower." or Socrates is known as the minor term of a categorical syllogism in which we make the astounding and totally unlooked-for discovery that since all men are mortal and Socrates is a man that Socrates is accordingly mortal.

Cosmological Riddle

In bringing before ourselves the philosophy of such a man as Socrates, it will, conduce to clearness if we have before us the historical background of his teachings. Greek philosophy began in the 6th century B.C. when certain men broke away from the traditional mythical and theological explanation of things and attempted to give a purely naturalistic account of nature and the cosmos. The Greek theologians had been interested in the question: Who, among all the Gods is the most primitive or pre-eminent, from whom all the other Gods are derived? The Greek philosophers, getting their cue from the Greek theologians, asked: What substance, among all the seeming substances, is the most elemental, or basic, from which all others are derived? For over a century these thinkers boldly pursued this cosmological speculation

(Continued on page 2)

ROY WORRELL WILL BE CHAIRMAN SENIOR WEEK

Roy Worrell president of the class 1931 was elected chairman of Senior Week at the elections held Wednesday in the Old Mill Chapel. Harvey Butterfield was elected financial manager, and John Bradish, Founder's Day Speaker. Margaret Stanley will give the class history, and Mary Woolson the class poem. George Brush will deliver the campus oration. Hugh Mattison, the pipe oration and Janice Davis, the ivy oration. Robert Huey will give the address to undergraduates. Ernest Codding the address to Ira Allen and Harvey Butterfield, the address to Lafayette. The meeting was characterized by numerous withdraws and nominations.

The meeting was attended by only a small number but interest was at fever heat and much applause followed the announcement of elections.

SORORITY OPEN HOUSE NIGHTS BEGIN FEB. THIRD PRECEDING FINAL PARTY

Societies To Hold Two Open Houses Each And Conclude With Rushing Party

Seven sororities at the University of Vermont open their rushing season February 3 with two open houses each and concluding on final pledging parties from February 11-15 inclusive.

The entire rushing procedure is regulated by definite rules enforced by the Pan-Hellenic Council. This year, for the third time, a freshman woman to be eligible for rushing must have maintained a scholastic average of at least 75 percent.

Details concerning requirements, expenses and other information about each Greek letter society will be found in the Women's Freshman Handbook.

Rushing Rules

1. Rushing shall be held in the second semester.
2. February shall be the month of rushing.
3. Rushing shall be closed.
4. There shall be a uniform pledge average of 75 percent barred on a semester basis.
5. All freshman women and eligible transfers who have not the pledge average of 75 percent shall not be rushed, or invited to the final party.
6. There shall be two open houses in the afternoon from four to six or in the evening from eight until ten o'clock, the first which is open to everyone and the second for which invitations shall be issued.
7. At the first open house there shall be no entertainment other than conversation, singing or social dancing. There shall be no refreshments and the fraternities shall not have flowers.
8. At the second open house there shall be no entertaining other than conversation, singing or social dancing. Refreshments may consist of tea, coffee and punch, with sandwiches and wafers. Flowers may be used for decoration purposes.
9. Invitations to the rushing party shall be formal, uniform in style and either written or printed by hand.
10. There shall be no favor at the rushing party, this not to include place cards, menus and table decorations which may be of paper or cloth, but shall not be useful.
11. Cars shall not be used to convey freshmen and eligible transfers to and from the rushing party.
12. The Promise System shall not be resorted to by sororities.
13. Fraternity women shall not greet their pledges on campus at the close of neutral period.
14. Fraternity women shall not be seen around the Old Mill more than to go to and from classes while freshmen are signing their preferences at the dean's office.
15. The cost of the final party shall not exceed $35.
16. Bus transportation is allowed, provided the cost comes out of the party expense.

Rushing Dates

	Open house	Tea	Final party
		February
Kappa Alpha Theta	3	6	11
Delta Delta Delta	4	6	17
Pi Phi	5	7	16
Alpha Xi Delta	4	7	14
Alpha Chi Omega	5	9	12
Sigma Gamma	3	9	13
Kappa Delta	3	10	18

TWO HUNDRED ATTEND RECENT BOULDER DANCE

About one hundred couples were present at the annual pre-midyear Boulder Dance held last Saturday night at the Burlington High School Gymnasium.

Joe Lechnyr's Vermonters played and the chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. Leon W. Dean and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun.

Joseph C. Carter Elected Editor-in-chief of Cynic; J. E. Tracy is Business Manager; Householder to be Sole Managing Editor

Levin Becomes Associate Sports Editor—Bigelow, Drew and Spiller Are News Editors—MacDonald Is Feature Editor—LaCrosse and Pelofsky, Contributors

LOUIS LISMAN, '31

Returning Editor-in-Chief of the Vermont Cynic

STUDENTS MUST MEET BILLS AND RE-ENROLL ON JANUARY 30 AND 31

Issue Regulations For Payment of Tuition and Fees and Enrollment For Second Semester

Students after midyears will pay their bills for the second semester on Friday, January 30, from 9-12 and from 1:30-5:00. Enrollment procedures will obtain Saturday, January 31 from 9-12 a.m. and 1:30-5:00 p.m. F. W. Kehoe registrar calls the attention of students to the following paragraph taken from the University regulations:

A student who fails to enroll for the second semester on the designated day, or who otherwise violates University rules and regulations, may be placed on probation by the council, the faculty, or the Dean of the College in which he is enrolled. While on probation, the student shall be excluded from beneficiary aid for the current half year from employment for remuneration by the University, and from membership in the athletic teams, musical, dramatic, debating clubs, boards of college publications and other analogous University organizations.

Enrollment Directions

1. Pay tuition for the semester at the Comptroller's office, Room 4 Medical Building.
2. Obtain in Room 5 cards for enrollment and report to proper enrolling officer. (See list below.)
3. Fill out enrollment and study cards under the direction of the enrolling officer.
4. Return all cards to the Registrar's clerks in Old Mill (Room 1 South) or in Room 5, Medical Building. Retain approved study cards for admission to classes.

All medical students will pay fees at the Comptroller's office and complete enrollment in Room 5 adjoining, filling out information cards and receiving SECOND HALF HOUR PLAN.

Will include not only second semester fees, but also outstanding bills from previous semesters. Students are requested to be prepared to close their accounts at this time unless special arrangement has been made. Juniors must be prepared to pay their Ariel tax at this time.

Teacher Training students from the state are exempt from tuition payment. After paying any outstanding fees such students will receive enrollment cards (Room 5) and report at once to the enrolling officer for Teacher Training Course. (See list below.)

College of Agriculture—Agriculture Dean Hills and Assistants, Morrill Hall 8:30-12, 1:30-5. Home Economics

(Continued on page 4)

CANDIDATES ELECTED BY HIGH MAJORITY VOTES

By the largest majority in recent years Joseph C. Carter '32 was elected editor-in-chief of the Cynic to succeed Louis Lisman '31 at the annual board meeting last Tuesday. Freshmen and upperclassmen voted separately during the balloting, each group casting a majority for the successful candidate. The University Council is expected to ratify the elections at its regular meeting Monday.

Active in Cynic Work

Carter's activities on the Cynic have covered a period of over two years. Elected first to an assistant editorship he created for himself successively the posts of feature and of news editor. Carter is also vice-president of the I. C. A. is treasurer of the Grey Friars, edited the Freshman Handbook and is on the executive committee of the John Dewey Club. Last year he was a member of the Gold Key society and is now serving on the Junior Week Committee. Carter is a non-fraternity man.

The rest of the board for 1931-32 will be: Managing editor, Fred W. Householder '32; associate sports editor, Joseph S. Levin '32; news editors, James E. Bigelow '32, Fraser H. Drew '32, & Nathan Spiller '32; feature editor, William G. MacDonald '32; intercollegiate editor, Carl J. Kilburn '32; contributing editors, Paul J. LaCrosse '32, Samuel Z. Pelofsky '32; assistant sports editors, Jerome F. Farwell '32, George M. Flenberg '33.

Householder is one of the two news editors to be promoted to a higher editorship. He has worked on the Cynic both as columnist reporter and editor. He has been prominent in dramatics, having made the cast of a college play in his freshman year and now holds membership in Wig and Block. He was on the freshman debating team has debated with the junior varsity since is on the Ariel board has contributed to the Wonder Bar, is a member of Grey Friars and plays in the University orchestra. He ranks high on the Dean's list. Householder is a member of Lambda Iota.

Sophomore Editors

Of the news editors, Bigelow has been especially active in debating, having captained his freshman team and graduated to the varsity the following year. He belongs to Zeta Chi Drew a member of Lambda Iota was assistant editor of the Freshman Handbook, was chairman of the Sophomore Hop Committee is treasurer of Eta Sigma Phi, and has gained a prominent place on the Dean's list. Spiller belongs to Phi Sigma Delta, was also an assistant editor on the Freshman Handbook and played freshman football. All the news editors were elected from the ranks of the assistants.

MacDonald, who succeeds Edmour Germain '31 as feature editor is a member of the Delta Psi fraternity and belongs to Grey Friars. Kilburn, who was elected to the newly-restored intercollegiate editorship, represents the Independents in Gold Key. LaCrosse was rewarded with an editorship in return for his work as assistant editor and a frequent contributor since. He is president of the French Club, is manager of junior varsity debating, and is chairman of Grey Friars committee. He too is an Independent. The other contributing editor, Pelofsky has served as an assistant sports editor and is the author of a number of Cynic columns. He is a member of Tau Epsilon Phi and of Grey Friars and holds places on the Ariel board and the Junior Week Committee.

The Sports Board

Levin newly-elected associate sports editor will succeed Lanford Foster, '31 as sports editor next September. Levin a member of Tau Epsilon Phi, has been prominent in class activities. Farwell is the other Independent Gold Key man and in addition to his Cynic work, plays varsity basketball. Flen

(Continued on page 4)

U. V. M. MEN SUPERVISE FLOOD PREVENTION WORK

[illegible] Works appointed an Advisory Committee of Engineers on Flood Control [illegible] under the auspices of the Power Section, Committee. The [illegible] of the Public Service Commission [illegible] Henry B. Shaw '96. The members of [illegible]

[illegible] Two facts in proof that on every all the power which cannot [illegible] are responsible for many [illegible] by the rainfall which [illegible] Connecticut Valley floods. These [illegible] would run the month and the [illegible] that a much greater [illegible] of power could be developed [illegible] power capacities [illegible] of present rates for power [illegible] support the cost of regulation, [illegible] from the start.

The amount of increased power available would satisfy the needs of the State for twenty-five or fifty years to come. But it is shown possible to develop in successive steps so that the market demands of ten years hence would utilize the power from such few reservoirs as would hold the floods down to bank full stages of the rivers.

The committee warns, however, that this requires new legislation making possible the organization of public corporations known as river regulating districts working under state control. They would finance themselves by bonds of the district and these in turn would be retired out of earnings and assessments. The only burden on the public would be the small proportion of cost for purely flood prevention benefit, perhaps 10 to 20 percent. The dams and reservoir lands would belong to the State, which thus after forty to fifty years would fall heir to this great natural resource unencumbered. The burden on power companies would decline from the start and finally would need to cover only the small operating and maintenance costs.

The Legislature of 1931 will have an opportunity to serve the State well by studying these remedial proposals and passing such acts as make them effective. All the U. V. M. men in the Legislature need to insist on maximum attention to this duty, say the U. V. M. engineers.

Bits of Bunk

"Try and get a long boys," said the president as the brothers drew straws to see who would take the date.—Penn State Froth

Most organizations have a president and vice-president. In a college comic they save on the expenses. The editor and the vice editor are combined in one man.—Dartmouth Jack O'Lantern

A T O: Woman's greatest attraction is her hair.

Phi Delt: I say that it is her eyes.

Sigma Phi: It is unquestionably her teeth.

S A E: What's the use of our sitting here lying to each other?—Bowdoin Mountain Goat.

Experience Shows That

1. The graduate who was always late to class will become mayor of New York.

2. The student who loved to play pranks on people will become Public Safety Director of police safety.

3. The student who was never out-talked in college will become a ben packet buyer.

4. The successful bridge fiend will remain the miserable bridge fiend.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl

Important meeting of all sophomores scrubbing, or wishing to scrub, the business side of the 1932 Ariel with Sam Barker, at the Sigma Nu Lodge, 7 o'clock sharp, Thursday, January 15. Come or send a substitute.

REVIEW OF WINNOWINGS

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Newburyport in the achievement of the aims to Miss Aiken, called [illegible] and's theme. Each seems an authentic [illegible] for "the most beautiful [illegible] thing ever fashioned by the hand of man the clipper ship." The plot is only incidental to this set [illegible] and is sufficiently convincing with the possible exception of the speech of Timothy at the party.

[illegible] Montgomery gets into her stride [illegible] Mill Hands a real [illegible] and recreates a time when [illegible] with few words words which [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1931 NUMBER 30

DEBATING TEAM MEETS MIDDLEBURY CO-EDS ON CHAIN STORE QUESTION

Bigelow, Donaghy and Nelson Support Negative Side of Proposition Against Visiting Women

NO DECISION RENDERED BY MUTUAL AGREEMENT

...n debate on the ques... That chain stores are ... the best interests of ... the Vermont forensic ... of James Bigelow, '33, ... '33, and George Nel... Middlebury debaters, ... Josephine Saunders, ... Singiser.

The Middlebury women supported ... side of the proposition ... V. M. men upheld the ...

... W. Dean of the English ... acted as chairman.

... Singiser, opening the ... with Middlebury and for ... began by defining some ... Chains, she said are a group ... and controlled by one ... Detrimental means ... is the common good. ... went on to give the history ... store system. Although ... are not at all new the ... in the United States was ... two years ago. Al... there is some good in chain ... there is no question that they ... detrimental. They have usurped ... and industrial enterprise; ... and radio stations have ... attacked the chain store. In ... of cheapness of goods statis... and unbiased are hard to ... problems differ throughout the ... The system hurts the farmer ... his products are not used by ... chain, whereas the local independ... merchant will use none but prod... of the local farmers. The chains ... into monopolies, as has been ... in some recent mergers. Some ... must cater solely to chains. ... should refuse, and many must ... of the immense discounts de... of them, then they must per... close, thus throwing hundreds ... of work.

R. Peardon Donaghy, first speaker ... Vermont claimed that the chains

(Continued on page 4)

GLEE CLUB FEATURES NATIVE FLEMISH SONG

"The Flemish Lion," a traditional ... of the Flemish people, translated ... the native tongue by Prof. P. D. ... featured the concert presented ... Men's Glee Club last night at ... in the Gymnasium.

The historical Flemish number was ... America by Professor ... following his trip abroad last ...

The program:

... am fac patriam nostram ... Gounod

... River ... Negro Spiritual

... from "Faust" Gounod

The Glee Club

... Godard

... W. Jenks, 'cellist

The Flemish Lion (translated from ... Flemish by Professor Evans) Flemish

... saw your face Ford (17th century)

... Brahms

The Glee Club

... Minor, from "Orpheus" Gluck

... L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2 Bizet

... S. Jenks, flutist

... Chanteys

arr. Bartholomew

... Bells

... Row

... Noah

... Club Double Quartet

... to Act III of "Carmen" Bizet

... Dance Grieg

... S. Jenks, flutist,

... Householder, clarinetist

... W. Jenks, 'cellist

... C. Bennett, pianist

... Three Doves Italian

Abdalucia Spanish

... we do with a drunken ... Sailor Chantey

Putnam

STUART S. COBBIN, '31

Business Manager of the VERMONT CYNIC during 1930-31

PROFESSOR DYKHUIZEN ADDRESSES CLUBS ON SOCRATES ANNIVERSARY

John Dewey and Eta Sigma Phi Groups Hear of Philosophy of Socrates

An interested group of faculty and students belonging to Eta Sigma Phi and the John Dewey Club met last Wednesday evening in commemorations of the 2400th anniversary of the birth of Socrates. Charles Knapp, '31, presented the speakers, Miss Verna Carrier, '32, and Professor Dykhuizen of the philosophy department. Miss Carrier spoke briefly on the familiar facts of Socrates' life, and Professor Dykhuizen brought out clearly his contributions to philosophy. Excerpts follow from the latter:

Well-Known Name

The name "Socrates" is one of the most familiar in all history, and especially to college students is the name familiar and that usually in one of two ways: either Socrates is known as the easy-going, good-humored philosopher husband who, being first berated and then drenched with a pail of water by his more practical, irate wife who had been distured in her slumber by the philosophical discussion arising under her bedroom window, calmly looked up and good-naturedly replied: "So much thunder must needs produce a shower;" or Socrates is known as the minor term of a categorical syllogism in which we make the astounding and totally unlooked-for discovery that since all men are mortal and Socrates is a man that Socrates is accordingly mortal.

Cosmological Riddle

In bringing before ourselves the philosophy of such a man as Socrates, it will, conduce to clearness if we have before us the historical background of his teachings. Greek philosophy began in the 6th century B.C. when certain men broke away from the traditional mythical and theological explanation of things and attempted to give a purely naturalistic account of nature and the cosmos. The Greek theologians had been interested in the question Who, among all the Gods is the most primitive or pre-eminent, from whom all the other Gods are derived? The Greek philosophers, getting their cue from the Greek theologians, asked: What substance, among all the seeming substances, is the most elemental, or basic, from which all others are derived? For over a century these thinkers boldly pursued this cosmological speculation

(Continued on page 2)

ROY WORRELL WILL BE CHAIRMAN SENIOR WEEK

Roy Worrell president of the class 1931 was elected chairman of Senior Week at the elections held Wednesday in the Old Mill Chapel. Harvey Butterfield was elected financial manager, and John Bradish, Founder's Day Speaker, Margaret Stanley will give the class history, and Mary Woolson the class poem, George Brush will deliver the campus oration, Hugh Mattison, the pipe oration and Janice Davis, the ivy oration. Robert Huey will give the address to undergraduates, Ernest Codding, the address to Ira Allen and Harvey Butterfield, the address to Lafayette. The meeting was characterized by numerous withdraws and nominations.

The meeting was attended by only a small number but interest was at fever heat and much applause followed the announcement of elections.

Joseph C. Carter Elected Editor-in-chief of Cynic; J. E. Tracy is Business Manager; Householder to be Sole Managing Editor

Levin Becomes Associate Sports Editor—Bigelow, Drew and Spiller Are News Editors—MacDonald Is Feature Editor—LaCrosse and Pelofsky, Contributors

SORORITY OPEN HOUSE NIGHTS BEGIN FEB. THIRD PRECEDING FINAL PARTY

Societies To Hold Two Open Houses Each And Conclude With Rushing Party

Seven sororities at the University of Vermont open their rushing season February 3 with two open houses each and concluding in final rushing parties from February 11-18, inclusive.

The entire rushing procedure is regulated by definite rules enforced by the Pan-Hellenic Council. This year, for the third time, a freshman woman to be eligible for rushing must have maintained a scholastic average of at least 75 percent.

Details concerning requirements, expenses and other information about each Greek-letter society will be found in the Women's Freshman Handbook.

Rushing Rules

1. Rushing shall be held in the second semester.
2. February shall be the month of rushing.
3. Rushing shall be closed.
4. There shall be a uniform pledge average of 75 percent figured on a semester basis.
5. All freshman women and eligible transfers who have not the pledge average of 75 percent shall not be rushed, i.e., invited to the final party.
6. There shall be two open houses, in the afternoon from four to six or in the evening from eight until ten o'clock, the first which is open to everyone and the second for which invitations shall be issued.
7. At the first open house there shall be no entertainment other than conversation, singing or social dancing. There shall be no refreshments and the fraternities shall not have flowers.
8. At the second open house there shall be no entertaining other than conversation, singing or social dancing. Refreshments may consist of tea, coffee and punch, with sandwiches and wafers. Flowers may be used for decoration purposes.
9. Invitations to the rushing party shall be formal, uniform in style and either written or printed by hand.
10. There shall be no favor at the rushing party, this not to include place cards, menus and table decorations which may be of paper or cloth, but shall not be useful.
11. Cars shall not be used to convey freshmen and eligible transfers to and from the rushing party.
12. The Promise System shall not be resorted to by sororities.
13. Fraternity women shall not greet their pledges on campus at the close of neutral period.
14. Fraternity women shall not be seen around the Old Mill more than to go to and from classes while freshmen are signing their preferences at the dean's office.
15. The cost of the final party shall not exceed $35.
16. Bus transportation is allowed, provided the cost comes out of the party expense.

Rushing Dates

	Open house	Tea	Final party
	FEBRUARY
Kappa Alpha Theta..	3	6	11
Delta Delta Delta.....	4	6	17
Pi Phi	5	7	16
Alpha Xi Delta	4	7	14
Alpha Chi Omega....	5	9	12
Sigma Gamma	3	9	13
Kappa Delta	3	10	18

TWO HUNDRED ATTEND RECENT BOULDER DANCE

About one hundred couples were present at the annual pre-midyear Boulder Dance held last Saturday night at the Burlington High School Gymnasium.

Joe Lechnyr's Vermonters played and the chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. Leon W. Dean and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun.

LOUIS LISMAN, '31

Retiring Editor-in-Chief of the VERMONT CYNIC

STUDENTS MUST MEET BILLS AND RE-ENROLL ON JANUARY 30 AND 31

Issue Regulations For Payment of Tuition and Fees and Enrollment For Second Semester

Students after midyears will pay their bills for the second semester on Friday, January 30, from 9-12 and from 1:30-5:00. Enrollment procedures will obtain Saturday, January 31 from 9-12 a.m. and 1:30-5:00 p.m. F. W. Kehoe, registrar, calls the attention of students to the following paragraph taken from the University regulations.

"A student who fails to enroll for the second semester on the designated day, or who otherwise violates University rules and regulations, may be placed on probation by the council, the faculty, or the Dean of the College in which he is enrolled. While on probation, the student shall be excluded from beneficiary aid for the current half year, from employment for a remuneration by the University, and from membership in the athletic teams, musical, dramatic, debating clubs, boards of college publications, and other analogous University organizations."

Enrollment Directions

1. Pay tuition for the semester at the Comptroller's office, Room 4, Medical Building.
2. Obtain in Room 5, cards for enrollment and report to proper enrolling officer. (See list below.)
3. Fill out enrollment and study cards under the direction of the enrolling officer.
4. Return all cards to the Registrar's clerks in Old Mill (Room 3 South) or in Room 5, Medical Building. Retain approved study cards for admission to classes.

All medical students will pay fees at the Comptroller's office and complete enrollment in Room 5 adjoining, filling out information cards and receiving SECOND HALF HOUR PLAN.

Will include not only second semester fees, but also outstanding bills from previous semesters. Students are requested to be prepared to close their accounts at this time unless special arrangment has been made. Juniors must be prepared to pay their Ariel tax at this time.

Teacher Training students from the state are exempt from tuition payment. After paying any outstanding fees, such students will receive enrollment cards (Room 5) and report at once to the enrolling officer for Teacher Training Course. (See list below.)

College of Agriculture—Agriculture, Dean Hills and Assistants, Morrill Hall—8:30-12, 1:30-5. Home Economi-

(Continued on page 4)

CANDIDATES ELECTED BY HIGH MAJORITY VOTES

In the largest majority in recent years Joseph C. Carter '32 was elected editor-in-chief of the Cynic to succeed Louis Lisman '31 at the special board meeting last Tuesday. Freshmen and upperclassmen voted separately for the two balloting each group casting a majority for the successful candidate. The University Council is expected to ratify the elections at its regular meeting Monday.

Active in Cynic Work

Carter's activities on the Cynic have covered a period of over two years. Elected first to an assistant editorship he earned for himself successively the posts of feature and of news editor. Carter is also vice-president of the F. C. A., is treasurer of the Grey Friars, edited the Freshman Handbook, and is on the executive committee of the John Dewey Club. Last year he was a member of the Gold Key society and is now serving on the Junior Week Committee. Carter is a non fraternity man.

The rest of the board for 1931-32 will be Managing editor, Fred W. Householder, '32; associate sports editor, Joseph S. Levin, '32, news editors, James E. Bigelow '33 Fraser B. Drew, '33, S. Nathan Spiller, '33, feature editor, William G. MacDonald, '33; intercollegiate editor, Carl J. Kilburn, '33; contributing editors, Paul J. LaCrosse, '32, Samuel Z. Pelofsky, '32; assistant sports editors, Jerome F. Farwell, '33, George M. Fienberg, '33.

Householder is one of the two news editors to be promoted to a higher editorship. He has worked on the Cynic both as columnist, reporter and editor. He has been prominent in dramatics, having made the cast of a college play in his freshman year, and now holds membership in Wig and Buskin. He was on the freshman debating team, has debated with the junior varsity since, is on the Ariel board, has contributed to the Winnowings, is a member of Grey Friars and plays in the University orchestra. He ranks high on the Dean's list. Householder is a member of Lambda Iota.

Sophomore Editors

Of the news editors, Bigelow has been especially active in debating having captained his freshman team and graduated to the varsity the following year. He belongs to Zeta Chi Drew, a member of Lambda Iota, was assistant editor of the Freshman Handbook, was chairman of the Sophomore Hop Committee, is treasurer of Phi Sigma Phi, and has gained a prominent place on the Dean's list. Spiller belongs to Phi Sigma Delta, was also an assistant editor on the Freshman Handbook, and played freshman football. All the news editors were elected from the ranks of the assistants.

MacDonald, who succeeds Edmour Germain, '31, as feature editor is a member of the Delta Psi fraternity and belongs to Grey Friars. Kilburn, who was elected to the newly-restored intercollegiate editorship, represents the Independents in Gold Key. LaCrosse was rewarded with an editorship in return for his work as assistant editor and a frequent contributor since. He is president of the French Club, is manager of junior varsity debating, and is chairman of Grey Friar's committee. He too is an Independent. The other contributing editor, Pelofsky, has served as an assistant sports editor and is the author of a number of Cynic columns. He is a member of Tau Epsilon Phi and of Grey Friars, and holds places on the Ariel board and the Junior Week Committee.

The Sports Board

Levin, newly-elected associate sports editor, will succeed Lynford Foster, '31, as sports editor next September. Levin a member of Tau Epsilon Phi, has been prominent in class activities. Farwell is the other Independent Gold Key man and in addition to his Cynic work, plays varsity basketball. Flen

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Publication of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible]

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Entered in 1895. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Acceptance for mailing to postal outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 448 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 16, 1920.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 January 16, 1931 No. 30

RETROSPECTION

[illegible] a phenomenon would adequately characterize the growth of the Vermont Cynic from a mere incipient literary magazine [illegible] a century ago [illegible] to its present position as leader in the field of collegiate [illegible] journalism.

[illegible] that we are still about a student publication, but [illegible] experiment to be tried only at the risk of great [illegible] a goodly quality of creative literary expression, and the [illegible] to the students to render a very wholehearted moral support, [illegible] had a marvelous career.

The Vermont Cynic developed through the ability and energy of [illegible] editors and editorial boards, the intellectual, spiritual, social and athletic organizations and interests of the campus increased [illegible] in number and in the attention given them by the students, faculty and alumni.

[illegible] cannot long endure nor can a true organization of intelligent opinion directed and led forward by the personal [illegible] and acuteness in judgment of its editorial staff become established. We see it as a distinctly cumulative process. The history of Cynic under the administration of past boards has witnessed a continual progressive evolution.

[illegible] the competition of its contemporaries as an invaluable medium of information pertinent to the interests and activities of the College of Arts and Sciences, Engineering and Agriculture, the Cynic found [illegible] seeking news. That it will ever find itself in such a [illegible] present no indication. To compete with the multi-[illegible] newspapers the Cynic has always recognized the necessity for striving to attain high literary quality, accuracy, terseness and interest in the presentation of its news.

[illegible] time and again modified its headlines, news technique, makeup and style in accordance with the forward progress and the [illegible] requirements of modern journalism.

More than this, its editorial leadership has steadily become brilliant, [illegible] forward and virile.

Boards assume office and then pass the pen to a successor. On a college paper, published alone by a board of student editors and reporters, there is labor aplenty. But in the faithful execution of its duties an editorial staff realizes its truest reward in the satisfaction of knowing that its work is well done—that it has supported and encouraged every wholesome student and faculty program—and in turn that it deserves, it will modestly receive all the support and commendation that these groups will bestow.

The present board had watched and felt the improvement of the [illegible] under the editorship of Lawrence Clayton. With the successful [illegible] Lasman to this office, the Cynic made a sudden advance [illegible] merit. Formerly an insignificant college paper it blossomed [illegible] brightest radiance to attain recognition of excellence in the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association as first in its class. [illegible] failed to achieve similar honor in the eyes of the numerous other college organs throughout the United States and in foreign countries.

Under Lasman's editorship during the past year, unprecedented publicity and coöperation has been given to the manifold scholastic and [illegible] activities of both students and administration. The intramural [illegible] programs have been encouraged, campaigns have been advanced, the social life of the campus has received unequalled favor and [illegible] moral support has gone to the athletic teams through a [illegible] page of ever-increasing power and merit.

The brilliance and keenness of his editorial leadership have been [illegible] both at the University of Vermont and in the intercollegiate press world. In sustaining the above general praise we do not stand [illegible].

We do not doubt that Lasman and his retiring staff associates take [illegible] in their accomplishments. That the Cynic may steadily improve [illegible] and intensify a salutary influence which will enable [illegible] succeeding editor to say of the present board, "Well done!" is no [illegible] that we can wish.

LE CERCLE LAFAYETTE HEARS MAUROIS TALK

Sam Barker, '32, read in French a particulary acute analysis of the works of Andre Maurois at the meeting of Le Cercle Lafayette held last Wednesday evening at Miss Lillian Cohen's home at 52 Grant Street. Mr. Barker pointed out how some of Maurois' contemporary critics are [illegible] in some instances and fulsome in others. He reiterated the sentiment which Longinus had voiced centuries ago that time was the only true critic of literature and that much contemporary criticism is subjective [illegible] and whimsical.

Copies of Les Boulevard were then distributed and the following members were the dramatis personnae: Mr. Isamo, Miss Andrews, Miss Cohen, Sam Barker, '32, Paul LaCrosse, '32, Miss Brennan, '32, Miss E. Mandigo, '32, and Miss Grenier, '31.

Refreshments of toasted salad sandwiches, cream cake and tea were served. The next monthly meeting will be held in February at Mr. R. Doane's home. The exact date will be made known as soon as it is ascertained.

P. J.

ECKHARD TO SPEAK ON ENGINEERS AND BRIDGES

Prof. George F. Eckhard of the Engineering College will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Engineers and Their Bridges," before the Faculty Club, tomorrow evening at the Kilfa Club.

Due to the tardiness of class elections the fee for the 1932 Ariel will not be included on the second semester bills but a separate bill will be sent. All fees not paid before May 1 will be turned over to the University Authorities for Collection.

G. Everett Wilder,
Business Manager.

FACULTY COLUMN

[illegible] and a half, in the general attitude on [illegible] part of the students that extra-curricular activities take precedence [illegible] over studies. As a student of [illegible] I have noticed the [illegible] tendency [illegible] and [illegible] of everything to extracurricular activities [illegible] the pursuit of studies, extracurricular activities develop as natural channels for the outlet of surplus energy of students and as such have a legitimate place in college life, but a second [illegible].

It is this fact that seems to have been overlooked here and to account for the strange circumstances that a student offers as an excuse for an unprepared lesson the plea that he devoted his time and energy to some outside activity, an excuse which in my own undergraduate experience one would never have thought of giving although, on the whole, I may say we had even more outside activities than there are here, and thus it amazed me to hear it given and accepted here.

In general, one should organize one's time so that studies come first and extracurricular activities second. If the two do happen to conflict at some time in the demand of a student's limited time and energy and one makes the wrong choice of devoting it to the outside activity, one should go to class and accept the consequences without excuse. One should realize the true values in the activities of one's college life and act accordingly.

Another excuse I have heard given for devoting as little time as possible to studying for a particular course is "that it is a 'required' course and is not liked by the individual" and so one just neglects it as far as possible. An attitude of this sort is, like the misplacement of the value of extra-curricular activities, not conducive to the fostering of the "spirit of study" which should prevail in college. I am not arguing for the "parrot-like" passing of courses and making of grades per se. No, far from that! Grades are a great evil in college work and the sooner they are abolished and degrees are granted on the basis of a comprehensive evaluation of a student's development and accomplishments in general and specific fields of study, the better it will be.

An ideal college would have no regular courses and lectures which entail the "parrot-like" taking-down in a notebook of the ideas of a professor and pouring them out upon a sheet of paper, generally incorrectly at that, on the next examination or the mere repetition in class of a lesson perfectly well worked out at home, the recitation of which is sheer waste of time both for teacher and student. Instead, college would be a place where the true "spirit of study" might flourish. A student would seek out knowledge for himself, through individual study and readings and discussion with professors and fellow-students. He would go to his professors for suggestions of ideas and guidance in his field of study, for more is effectively accomplished through intelligent direction than through blind foundering about in a subject. Series of lectures would be given by eminent men in order also to stimulate ideas on the part of students and intelligent reaction to this stimulus, not for more imbibing and storing away in some recess of the mind where they are quite forgotten and never again come to light. Students in this way would become "thinking beings" capable of producing ideas themselves instead of being "mediocre parrots," a deplorable condition all too prevalent not only here, but in practically all colleges which are cursed with grades and courses.

It is true that there are some colleges which already to some extent have this condition of study or are trying to bring such a condition about, but could not this true "spirit of study" be fostered even in the old-type of system through a change of attitude on the part of students towards studies, the pursuit of which it must be agreed is the primary purpose of the existence of an institution of learning? Let the students forget about "required courses" and "grades"; let them go to classes with the idea not of absorbing or reproducing more facts, which may or, most likely, may not be of practical value to them after they leave college, but with that of definitely receiving a stimulus of ideas from contact with teacher and fellow-students to which one endeavors to respond intelligently and so contributes to the interest of the class and learns "how to think" which is the most important result that may be gained from the pursuit of any course.

If students developed this attitude towards their courses, that these were primarily for the development of the "spirit of study" and learning "how to think," it seems to me that the extra-curricular activities, which are excellent in themselves, would fall into their true value, and place in the college life of a student.

E. Wiss.

PROFESSOR DYKHUIZEN ADDRESSES TWO CLUBS

(Continued from page 1)

with various and fascinating results, he [illegible], in fact, that by the middle of the 5th century we have before us a clause of conflicting system, 'each of which' as the writer states it, 'could establish only one point, that all its [illegible] were wrong.

The Sophists

The Sophists were the transmitters to the people of the culture of the time. Protagoras was their chief and ablest representative—a man who is pictured by Plato in the dialogue of the same name as a man of graceful dignity, for forty years a teacher—in his philosophy we have the best statement of the Sophists teachings. Protagoras, basing his doctrine on Heraclitus philosophy of universal flux and Democritus' theory of sense-perception, reached a philosophy of extreme Relativism. Heraclitus had asserted that all was in a continual flux: everything is changing and our sense-organs, being a part of this flux, are also in continual change—hence reality is not only what it perceptually appears for each individual, but also what it appears at each momentary-perception. Thus, there is no truth except that of the present moment; and there are as many truths as there are in an individual's life. And so we come to Protagoras' famous conclusion that individual man is the measure of all things; that individual consciousness is the final court of appeal and than it, there is none higher.....

Socrates to the Rescue

The chief concern of Socrates was to meet this challenge of the Sophist that individual man is the measure of all things. Socrates clearly saw that if this is so, the foundations of knowledge, of morality, and of the State are undermined, and social catastrophe is but a matter of time. This problem of the Sophists, Socrates felt, really resolved itself into the problem concerning the nature of truth. For the other views of the Sophists, notably those on morals and politics, had their source in the complete misunderstanding concerning the nature and meaning of truth. The key to the whole situation lay in the problem of knowledge. What is the meaning of truth?..

Search for Unity

Socrates was early impressed with the diversity which seemed so characteristic of human thought. Now is this diversity or subjectivity or individuality final, or is it perhaps due to an extraneous factor which when discovered, can be eliminated, and with it, this diversity.....

Are we now to stop at this stage, where we are confronted with confusion and diversity of opinion, the Sophists say that this is the final stage; that men differ, opinion opposes opinion, and one man's thought is as true as another; that no more can be done. But Socrates asserts that we have not gone to the bottom of the matter, that we have not done our duty till we have ascertained whether or not it is possible to come to an agreement. For, perhaps beyond this clash of opinions, there will be some common ground on which all can stand, some principle to which all can subscribe. In other words, perhaps beyond this diversity, there is unity; beyond this clash, there is nonunity.....

In this discovery of universal man, or, in more technical language, in this discovery of the universal as opposed to the individual, of the general as opposed to the particular, of the concept as opposed to the precept, and of the subsumption of the latter to the former, lies Socrates great contribution to philosophy—his claim to fame.

"Know Thyself"

Wisdom or knowledge is the greatest virtue, and the panacea of all human ills. And by knowledge, let us remember, we do not mean private, individual opinion, or impulse, but the knowledge which is found in one's own rational self, i.e., knowledge in and by conceptions. Hence, above all else, one must search his own mind, his own reason, in order to discover this wisdom. Gnothi se auton—know thyself—this is the first and greatest commandment.

The Socrates doctrine of virtue can be stated in three propositions. 1. Virtue is knowledge. A virtuous act is one which proceeds from a clear knowledge of all that is involved. 2. Virtue is one. Socrates insists on the unity and identity of all the virtues. This becomes clear when we realize that the rightness of an act is determined by the intellectual insight behind it. 3. Virtue is teachable. This thesis also becomes obvious when we remember that virtue is knowledge,

A Student-at-Large

Since the [illegible] the student [illegible] and how he is to get it [illegible] haps, seem futile [illegible] plain what he [illegible] if and how he [illegible] Nevetheless, while [illegible] true that the author's [illegible] value in a student [illegible] his theories. It is hoped [illegible] dent body will find [illegible] est in the subject.

Canon Shatford [illegible] chapel last Sunday [illegible] greatest challenge [illegible] the universities of [illegible] produce a body of [illegible] solving world problems.

If this challenge is [illegible] cessfully it will be purc[illegible] The American universi[illegible] little that could ever [illegible] minds of the students [illegible] thought.

Under the existing [illegible] dent at an American [illegible] to a prescribed mass [illegible] ture form. These lect[illegible] the most part, prepared [illegible] text-book which is at the [illegible] the student. The student [illegible] quired to spend a design[illegible] of time in classes accur[illegible] data, regardless of the spe[illegible] he is capable of grasping [illegible] matter. The time, in pra[illegible] cases, is set to accommodate [illegible] member of the class. Th[illegible] the more intelligent or [illegible] dents are continually bor[illegible] they resort to cutting as a [illegible] rescuing otherwise wasted [illegible] are subjected to disciplinar[illegible] This disciplinary action [illegible] the form of deductions fro[illegible] mark, thereby giving to [illegible] a mark which is not a m[illegible] scholastic ability or achie[illegible] merely a measure of hi[illegible]

The American universi[illegible] growth of democracy, is [illegible] to be an institution devoted [illegible] and feeding of the relatively [illegible] gent. No account is taken [illegible] that there are some student[illegible] age or more than average [illegible] require food a bit more [illegible] nality of thought, adequate [illegible] tion through contact with [illegible] tuned to more than the subject [illegible] in their own text-books, and suff[illegible] time for the mind of the [illegible] to develop constitute this [illegible] food. All these things the Amer[illegible] universities profess to offer [illegible] reality discourage.

Undoubtedly it will be [illegible] that if the universities should [illegible] a system of freedom wher[illegible] necessities could be obtained [illegible] tage would be taken of the [illegible] those students who are [illegible] lazy. At this point we might [illegible] again the words of Canon Shat[illegible] The universities should [illegible] whether they would not rather [illegible] duce a group of men with [illegible] capable of solving world [illegible] than continue as the Trade [illegible] American Business producing a [illegible] army of soda clerks.

—R. F. Hor[illegible]
—E. J. Fitzger[illegible]

RESEARCH CLUB TO HEAR PROF. BASSETT TUESDA[illegible]

Prof. Samuel E. Bass[illegible] Greek department will speak [illegible] members of the Faculty Re[illegible] on the subject: "A New Interpret[illegible] of an Old Poem," at its meet[illegible] ing to be held Tuesday, Ja[illegible] in Morrill Hall.

The research club meet[illegible] voted to the presentation an[illegible] sion of an investigation [illegible] ried on by members of the [illegible] departments of the Univers[illegible] for if anything is teach[illegible] knowledge ....

Modern Viewpoint

Turning to Socrates' mos[illegible] doctrine, and his chief cont[illegible] philosophy, namely, that [illegible] man is the measure of all t[illegible] shall we say about it? Do we [illegible] same interpretation to [illegible] Socrates did? Is our sicence [illegible] of knowledge upon which [illegible] tionally minded men are [illegible] discover the answer we [illegible] watch our science at work [illegible] we take a scientist, say an [illegible] of recognized reputation [illegible] petence. With the aid of [illegible] ments he makes an obser[illegible] discovers a star. Now [illegible] posedly new fact at once [illegible] in the body of astronomi[illegible] or is it to await further [illegible] by other authorities in [illegible] Protagoras, you recall, [illegible] that individual scientist's [illegible] is just as much a part [illegible] truth as any of the accepte[illegible] truths—it does not req[illegible] confirmation. Socrates on the other hand, insisted that this [illegible] servation must be confirmed [illegible] rationally-minded competent [illegible] and modern science agree [illegible] Socrates.

SPORTING NEWS

Catamount Hoopsters Edge Saint Michael's Five, 22-21

Chet Taft Stars Throughout Game—While Durfey, and Burke Both Play Strong Game

BOTH TEAMS AMASS 20 BAD PERSONAL FOULS

[illegible] practice believes in New [illegible]sons and his first one [illegible] percent, when the Cata[illegible] opened 1931 in a blaze [illegible] edging the highly touted [illegible] from Winooski 22 to [illegible] was the star of the [illegible] battered and worn, he played [illegible] maintaining the form [illegible] dominating to all his oppo[illegible]. His name was on the lips of [illegible] fans and should go [illegible] page of heroes immortal [illegible] Vermont. Thus the first bar[illegible] the race for titular honors has [illegible] ended.

[illegible] than five men were ejected [illegible] game on the personal foul [illegible] each team made 20 personal [illegible] the source, roughly, of half the [illegible] of the game.

[illegible] pressagented Capt. Jack [illegible] was ousted from the fray [illegible] four minutes before the end of [illegible] first half, and in the second pe[illegible] Danny Burke and Jim McGowan [illegible] losing team and Bob Tobin [illegible] Eddie Winant of the winners were [illegible] out for the same reason.

[illegible] capacity crowd packed the gym[illegible] with a highly vociferous and [illegible] array of voices which sent [illegible] shriek after shriek, cheer after [illegible] and boo after boo throughout [illegible] game. Vermont was ever headed [illegible] never safe.

The Game

[illegible] shooting of the Purple and [illegible] men was spectacularly unsuc[illegible]. shot after shot, sent from [illegible] down the floor and with one [illegible] wild, or at best, barely [illegible] the rim of the basket. On [illegible] shots, the shooting of which [illegible] have clinched the contest defi[illegible] neither team showed up espe[illegible]ell, although because of the [illegible] excitement, the wonder is not [illegible] Vermont sank 10 of 21 free [illegible] and the visitors made good on [illegible] opportunities.

[illegible] Prentice, the sharp and [illegible] coaching coach who has created [illegible] team out of ragged threads of [illegible] and Gold material, sent in Ed[illegible]Winant and Frankie Pires at for[illegible] Hank Durfey at center, and [illegible] Taft and Bob Tobin at guards. [illegible] Murphy's starting line-up in[illegible] the whole array of regulars—[illegible] Slattery and Jim McGowan in [illegible] forecourt, Mel Devine at center, and Skeets Tierney and Danny Burke at guards.

Vermont drew first blood by sink[illegible] a foul, and St. Michael's evened [illegible] up soon afterwards. Then, [illegible] the unstoppable Chet Taft was [illegible] two floor goals, the Mikemen [illegible] themselves in the battle by sink[illegible] free throws. Not a single visitor [illegible] from the floor until the last [illegible] of the first half, and not un[illegible] score was 17 to 9 against them. [illegible]ness of the Prentice-piloted [illegible] was astonishing to the crowd [illegible] spectators; it has been a long time [illegible] a Vermont team has shown so [illegible] heat.

[illegible] made a pretty long shot, [illegible] sent in clean, to bring the [illegible] 11 to 7 for Vermont. St. [illegible] picked up a notch on a [illegible] Chet Taft's throw rolled [illegible] but Chet's follow-up went [illegible] score, 13 to 8.

[illegible] threw a free one in to bring [illegible] to 9. Slattery, fast and [illegible] three fouls already against [illegible] being fed continually, and [illegible] managed to lay the ball [illegible] belonged. He was trying [illegible] one-handed shots, pretty [illegible] but less than even skin deep [illegible] reboard. Suddenly he went [illegible]s, and the St. Michael's [illegible] inwardly. Taft sank the [illegible] 14 to 9.

Durfey, whose floor work was [illegible] even if it doesn't show in [illegible]ary, sank two shots in a [illegible]g the story up to 17 to 9, [illegible]s went in for McGowan, [illegible] three fouls against him at [illegible] There were but two min[illegible]y a little less, in fact.

[illegible] carried the ball under the [illegible] failed to lift it in after [illegible] attempts. Burke grabbed [illegible] the ball, Cassidy called for [illegible]unny tapped it to Mel, and [illegible] taking it straight down. With seconds to play, Skeets [illegible]g shot and in she went—[illegible] to 13 for Vermont. It was [illegible] of the first half.

KEEN COMPETITION IN INTERCLASS TOURNEY

Seniors Defeat Sophomores 29-20 While Juniors Overcome Freshmen 35-26

As a result of the second round of games on the schedule of the last half of the interclass basketball tournament the seniors were in the leading position. The first half before the Christmas vacation ended in a triple tie for first place between the three upper classes, but now indications point to a senior class championship.

In the opening games of the last lap the seniors defeated the juniors, while the sophomores overcame the freshmen. On Saturday the seniors took over the second-year team 29 to 20 and the class of 1932 beat the yearling team 35 to 26. The frosh have lost every game in the tournament, although they have put up some stiff battles. The results of Saturday's games were as follows:

SENIORS

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Donaldson, r.f.	2	2	6
Aiken, l.f.	2	2	6
Park, c.	0	0	0
Maynes, r.b.	5	1	11
Heaton, r.b.	0	0	0
Corbin, l.b.	0	0	0
Phillips, l.b.	3	0	6
Totals	12	5	29

SOPHOMORES

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Massuco, l.b.	1	0	2
Calcagni, l.b.	0	0	0
McGowan, r.b.	0	0	0
Bowers, c	0	2	2
Grant, l.f.	5	3	13
Valerio, r.f.	1	1	3
Totals	7	6	20

JUNIORS

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Newcomb, r.f.	6	0	12
Jay, l.f.	2	0	4
Schuman, l.f.	1	0	2
Bedell, c.	4	1	9
Tilley, r.b.	2	0	4
Isenberg, r.b.	0	0	0
Riani, l.b.	2	0	4
Total	17	1	35

FRESHMEN

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Carlson, l.b.	0	2	2
Parker, l.b.	0	0	0
Walter, l.b.	1	0	2
Beckley, r.b.	2	0	4
Parker, r.b.	0	0	0
Busch, c.	3	2	8
Wilson, c.	0	0	0
Cogswell, l.f.	4	0	8
Calson, l.f.	0	0	0
Abbott, r.f.	1	0	2
Wilson, r.f.	0	0	0
Busch, r.f.	0	0	0
Totals	11	4	26

Freddy Tupper, who had subbed for Pires in the last minutes of the previous stanza, went in for Winant this time, and Devine and Maynes reversed positions, the former going from center to guard.

Devine did sink a single-handed shot, but the beauty of it was lost, for he had carried it out of bound before making the shot, and the score wasn't admitted.

Skeets sank a foul. Tupper had several vague chances, but missed out on them. Suddenly Chet Taft, whose floor work, like that of Durfey, was exceptionally good, let one fly in clean from the sidelines. Score, 19 to 14.

By this time Chet was almost out on his feet, by appearances. Flushed and red-faced, breathing hard, arms flopping weakly at his side except when in use, he looked all in after the mad series of scrambles which frequently precipitated him to the bottom of a heap of players from both teams. Yes, Chet was right in the game.

The St. Mike's men were still using long shots, and failing to benefit from them. Burke, fouled, made the score 19 to 15.

Taft tried to shoot, but his try was so weak the ball only wobbled gently toward the netting, and Tupper, coming in fast for what would have been the follow-up, made a spectacular catch of the ball and miss of the basket. Frankie Pires, with more or less of a sucker shot, overran as he dribbled down and missed.

Burke, after a strong game, was removed. Devine, fouled by Tobin, sank his shot nevertheless, and added his free try to bring the count up to 19 to 18, while Tobin went out on personals. That sudden combination of changes in the game set the St. Michael's rooters roaring with delight. Tom Collins, out for the hoop team only a week, replaced Tobin.

Maynes intercepted Taft's pass here at top speed, and threw it so fast to Mel Devine, directly under the Vermont hoop, and unguarded, that Mel couldn't hold it. Pires was fouled and made it 20 to 18.

Devine missed a foul. The guarding became even more close. St. Michael's was playing a particularly aggressive man-to-man defense. Tom Collins passed to Devine, and he

(Continued on page 4)

VERMONT HOCKEY TEAM TO TACKLE AMHERST SIX

Schedule Has Been Revised With Seven More Games to Be Played

Tomorrow afternoon the University of Vermont hockey team is scheduled to play its first home game of the season in a contest against Amherst. This will be the third match this year, after which there will be a rest period of two weeks during mid-year examinations. On Saturday, January 31, the team journeys to Northfield to take on the Norwich sextet in the opening state title battle.

The game tomorrow ought to be very interesting with the Green and Gold team having more than an even chance to win. Last Saturday the Amherst skaters were trounced by Princeton 7 to 1, while Monday this same Princeton six had difficulty in downing Middlebury 4 to 3. Yesterday the Catamount team was in Hanover, N. H., to oppose Dartmouth, but as the Cynic goes to press the result of this match is not known. Incidentally, the Big Green sextet has been experiencing a drastic season. They have been defeated twice at the hands of the strong Yale six by scores of 3 to 1 and 6 to 1 and once by the Princeton Tigers, 2 to 1.

In tomorrow's game Coach Abraham plans to use Dick Swain and Leo Segal as defense, with Jim Wood at center. Captain Mercier and McVetty will be used as wings, with Bob Shurman as goalie. Among the reserves are Bussey, Marvin and Cunningham, who will be ready to support their teammates when called on for service.

The probable starting line-ups:

Vermont		Amherst
Mercier	l.w.	Davis
Wood	c.	Turner
McVetty	r.w.	Williams
Segal	l.d.	Bryant
Swain	r.d.	Knutson
Schurman	g.	Herb

The hockey schedule for the rest of the season has been changed somewhat due to postponements and cancellations. There are seven more games to be played. The State conference games with Norwich come soon after examinations, while those with Middlebury both come in the last two weeks of the next month.

The schedule:

Jan. 17. Amherst here.
Jan 31. St Stephens here
Feb. 7. Norwich at Northfield.
Feb. 10. Norwich here.
Feb. 13. Rensselaer P. I. at Troy.
Feb. 14. Army at West Point.
Feb. 17. Middlebury here.
Feb. 23. Middlebury at Middlebury.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL SCHEDULE IS REVISED

A few changes have been made in the freshman basketball schedule [illegible] recently five games. Only Troy Conference Academy and Vermont Academy are definitely scheduled. Neither Middlebury or Norwich have made definite as to that the prospect of a state yearling battle is not in view. The revised schedule is as follows:

Feb 6 Troy Conference Academy at Poultney
Feb 7 Vermont Academy at Nat tem. River
Feb 14 Clark School here
Feb 17 Open for game, away
Feb 27 Troy Conference Academy, here
Feb 28 Vermont Academy, here

EXTENSIVE PROGRAMS ARRANGED FOR TRACK AND CROSS COUNTRY

Next spring the varsity track team will have four meets, which will all be held in May. The first meet comes on May 2 with St. Lawrence College at Canton, N. Y. This institution has appeared a number of times on Vermont's athletic schedules and it is hoped that St. Lawrence will become a regular all-sports opponent of the Green and Gold. The first home meet of the season will be on May 9 with Colby College, followed by an engagement with the Montreal A. A. A. here on May 16. This year the annual State college triangular meet will take place in Middlebury on May 23. Last year this was won by the Blue and White.

The schedule:

May 2 St. Lawrence at Canton.
May 9 Colby here
May 16 Montreal A. A. A.
May 23 Green Mountain Conference meet at Middlebury

Next fall the U. V. M. cross-country team will have five races with the possibility of a sixth which is more than has been customary. October 31 has been left open for Norwich in case the Cadets decide to form a team, although at present this is not expected to happen. Several new teams appear on the schedule as opponents, including the Connecticut Aggies, Williams, and Rensselaer. The cross country schedule is as follows:

October 10 Amherst here
October 17 C. A. C. at Storrs.
October 24 Williams here
November 7 R. P. I. at Troy.
November 14 Middlebury here.

The Ariel picture for members of the Newman Club will be taken Sunday, at 12:30 p.m. in front of the Cathedral High School.

WINTER SPORTS MEET NOW WELL UNDER WAY

First Half to be Completed Tonight With 220-Yard and Half-mile Skating Events

[illegible] the first half of the inter-fraternity winter sports meet will be completed. Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the 220-yard and the one-half mile skating events are scheduled to take place on the U. V. M. rink. On Monday February 2, the second half will commence with the cross-country ski race.

Rod Maynes of the Sigma Nu fraternity proved the outstanding star of the first day's events in the annual winter sports meet Tuesday afternoon. He won the relay race by an incredible burst of speed which carried him from a point 10 yards behind the Zeta Chi man when he started the 220-yard lap and he won by some dozen yards. He also took first place from among fourteen competitors in the individual 220-yard dash. Snow held the skaters back, and the times recorded were only fair as a result.

The results of the contests are as follows: 220-yard ski dash: first, R. J. Maynes, Sigma Nu; second, N. E. Daigle, A. T. O.; third, L. E. Hoyt, Lambda Iota. Time, 44⅘ seconds. Half mile four-man ski relay: first, Sigma Nu (Aiken, Robinson, Wright and Maynes); second, Zeta Chi (MacCutcheon, Cross, Logan and Dutton); third, Lambda Iota (Hendrick, Davis, Patten and Hoyt). Time, 4 minutes 5 seconds.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

Next year the freshman football team will have three home games and three in foreign territory, according to the 1932 schedule recently announced. Also three new opponents are listed other than those played last fall. These are St. Lawrence College freshmen, St. Michael's junior varsity and Troy Conference Academy, which last season had the most successful year in the history of the institution, going through the season without defeat. On the other hand, Montpelier Seminary and Clark School have been dropped.

The schedule:

Oct 3.	St. Michael's J. V.	Here
Oct 10	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct 17.	Troy Conference Acad	There
Oct 24	St. Lawrence 1935	There
Oct. 31.	Norwich 1935	Here
Nov 6.	Middlebury 1935	There

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.
Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.
Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies
Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

STORE-WIDE SALE
Starting Friday, January 16th
SUITS and OVERCOATS $24.50 and $34.50
Regular Values From $35.00 to $60.00
SHIRTS $1.55 HOSIERY 35c and 85c
TIES 65c, $1.35 and $2.35 WINDBREAKERS $3.85
TURKS Burlington Vt.

DEBATING TEAM MEETS MIDDLEBURY WOMEN

(Continued from page 1)

JOSEPH CARTER ELECTED EDITOR VERMONT CYNIC

(Continued from page 1)

Late Announcement

L. J. Trace, '32, was elected business manager of the Cynic. G. E. Wilder, '32, was named advertising manager, and W. J. Cronin, '32, E. Jones, '33, and C. Janke, '33, were chosen assistant business managers at the election held yesterday afternoon at 1:30.

Trace, managing editor of the 1932 Ariel, a member of the Kake Walk Committee and a former Gold Key man, was a former assistant business manager of the Cynic. He is a Phi Mu Delta member.

Wilder, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is business manager of the 1932 Ariel, is an assistant Kake Walk Director, has been an outstanding track and cross-country star and is a member of Student Senate, Key and Serpent, and an ex-Gold Key man.

W. C. Cronin, is secretary of Gold Key, is class treasurer on Faculty Student Council and is assistant manager elect of football. He belongs to Phi Mu Delta fraternity.

Jones is a member of Gold Key and has been in the band since his freshman year. He is a Sigma Phi.

Janke is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Society Notes

SIGMA GAMMA

Susan Howard, '30, a graduate student at Radcliffe College is home in town for a few weeks.

K. E. L.

A meeting was held Sunday afternoon at the home of Sophie Levin. Following the pledging of Ruth Kobel, '34, refreshments were served by the hostess.

It was not a blind I recognized him as soon as I met him.

CATAMOUNT HOOPSTERS EDGE ST. MIKES 22-21

(Continued from page ...)

...ment a eight back to Durfey. Du... pass from the center netted ... a basket and Vermont was ... from the floor with the ball ... making the first shot.

Both Durfey and Dygert missed their chances on a double foul. Mc... Taft went out, and ... made good and the ... of 3-0.

Fowler, Cooper, Mount a scoreless ... Vermont team in the Center and ... men, in sending the game ... minutes of play opened ... Devine made a ... after a minute of dashing ... and repeated long shots ... That made the score ... to ... with a minute to go.

Devine tried a one handed shot and ... long ball was called. Tup... to Taft who threw to Tal... and went down the floor. Chet's ... missed as the final whistle blew. ... summary of the game:

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Wandell, s.f.	0	0	0
Tupper, r.f.	0	0	0
Pires, l.f.	0	4	4
Tupper, l.f.	0	0	0
Durfey, c.	2	1	5
Taft, r.b.	4	4	12
Tobin, l.b.	0	1	1
Collins, l.b.	0	0	0
Talbert, l.b.	0	0	0
Totals	6	10	22

ST. MICHAEL'S

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Burke, l.b.	0	2	2
McGowan, l.b.	0	0	0
Mahoney, l.b.	0	0	0
Tierney, r.b.	1	2	4
Devine, c.	0	2	2
Maynes, c.	0	0	0
McGowan, l.f.	0	0	0
Maynes, l.f.	0	0	0
Devine, l.f.	3	2	8
Slattery (capt.), r.f.	1	3	5
Dupuis, r.f.	0	0	0
Totals	5	11	21

Referee, Cassidy.

A very important meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will take place February 5, 1931, at seven o'clock in the Vermont Christian Association Room in the Old Mill.

Freshmen desiring to scrub the business side of the Cynic should meet in the Cynic office, Monday afternoon, February 2, at 1.30.

The Grey Friars banquet scheduled for tonight has been postponed until a date to be announced later.

Soph: Jever take chloroform?
Senior: Dunno. Who teaches it?

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR

SHAMPOO ..... $.50
MARCEL ..... .50
FINGERWAVE ..... .75
43 Church St. Phone 538

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

64 COLCHESTER AVE.

Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

Duke University

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

Durham, N. C.

On October 1, 1931, carefully selected first and third year students will be admitted. Applications may be sent at any time and will be considered in the order of receipt. Catalogues and application forms may be obtained from the Dean.

Try Our
JANE ELIZABETH CANDIES
for the week-end
A POUND
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

LOOMIS STREET COLLEGE HOUSE

HOME PRIVILEGES
We Cater To College Students
ROOMS AND MEALS
Special Sunday Dinner Reservations
Tasty Cakes and Pastries Made-to-Order and delivered
BRIDGE PARTIES — BANQUETS
Others Enjoy Our Hospitality. You Will. Try It
M. S. & C. G. FOOTE
75 Loomis St. Phone 3526-R

STUDENTS MUST MEET BILLS AND RE-ENROLL

(Continued from page 1)

... Miss Terrill and Assistants, Mor... Hall—8.30-12, 1.30-5.

College of Arts and Sciences—Chem... Professor Burrows, 27 South College—8.30-12, 1.30-5. Classical: Professor Bassett, 34 South College—8.30-... Economics: Professor ... 27 North College—8.30-12, 1.30-... Education: Professor Douglass, Education Office, Old Mill—8.30-12, 1.30. General science and Pre-medical: Professor Donahue and Assistants, 1 North College—8.30-12, 1.30-5. Botany, Scientific: Freshmen Professor Prindle, 23 South College—8.30-12, 1.30-5; Sophomores—Professor Aiken, 1 North College—8.30-12, 1.30-... Juniors: Professor Carpenter, 21 South College—8.30-12, 1.30-5; Seniors: Professor Myrick, 33 North College—8.30-12, 1.30-5. Social Science: Professor Gifford, 37 North College—8.30-12, 1.30-5.

College of Engineering—All Freshmen: Professor Puffer, Engineering Building—8.30-12, 1.30-5. Three Upper Classes: Civil Engineering—Professor Eckhard, Engineering Building—8.30-12, 1.30-5; Electrical Engineering: Professor Buchanan, Engineering Building—8.30-12, 1.30-5; Mechanical Engineering: Professor Butterfield, Engineering Building—8.30-12, 1.30-5.

Special Students—Mr. Kehoe, Comptroller's office, Room 1, Medical Building—8.30-12, 1.30-5.

Teacher Training Students—Professor Douglass and Assistants, Education office, Old Mill—8.30-12, 1.30-5.

ETA SIGMA PHI GROUP ELECTS BUSH PRESIDENT

Election of officers of the Eta Sigma Phi for the second semester was held last Tuesday evening before its joint meeting with the John Dewey Club in commemoration of the 2,400th anniversary of the birth of Socrates.

Chester Bush, '32, was elected (Prytonis), president. Dorothy Nash, '31, was elected (Epi-Prytonis), vice-president. Doris Brennan, '32, was elected (Grammaticus), secretary. Fraser Drew, '33, was chosen (Chrycophytax), treasurer. Dorotha Edwards, '33, was elected reporter and Elisabeth Mandigo, '32, song leader.

"Julia," her father called from the top of the stairs, "did I hear a smack down there just now?"

"If you did," replied Julia, "you're a wonder. I've been hoping to hear one all evening."

FOR YOUR DANCE

Crepe Paper Decorations
Noisemakers
Favors and Novelties

McAULIFFE'S

College & Church Sts. Phone 629

ARTHUR W. DUPAW and his ORCHESTRA

"The Sun Dodgers"

For rates and reservations
Please Call
Telephone 2232-W
Address 233 North Street

COBB CALLS FOR LAST MINUTE ARIEL SUPPORT

According to an ... Raymond Cobb, editor ... 1932 Ariel all 191... are not in by Tuesday ... from last year's Ariel.

All Junior honors ... from the 1932 question... kept out of the Ariel f... not get their questionn... day, January 20, as this ... Ariel must be made ... the first week of mid... the latest.

The non-cooperation ... have not written grinds ... honor lists and question... ously holding up the w...

The board feels that it ... question of having the ... late or having it go to p... the information that the ... should be pursued.

A representative of W... Vantine studio of Boston ... in Burlington February ... stead of as was previously ... He will take group picture... other pictures that may be...

The price of a group ... picture will be fifty cents ... dividual desiring one.

Work on the Ariel as ... proceeding very slowly bec... lack of cooperation among ... men. "Cooperation," Cobb ... essential in order to have ... 1932 Ariel on time."

COMMITTEE POSTPONES ANNUAL MILITARY BALL

The annual Military Ball ... Scabbard and Blade, honorar... society at the University, ... scheduled for Friday, Janua... been postponed until sometim... March 13, according to a ... nouncement made by Franci... '31, chairman of the com... charge of arrangements. Th... in date was necessitated b... its proximity to that of the ... and basketball hops. The ... also been postponed, this time ... month of April.

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel 2...

The Ideal Hotel for You
In BOSTON
Is the NEW Hotel MANGER
At North Station
Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden
500 ROOMS
Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower ▼ Built-in-Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) ▼ Servidor Circulating Ice Water.
New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel
Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service.
RATES—ROOM AND BATH
FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00
FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00
No Higher Rates

DO NOT FORGET THAT THE SALE OF JEWELRY and FELT GOODS WILL LAST THROUGH THE ENTIRE MONTH OF JANUARY
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 46 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1931 — NUMBER 31

LEGISLATURE CHOOSES DUTTON NEW TRUSTEE IN ONE-SIDED VICTORY

Elects Craftsbury Representative and Reelects Lawrence and McFarland

NEW MEMBER SUSTAINS AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

[illegible] A. Dutton of Craftsbury a [illegible] candidate for trustee of [illegible] of Vermont was accepted [illegible] overwhelming victory of [illegible] the State Legislature [illegible] for H. A. Bailey and [illegible] Vilas [illegible] election by the legislature [illegible] the three vacancies also [illegible] the reelection, without opposition, [illegible] Henry M. McFarland of Hyde [illegible] and Edwin Lawrence of Rutland, graduates of the University.

Agricultural Interest

[illegible] Dutton who succeeds Martin [illegible] of Burlington was supported [illegible] Farmers candidate."

[illegible] farmer of note who has also made his home in Craftsbury. [illegible] leading citizen of the town and has taken an active part in the promotion of matters pertaining to agriculture. At present he is chairman of [illegible] House Committee on agriculture and as such will particularly work [illegible] interest of the Agricultural College.

Mr. Dutton was born in Craftsbury [illegible] 1864 and is therefore in his sixty-seventh year. He gained his education in the district schools of Craftsbury and Craftsbury Academy. He has been especially active in religious matters serving as trustee of his church for long period of time. Community affairs have always attracted him. University trustee and he has served as a member of the Craftsbury School Board and also as member of the board of trustees of Craftsbury Academy.

Mr. Dutton is active in State and national politics. He has served his town in the legislature for four years, one term in 1906 and again in the present term. In 1925 he was County Senator from Orleans County.

While not a graduate of the University of Vermont he has always had a keen interest in it. He has had a son and a daughter graduate from the U. V. M. and a second son also attended for several years.

PROF. H. F. PERKINS TO ADDRESS N. Y. SOCIETY

[illegible] H. F. Perkins of the Rural Survey committee and the zoology department will speak on the work of the Country Life Commission on Country [illegible] Vermont at the annual dinner [illegible] Vermont Society of New York [illegible] to be held at the Park Lane [illegible] New York City, Tuesday evening, February 10, at 7 o'clock.

[illegible] Stanley C. Wilson will address the society on "The Restoration [illegible] Highways." Congressman [illegible] Brigham will follow the [illegible] aspects of Vermont's Future.

[illegible] attractive program is [illegible] An unusual feature, [illegible] vital interest to all [illegible], is an exhibition of [illegible] the Vermont Commission [illegible] and the State Highway [illegible] including maps and [illegible] showing the new highway, [illegible] town, distribution of [illegible] schools, granges, etc., [illegible] relief map from Lake [illegible] to Mt Mansfield, weather [illegible] the State.

W. A. A. NOTES

[illegible] up for the purpose of [illegible] winning W. A. A. [illegible] been posted in the Y [illegible] Women alone are [illegible] this enterprise, and the [illegible] the guise of crews, have [illegible] captains: The ship, [illegible] B. Rogers; "Courageous," "Challenger," E. [illegible] H. Fogg; "Dauntless," [illegible]ton; "Onward," P. Scabbler," M. Collins; "Adventurer," [illegible]ham. "Black Pirate,"

GREY FRIARS HEAR DEAN ON EARLY VERMONT LIFE

Mr. Leon W. Dean, of the English department, described early life in the State of Vermont at the semester banquet of Grey Friars which was held at Marie's Tea Room, Saturday night, January 24. He pointed out in an interesting manner the hardships and troubles of these early pioneers and showed how such a life tended to produce a stalwart and sturdy race from which geniuses have sprung.

VERMONT STUDENTS TO ATTEND INTERCOLLEGIATE MEET AT NORTHFIELD

President Neilson of Smith, Professor Aubrey of Chicago U. and Others to Lead Conference

Student representatives sent from the University of Vermont by the V. C. A. will attend the Northfield Mid-Winter Conference February 13, 14, and 15, 1931. This is the seventh annual conference for men and women students from the colleges in the Connecticut Valley. As usual Vermont will send several delegates from the student body; although they have not yet been chosen.

The Northfield Hotel at East Northfield, Mass. will again be the meeting place of the conference, which will open with dinner on Friday evening and close on the following Sunday afternoon.

"What is College Doing to Us" is the subject chosen for the conference by the New England intercollegiate committee of which Richard Cowles, '31, is a member. Some of the questions which will be discussed are: Does college fit or unfit the student for the responsibilities of citizenship in the modern world? Some people believe that the campus is out of touch with the real concerns of society. Others feel that the student is hampered by convention and is not free to develop the uniqueness of his own personality. The conference will discuss these subjects which are of vital importance to every college student, and will suggest changes in college life and organization to aid the student.

Several leaders, prominent in their fields of activity, have already been chosen for the conference. Among these are President William A. Neilson of Smith College, Prof. Edwin E. Aubrey of Chicago University, formerly of Vassar, and Mr. Paul P. Porter of the League for Industrial Democracy. President Neilson is eminently qualified to lead the discussions as he has long been acquainted with New England college life. Professor Aubrey has had wide experience in this field and will also be a guiding spirit throughout the program.

The size of the conference is limited to 140 and quotas have been already worked out for the college—Vermont's quota is eight. The V. C. A. will pay all expenses of its delegates except one-half the transportation. Expenses include registration fee, hotel expenses, and transportation.

LAST OPPORTUNITY FOR ARIEL PHOTOS IS HERE

"Final group photos will be taken Saturday and Sunday of this week for the 1932 Ariel. One hundred fifty pages of which will go to the printer this week-end," states Raymond Cobb, editor-in-chief.

Group photos will be taken Saturday and Sunday. All groups not snapped will arrange for sittings at this time.

Any individuals desiring photos for personal use may have them taken at the same time. The schedule of hours will be posted this week-end and information may also be obtained from the editor.

The sittings will be held at the Vermonters' Club house on Summit Street. All photos are to be taken by a representative of the Warren Vantine Studio of Boston. Photos may be purchased individually at the price of fifty cents each.

Editor Cobb wishes again to stress the need of a bit more speed in handing in of questionnaires, honor lists and grinds. "Work must be done if the Ariel is to proceed properly," he said.

Cobb in his latest statement expressed pleasure at the work already handed in but warned those who have failed to do their part that drastic measures will soon be in order.

NAME MEMBERS OF TEN COMMITTEES TO ASSUME DUTIES OF SENIOR WEEK

Chairman Worrell and Manager Butterfield Will Direct Commencement Activities

HEADS OF COMMITTEES ARE ACTIVE ON CAMPUS

Chairmen and members of the Senior Week committees have been named to have charge of the Commencement events of the class of '31.

All have prominent parts in campus activities.

Worrell, chairman of Senior Week is president of the graduating class. Butterfield is president of Wig and Buskin. Maynes is director of Kake Walk. Codding is president of the Independents. Smith and MacBride are members of Boulder. Craig is retiring football manager. Bolles is head cheer leader. Georgina Hubert is a member of the rifle team. Brush was the editor-in-chief of the 1931 Ariel. Adams and Reed have been active in extra-curricular work.

The committees:

Chairman, Roy W. Worrell.

Financial Manager, Harvey D. Butterfield.

Class Day

Rodney Maynes, chairman, Robert Huey, William S. Heaton, Edmour Germain, Lorraine Guillett, Dorothy Nash, Rebecca Seaver.

Class Walk

Ernest M. Codding, chairman, L. L. Jones, Jr., Isabelle Warhurst, Grace Ross.

Invitations

F. Stanley Smith, chairman, Robert Tobin, Richard Cowles, Edith Thomas, Elizabeth Coy, Ruth Field.

Senior Prom

Francis A. Bolles, chairman, Charles Crockett, H. M. Chatterton, Jr., Margaret Rice, Alice Dodge.

Cane

Emerson Craig, chairman, Robert Aiken, Harriet Johnstone, Carolyn Whitney.

Senior Boatride

Frederick Reed, chairman, John A. Bradish, Winston C. Brasor, Janice Davis, Jean Wappler, Frances McKean.

Pipe

Harold W. Adams, chairman, W. Johnston Willette.

Gowning Statues

George Brush, chairman, Stuart S. Corbin, Margaret Stanley, Helen Taylor.

Banner

Georgina Hubert, chairman, Pauline Willis, Arnold Aronson, Walter Sargent.

Questionnaire

Francis McBride, chairman, George Nelson, Hugh Mattison, Harriet Wright, Barbara Douglas, Agnes Shaw, Lena Cochran.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Prof. Frederick Tupper and Walter H. Crockett of the University faculty were in Rutland last Friday evening, for a meeting of the committee on Vermont traditions and ideals of the Vermont Commission on Country Life.

ROD MAYNES WINS SKI JUMP AT ST. MICHAEL'S

There was at least one athlete at the University of Vermont who refused to remain quiet with his books during the mid-year exams and this individual is Rod Maynes, '31. In the midst of the examination period he took time off enough to go over to Winooski and win the ski jump at the opening of the St. Michael's College new ski hill. Wearing the Green and Gold of Vermont, he made a leap of sixty-six feet and won the first prize of a handsome silver loving cup, donated by Preston and Sons, local jewelers. Rod, who has been winning many of the interfraternity winter sports events for his fraternity, Sigma Nu, showed fine form in all his work, not a spill marring his afternoon's performance.

HARTWELL DISCUSSES "HISTORICAL BELIEFS"

[illegible] S. Hartwell of the History department [illegible] on the [illegible] A discussion [illegible] Historical Theories" at a meeting of [illegible] League Feb. 4 in [illegible]. Discussion followed [illegible] topic on the subject "Our [illegible] Historical Beliefs." [illegible] were served and a [illegible] followed.

OFFER NEW SUBJECTS IN ARTS DEPARTMENT FOR SECOND SEMESTER

Botany, Music, Mythology, Political Science and Scandinavian Literature Among These

Several new second semester courses will be offered this year in the Arts and Science College.

Some of these are new at the University. Among the more recent is Scandinavian Literature in English translation by Prof. Phillips Carleton. This course is tentative as yet depending on the number of students who desire to enroll. This course is offered as complementary to the course "German Literature in the English Translations" and the two courses are closely associated.

The material consists of readings in the Sage Period and readings taken from nineteenth and twentieth century works. It offers another elective to juniors and seniors interested in English literature and its derivatives.

Those interested should consult Professor Carleton at the English office in North College Monday at 4 o'clock.

Again this semester as in previous years Prof. Melvin Laatsch of the political science department will offer political science 109, "Latin America and the United States." This course will be held Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays at 10:30 a.m. in 31 South College contrary to schedule announcements.

The course deals with the constitutions, government, politics and foreign relations with the United States of all the Latin Americas.

Professor Laatsch wishes to announce that if conflicts exist on the schedules of students who may desire to take political science 109, the class period at 9:30 on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays is also open. Students in such a situation should notify Professor Laatsch at once.

Botany 7 (Seed Embryology) will again be on the schedule this year. Laboratory periods will be held Tuesday and Thursday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and a lecture period on Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. Prof. D. Gershoy will teach the course.

Latin XI, Mythology will also be offered this year. Professor Prindle is the instructor.

The department of music announces that a new section of music 8, elementary sight-singing, dictation and theory will be formed beginning with the second semester, if enough students are interested. The class carries two hours credit. No previous musical knowledge required. Hours to be arranged. Students interested should confer with the instructor, Miss Charlotte de Volt.

WIG AND BUSKIN WILL INITIATE ELEVEN MEN

Eleven men, all [illegible] prominent [illegible] in Universities dramatic presentations during the past three years will be formally received into membership in Wig and Buskin society at [illegible] initiation banquet to be held this evening at 6:30 at the Hotel Vermont.

Prof. J. T. Metcalf, coach of college plays, will be the principal speaker.

The men who are eligible for initiation into the society: F. B. Bachi, '32, J. A. Bradish, '31, G. R. Collins, '32, A. O. Eaton, '32, E. J. Fitzgerald, '32, C. J. Libbey, '33, K. W. Marvin, '32, J. S. Perelman, '31, W. C. Perry, '33, A. A. Scharbius, '32, and P. E. Westin, '32.

Following the initiatory service a business election will be held. All the juniors are eligible for presidency and Bachi, Collins, and Marvin are in line for the office business manager.

The Chicago policeman who thought a rutabaga was a dangerous kind of snake probably thinks spinach is something to eat.—D'Artiste's Montana Huddle.

SOPH HOP TONIGHT IS FIRST FORMAL SOCIAL FUNCTION OF SEMESTER

Dance, Sponsored by Class 1932, Will be Held at Hotel Vermont

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE TO INCLUDE BUFFET SUPPER

One of the most brilliant and most pleasant of [illegible] formal functions and the first formal dance of the year, the Sophomore Hop will be held [illegible] Room of the Hotel Vermont from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Six men and one girl [illegible] comprising the Black Pirates orchestra will play for the dancers. The subscription price of $3.00 includes a buffet supper which will be served at 11:30 p.m. Prof. and Mrs. D. H. Carroll, and Prof. and Mrs. P. D. Carleton are the chaperones for the evening.

The Sophomore Hop is sponsored by the class of 1932 under the chairmanship of Paul Fisher.

Personnel of the dance committees: Decoration and floor, M. Miltimore, chairman, Charlotte Odell, J. Carson, Elizabeth Crane; refreshments, Antoinette Hubbard, chairman, Marion Kiel; advertising, E. E. Dunn, chairman, W. C. Perry.

BANKERS' MEET HEARS PROF. TUPPER'S TRAVELS

Prof. G. W. Bailey and Prof. F. Tupper were recent speakers at the annual meeting of the Winooski Savings Bank Corporation at which Prof. E. C. Mower was elected a trustee.

Professor Tupper, as the principal speaker, reminisced on his journey through Europe during his last Sabbatical leave. From the days of his teens by progressive methods of locomotion, Professor Tupper, by his own assertion, has been an ardent, if temporary, wanderer journeying afoot, by bicycle and by automobile to such places as fancy and quest of knowledge might take him.

So fond was Professor Tupper of his latest conveyance that, if he did not keep it tied, he at least left the doors locked, reasoning that if his daughter had lost a camera on the docks of New York to some wharf hand interested in photography there was nothing in the world to keep some designing Londoner from pocketing an automobile. To such insinuation against the integrity of the English nation a London lobby took exception naively turning the tables with one remark.

"We English are a stupidly honest people, but I once lived five years in Chicago and know exactly how you feel."

An Auto In England

Don't take an American car on a tour of England, advised Professor Tupper, for its left-hand drive will only lead into trouble. Yet it would hardly seem that one could find his way into trouble in England even with a left-hand drive and be [illegible] for putting to the right instead of the left to avoid oncoming traffic, for every crossroads has its official guardian [illegible] the roads are patrolled [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

NEWS DEPARTMENT

SPORTS DEPARTMENT | WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

ASSISTANT EDITORS

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Vol. 49 February 6, 1931 No. 51

A POLICY

...

...

...

FACULTY MEN ADDRESS BIRD-BOTANICAL CLUBS

Five Botany and Zoology Professors Speak and Receive Offices in Society

[illegible] of the Bird and [illegible] last Friday [illegible] William Science[illegible] of the University [illegible] pertinent sub[illegible]

[illegible] assistant pro[illegible] of the University, [illegible]ts. First, he told [illegible] Failure" in which [illegible] the nesting instinct [illegible]elligence. The proc[illegible] a mechanical one [illegible]n the subject "The [illegible] Research Laboratory" [illegible]ohio and told of the [illegible] includes tempera[illegible] nests, eggs and birds [illegible]ess of the morning [illegible]r R. F. Lutman, pro[illegible] pathology at the Uni[illegible] "Old Age in Plants" [illegible] some plants as living [illegible] and others as reach[illegible]ed age of 6,000 years [illegible] from one-half hour to [illegible], while the giant red [illegible]una live to 4,000 years. [illegible]lood Tree is the tree [illegible] years. Doctor Lutman [illegible]aging of the organs of [illegible] of the human body. He [illegible] plant sprayed with Bor[illegible]ve ten days to two [illegible] than those that are not [illegible] also show a heavier pro[illegible]

[illegible]noon meeting opened with [illegible]r G. P. Burns on "The [illegible] Wood en Stem Development" [illegible]ted his talk with wood [illegible] drawings and lantern [illegible]

[illegible]ldood read two papers on [illegible]. One was "Nesting Mate[illegible] Miss E. M. Williams of [illegible] Pa. It told of the selec[illegible] nesting material. Birds strive [illegible] rather than beauty in their [illegible] materials. The other was [illegible]n of Bird's Eggs and [illegible]ment of Color Spots," by Miss [illegible] Manto of Staten Island, N. Y. [illegible] reference in her article to [illegible] collection now in Univer[illegible]um. There are 4,177 eggs [illegible] collection.

[illegible] paper of the afternoon was [illegible] Prof. E. J. Dole on "Vermont [illegible] The manuscript represented [illegible]ount of work on this sub[illegible] is a most valuable addition [illegible] records on the subject. In [illegible]sion Professor Dole brought [illegible] fact that there are twenty-two [illegible] of Peat Mosses or Sphagnum [illegible] the two mosses found in Ver[illegible] on such high peaks as [illegible] Camels Hump, Jay Peak, [illegible] of the True Mosses there are [illegible] families, forty-two being [illegible]ented in Vermont.

Receive Offices

[illegible] result of the business session [illegible] Saturday, Professors Dole and [illegible] received prominent posts.

[illegible]lowing the meeting Professor [illegible] presented an interesting [illegible] of the "Relationships, [illegible] Distribution, Chromosome [illegible] and Inheritance Studies in [illegible] Viola, with Special Refer[illegible] North American Forms." He [illegible]ed his talk with several plates [illegible] chromosome arrangements in [illegible] of violets which he had been [illegible] with several very excellent [illegible]graphs which he had made, [illegible] to each member of his [illegible] set of mimeographed [illegible] a bibliography of litera[illegible] with violets, and giving [illegible]ation and geographic range [illegible] species of violets, as [illegible] chromosome numbers, and [illegible]ating the family relation[illegible] Those of us who are accus[illegible] of violets in terms of [illegible] blue flowers of our mead[illegible] was most enlightening [illegible] different nature of vari[illegible]s of the family, and their [illegible] spread over the earth, as [illegible] on a large map of the [illegible] violets are normally self [illegible]owers. Professor Gershoy [illegible] method used for making [illegible] discussed the characteris[illegible] resultant hybrids.

JOHN VANDER SPEAKS TO CHEMISTRY GROUP

[illegible]er, '31, was the speaker [illegible] 7 seminar held by the [illegible] Department. Vander used [illegible] several of the chemical [illegible] the manufacture of soap. [illegible]istry Department has [illegible] interest in the foster[illegible] seminars for the past [illegible] and both students and fac[illegible]eved to have benefited [illegible] meetings.

[illegible]'ll open an office when I [illegible]'ll turn out to be a [illegible]

[illegible] R. Nelson, '32
One of the four editors of the Green

SCRIBNER'S SPONSORS SHORT STORY CONTEST

In a contest which provides an opening for stories from obscure writers, Scribner's Magazine in its February issue offers prizes of $1,000 and $[illegible] for the best narratives, 3,000 to 5,000 words, which are concerned with some phase of American life. All persons regardless of nationality or residence or previous literary experience are eligible for the contest which closes June 20, 1931.

The amateur has big chance in the contest, the announcement states. It is an attempt to bring new vigor and life into literature by reaching those people who are living and creating America and not merely writing about it. The narrators may be, says the statement, a worker in an oil field, a business man, a miner, a forest ranger, a stock breeder, a housewife, a débutante, a politician, a mistress of a deflated boom town, an apple grower, a bootlegger, an actor, a farmer, a bishop, an office cleaner or a longshoreman, anyone who has something significant to tell either about his own life or life as he has observed it.

The manuscripts may be either narratives or articles or sketches. They will be read as quickly as possible and all found suitable will be purchased outright and published. From these the prize winners will be selected. The purpose of the contest, states the announcement, is to break through the literary shell and get to the real America. The editors are hopeful that the majority of the stories will come from non-professional sources, from individuals who are expressing for the first time their thoughts on paper and will, because of that, bring a strength and vitality and freshness of vision often lacking in conventional writing.

As instances of the type of stories desired, Scribner's points to the cowboy tales of Will James, the "Hunkie" stories of Owen Francis and the Florida cracker stories of Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings. Each of these is said to be an accurate and interesting picture of life in a particular American setting.

Give this little girl a great big Hand!

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR

Special for Sophomore Hop
Shampoo and Finger Wave
$1.25

43 Church St. Phone 538

For the Kake=Walk

DECORATIONS
CREPE PAPER
POSTER BOARD
ART COLORS
McAULIFFE'S

Church & College Sts. Phone 629

The Ideal Hotel for You
In BOSTON
Is the NEW Hotel MANGER
At North Station
Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden
500 ROOMS
Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower ▼ Built-in-Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) ▼ Servidor Circulating Ice Water.
New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel
Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service.
RATES—ROOM AND BATH
FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00
FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00
No Higher Rates

THE FORUM

Onions and Alarm Clocks

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

REPORTS FOR SENIORS ARE DUE AT PRESENT

[illegible] the poems of Robert Frost and John Masefield. His[illegible] and biography include also[illegible] Pepys "Diary," Parkman's[illegible] and Prescott and French Revolution. The rest of the topics in the[illegible] are also interesting and[illegible] Further reading [illegible]

General Reading

[illegible]

The Plays

[illegible] "Right Royal Fox". E[illegible] A Exodus, 15, 20. Deu[illegible]

EDMOND A. GEMMAIS, '31

Feature editor of the Cynic who left office at the recent election

WILL PRESENT SECOND COLLEGE NIGHT THURS.

[illegible] Dance, Food Dance, Jazz Creation Dancing and [illegible] the Hall Dinner of Everett House [illegible] College Night with [illegible] under the management of Ed Converse, Thursday evening, February 12 at the Flynn Theater.

[illegible] will consist of the show [illegible] presenting specialty acts in a manner [illegible] and [illegible] at the annual [illegible] during the past years.

The arrangements of the program will be in accordance with Ed Converse's usual style.

[illegible]

"[illegible] got a sore throat and don't talk about it."

[illegible]

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain
[illegible] Hot Home-[illegible] Vermont [illegible]
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

THE MAINE CONVERSES

No Co-eds

[illegible]

[illegible] the results of [illegible] and the [illegible] Bowdoin [illegible] spent [illegible] a hour and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] of freshman [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTING NEWS

ELEVEN HOME GAMES ARE ARRANGED FOR 1931 BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Annual Southern Trip Opens Season With Initial Contest Against U. S. Marines on March 28

DARTMOUTH HERE FOR MEMORIAL DAY CLASH

[illegible] with the annual South- [illegible] University of Vermont [illegible] will open its season on [illegible] Quantico against the U. S. [illegible] according to the 1931 sched- [illegible] released from the Graduate [illegible] office. Ten games will be [illegible] on this trip made during the [illegible] vacation and three new op- [illegible] will appear against the Green [illegible] on this Southern invasion. [illegible] newcomers are Mt. St. Mary's, [illegible] Rutgers while Catholic [illegible] Princeton and Gallaudet [illegible] on last year's schedule [illegible] dropped.

[illegible] home game of the season [illegible] played Saturday, April 25, [illegible] the St. Michael's aggregation. [illegible] are to be eleven home [illegible] a schedule that includes [illegible] contests which is one [illegible] last year.

[illegible] Brown and New Hamp- [illegible] other newcomers on this [illegible] schedule, while Williams and [illegible] appear again after an absence of [illegible] Dartmouth will be here as [illegible] the annual Memorial Day [illegible]

[illegible] schedule follows:

BASEBALL SCHEDULE
1931

[illegible]	S. Marines	There
[illegible]	S. Marines	There
[illegible]	Mt. St. Mary's	There
[illegible]	Navy	There
[illegible]	Georgetown	There
[illegible]	Temple	There
[illegible]	Rutgers	There
[illegible]	Columbia	There
[illegible]	St. John's	There
[illegible]	Army	There
[illegible]	Springfield	There
[illegible]	Wesleyan	There
[illegible]	Brown	There
25	St. Michael's	Here
[illegible]	Williams	There
[illegible]	Norwich	There
[illegible]	Middlebury	There
9	St. Michael's	Here
[illegible]	Dartmouth	There
15	Springfield	Here
16	Conn. Aggies	Here
20	Norwich	Here
22	New Hampshire	Here
23	Tufts	Here
26	Middlebury	Here
30	Dartmouth	Here
12	St. Lawrence	Here
13	Alumni	Here

FOILSMEN SPLIT WITH MONTREAL AND MC GILL

[illegible] al from Montreal)

[illegible] undefeated fencing team [illegible] out the Montreal A. A. [illegible] waged meet 14-13 with [illegible] Wadsworth starring.

[illegible] es in one day proved too [illegible] and McGill avenged the loss [illegible] brethen by triumphing [illegible] loss experienced rivals 17-8 [illegible] to and Perelman main- [illegible] Green and Gold standards.

STUDENT MAKES FIRST SOLO FLIGHT RECENTLY

[illegible] Vermont students, Philip [illegible] Riverdale, New York, [illegible] his first solo flight un- [illegible] vision of Robert St. Jack [illegible] City Flying Club.

[illegible] has for several days [illegible] students in flying at [illegible] Burlington. It was [illegible] received his degree of [illegible] of the features of the [illegible] plane's equipment of skis [illegible] on its landing gear.

[illegible] so many good coaches [illegible] many smart ones, who [illegible] and learned from all the [illegible] of football science. [illegible] a team) usually tells [illegible] by material you must [illegible] only quality, but also [illegible] Grantland Rice.

CAT'S MEOW

Sporting Editor

With Middlebury as our guests on Tuesday evening, the rafters in the gym should reecho thundering cheers. "Bunny" Prentice has a team packed with fight and a whirlwind contest is in the offering.

Frosh basketball gets underway when Archie Post takes his charges on a two game trip, playing Troy Conference and Vermont Academy.

"Bob" Hendrick at goalie changes the whole aspect of the hockey situation. The state title is within their grasp—"Up and at 'em!"

President Gates of the University of Peru, threw a bombshell into collegiate athletics by his recent utterances. A step in the right direction by the Penn. authorities.

Middlebury hockey team will be favored to retain her state hockey title, due to victories over Amherst, St. Stephens and Norwich. U. V. M. will be the underdog and watch her go.

Bunny Prentice has instilled fight in his men and they typify what we expect—both the coach and team. Chet Taft is the unsung hero, unassuming and modest, he fits in well with his mentor's offensive scheme.

Middlebury is getting plenty of space in the Boston dailies with pictures and news of her hockey sextet—why doesn't Vermont step out and set the pace?

Harvard is leading the pack for hockey honors in the East. Coach Joe Stubbs has another champion sextet on the runners.

PING PONG CAPTURES MED STUDENTS' FANCY

Sternberg Defeats Bassow For Championship In Parlor Sport

"Small 12" Sternberg and "Doc" Carltonia Bassow survived all attempts on part of brother studes to beat them at their own game and proceeded directly to annihilate each other in a bloody battle for the Ping Pong championship. Winchenbach cabled his regrets.

Med Antics

Following the toss-up Krump being tossed for the loss, Sterny chose to defend the North-east goal. Doc Bassow, however had the wind in his favor—Medics behind the goal line furnishing the Bronx Breeze. Sterny dealt first and a rousing cheer arose from the gallery when Doc took a nose dive on the floor to score the first tally. Doc apparently undaunted gritted his teeth and unflinchingly met the Cleveland Wonders next serve returning it so hotly that Sterny just managed to escape the fire with only a brush burn.

From thence on the battle waged torridly, Doc at times taking the lead only to have Sterny snatch it back. The half ended with Doc placing a giant backhand drive into the coffee pot in the bookstore and amid cheers the boys stormed the counter for oolong tea and ping pong coffee.

The second half opened with the ten-ten score in favor of Archambault, Doc serving a neat one from under the table, where he was quite at home. It was evident that the contents were throwing caution to the winds and a ragged exhibition of the classic game followed for a few minutes. Sterny settled down soon however and forced the game to a point where it was again marked with a fierceness and determination.

In one volley Sterny did the almost impossible running deep out into the side lines retrieving the pill as it was about to fall into the mouth of Woody Hall, who was gazing pop-eyed at the stirring spectacle of American manhood, brains and brawn pitted against each other. With a master stroke the Cleveland boy returned it safely across the median to the astonishment of Doc. The grasp of the spectators bellowed forth lustily in approval. Cheers were so much in order at this point of the game that the ball wavered back and forth in mid-air as if chained by unseen forces.

Doc, already showing effects of the grovelling battle, was stimulated to snatch victory from defeat, when Sterny refused to connect with a shot slightly Englished. Not to be outdone, however, Sterny countered with a Scandinavian variety. Here Doc spat on his hands and decided to make a last standing, but Sterns with his back against the wall, his toe feet planted firmly on the hard ground coolly prepared to make the parting crack and with a beautiful shot [illegible] down to Doc's hopes of being crowned champion.

Doc was crowned anyway. Removing their green shirts the group for the "Small 12" admiring friends turned [illegible] to their shoulders and with a [illegible] arms in possession, preceded the [illegible] showing [illegible] and the [illegible] up to the [illegible] [illegible] where Doc Bassow promptly took Sterny over the [illegible]

TAU EPS MEET PHI SIGS TO OPEN BASKETBALL TOURNEY NEXT MONDAY

Interfraternity Tournament Will See Old Rivals In Action—Kappa Sigs Given Bye

PHI DELTS WILL PLAY INDEPENDENTS TUESDAY

League I

Feb. 9	6.15—7.30	ΦΣΔ / TEΦ
Feb. 11	6.15—7.30	ΔΨ / ΣAE
Feb. 13	5.00—6.00	Faculty / AI
Feb. 14	3.15—4.30	ATΩ / ΣΦ

League II

Feb. 10	6.15—7.30	ΦΔΘ / Ind.
Feb. 12	6.15—7.30	ΣN / ΣX
Feb. 14	2.00—3.15	ΦMΔ / ZX

KΣ bye

Interfrat basketball gets into action when the perennial rivals the Tau Eps and Phi Sigs meet on Monday eve., February 9 at 6.15 p.m.

The opening clash should prove a hair-raising spectacle for the players as well as spectators.

All indications prove that the title winner will not have a path studded with gold as all teams have been materially strengthened which should make the competition keen and rugged.

Last year's cup winners, the Kappa Sigs, have drawn a bye and emanating reports reveal that Ed Newcomb has another fine quintet in the making eager to repeat its sensational campaign of last year.

LOWELL TEXTILE FIVE HERE TOMORROW EVE

Rusty Yarnall Comes With Strong Team to Tackle Catamounts

With cares of mid-years over, Coach Howard Prentice and his speedy Catamount quintet engage in festivities with their traditional rivals, Lowell Textile, tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the U. V. M. Gym.

Vermont welcomes back Rusty Yarnall, mentor of the Textilites who was a familiar cavorter on both the gridiron and the court. As usual, the Massachusetts boys present a fighting five built around the visitors' center. Averaging fifty points a game, Lowell Textile has built up a high scoring machine and both "Chet" Taft and Bob Tobin should have a busy night keeping the score down.

A close scrap should keep affairs humming and a huge crowd is expected in attendance.

All sophomores wishing to scrub track should report to the gym any afternoon after 4 o'clock
Hugh R. Mattison
Manager of Track.

Seniors who have not yet turned in their reading reports for the first half-year must complete this requirement by March 1.

All senior reading reports for the second half-year must be handed in by Saturday, May 2. No extension of time will be granted.

Vermont Blanks St. Stephens Pucksters 8-0 On Home Rink

First Victory of Year Sees Return of Hendrick, Veteran Goalie—McVetty Scores Five Goals Unassisted To Aid In Triumph

ST. STEPHENS SEXTET SHOWS LITTLE PRACTICE

With the return of Bob Hendrick star goalie the Green and Gold sextet [illegible] washed St. Stephens [illegible] in the first contest of the year. The veteran [illegible] a return [illegible] up a sore spot on Coach Abraham's squad and the Catamounts took the ice highly confident.

McVetty was the individual star of the day when he personally poked five goals past Captain Blomquist who was having a tough job protecting the net.

St. Stephens showed an obvious lack of practice, unable to keep on their feet.

John Cunningham was the only other change in the regular lineup, taking the place of Dick Swain, stellar defenseman who was declared ineligible.

Summary

Vermont		St. Stephens
McVetty	r w	l w Keppler, Griffith
Wood, Marvin	c	c White
Mercier	l w	r w Spohr
Segal	r d	l d Hale
Cunningham	l d	r d Riley, Brownell
Hendrick	g	g Blomquist

Goals: McVetty 5, Mercier, Wood, Cunningham.

Referees: Howard and Schurman.

Time: Three 15 minute periods.

SENIOR BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD HERE MARCH 6 AND 7

High School Quintets to Engage in Junior and Senior Tournaments to Decide State Title

According to information released by the tournament director Sabin C. Abell, the Tenth Annual Interscholastic Basketball Tournament to decide the Senior Championship of the State of Vermont will be held under the direction of the Executive Council of the Headmasters' Club of Vermont in the U. V. M. Gymnasium at Burlington on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7.

The preliminary games will begin Friday afternoon at 3.00 o'clock. The first game of the qualifying rounds is to be played at 3.00 o'clock and the second at 4.00 o'clock. The third game begins at 7.30 and the fourth at 8.30. Semi finals will be played on Saturday afternoon at 1.30 and 2.30. The final game for the Senior Championship will be held Saturday night beginning promptly at 8.00 o'clock.

All schools in the State, whose boy enrollment in grades 9-12 on November 28, 1928 was more than 60 and who have played the season under the eligibility rules of the Headmasters' Club of Vermont, are eligible to compete for this championship. Schools, whose boy enrollment was less than 60 on the above date, should apply for admission of their teams to the Junior Tournament.

The competing teams will be chosen by the Executive Council of the Headmasters' Club of Vermont.

Eight teams will be chosen for the tournament. These teams must be contenders for the state championship and will be subject to the rules and regulations laid down by the Executive Council of the Headmasters' Club of Vermont. The right to reject any entry is reserved. Teams will be drawn and placed on a schedule for competition and such drawing will be final.

Admission will be charged at all games. The net gate receipts will be divided in proportion to the total mileage of each team participating. No team is to receive more than actual travel expense. Hotel accommodations will be provided for the visiting teams out of the gate receipts. Teams will be entertained, beginning with dinner Friday, until the close of the Tournament or such time as they will be able to obtain transportation home.

The winner of the tournament will receive from the Athletic Council of the University of Vermont, a cup emblematic of the championship of the Senior Division, for its permanent possession.

The winner of the Junior Tournament may challenge the winner of the Senior Tournament to play for the State Championship.

POST ISSUES RULES FOR 1931 INTERFRAT TOURNEY

To avoid any disputes which may arise after the tourney gets underway Archie Post, director of intra-mural athletics has issued the rules governing the 1931 interfraternity basketball league.

1. Officials and balls furnished by physical education department.

2. Preliminary and semi-final games shall consist of four ten minute periods.

The final game shall consist of two twenty minute periods.

3. Evening games shall start not later than six-thirty (6.30). Any team not ready to start at this time shall forfeit the game.

The same rule applies to afternoon games which shall start at the exact time designated on the schedule.

4. Cup for winner to be furnished by Key and Serpent Society.

5. A man who has received a varsity basketball letter at Vermont or any other college or university, who has participated in a varsity basketball contest this year, or who is now one of the first ten men on the freshman or varsity basketball squads, shall not compete.*

All other bona fide undergraduate fraternity men are eligible to compete.

Note: Entrance fee of one dollar ($1.00) due and payable from each fraternity before team enters tournament.

Make checks payable to Treasurer,
Key and Serpent Society.

5. * (Or any man designated by Basketball Coaches.)

Now
A Sale of Wool Hose
SMART
65c
WORTH
$1.50
TURK'S
Burlington
Vt.

Inquiry Shows Private Bequests To State Institutions Are Large

[illegible]

[illegible] $507,861.59 In addition [illegible] ings to the total value of nearly $1,000,000 have been donated to the [illegible] by friends.

[illegible] of California is an [illegible] of what the generosity [illegible] has done for [illegible] Mary Lyon [illegible] $1,000,000 [illegible] This figure includes [illegible] those gifts which were in excess of $50,000.

[illegible] of large educational institutions in the Southwest the largest gift of [illegible] for buildings alone [illegible] has been the recipient of over $2,500,000, in addition to one of the largest gifts ever [illegible] by an individual to a public [illegible] of learning, the estate [illegible] to be in excess of $12,000,000 [illegible] to enlarge and to [illegible] the efficiency of a hospital [illegible] to the medical branch of the [illegible]

Private Giving

[illegible] the [illegible] the general [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1931 NUMBER 32

Prof. Ellenberger Asks Increase In State Aid For Aggie College

With Dean Hills and Director Bradlee, Group Asks for Cut in Tuition, and Legislative Appropriation for New Building and Grass Dryer

COMMITTEE IN HOUSE HEARS COLLEGE NEEDS

[illegible], tuition, the construction [illegible] for demonstration [illegible] the provision of a [illegible] grass drying, Prof [illegible] backed by Dean [illegible] Thomas Bradlee, ap[illegible] the House Committee of [illegible], January 28, with [illegible] provision of funds for [illegible] Agriculture.

Tuition too High

[illegible] tuition at the State Agricul[illegible] is too high as compared [illegible] states was pointed out by [illegible]. The charge of $300 per [illegible] he said, and thirty sena[illegible] the privilege of granting [illegible] with $120 each. This [illegible] the tuition $180 for students so [illegible] and $300 for each of the [illegible]. He said the tuition in other [illegible] from $60 per year per [illegible] to no charge for tuition. [illegible] a cut in the tuition cost.

A building to serve as an auditorium [illegible] needed at the college. This [illegible] be used for demonstration and [illegible] for both students and visitors. [illegible] placed the cost at between $12,000 [illegible] $20,000 depending on the type of [illegible] constructed.

Modern Dairy Practices

He declared the dairy industry of [illegible] must cut its costs if it is [illegible] with the industry in other [illegible] of the country. One of the ways [illegible] which the industry might econo[illegible] he said, was to keep abreast of [illegible] modern practices. One of these [illegible] said was the newly discovered method of drying grass artificially.

The experimental station at the Agricultural College would like to work out a plan under which young grass could be dried artificially. He declared the protein and other valuable elements it contained would replace hay and grain to some extent. Many thousands of dollars would be saved the farmer each year he said and would soon repay the initial expense of conducting the experiments.

He estimated the cost of the experimental work at about $10,000.

Director Bradlee explained the three needs of the extension service, and enumerated them as follows:

More aid in the work of Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

A specialist to help the men now engaged in orcharding.

A service which would bring together and analyze information to assist those engaged in the industry of agriculture to better anticipate demand and aid in regulating supply.

He suggested an appropriation of $12,000 would be necessary to carry out all three of the provisions.

There are indications a bill must be drawn to cover these suggestions, either in part or whole.

WILL PRESENT SECOND COLLEGE NIGHT THURS.

[illegible] Doten's Black Pirate five-piece [illegible] on the same bill with the [illegible] presentation of the screen fea[illegible] Dance, Fools, Dance," the second [illegible] Night will be presented by [illegible]course at the Flynn Theatre, [illegible] night, February 12 at 8.45.

[illegible] Shepherd will offer several [illegible] selections. Art Brown of the [illegible] is to render a musical specialty [illegible] a Song Cake." Three dancers [illegible] the Upton School of Dancing will [illegible] the guests of the evening.

As an added attraction, a prize, to be awarded to the holder of the lucky [illegible] will be given by Haynes and Car[illegible].

The Black Pirates have recently [illegible] their second annual contract [illegible] a European trip next summer on [illegible] Cunard Line. The players:

[illegible] H. Arms, '33, W. C. Brasor, '31, [illegible] '34 R. S. Grant, '33, and [illegible] Thompson, '33.

SOPHOMORES PRESENT YEAR'S FIRST FORMAL

The main dining room of the Hotel [illegible] Friday evening was the scene [illegible] most brilliant college dance of [illegible] the Sophomore Hop at [illegible] the Black Pirates played. The [illegible] sponsored by the class of [illegible] under the direction of [illegible].

The subscription price was $3.00 [illegible] included a buffet supper which [illegible] at 11.30.

[illegible] and Mrs. D. B. Carroll and [illegible] and Mrs. P. D. Carleton were the [illegible] scheduled for the evening. [illegible] committees: Decoration [illegible] M. Miltimore, chairman, [illegible] Odell J. Carson, Elizabeth [illegible] Clements; Antoinette Hub[illegible]son, Marion Kiel; advertis[illegible] C. Dunn, chairman, W. C [illegible].

[illegible] S. Hartwell of the history [illegible] will address the Oread [illegible] Club at Johnson Thursday [illegible].

[illegible] announces the pledging [illegible] Baldwin, '33, of Bridgport.

STUDENTS EVINCE MUCH INTEREST IN HAM WORK

Three Holding Amateur Operator's Licenses Consider Reorganization of Radio Club

Some interest has been evinced by various "technically minded" members of the student body in the re-establishment and operation of the University amateur radio station, WIARY. This station, which has been in existence ten years or more, has had its ups and downs, depending upon the number of licensed amateur operators in the college. At present there are three men doing "ham" work, who hold government licenses, Robert Bigwood, '31, who has a commercial license and who is the chief operator at WCAX, the University broadcasting station, Donald Child, '32, and Richard Murray, '34, these last two holding amateur class licenses. There are also three or four others who have shown a desire to obtain licenses of the latter type.

To Organize Club

There has been some talk of re-organizing the University of Vermont Radio Club and forming a code instruction class, with the view of enabling the prospective operators to pass the government requirement of ten words per minute, in the International Morse Code. Technical instruction would also be given in an amount sufficient to cover the simple written examination required.

At present opinion is divided as to whether a club should be formed (in the usual way), or to allow those interested access to the station whenever they so desire and have no organization at all. Advantages and disadvantages exist in both plans. A meeting is to be announced in the CYNIC in the near future and will decide upon the matter. However, everyone is in agreement that those entering must show a definite interest and progress toward the attainment of every good prospective amateur's goal, the government license. Those not showing this interest will only be wasting their time and that of the others, and should not come to the meeting.

Successful Transmitter

Just now there is enough material for the construction of a good transmitting set, with a power output of fifty watts. A short wave receiving set has already been built by Murray and has operated very successfully in the short time since its completion. Stations all over the eastern and western hemispheres having been logged. A provisional transmitter was set up, but has not been put into successful operation as yet, it will be however but a short time until this has been done and the station placed in two way communication with other amateurs of this and foreign countries.

MEDICAL COLLEGE TO GIVE SPECIAL APTITUDE TESTS FOR ENTRANCE

Will Require Doctor Moss' Test and Personal Interview of All Incoming Students

FIRST ADMISSION TEST SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY

[illegible] meeting [illegible] of the Association of American Medical Colleges the Medical College of the University of Vermont was told [illegible] use a special aptitude test as a [illegible] basis for determining the [illegible] of applicants to enter the study of medicine, according to an announcement made by Dean J. N. Jenne last Wednesday.

Heretofore entrance to the University of Vermont Medical College has been based on scholastic grades earned by a student during his pre-medical course. Under the new requirements, the students admitted next fall will be chosen by their pre-medical college scholastic grades their showing in the special aptitude test and a personal interview with faculty members.

To Be Given Friday

The special aptitude test which will be given Friday, February 13, to candidates for admission to the local medical college and other class A institutions, was devised by Dr. F. A. Moss of George Washington University, two years ago. The Association of American Medical Colleges appointed a committee to try out this test. The committee selected forty-one class A medical colleges including the University of Vermont, where first-year students volunteered to take the test last spring. The test papers were sent to Doctor Moss, and later the marks on these tests were compared with the students' standing in their medical courses. The correlation was found to run so true that at the meeting of the Association in Denver last October, it was voted to recommend that all class A medical schools adopt the test as a means of selecting students.

In Two Parts

Doctor Jenne described the two versions of the test which have been submitted in the past two years, as fitted to determine accurately a student's capabilities to acquire new scientific knowledge.

The tests have been in two parts. In the first part a complicated picture showing a large number of objects, labelled, was placed before the student. He was allowed to look at it for ten minutes. Then it was taken away and he was asked to write down what he had seen in the picture. The picture last year was of the organs of the abdomen which were named and numbered. The students were required to supply the numbers and locate the objects. Both years the subject matter of the picture has been some complex anatomical dissection.

In the second part of the test the students were given sheets of paper containing about 100 detached statements of fact relating to various scientific fields. They had forty-five minutes to study these statements which for the most part were new to them. Then the papers were taken away and they were asked questions which could be answered with "yes" or "no" testing the success of their 45 minute study.

Grades Not Indicative

Dean Jenne said that medical colleges had recognized that grades of students in pre-medical courses were not an adequate or satisfactory test of ability to enter the study of medicine. It was believed all students expecting to enter a medical course next fall either at Vermont or elsewhere should take the special aptitude test February 13 at the Medical College.

In an experimental tests taken by volunteer first year medical students a year ago, Doctor Moss judged according the grade of work the students were doing in their courses, Dean Jenne said. Rochester Post Express.

Prof. H. F. Perkins of the Rural Survey Committee and the zoology department, will speak on the work of the Rockefeller Commission on Country Life in Vermont at the annual dinner of the Vermont Society of New York which is to be held tonight at the Park Lane Hotel in New York City.

Ratcliffe, London Publicist, Urges Self-Rule For India

Declares Nationalist Leaders Must Accept Round-table Terms—Sees Gandhi as Prophet not Politician

LECTURER ADDRESSES SOCIAL SCIENCE CLASSES

[illegible] Ratcliffe, [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student ... Members of the New England ...

EDITORS

NEWS DEPARTMENT

SPORTS DEPARTMENT | WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

ASSISTANT EDITORS

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Vol. 49 ... Number 10

A STEP FORWARD

... 1822 ...

... 1911 ...

... 1917 ...

THE FACTS SPEAK

... $300 ...

... $120 ...

... $40,000 ...

THE FORUM

REALTY OPINIONS

... Quoth the Raven! ...

Little known to college folks is the fact that Edgar Allen Poe was a student at the University of Virginia in 1826. On Monday, January 19 many visitors were present for his 122nd anniversary. The room in which he lived is kept as nearly intact as possible.

Ohio State University students have petitioned the authorities to cut the spring vacation from ten to three or four days.

... Co-ed Betrays Hiding Place ...

A cherished bell clapper, used to pen forth the token of victory for the Oklahoma Aggies over their neighboring rival, Oklahoma University, was mysteriously spirited away, supposedly by O. U. students. Some time later a university coed had a date with one of the Aggie boys. Her conversation unconsciously revealed the hiding place of the bell clapper. A quiet search was made by Aggie students with no results. But dire threats of terrible punishment to a captured University student brought his colleagues on a run with the desired clapper. And now the object of all the excitement will repose in a secure hiding place known to a select few, to be brought out only on very special occasions.

... Quoth the Raven! ...

... Ohio State University students have petitioned ...

The Mystic Pen

Sayings of the Wise

... mp ...

... Pome ...

... mp ...

... deirdre ...

... mp ...

Predictions for February

Another earthquake; better CYNIC two more people will read this column twice. In succession: three U. V. M. blonds will give up the struggle; somebody's heart will be broken because the jersey lad flunked out; 100 per cent of the student body will make a resolve to crack a few books and make up for those C's; the CYNIC will have no striking editorial; the market will be in an upswing at the end of the month; U. S. Steel will maintain a firm position; Chrysler will be a risky proposition for the shorts; summer will be so much closer; we will have to shave so much oftener.

... mp ...

Mournful Numbers

FOUR ROSES; A WAIL

All things assume a negroid air
I beat my breast and tear my hair
And wish those happy days were back
Oh, I'm a hypochondriac!
Say, hearken, hearken to my woe
My pressure's high, my pulse is slow,
My eyes myopic and inflamed

... mp ...

Patent Stimulator for Jaded Brains

One dark, stormy night an itinerant vendor found his car broken down on a country road. He saw that he would have to stay at some nearby farm for the night. He saw a light in the distance and found that it came from some farm house. He knocked on the door. The farmer's daughter opened it. She was...(fill blank). The Salesman asked the farmer to put him up for the night. Said the farmer Well...(fill blank). But you can (fill blank). But remember....(fill blank), because...(fill blank). The itinerant vendor agreed, and retired. Before long...(fill blank), so (fill blank). The next morning the farmer asked the vendor, "Well, how (fill blank)?" "Fine," answered he, "but...(fill blank)!!"

... mp ...

deirdre

the cool breeze dips
pendant stars—irridescent...and a moon—pale yellow you—in the half-light small, sweetly inviting with languorous lips

... mp ...

Predictions for February

Another earthquake; better CYNIC two more people will read this column twice. In succession: three U. V. M. blonds will give up the struggle; somebody's heart will be broken because the jersey lad flunked out; 100 per cent of the student body will make a resolve to crack a few books and make up for those C's; the CYNIC will have no striking editorial; the market will be in an upswing at the end of the month; U. S. Steel will maintain a firm position; Chrysler will be a risky proposition for the shorts; summer will be so much closer; we will have to shave so much oftener.

... mp ...

Mournful Numbers

FOUR ROSES; A WAIL

All things assume a negroid air
I beat my breast and tear my hair
And wish those happy days were back
Oh, I'm a hypochondriac!
Say, hearken, hearken to my woe
My pressure's high, my pulse is slow,
My eyes myopic and inflamed

... mp ...

Patent Stimulator for Jaded Brains

One dark, stormy night an itinerant vendor found his car broken down on a country road. He saw that he would have to stay at some nearby farm for the night. He saw a light in the distance and found that it came from some farm house. He knocked on the door. The farmer's daughter opened it. She was...(fill blank). The Salesman asked the farmer to put him up for the night. Said the farmer Well...(fill blank). But you can (fill blank). But remember....(fill blank), because...(fill blank). The itinerant vendor agreed, and retired. Before long...(fill blank), so (fill blank). The next morning the farmer asked the vendor, "Well, how (fill blank)?" "Fine," answered he, "but...(fill blank)!!"

... mp ...

deirdre

the cool breeze dips
pendant stars—irridescent...and a moon—pale yellow you—in the half-light small, sweetly inviting with languorous lips

... mp ...

Predictions for February

Another earthquake; better CYNIC two more people will read this column twice. In succession: three U. V. M. blonds will give up the struggle; somebody's heart will be broken because the jersey lad flunked out; 100 per cent of the student body will make a resolve to crack a few books and make up for those C's; the CYNIC will have no striking editorial; the market will be in an upswing at the end of the month; U. S. Steel will maintain a firm position; Chrysler will be a risky proposition for the shorts; summer will be so much closer; we will have to shave so much oftener.

... mp ...

Mournful Numbers

FOUR ROSES; A WAIL

All things assume a negroid air
I beat my breast and tear my hair
And wish those happy days were back
Oh, I'm a hypochondriac!
Say, hearken, hearken to my woe
My pressure's high, my pulse is slow,
My eyes myopic and inflamed

... mp ...

Progress of Collegiate Culture

... mp ...

Contemporary Crack of the Week

... mp ...

... mp ...

... mp ...

SPORTING NEWS

Vermont Edges St. Michael's Five, 21-17 On Title Path

Tupper and Winant Basket 7 and 5 Points for Green and Gold—Devine Scores 8 Credits for St. Mikes

CATAMOUNTS NOW TIED WITH NORWICH QUINTET

[illegible] another obstacle [illegible] the conference title, [illegible]-mount quintet edged [illegible] five 21-17 at the Win- [illegible] surface last Thursday [illegible] the second time that [illegible] Gold five has toppled [illegible] the first encounter [illegible] Vermonters by one point [illegible] two wins over St [illegible] Vermont is now tied with [illegible] for first place in the confer- [illegible] team having two wins and [illegible] to their credit. Norwich [illegible] also to eke out a win over [illegible] Park aggregation at the [illegible] season, but since then has [illegible] Middlebury by a safe margin, [illegible] Vermont is as yet untried [illegible] the Black Panthers.

[illegible] last Thursday night [illegible] the hottest frays ever to [illegible] at the Winooski court. It [illegible] a nip and tuck struggle from start to [illegible] with the game seesawing up [illegible] the floor. Both teams dis- [illegible] a strong defense, with the [illegible] five the flashier on the of-

Rusty Tupper opened the scoring [illegible] by sinking a long one [illegible] right side of the court. Dur- [illegible] Sears both added single [illegible] from the penalty stripe and [illegible] then came through with a [illegible] to make the count 5-2 for [illegible]. Tupper followed with an [illegible] sidestepshot. Burke retaliated for [illegible] by caging two fouls, Tupper, [illegible] and Winant each scored from [illegible] lane. Tobin netting two [illegible]. With the exception of a twin- [illegible] by Devine from the tap-off, [illegible] scoring points tallied during [illegible] half were hung up via the [illegible] route. All told, sixteen fouls [illegible] committed during this period, of [illegible] fourteen were successfully con- [illegible]. With the score 11-4 in the [illegible] of the period, the Vermont [illegible] dwindled to nothing at its close, [illegible] the tally 11 all.

[illegible] opened the second half for [illegible] Michaels with a spectacular one- [illegible] heave from the side of the [illegible] but Tupper came back to knot [illegible] count again. Hank Durfey and [illegible] Winant followed in rapid suc- [illegible] Durfey caging a long one from [illegible] side and Winant splitting the [illegible] from the center lane. It was [illegible] sudden offensive display which [illegible] the Catamounts to obtain a [illegible] that St. Michael's could not over- [illegible]. Play began to get fast and [illegible] rough at this point, the Purple [illegible] making frenzied attempts [illegible] the score, but were able to hang [illegible] the twin-counter. It was only [illegible] excellent shooting of fouls and its [illegible] defense work that Vermont was [illegible] to keep its precarious lead and [illegible] the hopes of the desperate [illegible]-men.

Tupper, Taft and Durfey did the [illegible] for Vermont while Devine [illegible] was the ranking player of the [illegible] aggregation.

The summary:

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible]	1	3	5
[illegible]	3	1	7
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	1	2	4
[illegible]	1	2	4
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	1	1
	6	9	21

ST. MICHAEL'S

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible]	0	1	1
[illegible]	3	2	8
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	1	1
[illegible]	0	5	5
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	2	2
	3	11	17

Referee: Cassidy.

RIFLE TEAM SCHEDULE COMPRISES THIRTY-SIX MATCHES DURING MONTH

Shoulder-to-shoulder and telegraphed matches of the rifle team are scheduled by Manager A. H. Roller with thirty-six colleges and universities during the period from February 2 to March 28. The Catamount sharpshooters will meet twelve institutions from February 2 to March 21.

Shoulder-to-shoulder matches consist of seven engagements two at home and three elsewhere.

Week ending February 7
- Union of Texas
- Ohio State University
- University of Gettysburg

Week ending February 14
- DePauw College
- University of Idaho
- University of Maine
- University of Kentucky
- Alabama Polytechnic Institute.
- University of Pittsburg.
- Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College

Week ending February 21
- University of New Hampshire.
- Michigan State College.
- Colorado School of Mines
- 25th Infantry
- Quachita College.
- Lafayette College.
- Oregon State.
- Virginia Polytechnic Institute

Week ending February 28
- Presbyterian College
- Johns Hopkins University.
- University of Hawaii.
- University of Akron.

Week ending March 7:
- University of Washington.
- Massachusetts Agricultural College.
- New Mexico A and W.
- Montana State

Week ending March 14:
- University of Delaware.
- W. L. A. Rifle Team.
- Connecticut Agricultural College.

Week ending March 21:
- Oklahoma A and M.
- Wichita University.
- Texas School of Technology.
- Kansas University.

Week ending March 28:
- New York Stock Exchange.
- University of Michigan.
- Davidson College.

Vermont's rifle team has joined the National Rifle Association under whose jurisdiction matches are being played. Recently elected members of the Intercollegiate League, the Catamount sharpshooters are to engage in seven weekly matches:

Week ending:

Feb. 7	Mass. Inst. of Tech.	(there)
14	Connecticut Agricultural College.	(here)
21	Worcester Polytechnic Inst.	(there)
28	Rennselaer Polytechnic Inst.	(there)
Mar. 7	Boston University.	(here)
14	Norwich.	(here)
21	Cooper Tech.	(there)

Shoulder-to-shoulder matches

Feb. 14	Co K Vermont National Guard	(here)
28	Fort Ethan Allen	(there)
Mar. 7	Norwich	(there)
14	Norwich	(here)
21	McGill	(there)

CAT'S MEOW

[illegible]

Black Panthers make their début tonight. Coach Prentice and his squad [illegible] the conference race [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible]

With the Winooski set at bay Mid- [illegible] [illegible] Norwich tonight. Let's [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Ringleader Tupper in what the Winooski Press [illegible] said [illegible] Four personal fouls in two minutes is some record.

Hockey finds Norwich opposing the U. V. M. sextet in the final [illegible] [illegible] afternoon. Lee McVetty [illegible] a pair up sneak and [illegible] what [illegible] a [illegible] score of our hockey fortunes.

A battle of goalies should decide the outcome. Captain Fullerton is a familiar figure behind that net. Bob Hendrick is the last encountered had the edge.

Lowell Textile Tops Cats, 32-17

Jarek Rolls up 18 Tallies to Outpoint Entire Vermont Quintet

Lowell Textile caught Vermont off form at the gym last Saturday night, easily disposing of the Green and Gold five, 32-17, in a tepid game.

Rusty Yarnall's proteges flashed a well-drilled passing attack and displayed a keen eye for the basket. The Catamounts on the other hand, couldn't seem to connect with their passes and showed hesitance in trying to garner baskets.

Jarek was the big gun for the visitors, amassing eighteen points for his team. He was one of the shiftiest forwards seen on the gym floor this year.

Talbert was high point man for Vermont, netting two floor goals and a foul.

Vermont will tackle Middlebury this evening at the gym in its third conference game. The result is a toss-up inasmuch as the Black Panthers have fallen before the onslaught of the Norwich Cadets, who were just barely able to edge out St. Michael's. With Vermont back to form again, a furious struggle may be expected.

The summary:

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts
Winant, r.f.	0	0	0
Pires, r.f.	1	1	3
Tupper, l.f.	1	2	4
Farwell, l.f.	0	0	0
Durfey, c.	0	1	1
Sargent, c.	0	0	0
Tobin, r.g.	0	0	0
Talbert, l.g.	2	1	5
Taft, l.g.	1	2	4
Totals	5	7	17

LOWELL TEXTILE

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts
Jarek, r.f.	5	8	18
Moran, r.f.	0	0	0
Savard, l.f.	1	4	6

Catamount Quintet Will Encounter Panthers Tonight

Third Meet in State Series Will See Vermont Lined Up for Second Place Tie

HOCKEY SEXTET OPENS STATE SERIES COMBAT, DEFEATING CADETS 3-1

McVetty Leads U. V. M. Attack to Victory at Sabine Field

Scrambling all winning chances to two wonderful scores the Catamounts' sextet triumphed over the Norwich Knights 3 to 1 at Sabine Field in the opening tilt of the state series.

Once again McVetty led the U. V. M. attack scoring the first period after splitting the Horsemen defense, he had Fullerton at his mercy and shot the puck through the strings. Later in the closing stanza he made a solo dash through the entire Orange and Red team to check up his second counter. Not satisfied that he had done his bit for the afternoon with Mercier on left wing they swept into alien territory and as the defense already checked him passed to Prenchy who beat the prostrate goalie for the third and last goal.

Play opened fast and furious and the two teams battled in Norwich territory both goalies being tested with flying pucks from all angles. Younger man at right wing for Norwich after circling his own net coasted down with O'Byrne received a pass and shot the only marker for the Northfield aggregation.

Soft ice slowed down the speed and the game assumed a normal gait with Bob Hendrick, providing some sensational saves to keep the enemy from penetrating the Vermont net.

Lineups:

VERMONT		NORWICH
Mercier (Cunningham), l.w.		r.w. Carpenter
Segal, (Marvin) c.	c.	Martin (O'Byrne)
McVetty, r.w.	l.w.	Bugbee (Youngerman)
Cunningham (Segal)	l.d.	r.d. Laythe
Swain	r.d.	l.d. McKellar
Hendrick,	g.	g. Fullerton

Goals—McVetty (2), Mercier (1).

Sill, l.f.	0	0	0
Kupala, c.	4	0	8
Kokoska, r.g.	0	0	0
Mamber, r.g.	0	0	0
Quigley, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	10	12	32

Referee—Harold L. O'Brien.

MIDDLEBURY TO DATE IS BALANCED IN SERIES

With two conference victories already tucked away Coach Benny Prentice is stepping his charges for their third state encounter with Middlebury tonight on the local court.

So far Middlebury has had only mediocre success outside of the state series, managing to outpoint St. Stephens in a high-scoring game on the latter's floor. As far as State games go, however, the Panthers have garnered an even score. They defeated St. Michael's by a two-point margin at Middlebury, and dropped their second game to Norwich by [illegible] score at Rutland.

Led by their diminutive captain [illegible] and Volkman at the forwards the Blue and White have a fierce, strong offense strengthened by Corliss at center and Hoyle the sophomore football flash at guard with Hoyle at the other. Defensively their strength is not potent as they have allowed St. Michael's minus their ex-captain, Lee Slattery, to score 24 points on their home court and also Norwich managed to run up 36 points on the Blue and White at Rutland.

Coach Prentice will no doubt start his regular lineup consisting of Winant and Pires or Tupper at the forward berths, Durfey at center and Taft and Tobin in the back court.

A Middlebury victory would force the Green and Gold into a second place tie with the Panthers each with two victories and one defeat leaving Norwich at the top with two victories and no defeats. While a Vermont victory would still keep Vermont and Norwich at the top of the heap.

Probable lineup:

VERMONT	MIDDLEBURY
Tupper, r.f.	r.f., Bullerian
Durfey, c.	c., Corliss
Winant, l.f.	l.f., Ashdown
Tobin, r.g.	r.g., Mackenzie
Taft, l.g.	l.g. Hoyle

Some things may change but we still maintain that writing paper is stationery. Vermont Lepers.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches Hot Hamburg Sandwiches Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

TUFTS COLLEGE

DENTAL SCHOOL

Founded 1867

[illegible] your career. For information address

Dr. William Rice, Dean

416 Huntington Avenue Boston Mass

Have you chosen your life work?

In the field of health service The Harvard University Dental School, the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States, offers thorough well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.

Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL

Dept. 11 Longwood Ave.

Boston, Mass.

Tuxedos

$27.50

THEY ARE FINE BLACK UNFINISHED WORSTEDS, SILK LINED AND SILK FACING — WOULD SELL ORDINARILY AT $40.00

TURK'S

Burlington

Vt.

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR

Special for Sophomore Hop

Shampoo and Finger Wave

$1.25

43 Church St. Phone 538

ALEX VERRET

112 CHURCH ST.

The Health Food Center

FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

FREE DELIVERY

Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald

69 N. Willard St. Tel 2689

Phone 613 or 614

VERMONT CLEANSING CO.

SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	1.00
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices

Try

HENRY'S DINER

155 Bank St.

RATCLIFFE URGES SELF-GOVERNMENT FOR INDIA

Continued from page 1

Gandhi a Prophet

Mahatma Gandhi is the most popular leader in India declared Mr. Ratcliffe, and he characterized him as a prophet of the greatest world who believed that India should return to its ancient ways in preference with the western ma of the civilization.

Secretary among the student body of U. V. M. is a man with ambition for making money to defray his college expenses. We need a man who can organize on an over-writing basis and one who can make other men sell a nationally known product. This organizer can make additional money on business he writes himself. The city of Burlington is waiting for you men to call. organizer must have at least two hours a day to devote to this proposition. If interested, write A. R. McGuirk, 35 Mead Building, Rutland, Vermont.

Co-ed Notes

Two hundred posture cards are to be presented soon to the freshman women by the health council. A representative from the council will present the cards at a meeting of freshman girls in each group. This plan for next month.

Health Council met Monday in the Old Mill.

The Lenten tea to be held in the afternoon of Thursday, March 3 at the home of Mrs. Hazel Hopkins.

Officers elected in the University of Vermont and Training Camp are given Thursday at their meeting.

Freshmen desiring to scrub the business side of the Cynic will meet in the Cynic office Monday, February 16, at 1:30 p.m.
J. E. Tracy, business manager

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Kappa Alpha Theta announces the pledging of Doris Robinson of Montpelier.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Alpha Xi Delta announces the pledging of Virginia Sanborn of Burlington.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Phoebe Wentworth is entertaining as her guest this week-end Miss Mary Ford Hopkins.

Miss Charlotte Thompson, President of Alpha Chi Omega, is spending a week at the Alpha Chi House.

K. E. L.

K. E. L. will hold a social meeting at the home of Miss Marjorie Elmwood Ave., Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

It seems to be merely a pickle [illegible]

CONSTANCE BROWN TO BE SEMINAR SPEAKER

The Department of Chemistry of Vermont Engineers will be the subject of a talk by Miss Constance Brown at a [illegible] seminar meeting at 4:15 this afternoon at 4:15 this afternoon.

Miss Brown has had practical experience as a chemist in manufacturing and in hospital work.

Charles W. Flint, Chancellor of Norwich University, in the welcoming address to the freshmen of that university said that within four years the three R's would be replaced by the three S's, namely Studies Sports and Social Life at the college.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS VIEW TELEPHONE FILMS

Two interesting [illegible] Telephone Workers [illegible] the Switchboard [illegible] from the University [illegible] the branch of the A[illegible] of Electrical Engineers [illegible] meeting this morning at 11:30 in 27 Williams [illegible]

First violation of [illegible] at the University of Vermont [illegible] a [illegible] on the [illegible] second violation [illegible] third offense costs $[illegible] that action is taken by the [illegible] Council.

February Sale

of

Suits and Overcoats

SUITS $28.50 OVERCOATS $20.00

HAYES & CARNEY, Inc.

195-197 Bank Street Near Majestic

Open Evenings

TIME TO TAKE A NEW LEASE

ON LIFE—STOCK UP WITH

STATIONERY AND NOVELTIES

ONCE MORE

Now On Parade

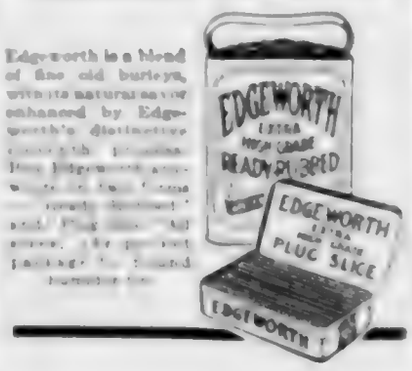
at the

University Store

From California to New Haven

. . . the FAVORITE pipe tobacco of college men is—

WHEREVER college men pause to load their pipes you'll see the familiar blue tin of Edgeworth!



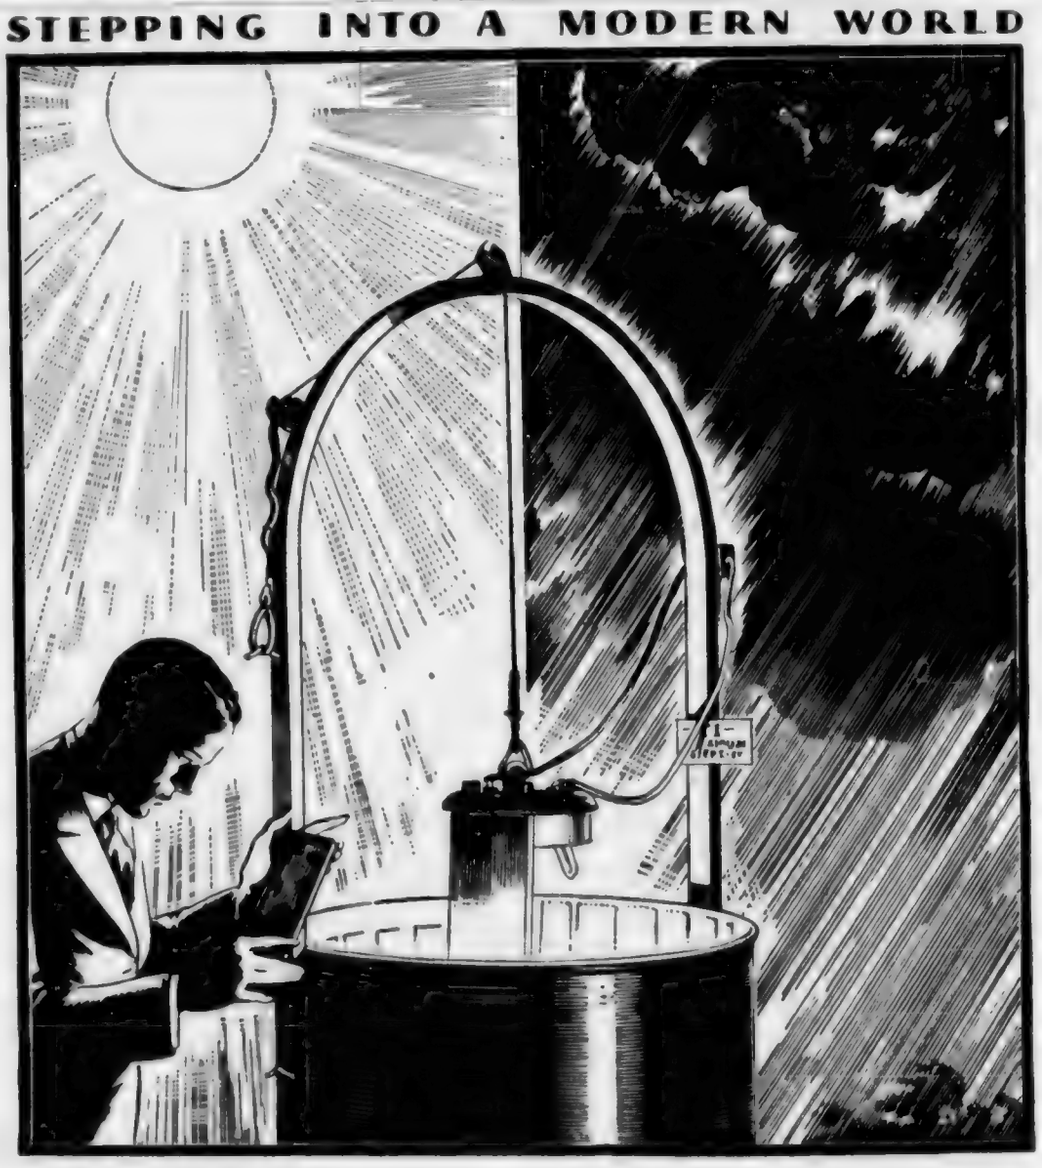
At California, at Yale, at Williams and Cornell . . . in America's leading colleges and universities you will find Edgeworth the favorite smoking tobacco of the college man.

College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their choice. Try Edgeworth yourself. Taste its rich natural savor that is enhanced immeasurably by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process.

You will find Edgeworth at your nearest tobacco shop—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, address Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive [illegible]



The Old Reliable

Full Fashion Silk and Wool Stockings $1.00 and $1.50 pair

Full Fashioned Service Weight Silk Stockings $1.00

All the fashionable shades.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

Now they manufacture weather for telephone testing

A test illustrating work in the Bell Telephone Laboratories is made with the weatherometer. This device produces rain and sunshine to order, and determines the weather-resisting properties of telephone equipment.

This test indicates an interesting habit of the men engaged in telephone research. It is to get sure knowledge bearing on efficiency, economy, life and reliability of apparatus.

Information is sought continuously during the development of a design, in advance of manufacture and of course long before the equipment gets into use.

Men who delight in thoroughness of method find that the opportunity is there.

BELL SYSTEM

A NATION-WIDE SYSTEM OF INTER-CONNECTING TELEPHONES

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1931 | NUMBER 33

DIRECTORS NAME SEVEN COMMITTEES TO MANAGE KAKE WALK FESTIVAL

Gymnasium Rehearsals For Thirty-Fourth Kake Walk Begins Tuesday

WINNING GROUPS WILL TAKE CAKES AND CUPS

[illegible] for the Thirty-Fourth [illegible] Walk are progressing [illegible]ing to a statement made [illegible] Stanley Smith, '31, who [illegible] J. Maynes, '31 will [illegible]erful event which will [illegible] and Saturday, February [illegible]

[illegible] the Kake Walk will be [illegible] the gymnasium from 2-6 [illegible] afternoon and also may [illegible] at Hayes and Carney's [illegible] afternoon and the re[illegible] the following week.

[illegible] rehearsals at the gym[illegible] start Tuesday evening, [illegible] and be completed the fol[illegible] evening.

[illegible] eight societies will partici[illegible] Phi Epsilon Phi will start at [illegible] and will rehearse until [illegible] Sigma Alpha Epsilon will re[illegible] eight until ten o'clock [illegible] followed by Sigma Delta [illegible] until midnight. Alpha Tau [illegible] will close the evening's re[illegible] a.m.

[illegible]ing day, rehearsals will be [illegible] same hours as follows:

Sigma Phi, 6-8 p.m., Zeta Chi; 8-10 [illegible] Iota, 10-12 p.m. and Phi [illegible] from 12 p.m. until 2.00 [illegible]

Judges to Eliminate

[illegible] L. T. Metcalf, L. W. Dean, [illegible] D. B. Carroll will judge the elimi[illegible] contest and the judges selected [illegible] the stunts, Kake Walking and [illegible] will be announced at a later [illegible]

[illegible] and committees have been [illegible]nted as follows: Assistant Direc[illegible] J. W. Marvin, '32, and G. E. [illegible] announcer, W. J. Slavin, [illegible]

[illegible] Committee, R. W. Worrell, [illegible] chairman, E. J. Grant, '31, E. P. [illegible] R. A. Philbin, '32, A. M. [illegible]an [illegible] and W. C. Cronin, '33.

[illegible] Committee: R. E. Tobin, '31, [illegible] L. L. Jones, '31, P. E. Wes[illegible] G. R. Collins, '32, C. S. Wright, [illegible] E. E. Dunn, '33, J. E. Wood, '33, [illegible] F. J. Massucco, '33.

[illegible] Committee: R. A. Dailey, [illegible] chairman, R. F. Bigwood, '31, E. V. [illegible] R. H. Hyde, '32 and M. I. [illegible]

[illegible] Committee: F. H. McBride, [illegible] chairman, R. B. Aiken, '31, A. O. [illegible] W. Tilley, '32 and C. S. [illegible]

[illegible] Committee: H. R. Mat[illegible] chairman, G. R. Nelson, '31, [illegible] Billings, '32, R. W. Cobb, '32, [illegible] Fischer, '33.

[illegible] Committee: W. E. Craig, [illegible] chairman, R. M. Huey, '31, J. E. [illegible] R. J. Livingston, '32, and [illegible] Kern, Jr., '33.

[illegible] Walking: F. A. Bolles, '31, [illegible] J. E. Clark, '31, E. G. Hurl[illegible] and S. B. Barker, '32.

Cups—Kakes

[illegible] be awarded on the same [illegible] year. A cup for the best [illegible] awarded by Mr. Clark C. [illegible] The Southwick cup will be [illegible] second best stunt.

[illegible]d Carney will present a [illegible] best appearance in the [illegible] J. Preston's Jewelry have [illegible] a cup for the second prize. [illegible]versity Store will present [illegible] best individual in the [illegible] selected by the judges and [illegible] given by Boulder Society [illegible] Student Senate respectively [illegible] and second prizes in Kake [illegible]

FRENCH CLUB TO MEET FOR VARIED PROGRAM

[illegible]ing of one-act plays, a talk [illegible] Rolland by Lilian Cohen [illegible] French department, and the [illegible] of several recorded French [illegible] constitute the program of [illegible] French Club meeting at the home [illegible] Prof. Paul D. Evans, at 7.30 o'clock [illegible] evening, February 19.

[illegible] lady in the circus died [illegible] leaving a wife and four chil[illegible]

Kake Walk Hilarity Will Attain Height Friday With Cotton Babes

Thirty-Fourth Annual Classic—Unique at Vermont—Will See Novel Array of Features

"Cotton Babes" theme song of the one and only Kake Walk will in a week resound, reverberate and reecho in a mad burst of wholesome pagan rhythm. Once again hilarity is in the saddle, stunts, walkin' fo' de kake and Peerade reign supreme!

Six fraternities out of the following will undoubtedly be chosen for the final competition in the presentation of stunts: Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Delta Theta, Lambda Iota, Sigma Phi, Tau Epsilon Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Delta, and Zeta Chi. Try-outs will be held next Thursday, February 19.

Evolution of Kake Walk

The evolution of this perennial, strictly Vermont classic, is in itself an interesting chapter in the history of the University.

The first Kake Walk came in the winter of 1893-94. Dr. E. G. Randall, writing in the CYNIC of March 16, 1907, tells how "F. T. Sharp, after one conference with a few of us in No. 6 South College, wrote a poster inviting all those who might be interested to partake in a Kake Walk to be held in the old 'drill hall' under the chapel the next evening." "The nature of the festivity was left to the ingenuity of the participants and the spontaneity with which all the classes entered into the affair augered well for its perpetuity as a college custom.

A good cake, although it was an issue of the past famous hash house, once occupying the site of the present museum, was provided.

The participants were couples from the highest of military glory to the most abject barbarism of the South Sea Island. There were high tinted but comely ballet maids although of masculine proportions, clowns and gypsies. Hilarity was the order of the day and everybody did stunts. The Kake Walk itself was the concluding event. A procession of couples marched around the hall several times and then each couple separately doing their grotesque best. There is no recollection of the cake being won and it is believed that the whole company fell upon it and devoured it."

Students have noted four stages in the evolution of Kake Walk. The first, the impromptu stage, when it was a private affair. The second, in the armory days; the third, when the fraternities began putting on stunts, which, however, were staged with very little preparation; and the fourth, the present era of careful preparation, and elaborate execution.

Weeping and Walking Popular

If by chance you were to review old CYNIC numbers the following incident will draw a laugh. A typical prize-winning stunt, "Varsity vs. Coeds," a mock football battle, no not parlor rugby, was presented. The men's team wore regular football suits, the impersonated co-ed team wore huge hats and flowing veils, with wide lace flounces on their trouser bottoms.

What are flounces anyway?

Between plays they lifted the great veils and "powdered" their noses with whiskbrooms dipped in a conveniently placed basket of cornstarch. "The University women who were present, were so indignant that they left, many of them weeping copiously." Well girls still walk out on us, but we have yet to see them weep.

Questionnaire Sent U. V. M. Students

With the nearing of completion of the Fleming Hull Museum a questionnaire on a new Art Curriculum signed by Hugh E. Sinclair, '23, and representing a self-constituted alumni committee, has been sent to all students enrolled in the University.

Stating that there has been a little talk of "no demand," except for a few elementary courses for teachers training the questionnaire declares that, "Many of the alumni feel that this is not the true situation but that a deep need exists and an opportunity which the University should grasp before it is too late. In the Summer School some 300 each year elected applied art courses. Vermont teachers are being trained to teach rudimentary art expression and appreciation. They are encouraging their pupils towards applied art of some form as a vocation of profession. This rising generation must leave the State to get what they want. There are known to be at least fifteen potential students to start art courses in the fall of 1931 looking to a degree in fine and applied art."

THE QUESTIONNAIRE

1. If there had been a curriculum of Applied Arts ("Art") leading to degree of B.F.A. or B.S. in art when you entered U. V. M., would you have followed it?.....

2. If so, in what branch would you have been most interested? (Painting and Drawing, Sculpture, Interior Decoration and Architecture, Textiles and Costumes Design, Commercial Art in Typography, Etc., Etc.)? .....

3. Have you taken, or applied to take, any of the Art Courses now given at U. V. M.?.....

4. If such a curriculum were established now, would you transfer to it provided your credits could be adjusted so that you could complete a course leading to a degree in art for four years total college work?.....

5. If such a curriculum were established now, would you transfer to it if it required an extra year to get the degree of B.F.A. or B.S. in Art?.....

6. If such a curriculum were established now, and your credits could not be adjusted for a transfer to it, would you still elect such advanced courses in applied art as were accepted as credits toward the degree you are now seeking?.....

7. Have you any relatives or close personal acquaintances who might enter such a curriculum in applied fine arts if established at once? How many?

8. If your answer is "Yes" to Questions 4, 5 or 6, you are asked to sign this blank here in case you are willing to disclose your indentity .....

9. If your answer to Question 7 is "Yes," will you give here the names and addresses of such persons in case you are willing to disclose their identity .....

Lincoln is Topic of Myers' Chapel Talk

"The Greatness of Abraham Lincoln" was the subject of a stirring address by Rev. S. Skillman Myers, pastor of the Unitarian Church of Burlington in the regular Wednesday morning service, held at Ira Allen Chapel.

He mentioned the fact that the birthdays of two great Americans occurred during the month of February, those of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, saying that every year the latter is honored because he had vision and saw into human life and the future problems of his country, not only in his own nation but throughout the world.

Pointing out that we are far too provincial in our ways, he stated that there was no better way in which to widen the viewpoint and broaden the outlook on life than by the study of the lives of the prophets and the great men of the ages. He also recalled to the congregation how all countries had celebrated October 15 as the bi-millennium of the birth of the poet Virgil.

In closing, he dwelt for a time upon the life of Grant, who, he said, had lived at the same period of crisis in the country's history as Lincoln, and who, while showing no vision of the future of the country he had helped to save, and having none of its ideals or future hopes at heart, had yet proved himself an able strategist and great leader.

The business board of the Cynic wants freshman scrubs. Be at the Cynic office at 1.30 Monday.

All sophomores wishing to scrub track should report to the gym any afternoon after four o'clock.
Hugh R. Mattison,
Manager of Track.

Seniors who have not yet turned in their reading reports for the first half-year must complete this requirement by March 1.

The attention of freshmen and fraternity women is called to the following Panhellenic rules

1. These rules shall apply to the period of rushing

2. Freshmen and fraternity women shall not make arrangements for or attend these functions—movies, eating places, games, double dates, reserving seats for Kake Walk, church, riding in automobiles, dances shall not visit in the rooms, or study together.

At the last meeting of the Panhellenic Council it was decided that those students whose grades are incomplete are not eligible for rushing.

UNDERGRAD DELEGATES ATTEND CONFERENCE OF NEW ENGLAND SCHOOLS

East Northfield, Mass. Scene of Meet Sponsored by College Christian Associations of New England

Eight student delegates from the University of Vermont left this morning for East Northfield, Massachusetts where they will meet 140 students from other institutions for the annual mid winter New England Intercollegiate Conference sponsored by the College Christian Associations.

Those comprising the Vermont delegation are: Florence Huntley, '33, Lillian Mount, '32, S. K. Carter, '33, R. H. Cowles, '31, E. A. Germain, '31, L. E. Hoyt, '33, P. J. LaCrosse, '32, R. R. Murray '34.

Prominent among the leaders at the Conference are: President William A. Neilson of Smith College, Prof. Edwin E. Aubrey of Chicago University, and Mr. Paul P. Porter of the League for Industrial Democracy, and Francis P. Miller of Geneva, Switzerland.

President Neilson is eminently qualified to lead the discussions as he has long been acquainted with New England college life. Professor Aubrey has had wide experience in this field and will also be a guiding spirit throughout the program.

Mr. Porter, formerly editor of the New Student, is a widely known and brilliant traveling college secretary for the L. I. D. group.

Mr. Miller, chairman of the World Student Christian Federation, is a lecturer on international problems at Yale University.

The V. C. A. will pay all expenses of its delegates except one-half the transportation. Expenses include registration fee, hotel expenses, and transportation.

What is College Doing?

Opening with a dinner Friday evening, the Conference, convening at the Hotel Northfield, will take as its theme for discussion the topic: "What is College Doing to us?" This subject has been chosen by the New England Conference Committee, of which Richard Cowles, '31, is a member.

Some of the questions which will be discussed are: Does college fit or unfit the student for the responsibilities of citizenship in the modern world? Some people believe that the campus is out of touch with the real concerns of society. Others feel that the student is hampered by convention and is not free to develop the uniqueness of his own personality. The conference will discuss these subjects which are of vital importance to every college student, and will suggest changes in college life and organization to aid the student.

BLUESTOCKINGS ADMITS ELEVEN TO MEMBERSHIP

Tryouts for Bluestockings, the woman's literary society, resulted in eleven new members being admitted into that organization.

Those whose short story manuscripts were selected are Ellen Laidlaw, '33; Constance Stone, '31; and Effie Winn, '33. Florence Huntley, '32; Margaret Mower, '32; and Priscilla Perry, '33, submitted the winning essays; while those who were selected in the merit of their poetry are Charlotte Brown, '34; Alice Hoyte, '34; Gladys La Flamme, '33; Gene Pets, '33; and Katherine Tolman, '33.

The new members will be formally initiated the latter part of this month

REVEREND W. SULLIVAN AUTHOR AND CLERGYMAN TO CONDUCT VESPERS

Theologian From Germantown, Pa., Will Speak in Chapel Sunday

SPEAKER IS AUTHOR OF MANY DOCTRINAL TEXTS

Widely known as an author of theological texts and a clergyman of repute the Rev. William I. Sullivan of Germantown, Pennsylvania will conduct the vesper service in the Ira Allen Chapel, Sunday afternoon, February 15, at 4 o'clock. Students, faculty, and townspeople are fully invited.

Mr. Sullivan is an excellent speaker and is thoroughly in touch with modern theological doctrine as well as the application of principles of religious ethics to everyday life.

A graduate of Boston Theological Seminary in 1896 with the Ph.B. degree he attended Catholic University to receive the degrees of S.S.B. and S.T.L.

In 1917 Meadville Theological School gave him his D.D. degree following his ordination as a Roman Catholic priest several years previous.

A teacher in a theological school in Washington D. C. from 1907 he accepted the Unitarian faith in 1909.

For several years he was a pastor in Schenectady and New York cities, and later a mission preacher in this country and in Canada.

He is the author of several books "Letters to Pius X," 1910, "The Priest," 1912, "From Gospel to the Creeds," 1917.

SUMMARY SHOWS MANY IN EXTENSION SERVICE

Statistics compiled by J. E. Carrigan, assistant county agent leader in the agricultural extension service show that there were 3,672 members, both men and women, in extension organizations this past year, which represents an increase of 600 over the preceding year. In nearly two-thirds of the communities of the State an extension program has been cooperatively worked out by extension agents and local committees.

There are thirteen county agents in the State, located in as many counties. This number does not include the home demonstration agents and 4-H Club agents. These thirteen agents have visited 4,161 farms the past year, paying 8,266 visits. They have had 4,319 office calls and 5,358 telephone calls regarding extension work. They have spent 1,942 days in the field and 1,637 days in the office. They have published 1,279 news stories, written 9,515 individual letters, prepared 723 circular letters with a distribution of 252,672 copies, distributed 67,494 bulletins, held 768 individual or group conferences, conducted 407 meetings, and been engaged in innumerable other activities regarding crops, fruits, forestry, farm management, marketing and all the problems that go to make up life on Vermont farms.

Mr. Carrigan in commenting on these figures points out that the trends in extension work change gradually over a period of years. This year, for example, there were fewer meetings held, but a larger total attendance, the number being 26,674. Fewer demonstrations are also being held now than a few years ago. Those that are held are held largely for the information of the county agent rather than to convince the farmer. These help the county agent to determine what to tell the farmers and take less time than when more were conducted giving the agent more time to get the lesson to more farmers in other ways.

"The farmer no longer is skeptical of the county agent," explains Mr. Carrigan. "He does not demand to be shown. He listens."

More farm visits were made this last year, there was more personal help from specialists, and there was more space devoted to news stories. Also radio talks have entered the field. One big jump was taken in the distribution of bulletins and kindred matter. This year distribution increased 47,000. Moreover this material did not go out at random, but to special lists or on request.

"Once such things were just broadcast at large," says Mr. Carrigan. "Now they are prepared in better form and handled more effectively."

The Vermont Cynic

Members of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] Managing Editor
[illegible] Sports Editor
[illegible] Women's Editor
[illegible] Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] Contributing Editors

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

[illegible] Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

News Department: W. W. Brinlen, '34. S. K. Carter, '33. W. Cohen, '34. S. W. Fishman, '34. M. J. Greenberg '34. I. Leeman '34. H. E. McGuire, '34. R. W. Muhelman '34. R. R. Morrow '34. B. Weissman '34. H. B. Wolinsky, '34.

[illegible] H. Kaplan, '34. M. Kramer, '34. C. J. Leldy, '34. H. J. Seidl, '34.

Women's Department: Esther Beardsley '32. Norma Carder '33. Augusta Cohen '34. Dorothy Edwards '33. Mildred Gale '32. Rosetta Hartmer '32. Dorothy Jackman, '33. Ruth Kidder '34. Eunice Lee '33. Margaret Martin '32. Margaret Mower '32. Priscilla Perry, '33. Hope Rossano, '32. Margaret Tower, '33. Laura Tracy, '34. Virginia Yeuell, '34.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] Advertising Manager
[illegible] Assistant Managers

[illegible] Single Copy, Five Cents

[illegible] weekly during the college year.

[illegible] be addressed to the Business Manager, Phi Delta Theta House, all other [illegible] Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section [illegible] Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

[illegible] Publication: Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol 49 February 13, 1931 No. 33

SORORITY CONSIDERATION

In a group of any size it is instinctive for persons to band together in smaller groups according to attitude, ideals and inclinations. In such a way the fraternity grew up: those desiring to perpetuate their aims formed organizations with the intention of including others with the same standards—social, intellectual and the like. This fundamental point of congenial relationships must be stressed for freshmen and fraternity women now in the throes of rushing. If a sorority is not harmony only misunderstandings and unhappiness can result.

It is for the eligible student to consider carefully her personality in relation with that of the society she may want to join. It is foolish to be carried away by the glamor and thrill of teas and parties: they do not constitute sorority; the social element being only a minor part. Rushing lasts three weeks but the fraternity is lifelong. Therefore the thing to do is to look deeper, to find out the basic reasons for a sorority's existence and to judge these reasons as illustrated by the members and their activities. A freshman must judge a sorority group just as severely and thoroughly as the latter judges her. After all ideals do not mean much, unless put into operation. There have been several cases on this campus of women who testified by dissatisfaction and regret that they did not think carefully enough when they became sorority members.

Vermont has seven sororities—six nationals and one local. Since this is a rather large number for the short list of eligible students competition is keen, the question is bound to come up as to the relative value of a local and a national or one having chapters at other colleges with unification gained through a central office and governing conventions as well as through traveling inspectors. Naturally the national gives a broader conception of the fraternity spirit and has many alumnae associations for life after college; the local on the other hand has a more personal influence; there is close unity before and after graduation. That which is more desirable can be decided only according to individual preference. Both groups on this campus conform to the National Panhellenic code which is worth quoting as indicative of the usual purposes:

We, the fraternity undergraduate members, stand for good scholarship, for the guardians of good health, for wholehearted cooperation with our college's ideals for student life, for the maintenance of fine social standards and the serving to the best of our college community. Good college citizenship, as a preparation for good citizenship in the larger world of alumnae is the ideal that shall guide our chapter activities.

Another problem which really ought to be discussed is "dirty rushing," that done in defiance of the Big Sister and the Rushing Period rules which ought to be well-known to all sorority women, and have been published in the Cynic. An impartial observer must admit that such tactics indicate poor standards and a lack of fair play. Much as a freshman may hate to put on the "holier than thou" attitude she should consider these unfavorable as well as the favorable, aspects of the fraternity situation.

Finally, some direct advice to rushees: If you are undecided as to which sorority you would like to join, and since hasty decisions are not usually the best, wait a while and give yourself time for further observation and judgment.

EXPERIMENTS IN HIGHER EDUCATION

There are new ideas astir in the world of higher education which will lead us to believe that a college course, with all its investment in money, equipment and years, should lead to a finer type of character. Plans for the realization of such an ideal are effectively set forth by Mr. William E. Uphaus, secretary for Commission Studies of the Detroit Intercollegiate Conference, writing in the Intercollegian:

Dartmouth

The Dartmouth idea is thus expressed by President Hopkins: "The objective of the Liberal College is to stimulate minds to activity in consideration of present day problems under restraint of lessons of the past and under spur of imagination as to the possibilities of the future... Its major obligation still is to human society and its principal solicitude is that civilization shall benefit from the absorption into itself of individuals who are better and wiser and more competent and more cooperative than otherwise they would have been."

To this end, education at Dartmouth is sought through certain specific procedures. A selective process emphasizes, in addition to scholastic records, quality of life and promise of usefulness. Curricular adjustments meet individual needs. An honor system operates to relieve students with outstanding ability from the cramping influence of routine. Men who are willing and eager to learn from those whom they teach are sought for the faculty.

Whittier

The Whittier idea, one of the most challenging in the field of higher education, strikes at a serious weakness—our unreconciled inner conflicts that destroy our power. It would save students from becoming unfortunate victims of a narrow and intense specialization that prevents their experiencing the inter-relations and implications of knowledge, and causes them to dissociate religion from the immediate affairs of life. The Whittier idea challenges the prevailing mechanical systems with the Quaker heritage of simplicity, inner authority, unity and genuine acceptance of Jesus' way of life.

It conceives of education as functional, religious, democratic. It aims to help students in basic life situations where so much of our modern disaster occurs—in the home, in vocations, in human relationships, and in leisure hours. In realistic terms this definition of education means the substitution of a "community of will" for an imposed autocracy. It means the self-realization of the individual through conscious cooperation with the group. Such a philosophy means drastic changes in the curriculum, chief among them a correlation course, [illegible] experience.

Rollins

President Holt of Rollins College believes in what he has termed "An Adventure in Old-fangled Education" in which [illegible] eager youths in cooperating quests. The formal lecture is taboo. Research is secondary. The customary lock-step system that attempts to push all students along at an equal pace is abandoned. Study, friendly counsel, recitation all are combined in two-hour periods. It is the Conference Plan.

Not marks, but alert and creative minds turned loose upon the issues of life are the measure of success. Forced feeding of students is not in style. "Getting by," the most corrupting sin of undergraduate life and the foundation for much of the deceptiveness and insincerity of later life, has little chance. One Rollins student writing of his experience, said, "For the first time in my scholastic life I have begun to think."

Antioch

President Morgan of Antioch maintains that higher education is out of balance. He believes that "the real purpose of college education in America should be to prepare for life—not for some part, but for life as a whole." In terms of specific objectives this means three things for students at Antioch: an all-round, well-proportioned liberal education; a "field of concentration" of the student's choice, in which he undertakes to prepare himself to express his dominant life interest, and a program of varied activities in the practical world, during which he serves an apprenticeship to life.

It is this third aspect that makes the program unique. Students prolong their education so as to have time for alternation between the work of the classroom and part-time economic work in real occupations. It provides for a balance between experience in the world's work and withdrawal for criticism, reflection and evaluation. The student is living, and not preparing to live. He realizes the moral values that come from responsibility. He learns not to accumulate credits but to function in the immediate affairs of a worthwhile existence.

Wisconsin

The educational world has its eyes upon another experiment, that under Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn at the University of Wisconsin. Despite frequent mistaken reports to the contrary the Experimental College carries on with evident success. This plan has grown out of the director's conviction that the prevailing methods of college education leave students without initiative and without a fundamental purpose or sense of direction. So, here the student is given freedom to do his own work, to develop his own intelligence and to enjoy the close personal guidance of an adviser. Through a unified approach to "civilization," instead of separate "subjects" it saves education from becoming a collection of unrelated fragments and gives the student a sense of his own place in the world of which he is a part.

He studies and appreciates the underlying forces that make and disintegrate society. He applies this theoretical view to a critical examination of some actual community in operation. Aided by all the personal attention and relationship of a small college he moves nevertheless in a larger university environment. An enthusiastic father referring to his boy writes that, "throughout the past two years we have noticed a steady improvement in his letters home, his conversation and general outlook on life."

No Panaceas

The directors of these experiments would be the last to say that their particular systems offer complete panaceas for the ills of college education. They are far from ready to draw final conclusions. But the testimony of parents, faculty members and students is so general and convincing that one must believe that some significant things are happening in terms of Christian character.

First, these colleges are trying to relieve education of the mechanizing and depressing influences of a conventional, industrial age. Man's spirit was made for development, creativity, flights of imagination that dream of a world in which each individual will have the fullest opportunity. This freedom can come only in an environment in which there is time and place for reflection and heart-to-heart companionship; for quiet reflection on the meaning of life and an understanding of causes and consequences.

A second value for Christian character comes from the way in which these experiments acquaint students with living issues. They recognize the futility of a system of morals and religion that does not function directly in the home, in one's work, in one's play, and in the innumerable contacts with personalities of another nation, race or religion. They overcome, to a large degree that sense of unreality so common on the American campus. The curriculum becomes the total experience. The racial past as embodied in the printed word is understood in the light of the ever-widening horizons of actual current experience. Truth leads to a free and liberalized spirit so characteristic of essential Christianity.

Another significant value of these experiments is the way students learn to make their ideals become real. It is one thing to know what the ills of society are—it is quite another to know what to do about them. May not much of the apathy and indifference of our "good" citizens be born of a sense of helplessness and incapacity? The issues are too numerous, too complex and too confused to know where to begin or how to proceed.

Two disquieting revelations have come from a recent inquiry into the ways students and faculty members meet and solve their moral and spiritual problems; one is that in the majority of cases they simply do nothing until some crisis occurs, and the other is that the method too commonly employed is to devise some palliative scheme to alleviate the symptoms, rather than to remove the basic causes by radical reconstruction of the situation. It is much easier today to dole money, food and clothing to the hungry than to effect a reorganization that releases and develops personality. The experiments we have been considering should make a distinct contribution to character by helping students to the satisfactions that come from self-realization through efficient service.

Finally, there is a value that gathers up all that has been said. Lives freed from the deadly monotony of a machine age, with time for heart dreams; lives developed through contact with living issues, lives strengthened by the joys that come from effective labor—these achieve somehow an inner moral autonomy and a spiritual discernment. There is opportunity to question. Why?

Life takes on meaning. Fundamental ends appear. The environment takes in the whole human family and the charm of nature. One is caught up by a sense of comradeship with God in making his will regnant in all the earth.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

The road leading from Converse Hall to the Engineering Building has been blocked with snow for some time, except for a rather hesitating attempt made by the driver of the snow plow to clear it out several weeks ago. This road not only serves as a highway for engineering students going to their early morning classes, but as a path to Rand's Lunch, which is patronized by a large percentage of those living in Converse. A number of times during the above-mentioned past few weeks the undersigned has made a profane and painfully slow progress toward both places, his feet a ringing wet mess of sodden snow and squeaking shoe leather. One solution of the problem would be the employment of worthy and needy students to make the road passable and fit for travel once again.

Richard Rush Murray, '34.

To the Editor of the Cynic:

It has been my intention for some time to deliver to the students of our University a few thoughts regarding their attitude at basketball games.

The point I wish to emphasize at this time is with particular reference to the official, handling the contests. It should be remembered by all students interested in basketball that the officials selected are the best ones that we can secure. This is however, beside the question. More important to remember is the fact that we engaged the official and as such, we stand ready to accept his decision and support his authority at all times in the game.

In the past few games—it has pained me exceedingly to hear the audience "booh," the official because he has made a difficult decision. The reaction upon our team, the visiting team and visiting spectators is unfavorable to say the least.

In closing, it would be a demonstration of excellent sportmanship on the part of our student body to accept each decision of the official as the fairest he can offer. I shall hope in the next two home games for improvement. Stand back of the official—he is doing the best he can.

H. A. Prentice,
Coach of Basketball.

Spirit of the Campus

The text: University founded 1842. Students gripe. Fire in 1879. Students gripe. Hall built. Students gripe. Dining Hall built. Students gripe. Department of Griping established in 1930.—Notre Dame Juggler.

First Salesman: "Any business?
Second Salesman: Well, yes. The wife gave me some orders this morning.

Law students should be accorded a broader education, thinks Prof. Raymond Morley of the department of public law at Columbia University.

The Mystic Pen

One: You know, Morgan had a hectic time of it—
Two: And what came out alright.
One: He was O.K. [illegible] drop.
Two: A big one, I [illegible]
One: From the Chem—

—mp—

Welkin, ring for joy.

—mp—

First Cheap Punster right till the last drop.
A: You don't say
B: Yop off the Fordle.

—mp—

Famous Emmas

Fat ——
—— Lou —— line dil ——
—— Blue?

—mp—

It was near the end of the [illegible] "Let's sit this one out," the ambitious frosh.
"Oh, dear!" sighed [illegible] widow, "I guess I have [illegible] enough for one more lap.

—mp—

Halt! Friend or enemy?

—mp—

The Purple Cow Makes Its Bow

Rudy Vallee may not name his [illegible] cheetuld "Hot Sax," but [illegible] one specimen who attends [illegible] ern, yclept "Achille Picolo."

—mp—

Shemale: I hate gossips, [illegible] you notice her smirk?
Hemale: I pride myself [illegible] a gentleman. You might [illegible] adjust it so that conventions [illegible] may be unalarmed.

—mp—

Spit it out in mother's lap.

—mp—

And then there was the [illegible] who thought petite fours were tins. Yes, Oswald, they shot her.

—mp—

Bro. Beau: Watchman, what of night?
Bro. Horsely: Well, there are [illegible] cars parked out in the road there it's kinda dark. The lights are in the front parlor next door and sorors across the way are all [illegible] in and the shades pulled down the depression. Here, take these [illegible] and gaze at the moon a while goin tu bed.

—mp—

And then there was the ignor[illegible] who thought a cellarette was a fe[illegible] salesperson and the al fresco w[illegible] burlesque producer. Yes, you can her up in the anatomy lab packe[illegible] ice.

—mp—

Famous Pests

Buda ——
Anna ——
—— rami
—— le
Our own sinful ——

—mp—

The guy that claims he heard these jokes before.

—mp—

Why Rabelais, you old [illegible] where have you been all my life?

—mp—

Yes. I'll cash your Czech. [illegible] And the steer rolled over and [illegible]

—mp—

"Gentlemen," whimpered the G.S. stude with an insane laugh, bent over the unconscious math fessor, scalpel in hand. "I am about to probe for the sinus." Th[illegible]

—mp—

Ovitch: Say, have you heard [illegible] that suicide in South Chicago?
Sky: Preceed.
First Lout: Some woman [illegible] her sweetheart down just [illegible] was to marry him. He [illegible] back for more and she was [illegible] so she took some ruff on [illegible]
Second: But why? She [illegible] there are lots of other men.
Ovitch: Explain it to [illegible] body.

"Does 'at smile mean [illegible] me?"
"Stay away, niggah, I'se [illegible] to rest mah face."

Little Stanely, the can[illegible] about, thinks that chorines [illegible] that are studied in chemistry.
Yes, the intellectuals al[illegible] microscopes before their ey[illegible] sor Albert Einstein.

Teacher: If you saved a [illegible] week for one month, what [illegible] have?
Little Willie (product of [illegible] ment Plan Age): I know [illegible] new car and a frigidaire.

Porter: Miss, yo' train [illegible]
Passenger: My man, [illegible] say "your train" when you [illegible] the train belongs to the [illegible]
Porter: Dunno, Miss [illegible] say "mah man" when [illegible] belongs to mah wife?

SPORTING NEWS

INTERFRAT BASKETBALL TOURNEY BEGINS WITH HARD-FOUGHT BATTLES

Phi Sigs, 23-Tau Eps, 16—Independents, 20-Phi Delts, 5—Delta Psi, 28-S. A. E. 23

ALL CONTESTS CLEANLY WAGED IN CLOSE RIVALRY

... basketball sponsored by ... of physical education ... a high degree of sports... by the contestants ... games have produced ... from the taint of aveng... is the goal which lead... have hopes of attaining.

Phi Sigs—Tau Eps

... evening, February 9, Phi ... defeated Tau Epsilon Phi ... of 23-16 in what promised ... best of the interfraternity ... was a hard fought game throughout and featured mainly by ... There were twenty-four personal fouls committed by both teams ... one point greater than the ... score.

The first quarter opened with Adonis ... in the initial two points ... to the foul line. Tep ... up seven points and ... time till the Phi Sigs caught ... with them. Dinny Dinniman, ... the deadlock on Agel and tossed ... pill to tie the score at quarter ... .

The second quarter was a repetition ... the first with "Stretch" Schechtman ... heroic work keeping the in... out of his territory. The score ... the quarter was Phi Sigma Delta ... Tau Epsilon Phi ten. Six ... Al Capone" Alpert tied with "Stretch" for honors both men being ... from the premises for fouling.

The second half opened with "Gumshoe" Shuman sneaking one in from ... Prentice's back. From this ... battle waxed fast and furious, ... furious, until at quarter time ... score was Phi Sig 18, Tep 12. ... the battle waged but this time ... side lines, for Dober was arraying all the officials except the second ... keeper who was not there at ... time, or any time previous or afterwards.

In case you're still interested the ... score was Phi Sig 23, Tep 16.

The referee was Howard Prentice. ... keeper was Joseph Levin ... next sporting editor, assisted by ... Lisman, onetime CYNIC editor. ... keeper was "Steam Roller," ... rifle team manager.

The game was in toto, interesting ... spite of the chief annoyances, ... Albert and Company. The ... were "Adonis" Agel, "Dinny" ... "Stretch" Schechtman and ... Shuman. The high scorer ... Dinniman with nine points.

Phi Sigma Delta	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Schwartz, r.f.	1	0	2
Fishman, r.f.	0	0	0
Albert, l.f.	0	1	1
Pereiman, l.f.	1	0	2
Perelman, c.	0	2	2
[illegible]	2	0	4
[illegible] r.g.	4	1	9
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible] l.g.	1	1	3
	9	5	23

Tau Epsilon Phi	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Shuman, r.f.	1	0	2
M. Agel, r.f.	3	0	6
[illegible] Agel, l.f.	1	0	2
[illegible] c.	0	0	0
[illegible] r.g.	0	0	0
Schechtman, r.g.	1	2	4
M. Levin, l.g.	0	2	2
	6	4	16

Independents—Phi Delts

... a fiery-voiced orator on one ... a fiery-haired fighter gracing ... the Independents, led by ... Redding, their president and ... played Phi Delta Theta ... "Fighting Red" Grant last ... night. The final score, 20-5, ... means tell the story of a ... blood battle.

... and Burnell starred for the ... scoring a greater part ... baskets "Red" Grant and ... ed stellar rôles for the Phi ... the advent of "Little Bill" ... the game, affairs took a fast ... turn (for the Independ...

Independents	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible]	2	1	5
[illegible]	3	2	8
[illegible]	1	0	2
Ryan	1	1	3
Candy	1	0	2
Total	8	4	20

Phi Delta Theta	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Grant, E. J.	0	0	0
Grant, C.	1	1	3
Brown	0	0	0
Loudon	1	0	2
Bartow	0	0	0
Morrison	0	0	0
Total	2	1	5

Delta Psi—S. A. E.

Delta Psi trounced Sigma Alpha Epsilon Wednesday evening in a hard-fought and smoothly-played game by the score of 28-23. S. A. E. was led in the fight by the Amsterdam Bear Cat, Mike Valerio who ran rings around his opponents, bawled out his fellow teammates, and scored thirteen points in well-placed shots. Massucco and Burr both fought in vain to win for the Violet team.

"Peep" Park put up a galloping game for the winners. Being fouled so often was a source of pain and

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT AND SANDWICH SHOPPE

Luncheonette, Pastry, Soda Fountain

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches, Hot Hamburg Sandwiches, Waffles and Vermont Maple Syrup.

Doughnuts Better than the Best

Corner Church and College Streets

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

WRESTLING AND BOXING TOURNEY STARTS SOON

Practices for the annual tournament in wrestling and boxing will ... Monday, February 23. Medals will ... awarded as in previous years ... "Bumps" Levine the coach of these sports.

The tournament itself will be held during the second week in March. This year more emphasis will be placed on boxing than has been done formerly; for this reason boxing bouts will be interposed between all the wrestling matches attempted.

PUCKSTERS TO OPPOSE ARMY SEXTET SATURDAY ON NEW YORK SURFACE

Vermont Favorite In Fray—Game With R. P. I. Cancelled

Vermont, undefeated in three starts tackles the strong Army six, Saturday afternoon at West Point in a contest which promises to test the mettle of the U. V. M. sextet.

Originally to have included a game with Rensselaer Polytech Graduate Manager Sabin Abell has been forced to cancel the latter clash, due to the Medical Aptitude Test which is to be given Friday at 3 p.m., which three members of the team, Cunningham, Segal and McVetty have to take, as it was impossible to have the men excused or to arrange another time for them to take same.

Since the return of "Bob" Hendrick, a speedy, flashy decisive brand of hockey has been put on culminating in victories over St. Stephens and Norwich. Jim McVetty, one of Coach Abraham's wings, continues to be a terror for opposing guardians and once let loose with the puck is a dangerous man on the runners. His high scoring proclivities prove this contention. Capt. "Frenchy" Mercier though not scoring as often, is one of the most valuable Green and Gold standard bearers. With men in the penalty box, the Cushing star has demonstrated an uncanny ability for ragging the puck. All signs point toward another victory.

Probable lineup:

Vermont	Army
McVetty, r.w.	l.w., Dary
Marvin, c.	c., Cain
Mercier, l.w.	r.w., Wagstaff
Cunningham, r.d.	l.d., Tapping
Segal, l.d.	r.d., Cotter
Hendrick, g.	g., Waters

SPRINGFIELD TO MEET GREEN AND GOLD FIVE HERE TOMORROW EVE

Hickoxmen Fresh From Triumph Over New Hampshire, Recent Dartmouth Conquerors

CATS WILL FACE HARD BATTLE WITH VISITORS

Springfield making her first Vermont appearance of the year will meet Coach Howard Prentice's Catamounts tomorrow evening, in a hair-raising contest which should keep festivities at fever pitch.

Producing teams that are on a par with the better teams of its class, the Gymnasts present a most impressive record, conquering Mass. Aggies, heretofore undefeated, 17 to 12, while the formidable Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn was outscored 25 to 19 in a battle royal. To prove the Hickoxmen were not a flash in the pan, the New Hampshire five, conquerors of Dartmouth were added to their casualty list. Providence College under Al McLellan turned the tables on the Maroon and White 27-25 in a race for the mythical championship of the Northeast.

Captain Poten at right guard will be the man for the Green and Gold to watch. A dead shot, his evil eye, has contributed its share in the downfall of Springfield opponents. Vermont has been an in and out team and if it hopes to conquer the invaders must improve in its foul shooting.

Probable lineups:

Vermont	Springfield
Winant, r.f.	l.f., Crutch, Baker
Sargent, Durfey, c.	c., Wells
Tupper, l.f.	r.f., Meyers
Tobin, r.g.	l.g., Cook
Talbert, Taft, l.g.	r.g., Poten (Capt.)

A business meeting of the Cynic news and sports boards will be held Saturday, February 14, at 4 p.m. in 1 North College.

J. C. Carter,
Editor-in-chief.

During the next two weeks, lights may be kept on in all women's dormitories until 12 p.m. on account of "rushing parties."

potent injuries were almost received. Marvin and Bradish completed the attack which spelled the doom for S. A. E.

The lineups:

Delta Psi	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Corbin, r.f.	0	1	1
Park, c.	4	3	11
Wilson, l.f.	2	2	6
Bradish, r.g.	2	0	4
Marvin, l.g.	3	0	6
Total	11	6	28

Sigma Alpha Epsilon	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Valerio, r.f.	6	1	13
Bottger, c.	0	1	1
Massucco, l.f.	3	0	6
Crockett, r.g.	0	0	0
Burr, l.g.	1	1	3
Total	10	3	23

GET YOUR HIT OF THE WEEK RECORD AT

Isham News Shop

102A Church Street

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

64 COLCHESTER AVE.

Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

Have you chosen your life work?

In the field of health service. The Harvard University Dental School, the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States, offers this each year to a limited number of students. A college course for practical work under expert supervision of men high in the profession.

Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL

Dept. 91 Longwood Ave.

Boston, Mass.

Vermont Pucksters Swamp Skating Horsemen Five-Love

McVetty Leads Scoring With Three of Vermont's Goals—Hendrick Has Few Chances in Net

U. V. M. EDGED BY MIDD., 28-24, IN LAST MINUTES PLAY ON HOME COURT

Ashdown Leads Blue and White to Stirring Victory, Snatching Lead

Staging a last-minute rally that netted them seven points, Middlebury came from behind to edge Vermont, 28-24, in a thrilling encounter at the gym last Tuesday evening. Neither team could do much more than keep abreast of the other, one quintet temporarily surging ahead only to give way to the other. The score was evened up no less than five times.

Ashdown tallied twice from the penalty stripe to start off the scoring and Bullukian added a twin counter to raise the Black Panthers' total to four. Talbert and Sargent flashed in action for Vermont at this point, Talbert retaliating with a foul and a deuce from the side court, while Sarge heaved a long, high one from the middle of the floor that split the twine cleanly. It was the longest shot of the game and one of the prettiest.

Vermont displayed an alert, snappy passing game and a remarkably sharpened eye for the basket. Eddie Winant was noticeably active, being in the center of almost every play, while Ray Talbert distinguished himself by his uncanny skill at popping in the long ones. At the half the score stood all even, both fives having garnered eleven points.

Tupper sank a pretty stepshot to open action in the second period. The Cats, however, couldn't shake off the desperate Middmen, and a one-handed tap in by Ashdown off a rebound and several fouls enabled the Blue and White to knot the count again.

With only a few minutes left to play, and the score again evened up at twenty-four all, the Black Panthers put on a spurt that gave them the winning margin.

Talbert, Winant, and Taft showed up well for Vermont. Ashdown and Bullukian were the mainsprings of the Middlebury attack.

The summary:

Vermont	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Tupper, r.f.	2	0	4
Pires, r.f.	0	0	0
Winant, l.f.	1	1	3
Sargent, c.	1	0	2
Durfey, c.	1	0	2
Talbert, r.g.	2	2	6
Tobin, r.g.	1	1	3
Taft, l.g.	1	2	4
Total	9	6	24

Middlebury	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Bullukian, r.f.	3	2	8
Ashdown, l.f.	3	3	9
Corliss, c.	0	2	2
Chalmers, c.	2	0	4
McKenzie, r.g.	1	1	3
Hoyle, l.g.	0	2	0
Total	9	10	28

Referee, Cassidy.

CATS EVIDENCE GREATLY IMPROVED TEAM PLAY

Led by their sharp shooting left wing, Frank McVetty, who accounted for three of his team's five goals, the Catamount pucksters extended their winning streak to three straight games at the expense of Norwich, on the local ice Tuesday afternoon. Playing without Jimmy Wood and Dick Swain, two valuable veterans, the Green and Gold displayed remarkably good teamwork.

The first period was scoreless, although it was clearly evident that Vermont was far superior to the visiting puckmen. McKellar, the visiting goalie, who made over sixty stops during the game, was having his hands full.

Norwich got a tough break at the beginning of the second period when O'Bryne knocked a pass from behind his own goal into the cage, making the score 1-0 against his teammates.

McVetty scored the second goal on a pretty solo dash, which ended the Catamounts scoring for the second period.

The third period found the Catamounts working fast and hard, but unable to score. John Cunningham, who by the way is doing a fine job at defense, cashed in on a pass from Leo Segal making the count 3-0.

Frank McVetty put an end to the scoring by connecting for two more goals, the first on a rebound and the other on a pass in a corner from Capt. Frenchy Mercier.

The summary:

Vermont		Norwich
Mercier, Capt., l.w.		l.d. Martin
Marvin, c.		c. O'Bryne
McVetty, Bussey, l.w.	r.d.	Laythe, Capt.
Segal, r.d.	l.w.	Hosmer, Hughes
Cunningham, l.d.	r.w.	Carpenter, Gale
Hendrick, g.	g.	McKellar, Bingham

Referees, Schurman and Howard.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS FOR U. V. M.

featuring

Draper & Maynard and A. G. Spalding Bros. athletic equipment

PATTEN, IRWIN & WHITE W. E. GREENE CO.

SMART

YOUNG MEN ARE WEARING

HOCKMEYER CORDUROY TROUSERS - - - $5.00

All Shades

TURK'S
Burlington
Vt.

R. O. T. C. BAND TO GO ON AIR WITH COTTON BABES

[illegible] What Vermont 4-H [illegible] Extension Service [illegible] Concert University R. O. T. C. band, under [illegible] Joseph Lechnyr - U. V. M. songs including Cotton Babes."

Lucky Students

A recent decree has closed all universities in Spain for a period of thirty days. All other means of punishing the striking students were exhausted. The revolutionary tendencies of the students was one of the reasons given.

Society Notes

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Alpha Iota of Alpha Chi Omega announces the initiation of Pearl Jennings '32, Cora Humphrey, '32, and Zoah Bigelow '32 on February 10, 1931.

Alpha Iota chapter held its rushing tea Monday, February 9 at the chapter house from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. W. Harold Dalgliesh, Province President has been guest of the chapter this week.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Lena Waterman '30 was a visitor in Burlington over the week-end.

Evan Harris is teaching at Pownal Vt.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Ryan Way of Prospect St. entertained the actives, the chapter and the patronesses at dinner last Saturday evening, February 7.

K. E. L.

K. E. L. held a meeting Sunday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of Mrs. Irene Machanic, Intervale Ave. Ruth Kobak '34 of Fort Henry, N. Y. was initiated.

KAPPA DELTA

Alpha Theta of Kappa Delta takes pleasure in announcing that Miss Miriam Marston of the department of music has become a patroness of the local chapter.

Chocolates were passed at the last meeting to announce the engagement of Hester Rogers, ex-'30 and a graduate of the University of Southern California, to Quentin Peters of New York City.

Alpha Theta of Kappa Delta announces the pledging on Tuesday evening, February 10 at the Kilfa Club rooms of Elizabeth Page '32 of Hinesburg, Vt.

The reading tea was held on Tuesday afternoon, February 10 from four to six o'clock at the Kilfa Club rooms. Miss Miriam Marston and Miss Catherine Courtney poured.

SIGMA GAMMA

The wedding of Bertha Little '28 to Robert Larabee '28 took place Saturday morning, February 7 at 11 o'clock at the St. Paul's Church. Mrs. Larabee is a teacher in Edmunds High School. Mr. Larabee is in insurance business in Burlington.

Lorene Little '29 was in Burlington over the week-end.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

For the Kake-Walk
DECORATIONS
CREPE PAPER
POSTER BOARD
ART COLORS
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts. Phone 639

WINNING COUPLE WILL RECEIVE BOULDER CUP

[illegible] for the winning couple will be made by the local dealers [illegible] Winter Interclass Sweeps will [illegible]

[illegible] are officers of the group and W. M. [illegible] president and F. S. [illegible] secretary-treasurer. These two officers are both on early number for [illegible] The officers of sophomore and freshman are [illegible] for the coming year.

FROSH ENGLISH CLASS DEBATES COEDUCATION

Professor Cummings' freshman English class held an interesting informal debate Friday morning on the subject of coeducation. Its merits and [illegible] Opinions seemed fairly well divided, and numerous points and remedies for existing evils were suggested. Three outstanding examples of differing systems of education were discussed namely coeducation as it exists at the University of Vermont, with men and women in the same classes and with the same faculty, the complete separation of the sexes as at Yale and Smith, with locations widely apart, separate faculties and separate administrations, and the compromise as effected at Harvard and Radcliffe, where separate buildings and classes with identical faculties and affiliated administrations are maintained.

The University of Oregon has just celebrated Dad's Day. During their stay on the campus they were entertained by special events arranged in their honor.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB WILL CONTEST N. E. COLLEGES

Thirty students comprising the Men's Glee Club will compete for the fourth time with nine other colleges in the annual New England Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest to be held in Bushnell Memorial Auditorium at Hartford, Connecticut, February 27.

An entry in the National Glee Club contest in New York awaits the winner of the Hartford Contest which includes Amherst, Bowdoin, Clark, M. I. T., Middlebury, Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams, and W. P. I.

The Glee Club will sing without notes and accompaniment three songs, the prize song "Feasting I Watch", by Elgar, the choice song, "Marching" by Brahms, and the College song, "Champlain". All the glee clubs will sing together "On the Road to Mandalay" by Speaks, "The Lost Chord", by Sullivan and the "Star Spangled Banner." The judges of the contest will be Ralph Baldwin, Channing Lefebure, and Mark Andrews, all nationally known musicians.

Other trips are being arranged for both the men's and women's glee clubs. Plans are now being made for the Annual April Opera. "The clubs," says Professor Bennett, "show greater promise of musical success than ever."

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

The Ideal Hotel for You
In BOSTON
is the NEW
Hotel MANGER
At North Station
Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden
500 ROOMS
Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower ▼ Built-in-Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) ▼ Servidor Circulating Ice Water.
New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel
Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service.
RATES—ROOM AND BATH
FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00
FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00
No Higher Rates

ETA SIGMA PHI HEARS LINDSAY ON PETRONIUS

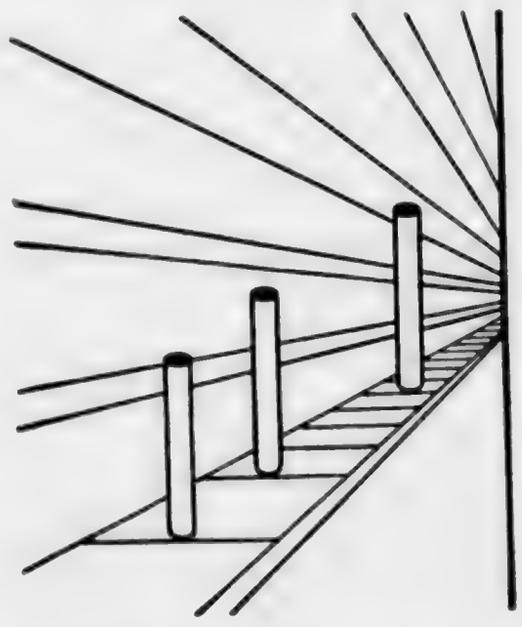
Prof. E. Y. Lindsay of the department of Latin spoke on the life and works of Petronius, at the monthly meeting of Eta Sigma Phi held Tuesday evening in 34 South College.

By weaving into his lecture translations of interesting passages and many acute personal observations, he was able to introduce his listeners in a delightful manner to one of the lesser known Latin authors.

CHANNING CLUB HEARS TALK BY PROF. HOLMES

Professor Holmes of the physics department of the University of Vermont was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Channing Club last Sunday evening at the Unitarian Church. Professor Holmes spoke on the Electron and briefly reviewed the modern theories on Electricity.

RESEARCH CLUB TO ISSUE FACULTY BIBLIOGRAPHY



To contain a record [illegible] published by Vermont [illegible] during the past seven [illegible] books, articles and [illegible] general nature, a [illegible] U. V. M. faculty will be published by the Research Club.

Professors S. E. Parker, [illegible] Jacobs are the committee [illegible] collecting the data.

When published, the [illegible] will not only be used to [illegible] students at the University, [illegible] be sent to other universities [illegible] change for bibliographies [illegible] faculties.

The Research Club also [illegible] sible for the collection and [illegible] tion of the bibliography in [illegible] it came out as a special [illegible] "U. V. M. Notes." a publication superseded by the Alumni

STATIONERY FOR ALL THE NATIONAL FRATERNITIES CAN BE PURCHASED AT POPULAR PRICES
at the
University Store

?

Which of these cigarettes is the tallest — but maybe you're on to this one!

YOUR EYES MAY FOOL YOU
BUT
YOUR TASTE tells the Truth!

MILDER...AND BETTER TASTE

They Satisfy

© 1931, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1931 NUMBER 24

Needs Active Student Minds

Northfield Conference Sees College Requires Interest In Social Problems

EIGHT DELEGATES FROM VERMONT ATTEND MEET

...eeds students who ...active and curious in ...national affairs and ...al problems, was the ...clusion reached by ...d Intercollegiate Con... discussed the topic, ... Doing to Us?" at ... February 13-15. ...tes from the Univer... attended the meet at ... dozen New England ... represented.

...enting Vermont were ... Cowles, '31, president of ... and of the Interfraternity ...our Germain, president ...ational Relations Club ... Friars, Paul Lacrosse, ... Christian World Educa... Y. C. A. and contributing ... the CYNIC board, Stanley ... Richard R. Murray, as... editors of the CYNIC board, ... Mount, president of the Ver... Y. W. C. A., Beatrice Freeman, ...ve in the Y. W. C. A. and in ... A. and L. E. Hoyt of Lambda ...

President Neilson, President of ... College, Professor Aubrey of ... University, and Francis P. ... of Geneva, Switzerland were ... faculty leaders of the conference.

President Neilson chose as his sub... a summary of the international ...lications of the topic under dis... by the Conference, "What is ...ge doing to us?" Some of his more ...portant points were "What are we ...ting college do to us?" The impor... of gaining a congenial group ...on entrance into college, the impor... of continued intellectual instruc... of college faculty members, and ... prevalence of militaristic or na...alist propaganda in American col...es and schools.

In closing, he pointed out that the ...t objective before college students ... the attainment of a sense of the ...ority of the position of being a stu...

Professor Aubrey, of the Chair of ...iology at the University of Chicago, ...oke the following morning, ...ering the following topics: Chang... enough of the college curricula to ...e care of campus social problems ...d providing a faculty alive to the ...ollege situation of today. He be...ved that the chief cause of war is ...e indifference of the average indi...dual to the management of interna...al affairs, plus the fact that the ...ution of these matters is left in ...e hands of people who are dictated ...ely by commercial and military in...sts. He said there is too much ...ellectualness, and far too much of ...e policy of laissez faire. He em...sized the fact that one of the in...national troubles is the suppres... of free speech and of the press.

...closing he stated that on our out...ts exist exploitation, a policy ...laissez faire, discrimination, and ...ference, and that until these are ...inated social problems will con... to crop up.

...afternoon was devoted to ...ts and hiking, the delegates divid... their time between skiing, coast... tobogganing, and the like. On ...day evening Mr. Francis P. Mil... of Geneva, Switzerland, in an in...ing talk said that people will bear ...h social injustice, and that ...ples have reached a point of ...ings are likely to break ...talk was of the emotional, ...type that aroused much en... among his listeners.

FRESHMEN MUST TAKE MILITARY HYGIENE EXAM

The freshman class are reminded of ... exam in Military hygiene and ... to be held Thursday morning ... thirty, February 19, in 27 ... Science Hall. No makeup ... are allowed except in cases of ... which means that to cut will ... individual mark very much ... the enormous casualty list.

... Cadet Corps battalion will ...ize and permanent assign... of officers and non-commissioned ... be made and posted on the ... board for formation Friday, ... 20.

FRENCH CLUB TO MEET AT PROF. EVANS HOME

A meeting of the French Club tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Professor Paul D. Evans will be featured by a talk on Romain Rolland, the French author, by Lillian Cohen of the French department. Several one-act plays will be read, and the evening's entertainment will be concluded by the playing of some recorded French songs.

WHAT DOES IT PROFIT A MAN? ASKS SULLIVAN IN IRA ALLEN VESPER

Earthly Power Gained at Loss of One's Soul Profits Nothing

Speaking on the text: "What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" the Rev. William L. Sullivan, a Unitarian preacher from Germantown, Pa., addressed a congregation of students, faculty and townspeople in the monthly vesper service held in the Ira Allen Chapel Sunday, February 15.

Dr. Sullivan reconstructed the setting in which Jesus asked this question of Peter, not long after He came to be acclaimed as the Messiah and not long before the crucifixion. His denial of kingly power and His prophecy of His own death made the rebuke of Peter tremendous in its power, the preacher pointed out.

Statesmen could learn much of statecraft from this text, Dr. Sullivan continued. But they seldom do, looking to temporary expedients, not profound solutions, in meeting their problems. They do not recognize the spiritual power of humanity.

He cited the clever maneuvers of Roman statesmen in dealing with their problem of free farmers forced to abandon their farms and migrate to the cities to become an unemployed rabble. The statesman argued that if this rabble could be kept fed and amused it would cause no trouble for the government. This, as a temporary expedient, worked. But when the empire was finally attacked, it was found that the character of its people had been undermined and it was only the shell of an empire, with no real power.

From literature, Doctor Sullivan took the example of Macbeth, how in the moment he had the kingship in his grasp through his murder of Duncan, the realization came to him that he had lost his own soul, and he could take no comfort in his power.

The speaker's final plea was for character and integrity of the individual, unalloyed by material considerations.

The Rev. Skillman E. Myers of the Unitarian Church assisted at the services, reading from the scripture and leading in prayer. The University choir sang an anthem and led the singing of hymns. Dean J. L. Hills introduced Doctor Sullivan.

INTEREST IN ART COURSE GROWING SAYS SINCLAIR

Students and faculty at the University are urged to respond to the questionnaire sent them by a self constituted Alumni committee, last week, regardless of the opinion they might have for or against the proposed new art curriculum. In an interview with a CYNIC reporter Mr. Hugh E. Sinclair, '23, member of the committee consisting also of Mr. Harry Barker of New York City, Mrs. Ruth B. Gray of Burlington and Mrs. J. I. Forbes of Burlington, stated that the replies received thus far were very favorable.

Answers to question I which asks, "If there had been a curriculum of Applied Arts leading to a degree of B. F. A. or B. S. in art when you entered U. V. M. would you have followed it?" have exceeded by a large number the supposed 15 potential students who were willing to start art courses in the fall of 1931.

Of the 1,400 odd questionnaires sent, about 250 replies have been received, containing the needed information.

The committee is expecting many more answers especially from the faculty, and hopes to have accurate statistics compiled later this week.

When asked about the questionnaire, University authorities declared that the agitation for the new curriculum has as yet no official recognition, and they refused to make any statement concerning it.

Bids Sent To Frosh Women

Lawyer Issues Preferential Bidding Sheets As Rushing Season Ends

FRESHMEN MUST GIVE LIST OF CHOICES THURS.

[illegible] the rushing season period for freshman sororities, women students will receive bids and invitations to [illegible] Thursday noon and [illegible] until Friday noon. Last year there were [illegible] bids issued. This year [illegible] bids will be issued. [illegible] the invitations and the [illegible] of the Women's [illegible] issued a bulletin [illegible] sheet.

The invitations and the list of those and only those bidden [illegible] and be busy sent out the preferential sheets [illegible] to freshmen receiving [illegible] bids. Tomorrow afternoon from two to six, those bid will fill out this paper with the advice of the Dean of Women and list in order the desired sororities. The freshman then is considered a member of the first sorority in her list that bid her; she has, however, the privilege of changing her choice without a penalty until ten o'clock in evening by calling Mr. X. Y. Edmunds, the lawyer chosen by the Panhellenic Association. Otherwise if she "breaks" this pledge to one sorority, she cannot be asked to join another for one calendar year. The preferential system is considered the most satisfactory of those worked out at Vermont.

(Continued on page 4)

Kake Walk Looms Again On Undergraduate Horizon

Thirty-Fourth Midwinter Classic, Three Days Away, Sees Six Fraternities Competing for Stunts With All Entered in Peerade and Kake Walking

SELECT LOCAL JUDGES FOR ALL COMPETITIONS

[illegible] plans are in [illegible] Kake Walk [illegible] and the [illegible] campus [illegible] competitive [illegible]

[illegible] plans and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Friday and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

NEWS DEPARTMENT

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

ASSISTANT EDITORS

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Vol. 49 February 18, 1931 No. 14

OUR SPORTS POLICY

Kuts from the Kake

Beware of Ticket Speculators!

In anticipation of the great demand for seats this year the committee is taking every precaution to keep tickets out of the hands of speculators. Reports on the matters of seats for those who desire purchase all the way from [illegible] themselves into the confidence of the ticket sellers and have [illegible] to satisfy supply to head and lose up the price at the [illegible] moment and thus have kicked from the profits and confidence they have [illegible] Such people ought to be taught to mind matters of this kind.

Horrible Advice

Of all the fraternity stunts the less said the better seemeth to be vital. If the last word of the last line of a speech should [illegible] some radical fresh men might think he was seeing double. However as far there is no danger the first word has not been found.

Dark Doings

The [illegible] manner in which each fraternity sets up all (or [illegible]) of its apparatus in the dark is sure to mystify not a few. The center of the floor is used and the boys pass in with all their trappings and while the audience seated around the walls in the balconies and on the running track is tense with excitement to the breaking point lo and be hold! another fraternity stunt begins. Surely here is a rare treat of psychic phenomena for a small admission.

Old Vermont Spirit Needed

As Earnest Codding once said "If we can't have corn beef and cabbage" give me liberty or give me death! that's the old spirit! Put every ounce of energy (I was going to write corn beef) on the Kake Walk! Fo' it's de only event of its kind in the world!"

P. J. LaCrosse

Obituary

Mrs. Mary Belle Stetson

At midnight on Sunday, February 8, there passed from the life of town and University a gentle and gracious spirit, whose kindly presence among us has been for nearly thirty years rich in good works and ways. The death of Mrs. Mary Belle Stetson will be deeply mourned by friends and colleagues and by the generations of college girls who owe so much to her loving care.

Mary Belle Hurlbut was born in Illinois October 16, 1865, and in early girlhood journeyed with her father, who was a lawyer, and family to California, where she was educated. On a visit to a brother at Phillips Exeter Academy she met an instructor in the languages, Carlton Beecher Stetson, to whom she was married in 1892. After ten years spent in study at Harvard and in teaching at Colby, Professor Stetson came with his wife and young son to Burlington in the autumn of 1902. Then followed another ten years of academic service marked not only by zest in imparting Greek and German, but by sympathy with the eager interests of the student body. After December 1912, when her husband died, Mrs. Stetson, whose love of young people was no less than his, remained on our hill, as adviser of women and matron of Grassmount, and, since 1920, as director of woman's dormitories. To such duties as these she was admirably adapted by her ideal of life, the giving of self to others. This generous aim was realized in all her relations with the youthful world about her. Her greatness of heart and gentleness of nature won quick response from those under her direction, while her lofty standards and delicate sense of honor showed the way to right living. A wealth of understanding and sympathy made her a wise guide and warm friend—"a tower of strength," says one who knew her well, "to all who sought her counsel."

Devotion was the keynote of Mrs. Stetson's nature. This beautified the home life that her old friends recall, consecrated her long service to her church, and hallowed every act of her daily round. During her last year the building of a charming cottage with delightful views of lake and mountains was inspired less by the thoughts of her own happiness than by loyalty to her only son whom she wished to share its beauty. His death a few months ago weakened her own failing hold on life, but faith that knew no doubts and many hopes abode with her to the end.

By Prof. Frederick Tupper

Mrs. Stetson's funeral service was held at St. Paul's Church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, following the resting of the body in state at the church.

Author's Arena

MANSFIELD

Far through the purple mist of dawn
Old Mansfield lifts his rocky face
And bids Vermonters "Carry on"
For on this earth a worthy place

Above the feverish dust of day,
Above the petty things of life
He bends Vermonters on the way
That shuns disorder greed and strife.

Serene in evening's fading glow
He stands undaunted in his might,
That our Vermont may ever know
The path that leads to truth and right.

When winters crown his head with snow
When summers dress his shoulders green
We of Vermont can never know
A truer, more inspiring scene.

Wilmond W. Parker, '29.

ARIEL PROGRESS

According to a statement made to a Cynic reporter Tuesday by Raymond W. Cobb, '31, editor of the Ariel, all groups that did not have their pictures taken last week-end by the Warren Kay Vantine Studio Company, must notify him of their intention of being included in the Ariel, at once at the Delta Psi house, as a final and complete dummy will be made up the coming Monday or Tuesday and it will be impossible to include them. Rates are fixed at $13.00 a page.

Last week-end about forty group pictures were taken and orders will be taken by James Marvin, '32, at some time during the first of next week. Pictures will be submitted to each group for approval and will be sold at 50c apiece. The Ariel will receive glossy prints free of charge.

As a whole the Ariel board has received cooperation from most groups and individuals and at present all but two fraternities have had their pictures taken. Presenting the most serious difficulty are the men's grinds which have come to the editors very slowly. As the paper goes to press, approximately one hundred pages of copy will be with the printers and about the same amount with the editorial board awaiting revision and typewriting.

Several engraver's proofs have been received of individual pictures from the Hammersmith-Kortmeyer Company of Milwaukee who are handling the engraving and printing.

The board is planning an intensive drive for the remaining honor lists and grinds which have not yet been handed in and the co-operation of all concerned is asked. Honor lists and junior questionnaires may be secured in the Book Store and left in the Ariel box after being filled in.

It is expected that the photographers will return at the end of February to take sorority pictures as soon as the rushing season is over. Any other groups wishing to have their sittings may do so at this time.

A final drive for copy will be made after Kake Walk and the editors hope to have the Ariel published by Junior Week if everything goes well.

COLLEGE NIGHT WELL PRESENTED AT FLYNN

Published by Request

Thursday evening, February 12, witnessed the presentation of Ex-Converse's second big College Night of the year at the Flynn Theater. The program was by far the most ambitious and talented of any presented to date and quite clearly excelled the so-called professional talent which played the same theatre on New Year's Eve.

"Art" Brown, Flynn Theatre organist, presented an excellent selection of songs and wise cracks. His efforts were followed by the showing of the 1927 Kake Walk newsreel film. Aside from the general interest of the film, the Kake Walk advertising committee feels that this constitutes valuable Kake Walk publicity.

The Upton School of Dancing was next on the program. A pretty ballet number by four girls, tap routine by Bobby Upton, toe dance by the school's dance instructor, Miss Fitzgerald, and a high kick filler number by five of the girls completed the act which drew unusual applause.

Dick Shepard's presence on the stage against started the applause which rose in the volume after each of his songs. He is undoubtedly the biggest drawing card on each college night program. Dick sang three songs, refusing to take an encore.

Ev Doten and his Black Pirate orchestra next entertained. They presented a series of pleasing popular dance numbers, which, judging by the applause they received, were even more popular after they had introduced them. A feature of the Black Pirate's act was a solo by one of the members. Two black-faced collegiate lads danced a hot chorus to one of the orchestra's numbers.

Bits of Bunk

Professor: Wise men [illegible] are certain.
Pupil: Are you sure?
Professor: I am [illegible].

Singer: And for Bonnie Laurie I'd lay me down [illegible].
Listener (rising): Is [illegible] in the audience?

A Negro girl went to [illegible] larly to draw her wages. She could neither read nor write an X on the receipt. Then she made a circle.
"Why the circle, Mandy? Why you make an X as usual?" asked the cashier.
"Ah done got married," explained Mandy, "and changed mah name."

Hero: Wasn't that your [illegible]?
Heroine: Yes, I guess it must be you had better kiss me and cover up this awkward pause in conversation.—Pitt Panther

Sigma: How were your grades this quarter?
Alpha: Jules Verne.
Sigma: How's that?
Alpha: Twenty thousand under the "C."

Prof.: How many people are there in this country?
Student: Er-r-r-r-r-r.
Prof.: Hurry, hurry. Even if you dilly-dally the number won't get larger.

Giacomo Puccini wrote:
"The Parker Pen is superlative, good

Wrote his greatest Operas with a

Parker Pen

GUARANTEED FOR LIFE

You, too, can capture your precious ideas on the fly, if you have this Pressureless Writing Parker Duofold Pen ever handy on your person and desk.

Parker Pressureless Writing—as subconscious as breathing—avoids all interference with thought.

Go and see the new streamlined Parkers that rest low and unexposed in pocket or hand bag, without bulge; yet hold 17.4% more ink than average. The same pen convertible for Pocket or Desk Base.

THE PARKER PEN COMPANY
Janesville, Wisconsin

Pencils to match, $2.50 to $5

Parker Duofold

PEN GUARANTEED FOR LIFE
$5 $7 $10
Other Parker Pens, $2.75 and $3.50

WIG AND BUSKIN NAMES S. B. BARKER PRESIDENT

S. B. Barker, '32, will serve as president of Wig and Buskin for the coming year, it was announced last night. R. [illegible], '32, will act as vice-president, and A. O. Hatch, '32, will be the secretary, as a result of the recent election in the society.

J. W. Marvin, '32, was elected business manager and treasurer. The property manager is L. R. Collins and F. [illegible] will be advertising manager.

The retiring officers [illegible] Butterfield, '31, vice-president; R. B. Abbott, '31, secretary-treasurer and business manager; E. W. Worrell, '31, advertising manager; H. B. Matthews, '31, and property manager J. S. Freeman, '31.

COMMITTEE DOES NOT APPROVE SCHOLARSHIPS

The question of agricultural scholarships which are granted to agricultural students in practically every state except the agricultural State of Vermont, was recently presented for consideration in the Vermont legislature.

The subject of scholarships to the State Agricultural College was considered by the committee on agriculture. The recommendations of the committee for increased scholarships can raise objection on the grounds that a large appropriation is being made for tuberculosis eradication and an effort should be made to conserve funds.

SPORTING NEWS

Three Wins In League Games

Phi Mu Delta, 32; Zeta Chi, 19; A T O, 16—Sigma Phi, 11; Sigma Nu, 24—Sigma Delt, 14

ALL FRATERNITIES SHOW MANY SKILLFUL PLAYS

[illegible] of much skillful [illegible] and basket-shooting [illegible] fraternity basketball [illegible] another afternoon of [illegible]ry 14.

[illegible]a defeated Zeta Chi, [illegible] Phi ceded its game to [illegible] 16-11; and Sigma Nu [illegible] Delta in a 24-14 fin-

Phi Mu Delta—Zeta Chi

[illegible] a fast passing attack, [illegible] excellent teamwork, the [illegible] had little trouble in [illegible] the Zeta Chi hoopsters. [illegible]quarter found the losers [illegible]hoop with regularity and [illegible] an 8-5 lead chiefly [illegible] efforts of Myers and [illegible] however this lead was short [illegible] Phi Mu Delts came back [illegible] with Woodward and Ste[illegible] they built up a 17-10 lead [illegible]

[illegible] half was a repetition of [illegible] quarter, as far as the scor[illegible] The winners with Wood[illegible] Stearns and Galvin all playing [illegible] well, had little trouble in [illegible] the losers defense and scored [illegible]

[illegible] Minett and Myers did the [illegible] for the losers.

PHI MU DELTA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible] rf	2	0	4
[illegible] lf	1	0	2
[illegible] c	1	2	4
[illegible]ward [illegible]	4	1	9
[illegible]ch rg	2	1	5
[illegible]Steele lg	3	2	8
Totals	13	6	32

ZETA CHI

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible] rf	2	0	4
[illegible] lf	0	0	0
[illegible] lf	1	1	3
[illegible] c	4	0	8
[illegible]tcheon, r.g.,	0	0	0
[illegible], r.g.,	1	0	2
[illegible] lg	1	0	2
[illegible] lg.	0	0	0
Totals	9	1	19

Referee: Abell; Umpire, Levine.

Sigma Phi—A T O

[illegible] second game of the afternoon [illegible] to be scrappy but less scien[illegible] and clever than the previous two [illegible]. However, what was lacking [illegible] science was made up in eagerness [illegible] the part of the contestants. The [illegible] quarter was slow and uninter[illegible] featured by much fumbling and [illegible] passing, with the A T O emerg[illegible] with a 4-1 lead. The second quar[illegible] was a repetition of the first and at [illegible] time the A T O's had built up a [illegible] lead.

[illegible] second half was much more in[illegible]ting and harder fought. Baldwin [illegible] Brislin for the winners hit the [illegible] basket consistently, Brislin drop[illegible] in two beauties from way out, [illegible] the count 12-5 at the end of [illegible] quarter.

[illegible] last quarter was fast and furi[illegible]. The losers resorted to long shots [illegible] efforts to tie up the game and [illegible] Baker dropped in two sensa[illegible] shots.

A T O

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible] rf	1	3	5
[illegible] lf	3	2	8
[illegible] lf	1	0	2
[illegible] c	0	0	0
[illegible] rg	0	0	0
[illegible] lg	0	1	1
[illegible] lg	0	0	0
Totals	5	6	16

SIGMA PHI

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible] rf	2	1	5
[illegible] lf	2	0	4
[illegible] c	1	0	2
[illegible] rg	0	0	0
[illegible] lg	0	0	0
[illegible] lg	0	0	0
Totals	5	1	11

[illegible]ma Nu and Sigma Delta fought [illegible]nd of the league with [illegible] lead 24-14 at the end [illegible]

[illegible] was drawn when Kibbey [illegible] he failed to score. The [illegible] presented with two free shots, failed to make good; Aiken tried a long shot, missed and Phillips scored first for the game and the Nu's. Thereafter the Nu's led the scoring, either ahead or behind. Tap to Maynes who tried again to get in the scoring column, and Phillips scored again, 4-0. The quarter ended 4-0 and the Nu's still in the lead.

The Delts began the second quarter with a string of scores; Goss put in the first and Kibbey pops one in directly after. Score 4-4, and the Nu's still trying to get the lead. Aiken dribbles up to the basket and doesn't miss. Phillips, not to be bested, tosses one other in, score 4-8. The Delts followed up with two pretty misses and the Nu's retaliated, two misses each. Tilley scores and the half ends with a burst of speed and long shots. Score at half 8-6, and Nu's rest with their hard earned laurels.

Second half starts off with a basket by Phillips; more fast play and Aiken tries two free shots, but only half succeeds, 11-6. Tilley shoots a couple at the backboard and "Bobby" makes good again. Kibbey misses another of his innumerable fouls; "Bobby", fouled again, makes one of the two tries, and Phillips scores again, 16-6. Play getting slower and a long pass, Aiken again. Looks as if Aiken will do as well in scoring as Phillips. More long shots, Sigma Delts try a stalling game, Shippee fouled, and makes good, 18-7. More tries, more "pretty plays" and the third quarter is over.

The last quarter starts fast, more "nice plays" but no scores. Tillie breaks the ice, and Goss makes a foul good. Score 18-10. Kibbey makes another basket, 18-12, and things look better for the Delts. The stands call for three more baskets to tie the Nu's. Sargent makes two more misses out of two free tries, Aiken snatches ball and Nu's have two more points. McGowan out for not concealing his movements better from Archie's eyes. More long shots, and misses. Lunna puts one in from the side, 20-14. Last couple minutes of play. Phillips drops in two in rapid succession, 24-14.

SIGMA NU

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Aiken, r.f.,	4	2	10
Cogswell, r.f.,	0	0	0
Follette, r.f.,	0	0	0
Carlson, r.f.,	0	0	0
Buzzell, l.f.,	1	0	2
Bove, l.f.,	0	0	0
Phillips, c.,	6	0	12
Davis, c.,	0	0	0
McGowan, r.g.,	0	0	0
Newton, r.g.,	0	0	0
Maynes, l.g.,	0	0	0
Totals	11	2	24

SIGMA DELTA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Goss, r.f.,	1	1	3
Sargent, l.f.,	0	0	0
Lunna, c.,	1	0	2
Kibby, r.g.,	0	1	1
Shippy	[illegible]	0	0
Totals	[illegible]	[illegible]	14

ARMY DOWNS VERMONT SKATERS FOUR TO ONE

Although outstanding the Army hockey team, the University of Vermont sextet was downed by [illegible] at West Point Saturday afternoon.

The first tally came after eight minutes of play in the first period when Flagstaff risked and made good with a long shot which caught Hendrick unprepared. Frenchy Mercier followed seven minutes later to knot the count at 1 to 1 by skating around the cage and poking the puck in around the corner.

From then on, although Mercier [illegible] times got in front of the goal alone, and Segal did three times, the Green and Gold men were unable to connect.

The game was fast and somewhat rough. The Army rink, a new structure, is said to be the largest in the country. The summary:

ARMY		VERMONT
Garcy, lw.	rd,	Segal
Goodrich, c.	c,	Wood
Flagstaff, rw.	ld,	Swain
Cotted, l.d.	r.w.,	Mercier (Capt.)
Tapping, rd.	lw.,	McVetty
Waters, (Capt.) g.	g,	Hendrick

Score by periods:	1	2	3	T
Army	1	1	2	4
Vermont	1	0	0	1

DETAILED SCORES FOR WINTER SPORTS EVENTS HAS SIGMA NU IN LEAD

Winners of Award Capture 50 Points With A T O's As Runners-up

With the winter sports award being captured by the Sigma Nus under the sterling leadership of Rod Maynes, through cooperation of Archie Post, is a final detailed scoring account of this annual meet, a harbinger of good will among the various fraternities on the hill. A well-balanced team enabled the winners to pile up 50 points with their nearest competitors. The ATO's tally 29 with the Zeta Chis, last year's winners, 7 points behind the second-place team.

WINTER SPORTS MEET

Events	Winning Time	ΣN	ΑΤΩ	ΖΧ	ΔΨ	ΦΜΔ	ΑΓ
220-yd. ski dash	44⅘	3	2	..	..	..	1
½ mile ski relay	3:05	3	..	2	..	..	1
220-yd. snowshoe dash	41⅖	1	..	3	2	..	..
½ mile snowshoe relay	4:12	3	..	2	1	..	..
1 mile skating	5:00	1	7	3	..	..	..
½ mile skating relay	...	2	3	1	..	..	..
220-yd. skating	28⅗	..	5	..	..	1	..
Ski cross-country	47:53⅗	5	..	3	3	..	..
Snowshoe cross-country	18:16	8	..	..	3	..	..
Ski proficiency	21⅕	11	..	..	..	..	..
½ mile skating	2:10	3	5	1	..	2	..
Balanced team points	...	8	1	5	..	..	..
Totals	...	50	29	22	9	2	2

Cats To Face McGill Soon

Change in Schedule to Place Vermont Against Montrealers Saturday

[illegible] a close [illegible] from the schedule, the Catamount hoopsters will face McGill at Montreal the evening of February [illegible].

A hard-fought victory over the McGill men in December gives the Vermont men courage to meet them on the former's floor in what is anticipated to be a close game.

The Montreal team is much stronger now, and they will not give up the ghost to Vermont without a struggle. Whatever the result of the game, it is expected to be very close.

On the evening of the preceding day, February 20, Vermont will play Sun Life again. This time, however, the Catamounts will be satisfied with nothing less than a win.

The line-up for the Vermont-McGill game will be:

McGILL	VERMONT
Capt., Smaill, r.f.,	r.f., Tupper
Rice, r.g.,	r.g., Tobin, Talbert
Calhoun, l.g.,	l.g., Taft
Webb, l.f.,	l.f., Winant
Faulker, c.,	c., Sargent, Durfey

THIRTY-TWO ARE OUT FOR EARLY TRACK WORK

Thirty-two men are spending three nights weekly in preliminary training for spring track work.

The three nights are compulsory while Saturday tuning up is optional for the men.

Coach Post urges more upperclassmen to report for practice as their interest and perseverance will determine to a large extent the success of the Green and Gold track outfit.

Competition with high school squads will probably be in order for the 1934 tracksters.

STATE THEATER WILL SHOW KAKE WALK FILM

On Wednesday and Thursday of this week, a reel depicting scenes in the 1927 Kake Walk will be shown at the State Theater at all performances. Joe Brown is again starring in the main picture "Top Speed" which is said to be bigger and funnier than "Hold Everything."

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Breaking a world's record, the women's rifle team, sponsored by [illegible] Hubert, shot a perfect [illegible] matches with M A C [illegible] of Arkansas and the University of Hawaii.

The world champion five was made up of Georgina Hubert, Evelyn Blay[illegible] [illegible] and Frances Thomas.

The men's team in a shoulder to [illegible] match overwhelmed Company K of the National Guard 1,625 [illegible].

CLARK SCHOOL TAKES CATAMOUNT FROSH IN THRILLING GAME, 21-20

Saba Scores High for Kits—Funston Duplicates for Clark

Clark School defeated the Vermont freshmen in a thrilling, last minute finish game, Saturday night with the final score of 21-20 as a fighting Clark team overcame overwhelming odds and won just as the final gun sounded.

The yearling team opened the game with a 7-0 lead and for a while things looked easy. Baskets by Lyford, Morgan and Saba and a foul shot by the latter made prospects bright. However, before the quarter was up, Clark School brought the score to 7-5.

A thrilling one-hand shot by Saba put an edge on the audience and incidentally changed the score. A few minutes later Morgan, playing at center, scored another basket. Funston made one for Clark, and the quarter ended with the score 11-7 in favor of Vermont.

A drab third quarter found Vermont leading the score, 18-9. From then to the end of the game was one hectic fight. Funston started Clark's attack with a basket. In the last four minutes shots followed fast from the hands of Harris, Cunnington, Boylan and MacDonald, making the score 20-19, still in favor of the frosh. Fast guarding on the part of Vermont stopped the rush for a brief interval. When Mulcahy, Saba and Woodruff missed shots one after the other, Clark School put on an extra spurt and Nicholson came through with a last second basket making the score 21-20.

Box score:

CLARK

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Harris, l.g.,	1	0	2
Boylan, l.g.,	1	1	3
Cunnington, r.g.,	1	0	2
Funston, c.,	3	2	8
Nicholson, l.f.,	2	0	4
Leete, l.f.,	0	0	0
MacDonald, r.f.,	1	0	2
Totals	9	3	21

FROSH

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Lyford, r.f.,	1	1	3
Woodruff, r.f.,	0	0	0
Mulcahy, r.f., l.f.,	0	0	0
Saba, l.f., c.,	3	2	8
Morgan, c.,	2	0	4
Delfausse, r.g.,	2	0	4
Drown, l.g.,	0	1	1
Rust, l.g.,	0	0	0
Totals	8	4	20

Springfield Takes Cats

Gymnasts Trim Vermont 34-17 With Taft Scoring 8 and Seewagen 10 Points

TEAM HOLDS VISITORS THROUGH FIRST PERIOD

Springfield College continued to add [illegible] to its winning [illegible] tactics, the Green and Gold five into camp at the gym last Saturday night by a 34-17 score.

The game was scarcely a half minute under way before Ray Talbert, in great anguish, called a hurried time out and left the floor to remove a large sliver that had become entangled in his anatomy as he slid along the surface of the court. The Catamount quintet held the much-vaunted attack of the gymnasts well in check during the first period, consistently breaking up their plays beneath the basket and bringing the ball down to the other hoop. The visitors were able to cage only three floor goals during this period but connected with five fouls, not a single attempt from the foul stripe being unsuccessful.

Chet Taft was the only Vermont boy to score from the floor, making two long, difficult shots, both times from the middle of a crowd of Springfield players. Bob Tobin contributed three points via the penalty route, connecting with every try, and Ray Talbert also added a single counter, to make the score at the half 11-8 in favor of the gymnasts.

The second half was entirely a Springfield affair, the Red and White team amassing twenty-three points to nine for Vermont. Seewagen, the opposing center was the largest single contributor with nine points.

Chet Taft swelled his previous total from four to eight with two floor goals. Tobin and Talbert also found the hoop once, Tobin sinking a clean one from the side just as the final whistle blew.

The summary:

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Talbert	1	1	3
Durfey	0	0	0
Winant	0	0	0
Sargent	0	1	1
Tobin	1	3	5
Taft	4	0	8
Allerton	0	0	0
Totals	6	5	17

SPRINGFIELD

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Meyers	2	4	8
Bleker	2	0	4
Crutch	1	1	3
Wells	1	1	3
Seewagen	4	2	10
Poten	1	1	3
Quirk	0	0	0
Crook	1	1	3
Totals	12	10	34

All sophomores wishing to scrub track should report to the gym any afternoon after four o'clock.

Hugh R. Mattison,
Manager of Track.

Seniors who have not yet turned in their reading reports for the first half-year must complete this requirement by March 1.

Specializing

SKII SUITS and BREECHES

FOR

Men and Women

ALL COLORS

TURKS
Burlington
Vt.

BOARD OF MISSIONS HAS THIRTY POSITIONS OPEN

[illegible] ... [illegible] ... [illegible] ... [

KAKE WALK ISSUE

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1931 — NUMBER 35

Review of Festivals Since Early Inception Indicates Evolution

Historical Summary Shows Steady Increase in Student Interest and Originality

UNDERGRADUATE FEATURE HAS SEEN FOUR STAGES

Kake Walk, now in its thirty-fourth year, boasts its history one of undiminishing enthusiasm, and constant progress in originality and genius, besides a perennial feature with vast crowds of spectators.

Growing Up

Four stages have been noticeable in the evolution of Kake Walk. The first the impromptu stage, when it was a private affair. The second, in the armory days; the third, when the fraternities began putting on stunts, which, however, were staged with very little preparation; and, the fourth, the present era of careful preparation, and elaborate execution.

In 1912, when Kake Walk became the traditional midwinter undergraduate feature, it boasted of an overwhelming success.

Two years later Kake Walk still retained its popularity with those who again witnessed its yearly visit. In fact it seemed as though the whole city of Burlington had flowed up the hill for the great event. The press of the crowd was so great that the stunts were late in starting. That year stunts were saturated with originality and a facility of performance. The peerade afforded a complete pageant of Farmer's Week with a clearful and wonderful spraying apparatus as the main feature.

The following year, Vermont's eighteenth annual Kake Walk proved itself again a gala occasion. A striking feature of the peerade was a series of seven couples, each representing a different department of the University and each carrying one letter of the seven that make up the word "Vermont."

Three years later Kake Walk took on a patriotic atmosphere. The yearly event did its part to help the Red Cross drawing its enthusiastic and ever-growing crowds in spite of the gloom of the war period. A most interesting feature of one stunt presented that year was a zeppelin, which sailed clear across the rafters of the gymnasium.

Vermont's twenty-second Kake Walk opened to the accompaniment of a tremendous enthusiasm, overcoming a depression that had set in the year before. A glance over the February

(Continued on page 6)

SOCIETY NEEDS CRITICS SAYS CHAPEL SPEAKER

The principles of construction and destruction are universally recognized," said the Rev. Harvey F. Connor of the Methodist-Episcopal Church this city in the Ira Allen Chapel Wednesday morning.

We are always destroying and building. The critic has his place in our life. No government, society, college, industry, nor church would be at its best without the critics.

Things need to be criticized, continued Reverend Connor. We are not static and nothing is perfect.

He continued by eulogizing on the lives of Washington and Lincoln.

Lincoln and Washington, he said, were not perfect, they were not endowed with superhuman abilities. On them as corner stones, rest the high ideals of our nation. They have stood the acid test of time.

No matter in what creed or current we find ourselves there is a need for constructive thinking. We need the critic—the destroyer is indispensable.

Life is short, he said in conclusion; there should come to each of us an appreciation for usefulness, helpfulness and everything that is fine living; we should all be more joyful and cheerful in the world in which we live.

Thirty-fourth Annual Kake Walk Here Tonight With Splurge of Color and Drama; Sub-Frosh to Attend

Tonight and tomorrow night the lively strains of "Cotton Babes" ringing out on the still, frosty air from the gymnasium will announce to students, faculty, alumni, friends and sub-freshmen that the Thirty-fourth Annual Kake Walk, that undergraduate activity unique among American colleges, is here with its colorful and ingenious peerade, its host of stunts, and its skillful walkin' fo' de kake.

Marked in the past by a constantly increasing student interest, this festival of hilarity each year brings to its two-night presentation a huge throng of joy-lovers, and the publicity and praise of both press and motion picture. As the telechron hand clicks to eight o'clock the doors of the gymnasium will swing apart and the Grand Peerade, with entries from fourteen fraternities, will effect a double circuit revealing its rare assemblage of parodies and burlesque on every current public and collegiate fancy and then leave the hall to utter darkness and to cheers.

Stunt makers from each of the six competing fraternities then hurry their properties in, and as the fifteen-minute period draws to a close make a hurried exit in the darkness to clear the stage for the next group which follows close on their heels. Following the last stunt, "Cotton Babes," the ever-popular and bizarre theme song of Kake Walk, is struck up by the R. O. T. C. band under Joe Lechnyr and ten kake-walking couples, dressed with the greatest of individuality, walk fo' de kake.

Tomorrow night, following the first presentation of events tonight, prizes of cups and cakes now on display at Hayes & Carney will be awarded to winners of the peerade, stunt and kake walking. The Briggs cup will be awarded to the winner of first place in stunts and the Southwick cup for second in stunts. Boulder will give a cup for the winning couple in kake walking. Student Senate is to offer a cup for the winner of second place in kake walking. The Hayes & Carney cup goes to the fraternity taking first place in the peerade, while Preston's offers a cup for the second place. The winner of the individual period entry will receive the University of Vermont Store cup.

A large cake will be given by the Kake Walk Committee for the winner of the first place in stunts. A large one will also go to the couple attaining first place in kake walking, while small cakes will be awarded to the winners of first prize in peerade and second in kake walking.

Seniors, numbering nearly one hundred from high schools in Vermont will witness Kake Walk at the invitation and expense of the University, and under the guidance of the honorary societies. For a half hour preceding the evening classic the R. O. T. C. band will play a concert, "Kake Walk Revue," and will later feature "Cotton Babes" for the kake walkers.

That this year's celebration will far outclass that of any previous year in ingenuity and newness is the opinion of R. J. Maynes, '31, and F. S. Smith, '31, both directing the Kake Walk, with J. W. Marvin, '32, and G. E. Wilder, '32, as their assistants. W. J. Slavin, '31, is the announcer. Tickets for Kake Walk may be purchased at Hayes & Carney's today and tomorrow at prices ranging from $1.25 to $2.50.

(Continued on page 6)

Six Fraternities To Offer Novel Group of New Stunt Creations

Judges Eliminate One Society From Seven Competing for Privilege

DIRECTORS GIVE SYSTEM TO BE USED IN JUDGING

From the seven fraternities contesting last night for the privilege of presenting stunts during Kake Walk tonight and tomorrow night, the following six were selected by a board of judges composed of Professors D. H. Carroll, J. T. Metcalf and L. W. Dean.

Lambda Iota, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi, Tau Epsilon Phi, and Zeta Chi.

An array of events evidencing the concrete expression of genius, and a passion for thrills, mystery comedy, and the fantastic await the eye and ear of the Kake Walk enthusiast.

The directors say that in the Peerade which begins at eight o'clock sharp there will be burlesques on Miniature Golf, the Coffee Corner, Lucky Strikes, the Evil of Tattling, Scene on a Football Stadium, Crime, the Sport of the '80's and others indescribable.

Lambda Iota, it is said, will present "A Shot." The lights go out, showing a large room which is in reality the Grand Central Terminal in New York. S. S. Van Dyne proceeds to solve a murder mystery which in the end turns out to be a mystery without the murder.

In "A Cataleptic Cataclysm," the title of a stunt to be given by Phi Delta Theta, a farmer inherits a film company and decides to go to Hollywood where with vengeance he proceeds to give the public what they want in copious doses.

Six scenes of "The World's Tour Miniature," to be presented by Sigma Alpha Epsilon, portrays the rise of our present national pastime from the Stone Age, through Neanderthal Man to the year.

With the scene laid in China "Pekin's Prodigal," a mystery or a tragedy will be offered by Sigma Phi.

Tau Epsilon Phi masking its stunt under the appellation "The Verbose Triangle," will show three scenes—the first in a speakeasy, the second in a park and the third in a hotel lobby.

In a rousing mystery drama of domestic intrigue called Parlor, Bedroom and Sink, Zeta Chi fraternity promises to show the danger of jealousy and matrimonial unhappiness which obtains when either the husband or the wife displays surreptitious affection for another party.

In Peerade and Walkin'

Fourteen fraternities will enter the peerade and nine couples are to walk fo' de kake.

Medical students this year who are

(Continued on page 6)

VARSITY SEEKS DEBATE WITH N. Y. AND FLORIDA

Negotiation are being made for a debate with University of Flordia and New York University on March 17, and 20, respectively according to a statement released Monday by George Nelson, '31, varsity debate manager. The subject of debate will be, "Resolved, that the nations should adopt a policy of free trade." Vermont will uphold the affirmative against the University of Flordia and will take the negative against New York University.

Tryouts for the varsity were held last Wednesday in the Old Mill Chapel. Using the same topic for debate B. Baker, '31, and J. Bradish, '31, took the affirmative and P. Butler, '31, and P. LaCrosse, '32, debated the negative. In a second debate the other candidates, E. Codding, '31, and R. Colburn, '32, on the affirmative debated R. Donaghy, '33, J. Bigelow, '33, and A. Aronson, '31. Five minutes was allowed for construction and three minutes for refutation. The results of the tryouts will soon be made public.

BOARD OF MISSIONS HAS THIRTY POSITIONS OPEN

CONSTANCE BROWN IS SPEAKER AT SEMINAR

There will be a meeting of the Press Club in Room 3 North College Friday, February 20, at 1.30 o'clock.

LOST

A square blue wool-silk scarf with inner border of black and white stripes. Finder please return to J. C. Carter. Reward.

PROPOSE MAKING DEWEY CLUB HONORARY SOCIETY

GREY FRIARS OPEN FOR FRESHMAN MEMBERSHIP

Professors Tupper and [illegible] of the English department are [illegible] members.

The society also gives a banquet once a year at one of the local hotels, at which men and women of the faculty, and authors and prominent speakers from this and other states talk on literary and various intellectual movements of the present time. Once each month a supper is served at some one of the city restaurants at which the members enjoy not only an excellent meal but also are favored by a speaker from one of the various departments of the University. There are numerous other benefits to be derived from the society and all freshmen are urged to consider seriously the opportunity to attempt to receive membership into the only men's literary society at Vermont.

RELEASES SCHEDULE OF FROSH BASEBALL GAMES

Basketball

INVITATIONS EXTENDED TO FRESHMAN CO-ED

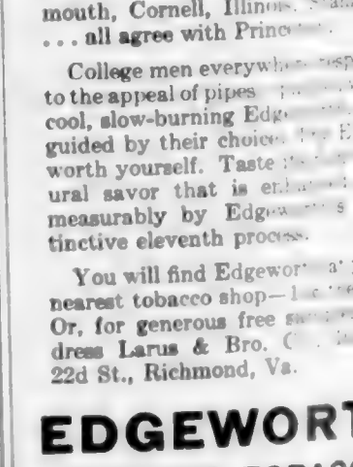
KINGSLEY, VT. ALUMNUS RESIGNS LATEST POS

Having [illegible] University of Vermont [illegible] pointed [illegible] dent of the New York Company, [illegible] [illegible] to become [illegible] board of directors

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Alpha Iota Chapter [illegible] Omega announces [illegible] Cora Humphrey '32, and Zoay Bigelow [illegible] ter house Tuesday [illegible] 10

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST
The Health Food [illegible]
FANCY GROCERIES, [illegible] AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072



Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1867
College men and women—prepare for a profession of widening interest and opportunity. Recent research has enlarged the scope of every phase of dentistry. The field demands, more than ever before, men and women of ability backed by superior training. Such training Tufts College Dental School offers to its students. School opens on September 30, 1931. Our catalog may guide you in choosing your career. For information address—
Dr. William Rice, Dean
416 Huntington Avenue Boston, Mass.

What's YOUR favorite pipe tobacco?

Most PRINCETON men smoke—

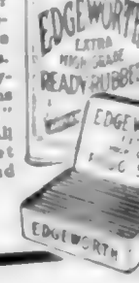
IF you walk along Prospect Str[illegible] in Princeton you'll n[illegible] many men load their [illegible] the familiar blue Edge[illegible] At Senior Singing on the s[illegible] Nassau Hall this spring t[illegible] will glow with Edgeworth.



A pipe and Edgeworth [illegible] the smoking combination [illegible] won the college man. Yale, D[illegible] mouth, Cornell, Illinois, Stan[illegible] . . . all agree with Princeton.

College men everywhere [illegible] to the appeal of pipes [illegible] cool, slow-burning Edge[illegible] guided by their choice[illegible] worth yourself. Taste [illegible] ural savor that is en[illegible] measurably by Edge[illegible] tinctive eleventh process.

You will find Edgewor[illegible] nearest tobacco shop—[illegible] Or, for generous free s[illegible] dress Larus & Bro. C[illegible] 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms —"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

Let Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT SHOPPE
SOUPS: Home made Vegetable; Home-made Chicken Cream Tomato
SANDWICHES: Hot Chicken, Hot Roast Beef, Hot Hamburg
PASTRIES: Cream Puffs, Jelly Doughnuts, Macaroons, Brownies, Eclaires, Glazed Doughnuts

Duke University
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
Durham, N. C.

On October 1, 1931, carefully selected first and third year students will be admitted. Applications may be sent at any time and will be considered in the order of receipt. Catalogues and application forms may be obtained from the Dean.

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
11 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

The Old Reliable

PURE SILK
CHIFFON STOCKINGS
$1.00 PAIR

silk from toe to top. sheer and beautiful in weave.

Twelve of the most fashionable colors.

Have you chosen your life work?
[illegible]
THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Dept. H Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass

February Sale
of
Suits and Overcoats
SUITS $28.50 OVERCOATS $20.00
HAYES & CARNEY, Inc.
195-197 Bank Street Near Majestic
Open Evenings

SHOW YOUR FRIENDS THE STORE WHILE THEY ARE HERE FOR THE KAKE WALK
Maybe they will find a University Novelty just for you as well as for themselves
at the
University Store

KAKE WALK ISSUE

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1931 — NUMBER 55

Review of Festivals Since Early Inception Indicates Evolution

Historical Summary Shows Steady Increase in Student Interest and Originality

UNDERGRADUATE FEATURE HAS SEEN FOUR STAGES

Kake Walk now in its thirty-fourth year is a history one of undiminishing enthusiasm and constant progress in originality and genius, besides a unique feature with vast crowds of visitors.

Growing Up

Four stages have been noticeable in the evolution of Kake Walk. The first the impromptu stage, when it was a private affair. The second, in succeeding days; the third, when the fraternities began putting on stunts, which however, were staged with very little preparation; and, the fourth, the present era of careful preparation, and elaborate execution.

In 1902, when Kake Walk became a traditional midwinter undergraduate feature it boasted of an overwhelming success.

Two years later Kake Walk still retained its popularity with those who had not witnessed its yearly visit. In fact it seemed as though the whole city of Burlington had flowed up the hill for the great event. The press said the crowd was so great that the stunts were late in starting. That year stunts were saturated with originality and a facility of performance. The peerade afforded a comic pageant of Farmer's Week with a fearful and wonderful spraying apparatus as the main feature.

The following year, Vermont's eighteenth annual Kake Walk proved itself again a gala occasion. A striking feature of the peerade was a series of clown couples, each representing a different department of the University and each carrying one letter of the seven that make up the word "Vermont."

Three years later Kake Walk took on a patriotic atmosphere. The yearly event did its part to help the Red Cross drawing its enthusiastic and ever growing crowds in spite of the gloom of the war period. A most interesting feature of one stunt presented that year was a zeppelin, which sailed clear across the rafters of the gymnasium.

Vermont's twenty-second Kake Walk moved to the accompaniment of a tremendous enthusiasm, overcoming a depression that had set in the year before. A glance over the February

(Continued on page 6)

SOCIETY NEEDS CRITICS SAYS CHAPEL SPEAKER

The principles of construction and criticism are universally recognized, said the Rev. Harvey F. Connor, Methodist-Episcopal Church minister in the Ira Allen Chapel Tuesday morning.

"Society always destroying and building. Everyone has his place in our government, society, college, and nor church would be at fault without the critics.

"We need to be criticized, continued reverend Connor. We are not static and nothing is perfect.

He continued by eulogizing on the virtues of Washington and Lincoln.

Lincoln and Washington, he said, were not perfect, they were not endowed with superhuman abilities. On their stones, rest the high reputation. They have stood the test of time.

"It matters in what creed or curriculum we find ourselves there is a need for constructive thinking. We need the critic—the destroyer is indispensable.

"Life is short, he said in conclusion; there should come to each of us an appreciation of usefulness, helpfulness and unselfish living; we should all be optimistic and cheerful in the world in which we live.

Thirty-fourth Annual Kake Walk Here Tonight With Splurge of Color and Drama; Sub-Frosh to Attend

Tonight and tomorrow night the lively strains of "Cotton Babes" ringing out on the still, frosty air from the gymnasium will announce to students, faculty, alumni, friends, and sub-freshmen that the Thirty-fourth Annual Kake Walk, that unique graduate activity unique among American colleges, is here with its colorful and ingenious peerade, its host of stunts, and its skillful walkin' fo' de kake.

Marked in the past by a constantly increasing student interest this festival of hilarity each year brings to its two-night presentation a huge throng of revelers and the publicity and power of both press and motion picture. As the telechron hand clicks to eight o'clock, the doors of the gymnasium will swing apart and the Grand Peerade, with entries from fourteen fraternities, will effect a double circuit revealing its rare assemblage of parodies and burlesque on every current public and collegiate fancy and then leave the hall to utter darkness and to cheers.

Stunt makers from each of the six competing fraternities then hurry their preparations and as the fifteen-minute period draws to a close make a hurried exit in the darkness to clear the stage for the next group which follows close on their heels. Following the last stunt, "Cotton Babes" the most popular and bizarre theme song of Kake Walk, is struck up by the R. O. T. C. band under Joe Lockard and ten Kake walking couples, dressed with the greatest of individuality, walk fo' de kake.

Tomorrow night, following the first presentation of events tonight, prizes of cups and cakes now on display at Hayes & Carney will be awarded to winners of the peerade stunts and kake walking. The Briggs cup will be awarded to the winner of first place in stunts and the Southwick cup for second place. Boulder will give a cup for the winning couple in kake walking. Student Senate is to offer a cup for the winner of second place in kake walking. The Hayes & Carney cup goes to the fraternity taking first place in the peerade, while Preston's offers a cup for the second place. The winner of the intermediate period entry will receive the University of Vermont Store cup.

A large cake will be given by the Kake Walk Committee for the winner of the first place in stunts. A large one will also go to the couple attaining first place in kake walking, while small cakes will be awarded to the winners of first prize in peerade and second in kake walking.

Seniors, numbering nearly one hundred, from high schools in Vermont will witness Kake Walk at the invitation and expense of the University, and under the guidance of the honorary societies. For a half hour preceding the evening classic the R. O. T. C. band will play a concert "Kake Walk Revue," and will later feature "Cotton Babes" for the kake walkers.

That this year's celebration will far outclass that of any previous year in ingenuity and newness is the opinion of R. J. Maynes, '31, and F. S. Smith, '31, both directing the Kake Walk, with J. W. Marvin, '32, and G. E. Wilder, '32, as their assistants. W. J. Slavin, '31, is the announcer. Tickets for Kake Walk may be purchased at Hayes & Carney's today and tomorrow at prices ranging from $1.25 to $2.50.

(Continued on page 4)

Six Fraternities To Offer Novel Group of New Stunt Creations

Judges Eliminate One Society From Seven Competing for Privilege

DIRECTORS GIVE SYSTEM TO BE USED IN JUDGING

From the seven fraternities contesting last night for the privilege of presenting stunts during Kake Walk tonight and tomorrow night, the following six were selected by a board of judges composed of Professors D. H. Carroll, J. J. Metcalf, and L. W. Dean. Lambda Iota, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi, Psi Epsilon Phi and Zeta Chi.

An array of events embracing the concrete expression of genius and a passion for thrills, mystery, comedy and the fantastic await the eye and ear of the Kake Walk enthusiast.

The directors say that in the Peerade which begins at eight o'clock sharp there will be burlesques on Miniature Golf, the Coffee Corner, Lucky Strikes, the best of Fatting scene on a Football Stadium, Crime, the Spirit of '31 and others indescribable.

Lambda Iota it is said, will present "A Shot." The lights go out, showing a large room which is in reality the Grand Central Terminal in New York. S. S. Van Dyne proceeds to solve a murder mystery which in the end turns out to be a mystery without the murder.

In "A Cataleptic Cataclysm," the title of a stunt to be given by Phi Delta Theta, a former inhabitant a film company and decides to go to Hollywood where with vengeance he proceeds to give the public what they want in copious doses.

Six scenes of "The World's Gone Mad Again" to be presented by Sigma Alpha Epsilon portrays the rise of our present national panting from the Stone Age through Neanderthal Man to the present.

With the scene laid in Oliver Twist's Prodigal, a mystery or a tragedy will be offered by Sigma Phi.

Psi Epsilon Phi presenting its stunt under the appellation "The Verbose Triangle" will show three scenes, the first in a speakeasy, the second in a jail and the third in a hotel lobby.

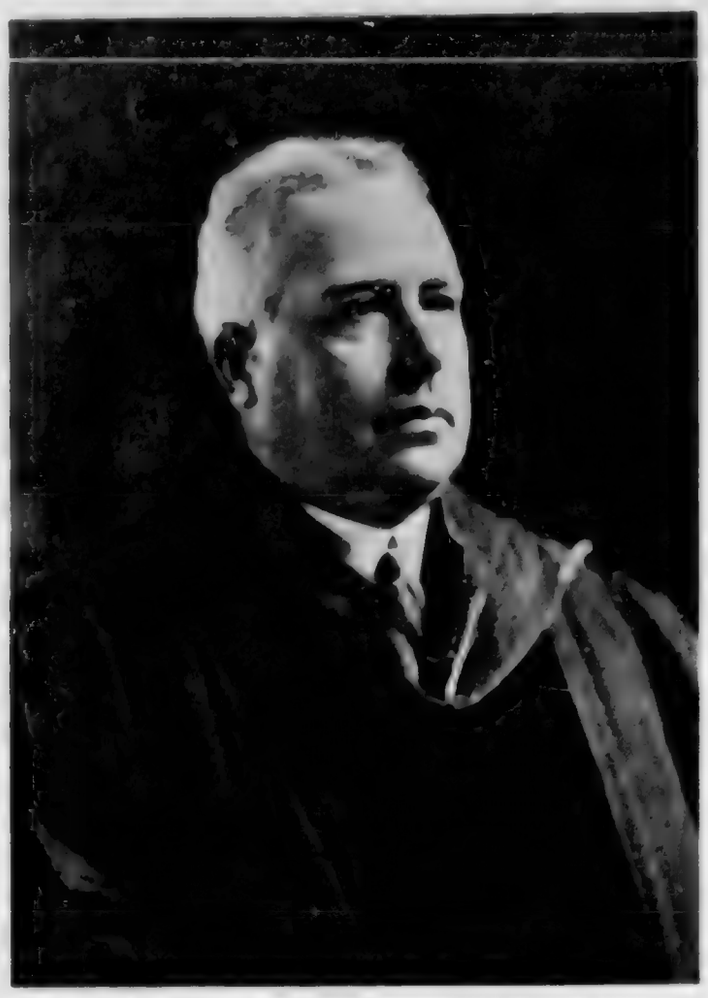
In a romantic mystery drama of domestic intrigue called "Parlor Pest" Zeta Chi fraternity promises to show the dangers of pearl guns and matrimonial entanglements which ofttimes arise either the husband or the wife develops superstitions of fiction for another party.

In Peerade and Walkin'

Fourteen fraternities will enter the peerade and nine couples are to walk fo de kake.

Modern student, this year who are

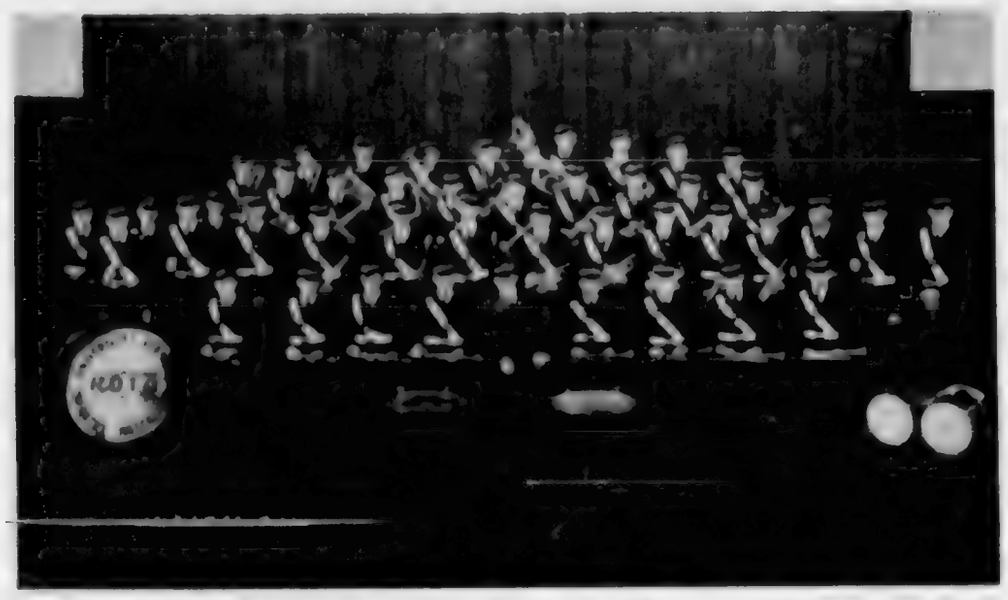
(Continued on page 6)



VARSITY SEEKS DEBATE WITH N. Y. AND FLORIDA

Negotiations are being made for a debate with University of Florida and New York University on March 19 and 20, respectively according to a statement released Monday by George Seelman, '31, varsity debate manager. The subject of debate will be, "Resolved, that the nations should adopt a policy of free trade." Vermont will uphold the affirmative against the University of Florida and will take the negative against New York University.

Tryouts for the varsity were held last Wednesday in the Old Mill Chapel. Using the same topic for debate, H. Baker, '31, and J. Bradish, '31, took the affirmative and F. Butler, '31, and P. LaCrosse, '32, debated the negative. In a second debate the other candidates E. Codding, '31, and R. Cannon, '33 on the affirmative debated R. Donaghy, '33, J. Bigelow, '33, and A. Aronson, '31. Five minutes was allowed for construction and three minutes for refutation. The results of the tryouts will soon be made public.

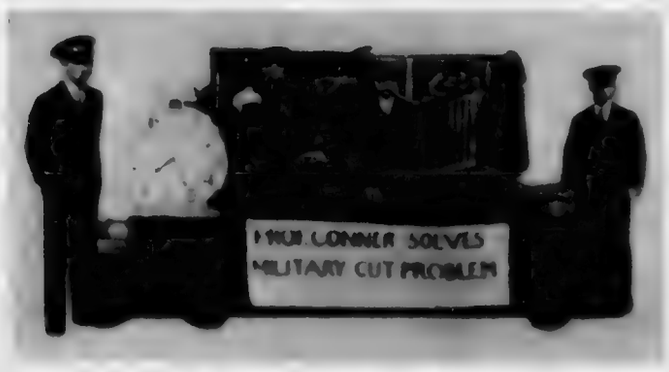


President Guy W. Bailey of the University, who has been an appreciative attendant at many Kake Walks

Rodney J. Maynes, Sigma ... other director. These ... planned well to make th... a success as those of ...

"The Ideal Cigar Lighter," a ... peerade stunt of several ...

... Band ... Lockwyr and his boys contribute a great deal to the ... any Kake Walk



A typical Kake Walk audience watching the final "Grand March" of the Kake Walkers.

The University Gym, scene of Vermont's unique show

The winning stunt of the 1921 Kake Walk.

... Conner's Patent Alarm Clock," last year's parade winner

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] ALTER, '32 ..... Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] STHOLDER, '32 ..... Managing Editor
[illegible] FOSTER, '31 ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] TH, '31 ..... Women's Editor
[illegible] '32 ..... Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] Drew, '33, S. N. Spiller, '33 ..... News Editors
[illegible] Pelotsky, '32 ..... Literary Editor

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] Associate Editor
M. Lundberg, '33. Assistant Editors

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

[illegible] Associate Editor
Gladys Press, '31 ..... Literary Editor
Harriet Wright, '31 ..... Sports Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

News Department: W. W. Brislin, '34, S. K. Carter, '33, W. Cohen, '34, S. W. Fishman, [illegible] '34, I. Lisman, '34, R. E. McCuin, '34, R. W. Michelman, '34, R. R. Murray, '34, R. Weisman, '34, H. B. Wolinsky, '34

Sports Department: N. H. Kaplan, '34, M. Kramer, '34, [illegible]

Women's Department: Esther Beardsley, '32, Norma Carder, '33, Augusta Cohen, '34, [illegible] Mildred Gile, '32, Rosetta Harlowe, '32, Dorothy Jackman, '33, Ruth [illegible], Margaret Martin, '32, Margaret M[illegible], Margaret Tower, '33, Laura Tracy, '34, Virginia Yeuell, '34.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] E. E. Dunn, '33, C. W. Janke, '33 ..... Assistant Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

[illegible] Published semi-weekly during the [illegible] must be signed by the writer. Any [illegible] telephoned at 2857 before 9 p.m. [illegible] addressed to the Business Manager. The Cynic Office [illegible] Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall [illegible] to points outside Burlington [illegible] Act of March 3, 1879, authorized [illegible]

[illegible] Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

[illegible] February 20, 1931 No. 35

KAKE WALK IS HERE

Kake Walk, in its mature form, is here for the first tough test. For more than a month undergraduate minds have schemed, worked and planned, and energy unbounded has been directed toward the 1931 carnival-festival a stupendous event—new, original, colorful, lively, and truly beautiful.

The halls of dormitories and chapter houses reverberate with theme conversation, with voiced suggestions and with the sounds of work. Tonight all must be ready tonight for the first presentation.

A record crowd of enthusiastic U. V. M. men and women, friends and one hundred seniors from every high school in the State will occupy seat in the gymnasium to greet the peeraders, stunt models, and Kake walkers with all the spontaneity of applause and cheer that thrills, surprise, and admiration will come from both newcomer and old timer.

The peerade entries this year are unique in burlesque, startling and glorious in their joy-giving attributes. A more ingenious and entirely novel and clever set of stunts never yet featured a Kake Walk program. Of the kake walkers we are assured that theirs is the most lively, most entrancing display of walkin' fo' de kake that ever graced the floor of the gymnasium. For the tune, "Cotton Babes" thrills you. Perhaps you don't—it sets your nerves on edge—you dance. Charmed by its swinging rhythmn not once will you fail to respond with vibrant joy and receive the most lasting thrill.

Tomorrow night the genius and adventurous labors of youth will be rewarded; for dazzling cups and superb cakes are in order as prizes for the winners not only in the peerade, but also for excellence in stunts and for the most perfect kake walkers.

Vermont is proud to offer the seniors of the preparatory schools in the State the rare privilege of enjoying this, the finest and most colorful of her traditional undergraduate activities. Justly proud and appreciative is her student body, of the unflagging interest, support, and cooperation given Kake Walk by her leading administrative officer, President Bailey.

Kake Walk has always proved more than an immediate realization of success as a festival of delight. For the profits from the sales of tickets will, we hope, as in former years, enable the baseball team to meet its annual spring trip southward.

"Cotton Babes" has never been played by another band with quite the [illegible] and certain rhythm that the R. O. T. C. band, under Director Lechnyr, can play it. That this theme song of Kake Walk will again touch the heart of every true alumnus and thrill every newcomer we feel sure.

And surely, when directors Maynes and Smith tell us that the peerade this year will see the finest expression of true Vermont spirit, we are to believe that this thirty-fourth annual mid-winter festival, can only fulfill all our dreams and expectations of the ever Kake Walk.

In The Good Old Days

25 Years Ago

[illegible] ball season was opened at Norwich University, Norwich 34 Vermont 18.

[illegible] Adam defines a gentleman as "one who [illegible] more of other people than of his own, more of other people's than his own feeling."

10 Years Ago

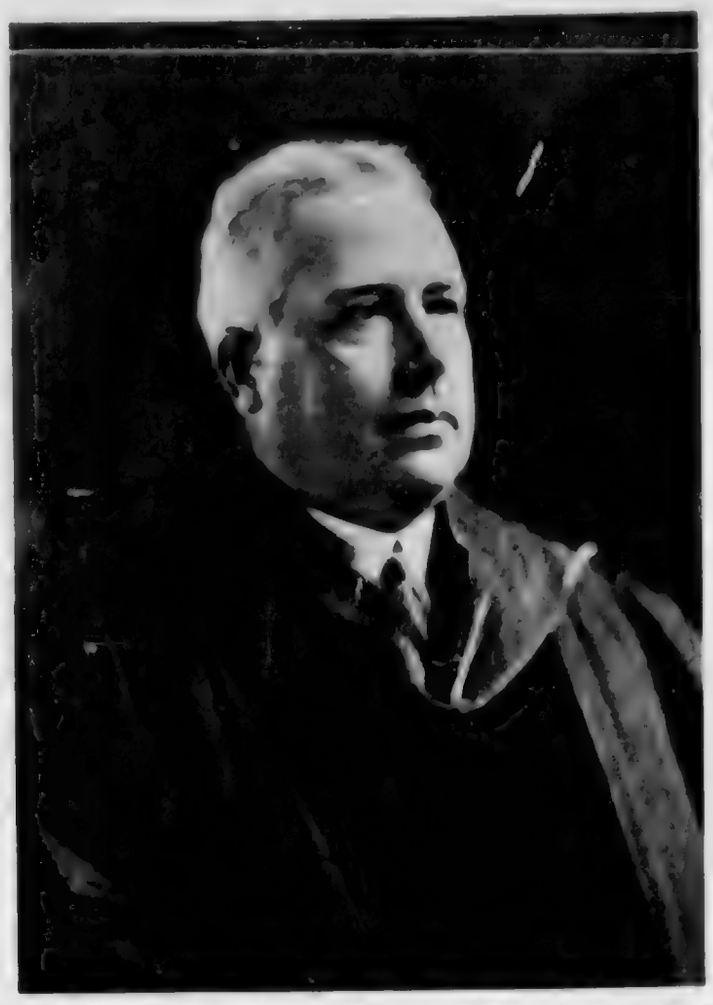
[illegible] is downed Middlebury, Middlebury held to one field goal in second half. Hindman was fined to its floor. 1,500 enthusiastic fans. Aside The good old days.

A new feature was added to Kake Walk by the donation of a cup for the group of persons presenting the best freshmade musical or vaudeville stunt. The title of the new department was Ju Koon Ka Upe.

Kake Walk was changed to a two-night performance instead of one and it was decided that the judging should be entirely on the basis performances only. The directors however did not rule it expedient to announce in what night the judging would be done.

5 Years Ago

Dean Votey in speaking before the Economics Club brought attention to the fact that U. V. M. averages the gift of [illegible] each year.



FACULTY COLUMN

It is only within limits and with a modification that one can speak of an American philosophy. The real American philosophy is not found in [illegible] but in [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and Norman Young and Charles S. DeBoer. Phi Delta Theta "K" winners of the past three Kake Walks. Contests with the rest of these Americans.

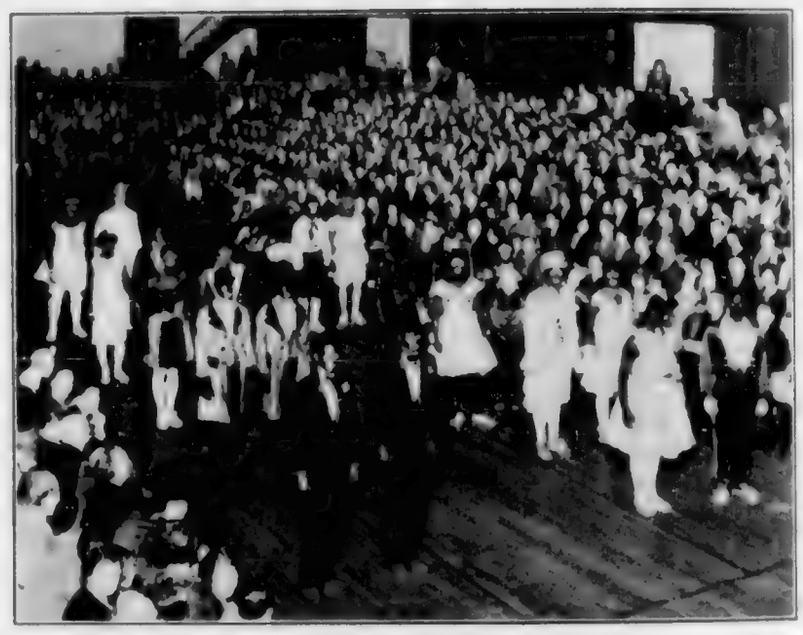
President Guy W. Bailey of the University who has been an ap preciative attendant at many Kake Walks.



Rodney J. Mannes, Sigma N... other directors. These two ... planned well to make this ... a success as those of other ...

"The Ideal Cigar Lighter," a ... peerade stunt of several years ...

Last year's K. O. T. C. Band ... Lochhead and his boys contribute a great deal to the success of any Kake Walk.

A typical Kake Walk audience watching the final "Grand March" of the Kake Walkers.

The University farm, scene of Vermont's annual show.

The winning stunt of the 1921 Kake Walk.

Prof. Conner's Patent Alarm Clock" last year's prize winner.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] CARTER, '32 ..... Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] GOODSELL, '32 ..... Managing Editor
[illegible] FOSTER, '31 ..... News Editor
[illegible] SMITH, '31 ..... Women's Editor
[illegible] TRACY, '32 ..... Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] Drew, '33, S. N. Spitler, '33
[illegible] Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] Peluffo, '32 ..... Sunday Morning Editor

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] M. Feinberg, '33, Assistant Editors

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

Luella R[illegible], '31 ..... Associate Editor
Gladys Press, '31 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
Harriet Wright, '31 ..... Sports Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

News Department: W. W. Brialin, '34, S. K. Carter, '33, W. Cohen, '34, S. W. Eisman, '34, I. Lisman, '34, R. E. McCuin, '34, R. W. [illegible], '34, R. E. Weissman, '34, H. B. Wolinsky, '34

Women's Department: Esther Beardsley, '32, Norma Carder, '33, Augusta Cohen, '34, [illegible] '33, Mildred Gile, '32, Rosetta Harlowe, '32, Dorothy Jackson, '33, Ruth Lee, '33, Margaret Martin, '32, Margaret Mower, '32, Priscilla Perry, '33, Margaret Tower, '33, Laura Tracy, '34, Virginia Yeuell, '34

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] E. E. Dunn, '33, C. W. Janke, '33

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Published semi-weekly during the college year [illegible] must be signed by the writer. Any [illegible] telephoned at 2857 before 9 p.m. Subscriptions [illegible] addressed to the Business Manager, The Cynic, [illegible] Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall. [illegible] to points outside Burlington at $3.00 [illegible] March 3, 1879, authorized October 3[illegible]

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

February 20, 1931 No. [illegible]

KAKE WALK IS HERE

Kake Walk, in its mature form, is here for the third time. For more than a month undergraduate minds have schemed, and planned, and energy unbounded has been directed toward the 1931 carnival-festival a stupendous event—new, original, colorful, lively, and truly beautiful.

The halls of dormitories and chapter houses reverberate with theme and consultation, with voiced suggestions and with the sounds of work. Costumes for all must be ready tonight for the first presentation.

A record crowd of enthusiastic U. V. M. men and women, friends of the state's one hundred seniors from every high school in the State will be present tonight in the gymnasium to greet the peeradets, stunt makers, and Kake walkers with all the spontaneity of applause and cheer. Thrills, surprise, and admiration will come from both newcomer and old-timer.

The peerade entries this year are unique in burlesque, startling and novel in their joy-giving attributes. A more ingenious and entirely delightful and clever set of stunts never yet featured a Kake Walk program. Of the kake walkers we are assured that theirs is the most lively and most entrancing display of walkin' fo' de kake that ever graced the floor of the gymnasium. For the tune, "Cotton Babes" thrills course through you—it sets your nerves on edge—you dance. Charmed by its compelling rhythm not once will you fail to respond with vibrant joy and you get the most lasting thrill.

Tonight or tonight the genius and adventurous labors of youth will be rewarded; for dazzling cups and superb cakes are in order as prizes for the winners not only in the peerade, but also for excellence in stunts and for the most perfect kake walkers.

Vermont is proud to offer the seniors of the preparatory schools in the state the rare privilege of enjoying this, the finest and most colorful of her traditional undergraduate activities. Justly proud and appreciative also is her student body, of the unflagging interest, support, and cooperation given Kake Walk by her leading administrative officer, President Farley.

Kake Walk has always proved more than an immediate realization, it has come as a festival of delight. For the profits from the sales of K. W., we hope, as in former years, enable the baseball team to finance its annual spring trip southward.

"Cotton Babes" has never been played by another band with quite the same [illegible] and cotton rhythm that the R. O. T. C. band under Director [illegible] will play it. That this theme song of Kake Walk will ever be the heart of every true alumnus and thrill every newcomer is our [illegible].

And today, when directors Maynes and Smith tell us that the [illegible] year will see the finest expression of true Vermont spirit, we believe that this thirty-fourth annual Kake Walk [illegible] can only fulfill all our dreams and expectations of the [illegible] Kake Walk.

In The Good Old Days

25 Years Ago

[illegible] season was opened [illegible] Scratch University [illegible] Session 24 Vermont 18.

"Sam defines a gentleman as 'a man more of other [illegible] than of his own [illegible] of other peoples [illegible] own feeling."

10 Years Ago

[illegible] defeated Middlebury held to one [illegible] floor in second half [illegible] was foiled to its [illegible] 100 enthusiastic [illegible] over the good old

A new feature was added to Kake Walk by the donation of a cup for the group of persons presenting the most novel and humorous burlesque or vaudeville stunt. The title of best new department was Le Koon Kay Ups.

Kake Walk was entered in a three night performance instead of one, as it was decided that the judging should be entirely on one night's performance only. The directors however did not think it expedient to announce on what night the judging would be done.

5 Years Ago

[illegible] Vermont [illegible] before the Exchange Club tonight [illegible] the last year [illegible] V. M. [illegible] at Burlington cost $[illegible] of [illegible] yearly.

FACULTY COLUMN

[illegible]

paper may be rightly edited. We are willing that men shall be taught, if this is the best way, some literature to [illegible] their own purposes. But if one can enjoy [illegible] Elizabeth compared [illegible] the Immortal Shakespeare, one of Milton."

[illegible] comment in our American [illegible] We are a busy people. We [illegible] time. Some [illegible] but the waste [illegible] We [illegible] [illegible] but a concentrated and [illegible] life. We [illegible] the Orient who [illegible] for a day, a week or for a year in one spot to "look and [illegible] about them. We suppose that he has wasted his life. Because we have so much and [illegible] little we have learned so little. To tell what we know no matter how little it is. Whether we have fully learned all of our subjects in our curriculum. We are learning [illegible] doing even when we stop to learn to learn and to learn. The most [illegible] [illegible] certain college students when they have got their first course in economics, political science or sociology.

Among the terms which have gained great currency in our lives is the term, success and we define success as that which succeeds. The pragmatic test worships success under a philosophy of satisfaction. Satisfaction is a term of comfort and it grows fat and [illegible] which men possess more of the luxuries of life. There may be a pure satisfaction of the intellect but generally human satisfaction is a demand that our feelings shall be gratified. The new philosophy tells us that truth is true and what it [illegible] mentally or correct in its [illegible] but when it answers to some desire and appease some hunger. It is inexplicable how men can thus regard truth in an age when the period of the pioneer has passed and when the heroic is not prominent in our point of view. We are no longer called upon [illegible] the Indian and to [illegible] the wild beasts. It is not [illegible] necessary to wage the [illegible] and conquest of the [illegible] [illegible]

A Student-at-Large

[illegible]

Just what has happened? There [illegible] a number of [illegible] after a short [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

To Move Assyrian Alabaster Slab To Fleming Hull Museum

Ancient Piece From Palace of King Asshur-Nasir-Pal to Decorate East Wall of Hall of Sculpture

[illegible]

And The Gods

[illegible]

By Arab Sheik

[illegible]

Ellenberger Will Head Dairy Group

Head of Department at Vermont Receives Presidency of American Dairy Science Association

[illegible]

NEWS IN BRIEF

[illegible]

[illegible]

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

[illegible]

DELTA DELTA DELTA

[illegible]

PI BETA PHI

A Rushing party was held Monday from 4 until 5 p.m.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Muriel Cleveland '28 and Betty Butler '30 were in town over the week end. Both girls are teaching in Barton, Vt.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Edith Pritchard, '31, has been chosen the Women's Intercollegiate Champion of the National Rifle Association in individual matches. Miss Pritchard won 98 a score of 295 out of 600.

SIGMA GAMMA

A [illegible] party was held in the rooms on Friday the thirteenth from 4 until 5 p.m.

Florence Cochran '30 recently went to South Lincoln, Vt., where she has accepted a position to teach.

Ruby Beane '30 is spending the week end in Burlington.

KAPPA DELTA

The installation of Alpha Pi at Westminster College at Wilmington, Pa. will take place February 19, 20 and 21.

EPSILON SIGMA

On Saturday afternoon February 7, a tea for freshmen was held at the rooms on Loomis St.

Thursday evening February 12, the first rushing party was held at the Vermont Club house.

Intercollegiate News

[illegible]

ART SUPPLIES

OIL AND WATER COLORS

DRAWING PAPERS

CRAYONS, PENCILS, ETC.

McAULIFFE'S

Church & College Sts. Phone 629

GET YOUR HIT OF THE WEEK RECORD AT

Isham News Shop

102A Church Street

The Ideal Hotel for You In BOSTON

Is the NEW Hotel MANGER

At North Station

Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden

500 ROOMS

Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower ♥ Built-in-Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) ♥ Servidor Circulating Ice Water.

New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel

Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service.

RATES—ROOM AND BATH

FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00

FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00

No Higher Rates

Number Dropped in Arts College Exceeds That of Last Two Years

Forty-two Fail Following Midyears—Freshman Percentage Lower Than Last Year—No Aggies Fail—Engineering Fails Unprecedented Number

Forty-two students were dropped from the College of Arts and Sciences the first term of the year 1930-31. Of these, three freshmen were dropped at Christmas, six left college before midyears with dropping records; thirty-three students failed and were dropped [illegible]. Five and one-half per-cent of the college failed this year as compared to six and three-tenths percent that dropped out last year. This decrease is due to the large number of upperclassmen coming under the dropping rule.

Two failures as they stand at present not including one of two pending appeals. Freshmen 19, sophomores 7, juniors 6 and seniors 1.

This compares very favorably with the previous failures of last year. Six and one-tenth percent students failed this year and eight-tenths of a [illegible] 228 students failed last comparative figures for [illegible] years are:

	1930-31	1929-30	[illegible]
Seniors	1	2	0
Juniors ..	6	0	[illegible]
Sophomores	7	7	7
Freshmen	19	18	15
	33	27	29

These figures do not [illegible] dents who left with dropping. To include these would [illegible] 42 for this year, 32 for [illegible] 1928-29, 48 for 1927-28, 4[illegible]

The faculty allowed [illegible] large number of students to [illegible] college this year with [illegible] that their work at Easter [illegible] tory.

There were no failures [illegible] two-year teacher training [illegible]

Dean Swift, commenting [illegible] man failures, said: "The percentage freshmen dropped is less [illegible] than last, although the [illegible] greater, since the class this year bers 275 against 228 last year. percentage is greater than two ago, but smaller than that of [illegible]

The College of Engineering had greatest drop in failures for [illegible] years. Eight students, four freshmen, three sophomores, and one junior five and seven-tenths percent fail compared to the three and three-tenths percent or four students failing year. Warnings rose to almost aggerated heights when forty-nine dents, an increase of almost [illegible] over last year's number went [illegible] warning. Acting Dean Dickinson explaining the failures and warnings stated that: "Students give [illegible] too much of their time to social tivities rather than to their [illegible] this is especially so in the case freshmen and sophomores.

The College of Agriculture, in trast to the other colleges of the versity boasts a record of no [illegible] and but a few warnings.

MENS' GLEE CLUB WILL COMPETE IN SIXTH ANNUAL INTERCOLLEGIATE MEET

Nine Other New England Colleges Will Sing For Music Laurels

Vermont will be represented this year, as in the past three years, by the Men's Glee Club at the Sixth Annual Intercollegiate contest, sponsored by the New England College Glee Club Association, to be held in the Horace Bushnell Memorial Auditorium in Hartford, Conn., Friday evening, February 27. The other colleges which will compete with Vermont are Amherst, Bowdoin, Clark, M. I. T., Middlebury, Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams, and W. P. I.

All the competing clubs will sing in turn the prize song, Elgar's "Feasting I Watch." For the choice song, which is different for each school, Vermont will sing Brahm's "Marching," and for the college song, "Champlain."

All the clubs will render an ensemble version of Speaks, "On the Road to Mandalay" and Sullivan's "The Lost Chord." The judges will be Ralph Baldwin, Channing Lefebure, and Mark Andrews, choral leaders of national repute.

The judges of the Choral Club of Hartford will sing a group of musical selections during the deliberation of the judges. "The Star Spangled Banner" will close the program.

Sees Active Year

The U. V. M. Glee Club has been especially active this year. On December 7 it gave a concert in South Hero and another in this city on January 15. At the Burlington concert it featured a patriotic Flemish song with words translated from the Flemish by Prof. P. D. Evans of the history department.

The Glee Club Double Quartet, composed of W. F. Kearney, R. S. Jenks, C. O. Richer, J. H. Jardine, A. A. Schaeffer, Jr., N. E. Daigle, G. H. Burrows, 2nd, and J. O. Percival was very well received at both concerts and broadcasted from the University station WCAX, January 16. It sang "Marching" and assisted at performance of Brahm's "Song Fate" at the Woman's Glee Club University Orchestra Concert on vember 21.

The Men's Glee Club has been the supervision of the department music for the past six years, participated in the New England test for the last three years.

The faculty director is Prof. P Bennett, of the music department. dent manager, J. O. Percival, assistant manager, R. S. Jenks.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT SHOPPE

SOUPS

Home-made Vegetable

Home-made Chicken Cream Tomato

SANDWICHES

Hot Chicken

Hot Roast Beef

Hot Hamburg

PASTRIES

Cream Puffs

Jelly Doughnuts

Macaroons

Brownies

Eclaires

Glaced Doughnuts

Just HNUTS "Better than the Best"

Have you chosen your life work?

In the field of [illegible] vard University Dental [illegible] est dental school [illegible] university in the [illegible] thorough [illegible] branches of dentistry [illegible] ment for practical [illegible] vision of men [illegible]

Write for details and [illegible] ments to Leroy M. [illegible]

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL

Dept. 91 Longwood Ave

Boston, Mass.

SHOW YOUR FRIENDS THE STORE WHILE THEY ARE HERE FOR THE

KAKE WALK

Maybe they will find a University Novelty just for you as well as for themselves

at the

University Store

SPORTING NEWS

Second Half Interfraternity Schedule Lists Next Games

Two Basketball Leagues Name February 23 As Opening and March 3 As Closing of Frays

NINE TEAMS TO ENTER BI-LEAGUE COMPETITION

[illegible] last of the preliminary interfraternity basketball games [illegible] shown away, the second schedule is ready. [illegible] play the Owls in the preliminaries. The Faculty-Owls game will play the A. T. O's in the quarter final game of February 27. The winners of the two leagues will engage March 3 to determine the winning team. The tentative schedule as arranged by the Physical Education Department

LEAGUE 1

Faculty vs. Owls
Mon., Feb. 23, 5.30

A. T. O
vs.
Winner of Fac.-Owls
Mon., Feb. 23, 5.30 — Fri., Feb. 27, 4.15

Phi Sigma Delta
vs.
Delta Psi
Tues., Feb. 26, 6.30

Final
Tues., Mar. 3, 7.30

LEAGUE 2

Independents
vs.
Sigma Nu
Tues., Feb. 24, 6.30 — Sat., Feb. 28, 2.00

Phi Mu Delta
vs.
Kappa Sigma
Wed., Feb. 25, 6.30

CO-ED WINTER CARNIVAL TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

W. A. A. Council has selected [illegible] February 25, as the date for the women's winter carnival, to [illegible] at 4 p.m. on the back campus.

[illegible] Claiborne, as chairman of the [illegible] committee is busy rounding up [illegible] for the snowshoe, skiing, [illegible] races.

This week has been given over to [illegible] sports in preparation for one [illegible] greatest events of W. A. A.'s [illegible] season. The co-eds have regular skating hours at the rink on back [illegible] and many are spending their [illegible] hours at Chiott's. Billie Mount [illegible] Effie Winn are in charge of skating.

Bert Safford meets the snowshoers and skiiers at Redstone at 4 o'clock. There is also hiking at 4.00 every day for co-eds who lack winter "playings."

Beatrice Freemen and Vera Chadburne are now at work drawing up a new V. It is to be something entirely new and different, to be confused in no way with the V that Vermont men wear.

W. A. A. calls to the attention of the co-eds the following sample of the picture cards which ought to occupy a corner in every girl's mirror:

Sit Up Straight
Stand Up Straight
Stick me in your mirror
Or pin me on your door
If you love me, you will look
Much better than before.

TO INCREASE INTEREST IN NEXT MILITARY BALL

To popularize the annual military [illegible] to be given March 13 by Scabbard and Blade, and to enable more students to attend, the society plans to [illegible] fraternities and the Independents $5.00 per chapter," stated [illegible] M. Pride in a recent interview. He said that the proposition of the [illegible] depends entirely upon the interest [illegible] it by the student body. Under the proposed plan, the fraternities will be given tickets which [illegible] distributed free to all members. The Independents would also [illegible] the privilege and would [illegible] the free tickets. Outsiders will be required to pay about [illegible] a quarter admission. As [illegible] ordinarily would cost from [illegible] dollars a couple the men [illegible] would save an appreci[illegible] said: "If this year's [illegible] freshmen and sophomores [illegible] to wear their regular [illegible] uniforms providing they wear a white shirt. White belts and brown shoes may be added to the uniform.

[illegible] decorations are to be much [illegible] than ever before. [illegible] guns will play principle [illegible] decorations. Artillery [illegible] will also help the auditorium to [illegible] like a battlefield. The orchestra [illegible] be surrounded with barbed wire entanglements."

Sword Men Will Meet Horsemen

Tomorrow afternoon in the auxiliary gym, the Catamount swordsmen, who have won three out of five matches and their last three in a row will encounter the crack Norwich fencers at whose hands they met defeat earlier in the season. The Vermonters after getting off to a bad start by losing their first two matches, turned over a new leaf and won their next three matches by one point decisions. Dartmouth was the last victim of a 7-6 victory by the Vermonters. Although Norwich has one of the best teams in the East, and although Vermont has met defeat at her hands in a previous contest, much hope is held for a Catamount victory due to the vast amount of improvement shown by the Green and Gold swordsmen in their recent matches. Captain Pendo, Batchelder, Briggs, and Chamberlain will wield the swords for the Cadets, while Captain Perelman, Wadsworth, Shuman, Aiken and Basilicato will probably defend Vermont's honor with the foils, sabres, and epées..

THREE HUNDRED REPLY TO ART QUESTIONNAIRE

"Three hundred replies received to date from students and faculty in response to the recent questionnaire on a desired art curriculum, indicates a growing demand for such a course," affirmed Mr. Hugh Sinclair of Burlington who is a member of a self-constituted alumni committee which is sponsoring the agitation.

The questionnaire was designed and distributed by four alumni interested in learning whether a course leading to a Bachelor of Fine Arts, or Bachelor of Science in Art degree has not come to be justified by demand. On this committee are Harry Barker of New York City, Mrs. G. I. Forbes, Mrs. Ruth Bond Gray, and Hugh E. Sinclair, all of Burlington.

Mr. Sinclair, who is serving as tabulator of results of the survey for the committee, said that in the 300 replies received a number larger than had been expected expressed an interest in the establishment of an art curriculum. He said most of the replies had been from the students, and those received from faculty members gave rather less information than the student replies. Most of the student replies, and a very large percent of the replies indicating an interest, were from women students.

Mr. Sinclair said he hoped to receive further answers, especially from faculty members, before the final tabulation of results is made.

The officers of the Military Department and their wives will be the chaperones for the evening.

Delightful favors and programs will be distributed to the dancers and punch will be served. The music will be Lechynr's Vermonters

CAT'S MEOW

[illegible] has promised for the gym floor unless its surface is refinished. Many baseball [illegible] the [illegible] game [illegible] the beneficiaries it became a serious matter.

[illegible] this week's [illegible] has invaded this column. The worm's record performance of their rifle team [illegible] outstanding. We congratulate individually the members of the team who have "smashed their bit" in the [illegible] of the sport.

Yale by changing her football date with Harvard breaks a traditional [illegible] of long standing. The [illegible] based [illegible] the [illegible] of convenience.

Army held too many guns for the U. V. M. pucksters. Their record so far warrants our confidence.

Roy Congers winning streak of 12 straight victories in the Baxter mile was snapped by Carl Coan of Penn. His time of 4 13 was one second behind the record.

Sigma Nu was the winner of the interfrat winter sports cup through the efforts of Rod Maynes.

Fifty track candidates reported to Coach Brown of Middlebury in his first call for tryouts. March 4 to 14, the decathlon, introduced last year, will again be run.

Poor Dartmouth took it on the nose in the winter carnival. N. H whipped the Green in basketball. Yale submerged her in swimming and it took the Vermont fencing team to add the finishing touches by edging her foilsmen 7-6 in a match held after the stroke of midnight.

"Rusty" Yarnall avenged last year's defeat and the personage of Jarek, diminutive forward, who amassed 18 points was the prime instigator.

Vermont was a bit weak on foul shooting. All these points will count in turning aside Middlebury.

Boston Hockey Club upholds the reputation of that city as the center of amateur and "pro" hockey by entering the semi-finals of the international tournament at Krynica, Poland, after shutting out the Czechs 1-0.

Jarek sunk eight foul shots, while the Catamounts could only loop the basket for one less. His five goals equalled the best U. V. M. could offer. There's a one-man basketball team.

With both schools desiring a resumption of relations, Dr. Charles W. Kennedy of Princeton, said the Tigers were willing to renew relations with Harvard in all sports except football.

Blue and White pucksters continue on their path toward the state title by trouncing Norwich 10-0. The Kaydets are out of the race.

Yale still persists in holding back her football coaching assignments for next year but is expected that Mal Stevens would serve as head coach, assisted by Adam Walsh, Benny Friedman and Ricky O'Cannon.

Middlebury in a garrison finish edged Vermont. The team can show its fight by triumphing over Norwich, overwhelming favorites. Let's see the underdog come through.

Hockey at U. V. M. increases its popularity. The rink was well crowded at the Norwich game.

Is It Possible?

Every college has its freak, whether it be in low cost of living, scholarship, athletics, or something else. Yale University has one that ranks with the best. He spends three and one-half hours going to and from the University each day, works eight hours every day, and still finds enough time to attend classes, study, and pass his work with the school average, in addition to getting a few hours sleep now and then. What a lad!

He: Do you like sports?
She: Yes, when I find a real handsome one.

Wife: What was that noise when you came in last night?
Husband: That was night falling.
Wife: Oh, excuse me, I thought it was day breaking.

ISSUES 1931 NATIONAL FOOTBALL REGULATIONS

[illegible] rules except [illegible] remain the same in 1931 as they were in 1930 states the National Football Rules Committee.

The one change was to remove the [illegible] award of point after touchdown, making the penalty for an offside the same as if the foul had been committed during any other scrimmage.

Under the new rule, if the defending team intercepts the pass, it will be penalized half the distance to the goal line and the point tried over. If the attacking team is at fault, it will be penalized the usual five yards for offside play, and again try the point from the seven-yard line.

The coaches themselves, the one group in the country qualified to give an expert opinion on the subject, [illegible] and each action was [illegible]. A majority of them however, responding to a questionnaire circulated by Lou Little for the coaches association, also urged abolition of the rule which makes a blocked kick dead at the point of recovery by the defending team.

The rule which gives only the kicking side the right to run with the ball was retained.

TRAINING FOR BOXING AND WRESTLING BOUTS TO COMMENCE MONDAY

Three Days a Week To Be Devoted To Work-Out Bouts Start March 11

Training for the wrestling tournament and the boxing exhibition will begin Monday, February 23, directly after Kake Walk. The training, under the care of H "Bump" Levine of the Physical Education Department, will be every Monday, Wednesday and Friday until March 11; on that date the first of the bouts will be held. The other bouts are dated for March 13, 16, 18, 20, 23, 25 and 27. The meets will be similar to those held last year. About four bouts will be held each night; these will be sandwiched in with boxing exhibitions. There will be no boxing champion since only exhibition fighting will be had. There will be three fights of three three-minute rounds each every night.

The present champions of wrestling according to weights are: 125-pound class, Willetts, '31; 135-pound class, Winthrop, '32; 145-pound class, Fleming, '33; 158-pound class, Peters, '31, 175-pound class, Rugg, '32; unlimited class, Park, '32.

The present champions will defend their titles; medals will be given, as they were last year, to the champs.

Greater interest was shown in the tournaments last year, when fully three to four hundred people used to watch the bouts. Contestants must sign up their names at once for the tournament. many have already announced their intention of entering. Many men at U. V. M. are good wrestlers and all these are wanted by Coach Levine. Anyone who has not yet received a degree is eligible to wrestle.

Special boxing classes will be held every Tuesday and Thursday at four o'clock. Those who will take part in the boxing exhibition will be chosen from the classes and those interested in the sport.

CATS TO MEET MC GILL AND SUN LIFE IN TWO-GAME TRIP TO MONTREAL

Vermont Quintet To Avenge Defeat by Sun Life In Season's Opener

LOOK FOR TOUGH SCRAP WITH BOTH CANADIANS

With the season nearing completion [illegible] Lawrence Lovette is [illegible] his [illegible] plans for their two-game trip to Montreal tonight and tomorrow night, where the Sun Life Insurance Company and McGill will be met in successive meetings.

[illegible] of the games with [illegible] Officials [illegible] in view of the fact that the Canadians defeated the Catamounts in the opening game of the season. Since then, however, the Green and Gold have improved vastly in all departments of the game. In comparison with their showing in that game. The Canadians, however, may be unjustly underrated, due to the failure of realizing that their playing has doubtlessly improved as the season has advanced. then too, they will be playing on their home court, which is an important advantage.

The season so far at least, has not been too successful for the Green and Gold from the standpoint of games won and lost, as the count now stands 9 loses out of 13 games played, but as far as spirit and fight go the Catamounts have not been surpassed.

The season's record

Sun Life	27	Vermont	17
Clarkson	22	Vermont	40
McGill	29	Vermont	39
Dartmouth	34	Vermont	28
New Hampshire	29	Vermont	22
Harvard	31	Vermont	28
St Michael's	21	Vermont	32
Dartmouth	45	Vermont	19
St Michael's	17	Vermont	21
Lowell Textile	32	Vermont	15
Middlebury	22	Vermont	18
Norwich	36	Vermont	20
Springfield	34	Vermont	17

USE MORE EGGS, SAYS EXTENSION SPECIALIST

"When eggs can be bought at the present low price, efficient housewives should make the most of their possibilities," declares Miss Lillian Anderson of the Extension Service Staff of the State Agricultural College. "Eggs are an ideal family food. They are not just a breakfast dish, but may be used as a main dish for luncheon, supper or dinner."

Miss Anderson in pointing out the value of eggs says that they furnish protein in a very efficient form. This protein is readily utilized by the body for growth or repair. Nine eggs are equal in protein value to three-fourths pound lean meat or to two quarts of milk. The egg yolk contains the important vitamin A and also vitamin D which protects against rickets. The very important minerals, iron, phosphorus and calcium, are found in egg yolks in very usable forms. The egg yolk is one-third of fat which is in an emulsified condition, so that it is capable of digestion in the stomach as well as in the intestines.

You'll Like

These New Broadcloth Shirts

$1.95 3 for $5.

COLLARS ATTACHED—PLAIN WHITE, BLUE-TAN—GREY AND GREEN

TURK'S
Burlington
Vt.

THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL KAKE WALK TONIGHT

Continued from page 1

[illegible]

200 Characters

[illegible]

Last Year!

[illegible]

First Kake Walk

[illegible]

THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL AT GYM THIS EVENING

Messrs. Mountain, Ford, Abernethy, Bradlee and Smith to Judge Stunts

Continued from page 1

[illegible]

Heard: I don't see why he dates Mary; she's a terrible dancer.

Mary: No, she can't dance but she sure can intermission.

SIX FRATERNITIES WILL OFFER NOVEL STUNTS

Continued from page 1

[illegible]

These rules will govern the Kake Walk:

1. Each fraternity competing in the stands must enter one couple to walk for the Kake and others may do so if they choose. Each couple will be allowed two minutes on the floor. A warning bell will be sounded one half minute before the time is up.

2. Every fraternity, whether competing in the stands or not, must enter at least one man in the pecrade. As many more may be entered as the fraternity wishes.

3. Each stunt will be allowed fifteen minutes from the time the participants enter until they leave the hall. A warning bell will be sounded two minutes before the time is up.

4. Any violation of Rule 3 will eliminate that fraternity.

5. Any fraternity receiving the aid of persons not actively connected with the fraternity in the presentation of its act will be disqualified.

6. No gunpowder, flash powder, or other inflammable material will be used in any act. Its use will serve to disqualify the fraternity employing it.

A scoring system will be used by two judges and the selections will be based on the number of points scored by the fraternities under the heads as follows:

1. Originality (25 points)
2. Teamwork and smoothness (20 points)
3. Costumes and color (15 points)
4. Quality of properties and apparatus (15 points)
5. Continuous interest (10 points)
6. Final touch (15 points)

The basis of judging the Kake Walk is as follows:

1. Correct position of head and shoulders, foot action, position of the toes (10 points)
2. Teamwork and smoothness (30 points)
3. Grace (20 points)
4. Costumes (15 points)
5. Stunts (25 points)

The directors limit the size of the floats in the parade.

One-eighth of the broadcasting stations in the United States are owned and operated by educational institutions, the Advisory Committee on Education by Radio reports. There are 77 such stations. Eighty United States colleges and universities that have no broadcasting stations of their own use commercial stations for educational broadcasts. There are 50 non-academic, non-commercial organizations of national scope, including three federal government departments, that report the use of radio for instructional purposes.

"Ah, the pause that refreshes!" said the English professor when he saw the comma in the freshman theme.

NOTICE

No classes in the University will meet tomorrow.

Dean J. L. Hills, Secretary
University Council

Interfraternity relays will begin soon and all groups must send their men out immediately.

A. T. Pease
Director of Intramural Athletics

All those interested in the wrestling tournament and the boxing exhibition must sign up at once with the physical education department.

All sophomores wishing to scrub track should report to the gym any afternoon after four o'clock.

Hugh R. Mattison
Manager of Track

Seniors who have not yet turned in their reading reports for the first half-year must complete this requirement by March 1.

"Give a sentence with [illegible] judicious."

"Vell, ham is not one of [illegible] ous." Colorado Dodo

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the

U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor

All Work Guaranteed

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

64 COLCHESTER AVE.

Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS FOR U. V. M.

featuring

Draper & Maynard and A. G. Spalding Bros. athletic equipment

PATTEN, IRWIN & WHITE
W. E. GREENE CO.
Consolidated

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

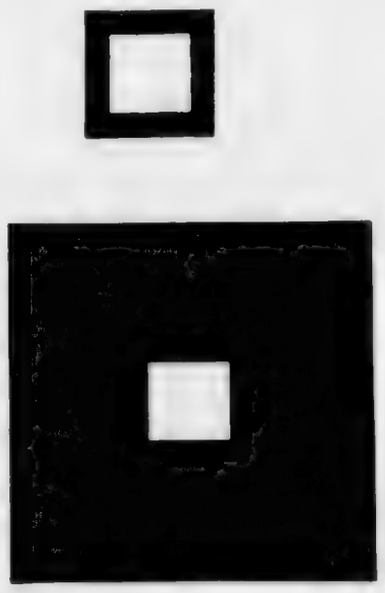
CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

WILLARD TOURIST INN



HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2690

Which is the larger of these two white squares? Don't trust to your eyesight alone.

YOUR EYES MAY FOOL YOU

BUT

YOUR TASTE tells the Truth!

MILDER...AND BETTER TASTE

They Satisfy

© 1931, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1931 | NUMBER 56

Fifty-four Women Accept Bids From Seven Sororities

Societies Take Two More Pledgees Than Last Year—Alpha Xi Delta, and Alpha Chi Omega Head List With Ten—Only One Sophomore Bid

THREE CO-ED GROUPS GET NINE FROSH EACH

With the pledging of fifty-three freshmen and one sophomore the sorority rushing period ended last Friday morning, seeing two more than last year's number accepting society bids.

Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Chi Omega lead the list with ten women and are followed by three others with nine each and two with six and less each.

Of the seven sororities, Alpha Chi Omega, who last year headed the list with the largest number, this year finds itself one of the two highest. The pledgees:

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Alice Sawyer, Seattle, Wash.; Janet Dodds, Burlington; Claribel Morris, Burlington; Betty Lane, Barre, Elizabeth McLeod, Pawlet; Marjorie Hayden, Winchester, Mass; Florence Morse, Framingham, Mass.; Marion Fairbanks, Bennington; Laura Tracy, Shelburne.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Ruth Johnstone, Morrisville; Leona Warren, Morrisville; Marjorie Collins, Colchester; Elvira Farman, Newport; Grace Harris, Stowe; Ruth Tarleton, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Barbara Whitney, Springfield, Mass.; Virginia Drew, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Ellen Pearl, Grand Isle.

PI BETA PHI

Helen Fogg, Burlington; Helen Cook, Bennington; Dorothy Harwood, Rupert; Barbara Belcher, Maplewood, N. J.; Alice Gunn, Turners Falls, Mass.; Ruth Wood, Orange, N. J.; Mary Bennett, Springfield; Harriet Willard, Hartford, Conn.; Catherine Henrick, West Orange, N. J.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Dorothy Buzzell, Burlington; Eola Goodrich, Morrisville; Catherine Durick, Fair Haven; Daisy Putnam, Springfield; Hilda Davis, Burlington; Jean Kinloch, Springfield, Mass.; Helen Jenkins, Orleans; Ruth Johnson, Medford, Mass.; Elizabeth Woodward, Rocky Hill, Conn.; Frances Osgood, Saxtons River.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Ila McKenzie, Hinesburg; Ellen Lyman, Hinesburg; Joyce Young, Ver-

(Continued on page 4)

FIVE MEN WILL TOUR EUROPE AS MEMBERS OF DOTEN'S BLACK PIRATES

Orchestra To Visit Great Britain and Continent on Second Trip Across Atlantic

[illegible] of Vermont students, comprising the Black Pirates dance orchestra, will tour Europe [illegible] this summer at the invitation [illegible] Line.

[illegible] will sail from New [illegible] aboard the Transylvania, [illegible] them to Glasgow. Af[illegible] Scotland the men will [illegible] where they will spend [illegible] playing at a Berlin resort. [illegible] trip, they will sail from [illegible] the Tuscania and arrive New York August 30.

[illegible] trip, the orchestra will [illegible] "tourists' third" which is [illegible] section reserved for students. The Cunard [illegible] them, in return for [illegible] the voyage over, and [illegible] taken for them at the [illegible] the trip. In Europe they will [illegible] find a job for themselves.

[illegible] the Black Pirates [illegible] aboard the Berengaria and [illegible] spending the summer [illegible] Lucerne, most of the time [illegible] resort. During the past [illegible] been popular on the [illegible] playing at many of the col[illegible]

[illegible] of the orchestra: [illegible] '33, of Bristol, Conn.; [illegible] 31, of Brattleboro; E. E. [illegible] of Washington, D. C.; R. S. [illegible] and J. L. Thompson, '33, [illegible] Adams, Mass.

ISOLATION OF ENZYMES IS TOPIC OF SEMINAR

Miss Catherine Corcoran, '31, speaking at the chemistry seminar, Wednesday afternoon, discussed attempts that [illegible] made to isolate the enzymes [illegible] in the body. She spoke particularly on the isolation of the enzyme [illegible] explaining how this was done [illegible] centrifugation. An informal discussion followed Miss Corcoran's talk.

AMATEUR STATION CALL NOW CHANGED TO WIEG

[illegible] WIAEV [illegible] due to the fact that the last licensed operator in charge failed to make provision for its renewal upon expiration. A new call has been assigned however [illegible] WIEG. The transmitter [illegible] a low-power, [illegible] facilities, and hopes [illegible] to receive final adjustments. Two-way communication [illegible] with a number of stations in different parts of the country and a very interesting message relay was recently made one of the operators giving a message to a station in Boston, and receiving a reply to it at a time prearranged by [illegible] being the first communication [illegible] the period [illegible] up with the American Radio Relay League, a non-commercial organization [illegible] was affiliated in former years.

DEATH TAKES THOMAS BRADLEE, LONG DIRECTOR OF EXTENSION SERVICE

Had Served Eighteen Years, Longer Than Any of His National Contemporaries

Thomas Bradlee, for nearly eighteen years director of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Vermont was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage at about eight o'clock on Saturday evening at the University gymnasium while attending the Kake Walk at which he was a judge. He died an hour and a half later.

Director Bradlee was born in Lewiston, N. Y., October 9, 1885, the son of Charles Nathaniel and Ella Jane (Nichols) Bradlee. His boyhood was spent on a fruit farm located not far from the point where the Niagara River enters Lake Ontario. He was graduated from the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University nearly twenty years ago, and during the two years succeeding graduation was an instructor in agriculture at, and farm superintendent of, a private agricultural school in Northampton, Mass., one of the activities supported by the Sophia Smith fund.

When the initial state law establishing the Agricultural Extension Service at the University of Vermont became effective July 1, 1913, Mr. Bradlee was at once appointed director and continued in that office until the day of his untimely death. With two exceptions he had been in service as Extension [illegible] longer than had any [illegible] at the other institutions.

His duties were such that he quickly formed a statewide acquaintance and his genial ways and helpful spirit were such that he gained and held a host of friends. He launched in 1913 an educational campaign with which Vermont farmers and farm home makers were unacquainted and concerning which they were somewhat doubtful. However, thanks in large measure to his skillful and tactful guidance, the extension system in this state grew in stature and in acceptableness. Starting with a modest state appropriation of $8,000 and a staff of [illegible] people, its funds now derived from federal, state, county and local sources approximate twenty times the initial sum and its staff numbers nearly three score men and women, located not only in Burlington but in serving the fourteen counties of the State.

Director Bradlee's counsel was sought on every hand in connection with the problems of Vermont agriculture, by farmers individually and collectively. He was a member of the College fraternity Acacia, and the honorary agricultural society Alpha Zeta.

The funeral services were held at the College Street Church yesterday at 2.30 p.m. preceded by a service of prayer at the home at 1.30 p.m. Interment was in Lake View Cemetery.

REV. TATUM TO SPEAK IN IRA ALLEN CHAPEL

Rev. H. O. Tatum of the Baptist Church of Burlington will conduct chapel services this morning. Two chapel selections, Feasting I Watch, by Edgar, and Champlain will be sung by the Glee Club.

Award Kake Walk Prizes to Sigma Phi, Kappa Sigma

Kake Walk Conditioner and Sports of Eighties Get Peerade Honors—Stunt Awards Go to Peking's Prodigal and Cataleptic Cataclysm—The Cynic Wins Individual Cup

HUEY AND PHILLIPS WIN IN WALKIN' FO' DE KAKE

[illegible] Kappa Sigma [illegible] Kake Walk Conditioner in the Peerade [illegible] Phi with the stunt Peking's Prodigal. R. M. Huey, '31, and F. [illegible] Phillips, '31, as kake walkers, and R. F. Kent [illegible] in the thirty-fourth annual Kake Walk held Friday and Saturday [illegible] at the Gymnasium.

The Kake Walk Conditioner won the Hayes & Carney Cup. Repeating the honor of last year, Sigma Phi won the Briggs Cup for the best stunt. Delta Psi gained second award of the Preston trophy for their Peerade [illegible].

Fred F. Kenyon, Jr., of Sigma Delta, for his satire on THE CYNIC, won the individual Peerade cup presented by the University Store.

The Cataleptic Cataclysm, a take-off by Phi Delta Theta, won the second stunt award, the Southwick Cup, with honorable mention going to Sigma Alpha Epsilon for its stunt, the World's Gone Miniature.

Huey and Phillips, [illegible] in walkin' fo' de Kake, were awarded the Boulder Cup for first place, while the Student Senate Trophy, as second prize, went to P. D. Fischer, '33, and F. R. Busch, '34, of Sigma Phi.

The Chairmen Say

W. E. Craig, '31, chairman of the Peerade Committee, stated that the floats this year were much better than those of the past few years. He said all the floats held to the restrictions specifically laid down by the committee. He also believed that the decisions rendered by the judges was fair and added that he enjoyed the originality of the CYNIC Float. In concluding Craig expressed the hope that in the future more individuals will enter the Peerade.

F. McBride, chairman of the Stunt Committee, when interviewed stated that the Kake Walk as a whole was not up to the standard of those of previous years. Although he personally agreed with the judges' selection of the Sigma Phi stunt for the first prize, he was of the opinion that the Sigma Alpha Epsilon stunt showed the more originality.

Agreeing with McBride's statement that "Kake Walk" had fallen off this year, F. Bolles, '31, chairman of the Kake Walk, feel that the decision of the judges was not due to the fact most of the Kake Walkers competed men who had never participated in walkin' fo' de Kake while the [illegible] ing couple have already represented their fraternity two or more years. He believes that the new Kake Walk will [illegible] so as to improve the [illegible] celebrations.

With the attendance equalling that of last year's, the Kake Walk, so far as the financial manager, R. J. Maynes, '31, has been able to ascertain, has been an entirely successful one financially. The usual audience attended Friday evening's performance, including some two hundred sub-freshmen and half as many high school students.

The Winners

The winning float in the peerade, The Kake Walk Conditioner, by Kappa Sigma was composed of an elaborate apparatus for training Kake Walkers guaranteeing to produce results in twenty-four hours' time or [illegible] the patient. Watson Morgan, as the principal in the scene, was put through vigorous exercises and various "medical" tests during the course of his journey in the peerade.

The second prize winner, "Sports in the Eighties" caused many laughs. This was unique because of the real ice that was used by a skating couple, costumed according to custom 50 years ago. They performed with considerable skill on the rink while on the other end of the float fishing through the ice was enacted by two fishermen.

In the winning stunt by Sigma Phi, Peking's Prodigal, in a well-worked out Chinese setting, a Chinese boy returning from the University of Vermont learns that his people are not quite so backward as he at first thought. He is received by a banquet and modern entertainment at which he presents [illegible] in American style. Later on the program he takes part here in walk up a coin [illegible].

The Cataleptic Cataclysm presented by the Phi Delta Theta was passed around. In that stunt a bench becomes [illegible] a dentist [illegible] and the [illegible] of the [illegible] is portrayed. In the end the patient is burned because [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] went to Sigma Alpha Epsilon for the World's Gone Miniature, a [illegible] [illegible] Pre-War [illegible] Bridge portrayed the evolution of the game from Adam and Eve to Auctions and Contracts by [illegible] and Presidents and to the modern [illegible].

In Peerade

The entries in the peerade [illegible] were [illegible] and carried.

"King Louis Buries the Past" was one jibe at THE CYNIC, showing traditions in a coffin, Boulder hanged, athletics in the stocks and Gold Key being paddled. "Paddling is an old American custom, why abolish it?" was another saying the Indian and collegiate meaning of the word paddle. The old part of the professor marking the papers by throwing them upstairs was given a modern interpretation. The world's championship girls' team had its compliment. A dig at commercialized sport was a miniature football stadium with its rows of seats filled with bills. The Koffee Kooler was shown, and also the Spirit of Kake Walk. One entry demanded water sports at U. V. M. while several individual entries featured crime, the Old Mill and the Sun Kiss Hop.

More Stunts

A brief résumé of stunts not placing for awards or honorable mention:

The Verbose Triangle, Tau Epsilon Phi. The set includes three scenes a speakeasy, a park bench, and a hotel. The action took place on all three at the same time and the same dialogue took place between the various characters simultaneously.

Parlor, Bedroom and Sink, Zeta Chi. This was a rousing mystery drama of domestic intrigue. It showed the lasciviousness and treachery of modern married life and came to a startling end. There were two detectives who enter

(Continued on page 4)

BURNS GIVES RULES FOR SPECIAL HONOR COURSES

About [illegible] students are enrolled in honor courses for that year, stated Prof. G. F. Burns of the committee on honors. These students who, at the end of their junior year, have an average of B or above for the work of the preceding three years and lack not more than two courses to complete their group requirements may become applicants for special honors in a particular subject and be enrolled in honor courses. Says the catalog:

"Notice of his intention to enroll for such courses must be filed on a blank furnished for the purpose with the committee on honors and approved before the beginning of his senior year.

"A student whose standing justifies such a privilege will be allowed to enroll during his senior year in not more than twelve hours in addition to his theses six of which will be at the discretion of the head of the department in which credit is sought.

"A student who is a candidate for honors will be expected to present a thesis upon some topic decided on or accepted by the head of the department in which he is seeking honors and he must present this thesis to the committee on honors not later than May 10 of his senior year.

"Upon the approval by the committee of his thesis the student will be expected to pass an oral examination conducted by the head of the department or by someone appointed by him, and at this examination at least one member of the committee whose field of work is related to that of the candidate, will be present.

Vermont Commission Will Promote Rural Welfare, Says Prof. Perkins

[illegible] of measures for rural [illegible] to be the subject of a de[illegible] to be published soon by [illegible] commission on Country [illegible] Prof. H. F. Perkins of the [illegible] partment, who is secretary [illegible] mission.

[illegible] mission, which has been in [illegible] two and one-half years, [illegible] to bring its work to a [illegible] final mass meeting of [illegible] the 16th and 17th of [illegible] meetings will be held in [illegible] probably in the city audi[illegible] that time brief reports [illegible] from all of the sixteen [illegible] committees. The principal [illegible] the recommendations of [illegible] committee has drawn [illegible] recommendations for the [illegible] living conditions and [illegible] particularly in the rural [illegible] state. These are based [illegible] of the committees [illegible] most cases been helped [illegible] workers.

To Report Findings

[illegible] book form will be pub[illegible]ing the most important [illegible] findings and all of the [illegible]ns of the various [illegible] are often asked the ques[illegible]on are you going to [illegible] these changes?" That [illegible] committee to decide. [illegible]wever, not very much [illegible] new or revised legis[illegible] nearly so large a part [illegible] out of these new meas[illegible] the communities them[illegible]ch their local govern[illegible]ments, through the schools, churches, clubs and other organizations.

To Aid Libraries

Some of the committees have already been able to set in motion enterprises that have a good deal of definite value for the state. For example, the library committee has been able to secure from an outside source a generous grant for an experiment which the committee believes, in the light of its investigations during the two and one-half years of the Survey, would be most important measure for helping the small country libraries. There are over 200 of these little struggling village libraries and during the next two years an expert librarian advisor will travel about with a book wagon instructing the librarian and the communities in which they are located and in a variety of ways helping to build up a more useful and better appreciated library service.

Educational Funds

Another important contribution to the welfare of the state is the Vermont Foundation. Plans are practically completed for the setting up of a Board of Seven Trustees who will receive gifts and bequests intended for all non-sectarian charitable and educational purposes. This plan has been built up by the committee appointed for this purpose as one of the units of the Vermont Commission. They have been greatly aided in their work by Mr. Frederick Kellogg of issue of the Cynic preceding the celebration, makes it apparent how the former years traditions were continued into hopeful consecration. When the night arrived Kake Walk the old Phoenix rose to unprecedented heights

(Continued on page 3)

THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL KAKE WALK TONIGHT

(Continued from page 1)

200 Characters

The stunts which the next year's Kake Walk presented were of much higher grade than those enacted in previous years. The combined fraternities cast of over 200 characters which staged the performance fully deserved to be termed stupendous. The Cynic's report upon this Kake Walk remained. The Kake Walk brought to light the talent that years of continuous performance have fostered.

Vermont's twenty-fourth Kake Walk once more proved its right to the title of "Most Unique Show in the College World." The stunts were of an even greater variety than usual, offering to the faithful turnout at these annual affairs another evening of delightful entertainment. That every year improvement held its own, was the most predominant feature noticed and this year's had no strings.

Kake Walk's twenty-fifth anniversary revealed not only good stunts, but a financial gain which again proved that additions to the number of Kake Walk followers were not lacking.

As we review Kake Walk's twenty-seventh year and draw closer to the present we note increasingly improving performances. The peerade that year presented much that was amusing, timely and lively. Attendance at both performances was greater by far than at any previous Kake Walks, and the gate receipts that year heavily swelled the athletic fund. Movies were taken of parts of the performances.

Last Year!

Last year the stuntsters went from Pompeii to the moon, traveled back 1200 years and went forward a century and a half mingled Victorianism with Pullman cars, and added satire and fantasm, to put their part of the performance on as high a level as that of other years.

Peeraders, taking their cue from experiences of former years, eliminated the monotony of a lengthened performance and further added to the originality of the entertainment by presenting everything from the "Blunder Bus Twin Coach" to the Naval Conference in a spirit of pleasant sarcasm.

First Kake Walk

The first Kake Walk came in the winter of 1893-94. Dr E. G. Randall, writing in the Cynic of March 16, 1907, tells how "F. T. Sharp, after one conference with a few of us in No. 6 South College, wrote a poster inviting all those who might be interested to partake in a Kake Walk to be held in the old 'drill hall' under the chapel the next evening." This drill hall has since been divided into the rooms occupied by the college store, the department of education and the offices adjoining. The nature of the festivity was left to the ingenuity of the participants and the spontaneity with which all the classes entered into the affair augured well for its perpetuity as a college custom.

Very little was done in the way of preparation of the hall. Lanterns and lamps were produced to help out the illumination. A good cake, notwithstanding that it was an issue of the 'hash house' was provided. To quote from the "[illegible] Ariel":

"Three squeaking fiddles, a melodium and a trombone of brasse furnished the toon. The mery was the musik as they played, and joyous was the dalliance as any mayde."

"There were couples from the highest of military glory to the most abject barbarism of the South Sea Islands. There were high tinted but comely ballet maids howbeit of masculine proportions, clowns and gypsies. Hilarity was the order of the day and everybody did stunts. The Kake Walk itself was the concluding event."

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N Willard St. Tel. 2680

THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL AT GYM THIS EVENING

Messrs. Mountain, Ford, Abernethy, Bradlee and Smith to Judge Stunts

(Continued from page 1)

The judges for events: Peeraders—Capt P Black of the R O T C Battalion; H D Pearl principal of Burlington High School; Prof P D Evans head of the history department; Stunts—Hon S R Mountain chief justice of the Vermont Supreme court; H L Ford chairman of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce; F D Abernethy local merchant; T Bradlee director of the Experiment Station; I D Smith librarian, Fletcher Free Library.

Kake Walking—Prof G F Eckhard of the engineering department, Maj O H Stanley medical corps, U S Army; G S Howe, local wholesale grain dealer.

Seven committees will supervise the events:

Ushering Committee—R W Worrell, '31, chairman, E J Grant, '31, E P Meehan, '32, D K Parker, '32, A M Sullivan, '33, M H Brown, '33, and W C Cronin, '33.

Seating Committee—R E Tobin, '31, chairman, L L Jones, '31, P E Westin, '32, G R Collins, '32, C S Wright, '32, E E Dunn, '33, J E Wood, '32, and F J Massucco, '33.

Lighting Committee—R A Dailey, '31, chairman, R F Bigwood, '31, E V Kibby, '32, R W Hyde, '32, and M I Benton, '33.

Stunt Committee—F A McBride, '31, chairman, R B Aiken, '31, A O Eaton, '32, C W Tilley, '32, and C S Brown, '33.

Advertising Committee—H R Mattison, '31, chairman, C R Brush, '31, G R Nelson, '31, F. H. Billings, '32, R W Cobb, '32, and P P Fischer, '33.

Peerade Committee—W. E Craig, '31, chairman, R. M. Huey, '31, J. E Tracy, '31, R. J Livingston, '32, and C J Kilburn, Jr., '33.

Kake Walking—F A Bolles, '31, chairman, J. E. Clark, E. G Hurlburt, '32, and S. B Barker, '32.

Helen—I don't see why he dates her—she's a terrible dancer.

Mary—No, she can't dance but she sure can intermission.

SIX FRATERNITIES WILL OFFER NOVEL STUNTS

(Continued from page 1)

active members of their academic fraternities may enter in the peerade, and in stunts. The ten fraternity couples who will walk are: R. S. Jenks, '32, and D. W. Jenks, '34, Delta Psi; J. O Percival, '31, and E. J. Moskal, '32, Lambda Iota; F. R. Busch, '34, and P D Fischer, '33, Sigma Phi; T. S Webster, '31, and P. Iselin, '34, Phi Delta Theta; S. H Manning, '32, and D. L. Stewart, '31, Phi Mu Delta; R M Huey, '31, and E S. Phillips, '32, Sigma Nu; R. A. Backus, '34, and R. W Allerton, '31, Kappa Sigma; R. P. Donaghy, '33, and F. J. Massucco, '33, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; A. Gladstone, '31, and D. J. Bernstein, '32, Tau Epsilon Phi; and E. V. Kibby, '32, and W P. Stetson, '34, Sigma Delta.

These rules will govern the Kake Walk:

1. Each fraternity competing in the stunts must enter one couple to walk for the Kake and others may do so if they choose. Each couple will be allowed two minutes on the floor. A warning bell will be sounded one-half minute before the time is up.

2. Every fraternity, whether competing in the stunts or not, must enter at least one man in the peerade. As many more may be entered as the fraternity wishes.

3. Each stunt will be allowed fifteen minutes from the time the participants enter until they leave the hall. A warning bell will be sounded two minutes before the time is up.

4. Any violation of Rule 3 will eliminate that fraternity.

5. Any fraternity receiving the aid of persons not actively connected with the fraternity in the presentation of its act will be disqualified.

6. No gunpowder, flash powder, or other inflammable material will be used in any act. Its use will serve to disqualify the fraternity employing it.

A scoring system will be used by the judges, and the selections will be based on the number of points scored. For the fraternity stunts the basis is as follows::

1. Originality (25 points).
2. Teamwork and smoothness (20 points).
3. Delivery and voice (15 points).
4. Quality of properties and apparatus (15 points).
5. Costumes (10 points).
6. Audience interest (10 points).
7. Time taken (5 points).

The basis of judging the Kake Walking is as follows:

1. Carriage, position of head and shoulders, knee action, position of the toes (30 points).
2. Teamwork and smoothness (30 points).
3. Grace (20 points).
4. Costumes (15 points).
5. Stunts (5 points).

The directors limit the size of the floats in the peerade.

One-eighth of the broadcasting stations in the United States are owned and operated by educational institutions, the Advisory Committee on Education by Radio reports. There are 77 such stations. Eighty United States colleges and universities that have no broadcasting stations of their own use commercial stations for educational broadcasts. There are 50 non-academic, non-commercial organizations of national scope, including three federal government departments, that report the use of radio for instructional purposes.

"Ah, the pause that refreshes!" said the English professor when he saw the comma in the freshman theme.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
84 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS FOR U. V. M.
featuring
Draper & Maynard and A. G. Spalding Bros. athletic equipment
PATTEN, IRWIN & WHITE
W. E. GREENE CO.
Consolidated

NOTICE

No classes in the University meet tomorrow.

Dean J. L. Hills, Secretary
University Council

Interfraternity relays will be soon and all groups must send their men out immediately.

A. T. Post,
Director of Intramural Athletics

All those interested in the wrestling tournament and the boxing exhibition must sign up at once with the physical education department.

All sophomores wishing to try track should report to the gym afternoon after four o'clock.

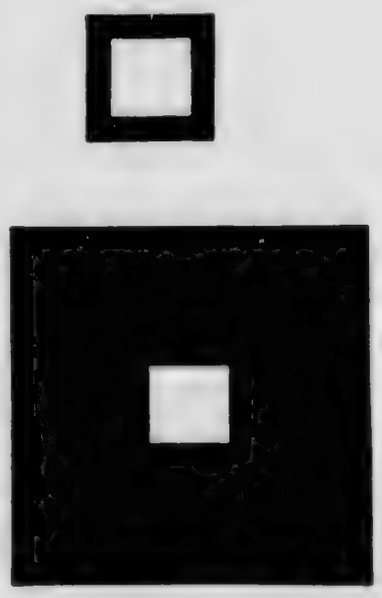
Hugh R. Mattison,
Manager of Track



Seniors who have not yet turned in their reading reports for the half-year must complete this requirement by March 1.

"Give a sentence with the word 'judicious.'"

"Veil, ham is not one of the judicious."—Colorado Dodo.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

?

Which is the larger of these two white squares? Don't trust to your eyesight alone.

YOUR EYES MAY FOOL YOU
BUT
YOUR TASTE tells the Truth!

MILDER...AND BETTER TASTE

They Satisfy

© 1931, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1931 | NUMBER 56

Fifty-four Women Accept Bids From Seven Sororities

Societies Take Two More Pledgees Than Last Year—Alpha Xi Delta, and Alpha Chi Omega Head List With Ten—Only One Sophomore Bid

THREE CO-ED GROUPS GET NINE FROSH EACH

With the pledging of fifty-three freshmen and one sophomore the sorority rushing period ended last Friday morning, seeing two more than last year's number accepting society bids.

Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Chi Omega lead the list with ten women and are followed by three others with nine each and two with six and two each.

Of the seven sororities, Alpha Chi Omega, who last year headed the list with the largest number, this year finds itself one of the two highest. The pledgees:

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Alice Sawyer, Seattle, Wash.; Janet Dodds, Burlington, Claribel Morris, Burlington; Betty Lane, Barre; Elizabeth McLeod, Pawlet; Marjorie Hayden, Winchester, Mass.; Florence Morse, Framingham, Mass.; Marion Fairbanks, Bennington, Laura Tracy, Shelburne.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Ruth Johnstone, Morrisville; Leona Warren, Morrisville; Marjorie Collins, Colchester; Elvira Farman, Newport, Grace Harris, Stowe; Ruth Tarleton, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Barbara Whitney, Springfield, Mass.; Virginia Drew, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Ellen Pearl, Grand Isle.

PI BETA PHI

Helen Fogg, Burlington; Helen Cook, Bennington; Dorothy Harwood, Rupert; Barbara Belcher, Maplewood, N. J.; Alice Gunn, Turners Falls, Mass.; Ruth Wood, Orange, N. J.; Mary Bennett, Springfield; Harriet Willard, Hartford, Conn.; Catherine Henrick, West Orange, N. J.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Dorothy Buzzell, Burlington, Eola Goodrich, Morrisville; Catherine Durick, Fair Haven; Daisy Putnam, Springfield; Hilda Davis, Burlington; Jean Kinloch, Springfield, Mass.; Helen Jenkins, Orleans; Ruth Johnson, Medford, Mass.; Elizabeth Woodward, Rocky Hill, Conn.; Frances Osgood, Saxtons River.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Ila McKenzie, Hinesburg, Ellen Lyman, Hinesburg; Joyce Young, Ver-

(Continued on page 4)

FIVE MEN WILL TOUR EUROPE AS MEMBERS OF DOTEN'S BLACK PIRATES

Orchestra To Visit Great Britain and Continent on Second Trip Across Atlantic

Five University of Vermont students comprising the Black Pirates saxe orchestra, will tour Europe again this summer at the invitation of the Cunard Line.

The orchestra will sail from New York July 1 aboard the Transylvania, which will take them to Glasgow. After visiting in Scotland the men will go to Germany where they will spend the summer playing at a Berlin resort. On the return trip, they will sail from Havre aboard the Tuscania and arrive in New York August 30.

On board ship, the orchestra will play in the "tourists' third" which is the second class section reserved for touring college students. The Cunard Line guarantees them, in return for their playing, the voyage over, and the collection taken for them at the end of the trip. In Europe they will have to find a job for themselves.

Last summer the Black Pirates played on board the Berengaria and the Franconia, spending the summer in Paris and Lucerne, most of the time at the latter resort. During the past half year it has been popular on the campus, playing at many of the college dances.

The members of the orchestra: R. H. Arms, '33, of Bristol, Conn.; W. C. Brasor, '31, of Brattleboro; E. E. Doten, '32 of Washington, D. C.; R. S. Grant, '32 and J. L. Thompson, '33, both of Adams, Mass.

ISOLATION OF ENZYMES IS TOPIC OF SEMINAR

Miss Catherine Corcoran, '31, speaking at the chemistry seminar, Wednesday afternoon, discussed attempts that have been made to isolate the enzymes found in the body. She spoke particularly on the isolation of the enzyme urease explaining how this was done by crystallization. An informal discussion followed Miss Corcoran's talk.

AMATEUR STATION CALL NOW CHANGED TO WIEG

The University of Vermont Radio Station was so unfortunate as to lose its old time call, WIARY, recently, due to the fact that the last licensed operator in charge failed to make provision for its renewal upon expiration. A new call has been assigned, however, same being WIEG. The tranamitter is now functioning more or less satisfactorily, and needs but to receive final adjustments. Two way communication has been held with a number of stations in different parts of the country, and a very interesting message relay was recently made one of the operators giving a message to a station in Boston, and receiving a reply to it at a time pre-arranged by schedule during the first communication. It is planned to tie the club up with the American Radio Relay League, a non-commercial organization of amateur radio operators with which the club was affiliated in former years.

DEATH TAKES THOMAS BRADLEE, LONG DIRECTOR OF EXTENSION SERVICE

Had Served Eighteen Years, Longer Than Any of His National Contemporaries

Thomas Bradlee for nearly eighteen years director of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Vermont was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage at about eight o'clock on Saturday evening at the University gymnasium while attending the Kake Walk at which he was a judge. He died an hour and a half later.

Director Bradlee was born in Lewiston, N. Y. October 9, 1885, the son of Charles Nathaniel and Ella Jane (Nichols) Bradlee. His boyhood was spent on a fruit farm located not far from the point where the Niagara River enters Lake Ontario. He was graduated from the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University nearly twenty years ago, and during the two years succeeding graduation was an instructor in agriculture at, and farm superintendent of, a private agricultural school in Northampton, Mass., one of the activities supported by the Sophia Smith fund.

When the initial state law establishing the Agricultural Extension Service at the University of Vermont became effective July 1, 1913, Mr Bradlee was at once appointed director and continued in that office until the day of his untimely death. With two exceptions he had been in service as Extension Director longer than had any of his contemporaries in the other forty-seven states.

His duties were such that he quickly formed a statewide acquaintance and his genial ways and helpful spirit were such that he gained and held a host of friends. He launched in 1913 an educational enterprise with which Vermont farmers and farm home makers were unacquainted and concerning which they were somewhat doubtful. However, thanks in large measure to his skillful and tactful guidance, the extension system in this state grew in stature and in acceptableness. Starting with a modest state appropriation of $8,000 and a staff of two or three people, its funds now derived from federal, state, county and local sources approximate twenty times the initial sum and its staff numbers nearly three score men and women, located not only in Burlington but in serving the fourteen counties of the State.

Director Bradlee's counsel was sought on every hand in connection with the problems of Vermont agriculture, by farmers individually and collectively. He was a member of the College fraternity Acacia, and the honorary agricultural society Alpha Zeta.

The funeral services were held at the College Street Church yesterday at 2.30 p.m. preceded by a service of prayer at the home at 1.30 p.m. Interment was in Lake View Cemetery.

REV. TATUM TO SPEAK IN IRA ALLEN CHAPEL

Rev. H. O. Tatum of the Baptist Church of Burlington will conduct chapel services this morning. Two selections Feasting I Watch by Edgar, and Champion will be sung by the Glee Club.

Award Kake Walk Prizes to Sigma Phi, Kappa Sigma

Kake Walk Conditioner and Sports of Eighties Get Peerade Honors—Stunt Awards Go to Peking's Prodigal and Cataleptic Cataclysm—The Cynic Wins Individual Cup

HUEY AND PHILLIPS WIN IN WALKIN' FO' DE KAKE

Kappa Sigma with the Kake Walk Conditioner in the Peerade, Sigma Phi with the stunt Peking's Prodigal, R. M. Huey, '31, and E. S. Phillips, '31, as kake walkers, and R. F. Kenyon, '33, as Tux Cynic, captured all first prize awards of cakes and cups in the thirty-fourth annual Kake Walk held Friday and Saturday nights at the Gymnasium.

The Kake Walk Conditioner won the Hayes & Carney Cup. Repeating the honor of last year, Sigma Phi won the Briggs Cup for the best stunt. Delta Psi gained second award of the Preston trophy for their Peerade entry.

Fred P. Kenyon, '33, of Sigma Delta, for his satire on Tux Cynic won the individual Peerade cup presented by the University Store.

The Cataleptic Cataclysm, a take-off by Phi Delta Theta, won the second stunt award, the Southwick Cup, with honorable mention going to Sigma Alpha Epsilon for its stunt, the World's Gone Miniature.

Huey and Phillips, for superiority in walkin' fo' de Kake, were awarded the Boulder Cup for first place while the Student Senate Trophy, as second prize, went to P. D. Fischer, '33, and F. R. Busch, '34, of Sigma Phi.

The Chairmen Say

W. E. Craig, '31, chairman of the Peerade Committee, stated that the floats this year were much better than those of the past few years. He said all the floats held to the restrictions specifically laid down by the committee. He also believed that the decisions rendered by the judges was fair and added that he enjoyed the originality of the Cynic Float. In concluding Craig expressed the hope that in the future more individuals will enter the Peerade.

F. McBride, chairman of the Stunt Committee, when interviewed stated that the Kake Walk as a whole was not up to the standard of those of previous years. Although he personally agreed with the judges' selection of the Sigma Phi stunt for the first prize, he was of the opinion that the Sigma Alpha Epsilon stunt showed the more originality.

Agreeing with McBride's statement that "Kake Walk" had fallen off this year, F. Bolles, '31, chairman of the Kake Walk, feels that the decision of the judges was just due to the fact most of the Kake Walkin' couples were men who had never participated in walkin' fo' de kake while the winning couple have already represented their fraternities two or more years. He believes that the new Kake Walkers will develop so as to improve the future celebrations.

With the attendance equalling that of last years, the Kake Walk, so far as the financial manager, R. J. Maynes, '31, has been able to ascertain, has been an entirely successful one financially. The usual audience attended Friday evening's performance including some two hundred sub-freshmen and half as many high school students.

The Winners

The winning float in the peerade, The Kake Walk Conditioner, by Kappa Sigma was composed of an elaborate apparatus for training Kake Walkers, guaranteeing to produce results in twenty-four hours' time or kill the patient. Watson Morgan, '32, the principal in the scene, was put through vigorous exercises and various "medical" tests during the course of his journey in the peerade.

The second prize winner, "Sports in the Eighties," caused many laughs. This was unique because of the real ice that was used by a skating couple, costumed according to custom 50 years ago. They performed with considerable skill on the rink while on the other end of the float fishing through the ice was enacted by two fishermen.

In the winning stunt by Sigma Phi, Peking's Prodigal, in a well-worked out Chinese setting, a Chinese boy returning from the University of Vermont learns that his people are not quite so backward as he at first thought. He is received by a banquet and modern entertainment at which he presents an American coed. Later in the scene his father puts him to work as a common laborer.

The Cataleptic Cataclysm, presented by the Phi Delta Theta won second award. In this stunt a Jewish farmer inherits a moving picture studio and the story of his troubles is portrayed. In the end, his picture is banned because his heroine, who bears a striking resemblance to Clara Bow, has failed to go to Sunday School regularly.

For the stunts, honorable mention went to Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the World's Gone Miniature, a burlesque on Pee Wee Golf. Scenes portrayed the evolution of the game from Adam and Eve to Anthony and Cleopatra to John Smith and Pocohontas and to the modern couple.

In Peerade

The entries in the peerade not taking prizes were several and varied.

"King Louis Buries the Past" was one jibe at Tux Cynic, showing traditions in a coffin. Boulder hanged, athletics in the stocks and Gold Key being paddled. "Paddling is an old American custom, why abolish it?" was another, giving the Indian and collegiate meaning of the word paddle. The old joke of the professor marking his papers by throwing them upstairs was given a modern interpretation. The world's championship girls' team had its compliment. A dig at commercialized sport was a miniature football stadium with its tiers of seats lined with bills. The Koffee Korner was shown, and also the Spirit of Kake Walk. One entry demanded water sports at U. V. M. while several individual entries featured crime, the Old Mill, and the Sun Rise Hop.

More Stunts

A brief résumé of stunts not placing for awards or honorable mention.

The Verbose Triangle, Tau Epsilon Phi. The set includes three scenes, a speakeasy, a park bench, and a hotel. The action took place on all three at the same time and the same dialogue took place between the various characters simultaneously.

Parlor, Bedroom and Sink, Zeta Chi. This was a rousing mystery drama of domestic intrigue. It showed the jealousies and troubles of modern married life and came to a startling end. There were two detectives who enter.

(Continued on page 4)

BURNS GIVES RULES FOR SPECIAL HONOR COURSES

"About eight students are enrolled in honor courses for this year," stated Prof. G. P. Burns of the committee on honors. "These students who at the end of their junior year have an average of B or above for the work of the preceding three years and lack not more than two courses to complete their group requirements may become applicants for special honors in a particular subject and be enrolled in honor courses," says the catalog.

"Notice of his intention to enroll for such courses must be filed on a blank furnished for this purpose with the committee on honors and advanced degree at the conclusion of his junior year.

"A student whose standing justifies such a privilege will be allowed to enroll during his senior year in not more than twelve hours in addition to his theses six of which will be at the disposal of the head of the department in which honors are sought.

"A student who is a candidate for honors will be expected to prepare a thesis upon some topic designed or accepted by the head of the department in which he is seeking honors and he must present this thesis to the committee on honors not later than May 10 of his senior year.

"Upon the approval by the committee of his thesis, the student will be expected to pass an oral examination conducted by the head of the department or by someone appointed by him, and at this examination at least one member of the committee whose field of work is related to that of the candidate, will be present."

Vermont Commission Will Promote Rural Welfare, Says Prof. Perkins

Investigation of measures for rural welfare will be the subject of a detailed report to be published soon by the Vermont Commission on Country Life, says Prof. H. F. Perkins of the Agricultural Department, who is secretary of the commission.

The Commission, which has been in session for two and one-half years, is preparing to bring its work to a close with a final mass meeting of conferences on the 16th and 17th of March. The meetings will be held in Montpelier probably in the city auditorium and at that time brief reports will be heard from all of the sixteen working committees. The principal features will be the recommendations of the committees. Each committee has drawn up a set of recommendations for the betterment of living conditions and agriculture particularly in the rural districts of the state. These are based on the findings of the committees which have in most cases been helped by trained field workers.

To Report Findings

A report in book form will be published containing the most important of the findings and all of the recommendations of the various committees. "We are often asked the question, 'To whom are you going to present these changes?'" That is for the committee to decide, however, not very much believes that new or revised legislation will play nearly so large a part in the carrying out of these new measures as will the communities themselves through their local governments, through the schools, churches, clubs and other organizations.

To Aid Libraries

Some of the committees have already been able to set in motion enterprises that have a good deal of definite value for the state. For example, the library committee has been able to secure from an outside source a generous grant for an experiment which the committee believes, in the light of its investigations during the two and one-half years of the Survey, would be most important measure for helping the small country libraries. There are over 200 of these little struggling village libraries and during the next two years an expert librarian advisor will travel about with a book wagon instructing the librarian and the communities in which they are located and in a variety of ways helping to build up a more useful and better appreciated library service.

Educational Funds

Another important contribution to the welfare of the state is the Vermont Foundation. Plans are practically completed for the setting up of a Board of Seven Trustees who will receive gifts and bequests intended for all non-sectarian charitable and educational purposes. This plan has been built up by the committee appointed for this purpose as one of the units of the Vermont Commission. They have been greatly aided in their work by Mr. Frederick Kellogg of

(Continued on page 3)

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Members of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
FRED W. HOUSEHOLDER, '32 ..... Managing Editor
LEONARD M. PORTER, '31 ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] Women's Editor
J. P. TRACY, '32 ..... Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] '31, P. B. Dow, '31, S. M. Butler, '31 ..... News Editors
W. C. MacDonald, '31 ..... Feature Editor
[illegible] '32 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] '32 ..... Contributing Editors

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] ..... Associate Editor
[illegible] M. Fewsmith, '32 ..... Assistant Editor

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

Lucile Rose, '31 ..... Associate Editor
Gladys Prose, '31 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] '32 ..... Sports Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

News Department—W. W. Breslin, '34, S. K. Carter, '33, W. Cohen, '34, S. W. Fishman, '34, M. J. Greenberg, '34, I. Lesman, '34, R. E. McCain, '34, R. W. Michelman, '34, R. M. Monroe, '34, R. Weinerman, '34, H. B. Wolinsky, '34

[illegible] N. H. Kaplan, '34, M. Kramer, '34, C. J. Libby, '34, H. J. Selib, '34

Women's Department—Esther Beardsley, '32, Norma Carder, '33, Augusta Cohen, '34, Dorothy Edwards '33, Mildred Cole, '32, Rosetta Harlowe, '32, Dorothy Jackman, '33, Ruth Dorothy Edwards '33, Mildred Cole, '32, Rosetta Harlowe, '32, Dorothy Jackman, '33, Ruth Kidder, '34, Jerome Lee '33, Margaret Martin, '32, Margaret Mower, '32, Priscilla Perry, '33, Hope Rossiter '32, Margaret Tower, '33, Laura Tracy, '34, Virginia Yowell, '34.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] ..... Advertising Manager
[illegible] F. P. Dana '31, C. W. Ienke, '31 ..... Assistant Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Published by [illegible] Published semi-weekly during the college year

[illegible] must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in [illegible] before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Business [illegible] must be addressed to the Business Manager, Phi Delta Theta House; all other [illegible] to the Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall

Entered for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section [illegible] Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926

[illegible] Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol 49 February 25, 1931 No. 36

[illegible] the following perfect tribute to [illegible] Thomas Bradlee, a guide in pedagogy to seeking to enhance the [illegible] of the most desirable princess or to increase the radiant glory [illegible] Rather we repeat or tell this most accurate picture [illegible] from the genial pen of one who knew him—Mr. [illegible] Read it [illegible] the Free Press.

VERMONTERS LOSE A FRIEND

For nearly two decades, Thomas Bradlee, director of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Vermont, has given of himself wholeheartedly to the service of Vermont and her people. The sudden termination of his earthly career, while still in the prime of life is a tremendous loss to all of us.

Coming to Vermont in the early days of the Extension Service when the extension idea was more or less on trial in this part of the country, he guided unerringly the infant experiment of taking the latest agricultural knowledge to the farmer. Through the various perils which beset any new movement his unfailing good judgment and tact led the rapidly growing department until it has become firmly established as a vital part of Vermont agriculture.

To the doing of this worthwhile task Tom Bradlee has given his every waking hour, and often robbed himself of sleep in order to devote long hours of the night to the solution of some difficult problem which faced the farmers of this State.

They have called upon him often, and never called in vain. Quiet, unassuming, uncomplaining, though the work piled up and unjust criticism came his way, he went steadily and purposefully on with the task which his wisdom told him would bring the most good to Vermont. For he had a vision of the day when the Extension Service would reach every agricultural home in Vermont and make it a happier home. And he worked determinedly toward that day.

Tom Bradlee will be missed in Vermont, not only by the farmers whom he served, but by many in other walks of life who came to appreciate his worth and counted it a high honor to call him friend.

Kuts from the Kake

Come chillums, lemme tell yo 'bout de big show w'at came up on de hill dis las' week, Friday an' Saturday nights. Dey sure wuz a reglar juberlee den. All de boys took der ladylovers bekaye der wuz goin' be so many 'casions fer ter keep yo a chucklin' I tol' me ol' lady "I dunno w'at dey'll do dis time but it sure will be worth seein' an' I wuz tellin' de trut' den. Der as been thirty-fo'r un dese Kake Walks an' I jus as leeve see thirty-fo'r more uv 'em. Dey ain't no two ways 'bout dat. Wat dey don' do' yo is ast in me? Lawd chillums! It am a long tale.

Wat turns dar is much uv a racket an' I looks ter see w'at dey at up to an sur 'nuff in de door comes de funn'st dings dat I ever 'ave seen an' I 'as seen very many uv 'em. Dere wuz 'ouses an' mac'ines an' men wid funny costumes an' a car an' such. Dese t'ings goes round de place two toimes an' den dey go out de door an' dey as so many signs w'at is funny an' w'at dey do is so cute dat dem peoples laughs an' clappe an' clapps a long toime.

Den der wuz six stunts which wuz little plays you would call em. Dey sure wuz cute an' funny an' clever as de dickens, 'specially un called "The World Gone Miniature," an' "Peking's Prodigal." En some dem t'ings de peoples takes an' does funny dings such as 'vestigate fo' a murder w'en dey 'as not been any murder at all.

Den ten couples comes out an' steps to de music uv "Cotton Babes" an' sw yo thrill. Dey all tries 'ard to see which un can kick de highest an' de longest. Dat wuz de mos' fun uv all. Two at a toime dressed in black and white or red and white an' blacked like des negros dey come down to de middle uv de floor, bow an' den kick some more as dey dance back to de door w'at dey come out uv. I'n couple made yo shiver w'en yo saw dem, bekaye dey 'ad beaks an' looked like big green frogs. It seemed like dat un toime de creetures gotter sputin' monga' deyselves exter which un kin laugh de loudest. If yo dunner w'at laughin' is yo wou'd fin' out quick der. It sure am a laughin' place. De Kake Walk is whar you kin go an' laugh whedder yo wanter laugh er no. Yo is always glad if yo go ter see de boys walk fo de kake.

An' las' dey gives yo des kakes an' de kups. Dey is some men w'at decide which uns is de bes' an' dey 'nounces der names an' gives en a kake o' a kup. Ain't dat swell? Ah's tellin' yo'.

Next year, if yo chilluns kin, yo sho mus' go an' see den boys walk fo' de kake. Yo sho will 'joy every minute der. It am a heap lot of fun packed in wun evenin'.

More than twelve hundred people gathered in the University gymnasium last Saturday evening to enjoy the annual Kake Walk and see the awarding of prizes for the best features as determined by the judges. This year's presentation showed great ingenuity, creative ability and an extremely fine quality of workmanship done by all the fraternities. When one looks upon such clean stunts and floats which clearly manifest an immense amount of time and energy being used in their preparation, one wonders how these men can keep up their class work and other college activities and still be able to give such entertainment, in the short time between mid-years and February 20, for all the work had to be done in three short weeks.

A program of floats, individual entries and stunts of such varied types and so admiringly performed cannot but furnish pleasure for each member of the audience whether he be a subfrosh wondering and marveling, aghast at the art, or whether he be a perennial admirer who glories at each novelty of the year, yet enjoying the thrills which come from traditional features. The spirit of the Kake Walk will never die. Vermont rejoices in the uniqueness of this her very own feat. One may well characterize the event as "something old, something new, something different . . . . ." for it can never lose its charm as long as it maintains its traditional high qualities and we can be sure that the fraternities can be relied upon to hold her laurels ever high.

This year I believe the floats were the most worthy of praise of all the features. Here we found wit, originality, satire and cleverness of contrivance at its height. Many a laugh was furnished the audience as the result of clever features presenting takeoffs on questions at issue during the first semester, as freshman hazing and the CYNIC editorial policy on this question. Each and every feature stood out as being good in itself. There was no second-rate material presented.

RUTH A. BURROUGHS, '31.

FACULTY COLUMN

My First Acquaintance With U. V. M.

I first heard of the existence of the University of Vermont on the streets of Granville, Ohio, as far back as [illegible]. [illegible] It was in conversation with a man by the name of Henry Warner, a Burlington [illegible] relatives in that town. After exchanging some views about educational institutions he said he thought I would find the University of Vermont a college very much to my liking because of my interest in science and mathematics. I asked him where Vermont was located and was told it was one of the New England states, lying in the northwest corner of the group. My ignorance of geography was patent due to the fact that I had been in the country less than six months. He further explained that the University of Vermont was in Burlington, a beautiful city of 14,000 inhabitants. I told him Denison was good enough for me and dismissed the matter, never dreaming that the major part of my life work was to be done in the service of U. V. M.

Just about twenty years after that time, in Ludlow, Vt., one day I received a note from President Buckham inviting an interview at the Ludlow House. I was much in the dark as to the possible purpose of the interview, but connected it with some university extension work, about which I was doing considerable writing at that time. I was greatly surprised when I was asked to take a temporary appointment as an assistant in the department of mathematics. I gladly accepted and in a few days appeared on the campus. This is what I call my first acquaintance with U. V. M.

The campus was, topographically, the finest I had ever seen, and I may add that I have not yet seen the equal of it in this respect. At that time there was no Williams Science, no Converse Hall, no Morrill Hall. The engineering building was new. The old stately Underwood residence stood on what is now the location of the Medical College. The show place was the Billings Library. The attendance was not far from 300, and the faculty correspondingly small.

My interest, however, was not in the plant but in the group of scholars composing the faculty, none of whom I had ever met before. It was a choice company, made up of men devoted in every fiber of their being to the things of the mind and the exaltation and advancement of learning.

BUCKHAM: Cultured, dignified, a master of good English, an educator by nature and choice, devout, concealing behind a reserved exterior a warm heart and a friendly spirit.

GOODRICH: A born classicist, who could express himself as correctly, elegantly and caustically in the language of Rome as in that of his native New England.

TORREY: Quiet, philosophic-minded, never happier than when holding converse with Des Cartes in his study, or in his garden meditating on the wonders, mystery and beauty of organic growth.

PERKINS: A scholar in the field of natural science, a lover of nature, a worshipper of nature's god, interested in all good things and a friend to all with whom he is associated.

WHEELER: A master of the language, the history, the art and the literature of Greece, and a boundless admirer of the civilization and culture of that great people, an inspiring teacher.

HUFF: Genial, companionable, immensely erudite, ever ready to share his erudition with receptive in or out of the classroom.

BARBOUR: Modest, reserved, finding an abundant life of happiness and satisfaction in the consecration of his rare gifts and solid attainments to the upbuilding of what is now the College of Engineering.

CHICKERING: An animate dictionary, a precision in words and phrases whether before a class in the University or in the prayer meeting at the First Church.

EMERSON: Learned, eloquent, an inquiring spirit, a convinced monist, a tireless seeker for the silver thread which gives unity to all existence, from the primeval mist to the highest developments of which we know anything about.

DANIELS: Keen-witted, quaint in manner, eccentric, original in speech, interesting always and everywhere.

MERRILL: To those who had the privilege of associating with him no descriptive words are necessary or could possibly be adequate. To those deprived of that good fortune the best I can do is to repeat Goldsmith's suggested epitaph for Garrick's tombstone:

"Here lies David Garrick, Describe him who can."

When I found myself in the presence of this goodly company I was reminded of the words of the Psalmist, "Thou broughtest us out into a wealthy place." It was not the wealth of the market but the higher wealth akin to that of the good parson in the Canterbury Tales, who, though poor in this world's goods, was rich in holy thought.

EVAN THOMAS.

Author's Arena

PAUL J. LACROSSE, '32

Glancing over the shelf of lately [illegible] books at Billings Library, [illegible] notices special which might interest those who desire a synoptic view of things. Of these I selected the following: "Science and the New Civilization" by Robert Millikan; "The Philosophy of Religion" by A. Pringle-Pattison; and a new copy of an old essay by Bertrand Russell entitled "A Free Man's Worship." In Mr. Millikan's book, intended for the general reader, one is in one part of the book faced with this question: Is man to be the master of the civilization he has created, or is he to be its victim? Quoting Mr. Fosdick, Millikan continues:

History Warns Us!

"One has only to turn the pages back to 1914—all the machines that ingenuity could invent were directed to the single purpose of human destruction. In a hundred laboratories, in a thousand arsenals, factories, and bureaus, physics and chemistry were harnessed to the task of mass deaths. The gigantic success of the enterprise is shown in the statistics: 10,000,000 known dead soldiers; 3,000,000 presumed dead soldiers; 13,000,000 dead civilians; 20,000,000 wounded; 3,000,000 prisoners; 9,000,000 war orphans; 5,000,000 war widows; 10,000,000 refugees."

Then Mr. Millikan lines up the credits and debits of science, points out that basically explosives can also be used as fertilizers, that the routine work in Ford's factory is compensated by what these cars are doing to the life of the common man in developing alertness and intelligence, and concludes that the responsibility of science for the twenty-six million lives lost during the World War is "a matter of opinion." Wonderful these scientists!

Philosophy of Religion

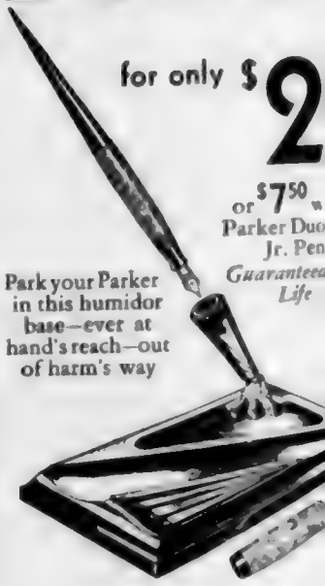
In his studies of these "incommensurables," Mr. Pringle-Pattison finds that "every advance in social morality and humane manners; every increase in man's knowledge of the world and its laws, is reflected in the character of the gods he worships."

The above author believes with Doctor Marett that "religion in its psychological character is fundamentally a mode of social behavior." Today the idea of religion is a personal relationship, resembling Platinus' "Flight of the Alone to the Alone."

"Greek theology," writes the author, "goes back not to a prophet or lawgiver but to a poet—this fact accentuates the difference between Greek religion and religions of the Book, like Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, or any other religion founded on authority."

The author in his studies in the fourth Gospel remarks that the picturesque details, the little touches of circumstantial details, often so effectively introduced are to be set down as Professor Scott has said, "not to the accurate memory of the eye wit- [illegible] literary artist.

"How strange [illegible] exclaims, [illegible] so stupendous [illegible] a passing mention, [illegible] Gospels."



However, R. H. [illegible] out that the writers [illegible] Gospels were [illegible] fore they became [illegible]

A Free Man's Worship

A fairly good [illegible] essay of B. Russell [illegible] the perusal of the [illegible] graph of "ultimate [illegible] despair." One [illegible] condemned for the [illegible] one feels more than [illegible] for the loftiness and [illegible] of "the tragedy [illegible] the conqueror worm."

"Brief and powerless [illegible] on him and all his [illegible] doom falls pitiless [illegible] to good and evil, [illegible] tion, omnipotent [illegible] relentless way; for [illegible] today to lose his [illegible] himself to pass through [illegible] darkness, it remains [illegible] ere yet the blow [illegible] thoughts that ennoble [illegible] disdaining the [illegible] slave of Fate, to worship [illegible] that his own hands have [illegible] mayed by the empire [illegible] preserve a mind free [illegible] tyranny that rules his [illegible] proudly defiant of [illegible] forces that tolerate for [illegible] knowledge and his [illegible] sustain alone, a weary [illegible] atlas, the world that [illegible] have fashioned despite [illegible] march of unconscious [illegible]

Your Parke
Pocket Pe
plus this handsome bronzed
Gives You
Desk Se

When in your room writin permanent notes or themes, le Pen dry out when you stop to texts or notes, keep it in a Desk Base.

No need to buy a complet
Set or a special Pen. Your Parker Pocket Pen is already Desk Set.

Base with free taper, whi
verts your Pocket Parker
Set Model at only $2.50. O do not own a Parker, this D complete with $2.75 Parker
Desk Pen, only $5.25, or wi fold Jr. Pocket-Desk Pen, Gu for Life, only $7.50. At a dealers.

THE PARKER PEN COMP
Janesville, Wis

$5 $7
Parke
Duofol
Desk Se

PEN GUARANTEED FOR LI
Other Parker Pens, $2.75 and
Pencils to match all Pens, $3.50

SPORTING NEWS

GREEN AND GOLD FIVE TO ENCOUNTER NORWICH CADETS TOMORROW EVE

Vermont to Take On Conference —Leading Horsemen in Season's Final Game

CATAMOUNTS WILL ENTER WITH HEAVY INJURIES

...ed Green and Gold five will ... the Conference-leading Norwich in its final game of the ... gym tomorrow night. ...ore or less of a mediocre ...and them the Cats are out ...le for the past in a blaze ... Not for many years have ... been so close, so jammed ... excitement and enthusi... have been featured by this ... conference games Norwich ... the pace, to be sure, but she ... but a little better brand ... than can be exhibited by any ... other teams.

... has suffered two heart... losses in the fierce race for ... At Norwich they fell vic... the Cadets by the scant mar... of one basket and were forced to ... Middlebury here by four points ... ding all the way in.

... has run its string of victories to seven wins in nine starts, six ... cessive games. Two of their ... ...erous scorers are Washburn ... Hartford. Washburn who is paired with Fanos in the forward court was released from the college infirmary only just previous to the first Vermont clash. Since then he ... ...ed himself a power on the offense and has become one of the leading scorers. He hung up sixteen points in the encounter with Middlebury Hartford, who with Sipsey ... one of the back court, has been a consistent player all season and stands close to Washburn in the scoring column. Vietheer at center completes the Cadet lineup. Forbes who ... best defensive player may be ... in the game and help strengthen the quintet.

Vermont Is Weakened

... to injuries sustained in the ... lab and McGill games, Vermont will be considerably weakened in its encounter with the Cadets. With Ray Talbert and "Bob" Tobin in all probability out for the rest of the season, the Cadets' chances of winning the fray with the Green and Gold five are ... heightened. "Hank" Durfey ... with Sargent and Taft will be ... only three regulars able to start. ... Tupper, who has been ill the ... week, may be well enough to play. Aside from "Eddie" Winant ... are few dependable reserves on ... Catamount squad who have seen ... for any length of time. ... Pires will probably be injected into the game as well as Jerry ... It is rather unfortunate that ... should lose the services of ... its regulars just previous to the two crucial championship games of the season. The probable lineup:

VERMONT	NORWICH
Durfey, l.f.	Fanos, r.f.
Tupper, r.f.	Washburn, l.f.
Sargent, c.	Vietheer, c.
Taft, l.g.	Hartford, r.g.
Winant, r.g.	Sipsey, l.g.

VERMONT COMMISSION TO ADVANCE RURAL WELFARE

(Continued from page 1)

New York, a former Vermonter. The working of this plan will insure safe and wise handling at a minimum of cost to the donor of funds intended for the purpose mentioned above. This will be the first state-wide enterprise of this kind to be put into operation.

These are samples of the kind of thing that is being propagated by the ... Commission and the 200 or more members of the Commission are all of one mind regarding something ... the principal benefit of this ... years' undertaking. This is the ... thinking towards one definite ... the leading people in most of the communities of the state. The Commission has been a three-year ...stration of the fact that it is ... to get people of all walks of ... all sections of the state to work ...ously and with enthusiasm ... any aim that involves the ... of Vermont.

... Club held a business meet... Friday, February 20, in 3 North College. Theodora Wakefield, '32, and Lillian Mount, '32, were appointed to ... the try-outs which have been held since last fall. A list of new members will be posted early next ...

EDITH PRITCHARD, SENIOR, ATTAINS RIFLE LAURELS

Breaks National Intercollegiate Record With 595 Out of 600 As Score

Edith G. Pritchard, '31, is the national intercollegiate champion of the women's rifle teams. In the National Rifle Association matches held during January, Miss Pritchard broke the record of 594 of 1930 by her remarkable score of 595 out of a possible 600. Sgt. R. T. Conner just received the notice of Miss Pritchard's championship from the N. R. A. body.

Miss Pritchard is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and has been a U. V. M. rifle candidate for four years at U. V. M.

CO-EDS HOLD WINTER CARNIVAL WITH ELEVEN SPORTS EVENTS TODAY

Prizes To Go To Winners of Meet in Which All Dormitories Take Part

Plans are under way for a co-ed winter carnival to be held today with an alternate date of February 28 in case of bad weather. The plans are under the auspices of "Vic" Chadbourne, '31, Lillian Mount, '32, Mildred Aikens, '32, and Charlotte Odell, '... The following events will take place on the back campus at 4 p.m.

Skating, advanced and beginners; Partner racing (skating); Progressive snowshoe relay; Ski-potatoe racing; Human ski-joring race; Grapevine on snowshoes; 150-yard ski-free-for-all; Running race; Obstacle race; Tug-of-war; Snake dance.

Prizes will be awarded for the various events. Frances McKean, '31 will announce the events, and Edith Abbot, Beatrice Freeman, '32, and Miss Blanchard will act as judges. Each dormitory is under a pep leader, and the dormitory showing the highest percentage of attendance will receive a box of marshmallows. These pep leaders are: Leah Gowen, Redstone; Stella Bucher, Slade; Katherine Shaw, Robinson; Dorothy Keith, Grassmount; Doris Humphreys, Campus House; "Puss" Hendricks, Ruggles; Winifred Graham, Allen House; Barbara LeBaron, Rand House; Katherine Woodward, Maynard House; Dorothy Brennen, The Terrace.

FACULTY FIVE PLAYS OWLS QUINTET 22-21

Bennett's last-minute heave from the middle of the gymnasium gave the Owls a 22 to 21 victory over the Faculty five in a fraternity league game Monday night. Berry of the loser team was the biggest point-getter with 8 credit marks. The Owls led most of the way, but in the last period the Faculty staged a spectacular rally which gave them a brief lead.

Applicants for state senatorial scholarships should immediately file their blanks, which may be obtained at the office of the cashier, in the medical building.

Basketball will be continued this week according to the schedule posted. Bowling will take place both at 3 and at 4 p.m. this week.

EDITH G. PRITCHARD, '31

MIDD ICEMEN OUTPUCK VERMONT IN 3-0 MATCH

On the ice that turned to slush and slush to mud Middlebury downed Vermont 3 to 0 there Monday afternoon. Shoot and follow hockey was the only type that could be played, considering the ice. Middlebury repeatedly bombarded Vermont's net to no effect. McVetty was star for the Catamounts. Nelson was high scorer. The summary

MIDDLEBURY		VERMONT
Makela, l.w.	l.w.	Cunningham
Pickens, l.w.	l.w.	Marvin
Nelson, c.	c.	Wood
A. Melbye, N. Melbye, c.	c.	Marvin
Crocker (capt.), r.w.	r.w.	McVetty
Yeomans, Chappell, r.w.
Foote, l.d.	l.d.	Segal
Huntington, McLean, r.d.	r.d.	Swain
Webster, c.	g.	Hendricks

Referee: Bellrose

Have you chosen your life work?

IN THE field of health service The Harvard University Dental School (the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States) offers thorough well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work ... vision of men high in the ...

Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Dept. 81 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

Cats Cede Two Victories to Alien Quintets at Montreal

Double-Game Trip Leaves Vermont the Underdog in Both Contests With Team Injuries

SUN LIFE EDGES CATS 24-20 IN OVERTIME FRAY

Without the services of Ray Talbert who was forced to remain in bed with an infected foot and Bob Tobin, who was able to play but a few minutes due to a badly twisted knee, the Catamounts dropped the first of their two game trip to the Sun Life quintet 24-20 in an overtime contest at Montreal Friday evening.

The victors who displayed that same type of unorthodox playing which featured their game here earlier in the winter went into a short lived lead at the start but lost it for the remainder of the first half when the Green and Gold attack got functioning for its first and only time during the evening. At half time, the Cats were on the long end of a 11-7 count.

Sun Life Gains

The second half found the Sun Life still playing their peculiar type of basketball, and slowly gaining on the leaders. With the score 18-18 and with less than a minute left to play, Thomas, the Canadian's center dropped in a long shot from way out to knot the score and force the issue into an overtime period.

Ed Winant opened up the scoring with a twin counter, but again Sun Life came back with three baskets to sew up the game.

Merritt and Thomas were the outstanding players for the victors, while Chet Taft was the only shining light for the Catamounts.

The summary:

Sun Life	Gls	Fls	Pts
Oppedisano, r.f.	1	0	2
Merritt, r.f.	4	0	8
Smart, l.f.	0	0	0
McCallum, l.f.	1	0	2
Kavanaugh l.f.	1	0	2
Cullen, l.f.	0	1	1
Thomas, c.	3	1	7
Doody, r.g.	1	0	2
Gibson, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	11	2	24

VERMONT	Gls	Fls	Pts.
Pires, r.f.	2	0	4
Durfey, l.f.	2	0	4
Sargent	1	0	2
Tobin, r.g.	0	0	0
Winant, r.g.	1	1	3
Farwell, r.g.	0	0	0
Taft, l.g.	3	1	7
Totals	9	2	20

VERMONT FIVE DROPS TO MCGILL MEN, 42-35

Vermont dropped its second successive game in two days to the McGill University five at Montreal by the score of 42 to 35. The Green and Gold five was considerably handicapped by the loss of three regulars, Tupper, Tobin, and Talbert. Tupper was unable to make the trip because of illness while Tobin incurred an injury to his knee which will in all probability keep him off the court for the rest of the season. Talbert is in the infirmary with an infected ankle.

McGill secured an early lead and was never headed by the Catamount quintet. Young, their center, was the leading scorer. His passing ability also accounted for many of the other counters.

Wally Sargent snapped out of the slump in which he has been all season excelling in every department. He scored seven floor goals and one foul for a total of 15 points. Chet Taft with four floor goals and five counters from the penalty stripe was only two points behind.

25-12 At Half

At the half the score stood 25 to 12 with the Maple Leafs in the lead. The Green and Gold hoopsters made desperate attempts to close up the gap but were only partially successful, the whistle ending the game with the Leafs seven points ahead.

(Continued on page 4)

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT SHOPPE

SOUPS: Home-made Vegetable; Home-made Chicken Cream Tomato

SANDWICHES: Hot Chicken, Hot Roast Beef, Hot Hamburg

PASTRIES: Cream Puffs, Jelly Doughnuts, Macaroons, Brownies, Eclairs, Glazed Doughnuts

DOUGHNUTS "Better than the Best"

February Sale

of

Suits and Overcoats

SUITS $28.50 OVERCOATS $20.00

HAYES & CARNEY, Inc.

195-197 Bank Street Near Majestic

Open Evenings

TEXTBOOKS ARE RETURNED TO THE PUBLISHERS MARCH 1. ON ALL SPECIAL ORDERS WHICH HAVE TO BE PLACED AFTER THIS DATE THERE IS AN EXTRA CHARGE FOR POSTAGE

at the

University Store

You'll Like

These New Broadcloth Shirts

$1.95 3 for $5.

COLLARS ATTACHED—PLAIN WHITE, BLUE, TAN—GREY AND GREEN

O'TURKS
Burlington
Vt.

SIGMA PHI WINS CUP AND CAKE FOR STUNTS

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] the audience with their [illegible] antics.

The Story Lambda Iota

The scene was Greek costume, the season when a sudden murder takes place. That famous writer of detective fiction, S. S. Van Dine, takes charge of the investigations and tries to determine that nobody was murdered.

[illegible] in tears and white. Hoyt and Phillips [illegible] wagon for the Kake for the fourth consecutive season this year was for the first time. As justice [illegible] in red Fletcher and Busch captured the second award, with the Jones brothers from Delta Psi receiving honorable mention.

Other Kake Walk Awards

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, F. J. Mas[illegible] and R. P. Donaghy, '35.

Delta Psi R. S. Jenks, '32 and D. W. Jenks, '34, [illegible] mention.

Psi Upsilon Phi, D. J. Bernstein, '34 and R. Glassstone, '34.

Phi Delta Theta, T. S. Webster, '31, and P. Joslin, '34.

Sigma Delta, E. V. Kibby, '32, and W. P. Watson, '34.

Phi Mu Delta, D. L. Stewart, '31, and S. H. Manning, '32.

Lambda Iota, J. O. Percival, '31, and F. J. Moshal, '32.

Kappa Sigma, M. H. Welch, '34 and R. E. Wardsworth, '32.

"Gaite Dates" over the musical feature of Kake Walk was effectively proved this year by the R. O. T. C. band under the direction of J. F. [illegible]. The band played a concert for half an hour from 7:30 to 8 o'clock before the first section of the peerade gained the attention of all of the audience. Between the third and fourth stands the band played "Champlain" and the audience stood to sing the anthem. Just before the start of "Watch Me In Kake," Max Bergman, accompanied by the band played a saxophone solo, "Scenes That Are Brightest."

Judges of Events

Basing their decisions on newness, presentation, costumes, properties, and audience interest the following judges served at Kake Walk.

Peerade: Col. F. F. Black of the R. O. T. C. Battalion, H. D. Pearl, principal of Burlington High School, Prof. P. D. Evans, head of the history department.

Stunts: Hon. S. R. Moulton, chief justice of the Vermont Supreme Court, H. L. Ford, chairman of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce, F. D. Abernethy, local merchant, T. Bradlee, director of the Experiment Station, J. D. Smith, librarian, Fletcher Free Library.

Kake Walking: Prof. G. F. Eckhard of the engineering department, Maj. O. H. Stanley, medical corps, U. S. Army, G. S. Howe, local wholesale grain dealer.

W. J. Slavin, '31, was the official announcer while R. J. Maynes, '31, and

EIGHTY-FOUR WOMEN ARE PLEDGED BY SORORITIES

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Louise Armstrong, Bennington; Doris Dyer, Bellows Falls; Ruth Fraser, Bellows Falls; Helen Hubbard, Rochester; Elsa Scott, Englewood, N. J.; Mildred Vosburg, South Burlington.

KAPPA DELTA

Anna Greene, North Pomfret; Elliot Beach, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Dorothy Davis, Burlington; Medora Kendall, Newport; Frances Hoag, Burlington.

SIGMA GAMMA

Ruby Jenness, Barton; Dorothy Thomas, Jeffersonville.

F. S. Smith, '31, served as co-directors with J. W. Marvin, '32, and G. E. Wilder, '32, as assistants.

The heads of managing committees:

Ushering: R. W. Worrell, '31, chairman, E. J. Grant, '31, E. P. Meehan, '32, D. K. Parker, '32, A. M. Sullivan, '33, M. B. Brown, '33, and W. C. Cronin, '33.

Seating: R. E. Tobin, '31, chairman, L. L. Jones, '31, P. E. Westin, '32, J. R. Collins, '32, C. S. Wright, '32, E. E. Dunn, '33, J. E. Wood, '32, and F. J. Massucco, '33.

Lighting: R. A. Dailey, '31, chairman, R. F. Higwood, '31, E. V. Kibby, '32, R. W. Hyde, '32, and M. I. Benton, '33.

Stunt: F. A. McBride, '31, chairman, R. B. Aiken, '31, A. O. Eaton, '32, C. W. Tilley, '32, and C. S. Brown, '33.

Advertising: H. R. Mattison, '31, chairman, G. R. Brush, '31, G. R. Nelson, '31, P. B. Billings, '32, R. W. Cobb, '32, and P. D. Fischer, '33.

Peerade: W. E. Craig, '31, chairman, R. M. Huey, '31, J. E. Tracy, '31, R. J. Livingston, '32, and C. J. Kilburn, Jr., '32.

Kake Walking: F. A. Bolles, '31, chairman, J. E. Clark, E. G. Hurlburt, '32, and S. B. Barker, '32.

CATS MAKE FINAL MOVE FOR CONFERENCE HONORS

[illegible] one of the hardest games of the season facing them this week, the Green and Gold five will make its final bid for conference honors when it [illegible] the Black Panther quintet at Middlebury Tuesday, and the fast-travelling Norwich outfit at the gym the following Thursday.

With more or less of a mediocre season behind them the Cats are straining [illegible] to compensate for the past in a blaze of glory. Both of these contests will be sizzlers with fast action dominating.

Not for many years have the contests been so close, so jammed with color, excitement and enthusiasm as have been featured by this year's conference games. Norwich has set the pace, to be sure, but Norwich has shown no better brand of basketball than can be exhibited by any other team.

Vermont has suffered two heart-breaking losses in the fierce race for the title. At Norwich they fell victims to the Cadets by the small margin of one basket, and were forced to bow to Middlebury here by four points after leading the battle until the last few minutes of play.

With St. Michael's out of the running, the quest for the now classic title will be determined primarily by the efforts which the sons of Ira Allen put forth in this last week of the present season. With the hoopsters out of their slump and with Taft and Durfey in there rolling up points helped by the rest of the team, the Green and [illegible] basketeers at least stand an even chance with their traditional rivals.

Two of Middlebury's most dangerous scorers are Ashdown and Corliss. Corliss, center has played consistent ball all season, while Ashdown, who is paired with Bullerton in the forward court, has proved himself a power on the offensive. Hoyle and McKenzie take care of the back court for the Panthers and complete the rest of the starting lineup.

Norwich has run its string of victories up to six consecutive games, and to seven wins in nine starts. Although favored by most outsiders to walk off with the conference title, a determined Catamount quintet having the advantage of its own floor may upset the pre-game dope. The usual Cadet line-up is as follows: Hartford, r.f., Washburn, l.f., Fanos, c., Vithier, r.b., Sipsey, l.b.

As the Green and Gold lineup has been revised several times lately it is rather uncertain whom Coach Prentice will start, although Durfey, Taft, Tobin, Talbert, Tupper, and Winant will all probably see action.

All sophomores wishing to scrub track should report to the gym any afternoon after four o'clock.
Hugh R. Mattison,
Manager of Track.

Be it ever so homely, there's no face like your own. See it in the Year Book.

VERMONT FIVE LOSES TO MC GILL MEN, 42

(Continued from [illegible])

The summary:

VERMONT
Taft, r.b.
Tobin, r.b.
Winant, r.b.
Sargent, c.
Durfey, l.f.
Farwell, l.f.
Pires, r.f.
Totals

McGILL
Smaill
Weber
Faulkner
Young
Rice
Moore
Calhoun
Totals

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2071, 2071, 2072

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1867
College men and women—prepare for a profession of widening interest. Recent research has enlarged every phase of dentistry. The need more than ever before, men ability backed by superior training Tufts College Dental its students. School opens 1931. Our catalog may guide your career. For information address—
Dr. William Rice, Dean
416 Huntington Avenue Boston, Mass.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	1.00
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

The Old Reliable
New Spring Styles in Washable Duplex Chamoisette Gloves
$1.00 Pr.
Slipon styles, four and six button lengths, wash nicely, and are very smart in style. All leading colors.

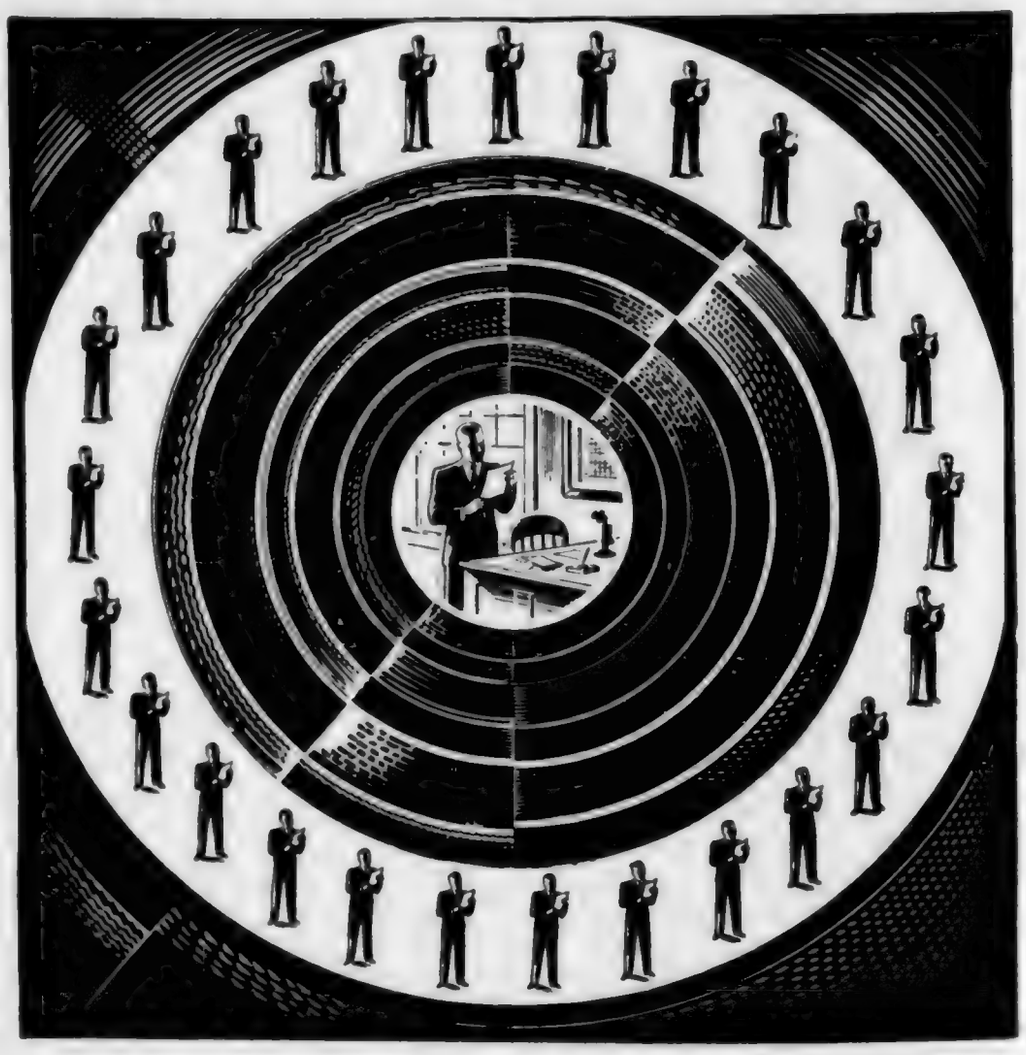
In the Crescent at Cornell

. . . as in 42 other leading colleges, there is one favorite smoking tobacco

ENGINEERS walking across campus to a lab in Sibley . . . arts students gathered on the porch of Goldwin Smith . . . lawyers on the steps of Boardman. Not much time between classes . . . but enough for a pull on a pipe of good old Edgeworth!

Cornell men know their smoking tobacco. And they're not alone in their choice. Harvard, Yale, Illinois, Michigan, Stanford, Dartmouth, Bowdoin—all report Edgeworth far in the lead. In 42 out of 64 leading colleges and universities Edgeworth is the favorite pipe tobacco.

Cool, slow-burning burleys give this smoke the character that college men like. Try a tin of Edgeworth yourself—pack it into your pipe, light up, and taste the rich natural savor of fine burleys, enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process.



At all tobacco stores—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, [illegible] enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

Out of 25 telephone companies

. . . ONE SYSTEM

Greater ability to serve the public is the reason for the Bell System — made up of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its 24 associated telephone companies.

The Bell System is operated by these 24 associated companies, each attuned to the area it serves. Each enjoys the services of the staff of the American Company, which is continually developing better methods. Each benefits from the work of the Bell Telephone Laboratories and Western Electric — scientific research and manufacturing branches of the System.

Bound together by common policies and ideals of service the Bell System companies work as one. In helping to administer this $4,000,000,000 property, men find real business adventure. The opportunity is there.

BELL SYSTEM

A NATION-WIDE SYSTEM OF INTER-CONNECTING TELEPHONE

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1931 | NUMBER 37

Frosh Rules Investigating Committee Begins Travels

Six Students to Set Out Next Monday for Other Colleges, Where Relations Between the Two Underclasses Will be Studied

WILL SUBMIT REPORT TO FACULTY-STUDENT BODY

At the meeting of the fact-finding committee created for investigation of Freshman-Sophomore Relations on various campuses, held last Sunday, it was decided that the personal visits to the colleges selected by President Guy will be started next week. The colleges to be visited were chosen from a tentative list of representative colleges submitted by a preliminary committee last November.

The committee composed of five seniors and three juniors was appointed Saturday, November 30, 1930, following a resolution adopted by the Faculty-Student Council, after considerable discussion had been aroused over Freshman hazing at the beginning of the school year. The members of the committee are Stanley Smith, '31, Hugh Mattison, '31, Francis McBride, '31, Francis Bolles, '31, Richard Cowles, '31, Paul Westin, '32, Fred Householder, '32, and Orson Jay, 32.

Smith, Mattison and McBride are members of Boulder and Westin of Key and Serpent, the societies which together with Gold Key upheld organized defense of Freshman rules. Bolles led the defense in the Faculty-Student Council. Cowles is chairman of the V. C. A. and is president of the Interfraternity Conference. Householder is managing editor of the CYNIC and is active in all literary work. Jay has earned his letters in football and baseball.

All of the committee members are affiliated with fraternities, four belonging to national organizations which maintain chapters at some of the colleges to be visited. Smith belongs to Sigma Phi, Mattison to Sigma Alpha Epsilon, McBride to Alpha Tau Omega, Jay to Kappa Sigma, Cowles to Sigma Delta, Householder to Lambda Iota and Bolles and Westin to Delta Psi.

To Bring Back Report

The committee is expected to bring back a complete report of opinions for and against, noting the advantages and disadvantages of Freshman rules. Administrative officials will be interviewed, also members of class societies, editors and other prominent students in an effort to ascertain all phases of the question, with origins, application and effects of systems, if any, obtaining on campuses visited.

The reports of facts found by the visiting men will be submitted to the Faculty-Student Council at an early date for further action on the question of Freshman Rules at this University.

As arranged at the committee meeting the men have been paired off in groups of two. Smith and Mattison will visit McGill University and Williams College during the Easter vacation. Bolles and Westin will visit New Hampshire, Bowdoin and Bates starting March 2. Freshman-Sophomore relations at Wesleyan, Amherst and M. A. C. will be investigated by Cowles and Householder, and McBride and Jay will go to Middlebury and Dartmouth next week.

MENS' GLEE CLUB SINGS TONIGHT IN SIXTH ANNUAL INTERCOLLEGIATE MEET

Competes With Nine Other N. E. Colleges for Chance to Enter National Contest

Thirty students comprising the Men's Glee Club will compete for the fourth time with nine other colleges in the annual New England Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest to be held tonight in Bushnell Memorial Auditorium at Hartford, Connecticut.

An invitation in the National Glee Club Contest in New York awaits the winner of the Hartford contest which includes such colleges as: Amherst, Bowdoin, Clark, M. I. T., Middlebury, Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams and W. P. I.

The Glee Club will sing without notes and accompaniment three songs, the prize song, "Feasting I Watch," by Elgar; the choice song, "March-[illegible]" by Brahms; and the college song, "[illegible]." All glee clubs will sing together "On the Road to Mandalay," "The Lost Chord," by Sullivan and the "Star Spangled Banner." The judges of the contest will be Raymond Baldwin, Channing Lefebure, and Mark Andrews, all nationally known musicians.

The following men accompanied by Prof. Howard G. Bennett will make the trip:

R. Barnes '31, G. H. Burrows, II, '34, S. B. Cassley, '33, F. P. Colburn, '34, [illegible] Crader, R. F. Colburn, '33, R. H. Cowles, '31, G. L. Davis, '34, B. J. [illegible], '32, H. R. Fleming, '33, J. G. Gordon '33, C. B. Harwood, '34, D. C. [illegible], E. G. Hurlburt, '32, J. H. [illegible] D. W. Jenks, '34, R. S. Jenks, '32, manager, W. F. Kearney, '34, [illegible] M. MacKenzie, '33, W. J. Millet, '34, [illegible] L. Morgan, Jr., '32, W. J. Patton, [illegible] N. B. Press, '33, G. O. Ricker, '34, [illegible] H. Russell, '34, T. D. Sargent, '34, [illegible] A. Scharbius, Jr., '32, J. Schwartz, [illegible] C. Shoor, '33, T. I. Taylor, '33, [illegible] Westin, '32.

ANNOUNCE MEMBERS OF COLLEGE PRESS CLUB

[illegible] Clarke, '31, president of the Press Club, announces the election of the following new members to the organization as a result of a meeting held in North College Friday noon, February 20. The following were chosen from the long list of tryouts on the merits of their comparative promptness, literary ability and [illegible]: Ruth Kobel '34, Katherine [illegible], Doris Brennan '32, Norma [illegible], Dorothy Jackman '33, [illegible] Thomas '33, Florence Hunt[illegible], Rebecca Camp '34, Ellen Pearl [illegible] Nichols '32, Ellen Laid[illegible], Arabelle Maine '32, Marie [illegible], Betty Woodward '34, Laura [illegible], Esther Smith '33, Donna [illegible] Ara Armstrong '33, Doris [illegible] Rachel Cannedy '33, [illegible] Hacks '32, Catherine Wood[illegible], Alice Brooks '32, Alice War[illegible], Dorothy Taylor '33, Laura [illegible] and Marjorie Scott '33.

DAME RACHEL CROWDY DISTINGUISHED LEAGUE OFFICAL TO SPEAK HERE

Dame Rachel Crowdy, distinguished English woman, coming almost direct from The Palais des Nations, Geneva, will deliver the final University lecture of the college year on "The International Aspects of Social Reform," Thursday evening, March 12.

There is probably no single person so well-informed.

This broad and significant question as Dame Crowdy—none so well equipped as she by experience and conviction for its discussion. To solid grounding the relevant facts and movements Dame Crowdy adds the ease, the vivacity and the eloquence of the finished speaker. Audiences in England of five or six thousands testify to her powers and eloquence.

Still a young woman she has received innumerable honors for service in France she was accorded the Mons Star and Royal Red Cross—and the ancient title of Dame was revived after 500 years and bestowed upon her. She is Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire and Lady of Grace of the order of St. John of Jerusalem.

Smith College in 1926 conferred an honorary LL.D. upon her in recognition of the world in the value of her work. The only woman who had five years active service in the World War she has since 1921 served as chief of the Social Questions and Opium Traffic Section of the League of Nations.

Make-up classes in hiking, snowshoeing and skiing were held Tuesday, February 24, for those who could not complete their work in outdoor gym last week because of the unfavorable weather

Women Orators Meet Bates in Old Chapel

Uphold Affirmative In Close Contest On Problem of Unemployment Insurance

PROF. DEAN, CHAIRMAN, FAVORED BATES LASSIES

The women's varsity debating team met the Bates women's team Monday at the Old Mill Chapel on the question, "Resolved, that compulsory federal unemployment insurance should be immediately adopted." The Vermont team, speaking for the affirmative, was composed of Laura Johnson, Roberta Powers and Caroline Taft. Rebecca Carter, Shirley Cave and Edith Lerrigo represented Bates. Leon W. Dean, of the English Department, presided, with the Oxford style of debate being used.

Laura Johnson, opening the debate for U. V. M., defined unemployment insurance under the control of the government. Employers and employees would pay for the upkeep. Insurance is a great need today, due to the present factory system; overproduction, and unemployment. A reserve such as capital has, should be kept for labor, and only insurance can furnish the necessary reserve. While the Federal insurance system may be compared to the dole system of England and the insurance of Germany, the system proposed would be far more helpful to those out of work. Besides England and Germany, twenty other nations have already adopted this system. In all cases it has been successful to a high degree.

Rebecca Carter, first speaker for Bates, stated that, contrary to common opinion, not so many people are unemployed, with only seven and eight tenths percent not working. The insurance system will not deter the growth of unemployment. It will be no aid in the search for jobs, nor can it give any pecuniary aid today, even if adopted. Instead of insurance there are many ways of preventing unemployment. Child labor laws, dismissal wages, a flexible working day, immigration laws, any of these, and many more, will aid employment. There are several things radically wrong with the plan as presented by U. V. M.: a government measure, a compulsory measure, a Federal government measure, a compulsory government measure, and a compulsory Federal government measure. Besides these, there is no possible escape from fraud, corruption or politics.

Roberta Powers, second speaker for Vermont, declared that the keynote of insurance protection is preparation during prosperity. Unemployment insurance is like any other insurance; it is a protection against unemployment; and many private companies have already adopted this plan with success. Insurance puts the burden where it belongs, the wage earner gives aid to the unemployed. The new plan will be moralizing to the employees: the fund is created by the employee himself; it is value received in consideration for value given; and a protection against unscrupulous employers.

Compulsion is necessary for distribution of insurance. The fear of graft is almost nil, the percentage of waste is so small as almost to be disregarded. There is to be a bureau and a commission in charge of the insurance.

Shirley Cave, speaking second for Bates, demanded that several things be more clearly expounded: what to be done about farmers, seasonal workers, women workers, migratory labor, malingering and strikers. The American Federation of Labor, she continued, is against insurance. Private schemes are so far fairly good. However, these plans have been in operation only about five years. As yet they are unable to meet the depression. The states, too, are against the plan. Miss Cave finishing her speech with a new series of questions, demanded: the rate of benefit; the part politics will play; the duration of benefit; an example that has shown the plan feasible.

Caroline Taft, last speaker for Vermont, complained that Bates was harping on the minor details rather than on the general situation. In the case of farmers only the remedying of the weather can help them: no insurance can do them good. Strongly in favor of insurance is the International Labor office at The Hague. Insurance is the only way out of the difficulty

(Continued on page 4)

Rosetta Harlow, '32 is New Women's Editor of Cynic

As Result of Recent Elections Miss Harlow is to Succeed Hilda Smith, '31, As Directing Mind of the Co-ed Staff of Newspaper; Esther Beardsley to be Sports Editor

MOWER AND RANSLOW NOW ASSOCIATE EDITORS

As a result of the elections held last Monday afternoon in Room three North College, Rosetta M. Harlow '32 was chosen women's editor to succeed Hilda Smith, '31.

As her colleagues on the incoming board Miss Harlow will have Margaret Mower, '32, and Hope Ranslow, '32, associate editors; Esther Beardsley, '33, athletic editor, and the following assistant editors: Norma Carder '33, Augusta Cohen, '34, Dorothea Edwards, '34, Mildred Gile, '32, Dorothy Jackman, '33, Ruth Kobel, '34, Dorine Lee, '33, Margaret Martin, '32, Priscilla Perry, '33, Margaret Tower, '33, Laura Tracy, '34, and Virginia Yeuell, '34.

The outgoing staff members are Hilda Smith, '31, women's editor; Luella Ross, '31 and Gladys Press, '31, associate and intercollegiate editors respectively and Harriet Wright, '31, sports editor.

The new board will go into office immediately upon certification of their election by the Faculty Council.

Miss Harlow, a member of Sigma Gamma fraternity, has served on the CYNIC board for the past year as assistant news editor, she is a member of Press Club, W. A. A., Eta Sigma Phi and has been on the Deans honor list every year.

Miss Ranslow belongs to Kappa Alpha Theta fraternity, Press Club, Dramatic Club, Masque and Sandal, Bluestockings, and the Faculty-Student Council.

Miss Mower, Kappa Alpha Theta, also belongs to Bluestockings, the Women's Glee Club, and the Dramatic Club.

Esther Beardsley is a member of Kappa Delta, the University Choir, the Women's Glee Club and the Women's Double Quartet.

LEGISLATURE CONSIDERS INCLUDING HOME EC. IN U. V. M. SCHOLARSHIPS

A bill which would amend the present laws to include the course in domestic science among those for which scholarships might be awarded to students entering the University of Vermont went to the third reading Tuesday in the State Legislature.

The Senate rejected an amendment to the bill offered by Senator Keyes of Windsor, indicated its unwilling ness to surrender its prerogative of awarding scholarships to the University and the agricultural college.

Keyes, objecting to the last section of the law, declared he did not believe it to be to the best interest of the young men and women of the State to award the scholarships as they had been. Senator Pierce disagreed with his colleague from Windsor county and asked if he had a better plan. Keyes indicated the dean of the colleges would be better fitted to make the awards than the senators as the law now provides if the senators do not avail themselves of their privilege.

Senator Olney asked if there was any compulsory clause in the present law that would make it necessary for the senators to award the scholarships. Keyes said, no, but he said, under the law he felt he was morally obliged to do so. Pierce then declared he believed it unwise and unworthy to "deliberately deprive ourselves of this privilege that may be instrumental in providing some deserving boy or girl with an education." He said it assured better distribution of the scholarships through the State and he had confidence the senators had both the discretion and good judgment to place them where they would reflect credit both on the senator and the State. "The prerogatives of the Senate are not numerous enough so we can afford to throw any of them away."

Senator Leonard said he thought it would be wise to let the colleges make the awards as they see fit without Senate interference. Senator Stacey expressed himself as being very much in favor of the present arrangement.

On the vote the amendment was lost and the bill went to third reading.

MENTAL TESTS SHOW AVERAGE OF INTELLECT SAYS PROF. METCALF

Psychology Head Explains Testing of Native Ability—Compares College Ratings

Mental testing endeavors to discover the average level of one's intellectual abilities. Various tests concern themselves with the measurement and significance of certain types of learning, perceiving, reasoning and imagining. Therefore we may safely state that the intelligence tests of today give rough approximations which if used in the right way, are quite valuable. They are not an absolute measure of intelligence." So stated Prof. J. T. Metcalf at the meeting of the John Dewey Club last Thursday.

Mental testing is still in its infancy he continued. It is a product of the twentieth century, though based directly upon work already under way in the nineteenth. In the twenty-five years since the appearance of the first effective intelligence scale it has undergone a great development. Originating in the work of Binet in Paris the method has spread to all parts of the civilized world.

One of the foremost figures in the development of mental testing was Cattell who was interested in individual differences. His first tests were given at Columbia involving such problems as bisecting a line. Sir Francis Galton was another pioneer in this field, and some of the methods of Ebbinghaus are quite similar to those in use today. To this German psychologist is due the honor of inventing the completion test. But the name of original inventor goes to Alfred Binet, who through his excellent preparation succeeded where the others failed. He had carefully studied the processes of thought, judgment and reasoning for over fifteen years and by chance only did he use his knowledge for tests, when he was drafted as a member of a committee in Paris to investigate its schools and decide what could be done with the unusual children.

The First Tests

In 1906 the first workable test was published. It was devised to measure objectively brightness and dullness. This was later revised and published by Dr. H. H. Goddard, the first to employ it in America, and here difficulties arose due to its translation from the French.

The World War brought the development of such group tests as the "Army Alpha" and the "Army Beta." At this time nearly two million men were examined, first to remove the feeble minded and later in order to place others in fields of work best fitted to their mentality and specialized aptitude. From these tests it was found that the general army man had an intelligence equal to that of an average citizen, whereas the commissioned officers rated with the college students, who, incidentally, have the highest fifteen percent in intelligence grades.

After the war the men who had given these tests returned to the colleges to apply these examinations to the students, who, of course, rated very high.

First Tests at U. V. M.

The Otis and Thurston tests followed as improvements on the "Army Alpha." The Thurston test was used at the University of Vermont for three years by Professor Metcalf beginning in the fall of 1921. After this the test of the American Council on Education has been employed. It has been revised and standardized and is distributed from Washington, D. C. There are probably three hundred colleges now using this method of ascertaining mental abilities. The data resulting from the testing of over thirty thousand students, gives a rough measure

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Members of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

JOSEPH C CARTER, '32 ..... Editor-in-Chief
FRED W HOUGHOLDER, '32 ..... Managing Editor
LYNFORD M FOSTER, '31 ..... Sports Editor
ROBERTTA M HARLOW, '32 ..... Women's Editor
J E TRACY, '32 ..... Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

J E Dunbar, '33, F B Drew, '33, S M Spitler, '33 ..... News Editors
G G MacDonald, '32 ..... Feature Editor
C J Kilborn, '33 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
P V Lawrence, '33, S J Fenton, '33 ..... Managing Editors

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

Associate Editors
Assistant Editors

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

Associate Editors
Associate Editor
Athletic Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

News Department: W W Brooks, '34, S K Carter, '33, W Cohen, '34, S W Fishman, '34, M J Greenberg, '34, L Lapman, '34, R S McCuen, '34, R W Mackinnon, '34, R K Murray, '34, R Wesselman, '34, H B Wolinsky, '34

Sports Department: S H Kaplan '34, M Kramer '34, C J Libby, '34, H J Smith '34

Women's Department: ... Margaret Martin, ... Margaret Turner, '33, Laura Tracy, '33 and Virginia Powell, '34

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

L E Wilder, '32 ..... Advertising Manager
W C Cronin, '33, E E Dunn, '33, C W Janbo, '33 ..... Assistant Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1895. Published semi-weekly during the college year.

All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned at 2076 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Business communications must be addressed to the Business Manager, 101 Delta Upsilon House, and other communications to the Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 1103, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 40 February 27, 1931 No. 37

Corresponding to the fact that glancing back over the files of twenty years we find there is the record of one woman editor on the CYNIC, to represent, almost as it were, all the interests of the Vermont women toward the University publication at that time. From then on we find a gradual but surprising growth of the women's board, the number increasing to five in 1915 and until at present we have a well organized board of sixteen members.

Credit is due to the successive editors, who, with their staffs have each added to and strengthened the departments until the women's section of the paper has attained its present high quality.

We feel that much credit is due Hilda Smith, who has shown an unsurpassable interest in the publication, and an enthusiasm which has never wavered, under her tactful management. By gaining the wholehearted cooperation of her editorial board several improvements have materialized—the heading for the Society Column, the Coed Notes Column, and the pride of the year, the December 12 issue of the Women's CYNIC, which gives only a glimpse of Miss Smith's originality, with untiring efforts and interest which make the paper a success.

In view of its consecutive work and accomplishments the retiring staff has every reason to believe that it has accomplished its purpose. Speaking for the present board we can only say that we hope to be as successful as have been our predecessors.

Another chapter will begin in the history of freshman-sophomore relations at Vermont when the investigating committee of the Faculty-Student Council leaves on Monday to study conditions in underclass relationships at other colleges.

The committee has a difficult task before it, and not the least part of it will be in overcoming the suspicion which has enveloped it since its appointment. For its membership includes the Boulder men who have been most bitter in the fight for freshman rules and two other upperclassmen who have been active in support of the rule freshman disciplining methods. Although two of the men on the committee are admittedly committed in favor of the old rules system

The very personnel of the committee thus becomes a handicap. Whether or not the suspicions it has aroused are justified will be determined by the quality of its report. A biased report will settle nothing and will serve only to reopen the discussion at the point it left off last fall. A fair and adequate report will redound to the honor of the committee and will write finis to what otherwise would become a hopelessly protracted quarrel.

The changes which the committee will visit have been most conservative in their freshman rules policies. Therefore, even the slightest recommendation in their rules is significant and should be noted. Where student sentiment has expressed no dissatisfaction recently with the present system the latter is invariably based on compromises which should also be ascertained by the committee.

The committee's task will afford many difficulties but none of them are insuperable and we look to it to take advantage of a great opportunity to afford the University a distinct service.

THE FORUM

The Old Order Changeth

A few years ago it was customary for a "Theater Night" and "Snake Dance" to be held in town as a part of the annual initiation festivities. There were just about the last remnants of an expiring force around this institution which might more or less accurately be termed "college spirit." We realize that the students have in the last few years rallied more or less gallantly to the call of the cheer leaders during major sporting events, but as for some more or less spontaneous spark of life about us, we might fairly accurately term it dead.

The criticism of the annual theater night which led eventually to its suppression, began as so many other such criticisms have begun, not in the University, but in the city, and was doubtless originated by the same group that upon occasions when other subjects of controversy are dead, liven up life here by making scornful remarks about University students.

There are of course, several points to be considered on the other side. We call to memory more particularly one theater night during which a good deal of unnecessary roughness was indulged in. But upon investigation it was found that those responsible for this were not University students at all, but were outsiders who were using the occasion as an excuse for horseplay. This aspect of the matter received remarkably little public comment in the city. One of the most serious criticisms we have to offer of this particular affair as conducted by the students is this, that they did not buy out the whole theater and in this manner make it exclusively a University affair. This would have saved hurting the feelings of several spectators who were present. At a later occasion this actually was done.

However, theater night is now a thing of the past having been suspended by the University authorities, but it will remain for a long time in the memories of those who were here in the days when it still took place.—The Alberta Gateway.

The Mystic Pen

The First Pun

Adam stirred in the grass. It was a hot day and he was restless. Even if he wanted to lie still, the crawly ants wouldn't let him. He wanted to do something, something amusing if possible, but there wasn't much precedent. He rolled over onto his other side. Then he rolled back again. That was no fun. A muddy object a bit farther off in the grass attracted him. It was his foot. He counted the toes, one, two, three, four, five. He felt a void—a lack. Yes, the other foot; there it was: one, two, three, four, five.

The satisfaction was not lasting. He counted the fingers on his hand, then on the other hand. Then he added them all up. It was almost noon, and the heat was unbearable. He subtracted fingers from toes, and divided two toes into four feet. He had to count Eve's feet. She was lying in the grass near him, quite al fresco. It was before the Fall, you see. He tried to sleep, but couldn't. He started on the ribs: one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven.

Now the left side: one, two, three, four, five, six...he came to an empty space. Hang it all! Why did that emptiness trouble him so? Seven, eight, nine, ten...that was all. Eleven on one side, ten on the other. It was strange. He opined that it must have been one of those things that happened to him the day he fell asleep without knowing why, and woke up to find Eve beside him.

He reached over and counted Eve's ribs. Eleven on one side, eleven on the other. Eve didn't stir, she was snoring like...like...funny there was nothing to compare anything to. At any rate it was annoying. Adam turned over on his stummic, leaned on his elbows and reflectively began tickling Eve with a long spear of blue grass. Her face wasn't pleasant when she woke, far different from the ready smile with which she greeted any of his advances in the first few days.

"What's bothering you now, dear?" Eve asked, in a none too pleasant voice.

"I want to play," said Adam, ruefully.

"For the love of the apple tree, what is there to do in this unearthly place? We've looked at all the animals, and redecorated the cave a million times. We've talked about everything there is to talk about. We've swam (Eve didn't know much about grammar) and eaten nuts and things until we got sick. I must confess you are very uninteresting. The snake now, he knows a thing or two, he's been around. I've asked you a thousand times to take a walk outside the Garden with me, or to taste some of the Apples...but you are too stubborn. I think I'll go off and visit with the snake, since you've disturbed my nap, and you can go off and see that Lilith creature you're always raving about." She got up and shook herself, a becoming figure, you may well imagine.

"How you do rave, dear. Don't go off. I woke you up because I happened to think of a new game."

"A new game? How thrilling!" Eve sat down again, quite prepared to hoot unmercifully if the project failed to live up to her expectations.

"You see, Eve dearest, it's about words."

A game about words? Nonsense! We haven't been here long enough to figure out enough words to play a game with, let alone the bother we have making each other understand what we say."

"But that's the beauty of this game. It's using two words...no, one word instead of—let me think..." the pace of his enthusiasm abated. "I have it, sweetheart. You use one word that means two things. You use them inter-er, inter-, oh well, you use one for the other."

"But how can you use one for another when there is only one?" just like a woman.

"Let me demonstrate. Suppose the next time Joe Seraph came around, I said to him 'Joe, your wings are wearing down' what would he do? Why he would immediately look worried and begin to inspect them for signs of wear, but there wouldn't be any wear, and his wings would still be wearing down—down—pinfeathers you see, and the joke would be on him—." and Adam was off in a gale of laughter that would have remained unchecked, had Eve not given him a poke in the stummic as he lay rolling in the grass.

"What do you call this awful sort of joke? I think the traveling imp stories that the snake tells are much more amusing."

"Let's see, what do I call them? It's a new kind of joke, and needs a new name...let me think...there was a word I thought of yesterday that I couldn't find a use for...yes, pun. I'll call them puns!"

"Pun my word, you are unbearable," said Eve.

Adam was off again, rolling recklessly in the grass, laughing as though his sides would break. "You done it!" he gasped. "You've made a pun...pun ...pun my word...ho, ho, ho, ho, hobo ..." there was no stopping him.

Eve stood up again and picked the dead grass and very small pebbles out of her legs and back. "I'm going off to see the snake, silly, and you can get your own supper!" She was off thru the woods.

And thus it was, dear Posterity, that the pun, 'the lowest form of humor' got off to such a bad start. Incidently, that was the afternoon in which Eve, let the snake take advantage of her, and in which Adam went off to stay with Lilith for a few weeks, because she came from outside the Garden, and had been around and knew how to be sympathetic. Which are three other stories.

—mp—

I thought upon these things, and I saw that they were good. I girt up my loins and set to.

—Polyandrus.

—mp—

The University has within its bounds an instrument of tremendous power. Its latent value to the students, faculty and to the state is so enormous that we wonder why no questions have been asked, why the issue has not been forced. WCAX, the University radio station, is the object of our attention. What an excellent medium it is for student talent, dramatic, literary, musical! What a force for state-wide cultural improvement, were lectures, English, agricultural, scientific and foreign language courses broadcast! But, you say, there is a rub—no money! Just think, student, professor, administrator, trustee ... of the numerous merchants, in state and out, who would gladly pay a reasonable amount for the benefits accruing to them through having their name, or the name of their organization and product broadcast, with the accompaniment of the best talent in the state for amusement and instruction in any field. What a wealth of talent we have, here in the school, who would be more than willing to devote time and effort to production of fine programs that would make WCAX a joy to every Vermonter, if only for the practice and opportunity of making themselves known to the radio world. Our listeners would gladly endure the advertisers blurb, when the compensation of excellent amusement is certain.

—mp—

If the N. Y. Stock Exchange is any indication of general conditions, things are fairly uncertain, with an occasional upward surge, but with no decided tendency to a serious slump. The next two weeks will decide the trend of automotive stocks for a few months. You co-eds can tell your daddy (collective) to stay on the short side of cereals and other staple foods for quite a while. And those of you who wish to get rich quick should play the Wheat Pit. No, our name is not Babson.

FACULTY COLUMN

As the new Museum nears completion it is natural to speculate on what it is going to mean to the University. To one who, like myself, is primarily interested in teaching, it is natural to ask first what it will mean to the student body. This second of the new buildings on the campus is not for a new purpose. Just as there was an Old Chapel, so there is an Old Museum. The new Museum, therefore, simply means more adequate provision for an old need.

The function of the Museum is twofold, for it is to house two kinds of exhibits, artistic and scientific. It is with the former that I am at present concerned. It should be a fine thing for the student body to have the University's collections of painting and sculpture made readily accessible in the fine setting they deserve. How fine a thing it will be depends on whether or not the students take advantage of their opportunity.

Art, in American life, is too apt to be treated with indifference even when it is spoken of with respect. Sometimes it is entirely ignored, sometimes neglected for things so mediocre that they don't even deserve to be called poor art. I should like to consider some of the reasons for this indifference, for I believe that it can be shown that it is the result of misunderstanding.

In the first place, there seems to be a feeling that it is not worth while to concern oneself with art unless one is going to be an artist. It is all very well, people argue, for one to study art if he is going to paint pictures or play the violin for a career; but why should a person spend time on it if he is not going to do anything with it? This, to my mind, is very much like saying that no one should concern himself with hygiene unless he is going to be a doctor. Yet hygiene is something that concerns everyone, because it is important that everyone be the kind of person who pays attention to the laws of health. Similarly it is important that everyone be interested in art in some of its forms, simply because people are better when this is the case. If anyone doubts that this is so, about all we can do is to point to the evidence of history and invite him to test the matter in his own life. He is the chief loser if he fails to do so.

Another reason for ... many people to take ... seems to be their f... interest marks one ... In my study of abo... have been privileged ... number of really ... me an interest in ... queer at all. Rather ... that strikes me as ... yet to meet a ... didn't take the ... toward something ... ing it toward many ... realm of what we ... Poor fisherman as I ... deal of pleasure from ... assortment of trout ... the trout's attitude ... is for me an aesthet... this attitude in other ... many things—toward ... tennis racket, a han... clothes, furniture, and ... a step from this to ... art. It is an upward ... but why stop on the lower ... the greater satisfaction ... found upon the higher?

Still another reason ... ple tend to shy at art ... that they regard it as ... frivolous. It is thought of as be... ing to the entertainment ... and is regarded as of ... the activities that lead ... duction—indeed, it is often ... as essentially inimical ... ties. It would be chimerical ... to deny the fundamental ... material production, for all ... depends on it. In any new ... where people are just getting ... and life is hard it must be the ... preoccupation. Yet granting this ... not in any way concede that ... frivolous or the work of the art... no value for life. As soon as man ... a little the better of his environ... he has time and material to ... other purposes than those ... with keeping alive and ... comfortable. Human nature ... be so constituted that it must ... more effort and energy than are ... for purely practical purposes. ... is found even among the most ... tive people a tendency to decorate ... weapons and utensils. It is not ... that the object be made as use... possible; time, energy and ... must be used to beautify it. T... humanity, in its will to spend ... lines that will ennoble rather ... debase is one of the functions ... artist. Without art pleasures ... to become coarse and crude ... they become life-giving in the ... sense. History testifies that the ... artists, at least, have been ... this high responsibility.

If, therefore, you have an hour ... spend—an hour that does not ... be devoted to maintaining your ... to preparing to do so—stroll ... the Museum and take a look at ... of the exhibits. I recommend ... one thing, the Wyant land... Look at them for a while and ... for a hike. I don't advise a ... country run, for I know from ... rience that when one is regard... landscape as a race-course one ... to see it as that and nothing ... a more leisurely pace he ... has time to take in the beauties ... woods and fields. If one can ... ever so little through the eyes ... Wyant they become at once ... and significant. Seeing ... being ...

JOHN T Mc...

STELLA BUEKER IS HIGH SCORER AT CARN...

At the Women's Annual W... nival under the direction ... Chadborne, '31, which took ... nesday afternoon, February ... Redstone campus, Stella Bueker, '32, was high scorer, with ... '32, a close second. Lillian ... Mildred Aikens, '32 and ... Odell, '33, were on the ... charge of events.

A progressive snowball ... started the program, ... potato race, human ... grapevine on snowshoes, ... free-for-all, running ... race, tug-of-war and snake ... program concluded with ... of Vermont songs around ... bon-fire, after which Jane ... '31, announced that the Y... was the winner, having ... of 20 points. The Greens ... with 10 points; the Blues ... had 9 points respectively. ... ber of the Yellow team was ... a blue ribbon.

Frances McKean, '32, was announcer of the events. ... '31, Beatrice Freeman, '32 ... Blanchard acted as judges.

The pep leaders who ... of the various dormitories ... Gowen, '33, Redstone; Sha... '34, Slade; Katherine ... son Hall; Dorothy ... mount; Doris Humphr... pus House; "Puss" ... Ruggles Hall; Winifred ... Allen House; Barbara ... Rand Hall; Katherine ... Maynard House; and ... '32, The Terrace.

Local Editor Sees University An Ideal Center of the Fine Arts

...n the Free Press

...people like to mull ... that the evil men do ... we prefer the reverse ...ion. We always find ...ration in the thought ... that men and women do ...

...ch in vain for a more ...tting illustration of this ... the benefactions of the ... Wilbur in connection ...ersity of Vermont, the ...orical Society, the mag...fessional Library which ... distinguished son Sena... Morrill originated, and ...ries.

...survey the things Mr. ...ne for the University of ... can not fail to be im... fact that he has made ... for this institution to be...versity distinguished for ... atmosphere.

New Museum

... W. Bailey has entered ... the spirit of this possibility. ... philanthropy exemplified ...atherine Wolcott of Chicago ...0,000 for the Robert Hull ...museum, supplements the ... gift by Mr. Wilbur with ...inent fund in addition to ...petual care for the rare col... books, papers and other ... wished to be housed in such ...

...ed in reading the descrip... edifice which will have a ... 152 feet on the Colchester ... with other dimensions in ... that President Bailey in ... with Mr. Wilbur in the ... plans when the gift was ...ed for a Hall of Sculp... ...sume this means also ex...bition rooms for painting and etch...ng, the handmaids of sculpture.

The art world recognizes the fact that Greek sculpture gave to the race the finest fruits of the love of the beautiful. Phidias, the greatest sculp... ...ient Greece, executed a num...ber of splendid statues for Athens, in...cluding the ivory and gold figure of the Goddess Athena. However, the ...ivory figure of Zeus at Olympia was ...considered his masterpiece.

Greek Art

...to be taken for granted that the ... sculpture to be embodied in ... Fleming museum will include note...worthy examples of Greek Art in addi...tion to those already possessed by the ...university. The provision of such a ...collection will also attract represen...tations of the Italian, Flemish and ...other schools of painters so that vari...ous branches of the Fine Arts will ...eventually find home in this temple of ...the beautiful.

...You may not have fully realized how ...extensively Mr. Wilbur has ...planned to make the University of ...Vermont a center of the Fine Arts. ...You may think of the Ira Allen Chapel ...merely as a place of divine worship. ...But from the dawn of history real ...worship of our Heavenly Father has ...been voiced as the universal language of ...the human heart the finest music that ...mind could conceive.

Musical Facilities

...Mr. Wilbur equipped the Ira Allen ...chapel which he modestly and patriot...ically named after the founder of Ver...mont instead of himself, with a sweet ...toned pipe organ, of rare possibilities, ...not only tuned as to its own multiple ...parts but also attuned to the acoustic ...properties and architectural dimen...sions of the auditorium.

...President Bailey is rapidly develop...ing the musical department of the Uni...versity with the Ira Allen Chapel, a ...temple of melody, serving as its ...center. The branches of musical in...struction and culture are being ex...panded to embrace the finest exponents ...of the art. The Burlington public, ...also, is generously allowed to share ...these aesthetic delights, gained in ...the recent inspiring violin recital by ...Miss Charlotte de Volt, accompanied ...by Prof. Howard Gordon Bennett on ...the pipe organ some idea of the riches ...in store for this institution.

...In the province of a center of the ...arts is to give understanding to the ...appreciation of the beautiful in varied ...forms. The University of Vermont ...is surpassed in situation for the ...location of the Fine Arts.

...Dr Robert W. McLaughlin, ...whose heard with pleasure and ...profit several vesper services in Ira ...Allen chapel, in a published article, ...after having visited most of the ...cities of the New World the ...memories of his visit to the University ...of Vermont stands vividly in mind.

...What is the reason for this deep ...impression "is not due to having seen ...a wonderful chapel," but because of ...the attention to detail in the construction of ...the building by which the marvelous na...tural lighting is utilized." And then ...Dr. McLaughlin applies to this set...ting those inspiring words of the ...Psalmist "I will lift up mine eyes ...unto the mountains, from whence cometh

No Rival View

Pres. Matthew H Buckham used to boast there was nothing anywhere to rival the view from the University tower to the west overlooking Lake Champlain and the terraced Adirondacks, except the view to the east sweeping north and south for miles over the Green Mountains with the winding Winooski silvering the valley in the foreground.

No artist could ever hope to reproduce the gorgeous sunsets that transform Lake Champlain into a golden flood, and trace the most beautiful combinations of colors behind the purpling heights of the Adirondacks.

James B. Wilbur appreciated the fact that in founding the University of Vermont Ira Allen had located an institution of higher learning which should be wholly beautiful for situation, the loveliest nature could paint or etch.

Ideals and Art

What attracts students to particular colleges? When the writer started out to study history and political science near the close of the seventies, Syracuse University was already attractive by reason of its fine arts departments.

We then realized the tremendous lure of a center of fine arts. The University of Vermont is in a fair way to become noted as a center of the fine arts in education for all Northern New England and New York. Such a center will in no way detract from other departments, and especially the province of the State College of Agriculture and the Extension Service carrying instructions to our farms and farm homes.

Our boys and girls of the 4-H Clubs are in reality learning here and now to develop fine artistry in cultivation of flowers and vegetables and breeding fine livestock as well as in the making of useful and ornamental articles in the farm shop as well as in the home.

We are thus reminded that the highest function of the University is to transform young lives so that they may carry into the home and into practical life the capacity to enjoy the finest ideals if not to make works of art. It is possible to do even drudgery to the accompanient of lofty thoughts and ennobling visions. We can ever carry with us the echoes of the most beautiful melodies and radiate the noblest art of all—helpful and inspiring living.

Co-ed Notes

Basketball program for co-eds. February 24-25, teams are picked.

March
3 Juniors against sophomores I at 4.00 p.m.
Sophomores against freshman II at 4.15 p.m.
5 Seniors against juniors at 4.00 p.m.
Sophomores I against freshman I at 4.15 p.m.
10 Seniors against sophomores at 4.00 p.m.
Juniors against freshman I at 4.15 p.m.
12 Seniors against freshman I at 4.00 p.m.

Practices this week (February 23-28).
Seniors and juniors—4.00 p.m.
Sophomores- 4 30 p.m.
Freshman—4.55 p.m.

The Health Council held a business meeting Thursday, February 26.

Beatrice Freeman '32 and Lillian Mount '32, gave a report on the North field Conference at the Y W C A Cabinet meeting which was held Thursday noon, February 26, in 3 South College.

JUDGE BARNES, JURIST, U. V. M., '76 DIES RECENTLY

Judge Albert Crane Barnes, a graduate of the University in 1876 and a member of the Illinois Appellate Court since 1912, died Thursday night, January 22, 1931, in his home at Highland Park, Ill., following a heart attack. The judge first became ill during a session of court on December 16. He was assisted to his home and had been confined there since that time.

Judge Barnes was born in Addison, June 28, 1853, and fitted for college at Beeman Academy in New Haven. He graduated from Albany Law School in 1877. He was admitted to the bar in New York in 1877, was a clerk in the United States general land office from 1879 to 1883, practiced law in Devil's Lake, North Dakota, from 1883 to 1885 and then moved to Chicago, where he was assistant State's attorney for several years.

He was elevated to the bench in 1904 and successively re-elected in 1911, 1917 and 1923. Because of his experience and ability he was designated by the Supreme Court in 1912 to be one of the Appellate judges to review civil litigation and misdemeanor criminal cases. He was a former president of the Criminal Law and Criminology Society, Sons of the American Revolution and New England society. He was also a Mason and an Odd Fellow and a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity.

PROFESSOR B. F. LADD LECTURES ON GERMAN COLLEGIATE ACTIVITY

The German cafe is an important adjunct to the lecture in the German university classroom. For around the beer table, the students discuss the lecture at great length, and by the time they have finished, they have a firm impression of the points brought out by the professor earlier in the day.

So told Benjamin F Ladd German professor of the University of Vermont. He explained the German university system, student life in that country.

In Germany there are twenty-two universities all federally unified, with headquarters in Berlin. After a hard secondary course of study which requires several years longer than the high school education in this country, a student must pass a rigid examination covering all his preparatory work before he is eligible for university entrance.

But once a university student, he has much more latitude than the young man or women in America. He remains in one university only a single semester, or two at most, and then continues his course in another university in some other part of the country. It is all the same, since the system is centralized. He thus travels to many different parts of Germany and observes the changes in dialect and customs. This in itself is a part of his education. It is really a migratory method of obtaining a higher education, Professor Ladd explained.

There is no attendance record in the German university. It is entirely optional with a student whether he goes to the lectures. The professor looks upon the members of his class as guests. The atmosphere is entirely different from that in the American university. The student in Germany attends a lecture as one here goes to the theater.

There are two classes of students: the rich man's son who is not seeking a degree and who goes to the university for ten or fifteen years, and then the young man or woman who is seeking a doctor of philosophy degree. The latter, when he appears for his examinations, must be attired in full dress. For three hours he sits around a large table with other students and answers questions fired at him by an old professor. It is a grilling test of the knowledge a student has acquired from the lectures and from outside reading.

But it is considered a great honor if he passes. His relatives anxiously await the end of the examination, and if the student has been successful, the custom demands that he give a champagne party with the members of the family and one favorite professor present as a guest. Professor Ladd told the Lions.

University students in Germany are not subject to vulgar arrest for painting the town red, as in this country. The university authorities are notified by the police, and if the offense has been grave, the student is sentenced to pass one night in the university cooler. And unless a student has spent at least one night in this cooler, he really doesn't belong.

The German students have identification cards which entitle them to credit in the stores and to reduced railroad and theater rates, in addition to providing them with immunity from arrest for cutting up.

F. R.

Nice of the Girls, Isn't It?

Asked as to whether they would permit their escorts to drink, a group of coeds at Ohio State University responded that it is all right just as long as the escorts could keep on the sidewalk, and not forget to take them home after the party. Which confirms a sneaking suspicion that after all, the co-eds are more for the party than for their "date's" company.

"Thank God for our follies," said the professor.

"Yes agreed the student, "I like the women, too."—Texas Longhorn

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Pledging was held at the house Friday evening, February [illegible] after which a banquet was served at Hotel Vermont.

The National president Mrs Banta, visited the local chapter Friday.

Julia Housely, 31 Eleanor Hatch '27 and Elizabeth Weston, ex'30 visited in town over the weekend.

PI BETA PHI

Ann McLaughlin, '30, Dorothy Hurley, '30, [illegible], '30, Dorothy Small, '27, Charlotte Cleveland, '30, [illegible], '27, [illegible], '27 and Louise Meaker, ex'33, were in town for the weekend.

The active chapter held its pledge luncheon Saturday at the Hotel Vermont.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

After pledging February 21 Saturday noon at the Athena Club, a banquet was held at the Hotel Vermont Roof Garden.

Friday night a party was held in honor of the pledges at the home of Mrs Arthur Stevens on Adams St.

Julia Waterman, '30, Marjorie Tewksbury, '29, Marion Witters, '27, Frances Laythe, '30, Belle Church, '30, and Miriam Hasseltine, '31, of Middlebury were in town over the weekend.

Vivian Hubbard, '32, and Beulah Marshall, '33, attended initiation services at Alpha Iota chapter at Middlebury Sunday.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Georgia Bostwick, '30, Clarissa Peters, '30, Helen Wilson, '30, Evelyn Wright, '30, Cornelia Mould, '30, and Marion Tift, '30, were weekend guests.

The pledge luncheon was held at Hotel Vermont Saturday following pledging which took place at its rooms in 194 College Street.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

A party was held Friday evening February 20 at the chapter house in honor of the pledges.

A luncheon was given for the pledges at the New Sherwood Hotel, Saturday noon, February 21.

SIGMA GAMMA

Doris Austin, '27, Ruby Blaine, '26, Elizabeth Brown, '29, Velma Cochran, '27, Lucine Little, '29, Elizabeth Miller, '30, Consuelo Northrop, '21, Minerva Risdon, '29, and Elizabeth Sprague, '26 were in Burlington over the weekend.

Sigma Gamma held its pledge luncheon at the Hotel Vermont, Saturday, February 21, after the pledging of Ruby Jennes, '34, of Barton and Dorothy Thomas, '34, of Jeffersonville.

Christie M. McLeod, M '34, has been initiated into Alpha Gamma Sigma, the women's medical sorority.

A son has been born to Mr and Mrs Hubert Rooney of Hyde Park. The mother will be remembered as Katherine Mudgett '28.

The active chapter held a sugar party at its rooms Tuesday night, February 24.

KAPPA DELTA

A maple sugar party was held at the Vermonters' Club house, February 20, in honor of the pledges.

Among those attending the pledge luncheon at the Golden Pheasant, February 21, were Mrs J. C. Dellrune of Greensboro, Catherine Wright of Vergennes, and Irene Smith of Easthampton, Mass.

Second degree was conferred upon Alice Lunna, '32, February 22, at the Athena Club. Miss Genevieve Hoffman of William and Mary's attended the service.

EPSILON SIGMA

A pledging party was held February 24 at the rooms on Loomis Street.

K. E. L.

A bridge party is to be given March 8 at the home of Lillian Cohen, '30.

TWENTY-SIX AUTHORS ARE AMONG NEW BOOKS AT BILLINGS LIBRARY

List Comprises Volumes of Poetry, Science, Travel, Philosophy, and Economics

Works in modern sciences, language, drama, archeology, philosophy, travel and political science are listed among the list of twenty-six new books now available on the shelves of the Billings Library. The list:

Barton Story of Near East relief, 1915-30
Bell Latin dual and poetic diction
Bennett Roadside development
Bingham Machu Picchu, a citadel of the Incas
Dunlap Advertising by radio
Endicott Adventures in Alaska and along the trail
Garland Roadside meetings
Green Le voyageur sur la terre
Keynes Treatise on money, 2 vols
Knight The novel in English
Lashley Brain mechanisms and intelligence
Leftwich Baker Thomine and Fouvre
Leven Income in the various states
Macdonald Federal aid
McMurrich Leonardo da Vinci, the anatomist
Millikan- Science and the new civilization
Pitcairn-Cierva Autogiro Co. of America The autogiro
Rickert New methods for the study of literature
Rieger [illegible]
[illegible]
Stibler From Maumee to Thames and Tiber
Spencer The family and its members
Stout Studies in philosophy and psychology
Ward Thobbing, a seat at the circus of the intellect
Waugh Everybody's a garden.
Wickham The unrealists.

Why to College?

Why has Young America gone "College Mad?"

For general improvement in culture and ideals.

Because a person with a college degree can obtain a better position and earn more money.

Because a person with a college education has more prestige and a higher social position.

Only an average of twenty in a hundred, said they entered college because parents wished it, only eight in a hundred because of the social attractions or athletic opportunities of college life and but five in a hundred because so many friends and relatives had gone to college.

Seventy-two per cent entered college in order to prepare for a certain vocation. Sixty-five per cent included "For general improvement in culture and ideals" as one of the most important of their reasons.

Forty-eight per cent of the students checked as one of their most important reasons the statement, "Because a person with a college degree can obtain a better position and earn more money."

Only two per cent of the students came to Syracuse because of its fair athletic prestige.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT SHOPPE

SOUPS
Home-made Vegetable
Home-made Chicken Cream Tomato

SANDWICHES
Hot Chicken
Hot Roast Beef
Hot Hamburg

PASTRIES
Cream Puffs
Jelly Doughnuts
Macaroons
Brownies
Eclaires
Glazed Doughnuts

DOUGHNUTS "Better than the Best"

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS FOR U. V. M.

featuring

Draper & Maynard and A. G. Spalding Bros. athletic equipment

PATTEN, IRWIN & WHITE
W. E. GREENE CO.
Consolidated

TEXTBOOKS ARE RETURNED TO THE PUBLISHERS MARCH 1. ON ALL SPECIAL ORDERS WHICH HAVE TO BE PLACED AFTER THIS DATE THERE IS AN EXTRA CHARGE FOR POSTAGE

at the

University Store

MENTAL TESTS SHOW AVERAGE OF INTELLECT

(Continued from page 1)

grade, which used as a basis of admis-

(two thirds The results of these tests vary little from year to year

					125
					120
					117
					93
					113
					104
					114
					84
					84
					58
					1012

Reports on a test given in 1929 to 34,000 students in 121 institutions in the United States show an average grade of 140 This tabulation cannot demonstrate the differences between individuals which is considerably greater and of more importance as some students rate considerably above or below the average of their respective institution Furthermore mental testing does not involve good health, perseverance, persistency, consciousness and certain abilities which in some cases overbalance intelligence

Nevertheless, the figures gained from this study show that endowed colleges rate the highest, with endowed universities next, followed by State universities Teachers Colleges and Normal schools rate the lowest Incidentally, The University of Vermont gained a comparatively high

Resume of Collegiate History—1930

Murders: None reported

Riots: Princeton "Mercerism" C C N Y 41 suspensions

Robbery: Fordham U. live ram (Ramses III) a hoax Indiana U. "The Old Oaken Bucket" unsolved C C N Y Historical sword of General Webb, also a bust of Mercury Unsolved Purdue, "The Victory Bell" Unsolved

Assaults: Fraternity pledges refused to talk

Arson: All collegiate conflagrations were either from causes unknown or by spontaneous combustion

Seniors who have not yet turned in their reading reports for the first half-year must complete this requirement by March 1.

All sophomores wishing to scrub track should report to the gym any afternoon after four o'clock.
Hugh R. Mattison,
Manager of Track.

WHY NOT BUY HIT OF THE WEEK PHONOGRAPH RECORDS AT
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

Have you chosen your life work?

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Dept. H Longwood Ave.

SIGMA DELTA INITIATES SIX RECENT PLEDGES

Sigma Delta held its annual banquet in the chapter at its annual [illegible] banquet The initiates Leland R Dunham, 33 of North Bennington, Frederic P Kenyon, 33 of Burlington, Harmon J [illegible] of East Haven, Hewitt [illegible] of Saranac Center, Edwin Parts of Burlington, and William P Stetson, 34 of New Haven, Conn [illegible] master The speakers were R H [illegible] '31 W P Stetson, '34, E O [illegible] '32 and Prof L B Fuller

Noted authors, linguists and lecturers from Madrid Porto Rico, Chile, [illegible] were announced by [illegible] Language Institute's assistant director of the summer school, as faculty members of the 1931 Middlebury College Spanish School Dr Samuel [illegible] former professor at the University of Madrid and member of the Centro de Estudios Historicos, will head the session The entire administrative staff is to be composed of people from South America of unemployment It will be an induction against unemployment it will prevent wasteful and dishonest methods There is no local method for so national a need industry has been [illegible] providing the necessary [illegible] for the unemployed The plan will be an economic leveler of conditions For a national need, insurance must be adopted nationally, and that through legislation.

WOMEN ORATORS MEET BATES IN OLD CHAPEL

(Continued from page 1)

Edith Lerrigo, concluding for the affirmative showed that the administrative difficulties would make insurance impracticable Fraud and politics will play a large part in this, not only on the part of the government, but on the part of the employers. Three-fourths of a billion dollars is annually given to unemployment; of this only six percent goes to the unemployed. Most of that sum, is used for administrative purposes Insurance has increased unemployment Insurance in the United States, like that of England will degenerate into a dole In Germany, the rate of insurance has risen to sixteen percent of the wage. Before insurance is adopted, labor exchanges must be instituted. At the present, neither labor, the people nor the states are in favor of the plan proposed by the affirmative

Laura Johnson, completing the debate for the evening, with a short rebuttal showed that those who had tried the insurance system had found it satisfactory Insurance is necessary at once At the present time over five million people are out of work

Chairman Dean, commenting on the debate, stated that in his opinion, Bates proved itself the better team in the evening's fray

NEW AVIATION COURSE OFFERED COLLEGE MEN

A course in aviation training offered by the United States Navy and Marine Corps to college men will start classes early this summer. Its purpose is to build up a reserve of trained pilots, and to accomplish this the following system has been inaugurated:

Each year a number of college graduates are enrolled in the U. S. Naval or Marine Corps Reserve for aviation training. They must be between twenty and twenty-seven years of age and unmarried. After passing the required physical examination they are ordered to a Naval Reserve Aviation Base for one month's flight training. Upon the satisfactory completion of this month's work they will be sent to the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Florida, for the complete flying course. This course lasts eight months and consists of approximately 225 hours of flying as well as a course of study in aviation engines, navigation, radio, gunnery, and aerology, a thorough knowledge of which is necessary for a naval aviator.

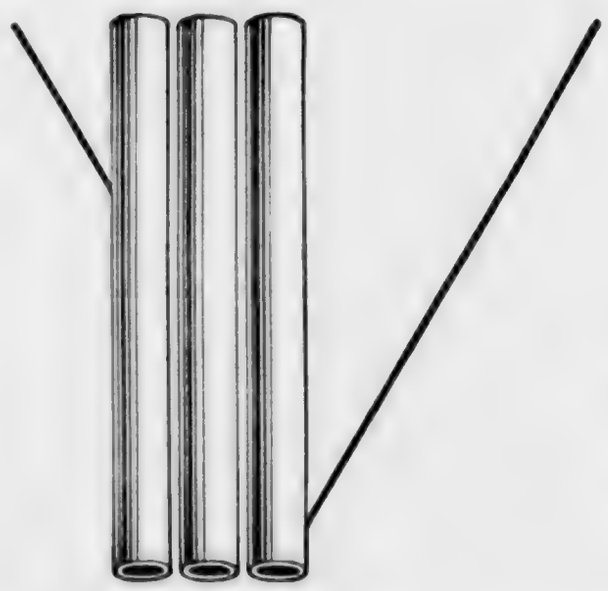
Students who successfully complete the course at Pensacola are designated Naval Aviators and commissioned Ensigns in the [illegible] serve or Second Lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve and ordered to one year's active duty with the Aircraft Squadrons with the Marine Corps Aviation Forces at Quantico, Virginia or San Diego, California During this year they receive pay according to their rank.

During the one month training at the Reserve Base and the eight months at Pensacola the students receive board room free and pay of $245 a month.

The Reserve Aviation Base at Squantum, Mass., will start training June 15, July 15 and August 15 for students who live in the First Naval District. This includes the following named states: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island. Applications should be made to the above address

Ten thousand students have enrolled in Columbia University's 1930-1931 correspondence school

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best



HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

The Ideal Hotel for You In BOSTON
Is the NEW Hotel MANGER
At North Station
Direct Entrance from B. & M. Depot and Boston Madison Square Garden
500 ROOMS
Each Room equipped with Tub and Shower ▼ Built-in-Radio Speaker (Three Station Service) ▼ Servidor Circulating Ice Water.
New England's Most Modernly Equipped and Perfectly Appointed Hotel
Dining Room, Coffee Shop, Oyster Bar and Soda Fountain offer wide variety of food and service.
RATES—ROOM AND BATH
FOR ONE—$2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00
FOR TWO—$4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00
No Higher Rates

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Here you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

Die Stamped College
STATIONERY
75c—85c—$1.15—$1.35—$1.50
An unusual assortment, unusually priced!
Let's show it to you
MC AULIFFE'S
Cor. Church & College

?

Where will the two slanting lines meet if the shorter one is continued? Good eyes are needed for this one.

YOUR EYES MAY FOOL YOU
BUT
YOUR TASTE tells the Truth!

MILDER . . . AND BETTER TASTE

They Satisfy

© 1931, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

SPORTING NEWS

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT ISSUES REGULATIONS OF WRESTLING TOURNAMENT

Exhibition Boxing Matches to be Held—Competition Bouts Start March 11

WRESTLERS AND BOXERS TRAIN FOR TOURNAMENT

Under the direction of Coach-in-fighter "Bumps" Ievine, the wrestling and boxing boys have begun a period of intensive training in preparation for the annual show of skill and courage and ability to take and give.

The boxing matches are passed off as exhibition performances because of regulations prohibiting decision contests but the spectators of these amateur shows can have their own opinions of winners, just as they do on professional bouts.

The wrestling tournament, however, determines college championships and like the boxing matches are full of interest for the large audience which usually attends. There will be three or four wrestling matches sandwiched in between the boxing bouts, which will take place on March 11, 13, 16, 18, 20, 23, 25 and 27.

The wrestlers' special training periods are on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, while the boxers practice Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The finals of the wrestling tournament in the open class last year saw an especially thrilling match which Paul Park, track leader and football star finally won from Harris Cohen, also a football and far heavier man. Sam Sokolov should win in his event (175 class), but the other contests ought to be close matches. The following men are expected to defend their titles: John Willetts, 125 pounds; G. Winthrop, 135 pounds, H. R. Flemming, 145 pounds; J. A. Peters, 158 pounds; and N. P. Park, in the unlimited class.

Rules

Contestants Eligible.

(a) Any person in college not having received an academic degree.

Contestants must weigh in the day of their bout.

Length of Bouts.

(a) Preliminary bouts shall consist of ten minutes.

(b) Two extra three-minute bouts shall also be wrestled if no decision can be reached after the first ten minutes.

(c) Championship bouts shall be twelve minutes and two extra periods of three minutes to decide the winner, if no decision can be reached at end of regular match.

Legality of Holds.

(a) Shall be decided by the referee and explained to the contestants before bout.

In case of Injury (Accidental)

(a) Bout shall stop for three minutes and after expiration of period shall be forfeited if injured contestant is unable to continue.

Default.

(a) If contestant fails to appear five minutes after scheduled time, he shall forfeit the match.

Falls.

(a) Only pin falls shall count. Flying or rolling falls shall not be considered.

The referee and the judges shall render a decision in case of no fall. Aggressiveness and wrestling ability shall be the main considerations.

The Referee's Power.

Shall have power to render any decision not covered in above rules.

Medals, properly inscribed, shall be awarded the winners of each class.

BLUESTOCKINGS GROUP INITIATES TEN WOMEN

Bluestockings, woman's honorary literary society, announces the initiation of the following new members this afternoon, 4 o'clock at the Kappa Alpha Theta house:

Constance Stone, '31, Effie Winn, '33, Ellen Laidlow, '33 for contributing short stories; Priscilla Perry, '32, Margaret Mower, '32, and Florence Hall, '32, for contributing essays to Gladys La Flamme, '33, Alice Hall, Katherine Tolman, '33, and Jean Taft, '33, whose poetry was accepted.

Prof (taking up exam paper): Why the quotation marks here?

Frosh: Courtesy to the man on my left, teacher.

CAT'S MEOW

Sporting Edition

Last night the University of Vermont basketball team played its last game of the season. For some of the players it was the final game in their college careers. Captain Sargent, Tobin and Durfey will be lost next year through graduation.

Incidently, "Bunny" Prentice completed his first year as varsity basketball coach. The record of his team does not lead one to become overenthusiastic but the fans are not finding fault with his work. As a whole, the team did better than was expected. We can not forget that 31-28 scare that the Green and Gold gave Harvard's five on the Crimson's own floor.

The freshman quintet will wind up their season tomorrow night.

Although the varsity and freshman teams cease all action this week the gym still has a few more basketball games in store for it this season. Next Friday and Saturday the eight leading senior high school quintets in the State will be present for the annual interscholastic tournament. For interest and excitement these games can not be excelled.

Vermont did little in the way of participation in the winter sports meet at St. Michael's, except that it was little trouble for the Catamount hockey team to dispose of the Purple outfit 8 to 0.

Baseball practice started this week at Vermont. The regulars on last year's nine drew their equipment Monday.

The following is the list of the titleholders in these national games:

60-Yard Dash—Chet Bowman, Newark A. C.

70-Yard High Hurdles—Lee Sentman, Illinois.

300-Yard Run—John Lewis, Detroit City College.

600-Yard Run—Phil Edwards, Canada.

1,000-Yard Run—Dr. Paul Martin, Switzerland.

Two-Mile Run—Joe McCluskey, Fordham.

Two-Mile Steeplechase—Hans Assert, Deutscher, S. C.

Pole Vault—Fred Sturdy, Los Angeles, A. C.

Running High Jump—Anton Burg, Illinois A. C.

Standing High Jump—Harold Osborn, Illinois A. C.

Standing Broad Jump—William Werner, Greenwood T. C.

One and Seven-eighths Mile Relay—N. Y. U. Team; Illinois A. C.

Several of Vermont's baseball opponents will start indoor practice this week. Columbia, for instance, has already started training and word has it that Coach Andy Coakley will probably have the strongest Blue and White team in years. Jimmy Morrison, star second baseman was the only player to be lost by graduation.

The baseball season is just around the corner while the basketball year is rapidly drawing to a close.

RIFLEMEN TO COMPETE WITH FORT SOLDIERS

A shoulder-to-shoulder rifle match will be held with the Fort Ethan Allen rifle team tomorrow at the Post and a close match is expected.

Within the past month the U. V. M. rifle team has won six out of fifteen matches. The National Rifle Association matches consists of five men firing in three positions—Prone, kneeling, and standing—with a possible score of 1,500. The intercollegiate matches consists of five men in four positions—Prone, sitting, kneeling and standing—with a possible score of 2,000.

The following are the reports received by telegraph of matches fired:

Week ending February 2
Intercollegiate matches

U. V. M.	1,752
U. of Texas	1,815
Ohio State U.	1,825
Gettysburg C.	1,790

Week ending February 14
Nat. Rifle Asso. matches

U. V. M.	1,318
M. I. T.	1,341
Conn. Aggies	1,292

Intercollegiate matches

U. V. M.	1,781
DePauw U.	1,759
Maine U.	1,804
Idaho U.	1,808
University of Ky.	1,862
Miss. Agricultural and Mech.	1,785
Alabama Poly. Inst.	1,766
U. of Pittsburgh	1,747

Week ending February 21
Intercollegiate matches

U. V. M.	1,793
U. of N. Hampshire	1,789
Quachita Col.	1,605
Va. Poly. Institute	1,792

INDOOR TRACK MEET WILL TAKE PLACE ON SATURDAY, MARCH 21

Director Post Issues Eligibility Rules to Fraternities— Tentative Dates for Relays

RELAY TIME TRIALS HELD NEXT THURSDAY

According to plans made by Archie F. Post director of intra-mural athletics, the interfraternity indoor track meet will be held Saturday afternoon, March 21. As in the past the relays will take place before the meet. The time trials will be held next Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The following are the tentative dates for the interfrat relays:

First Round Monday, March 9
Second Round Friday, March 13
Final Round Wednesday March 18

Mr. Post also calls the attention of the fraternities to the following eligibility rules which apply to both the track meet and the relays:

Eligibility Rules

Only bona-fide students of the Academic and Medical Colleges who have not received their degree may compete.

Track letter men may not compete in the event which is their specialty.

Only those men who have reported for practice at least six (6) times in the two weeks previous to Saturday, March 21, will be allowed to compete. Be sure your name is registered with the Manager of Track, and that your attendance is checked each time you practice.

Each fraternity intending to compete, please submit to me at once a list of men who are to represent the fraternity, so that a more accurate check for eligibility may be kept.

A. T. Post
Director of Intra-Mural Athletics.

Co-eds trying out for Press Club are now engaged in writing feature stories for their home town newspapers about all students attending the University of Vermont. The stories include a listing of all the campus activities in which the student is engaged and all organizations in which the student takes part.

Press Club aims to send correct information to these newspapers, and evidence that the news is printed is afforded by the clippings which the organization receives of all news pertaining to the University of Vermont, from papers throughout the country. Press Club receives these clippings from the Luce Clipping Company, of which it is a member.

Intercollegiate News

It appears, that at last college faculties are coming to the student's way of thinking. The two important things in these four years, rest and romance, are receiving, after long neglect, the official recognition that is their due.

Rest (synonyms are ease, relaxation, lethargy, peace, inertia, comfort) has been turned into an art at Barnard. There they have a course, a substitute for calesthenics, in which the students spend every period reclining in deck chairs on an outdoor roof garden. An attending nurse tucks woolen rugs around them to ward off the New York chills. Hot bouillon and chocolate are served. Talking and reading are prohibited and the nurse insists that everyone go to sleep.

The other major interest of life, romance, has come into its own at Rollins College, an institution which gets down to the brass tacks of existence. "The Art of Making Love" is the name of the course and credit for five hours of work (?) is given.

Aviators for the Pacific Power and Light Company at Yakima use a plane to discover wire breaks when snow blocks the roads. Thank heavens the airplane is good for something besides endurance flights and weddings.—D'Artsio's Montana Huddle

Middlebury Quintet Downs Vermont in Overtime Game

Contest Ends in 36-36 Tie—Weakened Cats Unable to Even Up Series in Extra Session— Final Score is 44 to 39

THRILLING GAMES IN INTERFRAT TOURNEY

Second Half Opens Monday With Owl Victory Over Faculty Five

In the opening game of the second half of the interfraternity basketball tournament, a last minute heave by Bennett gave the Owls a 22-21 victory over the Faculty five Monday night. The frat boys led most of the way but near the close a spurt by the professors put the losers in a temporary lead.

Sigma Nu Wins

On Tuesday eve the Sigma Nus defeated the Independents by the score of 37 to 14.

The game was featured by the beautiful pass work and shooting of the victors. The Independents on the other hand, did some splendid dribbling, but could not find the basket with their shots. The high scorer for the evening was Phillips of Sigma Nu. In the last few minutes of play desperately striving to tie the score the Independents made many vain attempts at long shots.

The thrill of the evening was supplied by Maynes, who having tripped almost under his opponents basket fell to the floor. As he tumbled the ball left his hands, went straight up in the air, and dropped through for two points. This brought quite a hand from the gallery.

The lineup was as follows:

Sigma Nu		Independents
Aiken	r.f.	Bumell
Buzzell	l.f.	Case
Phillips	c.	Carsley
Maynes	r.b.	Riani
Mentall	l.g.	Drann

The Younger Generation

Harvard men, for the second successive generation, are physically larger than their fathers, although the fathers at college age were more than a year older than the present college student. The comparisons included almost 3,000 men.

In weight the boys of the third generation averaged 149.48 pounds while the fathers weighed about 141.23 pounds. The average student has also gained 1.13 inches.

Reports have been received from women's colleges showing that the girls of today are making similar advances over their mothers. Sixty-three pairs from college give the daughters a marked advantage in weight and height.

The same tests in mathematics, English and physics that were given ten years ago were given to the entering freshman class at Purdue this year. The new men received much better marks than their predecessors.

More than four thousand yards of bandage and the same amount of adhesive tape are used each year in dressing injured Ohio State athletes. If used conservatively this would clothe approximately fifty Egyptian mummies.

TAFT AND TUPPER LEAD GREEN AND GOLD ATTACK

Exhibiting a greatly improved brand of basketball, the Green and Gold five forced the Black Panther quintet to an overtime period in a thrilling encounter on the Middlebury floor Tuesday night, but were unsuccessful in evening up the series as Middlebury tallied four floor goals in the extra session to win out with the game 44 to 39. This places the Blue and White at second place in the State championship race with Norwich still at the top. Vermont leads at half.

In the opening minute Corliss broke the ice for Middlebury with a two-pointer from the floor but Wally Barnard soon countered for Vermont to tie up matters. The lead see-sawed back and forth with the Cats having a five-point advantage near the close. Middlebury could not be shaken off, however, and crept up to within one basket of the home team, making the score 23-21 in the Cats' favor as the opening frame ended.

Game Ends 36-36

If the first half was exciting, the second was even more so. Middlebury knotted the count on a floor goal by Ashdown and went into the lead as Ballukian followed with a foul. After Chet Taft had netted one, Ashdown caged three in succession giving the Blue and White a five-point advantage. This was short-lived, however, as Freddy Tupper retaliated with four points. Just a few seconds before the final whistle, with the count 36-36, Eddie Winant missed a free throw and made an extra verse necessary. Durfey, Taft and Tobin were removed from the game at this point because of personals.

Cats Weak in Overtime

Ashdown and Corliss both garnered two goals apiece in the overtime session to one twin-counter and a foul by the considerably weakened Green and Gold outfit and this margin was sufficient to assure the Middmen of victory. Ashdown totaled 19 points for Middlebury while Chet Taft hung up 15 and Tupper 10 for Vermont.

The summary:

Vermont

	g	f	pts
Durfey, l.g.	1	1	3
Winant, l.g.	0	0	0
Dober, l.g., l.f.	0	0	0
Tobin, r.g.	0	0	0
Piree, r.g.	1	1	3
Hargent, c.	4	0	8
Taft, l.f.	6	3	15
Tupper, r.f.	5	0	10
Totals	17	5	39

Middlebury

	g	f	pts
Ballukian, r.f.	2	1	5
Ashdown, l.f.	8	3	19
Corliss, c.	4	0	8
Chalmers, c.	0	0	0
McKenzie, r.g.	1	4	6
Hardy, r.g.	0	2	2
Boyle, l.g.	1	2	4
Totals	16	12	44

Referee, Cassidy.

Exceptional Suit and O'Coat Values in this
CLEARANCE
$19.50 $24.50 $34.50
MANY OF THESE SUITS ARE OF THE SPRING MODELS AND FABRICS AT ABOUT ONE HALF THE PRICE YOU WILL PAY LATER
TURK'S
Burlington
Vt.

HARTWELL SPEAKS ON EVOLUTION OF AMERICA

Commemorating the 207th anniversary of the first permanent settlement in Vermont at Fort Dummer as well as the 199th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the 27th general court of the Society of Colonial Wars in Vermont was held at the Ethan Allen clubhouse last Monday noon.

Mr Lindley S Hartwell of the history department of the University was the principal speaker of the evening, and used as his subject, "A New Interpretation of the Causes of the American Evolution." Mr Hartwell pointed out that the old interpretations depended on the nationality of the interpreters as American historians wrote of the Revolution as "an indignant uprising of a virtuous people against a cruel England; whereas English historians claimed the War for freedom to be 'a violent outcome of lawyers and smuggling merchants to evade the wise and moderate laws conceived by the mother country for the common good'."

"The conventional point of view of the Americans hung on rather well," declared Mr Hartwell "until the World War With the British as allies it was necessary to re-write the revolutionary story lest small children develop an anti-British prejudice."

This new interpretation finds that the Revolution started with the immigration to America of radical religious groups dissatisfied with their position in England Distance between colony and mother country exaggerated the differences. The people became Americans, not British citizens, and mingled with them were Germans and Irish, neither of whom had any love for Great Britain. Finally, the Americans grew and came to compete with the British in trade. They learned to fight, having had experience with French and Indians. As British colonial policies came to irk them more they took up arms, and the Revolution, which started early in colonial times, was effected.

Prof. Leon W. Dean, of the English department of the University, was elected secretary of the society; and Dean J. L. Hills was elected to be the societies historian.

ANNOUNCE CONTEST FOR NEW UNIVERSITY POETRY

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded to the authors of the three best American college and university poetry which is published in an anthology called American College Verse.

All students who write poetry are urged to communicate promptly with this publishing house, so that they may be sent full details The anthology will be edited by Mr. Harrison himself, and illustrated by Charles Cullen

Henry Harrison is the author of "Myself Limited," a book of poems that has earned wide critical praise. His work has appeared in over 100 publications in the United States, Canada, England and [illegible]. He has been a poetry critic [illegible] the editor of the annual "Book of Verse," as well as other anthologies He is [illegible] of Poetry World, the [illegible] zine; and his publishers [illegible] by Mary Carolyn Davies, Carolyn Wood, Ralph Cheyney, [illegible] Benjamin Musser and [illegible] other distinguished poets.

Charles Cullen has illustrated [illegible] tee Cullen's books, and Mr Harrison's Grub Street annual. He has also

In writing for information, students should mention the name of their college. Address Henry Harrison, Publisher, 27 E. Seventh St, New York City.

The CAMELS are coming!

This is the Camel package in which a significant change has recently been made for the best answers to this question:

$50,000 REWARD

What significant change has recently been made in the wrapping of the CAMEL package containing 20 cigarettes and what are its advantages to the smoker?

First Prize, $25,000

Second Prize, $10,000 Third Prize, $5,000

For the five next best answers . $1,000 each
For the five next best answers . $500 each
For the 25 next best answers . $100 each

Conditions Governing Contest:

1. Answers limited to 200 words.
2. Write on one side of the paper only.
3. No entries accepted that bear a postmark later than midnight, March 4, 1931.
4. Contest open to everybody except employes and executives of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company and their families.
5. In case of ties, the full amount of award will be paid to each of the tying parties.
6. It is not necessary to buy a package of Camel cigarettes in order to compete. Any store that sells cigarettes will permit you to examine the Camel package containing 20 cigarettes.

All communications must be addressed to* Contest Editor—
R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Wednesday Night
Tune in the Camel Hour on N.B.C. Network

9.30 to 10.30	Eastern Time
8.30 to 9.30	Central Time
7.30 to 8.30	Mountain Time
6.30 to 7.30	Pacific Time

Over Stations

WJZ, WBZA, WBZ, WHAM, KDKA, WJR, WGAR, KYW, WLW, WREN, WSAI, KWK, WJAX, WFLA, WIOD, WREN.

11.15 to 12.15	Eastern Time
10.15 to 11.15	Central Time
9.15 to 10.15	Mountain Time
8.15 to 9.15	Pacific Time

Over Stations

WHAS, WSM, WSB, WMC, WAPI, WJDX, WSMB, KTHS, WTMJ, KSTP, WEBC, WRVA, WRAP, KPRC, WOAI, KOA, KSL, KTAR, KGO, KECA, KFSD, KGW, KOMO, KHQ, KPAB.

Judges:

CHARLES DANA GIBSON
Famous Illustrator and Publisher of "Life"

ROY W. HOWARD
Chairman of the Board, Scripps Howard Newspapers

RAY LONG
President, International Magazine Company, and Editor of "Cosmopolitan"

AND STAFF

Contest open only until MIDNIGHT, MARCH 4, 1931

(Winners will be announced as soon as possible after contest closes)

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1931 — NUMBER 38

INTERCOLLEGIATE GLEE CLUB PRIZE CUP GOES TO WILLIAMS CHORISTERS

Vermont Places Fifth, Outpointing Middlebury in Hartford Contest

U. V. M. SINGERS RECEIVE PRAISE FOR "MARCHING"

... cup in the sixth annual ... glee club contest, held ... ing in Hartford, Conn., and ... WTIC, went to Will... and Amherst in the ...

... won fifth place, ahead of ... in competition with nine ... representing Bowdoin, ... M. I. T., B. U., Trinity, Wor... In addition to the three ...

... I Watch," by Edgar, was ... the prize song; "Marching," ... was the choice song; and ... song was "Champlain." All ... in unison, "On the Road to ... the "Lost Chord" and ... Spangled Banner."

... Bennett, Sunday after... the Vermont Glee Club ... fifth did the best it has ... before. Last year having ... eighth and the year preceding ... last position. With an in... number of strong voices, Ver... would have an easier time to ... next year."

... received the most commen... on her choice song, "Marching," ... the most dramatic and in... incident of the entire even... place when all the contesting ... representing eleven colleges, ... the Choral Club of Hart... the singing of Sir Arthur Sul... "The Lost Chord." More than ... were on the stage, the ... number ever heard there with ... possible exception of the Saenger... last June.

... conclusion of the program, ... joined with all the sing... the stage, with organ and piano ... accompaniment, in the singing of "The ... Spangled Banner."

... songs were:

... "Brindle" ..... Osgood-Thompson
Clark University

... sack" ... Moniuszko-MacDowell
Williams College

... Lamp in the West"
Horatio Parker
... Polytechnic Institute

... Autumn Sea" ..... W. Gericke
Bowdoin College

... . J. Brahms
University of Vermont

... Factae Sunt" ... Palestrine
Wesleyan University

... Dearest" .... Mendelssohn
Middlebury College

... the Middle of the Road"
Bartholomew
Amherst College

... Spectres' Dance"
Franz Schubert
Trinity College

... Domino" ... van Hasler
... Institute of Technology

... Along" ..... Cook-Baldwin
Boston University

... the direction of Prof. H. G ... and with F. P. Colburn '34 and ... '32, as respective conductor ... manager, the following 27 men ... Vermont:

... Baker '31, G. H. Burrows II '34, ... Carsley '33, R. F. Colburn '33, ... Cowles '31, G. L. Davis '34, B. J. ... '32, H. R. Fleming '33, J. G. ... '33, C. B. Harwood '34, D. C. ... '32, E. G. Hurlburt '32, J. H ... '34, D. W. Jenks '34, W. F. ... '34, G. M. MacKenzie '33, ... Millet '34, W. E. Morgan, Jr., '32 ... Patton '31, N. H. Press '33, G. O ... '34, R. H. Russell '34, T. D ... '34, A. A. Scharbius, Jr., '32, ... Swartz '31, J. C. Shoor '33, T. I ... '33, P. E. Westin '32.

PROFESSOR LUCARINI TO BE SPEAKER AT SEMINAR

... Carl Lucarini, of the Depart... of Chemistry, will speak at the ... ment's seminar on "The Appli... of Chemistry to the Marble ... try," this afternoon at 4 p.m.

... H. F. Perkins of the College ... and Sciences appeared before ... Vermont State Legislature in ... pelier in connection with the ... known as the Sterilization ...

COBB EMPHASIZES NEED FOR PHOTO COOPERATION

States Necessity For Turning In Proofs of Last Photos by March 14

The photographer of the Van Tyne Studio of Boston will be at the Vermonters' Club house for the last time Friday, March 13, to take group pictures of the sororities and other pictures not taken as yet.

Cobb stated that all proofs must be in by March 14 in order to insure the Ariels coming out during Junior Week, May 11-16.

The price of the photographs will be fifty cents each or seventy-five cents with folder.

SIGMA GAMMA, SIGMA DELTA LEAD SOCIETIES IN SCHOLASTIC RATINGS

Kappa Delta and Tau Epsilon Phi Rise Five and Eleven Places Respectively

Sigma Gamma and Sigma Delta both University of Vermont locals, lead the respective social societies in scholastic rating on the President's list for last semester. Sigma Gamma leads both sororities and fraternities.

The most noteworthy improvements are noted in Kappa Delta, which rose from ninth place last year to fourth position, and Tau Epsilon Phi which sees itself at ninth place second among the twenty fraternities, the list of which it footed last year.

The relative standing:

Sigma Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Xi Delta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Delta Delta, Sigma Delta, Tau Epsilon Phi, Kappa Sigma, Delta Psi, Sigma Phi, Phi Mu Delta, Zeta Chi, Phi Sigma Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Iota, Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Delta Theta.

PROFESSOR M. B. OGLE, FORMER VERMONT LATIN HEAD, GETS ROME POST

American Classical Chairman Will Serve Two Years at American Academy

Professor Marbury B. Ogle, former head of the Latin department here, and Vergil lecturer last fall, now chairman of the department of classical languages at Ohio State University, has been appointed professor in charge of the School of Classical Studies at the American Academy in Rome for a period of two years.

Professor Ogle was said to have received a two-year leave of absence from Ohio State to accept the appointment, which may be extended to a third year or longer. He succeeds Prof. Henry A. Sanders, who is to resume his Latin professorship at the University of Michigan after three years as head of the school in Rome it was announced.

Professor Ogle is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, where he also took his Ph.D. He was professor of Latin language and literature at the University of Vermont from 1907 to 1925, when he was called to Ohio State University.

The academy also announced the election of two new trustees, James Earle Fraser, sculptor, and Henry de Forest Baldwin, a New York attorney. They succeed Daniel C. French and Edward C. Moore, Jr.

WOMEN'S STUDENT UNION EFFECTS NEW RULING

Women's Student Union has passed the following rule to be in effect for the rest of the college year: Accumulative lateness shall be punished by taking away a person's nights out for one week, including Sunday night. For the seniors this means the loss of three eleven o'clock nights; for the juniors two eleven o'clock and two ten o'clock nights; for the sophomores two eleven o'clock and one ten o'clock night; and for the freshman one eleven o'clock and one ten o'clock night.

INVESTIGATORY GROUP VISITING THREE COLLEGES IN FROSH-SOPH RESEARCH

Cowles and Householder Investigating Relations at Amherst, Wesleyan and M. A. C.

TWO TO REPORT FACTS ABOUT FRESHMAN RULES

R. H. Cowles, '31, and F. W. Householder, '32, as members of the fact-finding committee for the investigation of freshman-sophomore relations at ten other colleges and universities, left Monday for Wesleyan, Amherst, and Massachusetts Agricultural College, stated Dean Swift secretary of the Faculty-Student council.

This is the first of an extended personal tour of institutions to be carried out by University of Vermont students in groups of two during the month. A committee comprising five seniors and three juniors was appointed Saturday, November 30, 1930 in line with a resolution adopted by the Faculty-Student council after much discussion had obtained on the question of hazing of freshmen and the enforcement of traditional rules.

The committee is expected to bring back a complete report of opinions for and against, noting the advantages and disadvantages of Freshman rules. Administrative officials will be interviewed, also members of class societies, editors and other prominent students in an effort to ascertain all phases of the question, with origins, application and effects of systems, if any, obtaining on campuses visited.

Will Report Facts

The reports of facts found by the visiting men will be submitted to the Faculty-Student council at an early date for further action on the question of freshman rules at this University.

Of the two men now beginning the detailed investigation, Cowles is chairman of the Vermont Christian Association and president of the Interfraternity Conference. Householder is managing editor of the Cynic and is active in other literary work.

Middlebury and Dartmouth Colleges will be visited this week by Orson Jay, '32, and Francis McBride, '31. Francis Bolles, '31, and Paul Westin, '32 next week are to go to New Hampshire, Bowdoin, and Bates. Stanley Smith and Hugh Mattison both seniors will visit McGill and Williams during Easter recess.

Smith, Mattison and McBride are members of Boulder and Westin of Key and Serpent, the societies which together with Gold Key upheld organized defense of freshman rules. Bolles led the defense in the Faculty-Student council. Jay has earned his letters in football and baseball.

All of the committee members are affiliated with fraternities, four belonging to national organizations which maintain chapters at some of the colleges to be visited. Smith belongs to Sigma Phi, Mattison to Sigma Alpha Epsilon, McBride to Alpha Tau Omega, Jay to Kappa Sigma, Cowles to Sigma Delta, Householder to Lambda Iota and Bolles and Westin to Delta Psi.

PRESS CLUB FURNISHES PUBLICITY FOR COLLEGE

Having its inception at the University of Vermont some twenty years ago, the Press Club, a women's publicity organization, serves as a means of furnishing all the state papers of this and many other states with news stories on the activities of U. V. M. students.

The purpose of the club is to send to home town and high school papers news and reports of the activities of the students who come from these high schools and cities. Until recently only Vermont high schools where considered but this year all freshmen were asked to give the names of their respective high school papers.

Greater activity in the club in the past year has been noted and advancement in the activities is expected.

Feature stories are sent to New York and Boston papers. News is clipped from the Cynic and sent immediately to the papers. There are about fifty members in the club; thirty new members being taken in at the last election. Prof. Leon W. Dean of the English department is faculty advisor.

One Hundred Five in Arts College Make Dean's List

Number, 46 Men and 59 Women, is Fewer Than in Last Two Years —Eight Earn 95 Percent Average—Seniors and Women Outnumber Others

STUDENTS IN CLASSICAL CURRICULUM LEAD REST

Fewer students than at any time during the past two years have gained places on the Dean's honor list in the Arts and Sciences College.

One hundred five students including 46 men and 59 women out of the 755 enrolled have earned honors on the Dean's list for the first semester, with averages of 85 percent or above. Eight students have average of 95 percent while 23 show an average of at least 90 percent.

Classical Students Lead

The seniors as last year lead the other classes represented on the list with a total of 33. Women lead the men in scholarship in nearly every classification. In the two upper groups, the Classical students outnumber those in the Literary Scientific Curriculum by one, with 12 and 11 respectively. Last year the L.S. students were ahead. General Science has 4, Chemistry 1, Teachers Training 6, and Commerce and Economics 2.

Representation by sex and class:

	95 pct.		90 pct.		85 pct.
	M	W	M	W	M	W
1931 ...	2	1	1	4	13	12
1932 ...	1	1	5	4	3	10
1933 ...	1	1	1	2	11	9
1934 ...	0	1	2	4	6	5
T.T. ...	0	0	0	6	0	24

The table shows that of the eight with a 95 percent average of an equal number are men and women, while of the 29 having ½ A ½ B percent averages 9 are men and 20 are women, of the B average, with 98, 33 are men and 65 are women.

Thirty-three seniors earned high honors, 30 juniors placed on the list while 27 and 18 represent the respective positions of 1933 and 1934 classes. Teacher Training students list none with an A average, 6 with a 90 average and 24 with an average of 85. Eight high standing students have incomplete records.

An A is counted as 95 percent, a B as 85 percent, a C as 75 percent and a D as 65 percent. An A average means a record with no grade below A; ½ A ½ B is an average of 90 percent or the equivalent of a record in which half the grades are A and half are B or better. AB average is an average of 85 percent. Nothing below 85 percent is considered a B average. A student may, however, have grades below B, provided these are balanced by a sufficient number of grades of A, and still attain a B average.

The full lists:

A AVERAGE

1931

R. B. Aiken, C. W. Knapp, Winfred Stone.

1932

C. K. Bush, M. Elisabeth Mandigo.

1933

Sylvia Boyd, L. L. Woodward.

1934

Ruth Reynolds.

½ A-½ B

1931

*P. K. Beer, Marjorie Eisenwinter, Esther Mandigo, Dorothy Nash, Eleanor Smith.

*Short Card.

1932

J. B. Barker, Cornelia Bayliss, *Natalie Carleton, R. T. Connor, F. W. Householder, Elizabeth Mosher, Roberta Powers, H. C. Torrey, H. I. Varney.

*Short Card.

1933

F. B. Drew, Elizabeth Eckhard, Dorothy Jackman.

1934

J. L. Beckley, Stella Brown, Grace Harris, Elizabeth MacLeod, Ida Salger, H. C. Wilson.

T.T.

Mildred Akins, Cora Hutchins, Myrtle Owen, Elizabeth Page, Emma Rock, Frances Scott.

B AVERAGE

1931

Alberta Berry, F. A. Bolles, Dorothy Brown, G. R. Brush, Mary Colpitts, Jane Corwin, R. H. Cowles, J. C. Cunningham, L. M. Foster, Ruth Houghton, H. N. Jackson, Caroline McGennis, G. R. Nelson, G. W. Pierce, E. B. Rand, A. H. Roller, Cora Sargent, L. Segal, F. S. Smith, Hilda Smith, Constance Stone, J. B. Vander, Jean Wappler, Sara Wescott, Esther Wheeler.

1932

Edna Blackwood, Verna Carrier, Louise Clark, Alice Dalton, Millicent Dixon, Rosetta Harlow, Edna Herrildon, A. Isabel Holmes, Lucy Hope, R. S. Jenks, Lillian Mount, Margaret Mower, Donna Oakes, Agnes Parsons, A. A. Scharbius, Doris Skinner, F. Tupper, *Margaret Watkins.

*Short Card.

1933

M. L. Bergman, C. S. Brown, Norma Carder, E. R. Carter, R. F. Colburn, R. P. Donaghy, Dorothy Edwards, Alice Fairchild, J. H. Farwell, A. Gardner, Leah Gowen, Mildred Hastings, Antoinette Hubbard, Grace Johnson, Gladys LaFlamme, M. R. Levin, E. R. Levy, F. J. Powers, E. J. Swinyer, S. Katherine Tolman.

1934

Mary Bennett, C. B. Eaton, Helen Jenkins, J. M. Monte, *Ruth Mullin, A. C. Pond, W. J. Ryan, Jenny Beulakes, K. D. Spaulding, D. H. Winters, M. Joyce Young.

*Short Card.

T.T.

Helen Allen, Ara Armstrong, Hattie Beers, Nellie Chase, Hazel Dunsmore, Ruth Erwin, Sylvia Farnham, Velma Gates, Geraldine Hill, Myrtle Jacquith, Frances Ladd, Sylvia MacKinney, Dorothy Metcalfe, Jennie Needham, Mabel Owen, Freda Page, Calista Pecue, Eulalie Powers, Daisy Putnam, Ruth Savage, Dorothy Simpson, C. Priscilla Stearns, Margaret Wellinger, Martha Whitlock.

*Short Card.

While the records of the following students are incomplete, the grades so far reported warrant provisional inclusion in this list.

1931

Elizabeth Clark, Grace Crofton, Helen Prouty, G. H. Smead.

1932

Doris Brennan.

1933

H. R. Butman.

T.T.

Mabel Farquhar, Alma Frechette.

VERMONT DEBATERS TO MEET ST. MICHAEL'S FRI.

Vermont's newly formed debating team will meet St. Michael's College next Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel. The subject will be "Resolved that the chain store is detrimental to the best interests of the American public." Vermont will uphold the negative of this question. Representing Vermont will be G. R. Nelson, '31, R. P. Donaghey, '33, and P. J. LaCrosse, '32. The debate is to be a decision affair in which three judges will render a decision. This is the first of the state series debates between Vermont, Middlebury and St. Michael's and is therefore a very important debate especially for Vermont which will soon undertake a pretentious western trip.

Prof. A. D. Butterfield of the College of Engineering was recently elected president of the Vermont Sons of the American Revolution.

Mr. E. L. Ingalls and Miss M. E. Luce of the Agricultural Extension Service are attending a meeting of the Boys and Girls Club Work and of the Home Demonstration Work, respectively.

"Get the lead out," said the professor, "and put it in your Eversharps. We're going to have an exam."—Desert Wolf.

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Members of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

JOSEPH C CARTER, '32 ..... Editor-in-Chief
FRED W HOUSEHOLDER, '32 ..... Managing Editor
LYNFORD M PORTER, '31 ..... Sports Editor
ROSETTA M HARLOW ..... Women's Editor
J E TRACY, '32 ..... Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

J S Bigelow, '33 P B Drew, '33 S N Sparks, '33 ..... News Editors
G A Macdonald, '33 ..... Feature Editor
C J Kilburn, '33 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
P Pembroke, '32 ..... Contributing Editor

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

..... Associate Editor
..... Associate Editor

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

..... Associate Editor
..... Associate Editor
..... Associate Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

Sports Department M H Kaplan '34 M Kramer '34 C J Libby '34 H J Seith '34
Augusta Cohen '34 Dorothea Edwards '34 Margaret Morrison '34

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

C P Webber '32 ..... Advertising Manager
W E Morgan, Jr '32 E R Dunn '33 C W Janke '33 ..... Assistant Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the CYNIC office or telephoned at 2057 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Business communications must be addressed to the Business Manager, Phi Delta Theta House. All other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall.

Entered for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate of postage provided for in Sec. 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1918.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol 49 March 4, 1931 No. 38

GENTLEMANLY COOPERATION

The CYNIC editorial policy on certain vital issues maintains itself from year to year. We reprint below an editorial from the issue of November 22, 1929 entitled "The Proper Thing."

Let us tell you what happens when a college play is being contemplated for presentation.

1. The CYNIC learns of it. A reporter is sent out to get preliminary facts. He turns in a fairly long story which is printed in the next issue of the CYNIC. It is then that the student body as a whole learns of the proposed dramatic venture.

2. Dreams for those aspiring to hold down the various parts are built. A CYNIC reporter covers these and a long advance story is soon printed previous to this advance. Several articles of varying length have appeared, in which the history of the play, facts about its author, what the vehicle deals with and many other interesting points have been brought to the attention of the University.

3. A series of advances now begins to appear, each designed to stir up new interest among the student body.

4. In the issue of the CYNIC directly preceding the presentation of the play a "big splurge" is printed. All previous material is therein condensed, brought up-to-date, revised and made public. Its purpose is to focus as much attention as possible upon an outstanding event about to take place; to stir up student interest in the affair to its highest pitch; to wake up the stragglers who have thus far failed to purchase tickets in short, to make a big thing as big as it deserves to be.

5. The play is reviewed and reported upon in full in the CYNIC.

You will admit that this entails much time and work on the part of the men connected with the paper. Why does the CYNIC do it? For two reasons. First, because it is the duty of its editors to further the success of college functions; and, secondly, because it is after all, merely following regular, established newspaper procedure and policy.

And here we must pause to take to task those in charge of various University entertainments, plays, Kake Walk, dances and the rest. They evidently feel that it is not necessary to invite as their guest the reporter who is scheduled to review the function. They no doubt expect him to pay the regular admission fee in return for the pleasant task of placing the names of those in charge of the event in the headlines of the next issue. Or else, and we prefer to believe that this is the case, they do not realize that newspaper practice dictates "the proper thing to do" to the chairmen and directors of publicity and social events.

We are not connected with social obligations to print certain news. If such obligations exist they must exist in a mutual manner. In view of this, the CYNIC takes this opportunity of declaring a new policy. It is this: Two complimentary passes to each collegiate event must be given to the editor for his reporters. These invitations must be delivered in ample time before the event takes place.

Merely a statement of fact. The CYNIC endeavors to do its bit you should be perfectly willing to do yours. In other words, we ask for gentlemanly cooperation.

The comprehensive examination required of all sophomores at Haverford College contains 2,725 questions and takes almost twelve hours to complete. Nearly every part of a college education is covered by this test.

Yale's disbursements for the past year were about $16,500,000, according to the annual report of the treasurer. The expenditures of the university as a teaching organization were $7,022,988 for the same period.

At the University of Wisconsin students are required to carry identification cards "to prove that" they are entitled to attend classes. It was found that many outsiders were coming to classes and acquiring free education. Do colleges give liberal educations or not?

One of the oldest freshmen in the world is at the University of Chicago. He is 72 years old and obeys all the regulations and rules which the frosh must follow.

A memorial spittoon with the inscription "A word to the wise is sufficient" is presented each semester to the fraternity which has the poorest scholastic standing at a Down East college.

The colleges and universities of the United States play schoolmaster to some 10,000 students from foreign nations, a recent survey revealed.

After the secretary wiped her tears with her shirt the boys didn't have the heart to fire her.—Log

Intercollegiate News

10,000 COLLEGIANS PROTEST MILITARY

Carrying a petition of 10,000 college students from all sections of the country, a delegation of 45 student leaders arrived in Washington, Saturday, February 28 and presented to President Hoover and members of the Senate and the House of Representatives a request for abolishing the compulsory feature of military training from American colleges. The delegation came from Swarthmore, Bryn Mawr, Harvard, Yale, Johns Hopkins, George Washington and the University of Wisconsin. It was led by Nathaniel Weyl, Columbia, chairman of the delegation.

U. S. Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts made arrangements for the delegation to meet President Hoover's secretary, who will in turn present the petition and the views of the delegation to the President. The delegation's appointments for the morning included the interview at the White House, and interviews with Senators Walsh, Brookhart, Frazier, and others and some twenty representatives interested in legislation against drill. In the evening a mass meeting in support of the movement was held at George Washington University.

Petition

The petition, which contains the names of 10,000 students in 55 universities and colleges, makes three specific counts against compulsory military training for students. These objections are:

1. That military training teaches doctrines contrary to the best principles of the American people;
2. That military training idealizes war and is thus inconsistent with the Kellogg pact outlawing war; and
3. That the majority of student opinion is opposed to military training.

The text of the petition:

"We, the undersigned students in American colleges and universities, protest against compulsory military training in the colleges for the following reasons:

"We believe that military training courses tend to teach doctrines contrary to the principles of the American Government. In this light, we cite a definition of democracy as involving 'Agitation, anarchy, discontent,' from Manual 200,025 of the War Department. We object to the use of government funds to inculcate beliefs to which our government is unalterably opposed.

"We believe that military training courses seek to idealize war, and to inculcate a spirit of unquestioning military obedience which is an emotional armament of war. We quote with approval Mr. Raymond B. Fosdick's statement that military drill 'has as its chief result . . . . a change in the mental outlook of young people so that they look upon war as a normal part of life and expect to take part in it. It habituates the thought of the participants to slaughter as a rational means of settling international difficulties, as a legitimate means of reaching decisions.' We consider that our military drill courses are not only inconsistent with the Kellogg Pact repudiating war as a means of settling international disputes, but constitute a grave danger to world peace.

"We believe, finally, that insistence upon the compulsory feature of military training indicates that the majority of student opinion stands opposed to it, and constitutes its own confession of failure.

"Accordingly we petition the Congress of the United States to consider the mandate of student opinion on a matter which so vitally concerns it, and to outlaw the compulsory feature of military training from American colleges and universities."

Part of Concerted Drive

The petitions were circulated on campuses throughout the country under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Council of the League for Industrial Democracy, in support of three bills now before the House and the Senate abolishing the compulsory feature of drill. Although the campaign was hurried, much interest was shown and also vigorous opposition resulting in charges of "subversive efforts," "disarming the country," and aiding the Bolsheviks.—New York Times

KAPPA PHI KAPPA GROUP HEARS PEARL AT BANQUET

Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary educational society, held a banquet in South College, Friday evening, February 27. H. D. Pearl, principal of the Burlington High School, was the principle speaker of the evening.

The findings of the National Student Federation of America with reference to the use and abuse of alcoholic beverages resembled greatly the commonly recognized success of our own dear Wickersham Committee. That drinking among students would be eliminated was given no consideration. That conditions were either increasingly bad or at best very static was unanimously resolved.

"Pirates of Penzance" to Appear as this Spring's Opera Selecti

Comic Opera Will Be Presented April 16 by Combined Univer Glee Clubs—A Third Gilbert and Sullivan Production at Vermont in as Many Years

Pirates of Penzance," the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera which has met with popular acclaim in American colleges from McGill to Southern California will be presented at the University of Vermont by the combined men's and women's Glee Clubs April 16.

Gilbert and Sullivan, whose musical masterpieces have been presented here for the past two seasons, need no introduction to those who know and love music. Their comic opera, "Patience," was produced at the University in 1929 while last year the operetta, "Trial by Jury," appeared on the same bill as Gluck's grand opera, "Orpheus." These two writers justly enjoy world-wide fame, not only because of those works already mentioned, but also because of such well known operas as "Pinafore," and "The Mikado." Their operas have been translated into many foreign tongues, being especially well received in Germany.

The cast of characters has already been selected as held last Monday ing. The chorus yet been chosen held in a week or

In the plot, is woven, the pirate be British lords or another, have law. They are who do not extort the victims are are of their own all those who wrath; for death

Frederick, one of tices, was a pirate nursemaid had parents' wish to have pilot's trade, and jolly buccaneer.

Major General Stanley story as the father maidens, all of whom the pirates. Stanley is treated very well daughters, and also Englishman.

The popular "Hail, Hail the Gang's All taken from one of by the pirates and

The solo parts which are as follows: chief, W. E. Morgan, Jr. '32; M. B. Jenks '30; first Jenks '32; Frederick, a pirate tice, R. H. Allbee, General Stanley of the A. A. Scharbius, Jr., sergeant of police, B. Baker Mabel, Dorothy Fowler '31; Kathleen Perry '33; Edith, Katherine Skinner '32; Isabel, Charlotte '33; Ruth, a piratical maid-of-all-work, Mailla Putnam '31.

The Mystic Pen

Colyumists College

Final Exam, Comprehensive

Q.—What are the couple anticipating?

A.—A blessed event.

Q.—What is the condition of the former star?

A.—He is on his uppers.

Q.—What brought him to this pass?

A.—Likker, wimmen, dope, secret sorrow . . .

Q.—Where was the notable seen?

A.—In company with a broadway flutterby of uncertain rep.

Q.—Two peepul are seen together. Your conclusion?

A.—Miss X, heiress seems to be "that way" about Billy Z., Broadway playboy.

Q.—Youny couple married . . Expand?

A.—Mr. Z and Miss A were quietly middle-aisled t'other day, rheumor has it that necessity was the mother of invention.

Q.—What is done with material fit for waste basket?

A.—Three dots strung between every item and the whole given prominent position.

Q.—A night club omits to charge you convert. Result?

A.—We recommend: Judy's Palais de Joie, excellent service. Music superb. Martini headwtr.

Q.—Poetry is called . . . ?

A.—Pome.

B.—You are slammed by a public figure. Procedure?

A.—Criticise the slam, the gentleman, his antecedents, his wife, paramour, (invent one iffy hasn't any), and his bootlegger. Threaten to sue for defamation.

—mp—

Contemporary Crack of the Week

It was on a Fourth Avenue car that a buxom woman was standing in the aisle hanging to a strap. In front of her sat a rather cantankerous looking man, apparently absorbed in a newspaper. The car stopped suddenly and she trod sharply on his foot.

He looked up over his paper with anything but a happy expression.

"Madam," he said, "will you please get off my foot."

"Put your foot where it belongs," she replied shortly.

"Don't tempt me, Madam, don't tempt me," he countered.

—mp—

Mr. Sondburg, having lectured at Emory, read some of his poems, and departed, our contemporary, Mr. Haygood, graciously offers this super-excellent parody:

America is a ripe squash sitting at grand opera
It is a child who has been to the circus with Aunt Susie.
And bought peanuts, pop corn, balloons, candy,
And fed the tame zebras.
America has laid an egg. America has athlete's foot.
Down on the corner of Main and Third streets
A man sits all day in Finklestein's delicatessen
Pulling the wings off of flies.
Steel clashes, turbines groan, smoke pours, surgeons surge.
'Change cars for Buckhead.' 'What the hell?'
Millions of car riders read the ads each day.
Across the street is the Morgue where people lie dead.
Like children who have eaten too many handfuls of cement.
Life is just one damn thing after another.
But Bessie couldn't help it."

. . which, you will admit, is better than Carl would have dreamed of treating the subject.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Prof. and Mrs. A. G. Buehle, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Van Dyke eroned the Pledge dance which held at the Theta house Saturday ning, February 28. The Black orchestra furnished music.

PI BETA PHI

At the Pledge dance which was at the Eastern Star rooms Saturday night, February 28, Mr. and Mrs. Abell and Prof. and Mrs. Jay Pooley acted as chaperones. was furnished by Freddie Lyn chestra.

SIGMA GAMMA

The Pledge dance, held at the lic Daughters' rooms Saturday February 28, was chaperoned by and Mrs. Elijah Swift and Pro Mrs. J. O. Bullard. Lochmonters played.

KAPPA DELTA

The Kappa Delta Pledge dance held at the Klifa Club, Saturday ning, February 28, with Major Mrs. O. H. Stanley and Prof. an L. W. Dean as chaperones. was furnished by Franklin dance orchestra.

EPSILON SIGMA

Epsilon Sigma announces the ing of Rosamond Dotey of Wo land, Carolyn Nichols of Mo Falls, Martha Bates of Green Lucile Pelsue of Belmont, all freshman class.

Gertrude Nicholson '29 w teaching in Shoreham, was a visitor in town.

Chocolates were passed at meeting to announce the engage of Maxine Schmidt, '31, a the University of Wisconsin Alvin Midgley, a research at the University of Ver tor Midgley is a gradu Agricultural College and versity of Wisconsin and of Pi Beta Rho fraternity.

FOUR MEN ARE ACCEPTED BY ALPHA ZETA SOC

Alpha Zeta, men's honorary tural society, held a meeting day afternoon at 4 in Hall to vote on initiates.

The sophomore men dents whose scholastic them in the upper two class are eligible for There are four men sophomore class that necessary requirements.

The four who were cepted are J. O. Bu Vt., J. O. Hoag of N. W. McLaren of C. D. Watson of N

As his last request he be hanged asked to swings.

SPORTING NEWS

Alumni Weekly Prints History of University of Vermont Basketball

Team of 1923-24 Season is Considered Best—Tribute Paid to Tom Keady as the Individual Doing Most for Basketball at Vermont written by Mr J Addison in the Alumni Weekly Howard Prentice issued for basketball candidates ember, it marked the begin twentieth season that Ver supported a varsity basket The game was first played the winter of 1900-01. ter sport, which has grown steadily in favor during the made a most humble be but has since proven itself most successful of any major the history of University ath And only when the great success which has at times rivalled by baseball teams repre Vermont is taken into con is the true worth of this best appreciated the initial season in 1900-01, hopes and ambitions were held next year when it was thought new gymnasium would be able for practice and home games. disappointment, then, was the when it was learned that the which ranked with the largest most up-to-date in New England time, would not be ready for until after the season was over result the entire schedule had to cancelled and no team was put on the floor

When the season of 1902-03 rolled interest in the court game had somewhat, while some mem of the team of two years previous graduated, with the result that a season was experienced. How during the years that followed. success of the quintets grew until, in 1907-08, more games won than lost for the first time history

However, the college authorities sud interrupted this progress by de that it was best to cease sup a varsity team because of the sufficient support to make it paying proposition. In its stead, class games were substituted.

During this opening era the game characterized by its roughness and a little fear was held for its ulti success because of this. The and Gold fives of this time were somewhat handicapped when play away from home because of the size of most of the foreign as compared with their own playing surface in the gym Few games were played dur the season and amateur and prep teams furnished the opposition one of them. Scores were also lower than is the case today.

First Paid Coach

A regular paid coach was not en until the season of 1906-07. Thomas Hayes was picked for sition. The success of the teams that year and the next justified this move.

It was not until the war year of that U. V. M. was again repre on the court. That winter, representatives of the four colleges in State held a meeting and drew up schedule of games. Authorities permission and a team was After a minimum of pre practice, and with no coach, came out second best in the the State championship, Mid winning the honor in rather fashion. No games were played with the three State opponents. following winters, basketball major sport was again frowned by the authorities, and it was once more supplanted by interclass winter of 1920-21 saw the incep the modern era in this sport Vermont, and the game has been supported since that time without a break could be said that one man, man any other single individual, one more toward putting Ver on the basketball map, that would in all probability fail to Thomas Keady who acted as coach 21 to 1925. Under "Tom's" ex guidance, the Green and Gold waved exultantly over the of many a powerful foe during e. During those four glorious U. V. M. won fifty-six games and dropped fifteen, and three of these defeats were by one point, and four were sustained in extra period

Probably the very best team represent Vermont on the bas court was the veteran aggrega the season of 1923-24, when contests were won and only two ring the Green and Gold the onship of New England. Hardly cessful was the quintet of the following season which won fourteen games and lost three and which also claimed the New England championship. All honor to J. Thomas Keady moulder of champions

The teams since Keady's régime while not quite so successful as those under his tutelage have nevertheless made very creditable showings until last winter when the most disastrous season in the history of the game was experienced, due partly to lack of material. Injuries and scholastic requirements took an unusually big toll with the inevitable result that a large majority of the games engaged in were lost

Although some of the earliest records are somewhat incomplete the writer has been able to gather practically all statistics which are available and these are interesting enough in some instances to engage our attention here

During the nineteen seasons that a team has been supported, 221 games have been played, resulting in 137 victories and 84 defeats for an all time percentage of .620. Of these 161 games were played between the years 1920 and 1928, resulting in 108 victories and 53 defeats, or a percentage of .671. In twelve of the nineteen years, at least half of the games participated in have been won

The team of the season of 1921-22 compiled the greatest number of points during any single season, amassing a total of 660 in nineteen games or an average of 34.7 points per game. The quintet of the 1920-21 season had the honor of holding its opponents to the lowest total number of points, allowing but 335 tallies in sixteen games or an average of 20.7 points per game

That U. V. M. quintets have had the faculty of scoring a large number of points in single games is proven by the fact that eighteen times a total of forty-five points or more have been rolled up, the high water mark being sixty-one, against St. Michael's in the season of 1927-28. Such high class fives as Holy Cross, Tufts, McGill, and Boston University have been the opponents when Vermont has run wild. There have been also many fine defensive quintets wearing the Green and Gold, as is attested by the fact that twenty-five times have opponents been let down with fifteen or less points since 1917-18. Before that time it was the rule rather than the exception for a team to score a dozen or so points and yet win. The low water mark was turned in against Norwich during the season of 1922-23, when the Cadets were forced to be content with eight points. Springfield, Holy Cross, Northeastern, New Hampshire, Massachusetts Aggies and Lowell Textile, among the first rate quintets, have all discovered that it is no easy matter to penetrate a determined Vermont defense.

The record of U. V. M. basketeers in the State championship series, which has been known as the Green Mountain Conference since 1927, is one in which Green and Gold adherents may well take great pride. During the eleven years that Vermont has been represented, she has emerged victorious seven times, and has tied for the title once; in the remaining three years she has finished second twice, and last once. In all, Vermont has won fifty-two and has lost fourteen games against State rivals. During the years from 1922 to 1926 the Burlington entry won twenty-eight straight contests without a single defeat. Until last winter's sad showing, fifty-two out of sixty games had been put on the right side of the ledger.

Vermont's record against her arch rivals, Middlebury and Norwich, is a proud one, fifteen out of twenty-two games having been won from the former, and twenty-two out of twenty-nine from the latter, who have been met on the court more frequently than any other opponent in the history of the game here

Among the renowned college quintets which have tasted defeat at the hands of U. V. M. are numbered Yale, Holy Cross, New York University, Boston University, Boston College, Tufts, McGill, New Hampshire, Massachusetts Aggies, Wesleyan, Villanova, Detroit and Springfield. Dartmouth has also been conquered once, but that epic took place back in the "dark ages" before the game had attained its present high place in the sports curriculum of all colleges and universities; it happened in the season of 1903-04, and was achieved in the local gymnasium, the score reading 12 to 3 in favor of Vermont at the finish, after Dartmouth had established a 2 to 2 lead in the first half

Dartmouth, Springfield and Holy Cross are, incidently, about the only teams which have succeeded in winning games from Vermont with any degree of regularity

The list of stars who have scaled the heights to the pinnacle of fame through the years with Vermont court teams includes such well-known names as: "Ray" Collins, whose name is practically a synonym for baseball at Vermont, Wilfred Barlow, Fenwick Watkins, "Bill" Hammond, "Red" Harris, "Sammy" Semansky, Claire Cayward, "Rusty" Yarnall, "Vin" Carney, "Red" Taylor, "Archie" Post, "Bunny" Prentice, "Kiki" Price, Seely Estabrook, "Tim" Halligan, and Wally Sargent. Certainly no all-time all-state team would be complete without such basketball immortals as Cayward, Semansky, Yarnall, Prentice and Price. All of these men were all-New England favorites during their active careers.

Since 1920, basketball on the hill has been royally supported by both students and townsfolk and just as long as teams of the high caliber of those in the past continue to appear, the gym will continue to be packed with enthusiastic fans and the game will continue to be as much of a success as it has been. Although last year saw a

(Continued on page 4)

KITTENS DEFEAT T. C. A. BUT LOSE TO POWERFUL VERMONT ACADEMY FIVE

Troy Conference Academy Is Conquered, 21 to 16—Final Score of Vermont Academy Fray is 44 to 21

FROSH END SEASON WITH ONE WIN IN FIVE GAMES

In the two final games on the Vermont freshman basketball schedule Coach Post's charges split even with Troy Conference Academy and Vermont Academy. The first victory of the season was registered Friday night against the former by the score of 21 to 16 but on the following night the latter trounced the Frosh 44 to 21. Both games were played on the home floor and brought an end to the Kittens five-game season with a record of one win and four losses.

Kittens Victorious

Reversing an early season decision the Frosh quintet conquered the Troy Conference Academy's team of Poultney in a close and interesting contest Friday night. T. C. A. started the game as if to repeat its earlier victory by scoring three baskets in the first period while holding the Kittens scoreless. The Frosh club continued to fight for the ball and slowly and steadily cut the lead of the down-state team to one point when the half ended with the score 6 to 5.

Saba opened the second half by dribbling down for a step shot the Kittens forging ahead. The score was tied by the visitors at 7 to 7 but from then on the Frosh worked smoothly. Wilson and Delfausse alternating at right guard scored seven and six six points respectively to lead in the night's scoring. Ed Saba played a fine floor game and aided greatly in the team's point getting. Hook forward for T. C. A. led his team with three field goals to his credit. The play of the Frosh was more coordinated than heretofore this season and several of the yearling team men showed some promising material for next year's varsity.

The summary

FRESHMEN

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Morris, l.f.	1	0	2
Saba, l.f.	1	2	4
Morgan, c.	1	0	2
Delfausse, r.g.	2	2	6
Wilson, r.g.	3	1	7
Rust, l.g.	0	0	0
Wesly, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	8	5	21

TROY CONFERENCE ACADEMY

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Montina, l.g.	0	0	0
V. Perry, r.g.	0	1	1
R. Perry, r.g.	0	0	0
Newcity, c.	2	0	4
Hook, l.f.	3	0	6
Livingston, l.f.	0	1	1
Gill, r.f.	2	0	4
Colbath, r.f.	0	0	0
Totals	7	2	16

Referee: Estabrook, V. S. B.
Umpire: Price, V. S. B.

(Continued on page 4)

MIDDLEBURY HOCKEY GAME IS CANCELLED

What for conditions impossible it has been found advisable to cancel the Vermont-Middlebury hockey game which was to have been played on the U. V. M. rink. Originally scheduled on February 17, this contest has been postponed a number of times and was to have been played last Saturday

Cats Drop Last Game of Season

Vermont Five Holds Up Well in First Half Against Norwich but then Weaken to Lose, 26 to 18

With Hartford and Fanos leading the attack the Norwich basketball five handed the Green and Gold quintet a 26 to 18 setback on the local court last Thursday in the Cats' last game of the season. This contest stretched the Horsemen's winning streak to seven consecutive games and assured them tieles of the State Conference title.

Setting a furious pace in the opening minutes in which they secured a four point lead on the visitors it looked for a while as if Coach Prentice's men might unhorse the highly touted cavalrymen. But they wilted near the close of the initial stanza and a rally on the part of the Cadets enabled them to come from behind and forge ahead by one point. The score at half time was 10 to 9 for the Maroon. Tupper garnered two-thirds of Vermont's points in this period on three clean floor goals.

Vermont secured a brief advantage in the final counts leading the Horsemen 12 to 11 after a few minutes of play. Then Norwich hit its stride and with an offensive combination which clicked against the rapidly weakening defense of the Green and Gold contingent raised its tally to 19 while the Cats were netting a lone foul. Tupper left the game via the foul route at this point and was soon followed by Winant and Captain Wally Sargent who was playing the last game of his basketball career. A final attempt was made to overhaul the constantly increasing lead of the Kaydets but met with no success. The final count stood 26 to 18 against Vermont.

The summary:

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Winant, l.f.	0	1	1
Tobin, r.f.	0	2	2
Sargent, Capt., c.	1	2	4
Allerton, c.	1	0	2
Taft, l.f.	1	0	2
Tupper, r.f.	3	1	7
Pires, r.f.	0	0	0
Farwell, r.f.	0	0	0
Totals	6	6	18

NORWICH

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Fanos, r.f.	3	1	7
Stevens, r.f.	0	0	0
Leddy, l.f.	3	2	8
Washburn, l.f.	0	0	0
Vichler, c.	1	2	4
Sipsey, r.g.	1	0	2
Forbes, r.g.	0	0	0
Hartford, Capt., l.g.	1	3	5
Totals	9	8	26

Referee: O'Brien

DELTA PSI AND KAPPA SIGMA TEAMS QUALIFY FOR INTERFRAT FINALS

Winners in Semi-finals of Interfraternty Basketball Meet to Decide the 1930-31 Championship

KEEN COMPETITION IN TOURNAMENT GAMES

Inter-fraternity basketball sponsored by the Department of Physical Education has progressed to determine the finalists in the two leagues. Kappa Sigma by virtue of beating the strong Sigma Nu team qualified to meet the fast aggregation of Delta Psi aggregation for the fraternity championship in the finals which were held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Kappa Sig 23—Sigma Nu 22

The opening game of the semi-finals Friday attracted some two hundred basketball fans. Kappa Sigma minus the services of their stellar forward Eddie Newcomb fought to a hard earned 23 to 22 victory over the strong Sigma Nu five. The game started fast and after a few minutes of passing and cutting Captain Jay of the Kappa Sigma team broke the ice by making good a free throw. Shortly afterwards Cummings passed to Bowers, who promptly registered two more points to give the Kappa Sigs a 3 to 0 lead.

The Sigma Nus made their first score on a long shot by Buzzell. Then both teams settled down to work and gradually Kappa Sigma's early lead was reduced until Maynes shot tied the score. Finally by scoring on a free throw, Captain Maynes placed his team in the lead and the half ended with the score 12 to 11 in Sigma Nu's favor.

The second half found the teams fighting on even terms and it was not until the final whistle was blown that a winner could be picked. The score changed almost as many times as there were baskets. Step shots were few as both teams had strong defenses. The third quarter ended with the Kappa Sigma team in the lead 19 to 16.

Aiken, Sigma Nu, opened the final period with a long shot which tightened the score now 19 to 18. Once more the game took added spirit and fast basketball resulted. Souba sank two field goals and the score read 23 to 18. Two points were gained by the Sig's club when Aiken made good two free throws. With fifteen seconds to play, Buzzell lofted a beautiful shot from behind the center of the court to make the score 23 to 22. The game ended shortly after the ball was thrown up at center. Summary:

SIGMA NU

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Aiken, r.f.	1	3	5
Buzzell, l.f.	2	0	4
Bove, l.f.	0	0	0
Cogswell, l.f.	0	0	0
Phillips, c.	0	0	0
Follette, c.	2	0	4
McGowan, r.g.	0	2	2
Maynes, l.g.	3	1	7
Totals	8	6	22

(Continued on page 4)

INDIVIDUALITY Versus UNIFORMITY

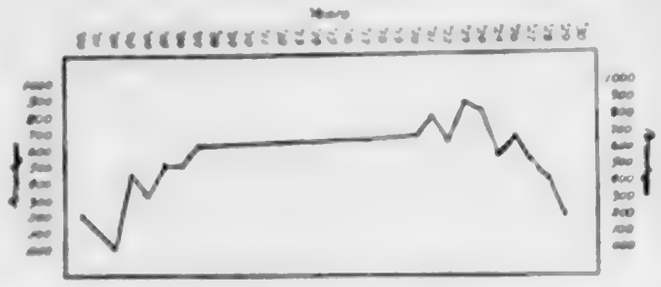
The ability to endow these two attributes successfully is the charm of

OUR UNIVERSITY STYLED CLOTHES

Moderately priced
With two trousers
$35 $40 $45

'TURKS
Burlington
Vt.

History of Vermont Basketball



[illegible]						No Varsity team			H. E. Bray
[illegible]	0	4	[illegible]	54	13.5*
[illegible]	4	5	444	128	146	Fogg, f.	23	38*
[illegible]	3	6	333	195	270	Barlow, f	67	7.4	M. R. Peck
[illegible]	1	1	500	37	37	Burk, g	14	7.0	L. W. Thomas
[illegible]	5	5	500	139	108	Barlow, f	52	5.8	W. A. Barlow — T. E. Hayes
[illegible]	7	4	.636	219	157	Watkins, f	92	8.4	F. H. Watkins — T. E. Hayes
[illegible]						No Varsity team
[illegible]	6	3	.750	191	143	Blood, f., c.	54	9.0	W. L. Hammond
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	335	Hedger, f., g	105	6.6	L. C. Hedger — P. A. Larned
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	124	11.8	F. S. Harris — J. T. Keady
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	40	13.3	C. N. Stevens — J. T. Keady
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	11[illegible]	7.5	[illegible] G. Cayward — J. T. Keady
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	1[illegible]	9.1	[illegible] G. Cayward — J. T. Keady
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	594	[illegible]	[illegible]6	10.8	A. T. Post — W. J. McAvoy
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	180	Prentice, f.	180	11.3	L. H. Marvin — W. J. McAvoy
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	1[illegible]	11.[illegible]	H. A. Prentice — W. J. McAvoy
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	444	648	[illegible]	[illegible]	11[illegible]	[illegible]8	J. S. Estabrook — C. G. Cayward
[illegible]	4	[illegible]	.400	477	715	Halligan, f., g.	95	5.0	T. J. Halligan — K. L. Berry

* Estimated.

The record of Vermont basketball teams against major opponents:

[illegible] S. A. S.	7	0	1.000
Clarkson Tech	5	0	1.000
[illegible] Inst. of Tech.	2	0	1.000
[illegible]	1	0	1.000
[illegible]	1	0	1.000
[illegible]	2	0	1.000
McGill Univ.	11	1	.917
St. Michael's	19	3	.824
[illegible]	22	7	.759
[illegible]	7	2	.750
[illegible]	3	1	.750
[illegible]	6	2	.750
Middlebury	15	7	.682
Yale	2	1	.667
Mass. Aggies	5	3	.625
[illegible] Aggies	2	2	.500
Rensselaer Poly.	2	2	.500
[illegible]	1	2	.333
Holy Cross	4	10	.286
New York Univ.	1	3	.250
[illegible]	1	3	.250
Springfield	4	14	.222
Dartmouth	1	9	.100
Manhattan	0	2	.000
Albany Law Sch.	0	2	.000

Percentages of Games Won by U.V.M.'s Basket-Ball Teams, 1900-30

DELTA PSI AND KAPPA SIGMA ARE IN FINALS

(Continued from page 5)

KAPPA SIGMA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Smith, r.f.	2	1	5
Jay, l.f.	2	1	5
Bowers, c.	2	1	5
Sowka, r.g.	3	2	8
Cummings, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	9	5	23

Referee: H. B. Levine, V. S. B.

Delta Psi 20—A. T. O. 14

Another hard fought battle was the second game of the afternoon when Delta Psi met and conquered the fighting A. T. O. quintet, 20 to 14. Beckley of Delta Psi initiated the scoring by a long shot, giving his team a lead upon which to work. Tom Marvin added another long one before A. T. O. entered the scoring column, when Abbott made a point following Marvin's foul for charging. Mahoney netted another point at the free throw lane. Brislin, a snappy floor man and the key to the A. T. O. offense, tied the score with a clean field goal, 4 to 4.

Again the teams fought for the ball, both fives missing many easy shots. Dorey finally slipped through the Delta Psi defense and put A. T. O. in the lead. With the score so close, the game became hotly contested and rough, many fouls being called on both teams.

Beckley and Woodruff scored in quick succession for Delta Psi, and for the rest of the fray Delta Psi maintained the lead. Brislin sank another long shot, and the score tightened to read 9 to 8. As the half ended, Delta Psi was on top with the count 13 to 9.

The A. T. O. quintet started the closing period in a grand rush. Short, snappy passes placed Baldwin in position to sink a field goal. Delta Psi then attempted a [illegible] did not work so well [illegible] the whole length of the [illegible] ter a nice step shot [illegible] the bleachers, inflicting [illegible] eye which forced him [illegible] game. A foul shot by [illegible] field goal by the A. T. [illegible] the game to an end [illegible] being 20 to 14.

The summary:

DELTA PSI

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Marvin, T., r.f	[illegible]
Woodruff, l.f	[illegible]
Marvin, R., c	[illegible]
Parks, c	[illegible]
Bradish, r.g	[illegible]
Beckley, l.g.	[illegible]
Totals	[illegible]

ALPHA TAU O[illegible]

	G[illegible]
Baldwin, r.f.	2	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pierce, r.f.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Brislin, l.f.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Abbott, c.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mahoney, r.g.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Dorey, l.g.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Totals	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Referee: Post, V. S. B.
Umpire: Abel, V. S. B.

Ship's cook (to new h[illegible] been on a ship before?
Helper: Sure, I was [illegible] the Navy.
Cook: Well start right [illegible] the peas.—Norwich Guidon

KITTENS DEFEAT T. C. A. BUT LOSE TO V. A. FIVE

(Continued from page 1)

Vermont Academy Wins

In a hard fought and fast game the strong Vermont Academy basketball team took the inexperienced freshman team into camp Saturday night by the score of 44 to 21. The Academy boys outplayed the yearlings but had a very hard time demonstrating the fact.

The box score:

FRESHMEN

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Morse, r.f.	0	0	0
Edgewell, r.f.	0	0	0
Saba, l.f.	1	2	4
Walters, l.f.	0	0	0
Morgan, c.	2	0	4
Myers, c.	1	0	2
Wilson, r.g.	2	1	5
Beckley, r.g.	0	1	1
Delfausse, l.g.	2	1	5
Wendy, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	8	5	21

VERMONT ACADEMY

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Meikle, r.g.	1	2	4
Kinder, r.g.	0	0	0
Schwarz, r.g.	6	0	12
Poole, r.g.	0	0	0
Skupinski, c.	4	0	8
Beardsley, c.	0	0	0
Farro, l.f.	2	2	6
De Young, r.f.	5	3	13
Melegonis, r.f.	0	1	1
Totals	18	8	44

Referee: Price.
Umpire: Estabrook.
Scorer: Grant.
Timer: Libby.

NOTICE

The Medical Book Store is offering academic caps and gowns for rent from Founder's Day through Commencement Day at the following rates:

$3.00 if order is placed before Founder's Day.

$3.50 if order is placed after Founder's Day.

The total amount of the rental fee must be paid when the order is placed.

The Book Store will be unable to guarantee to fill orders placed after June 1.

The selling price of the academic caps and gowns is $9.00.

A refund of 50 cents will be made to the seniors returning their caps and gowns to the Medical Book Store before 5 p.m. of Commencement Monday.

Orders for invitations and announcements for graduation are also being taken at the University Store.

All such orders with payment in full must be placed before the Easter recess.

Recipe for success: Find out where the money is and get there as quickly as you can and when you get there get all that you can get there and then get out of there with all that you could get out of those that are there, before those that are there get out of you all that you got there after you went there.—Wesleyan Argus.

ALUMNI WEEKLY PRINTS HISTORY VT. BASKETBALL

(Continued on page 3)

sudden change in the fortunes of the court game, this year's team, with such a competent and skilled coach as Howard Prentice at the helm, should again place the sport back on the high pedestal which it occupied before, and with the influx of some high-grade material in the years to come, basketball at Vermont should regain its position among the leaders in the country.

As one father remarked to his son who was debating the question as to which college he should attend, "Remember, my boy, one school has as much to offer you as another, that is, unless you were a whiz as a high school quarterback."—Tommie Topics.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT SHOPPE

SOUPS: Home-made Vegetable; Home-made Chicken Cream Tomato

SANDWICHES: Hot Chicken; Hot Roast Beef; Hot Hamburg

PASTRIES: Cream Puffs; Jelly Doughnuts; Macaroons; Brownies; Eclaires; Glaced Doughnuts

DOUGHNUTS "Better than the Best"

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2970, 2971, 2972

The Old Burdick

SILK NET HOSIERY
ARE VERY SMART
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
$1.95 Pr.
Silk from top to toe.
Smartest new shades

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
Special for Sophomore Hop
Shampoo and Finger Wave
$1.25
43 Church St. Phone 538

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1867
College men and women prepare for a profession of outstanding interest and opportunity. Recent research has changed the scope of every phase of dentistry. The field demands more than ever before men and women of ability backed by superior training. Such training Tufts College Dental School offers to its students. School opens on September 30, 1931. Our catalog may guide you in choosing your career. For information address—
Dr. William Rice, Dean
416 Huntington Avenue Boston, Mass.

SALE
of
Suits and Overcoats
SUITS $28.50 OVERCOATS $20.00
HAYES & CARNEY, Inc.
195-197 Bank Street Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Measurements will be taken for CAPS and GOWNS of the Second Year Teacher Training students, beginning March 2nd and continuing through March 15th.
Call at the UNNIVERSITY STORE OFFICE for your measurements.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed ..... $ .50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed 1.50
Coats cleaned and pressed 1.50

Down on the Stanford Farm

. . . pipe smokers agree with NAVY • HARVARD WASHINGTON COLGATE

"FROM the foothills to the bay" the curling tendrils of smoke from pipes loaded with Edgeworth rise to meet the sunset fire.

In the Stadium before the big games . . . watching spring football practice . . . in the great hall of Encina . . . over on the Row and up on the Hill . . . men of Stanford give Edgeworth the preference over all other tobacco brands.

College men everywhere are turning to Edgeworth! In 42 out of 54 of the leading colleges and universities Edgeworth is the favorite pipe tobacco.

To win the vote of so many college men a tobacco must be good. If you've never tried Edgeworth begin today! The pocket tin is only 15¢. Or, for generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d Street, Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1931 — NUMBER 39

New-Formed Varsity Forensic Trio Outlines Lengthy Western Tour

Nelson, Donaghy and LaCrosse To Spend Three Weeks in Four States and Two Countries

FORENSIANS WILL MEET SEVENTEEN INSTITUTIONS

...extended Western trip in ... two countries to last ... weeks, meeting a total of ... different debating ... newly formed varsity ... will start its activities in ...

... comprises, G. R. Nelson, ... LaCrosse, '32, and R. P. ... Free trade, unemployment, ... modern advertising, ... and the jury system ... of the topics for argu...

... will meet Wheaton College ... Ill. March 18, North Central ... at Naperville, Ill., March 19, ... at Rock Island, March 20, ... at Carthage, Ill., March 21. ... speakers will hop to Ohio ... with State College at Bowling ..., Ohio, March 23. Next Vermont will combat Hindelberge College, Tiffin, Ohio, March 24; Ashland College, March 25; Mount Union College at Alliance, Ohio, March 26; ... State at Kent, Ohio, March 27; ... Carroll University at Cleveland, ... and Western Reserve at ... March 30.

... State will be next on the ... would-be-conquering forensians. ... University of Buffalo will be ... April 1 at Buffalo. New ... University will be the opponents ... debate to be broadcast ... WBNX at 4.30 p.m. April 3. ... will see the Vermont men at ... at Scranton, Pa., April 7 ... in New York City. A ... Virginia, team is expected ... Vermont in New York during ... in that city.

... making the trip is an ex... G. R. Nelson, with four ... varsity debating to his credit, ... P. J. LaCrosse and R. P. ... will serve as smooth running ... Nelson. Both are products ... class teams and each has ... well on the junior varsity.

... March 20 New York University ... travelling team to Burlington ... the relative merits of tar... Vermont will uphold the negative ... minutes for constructive arguments and five for rebuttal. Three ... to be used in this debate. No ... has been made on who these ...

... March 17 the barnstorming team ... University of Florida will debate ... Burlington on the negative of ... question. This will be a two ... debate. Twelve minutes in constructive argument, five in argument. ... who will participate in it ... as yet chosen.

... to settle upon a satisfactory ... with State College at Albany at ... the Vermont team will make ... trip their on either April 24 ... 25.

GOLD KEY ELECTS NEW SEMESTER'S OFFICERS

...eeting of the Gold Key Society last week at the Sigma ...stion House, the following ...fficers was elected for this ...

...t Francis J. Massucco of ... Falls, vice-president, Maurice ... of Burlington; secretary, ... Drew of Randolph; and ... James E. Wood of Belmont. ...ons were discussed for the ... activities.

... is a member of Sigma ... fraternity and served as vice-president of Gold Key last semester. ... is a member of Alpha Tau ... and prominent in class activi...

... a member of Lambda Iota, ... Phi, and the French Club. ... editor of the Cynic, was chairman ... Football Hop, assistant editor of the Freshman Handbook, and has ... the Dean's list each semester. ... a member of Phi Delta ... V. C. A. executive cabinet ... varsity hockey squad

RELIANCE ON DEITY OF CHRIST IS ESSENTIAL

"Throw yourself with unswerving confidence on the deity of Jesus Christ," said the Rev. John Henry Hopkins of Grand Isle in the Ira Allen Chapel Wednesday morning. Doctor Hopkins graduated from the University in the class of 85 and was formerly the Episcopal Rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Chicago.

"When we leave our Alma Mater," he said, "the best and most inspiring scenes which we convey with us are the scenes of our mountains and hills. Loftiness of ideals are inspired by the mountains and hillsides. Faith," he said, "is an element of belief. Belief is an act of will. We accomplish all things by faith. Superstitions are unreasonable beliefs which antagonize faith. The worst superstitions are negative superstitions."

THIRD WINNOWINGS OF YEAR WILL CARRY POEMS, ESSAYS, SHORT STORIES

March Issue of Literary Publication Contains Many Student Creations

Carrying in its table of contents two essays, two poems, and a short story by student authors, besides a feature written by Merritt P. Allen, the third issue of Winnowings from the Mill will make its appearance on the campus immediately preceding the Easter recess.

MARGARET RICE

Editor of the Winnowings, who has announced the third issue of the literary magazine this year.

The feature of the issue will be the poem by Janice Goodrich, '30 which won the second prize in the Tri-State Literary Contest last year.

Another feature will be an essay by Merritt Parmelie Allen of Bristol. Mr. Allen has written for Boy's Life and the American Boy, as well as writing several juvenile books. His work has been received very well.

Margaret Rice, '31 has written a group of pleasing essays entitled, "Tales of Old Houses." Gladys LaFlamme, '33 writes an essay entitled, "Pine Trees."

R. B. Aiken, '31 contributes a poem, "Rondeau."

One short story "The Werewolf" is by Justine Rogers, '31.

E. J. Fitzgerald completes the issue with his monthly column "Books."

ANNUAL MILITARY BALL MARCH 13, AUDITORIUM

Sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, the annual formal military ball with music by Lechnyr's Vermonters and admission $2.00 per couple will be held from 9 to 1 o'clock in the Memorial Auditorium Friday evening, March 13.

"All members of the military battalion including freshmen and sophomores this year will be permitted to wear their uniforms to save the expense of a tuxedo," states F. A. McBride, chairman of the dance committee.

Refreshments will be served during the evening and there will be many favors and novelties.

Guests from Norwich and the Fort Ethan Allen Post will attend the dance upon invitation extended them by Military Society. Officials of the military department will act as chaperones.

We know a senior who fell asleep during the commencement exercises because he counted the sheepskins

TWENTY-THREE ATTAIN PRESIDENT'S RECOGNITION FOR HIGH SCHOLARSHIP

Thirteen Second Year Students and Ten Freshmen Win High Honors

FOURTEEN CO-EDS HEAD LIST WITH NINE MEN

Twenty sophomores and ten freshmen are given the high scholarship recognition by President Bailey for the semester. Two sophomores and one freshman gained in the group having no grades below A. The class of 1933 also exceeded the lower class by two in having eleven students in group B with no grades below B. Fourteen women and nine men attained recognition on the list.

HIGH STANDING LIST

February, 1931

Group A

1933

(No grade below A)

Susan Read, L. L. Woodward

Group B

(No grade below B)

Ethel Bishop, Norma Carder, F. B. Drew, Elizabeth Eckhard, Leah Gowen, Mildred Hastings, J. O. Hong, L. M. Preedom, E. J. Swinyer, Katherine Tolman, Isobel Torrens.

1934

Ruth Reynolds.

J. L. Beckley, Stella Brown, Grace Harris, D. W. Jenks, Ruth Johnstone, Elizabeth MacLeod, J. N. Monte, Ida Saiger, H. C. Wilson.

PASSION PLAY COMPANY WANTS STUDENT EXTRAS

Offers All Vermont Men and Women Honor of a Role in Production

"An opportunity that comes but once in a lifetime is offered to all men and women students in the University to take an active part in the "Passion Play" as extras or supernumerae, during its presentation at the Strong Theatre next week from March 11 to 14," states the general representative of the traveling troupe of players.

An unlimited number of students from the University of Vermont will be given such roles as citizens, Roman soldiers, angels, maidens, princes and others, with gorgeous and expensive costumes provided free by the "Passion Play" Company. All who take part will be permitted to see this world's oldest and biggest stage production without charge.

Mr. Omer Kenyon states that all who want the honor of playing in the "Passion Play" should report at the box office of the Strong Theatre as soon as possible, for directions. There will be no parts to learn, all the costumes will be issued free of charge and the play may be enjoyed by those assuming the parts of extras.

Rehearsals will be held tonight at 7.30 o'clock, Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, at the Strong Theatre, and Monday and Tuesday at 7.30 o'clock at the City Hall Auditorium.

As in all the other American college cities where the Passion Play has been presented, students have been eager to be among the cast of Freiburg players with Mr. Adolph Fassnacht, who assumes the Christus rôle.

For students of the University a special matinee will be presented Thursday, March 12, with unreserved seats selling at the reduced rate of 50 cents.

This pageant sublime, direct from Germany, is playing in Burlington as its first and only appearance in the State of Vermont. It is the Biblical story of the life of Christ and is truly a stupendous production in its art, drama, and emotional attributes.

First played in Freiburg, Baden, Germany in 1264, this original German troupe is on one leg of its tour of the United States on its way to the Pacific Coast. It features Adolph Fassnacht, the world's greatest Christus portrayer and his family with a most notable cast of players.

Mildred Aikens, '32, and Lillian Mount, '32, plan to attend the W. A. A. convention which will be held March 13, at Syracuse University.

EIGHT FRATS INITIATE NEW MEN AT FORMALS

Eight fraternities recently announced pledges who were received Saturday, bringing the formal initiates. These organizations were: Delta Psi Zeta, Chi Lambda, Iota Sigma Phi, Phi Sigma Delta, Eta Epsilon Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Other fraternities were Alpha Tau Omega, and Sigma Nu and Phi Delta Theta, all of which will initiate March 14. Phi Mu Delta has set apart March 8 for its great event while Kappa Sigma has set no definite date for its quota of initiates.

UNIVERSITY BEQUEATHED HOME OF MRS. STETSON AS WOMEN'S DORMITORY

Alpha Chi Omega Willed $1,000 to Apply Toward Main Street Residence

By her will the late Mrs. Mary B. Stetson, director of women's dormitories has bequeathed the University of Vermont her home and lot on 101 Overlake Park to be used solely for cooperative housekeeping by women taking a four year course in the University supervision to college women. $1,000 is also left to the Alpha Chi Omega sorority, to be applied toward payment on their new chapter house on Main Street.

Prefacing the bequest to the University, Mrs. Stetson noted in her will that her husband, the late Carleton B. Stetson, was long a professor at the University, that her son, the late Carleton B. Stetson, Jr., was a student at the University, and that she herself had long been connected with and in the service of the University.

Mrs. Stetson was also interested in cooperative housekeeping under University supervision, for college women who perhaps might find it hard to finance board and room in the dormitories. When she decided to bequeath her property to the University for this purpose she interested President Guy W. Bailey and at her wish the University secured options on two building lots in Overlake Park adjoining her property.

Mrs. Stetson was in close contact with Vermont College women and their needs for many years, during part of which time she served as director of dormitories.

The following co-eds are at the Practice house this week: Seniors, Agnes Shaw, Frances French, juniors, Helen Willard, Vivian Hubbard, sophomore, Caroline Taft; freshmen, Virginia Drew, Catherine Clark.

International Aspects of Social Reform to Be Crowdy Lecture Topic

Dame Crowdy of League of Nations Will Close Lecture Season Thursday

QUESTION IS OF GREAT IMPORT SAYS GIFFORD

[illegible] Council has spoken before large audiences [illegible] two hundred people. [illegible] American lecture [illegible] Professor, [illegible] appeared on the United States and Canada [illegible] April 7.

Dame Crowdy has been engaged as welfare and organization [illegible] but also [illegible] of women [illegible] Women's Auxiliary.

She received her education at Headfort, New College, London. In 1905 she entered Guy's Hospital where she remained for two years. In 1910 transferring to Apothecary's Hall. For a period of five years she was active service in the World War, acting as principal commander of the V. A. D. in France and Belgium, from 1914 1919.

Still a young woman, she has received innumerable honors. For service in France she was awarded the Mons Star and the Royal Red Cross. She received honors and bestowed upon her by the Prime Commander of the Order of the British Empire, Commander of the Order of Crown of Italy and Lady of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

Smith College in 1929 conferred upon her honorary degree of LL.D. in recognition of the service to the cause of her native country in the World War. She has since 1921 served as Chief of Social Questions and Opium Traffic of the League of Nations.

In speaking of Dame Crowdy's merits as a speaker and a person of world-wide renown, Prof. A. R. Gifford of the department of psychology and chairman of the committee on University lectures, declared, "Vermont is unusually fortunate to secure a lecture date with Dame Crowdy on her tour in the United States and Canada is for six weeks only and she is in great demand. Probably no single person is so well informed to speak on this broad and significant question, none so well equipped as she by experience and conviction for the discussion."

Military Department Reorganizes Battalion For Second Semester

As a result of the recent mid year examinations, the University battalion, composed of student cadets who are enrolled in the colleges of arts and sciences, engineering, and agriculture, underwent a through reorganization.

Battalion Organization

Cadet Major Francis A. Bailey commanding battalion. Cadet Captain Richard M. Blakely battalion adjutant. Cadet Second Lieutenant Robert W. Allerton, battalion supply officer.

Cadet Master Sergeant Daniel K. Parker.

Senior Color Sergeant Walter F. Burns. Junior Color Sergeant Cedric B. Macutchan.

Company "A" Rifle Company

Cadet Captain Francis A. McBride, commanding. Cadet First Lieutenant Nelson P. Park second in command. Cadet Second Lieutenant Roger B. Adams, first platoon. Cadet Second Lieutenant Arnold O. Aronson, second platoon.

Cadet First Sergeant Samuel B. Barker.

Cadet Platoon Sergeant First Platoon, H. W. Davis. Cadet Platoon Sergeant, Second Platoon, C. V. Primpas. Cadet Sergeant, File Closer, R. A. Hyde.

Cadet Corporals

Guidon bearer— W. J. Gilbert.

First platoon— C. W. Utley, section leader. S. W. McLaren, section leader. Squad leaders, J. O. Buchanan, J. E. Willis, R. B. Tabert, R. H. Marvin.

Second platoon— L. L. Bowers, section leader, L. E. Reed, section leader. Squad leaders— R. Swain, W. C. Perry, E. E. Williams, M. L. Powell.

(Fifty-five members of the sophomore and freshman classes.)

Company "B" Rifle Company

Cadet Captain George M. Donaldson commanding. Cadet First Lieutenant Winston C. Benner second in command. Cadet First Lieutenant Philip H. Thomas, first platoon. Cadet Second Lieutenant Merton L. Joslin, second platoon.

Cadet First Sergeant Paul E. Weston.

Cadet Platoon Sergeant, First Platoon, E. J. Mercier. Cadet Platoon Sergeant, Second Platoon, M. H. Grower. Cadet Sergeant, File Closer, E. V. Kibby.

Guidon bearer, F. L. Austin.

First platoon— S. E. Hall, section leader. H. A. Shepard, section leader. Squad leaders— J. C. Gordon, J. H. Farwell, C. W. Janke, E. E. Wadsworth.

Second platoon— J. E. Wood, section leader. W. J. Burke, section leader. Squad leaders— A. M. Sullivan, P. R. Donaghy, H. M. Farmer, D. W. Webster.

(Fifty-four members of the sophomore and freshman classes.)

Company "C" Rifle Company

Cadet Captain Roderic J. Maynes commanding company. Cadet First Lieutenant Robert M. [illegible] second in

(Continued on page 8)

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] LAFFER, '32 ..... Editor-in-Chief
FRED W HOUGHTALING, '32 ..... Managing Editor
[illegible] PORTER, '32 ..... Sports Editor
ROBERTA M HARLOW '32 ..... Women's Editor
J. E. TRACY '32 ..... Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] '31, F. B. Drew, '31, S. B. Spicer, '33 ..... News Editors
[illegible] Macdonald, '33 ..... Feature Editor
[illegible] Killoran, '33 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] F. Peloubet, '32 ..... Contributing Editors

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] ..... Associate Editor
[illegible] ..... Assistant Editor

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

Margaret Mower, '32 ..... Associate Editor
Hope Kenerson, '32 ..... Associate Editor
Esther Beardsley, '33 ..... Athletic Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

[illegible] '31, M. L. Green [illegible] R. Weissman, '34.

News department: N. H. Kaplan, '34, M. Kramer, '34, C. J. Libby, '34, H. J. [illegible], '34, Augusta Cohen, '34, Dorothea Edwards, '34, [illegible] Margaret Morton, [illegible] Virginia Lovell, '34

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

[illegible] E. Drew, '31, C. W. Janke, '33 ..... Advertising Manager, Assistant Manager

[illegible] price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

[illegible] accepted during the college year. Copy other than [illegible] must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in [illegible] office or telephoned at 2857 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Business [illegible] must be addressed to the Business Manager, Phi Delta Theta House; all other [illegible] to the Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall

[illegible] for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section [illegible] and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 — March 6, 1931 — No 39

A WELCOME BEQUEST

[illegible] the thought which prompted Mrs. [illegible] to bequeath to the University of Vermont her new [illegible] for [illegible] cooperative housekeeping by women [illegible]

[illegible] women of the University is evi- [illegible] that through another provision of her [illegible] receives a sizeable amount to apply [illegible] recently acquired chapter house.

[illegible] the arrangements for the equipping of Mrs. Stetson's [illegible] not yet known, we see in her vision the desire to enable a [illegible] needy women students at the University to maintain a plan [illegible] cooperative living under University supervision, caring for the [illegible] themselves, and providing their own meals at a moderate cost.

With the complete realization of her will this home will even- [illegible] become one of the regular University women's dormitories. We welcome this gift for the establishment of such an experiment and anticipate with [illegible] another triumph of this benefactor of the University [illegible] to enable college women to more conveniently secure an education.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

At the intercollegiate Conference held at East Northfield, Mass. a few weeks ago, someone offered the opinion that it is the fashionable thing to be radical nowadays. Such a remark is laughable, to say the least. Americans are probably more conservative today than they have been for a long time past, for the very obvious reason that otherwise they would be called communists or socialists or some other vile names. (And no one, of course, cares to be classed with the agitators receiving their orders from Moscow or to be included with those who secure their inspiration from Christ.)

The Northfield Conference was a curious phenomenon. Ostensibly, it was a Y. M. C. A. Y. W. C. A. gathering. Actually, it was a pagan assembly. One of the student delegates declared that he thought that Christ had no business to drive the money lenders from the temple. At another time during the conference the belief was expressed that exploitation was Christian. One of those who attended the conference could not understand how some people could believe many of the things mentioned in the Bible.

The most amusing feature of the conference, however, was the special discussion groups which met on Saturday evening. There were seven such groups and from fifteen to twenty students in each of them. The group in which I found myself discussed the nature of God, a subject which was provoked by a talk given an hour before by Francis P. Miller of Geneva, Switzerland, who is the chairman of the World Student Christian Federation. Mr. Miller had insisted on affirming the existence of a God, but had admitted that he could say nothing as to His nature. Strangely enough, there was hardly a student who could see the necessity of even postulating a God. If people feel the need of a God, the group argued, it might be permitted to them to recognize some cosmic force as a sort of deity. But the God with the long white beard must go. It was difficult for the students to see how a personal God could exist. God became very much identified with nature.

These observations cause me to reflect upon the question: What has happened to religion? Even those professing to be Christians doubt the divinity of Christ. The machine age has certainly left its stamp upon the Christian church. What does all this mean? It would seem that men have lost confidence in Christianity and that the spirit of Christianity has dissolved into a kind of nothingness. It may be that the once haughty and mighty Christian church will become mere history.

The World War probably has had more to do with the decline of Christianity than any other single factor in the social situation. With the crushing of the Germans, when the lives of the last German soldiers to fall in the war were gutted out with the bayonets of those who are now looked upon as very patriotic citizens and pillars of society, the church of Christ was spat upon and was blown up as if by a powerful explosive. Who could believe any longer in the brotherhood of men which Jesus had talked about?

Christ was mocked and laughed at. Masses were said, ministers delivered lengthy sermons. People, trembling with old age, knelt to pray before statutes or sat in reverent meditation in some religious meeting hall. Those who had made fortunes as the result of the war sang the hymns very loudly.

But the youth of the world who had carried the burden of the war saw through the hypocrisy of those who professed to be Christians. The youth of today see it. Unless the Christian church changes, the youth of tomorrow will, because youth insists upon sincerity. And it will take more than the loud cries of short-sighted priests and ministers to bring the youth back into the Christian fold.

For the last few months I have attended services at all of the large churches in the city. I see no young people there. The young people do not go to church, they do not feel the necessity of either God or religion. The young people no longer think much of God. If they mention His name it is only in connection with a curse or a joke.

Christian institutions tend to be reactionary and selfish. When, even in our own country, people must go hungry, although there is a vast amount of grain, one can appreciate how well Christian doctrines, that have taught for nearly two thousand years, have been realized and how much they are likely to be applied in the future.

Christianity is doomed. There is a slight chance that it may prolong its existence for a short while, if it will set its house in order before long. But the shocks occasioned by the World War and the following social and economic evils have been of too great a magnitude to have left Christianity without a scar.

There might be some hope for religion if it would only assume a this-worldly attitude and cease dreaming of imaginary heavens, purgatories, saints, hells angels, etc., etc., This world is far more real to us than the spiritual world which exists only in books and in the mouths of divines. Christianity, if it means anything at all, should be a dynamic force making for good in the world society. Christianity, as it operates now, is extremely hollow and causes more discord than harmony.

EDMOUR GERMAIN, '31.

The Mystic Pen

A contemporary remarks editorially that students should enter more actively into the political life of the state [illegible] Do we not [illegible] referring to the [illegible] voting in the public eye when an issue is not pleasing to the liberal collegiate mind, but rather to the importance of devoting more consideration than is usually given [illegible] We are in the midst of political action and [illegible] the older we become, the more closely these things affect our [illegible] and potential franchise holders are you taking an interest in things? Do you know who you would vote for? Do you know the issues at stake in the present session of the legislature? Can you influence the voters in your housekeeper's family? Can you convince her that she is wrong?

—mp—

[illegible] here. Too soon, for some of us who have to hit the weary trail in search of a job. Not "employment," but a "job." Quite a few students appear to be worried about plans for the summer. A dollar or so of U. S. postage, wisely invested, is sure to yield some favorable opening. Hundreds of summer camps all over the country will be taking college men and women as councillors, tutors, specialty workers. All manner of tempting selling propositions are offered. Many organizations send men to the college to seek you out and hand you the job on a platter. It is a too firmly established conception that answering ads by mail is a thankless task. But a judicious search of prospective openings, and extreme care given to a personal application will often bring surprising results.

—mp—

A swimming pool...

An auditorium with suitable stage equipment.

A suitable building for the radio stations...

A student recreation building...

A new "Old Mill"...

—mp—

The freshman class has been surprisingly inactive most of the year. After such an auspicious start, we find them absorbed into the college, with no definite class conciousness, nor consciousness of a purpose as a class. We do not refer to the awareness in the sense of inter class rivalry, but in the sense of general activity. Where are the class officers? Where is the social committee, the dance committee, the dramatic society, the frosh orchestra and glee club? Is '34 so absorbed in fraternity and studies that it can not find time to exert the little effort that would be necessary to entertain the class and college, profitably or otherwise, to help in the general cultural development, to establish itself as a strong unit in the scheme of things at Vermont? Or will '34 delay its activity to a feverish period of a few weeks in May or June??

—mp—

A constant source of annoyance and a menace to the health of those that come in contact with it, is the truly bromidic odor that frequently finds its way to the campus and lingers sweetly around the buildings.

A Kettle-Drummer at Vassar

Well here I am at Vassar and a hot chance anyone's going to have seeing me in a black suit against a black curtain it's a wonder they wouldn't make me wear a mask and look at that ham oboe right in front of me the trouble is no one realizes the importance of a really good couple of drums they might play more of this Japanese stuff that shows me off to the best advantage O boy that was some roll but just see how many people really appreciate a real drum when they hear it hot dog that little blonde in the front row is looking straight at me and I never thought anything would take her eyes off that baby blanket she's knitting hello kid how are you how are you god she's cross-eyed.

THE FORUM

"A myth that declares it is honorable, profitable and even advisable to battle for a degree and a living at the same time," has, according to Henry Morton Robinson in March College Humor, caused numerous students to make the traditional gesture and become needless martyrs on this sacrificial altar.

"Scholastic hitch-hikers" working their way or their professor, are, says Mr. Robinson 'represented by more than two million of the nearly five million persons in the United States attending educational institutions.'

"They drive cabs and wait on table; they clerk, tutor and jerk sodas; they peddle spark plugs, scented soaps and subscriptions to magazines; they beg, they borrow and a few of them inevitably steal.

"Two-thirds of their waking hours are spent in feeding and housing their bodies; with what is left of their time and energy they go through the motions of studying for a degree.

"To be sure, only a small percentage of them ever get the degree because the mortality among academic parsites is fearlessly high.

"A few of the stubborn die-hards play the exhausting game to the last whistle, but they are so burned out by the effort that they rarely amount to anything in later life.

"A high class of scholarship or intelligent interest is not to be expected from a student who comes to class dulled and sodden with fatigue.

"When a chap drives a taxi cab all night, he is not likely to bring a shiny new edge of originality or interest to the discussion of Swinburnes poetic dramas. And when he totes mail sacks for eight hours every day, he is scarcely in prime shape for the rigors of a math exam.

"Everything would be all right if the student were willing to take the academic consequences. But he isn't. He expects favors, leniencies, extensions—or else he fails hopelessly behind.

"Every college teacher with a corpuscle of humanity in his blood stream has 'passed' hundreds of fellows who deserved, on the basis of scholastic accomplishment, to be flunked outright."

"Should I work my way through college?" is the question that Mr. Robinson has been asked repeatedly by freshmen, passionately eager for the great adventure of college life and willing—in their naive fashion—to undergo almost any hardship that will bring them into the mystic circle of the Illuminated Parchment.

A list of forty questions, prepared by an engineer and a lawyer, were recently published in Scribner's along with an article by Thomas Beer. Twenty-five college students had flunked the exam dismally, and Mr. Beer took the occasion to comment on the ignorance of our modern young people.

The Spectator, student paper of Columbia, offered the same list to fifty-three faculty members. Of this number, only ten would take the exam, forty-three refusing outright to have anything to do with it. Only four of the ten handed in complete answers, and the highest grade, made by Prof. C. A. Manning, teacher of Russian literature, was 55.1 percent. Close behind him were two more English professors with grades of 54.3 and 54.2 percent.

At the same time, a number of students took the quiz, and although the highest grade in this group was forty-six, several students finished ahead of some of the faculty members.

The Spectator reporter said that the faculty members were nervous and fidgety while taking the test, and otherwise displayed signs of discomfiture, such as pulling at their collars.

That the professors tend to bluff, just as their students do, was indicated by the answer to, "Name three compositions of Brahms." The answer was, "The first, second and third sonatas."

Some of the questions proving the greatest stumbling blocks were "Who were the Piccolimini?" and "Who was Tillman Riemenschneider?" along with "For what is Abu Simbel noted," which question was not answered by anyone. The easier ones were such as "Name five makes of English automobiles" and "Name three living American architects." "What is chromium" was answered in many different ways.

The questionnaire was a part of the Spectator's campaign against examinations. As for the questions, the Piccolimini were an ancient royal Italian family, and chromium—well, chromium is just chromium.

Sir, in view of the fact that the column entrusted in your care has been completely filled with questionable jokes, the Board requests your resignation. Have you anything to say?

Hell, those jokes weren't questionable. Everybody understood them all right.—Purple Parrot.

Smart: Say girlie, did you ever walk back from a ride?

Co-ed: No, never.

Smart: Hop in, we're going for a ride.

THE M[illegible] CONV[illegible]

Page Mr. Ca[illegible]

We notice [illegible] ment a news [illegible] criminals are to [illegible] the University of [illegible] bring out a [illegible] what with a diff[illegible] pursue, exams [illegible] probably only [illegible] graduation.

"I want you to [illegible]
"How are ya, W[illegible] stored in one of your [illegible] mouth Jack O'Lantern

"You say that this [illegible] modating?"
"Yes—he took all [illegible] the register and rang

CONGRATULA[illegible]

Dear Son

Marriage is a wond[illegible] if you find the right [illegible] advice I can give [illegible] your girl to your [illegible] I have been so ideal[illegible] past thirty years. I[illegible] approximate your dear [illegible] making, housekeeping [illegible] even temper, you [illegible] man, and I give you [illegible] advise you to grab [illegible]

Your [illegible]

P. S. Your mother [illegible] room. Don't be a fool [illegible]

—Dartmouth [illegible]

And to think th[illegible] Hahvahd boys pelted [illegible] with some over-ripe v[illegible] while he was playing [illegible] theatre. Were they [illegible] did they lack a sense [illegible]

Maine Chin[illegible]

To My Signboard Sweetheart

My heart's a wreck [illegible] cause,
But you just sit and stare
And act as though you [illegible]
That I was even there.

Your pretty nose and [illegible]
You point in one direction
Oh! Don't you know that [illegible]
A picture of perfection?

You never let me tell you how
I feel about your eyes
You never seem to know [illegible]
The kind you advertise.

—D'Orazio's Mon[illegible]

Edmund Pollard recently [illegible] dictum to his appreciative [illegible] "Marriage is not a lottery [illegible] pottery where human [illegible] into family jars." Yes, [illegible] noticed quite a few of [illegible] have gone on the matri[illegible] cracked.—Springfield [illegible]

At Rollins College, a [illegible] "The Art of Love Making" [illegible] added to the curriculum. [illegible] report that it's the only [illegible] which one can depend on [illegible] keep ahead of the assignments [illegible] hoped that students will not take [illegible] final exams too early.—Missouri.

Cockney waiter in [illegible] rant: Did you say [illegible] sir?

"No," replied the man, "[illegible] been over here long [illegible] yet."

"Please, ma'am," said [illegible] ging at the door, "I've [illegible] leg."

"Well, it ain't here," [illegible] woman, slamming the door [illegible]

—Miami Campus.

If I came of a family [illegible]
I'd dine upon honey [illegible]
But I'm not really [illegible]
So I get all my fun
From ice cream, and [illegible]
key-holes.

Perhaps in June I'll [illegible]
Saying the ever-new old [illegible]
For in spring a young [illegible]
I know, but must you [illegible]

Girl at game (watching [illegible] the field): I hope Bill [illegible] that story I told him [illegible] Hobart Observer.

The ambitious busine[illegible] his stenographer if she [illegible] accompany him on a [illegible] informed him that though [illegible] typewriter she wasn't [illegible]

They called him the [illegible] mint because he paid [illegible] often.—Hobart Observer

Professor: "And [illegible] self plain?"

Voice from rear of [illegible] God did that."

Love is when a girl [illegible] white gown will ride [illegible] fellow's rattle-trap [illegible] laden, top-less automobile.

Lois Burbank of Art Department, Recounts Christmas Trip to Tunis

Weekly

Tunis at night. Two sister looking porters out valises, something of claims Then we in with them about the the porters of Tunis members of tourists. The hotel bus soon sent them sparkling we were at our after an all-day ride by carriage, even the liquid not lure us out-of- the great market but the characteristic vegetables, fish, fruit open window. Even that in the joy of a hot bath comfort of fresh linen, not slept in a French hotel a great eiderdown really slept.

was all too short, for at carts were jolting over the market, laden with sible sort of vegetables potatoes on their heads, two-wheeled carts, wheels and orange, little patterns almost hidden by their and over all the din of languages.

The Lure of Tunis

something about Tunis that blood, something in the lazy native ways, in the even. Next to Tripoli it most native of all African coast spent six days there under golden sunlight, not too hot and, and in that time tried to fill of the Orient. One the sights as in a guide the Bey's Old Palace, now a filled with rich moorish carvexquisite vari-colored tiles; New Palace, which in reality is and dingy; the Belvedere we wandered under the in the perfumes of the first flowers; Carthage with the ruins and the holy sepulchre Louis, best beloved of French crusaders.

was not the real Tunis. and in the souks or narrow buying and selling goes Madena or dirty, crowded in the great white Mosque built by a Christian who was later blinded by the Bey that he might never build again It is easy enough to see why Tunis has always been a loved of artists the narrow streets with purple shadows thrown by the of dazzling sunlight, the cool houses with their tiled courts and overhanging balconies, the graceful arches Add to these the white-veiled women with their large velvet black veils the fascinating turbaned Arabs, the great camel caravans the native dress splendid once more the day begins Under either side of the canal the golden gold of tangerines, the brass and of copper and even copper pots ing the doorways

As we wander down the alley, each merchant begs us to enter to view his wares But strange as it may seem as soon as we step across the threshold of his shop, he immediately ends his solicitations. They are most polite and urge us to drink thick sweet Turkish coffee with them while they show us antique jewels worth a fortune It never seems to matter whether we are good students so long as we appreciate the value of their treasures. We talk with them about Paris, the weather, the gunmen of Chicago, the great French colonial exposition coming in the spring, prohibition, for there always seems to be time enough to sit for hours over a cup of coffee and a cigarette. Meanwhile we search for some little trinket to take away with us, as if such a thing were necessary to keep fresh the memory of Tunis perhaps it is a tiny native rug, or perhaps a bit of brass, perhaps the exquisite fatma hand, Arab emblem of good-luck.

The last half of our six days was spent in just such "shopping"— when Saturday morning (January 3, 1931) came, we were honestly sad to say goodbye to Tunis although the sky was almost blue as the calm waters of the goulette or long harbor down which we sailed to the Mediterranean. Even the prospects of two weeks of Christmas mail awaiting us in Paris had lost some of its magnetism. This I know, if ever the rest of Western civilization becomes unbearable I shall go back to Tunis where all the world is doing nothing all day long but "a sittin' still."

MILITARY DEPARTMENT REORGANIZES BATTALION

(Continued from page 1)

Cadet First Lieutenant Grant, first platoon. Cadet Lieutenant Julius S. Perelman, platoon

First Sergeant George R. Col-

Platoon Sergeant, First pla- E. Bove Cadet Platoon Ser- cond Platoon, C. L. Park

Corporals: Guidon bearer, nson.

platoon: L. L. Woodward, ader R. H. McVetty, section platoon: J. L Thompson, der. E. E. Whitney, section

aders R. F Colburn, M. E Taylor, H. Cohen W. E S. Benway, L. R Palmer, ree members of the sophoreshman classes).

Company "D" Rifle Company

aptain Roy W. Worrell, company. Cadet First Lieuen A. Bradish, second in com- Cadet First Lieutenant Stuart first platoon. Cadet Second nt Alvin Caldwell, second pla-

First Sergeant Allen O. Eaton. Platoon Sergeant, First pla- K. Bush. Cadet Platoon Ser- Second Platoon, F. J. Varrie-

Guidon bearer H J Sheldon

Cadet Corporals

First platoon M I Benton, section leader H Press, section leader

Second platoon: M A Valerio section leader W B Carpenter section leader.

Squad leaders C O Fleury E V Dame, J. O. Hoag, C S Brown

Squad leaders A W Baldwin F. P. Kenyon, W G MacDonald F B Drew

(Fifty-four members of the sophomore and freshman classes)

One college paper says that if the administration raised the prices at bookstore ten percent it could afford to eliminate all tuition fees

Regarding the $8,000,000 belonging to John Harvard it is worth while to note a recent salary increase in that world known institution which reads as follows:

Professors, $8,000 to $12,000
Associate professors, $6,000 to $7,000
Assistant professors, $4,000 to $5,500
Instructors ONLY $3,000

Purple and Gray

Believing that the five-day week is just as important an innovation in college life as it is in industry, Red and Black, undergraduate newspaper at the University of Georgia, has started agitation editorially to keep Saturdays free from classes at the University

Bits of Bunk

Roving Reporter Propounds Problem

The Cradle of the Deep, by Joan Lowell

Rocked in the Cradle of the deep
I lay me down in peace to sleep
Joanna Willard Cradle of the Deep

Sophocles' Contribution to Euphemy

When expensive entertainers whom Sappho owned hot tamale
Did appear in the streets of the city of Gaunte Mad Vachon Ballad

Scenes at the Movies, by Gilbert Parker

He hath put down the mighties from their seats Luke I 52

Outlaw, by Masefield

The initial letters of "One Damn Thing After Another," a fitting description of the book

Vanity Fair, by W M Thackeray

And the name of that town is Vanity, and at that town there is a fair kept called Vanity Fair Bunyan Pilgrim's Progress

If it hasn't got the R O T C the Sunday problem be satisfactorily proposed the Faculty Pamphleteer at Sabrent

Hips What's that awful racket Her Grandma just used to her new teeth and just broke a saucer drinking her tea

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

Robert Hull Fleming Museum Now Rapidly Nears Completion

Children's Room

Hall of Sculpture

A great Hall of Sculpture [illegible] will be entered on the first floor. A [illegible] with black and white [illegible] and Vermont marble floor, a quiet tint to the room. Mottled light-brown, pillars of Pavon, marble support a [illegible] opening around the room. The balcony is reached by a staircase opposite the door of French cream brown marble. At the first landing where the stairs divide is a niche of the same marble used for the pillars designed for a statue of Saint George.

Perkins Room

In the left wing on the first floor is the assistant director's office, opening off the Hall of Sculpture. Next to the library and the Perkins room for archeology exhibits. In this room will be hung the portrait of Dean Perkins which is now in the Billings Library. The room is named for Dean Perkins the founder of the old Vermont Museum. Then comes the Ethnology room and a room for the Lawson collection of oriental articles. A [illegible] portrait of Mr H [illegible] Lawson will be placed opposite the [illegible] and another doorway which will be a [illegible] of the time he [illegible] ecclesiastical prep. gods.

In the right wing of the first floor is the Fleming room to which will be a part of Mr R H Fleming. The room is to be furnished by Mrs Woolson with tapestries and other objects of art. The other two rooms are for an evolution series of vertebrates and a collection of birds and shells.

Wilbur Room

In the rear of the building is the Wilbur room a high-domed room finished with black walnut. The north and south sides of the room are lined with book cases while the other sides are of black walnut panelling. The floor of the room is golden oak. A massive candelabra weighing over two hundred pounds will hang from the vaulted ceiling. A scientific [illegible] piece of [illegible] paper. Spanish [illegible] and Mexican [illegible] of the south part of the room. Mr [illegible] Lawson will [illegible] section of [illegible] Roman and Greek [illegible] glass [illegible] Egyptian [illegible] are presented from time to time. For [illegible] appropriate [illegible] this room [illegible] Wilbur's own valuable collection of [illegible] and historical [illegible] coins.

Small Auditorium

The basement of the building is to [illegible] and [illegible] floor of the building. [illegible] Sculpture, [illegible] archeology and [illegible] exhibits. The auditorium, though [illegible] to accommodate large [illegible] is convenient for small [illegible] The stage is well equipped, having concealed footlights which disappear into the floor when not in use. The hall is lined with a [illegible] material preventing sound reflection and giving perfect acoustic qualities. The movie booth will contain a standard movie camera, to which sound equipment may be added, and a stereopticon. Outside of a well-equipped and ventilated darkroom where all kind of photographic work will be done, as [illegible] the making of photographic labels for the exhibits, the rest of the basement is used for storage room, as is the attic of the building. However the [illegible] may be used for exhibits and for [illegible] lectures.

The entire building has been [illegible] and [illegible] ventilated, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

ENGINEERING DEAN LISTS TEN MEN AVERAGING B OR ABOVE DURING HALF

INTERFRAT RELAY RACES WILL START NEXT WEEK

NINE FROSH QUALIFY AS EXPERT RIFLEMEN

Co-ed Notes

Some Smoke

Society

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The Tridelts will hold their pledge dance Saturday at the Klifa Club. [illegible] furnish the music.

PI BETA PHI

[illegible] orchestra furnished the music.

ALPHA XI DELTA

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

[illegible] Alpha Chi enter- [illegible] the Orphan-

KAPPA DELTA

The pledge dance was held Saturday [illegible] Klifa Club. Pro- [illegible] and Mrs. Dean and Major and Mrs. Stanley chaperoned.

FACULTY ORGANIZATIONS', COMMITTEE'S OFFICERS

[illegible] President R. C. Dorg [illegible] Jerry F. Swift [illegible] President C. H. [illegible] W. R. Ayers [illegible] The Provost [illegible] Colleges and Pro- [illegible] Tupper.

Faculty meetings are held by vari- [illegible] Faculty [illegible] the Deans.

2. Curricula—Bassett, Jenne, Lut- [illegible] Morrow and Eck [illegible] gress Burns, Bassett, Eckhard, Groat, Van Alstine, Buttles, Mower and Douglass.
3. [illegible] President [illegible] the Deans.
6. Regulations and discipline—The President and the Deans.
7. [illegible] H. F. Perkins, Tupper, [illegible] Chapel [illegible] Crockett.
9. Public ceremonies—H. F. Perkins, Marvin, Miss Colburn, Donahue, [illegible] Commandant and [illegible] Jacobs, [illegible] Groat.
11. Military department—The Commandant and the Deans.
12. Student finances—Groat, Slocum, Myrick, Swift and the Comptroller.
13. Student conference—Cummings, Groat, Mower, Swift, Carroll, Gifford, Miss Patterson and Miss Cummings.
14. University publications—Crockett, Kehoe, Tupper, Mower.
15. Freshman preliminaries—Gifford, Cummings, Groat, Kehoe and Puffer.
16. Non-athletic student activities—Burns, Eckhard and Swift.
17. Chapel ceremonies—Jacobs, Crockett, Bennett and Wallace.
18. Personnel work—Gifford, Swift, M. B. Cummings, Kidder, Millington, Meredith, Prentice, Patterson, Terrill, Whiting, Holdbrook, Nulty, E. S. Cummings.

HILDA SMITH

[illegible] women's editor of the [illegible] Cynic.

CO-EDS ON SEX VIEWS

[illegible] conducted among [illegible] women in Syracuse Uni- [illegible] by Dr. Benedict Leonard, act- [illegible] of Women, some interesting findings were disclosed. For example—Twenty-eight percent admitted being in love many times while only 10 per [illegible] but once. How [illegible] they had never been in love at all.

Sixty-two percent said that mothers agree with them in their attitude to- [illegible] petting and necking. And 75 percent thought a college girl should [illegible] sex. One reply was as follows: "I think that a mother should tell her daughter everything about life before she goes away to school, instead of letting her find things out for herself." And another wrote, "A girl should know how to take care of herself under all conditions. She should know how to dress, how to smoke, how to drink a little, how to pet—so she won't be surprised into anything—how to keep her heart and not fall easily.

Author's Arena

Probably Grassmount [illegible] comments on its fine [illegible] on any other one [illegible] ones at the end of the [illegible] particularly noteworthy [illegible] Wasson, former Dean [illegible] written a beautiful [illegible] in which she portrays [illegible] Grassmount very effectively. [illegible] poem follows.

The Grasse Mount

Out o' the mist of the [illegible]
Bright on the [illegible]
land,
Come forth sweet [illegible] home.
Wanting the sound [illegible]

Cornelia Van Ness [illegible]
Glides from the [illegible] shore;
Spirits as she [illegible]
Bends in a courtesy.

Over the hush of the [illegible]
Comes a faint [illegible]
Candles are lighted [illegible] gloom;
Cornelia now [illegible]

Whispered greetings
Beauty quickened [illegible] words;
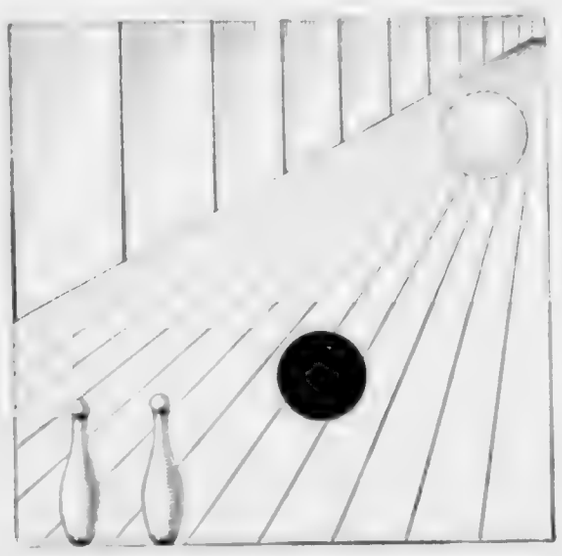
The music hastens [illegible]
Only a moment the [illegible]



Back to the matter [illegible]
Turns for a second to [illegible]
Then, with a careless [illegible]
Into the masts and [illegible]

— Alice

and how to get along w[illegible] I believe that a girl sh[illegible] on her own to some [illegible] high school years should [illegible] lowed to go away to college.

WHY NOT A HIT OF THE WEEK PHONOGRAPH TO PLAY YOUR RECORDS ONLY $5.

Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

?

Which is larger—the white ball or the black? Don't answer too quickly.

YOUR EYES MAY FOOL YOU
BUT
YOUR TASTE tells the Truth!

MILDER . . . AND BETTER TASTE

They Satisfy

© 1931, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

SPORTING NEWS

KAPPA SIGS AGAIN WIN INTERFRAT BASKETBALL TOURNEY CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeat Delta Psi 20 to 15 in Finals to Win Title For Second Successive Year

WINNERS ARE IN LEAD THROUGHOUT CONTEST

[illegible] crowd at the University gym Tuesday night, the [illegible] again demonstrated their [illegible] at basketball by copping [illegible] fraternity championship for [illegible] successive year. To do [illegible] Psi had to be defeated in [illegible] 20-15. The winners, [illegible] marked ability to func[illegible] secured an early lead [illegible] never once headed.

[illegible] who was traveling in [illegible] through the first frame, [illegible] scoring by dropping in [illegible] which established an un[illegible] throughout the entire first [illegible] winners worked the ball in [illegible] the basket through some [illegible] work to have Sowka make [illegible] the other hand the losers [illegible] ent to take shots of the [illegible] ety, which they failed to [illegible] At half time the count [illegible] for Kappa Sigma.

[illegible] half found the leaders play[illegible] careful and calculating [illegible] game, striving to maintain [illegible] lead. However, Bradish [illegible] two pretty shots to bring [illegible] up to 13-12. Here the win[illegible] time out, a move which [illegible] to have a steadying influence [illegible] playing thereafter, for their [illegible] brought the score up to 20 to [illegible] ish's foul shot terminated [illegible] for the evening, leaving [illegible] score 20-15.

[illegible] winners Sowka and Smith stood out offensively, while Craig played his usual strong game at guard. Park and Bradish were the outstanding players for the losers.

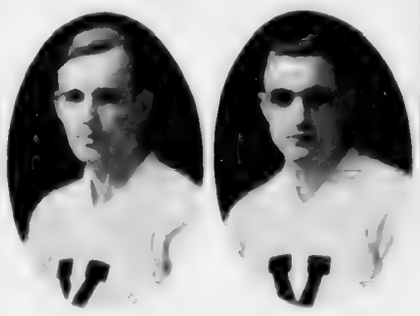
The summary:

KAPPA SIGMA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Smith, r.f.	3	0	6
Jay, l.f.	2	1	5
Bowers, c.	0	0	0
Wadsworth, c.	0	0	0
Sowka, r.g.	4	1	9
Craig, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	9	2	20

DELTA PSI

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
R. Marvin, r.f.	1	0	2
Bradish, r.f.	2	1	5
Woodruff, l.f.	0	1	1
Park, c.	2	2	6
T. Marvin, r.g.	0	0	0
Berkley, l.g.	0	1	1
Totals	5	5	15



Vermont Basketball Team Wins 4 in 17 Games Played

Most Contests Dropped by Narrow Margins—Taft Is High Scorer With 117 Points—Sargent, Durfey and Tobin Will Be Lost Through Graduation

Practically [illegible] at the start of the season and crippled by injuries in its crucial games, a battered Vermont five has emerged at the close with a record far better than was expected of it and better than that of last year's disastrous season. Although with an average of 425 from a record of 4 games won out of 17 played would seem to indicate a rather unsuccessful season in point of wins and losses a glance at the comparative size of the scores of each game shows that the Green and Gold quintet, despite its injuries and lack of experience, was [illegible] the great majority of its opponents. As a matter of fact, seven games were dropped by a margin of six points or less, and only four were lost by more than seven points. Two losses necessitated overtime periods. In the State series the Cats won two games, both at the expense of [illegible] while [illegible] the championship Norwich outfit [illegible] the Blue and White contingent [illegible] Middlebury.

Chet Taft, a sophomore competing his first year of varsity basketball, easily led the rest of the team in the scoring column. Playing in every game, he ran up a total of 117 points, averaging practically seven points each game. His nearest competitor was "Wally" Sargent, captain of the team, who had a string of 60 to his credit. Tupper, Durfey, and Tobin, all with about the relatively same scoring power, are grouped together immediately behind their leader.

"Bob" Tobin, a steady and reliable guard and the only player outside of Taft to participate in every game, will be lost to the team by graduation, as will likewise be the case with Durfey and Sargent. As a nucleus for next year's quintet only Tupper, Taft, and Talbert will remain, although there are a number of freshman prospects who will undoubtedly add materially to the strength of the squad.

"Wally" Sargent and "Bob" Tobin

Captain and guard, who will be lost to next year's varsity quintet through graduation.

Coach Howard A. Prentice should be deservedly commended for his very creditable handling of the team and for his efforts to produce a winning combination in the face of perverse difficulties and misfortunes.

The individual score of each player as well as the number of games in which he participated are as follows:

	Games	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Taft, g., f.	17	42	33	117
Sargent, c.	15	25	10	60
Tupper, f.	13	26	7	59
Tobin, f.	17	15	22	52
Durfey, f.,g.	16	19	13	51
Talbert, g.	12	11	12	34

Outscored 30 points to 25 on an average in each game the seasonal record of the Vermonters is:

Dec.	Vt.	Opp
6. Sun Life, here	17	23
10. Clarkson, here	30	22
13. McGill, here	39	29
18. Dartmouth, here	28	34
Jan.
9. New Hampshire, there	22	29
10. Harvard, there	28	31
13. St. Michael's, here	22	21
15. Dartmouth, there	19	45
Feb.
5. St. Michael's, there	21	17
7. Lowell Textile, here	18	32
10. Middlebury, here	24	28
12. Norwich, there	31	36
14. Springfield, here	17	34
20. Sun Life, there	20	24
21. McGill, there	35	42
24. Middlebury, there	39	44
26. Norwich, here	18	26
	428	517

The final State Conference standing:

	Won	Lost	Av.
Norwich	6	0	.1000
Middlebury	2	2	.500
Vermont	2	4	.333
St. Michael's	1	5	.167

Women's Student Union will hold election of officers on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 10 and 11 according to Margaret Stanley, this year's president.

The following have been nominated for president for the year 1931-32: Lillian Mount, '32, and Olive Fields '32. Further nominations may be made by presentation of a written petition, signed by twenty-five members of the Women's Student Union.

"Hank" Durfey

Senior on Vermont basketball team who has played regularly on either forward or center positions this season.

FROSH END FIVE-GAME SEASON WITH ONE WIN

Troy Conference Academy is Sole Victim—Vermont Academy and Clark School Win

With the Vermont Academy game last Saturday night the University of Vermont freshman basketball team closed the season with one victory and four losses. This year the frosh quintet had a shorter schedule than usual and did not begin active competitive games until in February after the mid-year examinations. This was a new idea inaugurated this year to play prep school quintets rather than the local type of independent all-star teams.

The yearlings' sole victory came from Troy Conference Academy by the score of 21 to 15, although in the opening game of the season the Academy boys had downed the frosh 22 to 11. The strong Vermont Academy five defeated the Kittens twice and Clark School once.

The season's record:

February 6, freshmen 11, Troy Conference Academy 22.

February 7, freshmen 16, Vermont Academy 44.

February 14, freshmen 20, Clark School 21.

February 27, freshmen 21, Troy Conference Academy 15.

February 28, freshmen 21, Vermont Academy 44.

Total for the freshmen 89. Opponents 146.

Average score per game for freshmen 17.8 and for opponents 29.2.

FORT RIFLEMEN BEAT GREEN AND GOLD TEAM

In a shoulder-to-shoulder match at Fort Ethan Allen, Saturday, the Post sharpshooters defeated the University of Vermont riflemen by the score of 2,011 to 1,937.

The results were as follows:

FORT ETHAN ALLEN

	Pr.	Sl.	Kn	St	Total
Jessie	97	93	91	82	363
Dillman	92	88	85	84	349
Harrison	99	97	83	65	344
Sadowski	94	89	84	66	333
Attaya	98	90	85	49	322
Hatch	83	82	87	48	300
	563	539	515	394	2,011

VERMONT

	Pr.	Sl.	Kn	St	Total
Sheldon	93	95	86	73	347
Donaldson (Capt.)	97	93	83	70	343
Burke	93	88	80	61	322
Dunham	95	87	82	54	318
Freedom	95	92	74	43	304
Thomas	92	96	73	44	305
	566	561	477	344	1,938

HIGH SCHOOL QUINTETS HERE TO COMPETE FOR SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Spaulding, Rutland, Burlington, Cathedral, Proctor, St. Albans, Springfield and Northfield to Compete

FINALS TO BE STAGED TOMORROW EVE IN GYM

[illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] in the [illegible] of both school boys and [illegible] the state. This year's [illegible] tournament, [illegible] sponsored by the University of Vermont and under the capable management of Edwin Wood, promises to be one of the most exciting tournaments and hardest fought competitions ever held. The outcome of such evenly matched rivalry can not be predicted on present records.

At [illegible] and [illegible] afternoon, Spaulding, the Barre team, [illegible] with Proctor. To date Spaulding has not lost a game but has had several [illegible] If the Barre team gives [illegible] good coordination and team work it has displayed during the season, then it stands a fine chance of being successful in the tournament. It will have to go fast to defeat the fighting Proctor team which recently won the Southern Vermont tournament [illegible] comparative ease.

Burlington High school, second of the contest teams, will play Bellows Free Academy at four o'clock this afternoon. Burlington has had a fairly good season and has dropped very few contests although having played some of the hardest quintets in the state. Their opponent, B. F. A., from St. Albans, intends to put up a hard fight although they have lost twice to the B. H. S. basketeers.

This evening Coach Ellery Purdy's outfit from Rutland will take on Springfield. Rutland has lost five games this season. Both teams are evenly matched, and the contest promises to become an exciting affair. Springfield won the play-off from Windsor 13-5.

Immediately after this contest the Cathedral High team will play Northfield High School. Northfield recently won the play-off from Hartford and consequently is eligible to play Cathedral. The game ought to stimulate quite an abundance of interest on the part of the onlookers.

Conjectures as to the probable outcome can not be given although Rutland, Burlington, Cathedral and Spaulding are seeded. From the point of record the latter appears to have the edge. The whole hectic affair will be in the form of a grab bag, in which the team grabbing the most baskets will bag the honors.

Following the preliminary games the semi-finals will be played at 1:30 and 2:30 tomorrow. At 8:30 the final will be staged.

Why Not Now?

You know very well what you're going to want for Spring.

So do we.

Why wait till the other fellow has what you covet.

New Spring Braeburns
with two trousers
$35

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
195-7 Bank Street Near Majestic
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

A NEW TURKS
TOPCOAT

charming companion, a beautiful Spring-day, and a charming place to walk
What could be more perfect?

$25 $30 $35

TURKS
Burlington
Vt.

FACULTY AND STUDENTS EVINCE INTEREST IN ART

SIGMA GAMMA

The pledge dance was held Saturday ... at the chapter rooms. ... Vermonters furnished the ... Dean and Mrs. Swift and Pro... and Mrs. Bullard chaperoned. ... Pearson '34, of Bristol, and ... Douglas '34 of Orleans were ... Saturday afternoon, February ... at the chapter rooms.

... Dodge '32 was in town over the ... end.

When questioned Tuesday Mr. Sin... stated that more data and in... upon the questionnaire ... be available in the course of a ...

EPSILON SIGMA

The following ... day evening: ... ran '34 of Dorchester, ... Mass.; '34 Mc... Dodv. '34, Grant... sue, '34 Belmont.

Mrs Bennett ... Clara Wheeler were ... members of Epsilon ...

A dance will be ... March 7, at the ... Black Pirates will ... and Professor and Mrs. ... Miss Catherine ... erone.

When the Better ... meets the Fuller Brush ... one goes out the win... Wyckoff.

Why we spend $2,000,000 to put CAMEL cigarettes in the new HUMIDOR PACK

WE have been in the tobacco business a long time down here at Winston-Salem and we take a lot of pride in the quality of the cigarettes we make.

While we have spent a good many million dollars advertising Camels, we've always held to the old fashioned idea that the thing that really counts is what we put into our cigarette and not what we say about it.

If we know anything about tobacco, and we think we do, Camels contain the choicest Turkish and the mellowest, ripest domestic leaves that money can buy.

In fact we have every reason to be proud of the quality of Camels as they come from the factory, but the remark of an old friend of ours from Denver some time ago emphasized a point that has been the problem of the cigarette industry for years.

As he inhaled the smoke from a Camel we gave him in our offices one morning, he sighed with very evident enjoyment and then asked jokingly, "What is this, a special blend reserved for Camel executives?"

"Certainly not," we told him. "This package of Camels was bought at the corner store this morning."

"Well," he said, "I've been a dyed in the wool Camel smoker for a good many years, but upon my soul I never got a cigarette as good as this in Denver. If you would give the rest of the world the kind of Camels you sell here in Winston-Salem, you ought to have all the cigarette business there is."

THAT statement simply emphasized again the cigarette industry's most important problem. The more we thought about it, the surer we were that he was dead right, and that somehow, something must be done.

Denver wasn't getting a fair break. Neither in fact was any other town. The only people who really knew how good Camels could be, were the folks right here in Winston-Salem.

That was due to a factor no cigarette manufacturer had ever been able to control.

Naturally there is no difference whatever in the quality of the tobacco in Camels, whether you buy them in Winston-Salem, Denver or Timbuctoo. But up to now there has been a very real difference in the condition of the cigarettes by the time they reached the smoker.

The flavor and mildness of fine tobacco depend upon the retention of its natural, not added, moisture content which is prime at about ten per cent.

In spite of our great pains always to make sure Camels left the factory with just the right amount of natural moisture, no cigarette package had ever yet been designed that could prevent that precious moisture from drying out.

THERE are three things about a cigarette that can sting the tongue and unkindly burn the throat.

(1) Cheap tobaccos.

(2) Particles of peppery dust left in the tobacco because of inefficient cleaning methods.

(3) A parched dry condition of the tobacco due to loss of natural moisture by overheating or evaporation.

Always certain of the quality of our tobaccos we had already made Camel a "dustless" cigarette by the use of a specially designed vacuum cleaning apparatus exclusive with our factory.

Now, if we could perfect a package that would actually act as a humidor and retain the natural moisture content, then Yuma, Arizona, could enjoy Camels as much as we do here at Winston-Salem.

We knew what we wanted. We tried many things. We asked the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory to help us.

After many experiments and humidity tests covering all methods of packing cigarettes came the detailed report of which this is the net:

(A) No existing cigarette package, including those wrapped in glassine paper or ordinary cellophane, gives anything like adequate protection against evaporation.

(B) All cigarettes so packed tend to dry out rapidly from the day they are released from the factory.

(C) Only a waterproof material with a specially devised air-tight seal could give the desired protection.

(D) This measure, while costly, could be relied on to keep Camels in prime condition for at least three months in any climate.

If you have a technical bent, the graph below made by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory will show you the exact results of their exhaustive study.

Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory chart above graphically shows you that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

YOU may be sure we gave this report a lot of careful study. We checked it and re-checked it and then we went ahead. We tried this device and that. At last we met success. The air-tight wrapping involved the designing of special processes, special machines.

That costs a lot of money, more than $2,000,000 the first year, but after you have tried Camels packed this modern new way we are sure you will agree it is a fine investment.

For some time now every Camel that has left our factory has gone out in this new Humidor Pack.

We have said nothing about it until now, to make sure your dealer would be able to supply you when the good news came out.

Camel smokers of course have already discovered that their favorite cigarette is better and milder now than ever before.

If you aren't a Camel smoker, try them just to see what a difference there really is between harsh, dried out tobacco and a properly conditioned cigarette.

You can feel the difference, you can hear the difference and you certainly can taste the difference.

Of course we're prejudiced.

We always have believed that Camel is the world's best cigarette.

Now we know it.

Just treat yourself to Camels in the new Humidor Pack and see if you don't agree.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY
Winston-Salem, N. C.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1931 — NUMBER 40

ABNORMAL PSYCH. CLASS TO GO TO WATERBURY

Prof. J. T. Metcalf's class in abnormal psychology will again make its annual trip to the Insane Asylum at Waterbury, May 1, to observe cases of insanity as a supplement to their study of abnormal individuals.

UNIVERSITY WILL OFFER SCHOLARSHIPS TO HIGH SCHOOL ORATORS IN VT.

Young Men and Women Will Speak for Prizes Totaling One Thousand Dollars

The University of Vermont offers [illegible] totalling between $800 [illegible] as prizes for the annual [illegible] matorical Contest, to be held [illegible] The rules as drawn up by [illegible] masters' Club committee are [illegible] those of last year. The [illegible] be divided into districts [illegible] six schools each, and con[illegible] be held in each district [illegible] The rewards to be successful [illegible] are generous. The winner [illegible] up in each district in the [illegible] will receive scholarships of $150 [illegible] $100 at the University of Ver[illegible] respectively and will come to [illegible] to compete in the state [illegible] April 24. The winners of the [illegible] places in the state finals [illegible] cash in addition to the prizes [illegible] the districts, scholarships of [illegible] $100, $75 respectively. The win[illegible] of the state contest will also re[illegible] all expenses of a trip to Spring[illegible] Mass. to compete in the national [illegible] contest. If a Vermonter, [illegible] be fortunate enough to win at [illegible] he will be one of seven [illegible] high school students to be [illegible] a tour of Europe next summer, [illegible] all expenses paid by the national [illegible] of the contest.

[illegible] four representatives of some [illegible] schools entered the contest. [illegible] won by a People's Academy [illegible] defeated representatives of [illegible] schools in the preceding con[illegible] who ably defended his title [illegible] national semi-finals at Albany [illegible] not winning.

Each contestant in both district and [illegible] finals will deliver a prepared ora[illegible] minutes in length on some [illegible] dealing with the Constitution [illegible] United States. The participant [illegible] required to have command of the [illegible] of his subject to enable [illegible] at the close of his prepared ora[illegible] to give a four-minute extem[illegible] talk on the topic assigned [illegible] chairman. Any secondary [illegible] student who was under 19 years [illegible] February 1, is eligible to [illegible] contest.

Every effort will be made during the next two weeks to interest the [illegible] schools of the state in entering representatives in the contest. Other schools will also enter

(Continued on page 3)

CHORUSES FOR "PIRATES" TO BE SELECTED WED. AND THURS. AT TRYOUTS

[illegible] choruses for the comic opera [illegible] Penzance" to be presented [illegible] the University of Vermont [illegible] elected in the near future [illegible] to the following schedule [illegible] by Prof. H. G. Bennett [illegible] Department.

[illegible]s chorus will be chosen [illegible] of tryouts held Wednes[illegible] 4 p.m. to 4.30 p.m. and [illegible] from 7 p.m. to 7.30 p.m. at [illegible] Building.

[illegible] chorus will be composed [illegible] glee club. The members [illegible] club: B. Baker '31, G. H. [illegible] 34, S. H. Carsley '33, R. F. [illegible] R. H. Cowles '31, G. L. [illegible] B. J. Dimon '32, H. R. Flem[illegible] G. Gordon '33, C. B. Har[illegible] C. Hazen, '32, E. G. Hurl[illegible] H. Jardine '34, D. W. Jenks [illegible] Kearney '34, G. M. Mac[illegible] W. J. Millett '34, W. E. [illegible] 32, W. J. Patton '32, N. H. [illegible] O. Ricker '34, R. H. Rus[illegible] D. Sargent '34, A. A. Schar[illegible] 32, J. Schwartz '31, J. C. [illegible] T. I. Taylor '33, P. E. Westin

New Varsity Debaters Defeat St. Michael's In Second State Series

Donaghy, LaCrosse, and Nelson Take 2-1 Chain Store Victory From Visitors

VARSITY MEN SOON TO MAKE WESTERN TRIP

Vermont won a 2 to 1 victory over St. Michael's College in the second debate in the state series held Friday in the Old Mill Chapel. The question was "Resolved, that chain stores are more detrimental than beneficial to the best interests of the American people." The newly formed Vermont team consisted of R. P. Donaghy, '33, P. J. LaCrosse, '32, and G. R. Nelson, '31, while the St. Michael's was represented by Bernard Leddy, Manuel Falcoa and Fernand Boudreau. The American style of debate was used, the time was fifteen minutes for constructive argument and five for rebuttal speeches. The judges were A. R. Briggs, C. R. Brown and G. L. Agel. Professor Ewert presided at the debate. The Vermont team is the same one that will take the western trip soon.

Leddy, in opening the argument for the affirmative case, stated that the St. Michael's team was very glad to be able to debate with Vermont. He next stated that the very question for debate suggests the benefits derived from a chain store, but that the detriments of the chain store greatly overweighed the benefits. He went on to show that it tended to make a class of dependents by driving out the independent dealer, that the chain store robbed and deprived the community of its profits and did not aid in the development of the community. To insure prosperity we must distribute the profits among the people of the community. The chain store tends to take the profits out of the community and put them in the hands of a few. He next showed that thirteen cents of every dollar was sent out of the town. The A. & P. Company alone sends twenty-six million dollars in profits out of town. The St. Michael's speaker then attempted to show the evil results of chains situated in large towns and cities upon the small country town. Chains will not locate in small towns because the volume of business is not large enough, but the people are attracted to the cities to trade and the independent retailer is the one who suffers.

Next he asserted that the chain did not contribute to charity and other

(Continued on page 3)

ALPHA ZETA REBUILDS AGGIES CLUB TUESDAY

Reorganization of the Aggie Club was accomplished last Tuesday at a meeting held in Morrill Hall under the auspices of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural society, and attended by the students and faculty of the Aggie College.

A program of speakers included Mr. Joseph Carrigan of the Extension Service who spoke on "Past Benefits of the Aggie Club," and Prof. R. W. Smith who spoke on "Schools in Georgia."

Professor Cummings of the horticulture department spoke on the improvement at U. V. M. made since his matriculation here.

Following the meeting a short business session was held at which E. E. Blanchard, '31 was elected president of the club; C. W. Wright, '32 vice-president; E. E. Miller, '34 secretary; and John Buchanan, '32, treasurer. President Blanchard immediately selected a committee to investigate the constitution of the former Aggie Club and consider its revision. A social hour followed and refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held tonight at Morrill Hall.

The original Aggie Club was formerly a vigorous organization on the campus but in the past few years has degenerated slightly due to lack of interest and finally disbanded in 1927. The club met twice a week originally to discuss problems, hear speakers and generally benefit its members. Dances were often staged in conjunction with the department of home economics and a good time was enjoyed by all.

DAME RACHEL CROWDY

Secretariat of the League of Nations, who speaks here tomorrow night

VT. WOMEN DEBATERS TO TRAVEL TO BOSTON AND N. Y. ON VARSITY TRIP

Team Will Debate N. Y. U., B. U., Pembroke and N. J. State College in Week's Time

Not to be outdone by their male rivals, the Vermont women's debating team will soon attempt an ambitious and lengthy trip southward to the larger centers of population. The trip will presumably include debates with Boston University, Pembroke College, New Jersey State College for Women and New York University. The four-state tour will last at least a week. This is by far the most presumptuous excursion which the Vermont women have indulged in in recent years. The complete schedule, subject to change without notice:

March 23—Boston University at Boston.

March 24—Pembroke College at Providence, R. I.

March 26—New York University at New York.

March 27—New Jersey State College for Women at Brunswick, N. J.

Against Boston University the Vermont women will uphold the negative of the unemployment insurance question and against New York University and Pembroke College the same question will also be debated, but against New Jersey State College the question "Resolved, European indictment of American culture is justified" will be the subject of the discussion.

The Vermont women who are possibilities for the team making the trip are Roberta Powers, '32, Sylvia Boyd, '33, Caroline Taft, '33, and Laura Johnson, '33; also there probably will be a manager in attendance, namely, Sophie Levin, '33.

Possibilities for home debates at Burlington following the trip are St. Lawrence and Dartmouth. Also in the offing following the excursion to the cities will be a debate between the Vermont frosh women and the corresponding Middlebury women.

Military Ball To Take Place Friday

Memorial Auditorium to Be Scene of This Year's Formal Dance

The [illegible] and Rank [illegible] announcing to society everywhere he is reducing the price of admission declares Francis A. McBride, '31, chairman of the dance committee of the annual Military Formal Ball, which [illegible] from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. [illegible] evening at the Memorial Auditorium.

In former years the charge has been three and four dollars, but according to Chairman McBride tickets for this year's event will be sold at $2.00, including free programs, refreshments and extra good music, furnished by Joe Lechnyr's nine-piece orchestra.

The society has been subject to a great deal of criticism, said McBride, "many objecting to the price and stating that they did not receive their money's worth at former occasions

(Continued on page 4)

Dame Rachel Crowdy International Lecturer Will Speak Thursday

Distinguished League Official to Discuss International Aspects of Social Reform

IMPORTANT TOPIC WILL CLOSE LECTURE SERIES

[illegible] Canadian personality of [illegible] opening series as a [illegible] lecturer of the most vivacious and [illegible] manner and the foremost [illegible] of the League of Nations Secretariat, will deliver the last of the year's University lectures, in speaking on "The International Aspects of Social Reform," at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, March 12, in the gymnasium.

Dame Crowdy arrived in February 1931, for her first lecture tour of this country. Although still quite a young woman, Dame Rachel has had a career of prodigious eventfulness and service.

In 1926 Dame Rachel paid a short visit to the United States at which time Smith College conferred upon her an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws in recognition of the importance of her work to the world at large. Her splendid efficiency in her administration of the work of the Volunteer Aid Detachment brought her the Mons Star and the Royal Red Cross, first and second classes, and she was made Dame Commander of the British Empire, as well as a Lady of Grace of the Order of St. John.

League Investigator

At the close of the war, Dame Rachel joined the Secretariat of the League of Nations as first member of the health section, and in this capacity drew up the constitution of a health organization. Her work in the investigation of traffic in women and children, and in the opium traffic has been of incalculable value to all countries of the world. In England she has spoken to audiences of five and six thousand people. She believes the League of Nations to be the greatest method of cooperation ever invented, and declares that "the nations who are members have realized that even in social and humanitarian work as in political there must be international cooperation if the world is to get on."

Vermont is Fortunate

"Vermont is unusually fortunate to secure a lecture date with Dame Crowdy, as her tour in the United States and Canada is for six weeks only and she is in great demand. Probably no single person is so well informed to speak on this broad and significant question none so well equipped as she by experience and conviction for the discussion," said Prof. A. R. Gifford of the department of psychology and chairman of the committee on University lectures.

THREE SPEAKERS TALK OVER WCAX FRIDAY

[illegible] speakers from the Extension Service conducted a program Friday night on which Miss Miriam Marston with a half hour organ recital was the leading feature.

P.M.

5:00 Organ Recital, Miriam Marston, Musical Instructor of Music, Intercollegiate Chorus, and Musical Quintette from Middlebury Conservatory of Music.

5:30 Norwegian Tone Poems [illegible] Swenson

3 "Evening Bells and Cradle Song." MacFarlane

4 [illegible]

5. "Within a Chinese Garden." Stoughton

6 "Finlandia." Sibelius

5:30 Talk, "Prevalent Chick Diseases," L. M. Greene, Poultry Pathologist, College of Agriculture

5:40 Talk, "Interesting Phases of the Home Demonstration Program in Caledonia County," May C. Gilfillan, Home Demonstration Agent, Caledonia County

BURROWS TO SPEAK AT CHEMISTRY SEMINAR

Prof. G. H. Burrows, of the department of chemistry, will speak at the department's weekly seminar Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the subject "Rudiments of the quantum theory from the chemical theory."

FROSH-SOPH RELATIONS AT OTHER UNIVERSITIES TO BE LEARNED SOON

Investigating Committees Soon to Report on Conditions at Eleven Other Colleges

Francis Bolles, '31, and Paul Westin, '32, members of the committee investigating freshman-sophomore relations on other campuses left Saturday for New Hampshire, where they will interview campus leaders and faculty members in an effort to ascertain opinions regarding freshman rules. From New Hampshire they will proceed to Maine, where they will also visit Bowdoin and Bates Colleges.

Middlebury and Dartmouth Colleges were to have been the scene of investigations by Orson Jay, '32, and Francis McBride, '31, last week, but the trip was postponed until a later date because of the latter's recent illness.

The first of the personal tours of investigation was started by R. H. Cowles, '31, and Fred Housekeeper '31 who returned early this week from Massachusetts, in which State they investigated the colleges of Amherst, Wesleyan and M. A. C. A report will be made by them at an early date to the Faculty-Student Council who adopted the resolution leading to the appointment of the committee last November, after considerable discussion had been aroused over the question of the hazing of freshmen and enforcement of traditional rules.

During the Easter vacation Stanley Smith and Hugh Mattison, both seniors, will go to McGill and Williams to get the slant on frosh-soph relations there.

Considerable interest has been aroused upon the campus as to the outcome of the committee's research as it is known definitely that all but three favor enforcement of freshman rules. The committee's report will be based entirely upon facts brought back by the investigators from the institutions they visit and they submitted to the Council.

WOMEN FORENSIANS TO MEET MIDDLEBURY ON MECHANICAL AGE TOPIC

"Resolved, that the scientific and mechanical progress of today represents an advance in civilization is the subject to be debated by the women's varsity forensians comprising of Roberta Powers '32, Sylvia Boyd '33 and Laura Johnson '33 in opposition to the Middlebury team in the second home debate of the season tonight at 8 p.m. in the Old Mill Chapel.

The Middlebury team will uphold the affirmative side of the question, Vermont, the negative. The debated style of debate will be used.

The first affirmative speaker will open the debate with a [illegible] minute constructive argument. All the other [illegible] will be allowed fifteen minutes [illegible] and rebuttal [illegible] the first affirmative speaker will have [illegible] minutes for [illegible].

Laura Johnson, '33, who will be first speaker for the negative is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, Press Club, and has been on the varsity debating team.

Sylvia Boyd, the Vermont's second speaker belong to Alpha Xi Delta, Eta Sigma Phi, Y. W. C. A. cabinet, women's varsity debating team, and has been on the Dean's honor list [illegible] semester.

Roberta Powers '32, who will close the debate for the negative, is a member of Delta Delta Delta, Masque and [illegible] is women's editor of the [illegible] Artel, has taken leading roles in two of the college plays and has been on the women's varsity debating team for three years.

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

JOSEPH C CARTER, '32 ..... Editor-in-Chief
FRED W HOUSEHOLDER, '32 ..... Managing Editor
LYNFORD M FOSTER, '31 ..... Sports Editor
ROBETTA M HARLOW, '32 ..... Women's Editor
ARTHUR E COBURN, '31 ..... Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

... Intercollegiate Editor
E. E. Pollitzer, '32 ..... Contributing Editor

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

... Assistant Editor

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

... Assistant Editor
Dorothea Edwards, '33 ..... Athletic Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

R. E. Metcalf, '32 H. W. Mackerchar, '32 R. E. Murray, '32 R. W. ...
Sports Department: N. M. Kaplan, '34, M. Kramer, '34, C. J. Libby, '34, H. J. Seib, '34
... Augusta Cohen, '34, Dorothea Edwards, '34
... Dorine Lee, '33, Margaret M...

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

... Advertising Manager
... R. R. Dunn, '33, C. W. Janbo, '33 ..... Assistant Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Published ... weekly during the college year. Cynic office phone, 1644. All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned at 2857 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Business communications must be addressed to the Business Manager, Phi Delta Theta House; all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section ... P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14 ...

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 March 11, 1931 No. 40

HEAR DAME CROWDY ON SOCIAL REFORM

Not often are the students of the University afforded the privilege to meet and hear a lecturer of such high calibre and of such world-wide repute as the woman who speaks tomorrow evening at the Congregational on the topic: "The International Aspects of Social Reform."

Dame Crowdy is a speaker of recognized excellence, a brilliant authority in the field of international social problems and comes to the platform with a charming and gracious personality.

No greater emphasis and public interest in social problems was ever before displayed by students, educators and laymen. Today most fortunately for human welfare, the underlying motive of public education is receiving unprecedented attention. In its broadest aspects it assumes the task of socializing human nature so that the interests of man as a social creature may be preserved and if possible advanced.

The very existence of many of the present social evils and maladjustments of society is, we believe, a challenge to the college student of today. There are the great public questions of the economic depression, and its attendant evils, unemployment and breadlines.

Popular sentiment is constantly bringing pressure to bear on the causes that make for international discord and war. An educated public opinion that looks toward harmony and good-will among nations is slowly forming.

The League of Nations, besides its peace program, has numerous social and humanitarian activities. Chief among these are the opium problem, the opposition to white slave traffic, the relief of epidemics and the dissemination of large-scale knowledge of sanitation.

Progress in thinking on these questions is cumulative. As it grows saner, it tends to stimulate the more progressive instruction. Educators and workers in social fields were never so forward looking or so anxious to discover the realities. All seems to point toward a future more brilliant and more pleasant than the past. Students in colleges and universities the country over are more eager than ever to discover the facts, to understand the currents of world history and the trends of social, economic, political and religious movements. They are "thinking things through." Unsatisfied by "canned" knowledge, they are investigating many of the greater problems facing the public. They seek a saner and more satisfactory solution to complexities in the international social situation. They believe a reliance on outworn and anchronistic methods and attitudes will never bring the social reform that is needed. There seems to be among the students a level-headed and healthy inquiry concerning the new application of old truths. There is less of the former reluctance to learn of panaceas for social reform. A welcome spirit of tolerance and a keen discussion of topics of a controversial nature is recognized among those chosen by our forensic groups. In the columns of undergraduate publications students are expressing their individual ideas. This notable increase in student discussion is, we believe, the very condition that university faculties have hoped would obtain as a result of the increased liberalization of the curriculum and the application of progressive educational effort. The chief problem of modern education is "to create better men and women, people of wise minds, and greater vitality and sanity, who are more adequately prepared for the ordeals of life in society."

The university lecture committee has no less an interest than this in presenting Dame Crowdy before the students, faculty and townspeople, tomorrow night. Her topic is distinctly in keeping with the increased attention being given to the intellectual activities of the University of Vermont.

In refering to Dame Crowdy's merits as a speaker, and a woman of world-renown, Professor Gifford, of the department of psychology and chairman of the lecture committee, declared: "Vermont is unusually fortunate to secure a lecture date with her as her tour in the United States and Canada is for six weeks only and she is in great demand. Probably no single person is so well-informed to speak on this broad and significant question—none so well equipped as she for the discussion because of experience during the World War and her deep conviction."

To a solid background of relevant facts Dame Crowdy adds ease, and vivacity—for she is an eloquent and finished speaker. Every student and faculty member will consider it a real treat to hear and meet this distinguished League official.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of The Cynic:

I have just read a communication in the latest edition of the Cynic and have discovered that "Christianity" is doubted at last and also the opinion of the writer [illegible] several points in the second paragraph.

We are informed that there was "hardly a student" at the Northfield conference who could see the necessity of even postulating a God, and then a little later that "youth insists upon ..." I fully agree with the writer that a great number of the students today are questioning the validity of our religious conceptions and as regards the sincerity of their doubt I will say that I believe it is entirely sincere, but it is true only in the sense that I would be sincere if I were to publish an article in which I said that Mr Einstein's Theory of Relativity is all hokum. In other words the students doubt is sincere, but it is a sincerity based on ignorance.

We the "illustrious" younger generation, pride ourselves that we are sportsmen, that we are broadminded, and above all that we are scientific in our approach to life; and I believe in a majority of instances most of us are. But what becomes of these famous characteristics when we come to deal with religion? The courage of the sportsman vanishes when Christianity asks him to conduct himself in a manner contrary to custom, he has not the moral stamina to withstand the scathing ridicule of public opinion. And yet we are known as good sports.

I wonder how many of our scientifically-minded young people ever heard of the scientific method. Judging by such articles, it would seem that few have, else how could mere children be passing such verdicts, when it has taken learned men many long years to make the experiment of Christianity.

The method employed by critics of Christianity is only too well known. They are only too apt to read criticisms by others, or reason among themselves in their immature way and finally draw their conclusions and air them to the world as the last word in "higher criticism." This fact is appalling to such an extent that it leads one to believe that if Galileo hadn't dropped a couple of rocks from a tower, these same critics would still be wondering whether or not a heavy rock would fall faster than a light one instead of investigating to find out for themselves.

Obviously, if we are to retain our claim to broadmindedness and our scientific attitude in religious matters, as well as in everything else, we must be true to our principles, we must either accept religious doctrines and experiment by practicing them, before we draw conclusions, or if we lack the courage to do this we must be honest enough to be silent about a subject of which we have little or no knowledge.

It is quite true that the World War has served as an upsetting factor in religious life as well as in everything else. In fact it was so upsetting that it jarred many a pseudo-Christian out of his self-complacency and turned him to a deeper and truer realization of what Christianity should be; to say nothing of the effect that it had in offering many pagans an excuse for abandoning the church. At any rate it is rather a sweeping assertion for one to say that the World War was probably the greatest cause for the decline of Christianity without taking the opportunity to observe more of the world than the few churches in Burlington. I would refer anyone who holds such views to the Retreat Movement which was initiated within the Church of England at the close of the war.

Time does fly and the youth of the world who carried the burden of the war are now people anywhere from 30 to 57 years of age, just the age of the people who make up the bulk of our church congregations today. When we speak of the young people forsaking the church because of the hypocrisy which came to light as a result of the war, do we mean those men and women who suffered and bore the brunt of the conflict? Or are we referring to the callow youth of today who are getting their first taste of education and use the war as an excuse to cover up their ignorance, laziness or cowardice in religious matters?

No one contends that the world is thoroughly Christian. The Church of Christ is living in an atmosphere of paganism. These are facts that no one can deny. And is it not more sensible and fair to put the blame or credit, as the case may be where it belongs? For instance, if men are allowed to starve in a nation where Christianity is supposed to exist, it is because that nation is still more pagan than Christian, but of we recognize that such a condition exists and we inwardly rebel against it, it is because of Christian teachings. Time was when men could starve and be slaughtered by the thousand and no one would give it a second thought, but now because Christ's conception of the brotherhood of men is ever gaining greater headway, we feel outraged because a few wealthy hoarders are withholding grain from the masses, and some of us say Christianity has failed, it is "doomed."

When Mr. Germain says that religion should assume a "this-wordly attitude" in an attempt to prolong its life, he is undoubtedly falling into the common error which makes Christianity a purely moral code instead of a spiritual, dynamic, power-inspiring religion. It is spiritual and it does deal with a spiritual world, and in that very fact rests the justification for its existence. It is not in competition with newspapers, uplift societies or any other human agency, its sole purpose is to give to human beings the power, peace and happiness which is spiritual rather than material, and to bring about proof that the spiritual world does not exist "only in books and in the mouths of divines."

Once upon a time, Pontius Pilate, the high priests and all the Sanhedrim were certain that Christianity was doomed, later Justinian was sure of the same thing. From time to time men have risen up and said the same thing, but I would like to point out that it is still possible to say this.

When a man wishes to make this statement it would be well for him to remember the distinction between Christians and pseudo-Christians, for it is the latter who always give the sign of weakening which is liable to make a man of hasty judgment say: "Christianity is Doomed."

HARVEY D. BUTTERFIELD, '31.

IN THE GROUP OLD DAYS

Twenty-five Years Ago

Word comes that through the efforts of Senator Proctor a station of the weather bureau and an observatory for meteorological purposes was to be established at the University. The plans for the bureau as it now stands on the Williston road were published at this time.

The Cynic made the suggestion to the faculty that a college meeting should be held once a week immediately following chapel. At this the students would have an opportunity to listen to the speeches of captains and managers of athletic teams and transact any other business that might come up.

Ten Years Ago

Vermont won the state championship by defeating Norwich 29-15 in a slow game, our second team playing the last quarter. On the following day we defeated St. Michael's 44-20.

The Radio Club was very active and did a great deal of pioneer work in constructing sets. The student operators conversed daily with the club at Princeton and the operators of the two colleges became very chummy.

Five Years Ago

An exciting and close basketball contest was held between the varsity and the alumni stars of former years. The alumni were finally defeated 35-30.

Plans were discussed by the Cynic board and the faculty advisers as to whether it would be practical to publish the Cynic bi-weekly.

Bits of Bunk

Wiseacre: Haven't I always given you my salary check the first of every month?

Mrs. Wiseacre: Yes, but you never told me you got paid on the first and fifteenth, you embezzler!

"Why are your socks on wrong side out, Bob?"

Bob: My feet were hot, and I turned the hose on them.

"Oh, Mrs. Flatbottom, I have never seen a child as badly spoilt as that son of yours."

"Why, Mrs. Murphree, I don't believe you."

"Oh, yes he is too, just come out and look what the fire engine done to him."

"She certainly worships her husband."

"Yeah, she places burnt offerings before him three times a day."

Angry widow (after learning husband left her nothing): I want you to take "rest in peace" off that tombstone I ordered yesterday.

Stone Cutter: I can't do that but I can put something underneath.

"All right—Put 'til I come.'"

The milk-fed chickens of yesterday demand Gordon water these days.

CINEMA COLUMN

AT THE STATE:

Wednesday and Thursday, March 11 and 12

Rich in romance and ... the Orient, "East Is West" was a stage play that ... popular. Now it has ... an excellent talkie ... and an adequate cast. ... Universal's Mexican star ... rôle of Ming Toy. Her ... Lewis Ayres, a popular ... who attracted favorable ... "Common Clay," and ... Western Front." The ... ance is given by Edward ... Charlie Yang. His ... alone, is worth the price ... The picture just misses ... great one and if you ... Oriental yarns, be sure ...

Friday and Saturday, March 13 and ...

Louis Wolheim, Jean ... Robert Armstrong come ... in a smashing, but, rather ... ic, tale of railroad life. ... sound effects and unique ... are the most outstanding ... the picture. At times ... be excited, and it will be ... last chances to see the late ... heim, who gives a creditable performance in one of the leads.

Monday and Tuesday, March 16 and ...

If you didn't see "Hell's Angels" during its first run in Burlington, ... sure to go this time. The ... is spectacular especially during ... scenes of the Zeppelin raid ... Howard Hughes spent over four million dollars and three years in the production of "Hell's Angels" and directed it with scrupulous care. The cast is not so good. Jean Harlow will be a rather distinctive type but as actress her distinction is rather doubtful. James Hall and Ben Lyon are adequate in stereotyped characterizations of war buddies. In spite of the weakness of plot and cast, don't miss "Hell's Angles"—it is a thrilling, stupendous epic of the air and the burning Zeppelin sequence is great.

F. B. D.

The Mystic Pen

Predictions for March

There will be a general exodus from colleges all over the world; prevailing winds will prevail; a vice probe will be instituted somewhere; girls-we-left-behind will begin stirring up the Xmas spirit; in anticipation of Easter vacation; eighteen students will hear Dame Crowdy; we will fail to take a prize in the Camel contest; millions of people will not win a prize, millions of people will wind clocks that could go on.

—mp—

"My girl is like a rule."
"Howzatt"
"Hard and fast."

—mp—

(This is guaranteed to be an original—take your own risks in thinking the other last lines.)

—mp—

This issue is dedicated to modern verse trends. We hope you like it, then we have hoped for [illegible]

—mp—

The Limerick

There was a young man from Nantucket,
Who lived with his wife and [illegible] children.
He left them one day,
Without saying goodbye.
And I'm sure they felt put out about it.

—mp—

The Lyrick

I want to go down to the sea again
To the shifting sands and the sky again;
To feel the salt breeze and hear again;
To the breakers' boom and the cry again
Of the wild sea things and the bird that sings—
But the mosquitos annoy me.

—mp—

The Folk Song

The great number of songs [illegible] about the way the depression has taken their personal wallet, reminds me of that Mexican classic:

La cucaracha, la cucaracha
Ya no puede caminar
Por que no tiene,
Por que la falta,
Dinero para gastar. (Your request.)

—mp—

Dumb: "We're going to give bride a shower."

Dumber: "Count me in ... the soap."

Lambda Iota announces the pledging of Stanley K. Carter of Corinth, Vermont.

NEW VARSITY DEBATERS DEFEAT ST. MICHAEL'S

(Continued from page 1)

...ries in proportion to ...siness, but burdens ...e with this duty. The ... receive enough pay ... contribute to charity ...ng weaknesses of the ... Chains do not offer ...ness of fundamentals ...as food, but leaves the ... go with unpaid bills ... destroy personal initiative ...agers become merely fig... there is little opportunity ...ment, he said in closing, ... will always be under ...

Donaghy First

...naghy then took the floor ... speaker for Vermont and ... show that no one could ... chains are detrimental ... definition for the word ... as meaning something ...ainful, injurious and caus... Donaghy reminded the af... that the burden of proof lies ... and that they must show ...hain store has all of these ... and would have them quote ...famous economist who says ...hain store is detrimental to ... and that it is cause of in... failures.

...stores are socially, economi... morally sound and these units ... broken up but each stands ... The chain is beneficial to the ...nt himself, declared the nega... He has been forced to ... store and use more effi... methods. Competition of the ... has always been clean, ... fair to all those concerned ... is not the cause of inde... failures. Taking up the ques... of delivering, Donaghy said ... cents on every delivery ... by not delivering and thus ... sixty-two dollars and forty ... year to the consumer. If ...kage of corn flakes was sold ... the chain store there would ...bined saving of sixty thou... dollars a year to the people of ... States.

... speaking second for St. ... attempted to prove that tend... monopoly. He elaborately ... the reasons for developments ...hain store and gave the future ... He gave four reasons for ...elopment. The first, that it ... the producer to produce at low ... secondly, own manufacturing ... thirdly, mergers, concentrated ... and fourthly, price cutting, ... that the rich are richer and ... becoming poorer. As to the ... Falcao quoted that the super ... throughout would in five years ... 80 percent of trade and de... into five monopolistic concerns.

They Are Inconsistent

... LaCrosse, speaking secondly ...mont, showed with many ges... that the affirmative were incon... and again reminded them that ...den of proof lied with them ... took up the charge of monop... merger by citing the immense ... carried on by the Indepen... Grocers' Alliance, showing that ... a great deal more fear of ... in the voluntary chain. The ...ent of the chain is due to ... that they have satisfied the ... of the people and therefore is ... Inefficient methods drive ...endent out of business and ...dependent can use the same ... employed by the chain in the ...ge of his store. The chain is ... to the public, it pays the ...ent and occupies stores in the ... of business; it offers standard ... and is a clean place to buy ... The day of the butcher, baker ... candlestick maker has passed, ... LaCrosse, and more efficient ... must be used. After refuting ... arguments of his opponents, he ...ed by saying that the chain ... survives only on the patronage ... public.

... Boudreau concluded the ...tive argument for the affirma... rigorously attacking the con... created by the chain store in ... of distribution. It threatens ...ufacturer, for chains are con... them and moreover have their ...nts. It eliminates the whole... and jobber and therefore makes ...nemployment in a country ... now overflowing with un... Boudreau then summarized ... argument for the affirmative team and said that the ... while not wholly ..., brought many detrimental effects from the community.

Nelson Concludes Construction

Nelson, concluding the constructive argument for the Vermont team and used the alternative of proving that it was worth the price of inefficiency to be lost and that was if the chain store was true. He carefully reminded them that they must not mentioned one economic authority who said that the chain store was detrimental and that they must do so before the debate was ended. Nelson then ventured to show the tremendous social savings offered by the chain store, asserting that it eliminates the middleman and delivery and furthermore, does not take the money out of town. He then summed up the arguments of the negative speaker by speaker, and showed that they had every authority in the world backing them up in their arguments. As far as labor and unemployed ... the chains increased their members greatly in sale time and special weeks. Take care of overproduction by offering goods at lower prices and stated that the A & P. offered bread at seven cents a loaf when there was an overproduction of wheat. When you save one-fifth of a dollar by trading at the chain, can it be said that this is concentralization of capital, argued Nelson in closing. We still are waiting for one authoritative economist who believes the chain detrimental.

First in Rebuttal

Donaghy spoke first in rebuttal for Vermont and attempted to show that the I. G. A. savings were due to the lessons taught by the chain store. The chain does not take so much money out of the town as do the independents, for they have to pay more to the wholesaler and jobber. The affirmative have stated that the chain did not locate in small towns and then he proceeded to show that there were chains in small towns of Vermont. Donaghy said that it could not be stated that the chain would control 80 percent of the business and that this was only theoretically founded. Manufacturers are suffering and yet 70 percent of the millionaires were manufacturers, and thus showed the inconsistency of the affirmative.

Leddy, first rebuttal for St. Michael's, refuted the contradiction pointed out by the negative speaker and proceeded to explain that the negative had also made several inconsistencies and contradictions. The negative have shown only figures taken in industrial centers and while it may save a few cents for the consumer there it takes away the profits of the farmer because he cannot sell his produce at high prices.

LaCrosse then took the floor to defend Vermont's argument and tear down the points of the affirmative team and the timekeeper did his best to keep him from doing it. In showing several inconsistencies he asked just how is the chain store distribution detrimental.

Falcao then proceeded to quote from many authorities about the unjust and unfair competition of the chain store and further strengthened his argument against monopoly. Why should we fear the I. G. A.? They are only independent dealers cooperating to receive the benefits of mass buying. He then gives the economic authority that the negative had been asking for as E. A. Filline of Boston.

Nelson came back quickly and strongly against the name of Filine by showing that he was not an authorized economist and could not be used. As for monopoly, why not show that the independent monopolizes trade because he does from 80 to 90 percent of the trade. Again, in closing the arguments for the negative, he asked for one authority among thousands who was on record as saying that chain store was detrimental, therefore the chain is socially, economically and morally sound and beneficial to the public.

The last speaker, Boudreau, for the visiting team quoted from P. Nystrin as the economic authority that the affirmative had been after. In the last few minutes left for him to speak he elegantly tore down the speeches of the opposing team and summarized the complete debate of the affirmative and concluding that the chain store was more detrimental than beneficial to the best interests of the public.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Jean Vancamp '34 and Frances Hadley '34 spent the week-end in Lowell.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Alpha Lorrick, a member of Alpha Chi chapter at Middlebury College visited at Delta Xi the week-end.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fortune announce the birth of a daughter, Jean Lois, on February 24. Mrs. Fortune will be remembered as Lois Hadley.

Mary Dorr '32 and Marjorie Willis ex-'32 spent the week-end in town.

KAPPA DELTA

Alpha Theta of Kappa Delta announces the initiation of Alice Lemay of Newport on Saturday, March 7.

The pledges entertained the active and alumnae chapters at a Backward Party, Thursday, March 5, at the Alpha Club.

Katherine Wright '33 was a visitor in town last weekend.

EPSILON SIGMA

A bridge party was held at the home of Martha Whelan, 11 North Willard Street, Tuesday, March 7.

ERRATUM

Ruth Reynolds, '34, should have been included among those students attaining the A division of the President's Honor List with no grade below A.

Oh, Doctor Morgan," cooed the sweet young coed to our prominent young psychiatrist. "I lost my Intelligence Test. Will I have to be examined all over again?"

No," responded our good doctor gallantly, "only your mind. Green Gander

Does anyone remember when "neck" was a noun?

NOTICE

A joint meeting of Masque and Sandal and Wig and Buskin will be held Friday afternoon, March 16, at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel.

Men who are interested in doing news and sports reportorial work must see the editor at the Cynic office before March 25 for directions. Election of those men, who demonstrate their ability to do the required work, will be held at the end of the semester.

J. C. CARTER,
Editor-in-Chief

UNIVERSITY WILL OFFER ORATORS SCHOLARSHIPS

(Continued from page 1)

...contend it is being political and that an exceptional advantage is offered to small schools who may have been kept out of the debating league because of the traveling expenses of the team in its various debates. To take care of this provision has been made for allowance of not more than ten dollars toward the traveling expenses for each participant in the district oratorical contests and full expenses will be paid to the district winners who come to Burlington for the finals.

The Headmasters' Club committee in charge is composed of James A. Boyd of Black River Academy who is the secretary of the committee, will visit the schools in the southern part of the state this week to enlist their interest. Other schools of the state will be visited by either H. D. Pearl, chairman of the committee and superintendent of Burlington High School, Ralph E. Noble of Morrisville, treasurer of committee, other committee members, or by a member of the University faculty.

Our Song Hit

The Undergrads took an active part.

"Why ain't you tatting smallish clothes?"

"Brother," she said, "this mother knows
My baby yet don't care for clothes."

Hip and Rum.—Utah Chromy.

Back in the old daze when a girl was invited to the Junior Prom she would have a swelled head that evening. Now she doesn't have it till the next morning.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed 1.00
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT SHOPPE
SOUPS
Home-made Vegetable
Home-made Chicken Cream Tomato
SANDWICHES
Hot Chicken
Hot Roast Beef
Hot Hamburg
PASTRIES
Cream Puffs
Jelly Doughnuts
Macaroons
Brownies
Eclaires
Glazed Doughnuts
DOUGHNUTS "Better than the Best"

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1867
Courses ... lead to the degree of D.M.D. Recent research has enlarged the scope of every phase of dentistry. The field demands more than ever before, men and women of ability backed by superior training. Such training Tufts College Dental School offers to its students. School opens on September 30, 1931. Our catalog may guide you in choosing your career. For information address—
Dr. William Hunt, Dean
416 Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass.

We Old Fashion
SILK NET HOSIERY
ARE VERY SMART
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
$1.95 Pr.
Silk from top to toe.
Smartest new shades

Orders for
INVITATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS for Graduation are also being taken
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE
ALL ORDERS WITH PAYMENT IN FULL MUST BE PLACED BEFORE THE EASTER RECESS.

VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
15 Upper Church Street
An old friend in a new location

FRATERNITY NEWS

Alpha Tau Omega ... for the ... which will be held on ... h 14. A ... Johnson of Rutland and R. H. Lowell of ... Mass.

Kappa Sigma ... Monday, March 9 and the ... will be held on Saturday, March 14 at the Hotel Vermont.

Phi Mu Delta had its initiation on Sunday, March ... at their house on College St.

Sigma Nu ... of Dick Arlen, '31, medicine from New York City where he was married last week. The fraternity will hold its formal initiation on March 14.

Sigma Phi ... May 9. The chaperones are Prof. and Mrs. J. J. Poole.

The other fraternities have held their initiations and are making plans for their Easter dances which will ...

"ARTICHOKES, VERMONT'S FOOD NEED," CUMMINGS

Some people need a special diet that is largely free of starch and sugar. Rheumatic and diabetic patients are generally restricted in the amount of carbohydrates containing foods that they may eat, and the artichokes are good substitutes for bread and potato foods. Moreover, artichokes add variety to the vegetable diet. Prof. M. H. Cummings of the Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College points out that inasmuch as these vegetables are easy to grow and not available in market much of the year, and ... stored for months, they can be best obtained at ... home.

In the Crescent at Cornell

. . . as in 42 other leading colleges, there is one favorite smoking tobacco

ENGINEERS walking across campus to a lab in Sibley . . . arts students gathered on the porch of Goldwin Smith . . . lawyers on the steps of Boardman. Not much time between classes . . . but enough for a pull on a pipe of good old Edgeworth!

Cornell men know their smoking tobacco. And they're not alone in their choice. Harvard, Yale, Illinois, Michigan, Stanford, Dartmouth, Bowdoin—all report Edgeworth far in the lead. In 42 out of 54 leading colleges and universities Edgeworth is the favorite pipe tobacco.

Cool, slow-burning burleys give this smoke the character that college men like. Try a tin of Edgeworth yourself—pack it into your pipe, light up, and taste the rich natural savor of fine burleys, enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process.

At all tobacco stores—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

Burlington High School Comes From Behind to Win Finals of State Senior Interscholastic Basketball Tourney

Beats Spaulding 23-18 in Semi-final and Cathedral 23-22 in Title Game—Proctor, Cathedral, Spaulding and Burlington Place Men on All-Tournament Team—Brown, C. H. S., Is High Scorer

PALMER OF BURLINGTON MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

By defeating Cathedral 23 to 22 in the finals, the Burlington High School basketball team won the senior interscholastic title of the State for the second consecutive year in a tournament held Friday and Saturday in the local gym under the auspices of the University of Vermont. Raymond Palmer of the championship quintet was awarded the individual cup as being the most valuable player in the tournament, a distinction which he also won last year.

Selection of the all-tournament team made immediately after the final game by Owen Murphy of St. Michael's College, Coach Burns of Barre Academy and tournament officials resulted as follows:

Leslie Shedd, Proctor, forward
Lucien Evelti, Cathedral, forward
John McKernan, Spaulding, center
Earl Brown, Cathedral, guard.
Raymond Palmer, Burlington, guard

The six highest scorers in the state tournament were:

Player	Team	1stHlf	2nd	Fls	Pts
Brown	g	3	13	5	31
Palmer	g, c	3	9	7	25
McFarland	c	5	7	4	17
Evelti	f	7	3	6	17
Brown	f	1	5	0	16
Hannon	g	2	2	4	16

The Championship Game

Four minutes only to play. Wilbur Palmer, veteran guard of the Burlington High School five, turned in a spectacular performance after going in for center Mike Dee when the latter was forced to retire with his fourth personal. Cathedral High in the finals of the state senior basketball championship had tied up the count at 20 all and Referee Farrell was about to toss the ball up for the center jump when Palmer broke away from the pack and dribbled down the floor. Before he was checked he had shot a one-handed push which dropped through the hoop and the game was over.

Cathedral had scored the first basket of the game on a foul by Brown, Burlington High guard, but Palmer evened the count with a one-handed push from the foul circle. Brown then duplicated his performance, and Cathedral High in the person of Captain Evelti, forward, scored the only field goal of the first period. Brown added a free throw to the Cathedral total in the second period, but Palmer duplicated his performance and a field goal by Hannon, Burlington guard, gave the Burlington five a 5 to 4 lead at the end of the first half.

In the second period Brown netted a free throw

SPORTING NEWS

B. H. S. Wins Tournament

(Continued from page 4)

Prelims

Spaulding 24—Proctor 23

... game of the tourna... Spaulding High of Barre, ... the Northern Vermont ... only undefeated quin... the tournament selections. ... with Proctor, winners of ... Vermont crown.

... quarter was fast, featured ... shooting on both sides. Spaulding's all-tournament ... the scoring with a foul, ... soon equalled by Captain ... Proctor. At the end of the ... the score was tied 11-11. ... period was much slower ... half time the score was ... all.

... half began with McKer... in on two sucker shots ... shot a foul. Good work ... of Jack Shand, Proctor's ... and, brought the down... within one point of the ... as the third period ended. ... quarter was fast and full ... However, Spaulding man... their one-point lead and ... victors by a 24-23 count. ... victors. McKernan was out... while Jack Shand, who sank ... team's floor goals, was the ... player of the game.

SPAULDING

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
... f	3	0	6
... l. f	3	0	6
McKernan, c.	4	3	11
...	0	0	0
... g	0	0	0
... capt., l. g.	0	1	1
	10	4	24

PROCTOR

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
... g	0	2	2
... r. g	0	0	0
R. Shand, c	0	1	1
I. Shand, l. f	8	0	16
Baccei, capt., r. f.	0	4	4
	8	7	23

Referee—Farrell
Umpire—Dunn

Burlington 21—St. Albans 15

In the second game of the afternoon, Burlington topped St. Albans by a 21-15 count. The contest for the most part was uninteresting, especially during the third period when the locals resorted to their famed stalling game with a 11-9 lead. St. Albans, apparently satisfied with the score as it was, allowed the leaders to continue their tactics for the entire period. This move did not prove to be very popular with the spectators, who showered the leaders with cat calls and the well-known "Bronx cheers."

The last quarter Burlington decided to play a little basketball and managed to bring their score up to 21 while St. Albans added 6 to bring their total to 15.

BURLINGTON

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Steirn, r. f.	1	1	3
Echo, r. f.	0	0	0
MacIntyre, co-capt., l. f.	1	2	4
Ginac, c.	0	0	0
Palmer, co-capt., r. g.	2	2	4
Stoutermire, l. g.	2	0	4
	8	5	21

ST. ALBANS

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts
McGreggs, l. g.	1	0	2
Callaghan, r. g.	0	0	0
Sweeney, c.	0	0	0
Brouillette, l. f.	0	2	2
Brown, l. f.	1	0	2
Nash, capt., r. f.	4	1	9
	6	3	15

Referee—Farrell
Umpire—Dunn

Rutland 24—Springfield 20

For the third game of the preliminaries Rutland triumphed over a weak Springfield quintet, undoubtedly the weakest team which ever represented that town in a state tournament, by a 24-20 count.

Rutland went into an early lead, chiefly through Springfield's inability to locate the hoop, and at half time were out in front 12 to 4.

However, Springfield staged a snappy rally during the last half and at one time were leading by a score of 20 to 19. But Rutland came back strong and took the lead on baskets by Lounan and Hostler to win 24 to 20.

Summary

RUTLAND

	Gls.	Fls	Pts
Brislin, r. f.	5	2	12
Hostler, l. f.	1	1	3
Dick, l. f.	0	0	0
Hannon, c.	1	1	3
Lounan, r. g.	2	0	4
Seeley, capt., l. g.	0	2	2
	9	6	24

SPRINGFIELD

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts
Zielonko, l. g.	1	0	2
Yesman, capt., r. g.	2	0	4
Policlor, c.	1	0	2
Litchievick, c.	1	1	3
Call, l. f.	0	3	3
Koszak, l. f.	1	0	2
Hoskiewicz, r. f.	1	0	2
	8	4	20

Referee—Farrell
Umpire—Dunn

Cathedral 39—Northfield 28

In the last game Friday evening, Cathedral, through their superior man power, overwhelmed Northfield by a 39-28 score. With Brown, T. Joly and Evelti accounting for 32 points, the victors had little trouble in outscoring their smaller opponents. Comi, the losers' center, was one of the outstanding players of the game, holding his opponent to a single floor basket and collecting 13 points himself.

Summary

CATHEDRAL

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts
Joly, r. f.	4	2	10
Evelti, l. f.	4	1	9
Dowhan, l. f	1	0	2
Murray, c.	0	1	1
McKenzie, c.	6	1	13
Brown, r. g.	0	1	1
Mahoney, l. g.	0	0	0
P. Joly, l. g.	0	0	0
	15	7	39

NORTHFIELD

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts
Hand, l. g.	0	2	2
Fernandez, l. g.	0	0	0
Diego, r. g.	1	3	5
Comi, c.	5	3	13
Holden, capt., l. f.	2	2	7
Karr, r. f.	0	1	1
	8	12	28

Referee—Farrell
Umpire—Dunn

Why Not Now?

You know very well what you're going to want for Spring.

So do we.

Why wait till the other fellow has what you covet.

New Spring Braeburns
with two trousers
$35

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
195-7 Bank Street Near Majestic
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Hockey Team Breaks Even

Green and Gold Sextet Wins Three and Ties One in Eight Contests Played This Season

NORWICH IS DEFEATED TWICE BY CATAMOUNTS

In the eight games played during the [illegible] season the University of Vermont hockey team finished with a record of three victories, one tie and four defeats. Norwich was beaten twice and St. Stephen's once to account for the three wins while Hamilton was tied 4-4 in the opening game of the season. On the other hand Dartmouth, Amherst, Army and Middlebury were the conquerors of the Green and Gold.

The season opened on January 10 with a trip to Clinton, N. Y., to oppose Hamilton. The game ended in a 4-4 tie which the two teams were unable to break after battling in two overtime periods. Dartmouth then triumphed over the Green and Gold sextet in the next game at Hanover. The final score was 10 to 0.

Amherst was here on January 17 for the first home game of the season. The contest was hard fought but again the Catamounts lost by the score of 9 to 3.

The first Vermont victory came when St. Stephen's was overwhelmed 8 to 0 on the local rink. This started the Green and Gold on a winning streak which included Norwich twice by the scores of 3 to 1 and 4 to 0. The [illegible] was cut short as the Army sextet at West Point where on St. Valentine's Day the Cadets downed the Green Mountain team in a fast and rough game by the count of 4 to 1.

After several postponements one match was finally played with Middlebury at Middlebury, but the other scheduled contest had to be cancelled because of poor ice conditions. The last game of the season was with the Blue and White sextet and again the Black Panthers won the state championship title by defeating the Cats 3 to 0.

The past season was one of the best ever enjoyed in the history of the sport at Vermont. Since Coach Abraham has taken over the Green and Gold hockey teams interest has been aroused in the game and some good material has developed. Starting this season with practically a veteran outfit the coach built up probably the strongest team ever to represent Vermont on the ice.

Segal, defense man, Hendricks, goalie, and Cunningham, wing, are the members of the regular team who will be lost through graduation. However, the coach will have Mercier, captain, Marvin, Wood, McVetty and Swain as a nucleus for next year's sextet. Schurman, who worked out earlier in the season, will be the most logical candidate to fill the vacant goalie position.

The season's summary

Vermont	4	Hamilton	4
Vermont	0	Dartmouth	10
Vermont	3	Amherst	9
Vermont	8	St. Stephen's	0
Vermont	3	Norwich	1
Vermont	5	Norwich	0
Vermont	1	Army	4
Vermont	0	Middlebury	1
	24		31

RELAY RACES WILL BE COMPLETED MARCH 18

[illegible] Post Director of Intramural Athletics, has announced that the final round of the interfraternity relay races will take place next Wednesday, March 18, and on the following Saturday afternoon, March [illegible] the indoor track meet will be held. The permanent dates for the relays are as follows:

First	Round	Mar	9 4:30 p.m.
Second	Round	Mar	11 4:10 p.m.
Third	Round	Mar	13 4:10 p.m.
Final	Round	Mar	18 4:10 p.m.

1931 TENNIS SCHEDULE HAS ELEVEN MATCHES WITH SIX TO BE HERE

According to the schedule as already accepted the University of Vermont tennis team will compete in eleven matches this spring. The season opens on April 30 with a three-day trip into Massachusetts when Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Boston University and Tufts will be tackled on successive days. On May 7 the New York State Teachers' College team will be here for the first home game. In all six contests are scheduled to take place on the local courts during the coming season.

The following is the schedule with the dates of the matches with St. Michael's being subject to change:

April 30	Worcester Polytechnic Inst.	There
May 1	Boston University	There
May 2	Tufts	There
May 7	N. Y. State Teachers' College	Here
May 8	St. Lawrence	Here
May 9	Middlebury	There
May 11	St. Michael's	There
May 12	Colby	Here
May 15	Middlebury	Here
May 19	St. Michael's	Here
May 23	Worcester Poly. Inst.	Here

Prentice Picks All-Star Teams

Basketball Coach Presents His Choice of Best Among State and Vermont-Opponent Teams

TAFT ONLY VERMONTER ON ALL-STATE QUINTET

With the closing of the basketball season the Cynic has asked Howard A. Prentice, coach of the University of Vermont quintet, to pick his choice of all-state and all-opponent teams. Certainly few are in a better position or are better qualified to do this task and herewith we print his selections.

Coach Prentice announces his choice for the all-Green Mountain conference basketball team for 1930-1931 as follows:

All State Team

Ashdown, Middlebury, f
Taft, Vermont, f
Fanos, Norwich, c
Hartford, Norwich, g
Tierney, St. Michael's, g

Of the five men picked to the mythical quintet, it will be noticed that Norwich winner of the state championship title, gains two positions. Vermont's lone contribution is Taft, leading scorer and key man of the Catamount attack. Fanos and Hartford both of Norwich have been consistent in performances as floor men and point getters. Ashdown of Middlebury totaled twenty-seven points in the two games against Vermont and along with Taft makes the forward combination complete. Tierney of St. Michael's performed well in holding down the Vermont forwards and his floor work places him as a strong man in the quintet's defense.

More difficulty was experienced in picking an all-star team from the opponents that faced Vermont during the past season. Among such quintets that represented Harvard, Dartmouth, Springfield, New Hampshire and Lowell Textile there were a number of star players that were eligible for the team and the squad chosen by Coach Prentice represents a fast, high-scoring combination. The choice for the center position was so close that both Mackay of Dartmouth and Seewagen of Springfield were listed as being the two most logical candidates.

The all-opponent team as picked by Coach Prentice reads:

All-Opponent Team

Fustis, New Hampshire, f.
Jarek, Lowell, f
Mackay, Dartmouth, c
Seewagen, Springfield, c
Farrell, Harvard, g
Hartford, Norwich, g.

One evening a beautiful vision in blue walked into a Soph's room.
"Get out of here," said the Soph.
"Make me," said the vision.
And he did.—Purple Cow.

ALL THE GOOD EGGS WILL WEAR
TURK'S EASTER SUITS

COLORFUL AS EASTER EGGS

$35 $40 $45

TOP COATS $20

TURKS
Burlington
Vt.

LUCARINI TALKS ON CHEM. IN MARBLE INDUSTRY

NEWS IN BRIEF

Co-ed Notes

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE OFFERS CHICK CIRCULAR

A new 1-page circular known as ... No 60 entitled Brooding and Feeding Chicks has just been issued ... the Extension Service of the State ... Agricultural College, and may be had ... postpaid application. The circular ... was prepared by A. W. Lehman, Extension poultryman and discusses such topics as the time to hatch, brooding equipment, crowding the brooder house, number of chicks to a stove, kinds of litter to be used preparing for the chicks, feeding the chicks, temperature, cleaning the house, lighting for the chicks, and chick feeding recommendations.

VT. EXTENSION SERVICE WILL ISSUE BRIEFLET

Demand for ... Briefiet can now be ... time requests have ... the Extension Service ... Burlington for the ... ice's Briefiet on ... The supply of the ... hausted and the re... filled. Prof. M. B. ... thor of the briefiet ... it and more copies ... briefiet is known as ... Bordeaux Mixture ... dered under that ... The briefiet explains ... mixture, when to spray ... other pertinent infor...

What the NEW HUMIDOR PACK means to Camel Smokers*

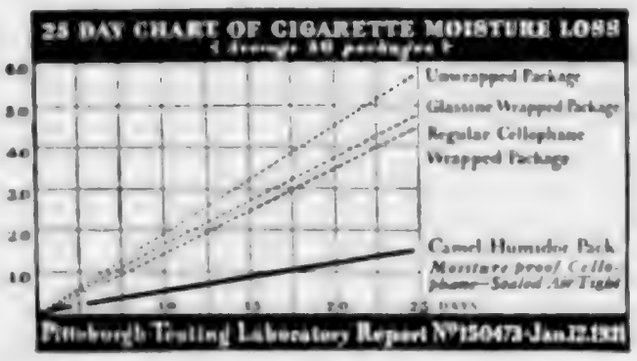
COMPARE a package of Camels with any other cigarette and note the difference in the technique of packing.

Note that Camels are completely enclosed in an outer transparent cover of moisture-proof cellophane and sealed air-tight at every point.

We call this outer shell the Humidor Pack. It differs from the ordinary cellophane pack and while it is egg-shell thin, it means a lot in terms of cigarette enjoyment.

It means, for instance, that evaporation is checkmated and that Salt Lake City can now have as good Camels as Winston-Salem.

While Camels are made of a blend of the choicest Turkish and mellowest domestic tobaccos, it is highly important, if you are to get full benefit of this quality, that these cigarettes come to you with their natural moisture content still intact. The Humidor Pack insures that. It prevents the fine tobaccos of Camels from drying out and losing any of their delightful flavor.



Aside from cheap tobacco, two factors in a cigarette can mar the smoker's pleasure:

Fine particles of peppery dust if left in the tobacco by inefficient cleaning methods sting and irritate delicate throat membrane.

Dry tobacco, robbed of its natural moisture by scorching or by evaporation gives off a hot smoke that burns the throat with every inhalation.

We take every precaution against these factors here at Winston-Salem.

A special vacuum cleaning apparatus removes dust and now the new Humidor Pack prevents dryness.

The Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory chart above graphically shows you that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

Check the* difference *yourself

It is a very simple matter to check the difference between Humidor Packed Camels and other ordinary dry cigarettes.

First of all you can feel the difference as you roll the cigarettes between your fingers. Camels are full-bodied and pliable. A dry cigarette crumbles under pressure and sheds tobacco.

If you will hold a cigarette to each ear and roll them with your fingers you can actually hear the difference.

The real test of course is to smoke them. And here's where the new Humidor Pack proves a real blessing to the smoker.

As you inhale the cool, fragrant smoke from a Camel you get all the mildness and magic of the fine tobaccos of which it is blended.

But when you draw in the hot smoke from a dried cigarette see how flat and brackish it is by comparison and how harsh it is to your throat.

If you are a regular Camel smoker you have already noticed what proper condition of the cigarette means.

But if you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack you have a new adventure with Lady Nicotine in store.

Switch your affections for just one day, then go back to your old love tomorrow if you can.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

*smoke a Fresh cigarette!

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1931 | NUMBER 41

Debaters Off On Western Trip Sat.

Nelson, Donaghy, LaCrosse, Representing Vermont Will Argue Sides of Five Subjects in 19 Debates

...represent their Alma Mater ... fields, Vermont's varsity ... team leaves on the most pre... ating tour in recent years ... history of the University ... afternoon. The team com... R. Nelson '31, R. P. Dona... P. J. LaCrosse '32 will en... nineteen debates extending ... of twenty-four days, be... Monday, March 16, against ... University at Evanston, ... closing, Tuesday, April 7, ... Fordham University at New ...

... the course of the trip the ... team will debate against ... ges and universities as ... University, Lake Forest ... Boston College, North Cen... ... Augustana College, Capth... ... State College at Bowling ... Heidelberg College, Ash... ... Mt. Union College, Kent ... John Carroll University, ... Reserve University, Univer... ... New York University, ... Manhattan College and Fordham Uni... The team will also debate ... least two clubs while they ... New York.

...jects to be debated are:

...ved that the chain stores are ...mental to the best interests of ...American people.

...ved that the several states ... enact legislation providing ... compulsory unemployment in... ... to which the employers ... contribute.

...ved that the nations should ... a policy of free trade.

...ved that the modern trend of ...ising is deplorable.

...ved that the jury system ... be abolished.

... the features of the trip will ... broadcast debate over WBNX at ... April 3, against New York ... This debate will also be ... over one of the radio broad... chains.

The Vermont team consisting of ... Nelson '31, varsity veteran of ... experience, R. P. Donaghy ... veteran of two years' ex... and P. J. LaCrosse '32 junior ... team for two years, is the best ... boasts. This team fresh from ... of the snappy St. Michael's ... present a smooth powerful ... of constructive argument ... a strong defense of rebuttal ... bring many wins to them. ...ation of a long line of vic... debate teams rests on these ...n and they will not fail, it is ...

...e outdone by the traveling ... home team goes into action ... University of Florida next ... evening at the Old Mill ... The question will be "Re... that the nations of the world ... adopt a policy of free trade." ... will uphold the affirmative. ...debate will be a no-decision ... and will be conducted in the ... style. J. A. Bradish '31 and ...dding '31 will represent Ver...

PRESS CLUB NOMINATES LEADERS FOR OFFICES

... Club held a combined business ...al meeting at the Alpha Chi ...ouse Monday afternoon at ... at which nominations were ... officers to serve for the year ... "Betty" Clarke, president, ... the ruling that members will ...matically dropped from the ... no further notice after three ...d cuts from meetings and ... do assigned work.

... Westcott resigned as chair... Scrap Book committee.

... Dean, faculty member in ... the annual Tri-state Liter... ...st between the Universities ... New Hampshire and Ver... ...d that Vermont had always ...ery well in these contests. ...es—short stories, essays, and ... must be handed in before Eas...ation

---

Abell Sends Thanks to Tournament Assistants

The following was recently received by the editor:

Through the columns of the Cynic I would like to express to the men who assisted in managing the Interscholastic Basketball Tournament this last week end, the appreciation of the University of Vermont Athletic Council and the Executive Council of the Headmasters' Club, as well as my own, for their contribution to the success of the tournament as ushers and managers.

S. C. Abell,
Graduate Manager

TEACHERS TO DISCUSS "EDUCATIONAL GUIDANCE" IN ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Will Gather at Burlington High School Today and Saturday for 26th Annual Meet

DEAN ELIJAH SWIFT TO GIVE WELCOME ADDRESS

Burlington High School will be the scene of the twenty-sixth annual conference of the schools of Vermont with the University of Vermont and the Champlain Valley Teachers Association, which will be held March 13 and 14 for the discussion of "Educational Guidance."

Dr. Richard D. Allen, assistant superintendent of schools, Providence, R. I. and Dr. Emma Grant Meader, Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y., will be guest speakers from out of the State. Dr. Allen will speak Friday morning on "The significance of educational guidance in our schools," and Friday afternoon on "An educational guidance program for the high school." Dr. Meader will speak Friday morning on "What is progressive in speech education in America" and Friday afternoon on "A new type of oral reading for elementary grades."

Superintendent Lyman C. Hunt of Burlington, president of the Champlain Valley Teachers' Association, will be chairman of the general meeting, which will be called to order at 9:30 a.m. Friday. Dean Elijah Swift of the University will give the address of welcome. The program will open with some songs by the Burlington High School Glee Club, which will be followed by the guest speaker, and Commissioner C. H. Dempsey will speak at 11:15 on "Regular school work as an aid to guidance."

The afternoon session will open at 1:30 o'clock with a physical education demonstration directed by Milton Hard and Miss F. Babbitt. For the rest of the afternoon the teachers will divide into groups according to the grades taught for more detailed conference. Prof. E. C. Mower will be chairman of the secondary group; Miss Jesse E. Freeman will preside over the elementary group; while Principals Sargent of Rutland and R. D. Pitkin of Wallingford will lead the high school group discussion. After these meetings Principal Pearl of Burlington will preside at an informal meeting of the Vermont Headmasters' Club. At the same time a round table conference for teachers of special subjects will be held.

The other conferences and their chairmen will be: English, Prof. F. Tupper; Latin, Prof. L. M. Prindle; mathematics, Prof. E. Swift; modern languages, Prof. John B. DeForest; physical education Miss F. Babbitt.

The associations will hold banquets at the Hotel Vermont in the evening, while at 8 o'clock the Burlington Junior High School students will present an operetta, "Windmills of Holland," at the high school auditorium, directed by Miss Daggert.

The chief events Saturday will be an agricultural conference at Morrill Hall, starting with breakfast for the agriculture teachers at 8 o'clock. Dr. A. W. Lohman will give a demonstration lesson featuring method and content of poultry judging at 8:30 and the business session will be held at 10 o'clock.

Superintendents and teacher training instructors will hold a conference in Room 1, Burlington High School, starting at 9 a.m., Saturday, at which Commissioner Dempsey will preside.

On the University of Vermont conference committee are Professors G. Grout, B. H. Wallace, E. C. Jacobs, G. P. Burns and B. C. Douglass.

Military Society To Give Big Ball

Memorial Auditorium Scene of Big, Reasonably Priced Event With Due Military Display

...ry Society ... the ... Memorial Auditorium ... the ... and ... R. O. T. C. ...

... Members ... the military department ... Dean Wood with exception ... dance.

Many ... have already been ... a number of freshmen and sophomores ... their intention of ... academic ...

... from Norwich and Fort Ethan Allen have already been invited.

TRI-STATE LITERARY CONTEST MATERIAL DUE BEFORE SPRING HOLIDAY

Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont Again to Compete for Essay, Poetry, and Short Story Honors

This year, as formerly, the Tri-state Literary Contest, in which the Universities of Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont compete, will be under the direction of the English department. Poems, short stories, and essays are the types of writing eligible for entry. All the material must be submitted to the English department before the beginning of the spring vacation. From the work handed in three manuscripts of each class (i.e.) essays, poems, and short stories) will be sent in for the contest. The first prize for the best article of each class is seventy-five dollars; the second, fifteen dollars; the third, ten dollars.

Vermont has stood well in these contests in former years and there is no reason why she should not be in better trim this year than ever before. The essay division seems to be the one most slighted by the competing universities. The rules and limits of the contest may be obtained from members of the English department.

WHAT YOU ARE IS VITAL THING, SAYS SPEAKER

Rev. Duncan Livingston, St. Albans Minister, Points Out the Truths of Life at Chapel

"It matters not where you are born," said Rev. Duncan Livingston of St. Albans, Vt speaking in chapel Wednesday morning, March 11. "All that matters is what you are; what you choose to be." Citing as examples the lives of some of the greatest men in the world's history, Jesus, Lincoln, Napoleon, Beethoven, Boch, Shubert... speaking from ... boyhood and common stock—the speaker forcefully proved his power that what one makes of one's life depends on ... which he must constantly make not on the conditions in which he lives. Recently in France, Louis Pasteur, son of a tanner, was chosen by popular vote as the greatest Frenchman.

To quote Mr. Livingston directly, "what you are you choose to be. No spirit can take away your power over yourself. When man makes up his mind he changes the course of history. The present is greater than the past, the future master of your soul."

The following girls are in charge the Practice house this week: Natalie Hawley, '31, Harriet Johnstone, '31, Alice Gay, '32, Sylvia Holden, '32, Margaret Tower, '32, Katherine Clark, '34, and Virginia Drew, '34.

Tendency Towards Relaxing of Freshman Rules Noted

Householder and Cowles Find Situation at Amherst, Wesleyan and M. A. C. Interesting and Instructive; All Rules Disappearing

HONORARY SOCIETIES AT THESE ARE HONORARY

... Householder ... Cowles ... Wesleyan ... Amherst ... Massachusetts ... Agricultural College to ... rules of freshmen as to the existence ... rigid enforcement of ... caps, carrying of ... and class ... and the penalty if ... in general upon the whole ... Argus.

The general opinion of the ... visitors visited Householder pointed out were the abolishment of freshman rules. Although some of the men would not ... the rules enforced, Householder said, "It does not make enough difference to them so that they should do something about it."

Old time Rivalry Dying

When questioned, Dean Hoxie of ... Committee of Wesleyan in Middletown, explained: "At this university ... old time spirit of inter-class ... is dead and those only as a matter of tradition and custom. ... Dean ... Householder said that he supposed ... would be kept there. There is no ... if any good reasoning ... University. The freshmen ... Dean ... the ... would be wearing of ... caps and the prohibition of ... walking on the south side of ... campus. If a student does ... belong to a fraternity there is ... to make him obey the rules. About 50 percent of the students ... expected ... to fraternities. ... Wesleyan there used to be a term ... of interclass events which would determine the number of time the frosh cap should be worn but these contests have not been held for some time.

... with the exception ... the student usually ... freshmen ... ignore ... dress ... upperclassmen.

Little Interest in Rules

Householder stated that Bloss, the editor of the Wesleyan Argus agreed with the statement made by the Dean.

(Continued on page 4)

VERMONT WOMEN DROP MECHANICAL AGE DEBATE TO MIDDLEBURY CO-EDS

Vermont women lost a 2-1 decision in a debate held last Wednesday evening at the Old Mill Chapel. The subject was "Resolved that the scientific and mechanical progress of today represents an advance in civilization." Middlebury upheld the affirmative. The Oxford style of debate was employed. Under this plan the first affirmative speaker spoke ten minutes and each of the five succeeding speakers spoke fifteen minutes. Then the first affirmative speaker returned to the platform for ten minutes of rebuttal. Vermont was represented by Laura Johnson ... and Roberta Powers '32. Middlebury's team consisted of Ellen Kellogg '31, ... and Hilda Pachero '31.

The judges were Judge ... Justice S. R. ... and ... Smith. Prof. Leon W. Dean again presided in an admirable way and managed cleverly despite the ... decision between six ladies.

Ellen Kellogg opening speaker for Middlebury, having defined the question maintained that the mechanical and scientific progress is the best possible knowledge at the present stage of development of our civilization and that it has furthered intelligence of the masses in the world today. We are also able to transmit that knowledge with ease which also advances the world in general.

Laura Johnson Opens For Vermont

Laura Johnson, first speaker for Vermont's women, pointed out that this civilization is a changed one not necessarily an advanced one. Material means do not bring the best things of life, namely, happiness. Miss Johnson ... that happiness was the natural ... in life and that the negative desired a real definite advance in ... not merely a change. To ... her argument Miss Johnson ... cases to show clearly a definite advance in civilization and next that this advance is due to scientific and mechanical ... and only this progress. Miss Johnson closed her argument with some slight rebuttal of the preceding Middlebury speaker.

Miss Jilda Pachero, second affirmative speaker, pointed out that the negative must deny all the benefits of today's inventions, discoveries and similar benefits. She next spoke for ... refuting the arguments of the affirmative.

Then Miss Pachero argued strongly that the advances in medical science are definitely an advance in civilization. Medical improvements are of a lasting nature and as a real advance in civilization. Miss Pachero emphasized the comparative nature of the

(Continued on page 3)

FIVE MEN AVERAGE A IN ENGINEERING HONORS

Acting Dean Dickinson Also Lists Forty With B Average

... honor ... and ... attained an average grade of A and ... B, thus giving them recognition on the Engineering College honor list ... by Acting Dean L. P. Dickinson.

The following ... attained the average grade indicated during the ... semester of the present college year.

1931

Average A

C. F. Blair, Jr., G. B. Hansen.

Average B

R. W. Allerton, R. M. Blakely, E. F. Bigelow, A. L. Howard, M. L. Justin, R. J. Maynes, N. F. Park, I. V. Moore, P. H. Thomas.

1932

Average A

D. K. Parker, A. O. Eaton.

Average B

P. Bove, B. G. Boyles, D. E. Child, R. W. Cobb, C. B. Cross, P. Demase, R. J. Dimon, R. A. Hyde, K. L. Meehan, K. B. Robertson, W. Young.

1933

Average B

R. M. Bayles, A. W. Baldwin, F. A. Dutton, E. F. Jackson, L. M. Priestley, W. E. Shole, O. O. Sunderland, H. E. Whitney, F. E. Williams.

1934

Average A

D. W. Locke.

Average B

R. H. Bingham, A. B. Buswell, P. S. Coburn, J. J. Delfausse, M. D. Howe, C. J. Libbie, M. A. Ross, P. H. Rowe, R. Q. ..., H. L. Vaughan, F. F. ..., D. C. ...

There was a misunderstanding ... the ... list of ... students as published in the Cynic, March 6 was in error. This list supersedes the ...

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Members of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

JOSEPH C CARTER '32 — Editor-in-Chief
FRED W HOUSEHOLDER '32 — Managing Editor
LANGFORD M PORTER '32 — Sports Editor
ROBETTA M HARLOW '32 — Women's Editor
STUART E CORBIN '33 — Business Manager

NEWS DEPARTMENT

J R Broome, '32 — News Editor
W C MacDonald '32 — Associate Editor
C J Roberts '32 — Intercollegiate Editor
S Z Poulton '32 — Contributing Editor

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

Associate Editor
Assistant Editor

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

Associate Editor
Associate Editor
Athletic Editor

ASSISTANT EDITORS

R E McCann '32, H W Wentworth '32, R W Sweeney '32, H B Wentworth '32
Sports Department: M H Kaplan, '34, M Kramer '34, C J Libby '34, H J Leahy '34
Angelina Cohen '34, Dorothea Edwards '34,

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Advertising Manager
Assistant Manager

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Editorial communications during the college year. Cynic office phone 1044. All communications must be signed by the writer. Any local notices should be handed at the Cynic office or telephoned at 284 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Business communications must be addressed to the Business Manager, Phi Delta Theta House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, South Converse Hall.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 1103 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol 49 — March 7, 1931 — No. 41

FACULTY COLUMN

It is striking how great a rôle honor for honor's sake plays in the college world. From idealistic youth you might hope for more of the ideal motive for extra-curriculum activities — more of the joy of doing things one wants to do without need of other reward. Perhaps any motive for accomplishing good things is good at least in its results. I do not doubt, moreover, that for most students college honors are but visible signs of attainment in pursuits which are themselves the real attraction.

But isn't it a bit painful to anyone honestly interested in activities to have to feel that any considerable proportion "are out for" them not for the activities themselves but in the hope of adding one more badge, trophy, emblem, red ribbon, iron cross or what-not to their string? It is obvious that anyone who goes in for anything chiefly for the honor has an unpleasant resemblance to the student who studies for marks rather than for the exhilaration of intellectual exercise or the attainment of knowledge. Fundamentally he is not unlike the business gentleman who is upright not for the love of it but in the hope of twanging a harp or wearing "a long white robe and a starry crown."

It is no new theory that contentment in life is most surely found in discovering your natural gifts, talents, inward impulses and developing them according to your highest ideals with not worrying about the reward. The reward is in exercising the natural gifts. Now it is quite impossible to be contented if you have for your work in life something for which you feel no inward urge—no matter what the recompense may be. It is yet more surely impossible to add to your happiness if you trade your pleasure for glory. There cannot be many who do so in colleges or the discontent would be more general.

Yet I do feel that the present competitive system of extra-curriculum activities with honors as a stimulus is itself by its very nature conducive to doing things one really doesn't really want to do and is responsible for much discontent. The college atmosphere practically compels students to seek extra-curriculum honors whether or not they have any natural inclination or inward urge to participate. The participants in each line of endeavor, strictly limited in number, are submitted to hard training. More and more students are consciously or unconsciously tired of this honor-collecting grind. We are approximately the state described by the cynical philosopher—"Life would be endurable if it weren't for its pleasures."

The other side of the picture is yet more regrettable. The extra-curriculum activities constitute the major part of the pleasures available for the student. The competition-honor system prevalent in colleges today restricts the use of each activity to a small number of people, the team, club, etc. The much larger group which under a more rational system would use them in their natural way as pleasure and recreation are practically excluded. This means that anything that has become an organized activity is in large measure eliminated as a source of pure pleasure and enjoyment.

If we could get rid of this honor idea in extra-curriculum activities and eliminate the mad chase for honors, we'd gain much. Only those who enjoyed activities for themselves would participate. They could, moreover, take part as much or as little as they wished. A much larger number could have the benefit of the available recreational resources of college. All would have more enjoyment from them. They would thus be elevated to their proper position of recreation and pleasures. I sincerely feel that, then the general level of contentment in our colleges would be raised and that is the object sought in these reflections.

JOHN B DEFOREST.

ODDS AND ENDS

Cynthiana: Paul has decided not to take a medical course.

Georgiana: The brave boy! Just think of the lives he's saved.

Shay, Les thish is Willie Jones calling. I'm in jail. Will ya come down with your stomach pump and bail me out? Red Cat Headlines in a Rochester paper: "Local man swallows Kodak films." Hope nothing develops.

W A X says he likes to go out with plumbers daughters because they sometimes forget themselves.

What's the matter with you?
I just got a large dose of quinine.
Quinine? I didn't know that you had a cold.
I didn't, the cow did and the doctor told me to blow some quinine in her mouth but she blew first.

A lonely Lambda stands
Because the muscles on her brawny arms
Are strong as iron bands. Hip and Rum—Utah Chrony.

How can you tell if they're necking or dancing?
If they're not moving, they're dancing. Lyre

They say that matches are made in Heaven. Maybe so, but that isn't where I think a lot of cigar lighters came from.

Chemistry at St. Thomas

Question: Give in detail the process of making mercuric acid?
Ans: God made all things.
Mark: The good Lord gets an 85. Purple and Gray

Simple Suzie pooh poohs the idea that a cat has nine lives. Why, she says that she knows a young man who kicked off fourteen times in a football game. Tommie Topics

Father: Now I want to put a little scientific question to you, my son. When the kettle boils, what does the steam come out of the spout for?
Son: So that mother can open your letters before you get them!

Then there was the man who was cranking his Austin and it flew out of his hand. Puppet

The Mystic Pen

The Japanese

Here am I
my love I see there waiting sadly—arms outstretched.
The bamboo sways in the late march wind
Round the pool is a rim of thin, sharp ice where the fish nibble at dried rice cake.
My soul is like the pool consumed in fragments by the Sixteen Fish of Doubt Here am I—my love lies there but a mountain lies between us.
—Tao N'gako, ancientmss

Contemporary Crack of the Weak

The B U. Walrus elucidates, on spring, and on coincidence:

'Tis Spring. Bejabers
Then doth the Poet roll his Eye
And rest his Frenzied Focus
Upon the Robin perched on high.
And on the Lowly Crocus.
While as he wrote "'Tis Spring at last!"
Up sprung a sudden wintry Blast
The frozen Robin, as it fell
Was heard to chirp, "Lykelle. Lykelle!"

Random Thoughts: Some girls have bad reflections cast upon them unwittingly, such as the two co-eds seen at a local bookstore browsing around beneath a large sign which read:

Why We Misbehave
for only
One Dollar

While still other girls are just naturally born with a rattle in their head, such as the gum-chewing pair we observed some years ago, gazing at a copy of "The Three Musketeers" in the bookshop window. Spoke the one, "Gee, Maymie, lookit—the show's only been in town two weeks, and they got the book out already!"

The Springfield Student's produces a masterpiece. It becomes collegiate history by being quoted in the best places. Observe:

The Freshman

Who is it should obey the rules
Prescribed by modern higher schools?
At once the upperclassman drools,
The Freshmen

Who is it should protect our eyes
By modest socks and sober ties?
The clipped attire signifies
They're Freshmen.

Who is it should discourage scraps,
And show they're proper college chaps?
Who but lads with buttoned caps.
The Freshmen

Who is it should be soft and sweet,
In conversation most discreet,
Whose vocal chords produce a bleat?
The Freshmen

Aye! little reck they for our laws—
These youngsters who go picking flaws
In every Student Council clause—
The Freshmen

They congregate from morn to night;
Outrush the Sophs in every fight;
Their garments are a fearful sight
The Freshmen.

For them, tradition breeds no scare;
They smoke, and scrap, and how they swear!
Oh, Sophomores, take heed; beware
These Freshmen!

Sonnet XXXIV

You say her love has turned to hate
Don't mourn and mope so constantly,
It's bad. You'll find yourself neurotic-ly
Inclined. Buck up before it gets too late
Just write the girl a sonnet and your fate
Will instantly be changed, for don't you see
That Shakespeare and the other fellows free
Themselves from pain that way—it's great!
The most sophisticated modern maid
Is subject to the charm of verse well turned
The poet always strikes the vibrant chord
And if all wealth and prehistoric jade
Can't work, for verse their passion's always burned
Try sonnets and quite soon you'll pay her board

Soph: Sir, I weren't doin' anythin' but lookin' at the lady when she walks down the steps. Then all of a sudden she soaks me on the peninsula.

Boulder: What do you mean, peninsula?

Soph: Well, sir, a long narrow neck, just a stretchin' out to see.

Author's Arena

One need not buy books of poetry in order to appreciate the work of the contemporary poetics. If you will take the trouble to glance through the pages of most of the better magazines there will be found verses to fit any mood. There is an especially good column "The Poets' Corner" in the Saturday Evening Post that will yield pleasure to the reader.

An imaginative poem by Lord Dunsany gives distinct joy to the reader.

To a Dog Dreaming

What golden rabbits do you chase
In emerald fields of far away,
Or through what forests do you race
With unicorns, as swift as they,

All shimmering through the silent gloom,
Where unimagined flowers grow
And glitter downward bloom on bloom
From giant trees that no men know?

No answer comes from lands of dream;
Only the twitching of your limbs
And hunting cries, that fainter seem,
As though, so soon, your dreamland dims.

As though the strange horizons melt
And all the dreamy valleys fade,
And there comes back your bit of felt
Before the fire that men have made.

We shall not see your unicorns
Where, like a multitude of towers,
Lifts up the splendor of their horns;
We shall not even paint the flowers;

We shall not know the beasts you hunt;
Only this knowledge shall we find:
The dream, the dream is far in front,
And you, and we, pant on behind.
—Lord Dunsany.

There are also moods to fit the lighter moments, such as this one by Margaret Fishback.

Lines to an Optimist

Do you honestly expect
Love to last forever, dear?
Even tho I should elect
To be true, I'd not expect
Anyone to genuflect
Feverishly, year on year:
So I hope you wont expect
Love to last forever, dear.

Perhaps, your mood can't be matched in these columns. Well, don't be discouraged, try one yourself. Something like this without

'What's a man without a mate?
A woman to love——
——And oftimes hate?"
What's a lover without much money?
That kind of man to love——
don't be funny!"
A bachelor old and bald of pate
Is very often the tool of fate.
Mayhap he loved, and learned in time
The cruel wile of a woman's line.
To love a man
Without much much money——
——is oftimes you know
Not so funny.

L'envoie

The lover spurned.
The child spanked
Oft learn a lesson,
and love is thanked.
"so what's a man
without a mate?"
"so what's a bachelor old and bald of pate?"
A lover spurned
a child spanked.
Who again, dares not a joust with fate.

You try one. If you don't do better than this turn to the poetry corner of some popular magazine. That's what I'm going to do.

—S. Z. P.

After several verbal attempts to refrain Dr. T. A. Adams of the University of Utah from his policy of "lock-outs" for late comers, the class of senior engineers summarily locked out Doctor Adams for being late to his class last Friday morning. When Doctor Adams arrived and demanded entrance, the students pad no attention to him whatsoever. Justice seemed complete.

But the hatchet was not buried as far as the instructor was concerned. He fumbled about the lock of the door, plugged it with a pencil stub and left. Exit for the engineers was impossible their teacher had locked them in their own trap!

A janitor, attracted by the noise, came to the rescue and removed the pencil stub, which afforded a means of escape.

The hatchet is not yet buried, as far as the students are concerned. The fact remains that the teacher is still "one up" on his proteges. The class meets again Wednesday.

"There's the piano," she said. "Please play something."

He rose to his full graceful height, pushed back his long black hair and adjusted his cuffs. He sat before the piano. Something was amiss. He searched. My God, he hunted. He turned despairingly: "Gloria," he groaned, "where in hell is the slot?"—Red Cat.

THE FORUM

WHAT DOES SHE EXPECT OF ME?

What does she expect of me? What does she want a gentleman? What must I do for her to please her and enjoy my association with her friendship?

Every University of ... will find in the following ... made by four coeds and ... the dean of women ... University of Minnesota ... questions that girls ... and themselves ... friendships with young ...

(In order to make ... naire reliable, the questions ... answered truthfully. No ... required.)

Put a plus sign in front ... ber of the question if ... to be "yes"; a minus ... swer is to be "no", and ... indifferent about the ...

Intelligence

1. Do you prefer a ... can converse intelligently?
2. Does a good line attract ...
3. Is a sense of humor ... your enjoyment?
4. Do you like to go with ... is more intelligent than ...
5. Do you look for ...
6. If you are a Protestant ... object to going steadily with a Catholic boy?
8. Do you like to carry on ... conversation?
9. If you are interested in a ... boy, but did not like his ... would you continue going with him?

Family Status

10. Does the status of a ... influence you?
11. Would you go with a ... gardless of a bad reputation ... might have acquired before ... you?
12. Are you ashamed to go with ... boy who is working his way ... school?
13. Do you object to dating ... boy who is younger than you are?
14. Do you prefer to be with a ... who is the "life of the party"?
15. Do you care whether he drinks moderately ——, excessively ——?

Kiss on First Date?

17. Do you expect a boy to ... the first time he takes you out?
18. Do you like to "pet"? Do ... preting petting in the general sense?
19. Do you expect a petting ... with each date?
20. Do you smoke to be a ... sport?
21. Do you drink to be a good ...
22. Would you refuse a date ... cause of a boy's personal appearance?
23. Would you go out with a boy ... because of his money only?
24. Do you expect money to be ... on you on every date?

Money on Date?

25. Does it make any difference ... you whether or not a boy dresses well?
26. Do you expect a boy to ... when you or any other woman enters the room?
27. Do you expect a boy to ... phone you immediately before a date?
28. Do you expect the boy to ... you several days in advance of ... occasion for which the date is ... made?
29. If a boy accepts a girl's invitation to a party, do you think it necessary for him to return an invitation?
30. Do you object to blind dates?
31. Do you expect a boy to help you into a car at all times?
32. Do you like to be escorted on the street?

Object to Street Cars

33. On an informal date do you object to riding on the street cars?
34. Do you mind if a boy does not walk on the outside of a walk?
35. Does it matter whether or not a boy tips his hat when ... you?
36. Do you object to a date with some one you do not approve of merely to get to a certain ...?
37. Do you like men who ... door life?
38. Do you like to have a man notice your clothes that ... mention them to you?
39. Do you like a man who can hold of a conversation and carry it by himself?
40. Do you insist upon respectful mention on the part of the boy of your own and your own parents?
41. Do you prefer a fraternity ...?
42. Does fraternity standing ... any difference to you?

Date Exclusively

43. If you are dating with a girl do you expect him to date only with you?
44. Do the opinions of your ... influence you in your dating a certain man?
45. Do older men interest you more than younger men?
46. Do you prefer dating in groups?
47. Do your parents ... influence you in the choice of friends?
48. Do you believe in ... valuable gifts from young men?

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS WILL BE GOAL OF MANY YOUTHFUL AMERICANS

Competition Will Ensue Next Fall Among Candidates from All States

for the Rhodes Scholar- held in every State in the the coming fall months. Scholarships are tenable niversity, and the appoint- made for a period of two scholar may remain for upon presenting a satis- of study to the college odes trustees.

holars may also be allowed postpone their third year, Oxford for it after a work in the United States al cases may spend their in post graduate work in University in Great Bri- the continent of Europe. State elections will be held

LUELLA ROSS, '31
Women's Associate Editor

UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT SOON

The University orchestra will give its first concert in the Gymnasium, Wednesday evening, March 18, at o'clock. "Brahms' Song of Fate" will be sung by the men's and women's double quartets, as one number. A complete program of the concert will be published in a later issue of the Cynic

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Delta Chapter of Delta Delta Delta announces the pledging of Virginia Hall of Burlington. Miss Hall was entertained at the Phelps dance March 6.

PI BETA PHI

Vermont Beta of Pi Beta Phi announces the pledging of Myla Anderson '33 of Brooksville, N. Y. and Carolyn Wilkinson '33 of Waterford, Conn. on Monday, March 9.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Upsilon of Alpha Xi Delta announces the pledging of Marguerite Sargent '33 of Burlington Center on Sunday, March 8.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Alpha Iota chapter announces the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Alice Lawrence '32; vice-president, Frances Parshall '32; corresponding secretary, Mildred Cole '32; recording secretary, Lillian Mount '32; treasurer, Katherine Mott '32; guard, Ethel Swanton '32; Gladys LaFlamme '32, Warden, Helen Lord '32; chaplain, Lucile Robertson '32; historian, Leah Gowen '32; editor, Pearl Donahue '32.

Mary Davis '30 and Marjorie Wilcox '31 spent the week end in town.

The pledges entertained at a social evening Monday, March 9.

SIGMA GAMMA

Helen Spaulding, '30 and Lucene Little '30 were in Burlington for the week end.

KAPPA DELTA

The installation of the following officers was held Thursday, March 12: President, Evelyn DeBruno '32; vice-president, Alice Lamb '32; secretary, Dorothea Edwards '33; corresponding secretary, Elinor Beach '31; treasurer, Dorine Lee '32; assistant treasurer, Anna Green '34; editor, Esther Beardsley, '33; social chairman, Hilda Wilder '32; convention delegate, Hilda Wilder '32.

EPSILON SIGMA

Epsilon Sigma announces the recent initiation of Martha Bates of Greensboro.

Mary Lawson '30 teacher in the Burlington public school was married Saturday, March 7 to Mr Richard Haley of North Adams, Mass.

A tea will be served at the rooms Friday, March 13, from 4.30 to 6 in honor of the women attending the lumberjack competition.

An informal [illegible] at 9 o'clock at the Ethan Allen Club.

K. E. I.

K. E. I. held a meeting at the home of Lucia Cowie on Monday, March 9.

Efficiency Indeed!

In The Queen's [illegible] Canada is noted for [illegible] Queens. Efficiency in a maid is that quality which enables her to master her mind and mend her make-up at the same time.

Hiram: May I take the lantern to go see my girl?

Farmer: To go see your girl? Why I didn't use the lantern when I went courting.

Hiram: Well, look what your girl got.

EASTER CARDS
also Birthday, Anniversary and Convalescent
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS FOR U. V. M.
featuring
Draper & Maynard and A. G. Spalding Bros. athletic equipment
PATTEN, IRWIN & WHITE
W. E. GREENE CO.
Consolidated

HARRIET WRIGHT '32

NOTICE

All sophomores wishing to scrub track should report to the gym any afternoon after four o'clock.
Hugh R. Mattison,
Manager of Track

A joint meeting of Masque and Sandal and Wig and Buskin will be held Friday afternoon, March 16, at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel

Men who are interested in doing news and sports reportorial work must see the editor at the Cynic office before March 25 for directions. Election of these men, who demonstrate their ability to do the required work, will be held at the end of this semester

J. C. CARTER,
Editor-in-chief

THE MUSE CONVERSES

[illegible] Speaker: Come, come, come to the point.

A committee of investigation has reached the University to [illegible] date January [illegible] here. The members of this Inquiring Committee are composed of Hiram Dan and Marco Sap, who come to us from Perfume University and are [illegible] Prof. Keyholes Pet [illegible] Because of the recent agitation on their home campus in regard the [illegible] more [illegible] women they were chosen by popular opinion as a more representative group. The fact that they have already expressed an opinion on the subject and have made up their minds women in advance will of course [illegible] and to them to make an unbiased opinion. Another factor to their advantage is that there are no smoking smudges at the Billings Library.

When pressed for an opinion Hiram Dan expressed himself as follows: I noticed on my first visit to your library that [illegible] the [illegible] So to [illegible] the student seldom does not go to the library to study. They go to gossip and meet their boy and girl friends. The sex of [illegible] depending on the part of the floor you [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

FROSH RULES PASSING FROM OTHER CAMPUSES

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Howell Swett the president of the university [illegible] was in the months of the [illegible] and added that the sophomores [illegible] something like freshmen [illegible] president of the student council [illegible] was paid [illegible] initiations at Wesleyan are held each after the pledging which takes place the first week of school

[illegible] equality of all students regardless of which class they belonged to [illegible] in the school council [illegible] Among [illegible] which do not resemble [illegible] are [illegible] concerning [illegible] the strength of freshmen [illegible] at the [illegible] United States [illegible] the freshmen are [illegible] hospitals and all [illegible] and [illegible] beds.

[illegible] officers of some of the [illegible] were in a [illegible] the [illegible] weight. Canada sent [illegible] Dean Hewitt of Wesleyan who stated that he [illegible] and find the object of the freshman rule.

[illegible] Secretary of Amherst [illegible] that [illegible] and find [illegible] and Smith [illegible] the [illegible] are [illegible] were [illegible] be insulted. Practically [illegible] suppress the [illegible] be added President Fagan of Amherst [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] rules [illegible] and the [illegible] have [illegible] to [illegible] rules [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] He [illegible] [illegible] as [illegible] and [illegible].

Peculiar Customs

[illegible] of customs practiced by freshmen at M A C [illegible] Not [illegible] is allowed the entire year of freshmen changed to serve student activity freshmen serenade the coeds at their dormitories for an early week every morning and during the first month of school all freshmen change to jumping the names in the class numerals displayed on the college walls.

Evidence of attempts at orientation of freshmen was disclosed in Dean Hewitts' statement that it was a good idea to wear the frosh cap as it helped upperclassmen to recognize freshmen as university students. At the beginning of school the frosh must wear a card stating their name alongside of a large stamped W in red color. This also aids in their recognition as freshmen. At Worcester Householder said, if a frosh loses his cap, he must [illegible] to the sophs.

At Amherst similar conditions were found with an exception only of [illegible] which [illegible] It was found by an interview with Adams the [illegible] that the Amherst student body [illegible] Smith & Mount Holyoke [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] frosh caps for [illegible] the first semester and Thursday all Wednesday [illegible] At Worcester there is a great lack of [illegible] activity. Week, the [illegible] of the upperclassmen [illegible] [illegible] of their upperclassmen are [illegible] for the present and [illegible] but the impression that a natural outcome of present day progress is the fact that students should seek their [illegible] outside of the college [illegible] with the proximity of Northampton and several other men's and girls' colleges." Amherst students also stress the fraternity [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] each frat having a hell week for pledges after which the freshmen are on an equal basis with the others.

No One Cares After First Week

In the research made at Massachusetts Agricultural College a three-semester system was found with freshmen wearing caps the first semester only. During the first week rules are [illegible] as at the other institutions [illegible] but no paddling is allowed except in the privacy of the fraternities. At M A C there is more of a tendency towards interclass contests although in the words of the editor of the M A C Collegian Frank Douglas [illegible] rules about caps after the first week come only a feeble effort at enforcement is evident.

The student senate acts as a court of [illegible] meting out mild punishments to [illegible].

In putting into the hands of the upperclassmen Householder declared that general opinion seemed to favor wearing of frosh caps for one semester, consisting of one of two class outings and complete abolishment of hazing [illegible] which attempt to humble freshmen. All the colleges advocated [illegible] greeting and the doing away with paddling in all forms.

In general Householder said, there are very few extremists at any of these colleges, no one putting up a big fight one way or another.

Reports from the other group committees will be forthcoming at an early date with a probable decision to be made in the Student Faculty Council concerning methods of observing freshman rules at Vermont.

ELLENBERGER TO TALK ON LAND-GRANT COLLEGES

"A Tour of Land Grant Colleges," will be the subject of an illustrated talk to be given by Prof. H B Ellenberger at the meeting of the University Faculty Club to be held tomorrow evening at the Klifa Club on Pearl street. Professor Ellenberger will use moving pictures for his illustrations.

The Scribe

By Pod Trip

The National Student Federation of America is submitting these questions to students throughout the country in an attempt to get definite reactions to these stimulating queries:

1. Is it true that as a result of higher education the American woman is highly strung and nervous? (From [illegible])

2. America is the land of capitalism. Money interests are said to control education and politics. Is this control excessive? (From Germany.)

3. What does the American stand for in life? The European has pictures of American prosperity unemployment, bad business, social life as portrayed in the films. Is there a typical American life, student or otherwise? (From Hindustan.)

4. Is there a policeman in the United States who cannot be bribed?

5. Prohibition. How does it work? What are its repercussions?

6. Are women the real rulers in the United States? (From Germany.)

7. What is behind the great increase in the number of registrations in American universities? Is it impelled by the desire for learning for its own sake, for service or as an aid to economic advancement? (From Germany.)

9. What effect has standardization in the big industries had upon the workers?

The I S S Conference attempted to fill in the other side of the picture by listing some ideas about Europe which the European students are anxious to present to Americans:

1. Contrary to the general opinion held in America, Europeans like to meet Americans. (England.)

2. Holland does not walk around on wooden shoes.

3. Explain why Europe has not, and cannot, easily form a United States as America did. In spite of differences however, Europeans can live together in peace. (Germany.)

4. Correct the impression made by Katherine Mayo's book, Mother India.

5. The League of Nations can never be a reality without the United States' adherence to it. (China.)

6. Heidelberg is not the only university in Germany.

Gladys Parks, '31
Outgoing Women's Intercollegiate Editor

RADIO CLUB TRAVELS TO ST. ALBANS STUDIO

Five members of the University Radio Club visited the studio of WQDM at St. Albans last Saturday afternoon. Those making the trip were W. Cassidy, ex-'23, Austin Howard, '31, Robert Daley, '31, Richard Murray, '34, and Clarence G. Bailey, '34.

The party was cordially welcomed by Mr Edmond Regan operator of the station in behalf of the owner Mr. A. J. St. Antoine. Mr. Regan also explained the facts about the station of interest to the group.

Bowery Woman: Your brat is spoilt.
Second ditto: Is da so?
Bowery Woman: Well, if youse don't believe it just look out and see what dat truck did to'm.

"I hear there is going to be a wedding in the chapel today."
"Compulsory?"—Tiger.

ETA SIGMA PHI INSTALLS, INITIATES, AND TALKS

At the monthly [illegible] chapter of Eta Sigma [illegible] day evening, March [illegible] Prof. S. E. Basset at [illegible] pect Street after the [illegible] the following officers: [illegible] '32, president; Dorothy [illegible] president; Doris Brent[illegible] tary; Fraser Drew [illegible] Elisabeth Mandigo, [illegible] Dorotha Edwards, [illegible] Truman Webster, '31 [illegible] Rose Harlowe, '32 [illegible] Ruth Reynolds, '34, and [illegible] '34, were initiated.

Sylvia Boyd, '32, first [illegible] gram planned by Dorothy [illegible] on "Homer and the Epic" [illegible] Mandigo, '32 gave a short [illegible] Eta Sigma Phi.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

